

Biba
~~10.00~~
20.00

INQUIRIES Concerning
IRELAND,
AND ITS ANTIQUITIES.

BY
Sir James Ware, Kn^t.

Now first Printed in English from the last Latin Edition thereof,
Published by the Author.

DUBLIN :

Printed by Andrew Crook, for Matthew Gunne in Essex-street, and Eliphah Dobson at the Stationers Arms in Castle-street, MDCCV.

INQUIRIES

Concerning

DA920

W4

IRRELAND

AND ITS

ANTIQUITIES.

BY

Sir James Ware, Knt.

Now first Printed in English from the last Latin Edition thereof
Published by the Author.

DUBLIN:

Printed by Andrew Cook, for Matthew Gurney in Essex Street and Richard Doherty at the Stationers Arms in Castle Street. MDCCLXX.

THE PREFACE
OF THE First LATIN Edition
OF THE ANTIQUITIES.

READER,

THESE Inquiries are Published, if not for the Advantage of Learning, at least for the Encouragement of others, with better Success to make clearer Discoveries out of the dark Mists of Antiquity. It is undeniably evident, that very little Knowledge remains of what passed in Ireland before the Light of the Gospel appeared there: Neither am I ignorant that Learned Men have rejected as Fables the Histories of those Ancient times before St. Patrick's Arrival in that Island. It must be noted, that in a manner all the Description of those early Times are the Works of later Ages; and therefore in this Inquiry I have treated of them very sparingly, and every where weighed them in a just Ballance, according to the best of my Judgment. In matters of later Date, the love of Truth hath constrained me (I confess) to differ from some Learned Men, or from the received Opinion; but in either case I fail not most commonly to alledge the reason of my Dissent. Howbeit, in this search after Truth at so remote a distance, I have now and then been mistaken, it is not to be wondered at. It is a difficult thing (says Pliny) to make old things look new, to cast a Lustre and Comeliness on things decayed and ill favoured; to bring Light out of Darknes, and to give Certainty to what was before Doubtful. And who among the Learned will not Subscribe to this Truth? Furthermore, as I do not deny but that many things here might have been better methodized if I had thought it worth the while, so I confess that many things likewise might have been added out of my private Papers, which I could not come at while this was doing; though my Friends at London and Westminster have partly supplied this Defect out of their Libraries: However, in what is here offered, you will find, besides what Learned Antiquaries have observ'd before me, large discoveries of matters (perhaps) worthy of our notice, which hitherto have lain concealed. Those fabulous Legends with which the Irish Historians, both Ancient and Modern do abound, I have either purposely omitted, or to the best of my Skill detected their Falshood, but without betraying any ill Nature, as (I hope) the Work it self will make appear. Nevertheless, what through the Obscurity of the things themselves, and what by reason of the variety of Opinions about them, I must own that oftentimes I dare not positively assert any thing; but am forced to seek out and explain many things by conjectures, or leave them to be discovered more fully by others: Albeit, I deny not the usefulness of Conjectures in a great part of polite Literature; nor do I doubt, but much of Antiquity may yet be further Illustrated by lucky Conjectures, besides what has hitherto been explained by the Learned, to the great Improvement of Learning, and consequently of Humane Knowledge. However, to say no more, if you reap any benefit from this Labour of mine, I shall think my time and pains well bestowed.

A 2 have

PREFACE.

London, 4 Non.
May, 1654.

Farewell.

The Occasion and Design of the Second Latin Edition.

THE former Preface sets forth the Design of the first Edition, which I Published above four Tears since; but of late having some spare time during my stay in Ireland, I selected many things out of my private Papers and Manuscripts, which I judged to be wanting in the former Edition. And this truly was the cause, that when I understood the Booksellers in England intended another Impression (all the Copies of the first being sold off) I took that opportunity, not only to Revise the first Edition, but also to insert many things therein omitted; and lastly, have added four intire Chapters to the rest. And this is what I have to say touching this Second Edition.

London, 9 Kal. Julij.
Anno Dom. 1658.

INQUI

Historical relations, part 51 - Henry 2^d - first English King of Ireland in the 33^d year of his Reign -

He Reigned 38 years as King of England

T H E

PREFACE.

THE Writers of the History of Ireland, for the most part utterly ignorant or negligent of the Genuine Remains of Antiquity, have obtruded on the World a multitude of uncouth, incoherent and ridiculous Fables and Legends instead of Authentick Relations of Matters of Fact; so that excepting a few Fragments relating to Transactions since the Conquest by the English, very little could be met with any ways Instructive to such as were desirous to be informed of the Ancient State and Affairs of their own Country. This was the reason that the most Learned Primate Usher first encourag'd the Right Honourable Sir James Ware (a Person whom he knew to be every way accomplished for such an Undertaking) to apply himself to the Study of the History and Antiquities of this Kingdom; which he indefatigably pursued as long as he lived, Witness the many Accurate Treatises by him Published; in all which he gave full Proof of his Exquisite and Profound Learning, Unbias'd Judgment, and an unusual Modesty, Candor and Fidelity. Nor was the Reception those Pieces met with unanswerable to their Merit; the Copies (though some of them more than once Printed) were so greedily bought up, that 'twas no easie matter to come by any one of those single Tracts: For which cause several Persons of Note were desirous that all the Historical Works of the said Author, which had a been

The PREFACE.

been singly Printed, and that in the Latin Tongue only, might be Published in one Volume in English for the Advantage and Entertainment of our own Country Men, who are most concern'd not to be Strangers at Home : In compliance wherewith, the Publishers have endeavoured to render this Collection as perfect and useful as they could ; and have not only given you such Works of Sir James Ware which at any time heretofore have been Printed, but some intire Pieces of His, never before Published ; and many Improvements to those which have been out of his own Manuscripts : Together with many useful Additions relating to the ancient and present State of Ireland, &c.

For here you have, 1st, The Life of the Author Sir James Ware.

2^{dly}, The Antiquities of Ireland, Illustrated with several Sculptures : To which is annexed, A Chronological Table of all the Chief Governors of this Kingdom since the Conquest thereof, Anno Domini 1168, to the Year of our Lord 1704 : Together with Catalogues of the present Lords Spiritual and Temporal of Ireland, and of the House of Commons, and Lower House of Convocation ; and of all the Mayors, Bailiffs, Sheriffs and Lord Mayors of the City of Dublin since the First Year of King Edward the Second ; the Lord of the Council, the present Establishment, and Officers Civil and Military ; the present Lord Mayor, Court of Aldermen, and the several Corporations : Together with the Bounds and Liberties of the City of Dublin.

3^{dly}, An Account of the Prelates of Ireland from the first Conversion of the Nation to the Christian Faith until the Year 1665 : Which is continued unto this present Year 1704, by Accounts thereof transmitted from the present Most Reverend Arch-Bishops and Bishops of the several Sees. To which is added a List of all the Chancellors and Provofts
of

The PREFACE.

of Trinity-College, Dublin, from its first Foundation, and of the present Fellows thereof.

4thly, The Annals of Ireland by Sir James Ware, from the first coming of the English, Anno 1169, to 1202 ; now first Published from M. S. out of the Library of Dr. John Madden Deceased (communicated to us by the Reverend Dr. John Stearne) and from thence continued most part from the Chronicles of Dr. Meredith Hanmer and Henry Marlborough, formerly Published by Sir James Ware, till the beginning of the Reign of King Henry the Seventh.

5thly, The Annals of Ireland during the Reigns of King Henry the Seventh, King Henry the Eighth, King Edward the Sixth, and Queen Mary ; with many Additions in this Edition, being Transcripts out of the Papers and Records of Sir James Ware : Together with the Life of George Brown sometime Arch-Bishop of Dublin.

6thly, The Annals of Ireland during the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, compiled out of the Papers and Memoirs left by Sir James Ware ; and some of them upon Review fitted for the Press : To which is added Gesta Hibernorum, or a Chronological Account of the most memorable Transactions in this Kingdom from the Decease of Queen Elizabeth down to this time : With the number of Popish Priests now in every County of Ireland.

7thly, Two Books concerning the Writers of Ireland, with considerable Improvements and Additions out of Sir James Ware's Original Manuscripts.

8thly, That Rare and Admirable Treatise of Sir John Davis, Knight, Attorney General to His Majesty King James the First, Intituled, " A Discovery of the Cause why Ireland was never intirely brought under the Obedience of the Crown of England till the Reign of King James the First ; is, for the Affinity of the Argument, Re-printed, and added by way of Appendix.

The

The P R E F A C E.

The Inquiries into the Antiquities, and the Account of the Prelates of Ireland, were faithfully Translated from the Original Latin by Order of the Honourable Sir William Domville, Knight, and the Translation carefully Revised by himself.

The Annals of King Henry the Seventh, King Henry the Eighth, King Edward the Sixth, and Queen Mary, were Englished by Robert Ware, Esq; Son to the Author, Sir James.

The Books concerning the Writers of Ireland we procured to be Translated by another Hand : In which we think it necessary to Advertise the Reader, are omitted some Passages which were in the Latin Edition, meerly because the said Passages were to be found Verbatim in the Antiquities, or the Account of the Prelates of Ireland; and we were loth to swell the Bulk of the Volume with any needless Repetitions.

We have nothing more to add, but to desire the Reader to correct the Errata of the Press, the chief of which we have taken notice of.

THE

THE CONTENTS OF THE ANTIQUITIES.

CHAP. 1.

OF the various Names, by which Ireland was heretofore known to the Antients. page 1.

CHAP. 2.

Of the Originals of the Irish. Of the Language of the Antient Irish. Sect. 2. Whether it were the same with the British. p. 4, 7.

CHAP. 3.

Of the Division and Dimensions of Ireland, and something of its Situation. p. 7.

CHAP. 4.

Of the Form of Government among the Antient Irish. Sect. 2. And of the Succession, and Series of the Kings of Ireland from the year CCCCXXVIII. to the year MCLXXI. when the Island was Subdued by the English. p. 9, 11.

CHAP. 5.

Of the Druides and their Superstitions; where, by the way, something of the Gods heretofore Worshiped by the Irish before their Conversion to Christianity. Sect. 2. Of the Antient Bards. p. 16, 18.

CHAP. 6.

Of the divers Names by which the Antient Irish call'd Foreigners, especially their Neighbours. p. 19.

CHAP. 7.

Of the Ornaments, Commodities, and some special Privileges of Ireland.

CHAP. 8.

Of Tanistry, the Brehon-Law, and the Customs call'd Gossipred, Fostering, and Gavelkind. p. 20.

CHAP. 9.

Of the Surnames of the Antient Irish, and when Surnames began to be fix'd in Families. p. 23.

CHAP. 10.

The People and Places of Antient Ireland, mentioned in Ptolomy, who Flourished under Antoninus Pius, together with the more Modern Names. p. 24.

CHAP. 11.

Of the Habits and Drefs of the Irish. p. 29.

CHAP. 12.

Of the Antient Horse and Foot, but chiefly those about the Middle Ages; and Sect. 2. Of their Arms and Military Cry. p. 30, 31.

CHAP. 13.

Of their Exactions, call'd Bonaught, Sorohen, Coshery, Cuddy, Shragh and Mart. And Sect. 2. Of the Taxes introduced by the English, instead of Bonaught, call'd Coyne and Livery. p. 32, 33.

CHAP. 14.

Of some Wonderful things in Ireland. p. 34.

CHAP. 15.

Of the most Famous Schools of Ireland, and others instituted by the Irish in Foreign Countries. p. 35.

CHAP. 16.

Of the Antient disposition of the Bishopricks of Ireland. p. 39.

CHAP. 17.

Of the Corba, Corban, Erenach, or Herenach, Scribes, Colidei, and Anchorets of Ireland. And of the perpetual Fire, kept heretofore by the Nuns of Kildare. p. 42.

CHAP. 18.

Of the Ships, or Boats of the Antient Irish which were covered with Skins. p. 45.

CHAP. 19.

Of their Antient Custom of Creating Knights. p. 47.

CHAP.

The CONTENTS

CHAP. 20.
That Ireland was never Subject to the Roman Power. p. 48.

CHAP. 21.
Of Cormac, Son of Culinan, who was both the King and Bishop of Cathel; where, by the way, of others who were at the same time both Kings and Bishops, or Priests: And of the strange Tonsure introduced by Æd, call'd Clericus Barbofus, or the Bearded Priest. p. 49.

CHAP. 22.
Of the Houses and Buildings of the An-tient Irish. p. 51.
Sect. 2. Of their Food and Banquets.
p. 52.
Sect. 3. Of their Musical Instruments.
p. 53.

CHAP. 23.
Of the Errors and Fictions of some Anti-ent Writers who Treat of Ireland. p. 54.

CHAP. 24.
Of the Easterlings, or Danes, and Norwegians, and of their Acts in Ireland from the Year of our Lord 795, till the coming of the English under Hen. II. for almost 400 Years. p. 56.

CHAP. 25.
Of the Antient Coven of Ireland, both before the coming of the English under Hen. II. and afterward till the time of Hen. VII. p. 70.

CHAP. 26.
An Account of the Monasteries of Ireland, of their Original and Antiquity. p. 76

In Leinster Province,

And in the City of Dublin. p. 76.

County of Dublin. p. 77.
County of Kildare. p. 78.
County of Wicklow. p. 80.
County of Wexford. ibid.
County of Kilkenny. p. 82.
County of Catherlagh. p. 83.
King's-County. p. 84.
Queen's-County. p. 85.
County of Meath. ibid.
County of West-Meath, p. 88.

County of Longford. p. 89.
County of Louth. p. 90.

In Ulster Province,

And in the County of Armagh. p. 92.

County of Down. ibid.
County of Antrim. p. 94.
County of Londonderry. p. 95.
County of Donegal. p. 96.
County of Tyrone. ibid.
County of Fermanagh. p. 97.
County of Monaghan. p. 98.
County of Cavan. p. 99.

In Munster Province,

And in the County of Waterford. p. 99.

County of Cork. p. 100.
County of Limerick. p. 102.
County of Tipperary. p. 104.
County of Kerry. p. 106.
County of Clare, heretofore Tuomond.
p. 108.

In Conaught Province,

And in the County of Galway. p. 108.

County of Mayo. p. 111.
County of Roscommon. p. 113.
County of Sligo. p. 115.
County of Leitrim. p. 116.

CHAP. 27.

Of the Colonies sent out of England and Wales into Ireland, in time of Henry the II. And of the Lands Granted to them. p. 116.

CHAP. 28.

Of the lesser Islands dispersed in the Irish Seas. p. 123.

CHAP. 29.

Of the Cathedral Churches of Ireland, their Original, and other Antiquities.
p. 127.

CHAP.

The CONTENTS.

CHAP. 30.

Of the Servants of the Antient Irish, and of the Villains, Natives, or Betagij belonging to the Lands which they held.

CHAP. 31.

Of the Antient way of Proofs and Pur-gations among the Irish after their Conversion to Christianity. p. 150.

CHAP. 32.

Of the Funerals, Sepulchres and Subterraneous Vaults of the Antient Irish, and Danes in Ireland. p. 151.

A Chronological Table of the Chief Governours of Ireland, from the Conquest in 1168, to the Year 1704. p. 154

A Catalogue of the Nobility of Ireland, Anno 1704. p. 159.

A List of the Commons of Ireland, Assembled in Parliament, in the 3d. Year of the Reign of Her Majesty Queen ANNE. p. 161.

A List of the Lower House of Convocation, which met the 11th of January, 1703, at St. Patrick's, Dublin, and Adjourned to St. Mary's Chappel in Christ's Church Dublin. p. 164.

A full and perfect Catalogue of the Names of all such Persons, as have been Mayors, Bayliffs, Sheriffs, and Lord-Mayors of the City of Dublin, since the First year of the Reign of King Edward the Second, to this present time. p. 164.

(165, &c.

The Heads of the Establishment of Ireland, Commencing, March the 25th 1704.

A List of the Officers both Civil and Military, and Commissioners of the Revenue, the present Lord-Mayor of the City of Dublin, and the Court of Aldermen.

THE Introduction to the Annals of Ireland from the First coming of the English under King Henry the Second, to the Reign of King Henry the 7th. p. 1.

The Annals of Ireland,

During the Reigns of

King Henry II.

Richard I.

p. 2.

p. 32.

John.

p. 38.

Henry III.

p. 45.

Edward I.

p. 57.

P. 1.

Edward II.

p. 57.

P. 2.

Edward III.

p. 60.

P. 2.

Richard II.

p. 63.

Henry IV.

p. 64.

Henry V.

p. 68.

Henry VI.

p. 72.

Edward IV.

p. 74.

Edward V. and Richard III.

} p. 76.

The Annals of Ireland,

During the Reigns of

King Henry VII.

p. 1.

Henry VIII.

p. 57.

Edward VI.

p. 115.

Queen Mary.

p. 130.

To which is added, The Life and Death of Archbishop Brown:

p. 147.

Queen Elizabeth, from p. 1 to p. 64. Gesta Hibernorum.

The Contents of the Account of the Prelates of IRELAND.

The Archbishoprick of Armagh.

Of the Bishops of Armagh.

p. 1.

Meath.

p. 20.

Clonmacnoife.

p. 27.

Clogher.

p. 30.

Down.

p. 38.

Connor.

p. 42.

Down and Connor.

p. 45.

Derry.

p. 48.

Rapho.

p. 53.

Kilmore.

p. 58.

Ardagh.

p. 62.

Dromore.

p. 66.

The

The CONTENTS.

The Archbishoprick of Dublin.

Of the Bishops of

Dublin.	p. 1.
Kildare.	p. 17.
Fernes.	p. 23.
Fernes and Leghlin.	p. 27.
Oflory.	p. 29.
Leghlin, till the Year 1600.	p. 40.

The Archbishoprick of Cassel.

Of the Bishops of

Cassel.	p. 1.
Emly.	p. 11.
Limerick.	p. 16.
Waterford.	p. 22.
Lismore.	p. 29.
Cork.	p. 32.
Cloyne.	p. 37.
Rofs.	p. 41.
Killaloe.	p. 44.
Ardfert.	p. 49.
Fenabore.	p. 55.

The Archbishoprick of Tuam.

Of the Bishops of

Tuam.	p. 1.
Elphin.	p. 9.
Clonfert.	p. 15.
Kilmacduach.	p. 20.
Killala.	p. 22.
Achad or Achonry.	p. 26.

The Names of the Chancellors and Provofts of Trinity Colledge, Dublin, from the time of the Foundation thereof by Q. Elizabeth, together with the Names of all the present Fellows of the said Colledge. p. 28.

Contents of the two Books of the Writers of Ireland.

Writers of

The First BOOK.

Of Writers who were Natives of Ireland.

The 5th. Century, Chap. 1.	p. 1.
The 6th. Chap. 2.	p. 3.
The 7th. Chap. 3.	p. 6.
The 8th. Chap. 4.	p. 14.
The 9th. Chap. 5.	p. 15.
The 10th. Chap. 6.	p. 19.
The 11th. Chap. 7.	ibid.
The 12th. Chap. 8.	p. 20.
The 13th. Chap. 9.	p. 21.
The 14th. Chap. 10.	p. 23.
The 15th. Chap. 11.	p. 23.
The 16th. Chap. 12.	p. 23.
Biographers of an uncertain Age.	p. 26.

The Second BOOK.

Of Foreign Writers who had Preferment in Ireland, from the Tear of our Lord 400, to the coming of the English under King HENRY II. Chap. 1. p. 30.

Of such as Flourished from that time to the Year 1298. Chap. 2. p. 35.

Of such Writers from the Year 1298, to 1417. Chap. 3. p. 38.

Of such Writers from 1417, to 1492. Chap. 4. p. 39.

Of such Writers from 1492 to 1629. Chap. 5. p. 41.

An Alphabetical Index of all the Writers Treated of in both Books.

Sir John Davies Discourse of the Reasons why Ireland was no sooner Reduced to the Obedience of the English Crown.

Errata in the ANTIQUITIES.

P Age 4. line 36. read Dela. p. 9. l. 23. r. was in being. p. 21. l. 3. r. Constance. ibid. l. 31. r. Marches. p. 23. l. 12. r. Nigialac. p. 31. l. 43. r. Junius. p. 32. l. 10. r. Saltsburg. p. 36. l. 37. r. Fachnan. p. 45. l. antepenult. r. Probus. p. 75. l. 12. d. no more than. p. 77. l. 40. r. Sir. p. 83. l. 27. r. Priory. p. 85. l. 15. r. Feoris. p. 97. l. 3. r. Lacerian. ibid. l. 41. r. through the Ocean. p. 116. r. Bectiff. ibid. r. Rathtoe. p. 121. l. 41. add (al. Borard). p. 124. l. 1. r. of. ibid. l. 44. r. Kenmare. p. 128. l. 22. for routed r. turned out. p. 132. for Tuam r. Armagh. p. 150. l. 19. d. and. ibid. l. 25. after &c. add, In fine the Lord of the Soil, had Jurisdiction as well over the Body as over all the Goods and Fortunes of the Villain, so heavy was the Yoak of their Bondage. p. 151. l. 22. for Fire r. Iron. p. 151. Cosmeteries.

IRIE

T H E
L I F E
O F
Sir J A M E S W A R E, Kt.

HE was Descended from a Noble and Antient Family in England, which Flourished in great Honour in the Time of Roger de Ware, Lord of Ipsfield, a Baron of Parliament, in the Reign of King Edward the First.

HIS Father, Sir James Ware, Kt. in the time of Queen Elizabeth, came over into Ireland, in the Quality of Secretary to the Lord-Deputy, and sometime after was made Auditor-General of this Kingdom; a Place of Honour and Profit, which enabled him to make many considerable Purchases in and near the City of Dublin. He was a Person of extraordinary Piety and strict Life. He had by his Wife Mary Briden, Daughter to Sir — Briden, of the County of Kent, Kt. Five Sons, and as many Daughters; our Author James being the Eldest of his Sons, and was Born in Castle-street, in the City of Dublin, on the 26th of November, Anno 1594. His Father finding him to make early Advancès towards Learning, spared neither Cost nor Labour, to encourage him therein, and about the Age of Sixteen had him entred a Student in Trinity-Colledge near Dublin, where applying himself diligently to his Studies, he made such Proficiency therein, that in less then Six years he was made Master of Arts. Having finished his Studies in the University, and made great Progress in all parts of Polite Literature, upon Advice of his Father, he Changed his Condition of Life, and Married Mary the Daughter of John Newman, of Dublin, Esq; Yet notwithstanding the Cumbrances of Marriage and Business, he still followed his Studies, and chiefly apply'd himself to the Discovery of the Antiquities of his own Country, Encouraged therein by the Advice and Assistance of the Learned and ever Famous Archbishop Usher. About the year 1629, he received the Honour of Knighthood from Adam Lord Viscount Ely, and Richard Boyle, Earl of Cork, they both being at that time Lords-Justices. In 1632, he became (upon the Death of his Father) Auditor-General, Succeeding him as well in Office as Estate. In 1639, he was made one of the King's Privy-Council in Ireland, and the Rebellion not long after breaking out, he suffered not a little in his Estate. Some time after in the year 1644, being of the Royal Party, he, with the Lord Edward Brabazon (afterwards Earl of Meath) and Sir Henry Tichborn Kt. were sent by James Marquis of Ormond, the Lord Lieutenant, to King Charles the First, then at Oxford, about the Affairs of Ireland. Whilst he stay'd at Oxford, he Employ'd his spare Hours in Searching Manuscripts and Books in the Publick and other Libraries, Collecting what he thought might be afterwards useful to him. At this time the University calling a Convocation, Created him Doctor of the Civil Law. The Business they went about being Concluded to their Minds, they took leave of his Majesty, and return'd: But in their way they were taken at Sea by a Parliament Ship, Sir James having just before flung overboard the King's Paquet of Letters, Directed to the Marquis of Ormond: Whereupon being ing all brought to London, they were Committed Prisoners to the Tower, where Continuing Eleven Months, were then Released upon Exchange: Soon after Sir James returned to Dublin, Continued there for some time, and was one of the Hostages for the Delivery of that City to General Michael Jones, for the use of the Parliament of England. Afterwards the said General Jones thinking it not Convenient that he should remain in Dublin, Commanded him to depart, and gave him a Pass, by the Vertue of which he went into France, where he liv'd a year and an half, First at Caen in Normandy, and afterwards at Paris. In 1651 he left France, went into England, and at London published his Antiquitates Hibernicae. Here he stay'd some years, and Contracted a Friendship with several Learned Men at that time in London, viz. The Learned Selden, Sir Roger Twissden, Mr. Dugdale, Mr. Marsham (both afterwards Knights) Mr. Elias Ashmole, Mr. Byss, and Francis Junius, Son to the Learned Junius who assisted Tremellius in Translating the Bible out of Hebrew into Latin. Upon the Restoration of King Charles the Second, he went into Ireland, and by Special Order was Restored to his Place of Auditor-General, of which he had been deprived in the Times of Usurpation. At length after he had compleated the 72d. Year of his Age, he departed this Mortal Life on the First day of December 1666, and was Buried within the Church of St. Werburgs in Dublin, in a Burying Place appointed for his Family.

C

The LIFE of Sir JAMES WARE, Kt.

THIS Learned and Worthy Person, our Author, has Written and Published the following Works.

- Archiepiscoporum Casseliensium & Tramenfum vita.* Dubl. 1626. This was afterwards Involv'd in his Comment. de Praesulibus Hiberniae.
De Praesulibus Lageniae, &c. Dubl. 1628. This was also included in his Comment. de Praesul. Hib.
De Scriptoribus Hiberniae, lib. 2. Dubl. 1639.
De Hibernia & Antiquitatibus ejus Disquisitiones, Lond. 1654 & 1658.
Notae ad Bedae Epistolam Apologeticam cum notis ad Egberti Dialogum &c. Et notae ad Historiam Abbatum Weremuthensium & Girwicensium per Bedam Composit. Dubl. 1664.
Notae ad rem Historicam & Antiquariam Spectantes ad Opuscula. S. Patricio, qui Hibernos ad fidem Christi convertit, adscripta, &c. Lond. 1656.
Rerum Hibernicarum Annales Regnantibus Henrico 7, Hen. 8, Edwardo 6, & Maria. Dubl. 1665.
De Praesulibus Hiberniae Commentarius, a prima Gentis Hibernicae ad fidem Christianam Conversione and Nostri usque tempora, Dubl. 1665.

He also Published Campion's History of Ireland, The Chronicle of Meredith Hammer, that of Henry Marlborough, and the View of Ireland by Edmund Spencer. He wrote also several other Pieces, which were never Publish'd. He had a large and Choice Collection of Ancient Manuscripts, Chiefly relating to Irish Affairs, which fell into the Hands of the Earl of Clarendon, when Lord Lieutenant of Ireland in 1686, who soon after carried them with him into England. There was a Catalogue of them Printed at Dublin 1688, Also another Published at London by Mr. Edmund Gibson, about the Year 1690.

INQUIRIES OF IRELAND, AND THE Antiquities thereof.

CHAP. I.

Of the various Names by which Ireland was heretofore known to the Antients.

THIS Island heretofore inhabited by divers Colonies from Britain, Scythia, Iberia, Germany and France, was known to the Antients chiefly by two Names, Hibernia or Ibernia, and Scotia. Hibernia (as it is call'd by Cæsar, Pliny, Solinus, Tacitus, Orosius, and others) the most remote Country of all Europe Westward, is deriv'd either from the word Hiar, which among the Irish signifies the West, as Camden conjectures, or from the Iberians, who heretofore inhabited here: From whence possibly the Island it self, in Antoninus his Itinerary, is called Hiberione, and in St. Patrick's Epistle to Ceroticus, twice Hiberione, and once Hiberia. From either of which, the words Ierne, Ierna, Juverna, Iris, Bernia, Overnia, and the Irish word Eri seem to have their Original; For by all these Names Ireland was heretofore called: From Eri, an Irish Man is called Erigena, as Johannes Scotus, an Antient Writer of the Ninth Century was commonly called. Some derive it from Eberus the Spaniard, one of the Sons of Milesius; and others from Herimon brother to Eberus. But more judicious Men reject these opinions, as also those of others, who derive it from Innalphus a Spanish Captain, or from the frozen Waters of Ireland, or from Iberus a River of Spain, or from Iera a Queen, or from Jurin, that is, the Land of the Fews, nor ought we to omit here that of Samuel Bochartus Cadomensis, who in his Geograph. Sacra lib. 1. cap. 39. conjectures from the Name, that Ireland was not unknown to the Phenicians, a People famous for their Navigations into remote parts, quod plane

The Authors Opinion of the Name Hibernia.

plane (ait) videtur fuisse Phœnicium, Hibernia enim, nonnullis Ierna, &c. nihil aliud est quam Ibernae, Ultima habitatio, quia ultra Hiberniam versus Occasum, veteres nihil noverant, præter vastum mare. (Says he) that is, which name plainly seems Phœnician, for Hibernia, by some called Ierna, is no more than Ibernae, or the farthest Habitation, because beyond Ireland Westward, the Antients knew nothing but the vast Ocean. But (to speak my sense in the matter) among all the Conjectures of the word Hibernia, none seems so satisfactory as the Opinion of Isidore, and others, who deduce it from Iberia, both because of the Colonies of the Iberians once seated there, of which more in due place; and also for the affinity of the Name, to which that of John Leland in Cyanea cantione seems to relate, where he calls the Irish Iberos.

*Fraçtos undiq; pœnitudo Iberos,
Sylvestres domuit, suave legis
Ferre & perdocuit jugum Britannos, Quæ Victoria comparanda magnis.*

Ireland called antiently Scotia.

But this is only Conjecture, for I hold it a difficult matter to assign the true Reason of the Name, and therefore affirm nothing positively, but leave it under debate.

(a) Hist Julia Prolegom.

By others (as we have said) this Island was antiently called Scotia, from certain Colonies brought hither from Scythia, so Radulphus de Diceto about the year 1185. Eregione (says he) quadam quæ dicitur Scythia, dicitur Scita, Sciticus, Scoticus, Scotus, Scotia, from a certain Countrey called Scythia, is deriv'd Scita, Sciticus, Scoticus, Scotus, and Scotia, from him Tho. Walsingham has almost the same in his Hypodigma Neustria. And Reinerus Reineetius, (a) is in the right, that the name of the Scythians remains at this day in the Scots. The Learned know how common the name of the Scythians is among antient Writers, and it is a receiv'd Opinion of the most diligent Inquirers into the Antiquities of Ireland, that the European or Celto-Scythians divers times sent Colonies into Ireland, so Nennius or Ninius the Britain, who flourish'd in the year 850. Novissime (inquit) venerunt Scoti à partibus Hispaniæ in Hiberniam, &c. Novissime venit Clan-Hector & ibi habitavit cum omni gente sua Usq; hodie. Nulla tamen, &c. Lastly came the Scots from Spain into Ireland, &c. and at last came Clan Hector and Inhabited there with his People to this day. Yet we find no certain story of the Original of the Scots. If any would know how long Ireland was desert and uninhabited, the most knowing of the Scots have told me thus, The Scythians in the fourth Age of the World obtained Ireland, and about the beginning of his Book he computes the fourth Age of the World, to be from David to Daniel, or till the time of the Persian Empire. So likewise Henry Huntingdon, (b) Britones (says he) in tertia mundi atate, in Britanniam, Scoti in quarta venerunt in hiberniam. The Britains in the Third Age of the World came into Britain, and the Scots into Ireland in the Fourth. (c) Proper-tius suggests that the Getae, a People of Scythia (commonly thought to be no other than those who were after call'd Goths) fix'd their habitation here.

Ireland when first Inhabited.

(b) Hister.
l. 1.

(c) Lib. 4.
Eleg. 3.

Hiberniq;

Hiberniq, Geta, Piſtoq, Britannia curru.

And though Pliny (d) and (e) Apuleius reckon Ireland among the British Isles, and Ptolomy calls it little Britain, and (f) Diodorus Siculus part of Britain, as if it were heretofore Inhabited by Britains; yet it seems clear, that the Scythians also (not to speak of any other) inhabited there: From whence it seems probable that this Island was by them at first called Scythia, and afterward by corruption Scotia; but in this I determine not. Some fancy that it was called Scotia from the word σκότος as if it lay involv'd in darkness, others from Scota, wife of Gaothelus, Daughter of I know not what King Pharoh, and that the Irish Language was fram'd by the same Gaothelus or Gardelus, and was call'd Gaolic, or according to the Vulgar, Gelic, as if taken from other Languages; but these kind of fictions are exploded by the Learned. The Irish themselves together with the Scots are call'd by the Britains Guydhill, says Humphrey Lhuid, a Welsh-man, in his fragment of the Description of Britain. Isidore (a) Hispalensis tells us, Scotos propria lingua nomen habere à piſto corpore, eo quod aculeis ferreis cum attramento, variarum figurarum stigmata annotentur, that is, The Scots in their own Language have their Name from their painted Bodies, on which they draw diverse Figures with Iron points dipped in Ink. But from thence 'tis certain they drew the Name of Piſts, not Scots, and (b) Isidore himself confesses that the Piſts were from thence so called. Some think Gaolic may be deriv'd from the Goths, but let it be likewise consider'd if we may not deduce it from the People of Gallicia in Spain, or from the Antient Gauls. I come now to the Testimonies of Authors elder than Nennius, to whom Ireland was known by the name of Scotia, and the Inhabitants Scots, for I willingly pass over the more modern Testimonies. Thus therefore (c) Claudian who lived under the Emperors Honorius and Arcadius.

—Incaluit Piſtorum Sanguine Thule, Scotorum cumulos flevit glacialis Ierne.

& lib. 2. de laud. Stiliconis,

—*Totam cum Scotos Iernen
Movit, & infesto spumavit remige Tethys.*

After him (d) Paulus Orosius, speaking of Ireland, Hæc propior (says he) Britanniæ, spatio terrarum angustior, sed cæli solisq; temperie magis utilis, à Scotorum gentibus colitur. This lying near to Britain, is a less tract of Land, but a more temperate Clime, and is inhabited by the Scots. With him agree Gildus, Cogitosus, Bede, and other of the Antients. But Isidore who flourish'd in the Year of our Lord 630, expressly (e) affirms that this Island was heretofore called Scotia; Scotia (says he) eadem & Hibernia, proxima Britannix Insula, spatio terrarum angustior, &c. That is, Scotland which is the same with Ireland, is the next to Britain, less in extent of Land, but of a more fertile Situation, it extends from South to North, the former parts whereof are bounded with the Iberian and Cantabrian Ocean, from whence it is call'd Ibernica, and it is also call'd Scotia from the Scots that inhabit it. From these Scots of Ireland, the genuine Albanian Scots took their Original, as appears clearly out of Bede, Giraldus Cambrensis, (d) Lib. 4.

cap. 16.
(e) Lib. de mundo.
(f) Lib. 6.
cap. 9.

(a) Origin
lib. 9. cap. 2.

(b) Lib. 19.
Chap. 23.

Which may be probable enough confidering that the Coast of Spain lies just opposite to Ireland.

(c) In *Panegy-
r. de Quarto Honoris consu-latu*.

(d) Lib. 1.
cap. 2.

(e) Origin.
lib. 14. cap. 6.

renus, Johannes Major (a Scot) and others; and is confirm'd by the Community of their Language.

(a) In Lib. cui tit. ora maritimæ.

We come now to other Names antiently given to Ireland, Homer and Hesiod, place the fortunate Islands in these Western parts. Some affirm Ireland to be the same with Plutarch's Ogygia, which he seats to the Westward of Britain, in his Book de facie in orbe Luna, but the distance of Ogygia mention'd in Plutarch, from Britain will not well allow it. (a) Festus Avienus calls it Insulam Sacram or the Holy Island, for having there spoken of the South East Islands, now called Silly, he has this of Ireland.

*Ast hinc Duobus in Sacram, sic Insulam,
Dixere prisca, solibus cursus rati est
Hæc inter undas multum cespitem jacet,
Eamq; late gens Hibernorum colit.
Propinqua rursus insula Albionum patet.*

(b) In Collectan Histoicis.

Others out of our Countrey Histories, affirm that Ireland was heretofore called the Woody-Island, Inisalga or the Noble-Island, Banua or the Happy-Island, though some derive Banua and Feodla (by which Name it was also called) from I know not what Queens of the Thuathededans, so called. It was likewise called Inisfalia, from the fatal Stone, heretofore in the times of Heathenism, there preserv'd with great Care. And lastly, Some call it Gulamua, from which it seems, came Cualamalack, as the Irish Language was call'd, says, (b) Thady Douling, but we proceed to other things.

CHAP. II.

Of the Original of the Irish. Of the Language of the Antient Irish; whether it were the same with the British.

Sect. I.

Milesius the Spaniard.

WE find mention in Giraldus Barry (commonly called Cam-brensis) and others, of Casara, a Niece of Noah, who brought a Colony into Ireland a little before the Flood. They write also that in the Year 300; after the Flood, Bartholan Son of Sera, of the Off-spring of Japhet, having conquer'd I know not what Gyants, subdued the Island, and that afterward Nemethus, a Scythian, with his four Sons Inhabited here for a time; and that his Posterity being expell'd by the Gyants called Fomor, part of them went into Scythia, and part into Greece; and that 200 years after, the five Sons of Deba, Gandius, Genandius, Sangandius, Ruthercigus, and Slanius of the Posterity of Nemethus, brought new Colonies into Ireland, and having subdu'd it, divided it among themselves into four parts; but that Slanius at last became sole Monarch. The Irish call this Scythian Colony Ferbolg, from whence Ireland is in Camden corruptly called Tirvolac. They add, that the Monarchy continued in his Posterity, and afterward in that of Nuada King of the Thuathededans, till the four Sons of Milesius the Spaniard, in the 14th Age before Christ, with a new Colony, and a Fleet of 60 Sail came into Ireland, and after some Battles subdued it.

Two

Two of them, viz. Iberus (or Hiberus) and Heremon are said to have divided the Kingdom between them, and that the South part fell to Heremon, and the North to Iberus. But, Nulla fides Regni sociis.

Hiberus and Heremon divide the Kingdom.

Heremon sole Monarch.

Discord arising between the Brothers, after divers Conflicts Iberus was slain in Battle at Gessil, or as others say, at Argetros, and Heremon, like another Romulus, became sole Monarch. So Giraldus Cambrensis, and others, relate it out of the Irish Histories. Nor tho' in some things it disagree, are we to omit here what we find deliver'd by Oengus Celide, an Antient Author, out of the Book call'd Psalter-Narran, concerning the Posterity of Milesius; Ireland (says he) was divided into two parts between the two Sons of Milesius, Heremon and Eber, whereof Eber took the South part, and Heremon the North, together with the Monarchy, and Heremon, the first of the Scots Reign'd Universally in Ireland for 13 years, and begat Five Sons Elect, whereof four were Kings of Ireland for three years, and Jarel the Prophet Ten Tears. From him descended Fifty Eight Kings of Ireland, before Patrick Taught the Christian Religion to the Irish, and after Patrick, were 50 Kings of his Lineage. From Eberus are said (how true I know not) to have descended the O'Briens, MacCartys, O Carols, O Sulleavans, Mac-Coblans, O Kennedys, O Hogans, O Hara's, O Garys, and others. From Heremon, the O Neals, O Connors, O Donells, O Birns, O Kellys, O Flahertys, O Rourks, O Releys, O Melachlins, &c. And from Ierus another Brother, the O Connors of Kerry, O Ferallys, Mac-Rahells, Magahis's, and some others. But I proceed.

Nennius mentions the coming of Partholanus, Nemethus, and lastly the three Sons of Milesius the Spaniard, with CXX Ciuls (Ships so called) but he affirms that Partholanus and his People died of the Plague, That Nemethus return'd into Spain, and that the Sons of Milesius remain'd there for the space of one year.

From Nennius, the most Learned Camden rightly collects, That the coming of these People ought to be drawn back from their pretended great Antiquity to later Ages, and not without reason; For Affairs of thole elder and remote Times, Like things that at a great distance are scarce discernable, are obscur'd by their great Antiquity; And indeed are often altogether undiscoverable, as the Learned know. And not to go far for an Example, it is Evident that most of what is delivered by Geofry Monmouth, concerning the British Affairs before the coming of Julius Caesar, is either false, or at least very obscure and uncertain. And in what is taken out of the Irish Histories concerning the Original of this Nation, the Reader may observe that there is much of Falshood mixt with Truth. But as to the first Inhabitants, their Opinion seems to me most satisfactory, who deduce them from Britain, both by reason of the Vicinity of Britain, and the easiness of the passage, as also for the Conformity of the Language and Customs with those of the Antient Britains, wherein I follow the Observation of Tacitus, who in the Life of Julius Agricola, after the like disquisition from whence the first Colonies were drawn into Britain, viz. whether from Germany or Spain, concludes at last that it was most probable, From the Neighbouring Livy.

The Irish descended from the Antient Britains.

(a) lib. 5. c. 5.

(b) Geograp.
lib. 4.

(c) lib. 13.

The first Inhabitants of Ireland, from Britain.

bouring Gauls, as might be observ'd in the Conformity of their Superstitious Rites. How near Ireland is to Britain is sufficiently known; and that Ireland was heretofore reckon'd among the British Isles, we have the Testimonies of Pliny, Apuleius, Ptolomy and Diodorus Siculus. It seems likewise probable that the Brigantes of Ireland, whom Ptolomy seats near the River Brigus, were descended from the Brigantes of Britain. As touching the Manners and Rites of the Antient Irish, thus Tacitus, The Soyl and Clime, the Customs and dispositions of the People do little differ from those of Britain. And particularly, as the Britains, according to (a) Cæsar, wore a Beard only on the upper lip, and their Hair long, so the Antient Irish wore their Beards, and their Hair (by the Modern called Glibs) hanging down their backs. The Druids also and Bards were held in great Veneration by both Nations. But as the antient Irish borrowed not a few of their Customs from the Britains, so they had others from the Scythians, as may be gathered from their Antient Customs in their Oaths, Marriages, Feastings, Dancings and Funerals, compar'd with those of the Scythians in Herodotus, Solinus, Diodorus, Lucianus, and other Antient Writers. Moreover their Wicker Shields, their Bows and short Arrows were the very Arms of the Scythians. But whether after the manner of the Scythians they were likewise eaters of Men as (b) Strabo notes, I much doubt, for Strabo himself confesses that in that matter he had not sufficient Testimony. Nor can I here omit the opinion of some Learned Men who think that both those Nations had their Name from their dexterity in the use of the Bow. To which we may add that the Dutch call the Scythians and Scots by one Name Scutten. Lastly, after the manner of the Scythians, for encouragement to themselves, and terror to the Enemy, they used before a Battle to repeat the word Farah, Farah, with a great cry, as the Grecians of old on the same occasion us'd the word Elelen (as Plutarch and Suidas observe) or as others say, Alala, and that the Romans us'd such a Martial cry before the Battle, is affirm'd by Ammianus (c) Marcellinus, who calls such a cry Barritus, because perhaps it resembled the voice of the Elephant, which (according to Pompeius Festus) is said Barrire, to Bray. To assign the exact time when Ireland was first Inhabited, cannot reasonably be expected from me. For we know that the Beginnings of Antiquity, unless where we have light from Scripture, are very uncertain. But as it is very probable, that the first Inhabitants came from Britain, its Neighbour Island, and from small beginnings other new Colonies, as the Brigantes, &c. possess'd the Eastern parts of Ireland, lying nearest to Britain. So it may likewise be allow'd that other Nations afterward sent Colonies into Ireland, but of the exact time there remains no footstep: Particularly (to say nothing of Scythia) the Irish Cauci, seem to be deriv'd from the Cauci of Germany, the Gangani and Luceni, from the Concani and Lucensi of Iberia or Spain (which at last according to Isidore, gave Name to almost the whole Island) and the Menapii, from the Menapii of Gallia Belgica, &c. And thus much of the Original of the Irish.

Sect. 2.
Concerning their Language.

SOME Learned Men are of Opinion, That the Antient Language of the Irish was the British, which they endeavour to prove by the many British words which are at this day, either intire or but little changed, used among the Irish: With these indeed I agree; but I am also of Opinion, that as their Language was brought hither with the first British Colonies, so likewise that it has in process of time been much chang'd by the intermixture of other Colonies, and by the very Revolution of Ages, according to that of (a) Horace.

Multa renascentur quæ jam cecidere, Cadentque Quæ nunc sunt in honore Vocabula, si volet usus, Quem penes arbitrium est, & jus & Norma loquendi.

The Grecians and Italians are Examples. And, which is not to be forgot, it is evident that the British Language in Britain it self, some years after the coming of the Saxons, was as it were banish'd and confin'd to Wales and Cornwaill, so that at this day there is scarce any remainder of it in any other part of the Island. Moreover, as the Irish of old used the antient British Language, so also they receiv'd their Alphabet or Letters from the antient Britains, as the Saxons perhaps did afterwards from the Irish, while they resorted to their Schools for Learning. But beside the vulgar Character, the antient Irish us'd divers occult Forms and Arts of Writing, which they called Ogum, wherein they writ their secret concerns, of which Character I find very much in an Antient Parchment-Book which I have. But this by the by. Lastly, as among other Arguments, the first Inhabitants of Ireland, are concluded to be British Colonies, from the Affinity of their Language, so it is certain the Scots of Albania, especially those of the North, are deriv'd from the Irish, Multiplici argumento (says Johannes Major) Nos ab Hibernicis originem traxisse, certum est. Hoc ex Beda Anglo, &c. It is for many reasons, certain, that we have our Original from the Irish. This we learn from Bede, an English Man, who would not derogate from the honour of his Country. This is Evident from the Language, for at this day almost half Scotland speak Irish, and not long since more did. (b) Thus he. But see likewise Bede Ecclesiast. Hist. Lib. 1. Cap. 1.

Sect. 2.

(a) de arte Poet.

The Irish
Character was the British.

(b) de gest.
Scotor. lib. 1.
cap. 9.

C H A P. III.

Of the Division and Dimension of Ireland, and something of its Situation.

THE most Antient Division of Ireland was into Legh-Cuin or Legh-con, and Legh-moa, Legh-cuin, which was the North part, extended from the Mouth of the River Liffy which runs by Dublin (call'd in Ptolomy, Eblana) to the mouth of the River which rising

Sect. 1.

(a) lib. 3.
cap. 4.

(b) Topogr.
Hibern. distinct. 1. c. 6.

(c) Itiner.
Cambr. lib. 2.
cap. 7.

Counties of the Province of Leinster.
Counties of Munster.
Counties of Conaught.
Counties of Ulster.

rising in Lough Curb, runs by Galway: the rest of the Island, namely the South part, was comprehended in Legh-moa. To this we may add, that (a) Bede divides Ireland into the North and South Scots. There is another Antient Division of Ireland into Five Provinces, Munster, Leinster, Conaught, Ulster and Meath. Of which Division a MS. Code of the Minorites (as 'tis thought) of Mountfermand, says thus; Munster contains 70 Cantreds, Leinster 31, Conaught 30, Ulster 35, Meath 18. A Cantred contains 30 Town-Lands, every Town-land may Maintain 300 Cows, so that the Cows being divided into four *Herd*s, none of them should be near to the other. And every Townland contains 8 Carucats. The Book from whence we took this Division, was written about the beginning of the Reign of Edward I. And is at present extant in the Learned Primate Usher's Library. The like Division of Ireland is in the Register of the Abby of Duisk, only Conaught is there said to contain 26 Cantreds. The Author of this Book was one Fyntin, but when that Fyntan lived doth not appear, nor can I affirm he was the same with that Fyntin who died Anno Dom. DCIII. By this Division the number of Cantreds appears to be 184, that is 5520 Town-Lands, or 44160 Carucats. (b) Giraldus Cambrensis has a division of Ireland different from that of Fyntin. This Country (says he) was antiently divided into five almost equal parts, viz. South and North Munster, Leinster, Ulster and Conaught. And a little after, and here it is to be noted, that the two Munsters contain the South parts of Ireland, Ulster the North, Leinster the East, and Conaught the West. He varies also in the quantity of the Cantred, for he (c) measures it thus, A Cantred is so much Land as usually contains 100 Towns. And so the quantity of a Cantred, which was the same with the Saxon Hundred, is no where certain. And as the quantity of a Cantred was various and uncertain, so likewise of a Carucate, which was greater or less, according to the Nature and quality of the Soil, though it be commonly taken for such a quantity of Land as may yearly employ one Plough. In later times we reckon only four Provinces, viz. Leinster, Munster, Ulster and Conaught, for Meath (which heretofore contain'd not only Meath, I mean the Country now so called, but also West-Meath, Longford, Fercallia, and some other Territories) is counted part of Leinster. In Leinster are 12 Counties, Dublin, Louth, Meath, Westmeath, Longford, Kildare, Kings-County, Queens-County, Catherlogh, Kilkenny, Wexford and Wicklown. In Munster are 6, Waterford, Cork, Kerry, Limerick, Tipperary and Clare, antiently called Toumond. In Conaught are 5, Galway, Mayo, Sligo, Roscommon and Leitrim. In Ulster are 11, Armagh, Down, Monaghan, Antrim, Donegall, Cavan, Fermanagh, Tyrone and London-derry. I say nothing here of the Cities, which have the Priviledges of Counties, and distinct Sheriffs.

Sect. 2.

As to the whole Extent of the Island.

Sect. 2.

IT contains in Length, from North to South, upwards of 200 Miles, and from East to West 120. On the East towards England, land, it is bounded with the Irish Sea, commonly called by Mariners St. Georges Channel. On the West by the open Ocean, on the North by the Deucalidonian, and on the South by the Vergivian Sea, call'd by the Britains Morweridh, or the Irish Sea; from whence Humphrey Lhuid thinks the old word Vergivium is deriv'd. And (a) Camden will have it so call'd, either from that word Morweridh, or from Farigi, which in Irish signifies the Sea. How little the Antients agreed as to the Dimensions of Ireland, may appear in Cesar, Strabo, Pliny, Solinus and Ptolomy, compared one with another.

(a) In Hibernia.

C H A P. IV.

Of the Form of Government among the Antient Irish; And of the Succession and Series of the Kings of IRELAND, from the Year CCCGXXVIII to the MCLXXI, when the Island was Subdued by the English.

During the Pentarchy, the most Potent of their Kings assumed to himself the Government of the whole Island, and was commonly called King of Ireland, and by some King of Kings: Yet not so as Agamemnon was of old call'd Rex Regum, when indeed he was but Dux Ducum, a Captain in Chief, or General in War, but as one to whom the other Inferiour Kings allow'd the Supreme Rule both in Peace and War. The former Kings of Ireland (says Giraldus Cambrensis) obtain'd the Monarchy of the whole Island, not by any Solemnity of Coronation, or Anointing, nor by any Hereditary Right, or Propriety of Succession, but only by force of Arms. The same, with a little variation, is in the black Book of Christ-Church in Dublin. Yet there were some time two Kings together of the same Kingdom, after the manner of the Spartans, as shall be shew'd in its place. When the Pentarchy began doth not appear, but that it ended in the Fifth Century after Christ is certain. Nor is it to be omitted here, That most of those Kings before the coming of the English into Ireland, under Henry II. died a violent Death. And as among the Romans, Galba killed Otho; Otho, Vitellius; and Vitellius, Vespasian, so many of those Kings of Ireland who had stain'd their hands in the blood of their Predecessors, were rewarded alike. But to proceed; In those elder Times, Temoria, or Temra, which at this day we call Tarah, in Meath, was the Principal Seat-Royal, where their Solemn Feasts and Assemblies at certain times were held. Of these there is frequent mention in the Annals of Ireland, particularly (not to speak of others) in the Year of Christ CCCCLV. under King Lægarius, and in the Year CCCCLXVIII. under Ailil Molt. It is scarce credible what (c) Giraldus Cambrensis relates of the Barbarous Custom of the People of Tirconall in those times at the Election of their King. There is (says Cambrensis) in the Northern and farthest part of Ulster, Namely at Kenilcunil, a certain People that Create their King after a Barbarous and Execrable manner. The whole People of the Country being assembled, A white Beast is set in the midst of them, to which,

Sect. 1.

(b) Topograph. Hib. Distinct. 3. cap. 45.

(c) Topogr. Hib. Distinct. 3. cap. 25.

The Ceremony of making a King in the North.

He that is to be Created, not a Prince but a Beast, not a King but an Outlaw, making his approach like a Beast (I suppose upon all Four) in the presence of the whole Assembly, with no less Impudence than want of civil Prudence, professes himself to be a Savage Beast, and presently the Beast being kill'd, and boyl'd in pieces, he Baths himself in a Caldron of the Broth prepared for him, where being sat, as it were upon a Throne, part of the Flesh is served up to him, and he together with the People round about him, Feast themselves upon the Beast till they make a clear end of him: He also drinks of the same Broth wherein he is washed, putting his lips to it, without any Vessel, or the use of his hand; which done, his Kingdom is confirm'd to him. Nor are we here to omit that odd Ceremony heretofore used in the Election of O Neal, by throwing a Shoe over the head of the Elect. But enough of this. Yet Historians affirm, that some of the O Briens have been solemnly made Kings, and wore a Crown of Gold at their Creation; particularly in the Irish Histories, we read that Donough O Brien in the Year of our Lord MLXV. went to Rome, and carried with him the Regal Crown of his Ancestors. Hitherto we have spoken of the Irish Kings who lived before the coming of the English under Hen. II. But it is certain also that some, tho' Subjects, enjoy'd the Name of King, and were so stiled by the Kings of England, even after the coming of the English. For thus Hoveden at the Year MCLXXV. "This is the End and Concord made at Windsor in the Octaves of " S. Michael, in the year of Grace MCLXXV. between our Lord " Henry King of England, Son of Maude the Empress, and Roderik " King of Conaught, by the Catholick Archbishop of Tuam, and Abbot " Cantord of S. Brandan, and Master Lawrence, Chancellor of " the King of Conaught, viz. That the King of England Grants to " the foresaid Roderick, his Liege-man, King of Conaught, so long as " he shall faithfully serve him, That he shall be King under him, " ready to do him Service as his Liege-man, &c. In what order these nominal Kings were placed, That Patent of Henry II. does hint to us; by which he commits the Affairs of Ireland to William Fitz-Aldelm his Sewer, the beginning whereof is thus, Henry by the Grace of God, King of England, Lord of Ireland, Duke of Normandy, Aquitain, and Earl of Anjou, To the Archbishops, Bishops, Kings, Earls, Barons, and all his faithful Subjects of Ireland, Greeting. Roderick's Successor was likewise called King of Conaught, as appears in the Close (a) Roll of the sixth year of King John. Likewise in the Close Roll of the fifth of Hen. 3. certain Grants of the King are directed, to K. King of Conaught, and O. King of Kinel-ean, and in the following year the same King Grants to the King of Tosmond the Land of Tosmond. For thus the Charter Roll of the sixth of Hen. 3. Membr. 2. The King to the King of Tosmond, Greeting, We Grant to you the Land of Tosmond (that is Tuomond) which you formerly held by the Farm of 130 Marks, to be held of us, for our life. Of the complaint of Fedlimid O Conner exhibited at London before Henry III. and the Court, see Mathew Paris, in the year MCCXL, where he calls him, King of that part of Ireland which is called Conaught. And Fedlimid himself took the Name of King of Conaught, as appears by his Seal, see Fig. 1.

(a) Membr. 3. in arce Londin nsi.

The

The like Custom, says (a) Josephus, was among the Antient Romans in the Countrys subject to their Empire, and (b) Tacitus sayeth It was an Antient and long since received Custom among the Romans, to have Kings themselves as Instruments of Servitude. So much of the Kings in Name only, who were in truth Subjects. For as Martial says well, Qui Rex est Regem, Maxime, non habet.

He that desires more of them, let him consult Mr. Seldens Titles of Honour.

Sect. 2.

Of the Succession of their Kings.

NOW follows the Catalogue of the Kings of Ireland, from Lægarius, Son of Neal, till the coming of Henry II. under whom that Island was made Subject to the Crown of England, as we have collected it from Histories and Annals of Ireland. As for the Predecessors of Lægarius, I have purposely omitted them, because most of what is deliver'd of them (in my opinion) is either Fabulous or very much intermix'd with Fables, and without Chronology. But in this Catalogue, least it should be thought that any of the Irish Kings mention'd among Writers, are here wanting. It is to be Noted, that the petty Kings of particular Provinces, are sometimes falsely called Kings of Ireland. So in the Chronicle of Caradocus Lhancarvanensis about the Year of our Lord 905. Gormac Son of Culinan, King and Bishop of Cashel, is called King and Bishop of all Ireland: So about the Year 958, Abloicus King of the Easterlings of Dublin, is there called King of Ireland, so likewise Elermaen, Son of the said Abloicus, who is said to have been slain about the Year 987. So likewise in (c) Giraldus Cambrensis, mention is made of Fedlimid as King of Ireland. Of that Family (says he) XXXIII. Kings Reign'd in Ireland, from St. Patrick's coming there to the Reign of King Fedlimid, for the space of 400 Years. But that Fedlimid in whose time Giraldus affirms (in the following Chapter) the Normegians to have made an Incurfion into Ireland, under Turgesius their Leader, was King of Munster (as it is generally believed) not of all Ireland. Lastly, to omit others, Jocelin (by what Authority I know not) calls one Forchern King of Ireland, at the time of the Death of S. Patrick, viz. in the Year CCCXCII. But the Irish Histories, to which in this Succession of Kings, more credit may be given, say otherwise. These things thus premis'd, we have the way more open to what follows.

Lægarius Son of Neal Nigialac Reign'd 35 Years, and was slain by the People of Leinster in the Battle of the Field of Liffy, in the Year CCCLXIII. Some say he was kill'd the same year in the Battle of Toolí Gaiße, attempting by force of Arms to take a Tribute of Cattle which he had by Oath Released to the People of Leinster.

Ailil Molt, Son of Nathius (from King of Conaught made Monarch of Ireland) Reign'd 20 Years, and was then by his Successor slain in the Battle of Gath Ocha, in the Year CCCLXXXIII.

Lugdath or Lugaid, Son of Lægarius Reign'd 25 Years, it is reported that he was kill'd by a Thunder-bolt, in the Year DVIII. as a just

(a) Antiqu. Judaic. lib. 18. cap. 11.
(b) In Vit. Agricol.

Sect. 2.

(c) Topogr. Hib. Distinct. 3. cap. 36.

A Catalog. of the Irish Kings.
Lægarius
An. 463.

Aibil Molt.
An. 483.

Lugaish
An. 508.

a just Judgment for his obstinacy in Maintaining the Superstitions of the Gentiles.

An Interregnum of 5 Years.

Moriertacus
An. 534.

Moriertac, Son of Erc (called so from his Mother) died with Drink. Some say he was drown'd in a Hoggshhead of Wine, in the Year DXXXIV. having Reigned 12 Years.

Tuathal.
Ann. 544.

Thuathal Mergarb began his Reign in the Year of our Lord DXXXIV. And having Reigned 10 Years, was kill'd by Malmorda, Son of Airgeta, in the year DXLIV. at Grellachelte in Conaught. But the Murtherer was soon taken and slain by the Servants of the said King.

Dermot.
Ann. 565.

Dermot his Successor, first Son of Gerbail, was slain by Aedo or Hugo the Black, Son of Suibne, King of Dalnavaida, in the year of our Lord 565. in a place called Rath-beg; he was descended from Conall, of whose Posterity, see St. Patrick's Prophecy in Jocelin, Cap. 53.

Fergus and Donald I. Sons of Moriertach, Nephews of Erc, succeeded in the year 565. But Donald being slain in Battel the year following, Amirach succeeded.

Amirach.
ann. 569.

Amirach, Son of Setna, was slain by Fergus, Son of Neal, in the year 569. for which Fergus the year following was slain by Edan, Son of Amirach.

Beotan & Eochan, An.
572.

Beotan, the Brother, and Eochan the Son of Moriertach, were slain by Cronan, Son of Tigernach, in the Battel of Glengenvin, having Reigned three years.

Edan. Ann.
598.

Edan, or Æd I. or Hugh, Son of Amirach, succeeded in the year 572. and was slain by Brandub, Son of Etac, and King of Leinster, in the Battel of Belachduin, or Duinbolg, on the 4 Id. January, 598. in the 66th of his Age.

Edan & Colman. an. 604

Edan II. or Æd Slane, and Colman King of Temoria, Reigned jointly 6 years, and then Edan was slain by Conall, Son of Suibne, and Colman by Locan Delman.

Edan III.
ann. 612.

Edan III. Sir-named Varidnac, Son of Donald, Reigned 7 years. He died at Temoria in the year 612.

Melcob,
ann. 615.

Melcob, Son of Edan III. Reigned 3 years, and was slain in the Battel of Cath-toad. where Suibne his Successor became Victorious.

Suibne Mend
ann. 628.

Suibne Mend, Son of Fiacre, was slain by Gongall, Son of Scanlan, in the year 628, having Reigned 13 years.

Donald II.
An. 642.

Donald II. Son of Edan, or Hugh I. Nephew of Amirach, died about the end of Jan. 642. in a place called Ardsothaig. Of his quiet dying in his old Age, St. Columba prophesied, says Adamnanus. His Brother Melcob was Bishop of Clogher.

Cellac &
Conal. 654.

Cellac and Conall, Sons of King Melcob, Reigned together 12 years. Conall was slain in the year 654, by Dermot, Son of Edan Slane. Cellac surviv'd, and Reigned afterward 4 years. He died in the year 658.

Dermot &
Blathmac. an.
665.

Dermot II. and Blathmac, Sons of Edan Slane, Reigned 7 years, and died of the Plague, which raged universally in Ireland in the year 665.

Secnefac, an.
671.

Secnefac, Son of Blathmac, Reigned 6 years, and was killed about the beginning of the Winter, in the year 671, by Duibdin, King of Gairpria.
Canselad,

Cænfelad, Son also of Blathmac, began his Reign in the Year 671, and was slain in Battle by Finfa his Successor, in the year 675.

Cænfelad.
675.

Finfa or Finacta, Son of Donagh, Nephew of Edan Slane, Reign'd 20 Years, and was slain in the Battle of Grelachdolla, together with Bressail his Son, by Hugh, Son of Luthaig and Congelach, Son of Conaing, in the year 695. He is said to have remitted to the People of Leinster an Annual Tribute of Cattle, call'd Boruma, which they were wont to pay to his Predecessors Kings of Ireland.

Finfa. an.
695.

The same year succeeded Loingsecus, Nephew to Finfa, by his Brother Engusa. He Reign'd 8 Years, and together with his 3 Sons Ardgall, Consac and Flan, was slain in Battle by Gellac, Son of Ragall King of Conaught, in the year 703.

Loingsec.
703.

Congall, Sirnamed Gennaccair, Son of Fergus, King of Temoria, succeeded, and died suddenly in the Year 710.

Congall.
710.

Fergall, Son of Meladuín (who succeeded) was slain in the Battle of Cath-Almain, with 160 of his Followers, by Murchard, Son of Brian King of Leinster, 3 Id. Decemb. 722.

Fergall. an.
722.

Fogertach O Cernaig Reign'd but one year, being slain in the Battle of Cindelgin, by his Successor, in the Year 724.

Fogertach.
724.

Cinæd, Son of Irgall, was slain in the Battle of Dromcorcain by Flachertac, Son of Loingsec, in the Year 728.

Cined
728.

Flachertac Reign'd 6 years, and died at Armagh, where he had retir'd to a Monastick Life.

Flachertach
734.

Edan IV. Sirnamed Allain, Son of Fergall, King of Temoria, was slain in the Battle of Kenanuse, by Donald his Successor, in the Year 743.

Edan
743.

Donald III. Son of Moriertach, Reign'd 20 Years, and died 12 Calend. Decemb. 763, in the Island Jona, whether he went on Pilgrimage.

Donald III.
763.

Neal Frassac, or the Cloudy, Son of Fergall, died in the Year 778. And was buried in the Island Jona, otherwise called Hy and I-Columb-Kill, perhaps under the Tomb of the Cœmetery of that Church, which (according to Buchanan) bears this Inscription, Neal Frassac.

778.

TUMULUS REGUM HIBERNIÆ.

Donagh, first Son of Donald, King of Temoria, Reign'd 19 years, and was then kill'd by Edan Ornaid, his Successor, in the battle of Cath-Dromaig; Some say he died of a Feaver: However it were, certain it is, that the two Sons of Donagh were afterward slain in battle by Edan, while they contended for the Monarchy. And so Edan obtain'd the Kingdom, and Reign'd about 22 years.

Donough.
787.

Edan V. or Hugh, Sirnamed Ornaid, Son of Neal Frassac, died in the year 819. or, as some, in 820. Aged 60, at the Ford of Athdasfert, in Tirconall. Some say he was kill'd in the Battle of Cath-Droma.

Edan V.
819.

Concobar, or Cornelius, Son of Donagh, died in the year 832, having Reign'd 12 years. Of Fedlimid (Son of Crimthan) King of Munster, whom Giraldus calls King of Ireland, and says he Reign'd about this Time, see what we have before deliver'd. That Fedlimid died in 847.

Concobar.
832.

Neal Cail
Ann. 846.

Neal Cail, or the Lean Son of Edan the V. Succeeded Concobar, in the year 832. And was drowned at Callina, in the year 846. Aged 55.

Melsechlin
Ann. 862.

Melsechlin I. for the better found called Malachias, Son of Melruan, Reigned 16 years, and died in the year 862, and was buried at Clonmacnoise.

Edan. 879

Edan VI. Son of Neal, called Finliat, King of Temoria, Succeeded and Reign'd almost 17 years, he died in the year 879. at Druim-Inisclain, in Terconall.

Flan. 916.

Flan, Son of Melsechlin, King of Temoria, Reigned 36 years, 6 Months and 5 days, and died at Talten (where of old the most famous fair of Ireland was held) on the 8 of the Calends of June 916. Aged 68.

Neal Glundub.
919.

Neal Glundub, so called from his Black knee, the Son of Edan VI Reigned scarce 3 years, and was then slain in Battle by the Danes, near Dublin.

Donogh
Ann. 944.

Donagh II. Son of Flan Reigned 25 Years, and died suddenly in the year 944.

Congelac.
Ann. 956.

Congelac, Son of Melmith, was slain by the Danes of Dublin, in the Battle of Tiguiran, in the Year 956.

Donald O
Neal. 980.

Donald O Neal, his Successor, died at Armagh, in the year 980. In his time Edgar, King of England, subdued a great part of Ireland, as we find in the Charter of the said Edgar of Omwalds Law, for depriving of Married Priests, and introducing Monks, Dated at Glocester, in the year 966. Indiction VIII. Of his Reign VI. It will not be amiss to Transcribe the Preface of the Charter. " By the " Bounty of Almighty God, King of Kings, and Lord of Lords, " I Edgar, King of England, and of all the Kings of the Islands " round about Britain, and of all the Nations included in it, Lord " and Emperor, Give Thanks to the Omnipotent God, my King, " who has so enlarg'd my Empire, and exalted it above the King- " dom of my Fathers, who tho' they enjoy'd the Monarchy of all Eng- " land, from the time of Ethelstan, who first of all the Kings of Eng- " land, subdued all the Inhabitants of Britain; yet none of them " ever attempted to enlarge the bounds of it. But to me the Divine " Providence has Granted, together with the Kingdom of England, " all the Kingdoms of the Islands of the Ocean, with their fierce " Kings, as far as Norway, and a great part of Ireland, with its most " Noble City of Dublin, All which by the Divine Assistance I have " Subdued. Thus the Preface of King Edgars Charter.

Melsechlin
Ann. 1003.

Melsechlin, or Malachias II. Son of Donald, succeeded his Father in the Year 980. He overthrew the Danes in some Battles, but having Reigned about 23 Years surrendered the Kingdom to Brian, King of Munster, a warlike Prince: But Brian, about 12 Years after, being slain in Battle, he returned to the Kingdom, and died in the Year 1023. at Inis-logh-hainin.

Brian Boro.
Ann. 1014.

Brian, Son of Cened, and Nephew of Lorcan, surnamed Boruma or Boro King of Munster, a Prince of Eminent Vertues, having often overthrown the Danes in Battle, was declared King of all Ireland, in the Year 1002; and 12 years after was slain in a bloody Battle at Clontarf, Clontarf, near Dublin, on the 23. of April 1014 Aged 74. (his Hands and Eyes, says, Marianus Scotus, lifted up to God) together with his Son Murchard, and many others, by Sitricus, King of Dublin. On the part of Sitricus were slain Mailmord, King of Leinster, and many others. Some say that the body of Brian was carryed to the Church of S. Maignan (which we now call Kill-mainam, a Mile from Dublin) and was there buried not far from a stone Cross inclo'd in a circle at the top, which is yet to be seen within the walls of the Priory of the Knight-Hospitalers. But some say he was buried at Armagh. However it were; upon his death, Malachias recover'd the Kingdom, and Reign'd till the Year 1023. when he died.

After which there was an Interregnum for 20 Years (as some say) during which time Cuan O-Lachnan, and O Corcran, a noble Clerk, Sate at the Helm of the Government. Corcran died in the Year 1040. according to the Ulster Annals.

Dermot III. Son of Melnambo, obtain'd the Kingdom, and Reign'd above 30 years; but was at last slain in Battle (though assisted by the Danes) by Conochor O Melaghlin, King of Meath, in the Year 1073. He seems to be the same whom Caradocus Lhancarvanensis calls Dermot Maken-Anel, the Most Worthy Prince that ever Reign'd in Ireland, and says he was kill'd about the Year 1068. Another Chronicle of Wales has 1070.

Dermot
1073.

Tirdelvac O Brian, Grandson of Brian Boruma, by Thaddy his Son, King of Munster, succeeded, and died at Kincore in the Year 1086, Aged 77. Kincore was then a Populous and (according to the Ulster Annals in the Year 1061) a Royal City, but is now a little Village on the River Brassinoge in Mac-Coghlan's Country, which is part of the Kings-County.

Tirdelvac
O Brian, An.
1086.

Soon after Moriartach O Brian, Son of Tirdelvac, obtain'd the Kingdom, who having Reign'd many Years, died in the Year 1120. and was buried in the Cathedral of S. Flannan, at Killaloo, Caradocus Lhancarvanensis, and his Cotemporary William of Malmesbury call him Murchard. Our Henry I. (says Malmesbury) had him, and Successors, so much at his devotion, that they would neither write nor do any thing without his Approbation, though it be reported, that Murchard, for what cause I know not, for some time carried himself more high than usuall towards the English, but upon the interdicting of Shipping and Commerce, he soon grew milder. Some say, how true I know not, that an Interregnum of 15. Years followed.

Moriartach
O Brian, An.
1120.

Tirdelvac O Conner, King of Conaught, obtain'd the Monarchy, which he held till the Year 1157. when he died, Aged 68. Years; and was buried at Clonmacnoise, in the Cathedral near the high Altar of S. Ciaran.

Tirdelvac
O Conner, 1157.

Maurice, or Moriartach, Son of Neal, and Grand-Son to Loghlin, commonly called Maurice Mac-Loghlin from his Grand-Father, Reign'd about 9 years, and was kill'd by Donatus O Carroil, King of Ergall, or Uriel, in the Year 1166. Henry Marlebourg, in the Year 1111. mentions A great Council of Bishops and Noblemen of Ireland, assembled by Maurice Mac-Loghlin, King of Ireland; But that Reign begins not till the Year 1157. From whence it seems to me that the said Council was held under Muriertach O Brian.

Moriertach
Mac-Loghlin, 1166.

Roderick

Roderick
O Conner,
Ann. 1192.

Roderick (Son of Tirdelvac) O Conner, King of Conaught, Succeeded in the Year 1166. and died in 1198; and was buried in the Monastery of Cong. In his time Ireland became Subject to the Crown of England: And tho the Kings of England were heretofore called Lords of Ireland, till Hen. VIII. in a Parliament held at Dublin in the Year 1541. was declared King of Ireland; Yet under the former title (says the Statute) the said Kings had all manner of Jurisdiction, Power, Prebeminence and Authority Royal belonging to the Royalty and Majesty of a King, forasmuch as the King's Majesty, and his most Noble Progenitors, were justly, and ought of right to be Reputed, Stiled, and called Kings of Ireland; So the Statute.

CHAP. V.

Of the Druides, and their Superstitions; where, by the way, something of the Gods heretofore worshipped by the Irish before their Conversion to Christianity. And of the Antient Bards.

Sect. 1.

(a) Comen tar. Lib. 6

Certain it is that the Druids and Bards were of old in great honour and esteem among the Gauls, Britains and Irish. As for the Druids, they were the Flamins or Priests, Philosophers, Legislators and Judges, as (a) Cæsar testifies, where he gives us a large account of their Order, Office, Jurisdiction and Learning. They were also skilfull in Magick, as appears in Pliny, comparing the following places one with another, viz. Lib. 26. cap. ult., where he calls the Druids of the Gauls, Magicians, Lib. 24. cap. 11. Where he tells with what Superstition they used to gather the Herb, by them called Salago, with their right hand, and another called Samolín, with the left, against the Diseases of their Swine and Oxen &c. And Lib. 29. cap. 3. In his Relation of a Snakes Egg. From hence Dri, among the Irish is taken for a Magician but they had the name of Druids from Δρῦς, an Oak. The Tree sacred to Jupiter, or (as others) from Deru, a Celtick word, which signifies the same, or because they perform'd their Superstitions in the Woods and Groves of Oak; From whence (b) Lucan, (b) Lib. 1.

——Nemora alta remotis Incolitis lucis,—— or because they made use of the Oak in their Sacred Rites, hence Ovid, Ad viscum Druidæ, Druidæ clamare solebant.

(c) Lib. 16.
cap. 44.

Of this see more in Apuleius, his first Apology. Some also are of opinion that Ireland it self was heretofore called the Woody-Island, from its plenty of Oaks, and other Wood. But above all (c) Pliny informs us, That “ The Druids (so the Gauls call their Magicians) “ have nothing more Sacred amongst them than the Mistletoe, and “ the Tree, if it be the Oak, on which it grows. They make choice “ of Groves of Oak, and perform no Sacred Rite without it, from “ whence they seem to have the Greek Name of Druids. What- “ ever “ ever grows on that Tree, they think is sent from Heaven, and is “ a sign that the Tree is chosen by God. The Priest, Clothed in “ white, climbs the Tree, and with a golden Sickle cuts the Mistle“ toe, which is put into a White bag, and is believ’d a Sovereign “ cure for all things. By their Instruction the Irish in the times of Heathenism Worshiped Jupiter, Mars, Mercury, Apollo, or the Sun, Diana or the Moon, and the Wind. After the manner also of the Britains, they Worshipped Gods of the Mountains and Rivers. Dio- nysius Afer says also, that the Women among the Britains Sacrificed to Bacchus. Of two of these viz. The Sun and the Wind, mention is made in the Oath of Lagarius, Son of Neat, King of Ireland, in the Ulster Annals, in the year of our Lord CCCCLVIII. Lucian likewise (in Toxaris) says that the Scythians of old swore by the Wind and (a) Acinacis, nor is it to be thought strange that the heathen Irish should Worship the Wind, when it is certain that Augustus Cæsar Erected a Temple to the Wind Circius in Gaul. (b) Jocelin a Cistercian Monk of Furness in Lancashire, says that the above mentioned Lagarius swore by an Idol called Ceancroithi, that is, the head of all the Gods, because (says he) he was believ’d by the foolish people to give Answers. Whether the Irish understood Apollo by that name, is doubted. In the Register of Clogher, we find mention of an Idol there, that about the same time used to give answers from a Golden Stone, from whence the City Clogher took its name, nor are we here to omit that fatal Stone heretofore called Liafail, brought into Ireland by the Tbuathededans, And from thence in the Reign of Mo- riertach, Son of Erca, sent into Argathelia, to his brother Fergus, but was afterward by King Keneth inclos’d in a wooden chair for the Consecration of the Kings of Scotland, and placed in the Abby of Scone, and at last was Translated to Westminster, by Edward I. King of Eng- land. Of this Stone, wonders are related, but how true I leave to the disquisition of others, Particularly the report is, that in the time of Heathenism, before the birth of Christ, he only was approv’d as Monarch, under whom, being sat in it, the Stone groaned, or (according to the book of Hoath, in the hands of Sir. Thomas Stafford) spake. Of the general silence of the Oracles throughout the world upon the birth of Christ, see (c) Eusebius, (d) Suidas, and (e) Nice- phorus Calistus. But to the purpose. Of this Sect were those Magicians who foretold the coming of S. Patrick into Ireland 3 years before he came, as Jocelin relates in the life of that Saint, which he writ about the year 1190. The Superstition of the Dru- ids, continued in Ireland till the first times of Christianity there.

 The Egyptian Priests obscur’d their knowledge in Hieroglyphicks, instead of Letters; from whence Lucan,

(a) an Image of Mars.

(b) vit. Patric. cap. 50.

The fatal
Stone Liafail
Translated to Scone thence to Westmin- ster.

(c) Præparation. Evangel. lib. 5.

(d) In Au-gusto.

(e) Eccefiast.
Hist. lib. 1.
cap. 17.

Polucrésque fœraque
Sculptæque servabant magicas animalia formas.

But the Druids thought it not lawful to communicate their Mysterys, by writing or otherwise, but as they receiv’d them by Tradition from their Ancestors, so they left them to their Posterity. Such kind of Tradition the Jews call Cabal, though indeed their vain Cabalistical Art was far from a Cabal, as consisting of Ænigmatical Numbers and Transpositions of Letters, Inversion of words, Allusions Ambiguous speeches and Similies. The Druids according to Cæsar and Diodorus Siculus, held the Pythagorical opinion of the Transmigration of the Soul. In Lucan we find mention of an opinion of theirs, of another long life, and another World; but not of that Pythagorical opinion. For thus (a) he,

(a) lib. 1.

———*Vobis auctoribus umbræ,
Non tacitas Erebi sedes Ditisque profundi
Pallida regna petunt: Regit idem spiritus artus
Orbe alio, longæ, canitis si cognita, vita, Mors media est.*

(b) lib. 3.
cap. 2.
(c) lib. 15.
(d) lib. 17.
cap. ult.

With whom agree (b) Pomponius Mela, and (c) Ammianus Marcellinus. Lastly, the Druids measur'd their time, not by the Sun's, but by the Moon's course, as (d) Pliny tells us. But of the Druids enough.

Sect. 2.

Of the Antient Bards.

(e) Geogr.
lib. 4.

WE come now to the Bards, who according to (e) Strabo, were their Poets. Bard according to Pompeius Festus, signifies, in the Language of the Gauls, a Singer, who Sang the Praises of Valiant Men. (f) Diodorus Siculus calls him a maker of Songs, and (g) Lucan, a Poet or Prophet.

(f) lib. 5.
(g) lib. 4.

* *Vos quoque qui fortes animas belloque peremptos,
Laudibus, in longum, Vates, dimittitis ævum, Plurima securi fudistis carmina Bardi.*

Of this kind was Dubtach, Son of Vulgair, a famous Irish Poet, who upon his Conversion to Christianity, Converted his Poetry, which he before employ'd in Singing the Praises of false Gods, to Sing the Praises of the Almighty, and his Saints. So Jocelin in the life of S. Patrick. cap. 45. But in later times, Poets of less note, commonly call'd Rimers, were called Bards by the Irish, who usually employ'd their Rimes, either to corrupt youth, or raise sedition. Which abuse occasion'd the Statute Pass'd in Parliament against them, or those that should receive them. In Wales the Bards, according to Powel, kept the Arms and Genealogies of the Nobility. Of the more antient, consult the Laws of Hoel Dha, That is, the Good. Lastly, it is not here to be forgotten that some Latin writers take Bard for an ignorant, impolite fellow, because these kind of Poets were by them esteemed barbarous. Of the Original of their denomination, Richardus Vitus, out of the Pseudo Berofus, says, They were called Bards, or Singing Poets from Bardus V. King of the Britains, Inventor of Verses, and that kind of Musick. But that Fable is exploded by learned men, together with other fictions of Annius Viterbiensis, who first obtruded that supposititious Berofus on the world.

C H A P.

CHAP. VI.

Of the divers Names by which the Antient Irish called Foreigners, especially their Neighbours.

THE Antient Irish generally called all Foreigners, especially their European Neighbours, of whatever Nation, promiscuously Gauls. From hence the little Territory near Dublin Northward, heretofore possess'd by the Norwegians, was called Fingall: So Der-mot, Son of Murchard, and King of Leinster, was called Ni-gall, that is, a friend to the English, because in favour of him, the English under Hen. II. Invaded Ireland. So the Jews once called all Foreigners Grecians, as we find in S. (a) Paul. So likewise in these our days, in some Eastern Countries, almost all Europeans are called Franks. Yet it is to be confess'd, that the English were commonly called by the Irish Saxons, the Danes likewise and Norwegians, who subdued a great part of Ireland, in the IX Age, and possess'd Dublin, Waterford, Limerick, and other Maritime Towns, till the coming of the English under Hen. II. were sometimes called Normans, as denoting Men from the North, sometimes Ostmans, to denote Men of the East. From them the North Suburbs of Dublin took the Name of Ostman-Town, called corruptly Oxman-Town, which it retains to this day. Some divide these Normans, or Ostmans, into Dubgalls, and Fingalls: By the Dubgalls, or Black Foreigners, meaning the Danes; And by the Fingalls, or White Foreigners, the Norwegians. Nor are we here to omit the Scotch-Britains, called by the Irish Albans, nor the Welsh, whom they called Brannagh, and Britains. But from what has been said, some footsteps seem to remain of the Antient Gauls, who (according to Edmund Spencer, in his Dialogue of the State of Ireland) were Seated in the South part of Ireland, which he conjectures from the Menapians of old Gaul, whom Ptolomy reckons among the Inhabitants of the South-East parts of the Island. Which conjecture is confirm'd from certain Arms of the Irish, like those of the Antient Gauls, viz. Darts, used by the Light Arm'd Soldiers, whom they called Kerns, and from their Axes and Coats of Armour, worn by those called Gallo-glasses. The Irish also wore their curled locks, commonly called Glibbs, after the manner of the Gauls and Britains. I know that (b) Saxo Grammaticus says, that The Irish shaved the hinder part of their head, lest they should be taken by the hair in their flight. But his Fictions are sufficiently known. Of the Hair of the Antient Britains, see what we have said Cap. 2. And of the Gauls, see (c) Diodorus Siculus (d) Pliny and (e) Dio, where he says that part of Gaul beyond the Alps was called Comata, from the long hair of the Inhabitants, by which they were distinguish'd from the rest. Nor did they only imitate the Britains and Antient Gauls in the hair of their Heads, but in their Beards also, which they wore only on the upper lip, according to Cæsar and Diodorus, so did the Britains and Gauls. The like was in use among the English in Ireland, especially those who Inhabited the Marshes. Afterward a Statute

(a) Epi. ad Rom. cap. 1. ver. 16.

Oxman-town from whence so called.

(b) Histo. Danicæ lib. 5.

(c) lib. 5.
(d) lib. 3.
ap. 20.
(e) lib. 46.
ub. fin:

a Statute was made in a Parliament held at Trim, in the year 1446, under John Talbot, Earl of Shrewsbury, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland; By which, to distinguish the English from the Irish, it was under severe Penalties Prohibited. But to proceed. From whence Donegall in Ulster is deriv'd, whether from the Gallacii of Spain, or from the antient Gauls, let others enquire. That almost all foreigners of Europe were antiently called Gauls by the Irish, is confirm'd by a certain saying of the Irish, mention'd by S. Bernard, in the Life of S. Malachy, Archbishop of Armagh, Scoti sumus non Galli. We are Scots, not Gauls.

CHAP. VII.

Of the Ornaments, Commodities, and some special Privileges of Ireland

THE Ornaments and Indowments that chiefly allure Men to the Possession of a Country, are the Fertility of the Soil, the healthy Air, Woods, Plains, Mines, rich Quarries of Stone, Navigable Rivers, well stored with Fish, large and safe Harbours, the Neighbourhood of the Sea, for the benefit of Traffick, and necessaries for the Life of Man. In all these (to say nothing of Cities and Towns which are rais'd by the Art and Industry of Man) Ireland is happy. But what is most rare, and not granted by Providence to almost any other part of the habitable World, it breeds no venomous Creature, tho' brought from another Country. Spiders indeed it has and Neuts, but not venomous. Earthquakes are there very rare, Thunder seldom, and the seasons of Winter and Summer both moderate. Among the Four footed Beasts the most remarkable are their Hobbys, in great esteem for their easy pace. Johannes Major notes that they were heretofore called Asturcones, as being first brought from the Asturians of Spain into Ireland. From these kind of Horses, certain Light Armed Horsemen were called Hobellarii: And in a Parliament (a) Roll in the Records of the Tower of London, there mention is of 2000 Hobellarii to be sent out of Ireland, by the Kings Command against the Scots; but how many were sent I do not find. In the Army of King Edward III. at the Siege of Calis, in the year 1347. are reckon'd (among other Soldiers) under Maurice Earl of Kildare, 27 Hobellarii, and under Fulck de la Freign, an Irish-Man, 14. Of this kind of Horses, Paulus Jovias affirms, That he saw 12 of a beautiful white colour, adorn'd with purple and silver Reins, led in the Popes Train. Nor are we to forget those dogs, commonly called Wolf-dogs, of great strength, large proportion, and elegant shape. Of Birds there is the Eagle, the Goshauke, the Falcon, the Merlin, the Cock of the Wood, which (b) Giraldus Cambrensis calls the Wood Pheasant. There are also Margarites, but of a pale colour. To these add the great Plenty of Fish, as of Salmon, Herring, Pilchard, which Salted and Barrell'd are Transported in great abundance to Foreign Countries. Nor can I here forget the great multitude of Ships that yearly Transport from hence,

Oxen,

Hobbs the same with Spanish Jennets.

(a) 15. Edw. 2. parl. 2. Membr. 19.

(b) Topogr. lib. Distinct. 1. cap. 10.

Oxen, Sheep, Beef, Hides, Leather, Wool, Flax, Lead and Iron. And for the Dignity of Ireland, see the Arguments of the Ambassador of Henry V. King of England in the (a) Council of Constantinople, where he claims Precedency solely on account of the Antient Kingdom of Ireland. It remains that we say somewhat of the Holy Men (those great Ornaments of the Island) who in the Primitive times of the Church, preach'd the Gospel both here and in foreign parts. Their Acts, tho' deliver'd compendiously, require a particular Treatise. It may suffice here to shew, that for their Multitude this Island was heretofore called the Island of Saints. To offer no more than the bare names of those whose Acts are extant may seem unnecessary: but the greater part of them, together with the times wherein they flourish'd, may be seen in what we hereafter deliver of the Churches of Ireland.

(a) vide act.
Council Con-stan. mss. in Biblioth. Cotton.

C H A P. VIII.

Of Tanistry, the Brehon Law, and the Customs called Gossipred, Fostering and Gavel-kind.

IT is true that the Laws and Customs of England were introduced in Ireland, at the first coming of the English under Hen. II. and were afterward Confirm'd and Establish'd by King John, and left under his Seal in the Exchequer in Dublin; but yet it is certain, that for some hundreds of Years, they did not extend farther than the Countrys Inhabited by the English, for in all other parts of Ireland, Tanistry was in use, together with the Brehon Law, and Gavel-kind, which Laws and Customs began likewise to be received among some of the English of better Note, as appears by a Statute made in a Parl. at Kilkenny in the XL. Year of Edw. III. under Lionel Duke of Clarence, Lieutenant of Ireland, wherein the English are commanded, in all Controversies, to be govern'd by the common Law of England, and whoever submitted to the Brehon Law, or Law of the Marshes is declar'd a Traitour. But notwithstanding that Act, those Laws and Customs of the Irish were afterward receiv'd by many of the English. Nor till the Peace settled under King James, were the Laws of England receiv'd and acknowledg'd universally in Ireland. By the Law of Tanistry (of which we now treat) the hereditary right of Succession was not observ'd among the Princes or Rulers of Countrys, but the strongest, and he who had most followers, often the eldest and most worthy of the Blood and name of the Deceased King, succeeded: who, by the common suffrage of the People, in the Life time of his Predecessor, being appointed Successor, was called Tanist, as much as to say, Second. Which name seems to be deriv'd from Thane, an honourable Title among the Saxons, of whom the chief were called the Kings Thanes, or Ministers of State. Whoever receiv'd the Dignity maintained himself and followers, partly by certain Lands appointed for that use, called Loghry, but chiefly by certain tributary Impositions, which he exacted at his will,

Brehon law in use among the English of Ireland.

Tanist.

Brehons.

will, called Comerings, &c. from which only the Lands of the Church, and such as he indulged by particular Priviledge were exempt; So that every King among them was a Tyrant. They had likewise certain Judges among them, called Brehons, who at certain appointed times in the open Air, and usually on a Hill, being seated on Clods of Earth, determin'd what Controversies happened among their Neighbours. These Judges were not acquainted with the Laws of England, but in matters depending before them, gave Judgment partly according to the Civil and Cannon Law, and partly according to the Customs in use among themselves, and as they had Brehons of one Sept or Family, so also they had Historians, Physicians, Chirurgions, Poets and Harpers of other peculiar Septs, to every one of which certain Lands were assign'd. The King likewise (if he were of the most Potent) reserv'd to himself the power of making War or Peace. But to return to the Brehon Law; Murther, Rapes and Thefts were punish'd with a Mulct, called Eric, of which the Brehon had the 11th part as his Salary. This kind of Fine the Albanian Scots (who of old had the same Customs) called (a) Cro. But what was taken from Strangers, as tho done for the publick good, was after the manner of the old Gauls and Spartans esteemed commendable.

(a) Vide Spelman in voce Cro.

They had likewise two other Customs, called Gossipred, and Fostering, which by the Corruption of time were the causes of much Mischiefe; For from hence began those Combinations and Confederacies of Parties, upon any discord arising among the more Potent of them, in all things lawfull or unlawfull; So that the Condition of the Subject was miserable in those places where these Customs prevail'd.

Gavelkind
what.

Lastly, to conclude this Chapter, it remains that we say something of the Custom which we call Gavel-kind. As to the Etymology of the word, Lambard and his followers expound it to be an Inheritance descending to all the nearest kindred, from the Saxon word Gifel-eal-cyn. But I think Somners opinion more probable, who in his Glossary derives it from the Saxon Gafel, that is a Tax, Tribute, or Pension, and cyn, that is, Nature, Kind, or Condition. So that Gavel-kind denotes a Tributary Possession, liable to an Annual Rent, and the Services and Duties of other common Possessions. But of this let others enquire. By this Custom among the Irish, the Inheritance of the deceased (below the degree of a Tanist) was equally divided among the Sons both lawfully and unlawfully begotten; and they failing, among the next Heirs-Males, the Femals being wholly excluded, contrary to the antient Gavel-kind of the English Saxons; among whom, the Issue-Male failing, Femals were admitted to Inherit, and Bastards wholly excluded. Upon this Account, any of the Sons, tho' labouring under the greatest Poverty, esteem'd himself a Gentleman, and much disdain'd to meddle in Husbandry, Merchandise, or any Mechanick Art. The like custom of Gavel-kind was also in Venedotia, or North-Wales, till the 12. of Edward I. when by the Statute of Rutland the said Custom was reform'd, and so continued till the 34. of Henry VIII. when by another Statute it was wholly wholly abolish'd. There are yet extant, as I have heard, some Books in Irish, containing the Laws of some of the Antient Kings of Ireland, before the coming of the English, which doubtless are very necessary to understand the form of Government among the antient Irish, and deserve a full search.

Irish Law-Books.

CHAP. IX.

Of the Surnames of the Antient Irish. And when Surnames began to be fix'd and annex'd to Family's.

TO the proper Names of the antient Irish, Surnames were added, either from some Action, some Quality of the mind, Colour or mark of the Body, or from Chance, or Ironically. So Neal King of Ireland was called Nigialac, because he had taken nine Hostages from the lesser Kings, and had held them for some time in Fetters. King Brian was called Boruma, because he had recover'd from the people of Leinster, a certain Annual Tribute so called. Cenfela was called the Wise, S. Barr, Finbarr, or White Barr. S. Comin, Fada, or Long, and Æd, the Bearded Clerk, from his long Beard; like as among the Grecians, Seleucus III. King of Syria, was call'd Ceraunus, that is, Thunder, from his precipitate temper. Ptolomy VII. King of Egypt, Physcon, from his great Belly, and (to omitt others) Ptolomy the last save one, Auletas, from his great love to the Bagpipe. Or as among the Romans, M. Aurelius was called Corvus, and his off-spring Corvini, because he kill'd Gallus in a Duel by the accidental help of the flight of a Crow. One Scipio was call'd Africanus, another Asiaticus, from their Victories obtain'd in those parts of the World. So he that was Born in his Fathers absence was call'd Proculus, if Born after his Fathers Death, Posthumus, if lame, Claudius. But he that desires to know more of the Roman Surnames, let him consult (a) Plutarch. I return to Ireland, where it is to be Noted that the antient Irish, besides these Surnames, had also after the antient manner their Fathers names superadded, as Dermot-mac-Cormac, Cormac-mac-Donel, Donel-mac-Tirdehuac, &c.

(a) In vita C.M. Cortolani

At last in the Reign of the foresaid Brian, the Surnames of the Irish, or the names of Families began to be fix'd and propagated to their Posterity, with the addition of the Aspiration H. or the Monosyllable Va, which was after chang'd into O, and denotes a Descendant from some principal Man, as O Brian, O Conner &c. Yet it is to be acknowledg'd, that for some Hundreds of years after, many Families had no certain and fixed Surnames. Some observe that about the year of Our Lord 1000. (in the time of Brian) Surnames began also to be fix'd in France, England and Scotland, first among the Nobility, and by degrees among the lower sort. Lastly, some particular Irish Families, besides these Surnames, had also other additional names, as Bane, White; Boy, Yellow; Bacca, Lame; Moil, Bald, &c. And the same custom began likewise to be introduced among some English Families. Whoever would know more of Surnames affixed in Families.

of this subject, let him consult the learned Camden's Remaines, where he may find sufficient to satisfy his curiosity, especially of the Original of English Surnames. I proceed to other things which, tho' more difficult, are possibly more pleasing.

CHAP. X.

The people and places of Antient Ireland, mention'd in Ptolomy, who flourish'd under Antoninus Pius, together with the more Modern Names.

I have here Undertaken a Subject so difficult and obscure, that the most clear sighted can hardly discover any thing of certainty in it. For antient Names, by the revolution of time, have been so much changed, that at this day there are scarce any characters of their Antiquity remaining, and, as Seneca, New foundations of Cities are laid, and new names of people are sprung up either from the extinction of the antient, or change of them into the more prevailing. Therefore the best guides are the Situations of places, as they are describ'd by Ptolomy out of Marinus Tyrius. From Camden, I receiv'd light in many things, tho' I cannot deny but that the love of truth has constrain'd me to differ from him in sundry others. Some likewise there may be that may deserve correction. However these such as they are, I offer to the Reader, together with a Chorographical Table of Antient Ireland, according to Ptolomy, the Luceni only added out of Orosius, who flourish'd under Theodosius the Younger. As for measuring the degrees of Longitude and Latitude, see (a) Ptolomy's Rule, which is always to be observ'd for the better gaining the true reading.

(a) lib. 2.
cap. 1.

The Mouth of the River Argita.

A. Now a Port or Lough called Lough foil near London-Derry, call'd by Camden Lough-Sully.

The River Aufona or Aufoba.

A River which rising from Lough-Curb runs by Galway, this river I take to be the same with Galvia or Galiva mention'd in the Annals of Roscomman in the years 1177. and 1190. The River seems to have given Name to the City, but of the reason of the Name let others inquire.

The Auteri.

These people heretofore inhabited some parts of that which is now called the County of Gallway or Roscomman, the name Anteri appears somewhat in the name of the Town of Athenry in the County of Gallway.

Boreum Promontorium.

B. At this day S. Helens-Head, or Telen in the County of Donegall.

The Brigantes.

They Inhabited those parts called now the Countys of Catherlogh, Kilkenny, and the Queens County.

The

The River Brigus or Birgus.

At this day called the Barrow, into which runs the Neor, and some miles farther the Suire, which 3 Rivers spring in the Mountains called Sleu-Bloom, and runing long in divided streams, unite at last in one chanel, and fall into the Sea near the Tower of Hook, in the County of Wexford, from whence they were heretofore called the 3 Sisters.

The River Buvinda.

Called at this day the Boin, and by Nechamus, the Boand in Meath, from Boan a British, as well as Irish word, signifying Swift.

The Cauci.

Heretofore Inhabitants of the Countrys now called the Countys of Wicklow and Kildare. They seem to be deriv'd from the Cauci of Germany, See Ortel. Thesaur. Geograph. in Chaucis.

The Coriondi and Udiæ, or Vodii.

These heretofore Inhabited the Countries now called the Counties of Cork, Tipperary and Limerick. The Name Coriondi doth appear something in the word Cork. Whether these Coriondi came into Ireland from the Coritani of Britain, may be doubted; but there seems to be some affinity in the Name.

The Darnii or Darini.

They Inhabited those Parts which we now call the Countys of Londonderry, Antrim and Tyrone. Some remainder of the Name Darnii seems to be in the word Derry (heretofore call'd Daire-calgais) as also in Dalrieta, which was heretofore the Name of the County of Antrim, or a great part of it, at this day call'd Routs.

The River Daurona.

In Camden it is call'd the River running by Cork, in Giraldus Cambrensis, Saverennus, which together with the River Luvius, he says, runs through Cork, Namely a Province so call'd, not the City. But the River that now runs by that City is called Lea, which I take to be the same with that Luvius. But Daurona, if I mistake not, is now Aven-more, that is, the Great River which falls into the Sea near Toghall.

Dunum.

Dunamause in the Queens County, as seems by the Situation of the place assign'd by Ptolomy among the Inland-Towns. There some ages since the Earls of March had a strong Castle seated upon a Hill, the Carcass whereof is yet to be seen. Camden seats it in the County Down. Dunum among the Antient Gaules, Britains and Saxons, signified a Hill, as Lugdunum in Gaul, Dunelmum Camalodunum and Sorbiodunum in England.

The River Dur.

The Bay of Dingle, or Mouth of the River Maing, in the County of Kerry: Camden, by mistake, calls it the little River running by Traley. Dur in British signifies Water, says Humphry Lloyd a Welshman.

Eblana.

Dublin, the Metropolis of Ireland. Jocelin calls it Athcliath, others

H

Bal'ecliath,

C.

D.

E.

Ballecliath, that is, a Town upon Hurdles; For such was the first Foundation, being Built upon a Bog.

The Eblani or Blanii.

They were the People that Inhabited about Dublin, and the greatest part of Meath.

The Isle Edri.

In Pliny called Andros. It is by Ptolomy seated among the Islands of the West of Ireland, and is as I conjecture, the same with Beg-Eri, that is, little Ireland. An Island in the Mouth of the Slane, in the County of Wexford. Camden will have it Berdfey, or Enbly, Situate towards Caernarvon in Wales, but I think he mistakes.

The Erdini.

People that Antiently Inhabited near Logh-Ern, and the Country now called the County of Fermanagh. In the word Ern are some remains of Erdini.

G.

The Gangani.

The Inhabitants of Thuomond, and some of the Southern parts of the County of Galway. Camden thinks they had their Original from the Concani of Spain, descended from the Scythians.

Hieron, that is, the Sacred Promontory.

H.

Grenore, not far from Wexford-Haven; some say it was heretofore called Salanga, and afterward Mount S. Dominick (of Offory) of whom Giraldus Cambrensis speaks. Topog. Hib. Hist. 1. cap, 5.

I.

The River Iernus.

Now called the River Kilmar in the County of Kerry, where is a Noble Haven.

Isamnium.

Called by Seamen S. Johns-foreland, in the County Down.

Fuernis.

Camden takes it to be Dunkeran, but herein I confess I am in the dark.

L.

Laberus.

Perhaps Cenanus, or Canenus, now Commonly call'd Kells, in Meath, heretofore reckon'd among the most Eminent Cities. Josephus Molesius calls it Ampreston. Camden, Killair in West-Meath. But of this let others inquire.

Libnius or Liboeus.

The River Sligo, which Girald. Cambrensis calls Slichney. The Situation in Ptolomy shews it to be the Bay of Sligo. Camden mistakes it for the River Liffy by Dublin.

Limum.

Now the Island of Lambay near the shore of Dublin, which appears both by the Name and Situation in Ptolomy; In Camden it is Ramsey near Pembroke-shire in Wales. Lambay signifies the Isle of Lambs, as Ramsey the Isle of Rams, and Shepey in Kent the Isle of sheep.

Logia.

The River Bann (rising from the great Logh call'd Logh-eagh) in the East of the County of Derry, famous for the Salmon-fishing. Villanovanus corruptly calls it Bone, Camden, Loghfoil.

Macolicum

Macolicum.

Mercator and Camden call this place Malc but where to find a place so called I know not, but think it may be Milick, by the River Shenon, in the County of Galway; nor doth the Name much disagree.

Menapia.

By the Situation in Ptolomy it seems to be Wexford, but some take it to be the same with Waterford, call'd by the Irish and Welsh Port-largi. The word Ford added to the Name, seems to be of an exotick original, and among the English and Germans signifies a passage through a River, from whence Oxford in England, and Frankford in Germany have the reason of their Names.

Menapii.

The Inhabitants of the Countries now call'd the Countys of Wexford and Waterford. Whether Carausius, who in the time of Dioclesian and Maximian Usurped the Purple in Britain, were of these, or the Menapians of the Belgick Gaul, is not easy to determin. Yet he seems to have been of the Menapians of Ireland, for Sextus Aurelius Victor expressly calls him a Citizen of Menapia. And the City Menapia (as Camden well notes) is seated by Ptolomy, not in the Belgick Gaul, but in Ireland. Though he allow Menapians in both.

The River Modonus.

Now call'd the Slane in the County of Wexford, as it is Situated by Ptolomy.

Nagnata or Magnata.

This Ptolomy calls a famous City, and seems by him to be Situate not far from Sligo, but there are not thereabout, that I know, any signs of a City so call'd, thus destructive is time. Some remains there are indeed of the Name in that which we now call Mayo (mention'd by Bede) a known Town of the next County Southward; Yet the distance of its Situation will not allow it to be the Magnata of Ptolomy. Some may possibly imagine that the City is a little misplac'd by him, but of that let others inquire.

The Nagnatae or Magnati.

They were the Inhabitants of the Country at this day call'd Sligo, and possibly of Mayo also.

Notium or the South Promontory.

By Seamen call'd Missen-Head in the County Cork.

The River Ovoca or Oboca.

Aven-more or Owen-more, as it is commonly call'd, that is the great River, running by Arklo in the County of Wicklo, it is by Josephus Moletius call'd, tho not rightly, Arcelius.

The River Ravius.

The River Ern rising from Logh-Ern in the County of Donegall. It is by Giraldus Cambrensis call'd Samarius, by Camden, Mercator and Spencer, Tromis.

Rheban.

Situate by the River Barrow in the County of Kildare, heretofore a City, now only a Castle.

The

M.

N.

O.

R.

The Isle Ricina.

Now commonly called Rachlin, by Pliny Ricnea, at this day part of the County of Antrim.

Rigia or Regia.

Mercator takes it for Limerick. Camden from its Name and Situation more probably places it not far from Loghrie, a large Logh that receives the River Shenon.

Another Rigia or Regia.

In Camden called Reglis, in the Rocky Island of Logh Derg, where is S. Patricks Purgatory, but the Situation and smallness of the place disallow it, for it contains hardly three quarters of an ordinary Irish Acre. I take it to be Athenry, in the County of Galway.

The Robogdii, or Rhobogdii and Vennicnii.

The Inhabitants of the Country, now call'd Donegall, and part of London-Derry.

The Promontory Rhobogdium.

The utmost foreland of all Ireland to the North-Sea, in the Peninsula, call'd Inis-Oen.

S.

Senus.

The River Shenon, in Orosius call'd Scena, the most famous River of Ireland, which rises in the mountain Slew-neren (so called from the Iron Mines with which it abounds) in the County of Leitrim.

V.

The Velabri, in some Coppys Vellibori.

Inhabitants of the North parts of Kerry, whether they were so called from the Iberi, is doubted. Orosius makes them Neighbours to the Luceni, at the mouth of the River Seena.

The Promontory Vennicinium

By Seamen call'd Rams-head, and by some Horns-head, in the County of Donegall.

The Mouth of the River Vidua.

Lough Suilly in the same County.

The Mouth of the River Vinderius.

The Bay of Carigfergus, or the River Lagan, which there falls into the Sea.

U.

The Voluntii, or Uhintii.

The Inhabitants of the Country heretofore call'd Ullagh or Ulidia, at this day the County Down, from these possibly the Ultonians or people of Ulster had their Name, if not, as some think, from Ollomainus, an antient Heathen King of Ireland.

The Uterni.

Or according to other Copies, Iberni, Iberi and Fuerni, the Inhabitants of the South parts of Desmond. Possibly they were a Colony of the Iberians, as may be conjectur'd from their Name and Situation towards the coast of Spain.

These we have Alphabetically disposed; but it is not beside the purpose to note, that Ptolomy in his Geography describes first the North Part of Ireland, then the West, next the South, and the East, then the Midland Parts, and lastly the Islands: But of those, many are now reckon'd among the Isles of Britain, as being nearer to it.

As

As Ebuda or Maleos, Epidium, Mona-eda and Mona, which we have therefore omitted in this inquiry. Lastly, in treating here of Ireland, it is not to be omitted what is deliver'd by Macianus (a) Heracleota, It has (says he) XVI. Provinces, XV. Famous Cities, V. Noted Promontories, and VI. Eminent Islands. And thus much for the description of Antient Ireland.

(a) in Periplo.

CHAP. XI.

Of Their Habit and Dress.

A Frize Cloak with a shagged border, was the upper Garment of the Antient Irish, which they wore almost down to their heels. In the Life of S. Cadoc it is called Coccula, and is describ'd to be A certain Garment used by the Irish, with a shagg hanging on the out-side, in manner of breaded Hair. Spencer in his Dialogue will have this Garment called in Latin Mantile. But doubtless he mistakes, for Mantile is a Towel to wipe the hands, as appears in (b) Virgil, who speaking of Dido's Entertaining of Aeneas, he says,

(b) Aeneid
lib. 1.

*Jam pater Aeneas, & jam Trojana Juventus
Conveniunt, stratoque super discumbitur ostro;
Dant famuli manibus lymphas Cereremque canistris Expediunt, tonsisque ferunt mantilia villis.*

(c) And again.

(c) Georgie
lib. 4.

— *Manibus liquidos dant ordine fontes
Germanæ, tonsisque ferunt mantilia villis.*

But Isidore observes, that in his time Mantilia signified Table-cloaths. The English call this Garment a Mantle: And in the same sense Redulphus de Diceto, and Johan. Bromton have Mantillum, which word is deriv'd from the French Manteau, now used for a Cloak, and as Cloaks were Garments proper to the Grecians, and Gowns to the Romans, from whence (d) Virgil, (d) Aeneid.

lib. 1.

*Consilia in melius referet, mecumque forebit
Romanos, rerum Dominos, gentemque togatam.*

So was the Mantle to the Irish, the same Garment was worn by the Irish women over a long under-coat: The same also is us'd by the women of S. Malos in France, as I observ'd, being there in the year 1649. And to speak my opinion, it seems very probable that the Irish receiv'd this Woollen Garment from the Antient Gauls; for Isidore observes Sagum, or a Mantle, to be a Gallick word. And (e) Varro affirms that Mantles were the proper Garments of the Gauls. The same says (f) Strabo, from whence the Gauls were of old called Sagati. Of the other Garments of the Irish, namely of their little Coats, and straight Breeches, called Trowsers, I have little de ling. latina.

(e) lib. 4.
(f) Geogra.
lib. 4.

(a) Topogr.
Hib. Distinct.
3. cap. 10.

worth Notice to deliver. As to the Etymology of the Word; it is possibly deriv'd from the French Trousser, to joyn together (a) Giraldus Cambrensis calls them Braccas Caligatas, or Caligas Braccatus. Diodorus Siculus says, that those Braccæ were Garments of divers Colours. And that coarse Cloath of divers Colours whereof those Breetches are made, is called by the Irish, Braccan. And from the use of such a kind of Garment the half of Gaul beyond the Alpes was heretofore called Gallia Braccata, as the other was Comata, for their long hair. Julius Caesar brought with him some of the Gaules so habited to Rome, but in his Triumph exhibited them to the people in more decent Garments. From whence, says Suetonius, it was commonly Sung,

Gallos Caesar in Triumphum ducit: Iidem in Curia Galli Braccas deposuerunt, latum clavum sumpserunt.

And Martial shews that the Britains of old used the same Garment.

Quam veteres Braccæ Britonis pauperis.

The Married Women (according to their most Antient Custom) went Veiled, but the Virgins bare-headed, and their Hair hanging down their backs.

Of the Ornaments of the Irish I have read little, we have before said that some of their Kings used a Golden Crown, and Nennius says they used pretious Stones in their Ears. Of the Gold Chain that Dermot, Son of Cerbail, King of Ireland, wore about his neck, see the Writer of the life of S. Brendan. It is certain also that the Nobles wore Rings of Gold on their Fingers.

CH A P. XII.

*Of the Antient Horse and Foot; but chiefly of those about the middle Ages;
And of their Arms and Military Cry.*

Seçt. 1.

Antiently the Irish rid on Horses without Saddles, which yet afterward came in use among them, but without Stirrups. These Horsemen were armed either with Spears or Arrows, and some, in the middle Ages, with Coats of Armour. The same manner was likewise heretofore in use among the English, as appears by the Effigies of an English Horseman express'd in some Antient Seals, as also by a Statute of a Parliament at Tredagh, in the tenth year of Hen. VII. The same use was likewise among the Antient Britains; Gauls and Romans. A certain Frenchman who writ in French-Metre the second Expedition of Richard II. into Ireland, describes Murchardid, one of the most powerful Kings of Ireland, in that manner on Horse-back, without a Saddle; but he says his Horse (observe the price) cost 400 Cows. These Irish Horse-Men had certain Servants on foot, called Daltini, armed only with Darts, who took care of their Horses. Of the Horse-Men call'd Hobellarii, we have already spoken, spoken, chap. 7 and need not repeat, 1170 signifies a Horse, and from thence perhaps came Hobby.

The Irish of the middle Ages had two sorts of Foot-Men, some called Galloglasses, armed with a Helmet and Coat of Mail, and girt with a long Sword, and in the other hand they carried a sharp Ax, after the manner of those Gauls of whom (a) Marcelinus speaks. Others lighter armed, in Henry Marburg, called Turbiculi, by some Turbarii, but commonly Kerns, armed with Darts, Daggers or Knives, called Skelyns; whether such were the Knives called Seaxes, used of old by the Saxons, let others inquire. In the Close-Roll of the V. of Edw. III. Memb. 25. Among the Articles to be observ'd in Ireland, the Sixth is against those that should maintain or lead Kerns, or the People call'd Idle-Men, unless in the Marches. So the Record of the Tower of London. In War, instead of a Drum, they made use of a Bagpipe, so Aulus (b) Gellius testifies, that the Lacedemonians used not the Cornet, or Trumpet, but the Pipe.

(a) lib. 19.

(b) lib. 1.
cap. 11.

Sect. 2.

Sect. 2.

AS to the Arms of the more Antient Irish, certain it is that they used Brass, after the manner of the antient Greeks and Britains, I have by me the Brass of a Military Ax, of a rude indeed, but very antient workmanship, long since digg'd up in a boggy place in the County of Letrim. (c) Solinus affirms, That the Irish gloried much in the neatness and brightness of their Arms, and says particularly of them, that they used the teeth of Sea Animals for the hilts of their Swords, which they polish'd as white as Ivory. The Irish Historians tell us that Labrac Loinsac, King of Ireland, brought from some Foreign part a kind of Spear call'd Lagenib, in the year of the World 3670, and that from thence the Eastern part of Ireland was call'd Lagenia, which was before call'd Coigidugarian. In the Annals of Roscoman, at the year 1190. mention is made of the head of a Spear, a Cubit in length, found in the River Galliva then dryed up. Of the Arms of the Irish at the time of the coming of the English, (d) Giraldus Cambrensis says thus, They use three kinds of Arms, short Lances, and two Darts, also broad Axes excellently well Steele'd, which they borrowed from the Norwegians and Danes (of whom afterward) which they use in striking with one hand only, laying the Thumb a long the handle to direct the blow, from which neither the Helmet defends the Head, nor the Iron Armour the rest of the Body; from whence it has happen'd in our time that the whole Thigh of a Man, tho well armed, has been lopp'd off at one blow, the Thigh falling on one side of the Horse, and the Body on the other. They have likewise a dexterity in throwing Stones in Battle, to the great damage of the Enemy. Of their Shields, Bows and Arrows, we have (e) already spoken. Their Swords were great, and very long, and edged only on one side. Some used a Helmet of Beasts Skins, says Hadrianus Junior in his Nomenclator. At last they received the use of Boots from the English, and divers kinds of Arms of the Modern fashion, which we therefore omit. When in Battle they approach'd the Enemy so near as to be heard, they used this Martial Cry (as is above noted) Farah, Farah; and it is certain that the Scythians, Ger-

(c) cap. 25.

(d) Topogr.
Hib. Distinct.
3. cap. 10.

(e) cap. 2.

mans,

ians, Greeks and Romans used the like upon the same occasion. But whether from the Cry Eleleu, which the Greeks used at their entering into Battle, came the other Cry Aleleu, which the Irish women use in their howlings, with clapping their hands at the funeral of their Friends, I do not determin. For I have read little or nothing of the Greeks inhabiting in Ireland, but some footsteps of the Greeks having been in Ireland, appear in a certain Church of Trim, in Meath, called the Greek-Church. Of Bishop Dobda, a Grecian, who followed S. Virgilius out of Ireland, See Wiguleus Hundius in his Catalogue of the Bishops of Salisbury, and the writer of the life of the same Virgilius, Disciple of Eberhard, Bishop of Salisbury. See also what we have before said of the Progeny of Nemethus. Pan is said to be the Author of that Military Cry, and from such a stratagem by night, in an expedition of Bacchus to the Indies, the Enemy being suddenly put to flight, came the proverbial expression, a Panick fear. But this by the way. Hitherto of the Antient Irish Soldier, his Arms, and Military Cry, see his Effigies, Fig. 2.

Whether the Irish had the use of the Military Chariot, called heretofore Esseda, after the manner of the Antient Gauls and Britains, is not certain; but it is probable they had, at least, if we may give credit to the Anonymus writer of the life of S. Columba, where he Poetically, rather than Historically, describes the Battle of Culedrebne, fought in the year 561. Certain it is, that they had those which the Gauls Antiently called Benna, for the use of Travellers, and others, in the language of the Gauls, called Carrs, for the carriage of Burdens. I know not whether it may be worth the while to remember here the Martial exercises of the Irish Horsemen, which they perform'd only for shew, and therefore with Darts not headed with iron; and their Hunting of the Stag, a Recreation much resembling the affairs of War, and (if we believe Xenophon in his Cyropadia) productive of Valour. (a) Bede calls Ireland, an Island famous for the Stag-Hunting. But this by the by.

(a) Eccles.
Hist. lib. 1.
cap. 1.

C H A P. XIII.

Of their Exactions call'd Bonaght, Sorohen, Coshery, Cuddy, Shragh and Mart. And of the Taxes introduced by the English, instead of Bonaght, called Coyne and Livery.

Señ. 1.

Bonaght was a Tax impos'd at the will of the Lord, for the maintenance of Horsemen, Galloglasses, and other light Armed Foot called Kerns, and these Soldiers thus maintain'd, were sometime called Bonaghts.

Sorohen was a Tax laid four times a year on Freeholders, for the entertainment and wages of such Soldiers.

Coshery was a Custom among the Irish Kings, of exacting entertainment for himself and his followers, from his Tenants, and those that were under his Jurisdiction.

Other Exactions there were, called Cuddys, or Suppers, others also also (especially in Munster) called Shragh and Murt, partly taken in Money, partly in Cattle or Food, and imposed at the will of the Lord. By these kind of exactions, and others called in English, Cuttings, impos'd when the Lord made a Journey, or was Feasted, or on other such like occasions, the condition of the antient Irish may seem to have been little different from Slavery.

Sect 2.

Maurice Fitz-Thomas, afterward Earl of Desmond, following the Example of the Irish, was the first (as is said) of the English who charg'd the Subject with the heavy Tax call'd Coyne and Livery, namely Money, Food and Lodging for Man and Horse. This he is said to have introduced in the time of Edward II. King of England, for the maintenance of the Kings Army against the Scots in Ireland, who then ravag'd the Country under the command of Edward Bruce, who had declared himself King of Ireland. However it were, whether he was the first or not, yet after the Scots were reduced, and affairs settled, the same Tax continued, and for many years lay heavy upon the People, notwithstanding some Acts of Parliament by which such exactions were Prohibited, upon pain of high Treason. Of the Death of John Cotterel, Seneschall to this Earl, Executed by Command of Ralph de Ufford, Lord Justice of Ireland, Because he had Invented, Introduced, and Exercised several strange and intolerable Laws, see the Annals of John Glynn, in the year 1345. Some observe that this very Tax was fatal to one of the Posterity of the said Maurice. For Thomas Earl of Desmond, for the like exactions impos'd on the Subject, was Beheaded at Tredagh on the 15 of Febr. 1467. By command of John Tiptoft, Earl of Worcester, Deputy of Ireland. But Thomas Russel, in the History of the Giraldins, says (by what authority I know not) that Desmond suffer'd by the means of Elizabeth, Wife of Edward IV. In revenge of certain words he had spoken to the King, to her prejudice. As to the denotation of these words; Coyne is an English word signifying Money, and Livery in the more Moderate acceptation signifies Necessaries (says Spelman) either as a just due or for honour sake given to Magistrats, Strangers or Travellers. But in Ireland those Impositions were exacted with so much Rigour and Insolence, and neither limited to certain times or places, that it caused the Depopulation, Exile and Extirpation of many of the principal Subjects, and many grew Idle, and lay still expecting an end of their miseries, and the oppression of the times. So says Sir John Davis, the Kings Attorney-General, in the Reign of King James. To which miseries we may add (out of a Statute of the X. of Henry VII.) the Murders, Rapes and Thefts committed by those very Soldiers who were maintained by these exactions. At last the same Irish exactions prevail'd among some English of eminent place, as particularly the Earls of Desmond. But upon the restitution of Peace under King James, the Laws of the Land were universally receiv'd, and these Taxes and oppressions were wholly laid aside.

Sect. 2.

Edward Bruce usurps the Title of King of Ireland.

C H A P. XIV.

Of some Wonderful things in Ireland.

OF these Giraldus Cambrensis has written much, but very Fabulously, something likewise is deliver'd by Nennius the Britain some Ages before Cambrensis, which, because the Author is not yet publish'd, I thought fit to Transcribe. Thus therefore at the end of his History. Of the first Inhabiting of Britains in the Island of that Name, under the Title De Mirabilibus Hibernia, but (by the way) some Copies do falsely bear the Name of Gildas.

" There is a Logh (says Nennius) called Luch-lein (now Logh-lein in Kerry) incompass'd with four Circles, the first is a Mine of Tinn, the second of Lead, the third of Iron, and the fourth of Brass. And in the same Logh are found Pearls which Kings wear in their Ears.

" There is another Logh that turns Wood into Stone; and Men cleave Wood, and having form'd and fashion'd it, throw it into the Logh, where it lies till the end of the year, and by that time it will become Stone. The Logh is call'd Luch-echac, now Logh-each, in Ulster.

" There is another Wonder in the Country, call'd Cereticum, where there is a Mountain call'd Cruc-maur, at the top whereof is a Sepulchre, whereon whoever lays himself, tho he be a Man of a short Stature, shall find the Sepulchre just equal to his length, and tho he be four Cubits high, the Sepulchre shall be of the same length, and so still fitted to the proportion of every Man. And whatever weary Pilgrim shall kneel thrice upon it, shall be no more weary to his dying day, tho he lived alone in the furthest parts of the World.

This last in some Copies, is more rightly placed among the wonders of Britain, where the Country Cereticum is, which we now call Cardiganshire. But to speak my opinion of the Miracle, it is a known fiction, and in the two former Nennius has mixed true and false together. Of other such like Miracles mention is made in some Historians, but I pass them by. Of the generation of Bernacles out of Wood, corrupted in Salt-water, see (a) Giraldus Cambrensis, A Bernacle is a kind of Goose something less than the wild Goose, of a black breast, the rest ash-colour; It flies like the wild Goose, has the same Voice, frequents moorish places, and destroys Corn, but the flesh is not so pleasant to eat. The same almost says William Turner. I have seen a piece of rotten Wood, from whence many little bodies inclos'd in shells, broke out, of which, as the common opinion is of those who inhabit near those shores frequented by Bernacles, both in Ireland and Scotland, Bernacles are produced. Moreover (says Turner) this generation of Bernacles will not seem so strange to those who have read what Aristotle writes of the Ephemerois bird, generated of certain leaves in the River Hypanis. To confirm this opinion, see what Jo. Gerard writes at the

(a) Topogr.
Hib. Distinct.
1. cap. 11.

the end of his History of Plants. What is objected to the contrary, may be seen in (a) Pontanus's History of the affairs of Amsterdam, and Fabius Columna's History of Fishes, publish'd at Naples Anno 1592. However, in a matter that may deserve further search, I determin nothing. But (to conclude this Chapter) it is not to be forgotten among the true wonders, as is (b) above deliver'd, that Ireland breeds no Venomous creature, and tho it has Spiders and Lizards, yet they are inoffensive, nor doth any Venomous creature live when brought into it. Whence Hadrianus Junius introduces Ireland, speaking of her self and her qualities.

(a) lib. 2.
cap. 22.

(b) cap. 7.

*Cui Deus & melior rerum nascentium origo
Fus commune dedit cum Creta altrice tonantis,
Noxia ne nostris diffundant sibi in oris
Terrifici creti tabo Phorcynidos angues;
Et forte illati compressis faucibus atris
Viroso pariter vitam cum sanguine ponant.*

But whether the Irish Wood be good against Poison, as some affirm, deserves a further inquiry, and the more curious, because Venerable (c) Bede affirms, That all things of that Island are good against Poison, and we find (says he) that some who have been bitten by Serpents, have found an Antidote in the leaves of Trees brought from thence, and insus'd in water, and drank. In the mean time (d) Cardan's error is to be corrected, who instead of Ireland, says that Britain has no Serpents. This error of Cardan seduced Jul. Caesar Scaliger, tho he well confutes (e) the cause of its being free from Serpents assign'd by Cardan.

(c) Eccle.
Hist. lib. 1.
cap. 1.

(d) de Subtilitate lib. 10.

(e) Exerci-tatione 200.

CHAP. XV.

Of the most Famous Schools of Ireland, and others Instituted by the Irish in Foreign Countrys.

THAT there was antiently famous Schools, or as we now call them, Academies, in Ireland, to which the Irish, British, Saxons and Gauls resorted for Learning, appears out of Antient Writers of good Credit. Of which, see (f) Bede, and (g) Alcuinus in the Life of S. Willibrod, in Prose, and in his Life in (h) Verse, and (i) Ericus Antissiodorensis of the Miracles of S. German, and the Life of Sulgenus, written in verse by his Son John, who flourish'd in the year 1089. Of these Schools the most Antient, and most Eminent, was that of Armagh, of which the Writer of the Life of S. Patrick in 3 Books, long before the coming of the English, says thus, There S. Patrick built a City, called Armagh, wherein is the Archiepiscopal See of all Ireland, which S. Patrick very much loved, and in that City the chief Study of Learning is always held. Garadocus Lhancaruanensis says, that Gildus Albanus govern'd that School for a time. The Names likewise of some that were Readers there, in the time of the Danes,

Sect. 1.

(f) Eccle.
Hist. lib. 3. ca.
7. and 27. and
lib. 4. cap. 26.

(g) lib. 2
cap. 4.
(h) cap. 1.
and 33.
(i) lib. 1.
cap. ult.

Lanes, are yet extant, as Reliques of its antient splendor. And if we believe Florence Mac-Carty, the number of the Students who were there at one time, exceeded 7000. But let this pass. The Author of the Annals of Ulster, in the year 1020 (which with us is 1021) affirms that the whole City of Armagh was burnt, and at the same time (among other things there mention'd) the antient Cathedra, or Chair of the Masters. In the year likewise 1162, or 1163. he says a Synod of 26 Bishops assembled in a place called Cleonard, wherein Gelasius, Archbishop of Armagh, was President, and there it was Decreed, that none should be admitted to be Publick Reader of Divinity, but such as had been Students in the Academy of Armagh.

Of the School of Cleonard, by the River Boin, in Meath, we have this in the Life of S. Finian the Founder, who flourish'd in the Year of our Lord 530. In the place called Chuanaraird, like the Sun in the midst of the Firmament, Finian enlightned the World with the Rays of Virtue, Learning and Miracles. For the Fame of his good Works drew Famous Men from divers parts of the Earth to his School, as the Sacred Repository of all Wisdom, to learn the Holy Scripture, and Ecclesiastical Discipline. Their Names were these; The two Kiarans (Kiaran the Son of the Artificer, called Mac-Itair, and Kiaran Saigre.) Columba-Kill, and Columba, Son of Crimthan, the two Brandans (Brandan, Son of Findloga, and Brandan Birra, who was counted a Prophet in those Schools) Laserian, Son of Nathfraith, Sinel, Son of Maenac, Cainec, Son of the Nephew of Daland, Ruadan Lothra, Namyd Lamdere, Mugenoc Killicumuli, and Bishop Sennach. And in the Life of S. Molua, He came to the School of S. Finian in the City which is in the confines of Leinster, and the Sons of Neil, in which School a great Multitude of the Saints of Ireland studied Divinity under S. Finian. It appears from the circumstances of this Discourse, that the word School signify'd an Academy, or University. School likewise in Cicero's time had the same signification, as (a) Johannes Caius well collects out of Cicero, nor is it to be doubted but that Studium antiently denoted the same; And so in the same sense S. Hierome writing to Rusticus the Monk, mentions Studia Galliarum Florentissima, The Flourishing Schools of the Gauls. There was another School at Ross, in Carbry, called antiently Rossailithri, Instituted by S. Fachan, in the Sixth Age. Of which the Writer of the Life of S. Mocoemog thus, S. Fachan dwelt in the South part of Ireland, near the Sea, in a Monastery whereof He was Founder, and there grew up a City, wherein was continually a great School called Rossailithry. Meridith Hammer, by what Authority I know not, affirms that S. Brendan Read the Liberal Arts there. Among these Schools likewise we may reckon that of Beg-eri, under S. Ibarus; that of Clonsfert, under S. Brendan; that of Bangor, under S. Carthagus; and that of Leighlin, under S. Laserian: And it is wonderful to consider the Multitude of Monks that Writers say were under their Tuition.

Of the Schools in Ireland viz. That at Casbel, and that at Dublin, a bare mention is made in a certain Epistle of Florence Mac-Carty, to Donagh, long since Earl of Thoumond, but of them I have found nothing more deliver'd. Whoever desires farther satisfaction in this point, point, let him consult the most learned James Usher, Archbishop of Armagh, in his Antiquities of the British Churches.

(a) De Antiquitate Cantabr. Academ. lib. 1. pag. 177

I come now to the Academies of more Modern times; and begin with that of Dublin. Certain it is, that John Lech, Archbishop of Dublin, procured from Pope Clement V, a Bull for founding An University of Scholars at Dublin, Dated 3. Id. Ful. In the 7. year of his Pontificate. But the Archbishop dying on the tenth of August following, in the year 1313. nothing was done in it. In the year 1320 Alexander de Bicknor, his successor in the Archbishoprick, renew'd the Foundation, and procured a Confirmation of it from Pope John XXII. The Rules to be observed in it may be seen in this following Instrument.

“ In the Name of GOD, Amen. We Alexander de Bicknor, by “ the Divine Permission, Archbishop of Dublin, do Will, Grant, and “ Ordain, with the Consent of our Chapters of the B. Trinity and “ S. Patricks in Dublin, to the Masters and Scholars of the University “ of Dublin, That the Masters Regent of the said University, may “ Elect a Chancellor a Doctor of Divinity, or the Canon Law. So “ that if in either of our Churches of the B. Trinity or S. Patricks, “ in the said place, any have obtain'd that degree in either of “ the said Faculties, he shall by the same persons be chosen Chan“ cellor before all others. And if, which God forbid, any Division “ happen in the Election, that then the Election shall be carried “ by the Votes of the major part. Upon the Resignation or De“ cease of the Chancellor of the said University, another shall be E“ lected within 15 days, and shall be presented to us, or our Suc“ cessors, or in our absence to our Vicars, and in the Vacancy of “ the See to the Guardian of the Spiritualities, to obtain confirma“ tion. Moreover, we ordain that two Proctors actually Regent,
 “ when there are many Regent Masters, be Elected in like manner “ as aforesaid. And that the said Proctors, when the University is “ without a Chancellor, shall supply his place. And if the Electi“ on of the Chancellor be not made within 15 days, that then “ the Jurisdiction shall devolve to the Official of the Court of Dub- “ lin, the See being full, or in the Vacancy of the See, to the Guar“ dian of the Spirituals, till the Chancellor be Elected and Confirm'd.
 “ We grant likewise that the Lord Chancellor shall have Spiritual “ Jurisdiction over the Masters and Scholars, where they are Plaintiff
 “ and Defendant, and over their Servants, and shall have Approbation “ and Reprobation of the Wills and Testaments of the Masters and “ Scholars, and their Servants, and shall have the disposition of their “ Goods if they dye Intestate: Yet so that the Fines and Mulcts “ Impos'd for their Delinquencies, and the profits arising from “ thence, or from any other cause, shall be lay'd up in a Chest, to “ be converted to the common benefit of the University, according “ to the disposition of the Chancellor and Masters, and that the “ Proctor shall have two Keys of the Chest, and a third shall be in “ the keeping of some other whom the Chancellor shall Name, and “ the Proctors shall twice a year give an Account to the Chancel“ lor and Regent Masters, or their Deputies. And if the said “ Chancellor

“ Chancellor shall think fit to Substitute any person or persons “ in his Office, we by these Presents give him power; and if ap“ peal shall be made from such his Commissioners, it shall be first “ made to the said Chancellor and Regents, who shall by themselves “ or others take cognizance of the cause, and if appeal be made a “ second time, it shall be to us, or the Official of our Court. More“ over, Bachelors that are to be made in whatever Faculty, shall “ be presented to the said Chancellor and Regent Masters, &c.
 “ Dublin the 10th. of Febr. in the year of Our Lord 1320.

There were then Created Doctors of Divinity, William de Hardite, of the Order of Predicants, Henry Cogry, a Minorite, Edmond de Karmardin, a Predicant, and William Rodiart, Dean of S. Patricks in Dublin, was made Doctor of the Canon Law, and was also the first Chancellor of the University. There was afterward a Divinity Lecture instituted by Edward III. as appears by the Register of John Alan, Archbishop of Dublin, but the Maintenance of the Scholars failing, the University likewise by degrees came to nothing. There remain'd indeed some Footsteps of an Academy in the time of Henry VII. For in the Provincial Council held in Christ Church in Dublin, before Walter Fitz-Simons, then Archbishop of Dublin, the Archbishop, Suffragans, and the Clergy of the Province of Dublin granted certain Stipends to be pay'd yearly to the Readers of the University. But at last Queen Elizabeth Restor'd the Honour of the University, and built the Colledge dedicated to the B. Trinity (in a place where heretofore Dermot, Son of Murchard, King of Leinster, built the Monastery of all Saints, commonly call'd All-Hallows) and indowed it with Revenues and Priviledges. The first Stone was laid by Thomas Smith, Mayor of Dublin, on the 13 of Jan. 1591. And on the 9. of Jan. 1593, Students were first admitted. King James afterward, besides the Annual Pension of 388 l. 15 sh. English Money to be Pay'd out of the Exchequer, Gave to the College large Possessions in Ulster. And this is now the only University in Ireland.

Dublin College Built,

(a) al. Drogheda.

Yet we are not to omit the Academy Erected at (a) Tredagh, by Authority of a Parliament held there in the month of November 1365. under Thomas Earl of Desmond, Deputy to George Duke of Clarence, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and indowed it with the Priviledges of the University of Oxford, but for want of Maintenance it soon failed.

The Statute of the Foundation, as I find it in French, according to the use of those times, and never yet Publish'd here, I thought fit to expose to the Readers View, out of the Records of the Chancery of Ireland, in the V year of Edward IV. cap. 46.

“ Item a la requisition, &c. Likewise at the request of the Com“ mons, because there is no University nor General study in Ireland, “ which is a work that would advance Knowledg, Riches, and “ good Government, and also prevent Riot, ill Government and Ex“ tortion in the said Land. It is Ordain'd, Establish'd and Granted by “ Authority of the said Parliament, that there be an University in “ the Town of Drogheda, wherein there may be made Bachelors, “ Masters and Doctors in every Science and Faculty, in like manner
 “ as

“ they are in the University of Oxford, which may also have, occupy and enjoy all manner of Liberties, Privileges, Laws and laudable Customs that the said University of Oxford doth occupy or enjoy, So that it be not prejudicial to the Mayor, Sheriffs, or Commonalty of the said Town of Drogheda.

Of the Academies Instituted by the Irish in Foreign parts, viz. At Paris in France, and Ticinum in Italy, see Notkerus Balbulus an Antient Monk of the Monastery of Sangall, in his Book de Gestis Car. Magni, Published from the MS. by Hen. Canisius Tom. 1. Antiquæ Lætionis, Anno 1601. Consult likewise D. Rothæus in Brigida Thaumaturga, and Hibernia resurgente.

C H A P. XVI.

Of The Antient Disposition of the Bishopricks of Ireland.

WE have pass'd the Irish Parnassus, and now let us Visit the Episcopal Sees, John Paparo, Presbyter Cardinal, Intitled S. Laurentius a Damaso, Legat from Pope Eugenius III. was sent into Ireland with 4 Palls, which (as we have said) in a Synod held in the month of March 1152. he delivered to the 4 Archbishops of Armagh, Dublin, Cashel and Tuam. As to the place where this Synod was held, Authors vary. Some say it was in the Abby of Millifont, others at Kenanuse, or as we call it Kells. In that Synod, to each Archbishop, was Assign'd a certain Number of Suffragans, which in Centius Camerarius's Censuræ Camerales we find thus Dispos'd.

Four Palls sent into Ireland

Under the Archbishop of Armagh,

The Bishopricks of	Conner.	or as they are since called	Conor.
	Dumdaleghlas.		Down.
	Lugud.		Louth.
	Chuainiard.		Clonard.
	Connanas.		Kells.
	Ardachad.		Ardachad.
	Rathboth.		Rapho.
	Rathlurig.		Rathlury.
	Damliag.		Duleek.
	Darrich.		Derry.

Of this Disposition some things are to be observ'd, For in the more modern times, not long after the coming of the English, into Ireland, the Sees of Clonard, Kells and Duleek were united, and the Bishops called Bishops of Meath, those Sees being Situated there. Likewise the See of Rathlury was united to the See of Derry. As to the See of Louth, the Bishop thereof was some time called Bishop of Louth, some time of Clogher, for tho those two were originally distinct, yet at last they were united, and so continued till the time of David O Bragan, Bishop of Clogher, in the time of Henry III. for then all all the Deaneries of Ergall which were heretofore subject to the Bishop of Louth, or Clogher, together with the Church of Louth, were taken from it, and united to the Diocese of Armagh. Concerning which, we have extant the Action of the said David, dated at Persium in the 1d. of August 1252, commenc'd against Reiner, Archbishop of Armagh, tho to no purpose. Lastly, in this distribution (which is not to be omitted) there is wanting the Sees of Dromore, Clonmacnoise and Triburnia, which last was afterward call'd Killmore, from the time that Andrew Brady (if I Mistake not) Bishop of that place, about the year 1453, with consent of Pope Nicholas V. Erected the Parochial Church of S. Felim of Killmore into a Cathedral. As to the Order of sitting among the Suffragan Bishops of Ireland in Councils and elsewhere, the Bishop of Meath had the First place, the Bishop of Derry the Second, and the rest took their places according to the time of their Ordination.

Under the Archbishop of Dublin.

The Sees of	{ Clendelachi.	} now called	{ Glendelach.
	{ Fern.		{ Ferns.
	{ Gainic.		{ Offory.
	{ Leghlin.		{ Leghlin.
	{ Childar.		{ Kildare.

The See of Glendelach, which (in the Bull of Pope Lucius III. dated in 1182, obtaind by John Comin, Archbishop of Dublin) is called the Bishopricks of the Islands, was afterward united to the See of Dublin, in the time of Henry Loundres, Archbishop of Dublin. Some say that the See of Ferns was heretofore Subject to the See of Menevia in Wales, but we pass such imaginary Conceits.

Under the Archbishop of Cashel.

The Sees of	{ Cendaluan.	} now called	{ Killalow.
	{ Limerich		{ Limerick
	{ Insula Gathay		{ Iniscatti
	{ Cellumabrach		{ Kilfenoragh
	{ Ole-imlech		{ Emly
	{ Rosscreen		{ Rosscrea
	{ Waltifordian		{ Waterford
	{ Lismor		{ Lismore
	{ Cluainvanian		{ Cloin
	{ Corcaia		{ Cork
	{ Ross-ailither		{ Ross
	{ Ardfer		{ Ardfer.

Of these, the See of Iniscatti, after the coming of the English was united to the See of Limerick; and that of Rosscrea to Killalow: So likewise the Sees of Waterford and Lismore were united, and those of Cork and Cloin, and Emly and Cashel.

Under

Under the Archbishop of Tuam

The Sees of	{	Mageo	}	now called	{	Mayo
		Cell-alaïd				Kill-alla
		Roscoman				Roscoman
		Cluanfert				Clonfert
		Achad				Achonry
		Cinani				Clonmacnoise
		Cellmun-duac				Galway or Kilmacogh.

Of these, the See of Mayo, was afterward united to that of Tuam, as also (tho omitted in the Distribution) that of Inaghdun, likewise the See of Roscoman was Translated to Elphin, and that of Cluan was united to the Province of Armagh, after a long debate at Rome between the Archbishops of Armagh and Tuam. For I cannot but think that Cinani is corruptly there read for Cluana (commonly Clonmacnoise) both for the affinity of the Name and propinquity of that See, being divided from the Province of Tuam only by the River Shenan.

And because it may give some light in this matter, I thought it not amiss to add the Names of those Bishops that were present at the Synod wherein this Distribution was made, as I find them in an antient MS.

Giola-Christ (or Christian) O Conarchi Bishop of Lismore Legat. Giola-mac-Liab (or Gelafius) Primate of Ireland Domnald O Lonargain, Archbishop of Munster, that is, Cashel. Eda O Hossin Archbishop of Conaght, that is, Tuam. Greri (or Gregorius) Bishop of Athacliath, that is, Dublin. Giolla-na-nam Bishop of Glendelagh. Dungall O Cellaid Bishop of Leghlin. Tuistius Bishop of Waterford. Domnald O Fogortaic Bishop of Ossory. Find-mac-Tiarcain Bishop of Kildare. Gillo-anchomdheh (or Deicala, a worshiper of God) O Ardmail Bishop of Imelac. Giolla Æda O Maigin Bishop of Cork. Macronan Bishop of Kierry, that is, Ardfert. Torgesius Bishop of Limerick. Muirchertach O Melider Bishop of Cluainmacnois. Maliesfa O Conachtain Bishop of Airthir-Conaght ———— O Ruadan Bishop of Luigni, that is, Achad or Achonry. Macraith O Morain Bishop of Connacna, that is, Ardachad. Ethru O Miadachain Bishop of Cluanairard. Tuathal O Connachtaig Bishop of Huambruin, that is, Enachdun. Mairidbeach O Cobthaig Bishop of Ceanla-Eogain, that is, Cerry. Mel-Patrick O Bainan Bishop of Dailaraid, that is, Connor. Malio-fa mac-Inclaricuir Bishop of Ullagh, that is, Down. To the Rest whose Titles are borrowed from the Countries where they are Situated, we have above added the modern Names.

There are likewise other Episcopal Sees in Ireland, before the coming of Paparo, whereof mention is made in Writers, as of the See of Trim, Slehti, Slane, Lusca, Ardmore, Ardfrath, and (to omit others) Saigre. But those partly in the Synod above mention'd, partly soon after, were added to other Sees. Lastly, if we look back to the first Ages of the Church of Ireland; Jocelin, in the Life of S. Patrick, cap. 186. tells us, that he consecrated 350. (Nennius says 365) Bishops with his own Hand. However, certain it is that the Episcopal Sees of that Age, being generally seated in small Villages, were soon after reduced to a far less number. But this requiring a further search, we proceed to other things.

CHAP XVII.

Of the Corba, Corban, Erenach or Herenach, Scribes, Colidei, and Anchorets of Ireland, and of the perpetual Fire kept heretofore by the Nuns of Kildare.

Sect. 1.

Comorban
what.

(4) Itiner
Cambriæ lib.
2. cap. 4.

WE Treat here of the Orders Antiently found in the Church of Ireland, whereof the Names of some are rarely found elsewhere. Corba or Comorba, Corban or Comorban (for it is variously read) signifies, according to some, a Fellow-Bishop, from whence they think it is Barbarously contracted into that Name; some think that Comfurbach signifies in Irish a Joint-tenant, and Joint-Possessor of the same Land. But it is generally (as Colgan rightly observes) used among our Antient Writers for a Successor in the Prelacy or Dignity Ecclesiastical. In this sense, in our Irish Annals and Histories mention is often made of the Comorbans of Patrick, Albeus, Farlath, Columba, Fechin, and others. But here we speak only of the Lay-Comorbans, who were often married Men, tho' of these some were heretofore improperly called Abbots, and others Priors. To them and their Families were assigned certain free Lands, commonly called Termon-Lands, whereof more hereafter in the word Erenach. Nor (as I think) was this Order unknown to the Welsh, tho' called by another Name. For Giraldus (a) Cambrensis seems to denote by the word Comorban, a Lay-Abbot. For thus he. It is to be noted that this Church (of Lhan-Padern-Vaur, or the Church of the Great Paternus) as many others in Ireland and Wales, has a Lay-Abbot. For an ill Custom prevailed, that the Men of greatest Power in the Diocese, at first Constituted by the Clergy, Patrons, or Defenders of the Church, afterward their Avarice increasing, appropriated the whole Lands to themselves, leaving only the Altars and Tythes to the Clergy.

Sect. 2.

Erenach
what.

E*Renach* or Herenach, was one that performed the Office of an Arch-Deacon, from whence he had his Name. Not those of the highest Degree (as we read in Spelman's Archæology, from the Observations of James Usher Arch-Bishop of Armagh) who at this day have a Jurisdiction under the Bishop, but of those Antient ones who were inferior to a Presbyter, and took care of the Poor and Strangers, from whence they were called Deacons. To them likewise Lands were assigned, called Termon-Lands, as being free from from all secular Impositions, but were charg'd with certain Pensions, to be paid yearly to the Bishop of the Diocess whereto they belong'd. The word Termon seems to have its Original from the God Terminus, to whom the Heathens of old built Temples, as one who they believed, decided the differences of Countreymen in dividing of their Lands. So that Termon was quasi Ter- minus, as a Boundary, or Possession Limited, and distinct from the Possessions of the Laity, from whence likewise it began to be called a Sanctuary.

Upon the Death of an Erenach, the rest of the same Stock who Possess'd those Lands, elected to the Office such a one of his Family, as for his Age and Manners they judg'd most fit. He was usually Married, but he who had the first Tonsure, was presented to the Bishop, and was admitted and Confirm'd by him, and at his Entrance paid a certain relief to the Bishop; but if for any just reasons he was Rejected, they chose another in his place. If the Family disagreed in the Election, then the Erenach was chosen by the Bishop and Clergy, but of the same Stock. If that Stock was extinct, then the Bishop and Clergy elected another Family to bear that Office, with the usual Conditions. Some derive Erenach from Hareo, because they did, as it were, adhere to the Bosom of the Church. Others think Termon denoted Terram Mona- chorum, Monks Land, but I rather approve the former Deduction.

Sect. 3.

Scribes, among the Jews, were Readers and Doctors, or Interpreters of the Law: and, as to the Irish Scribes, I cannot understand them to be any other than Readers of Divinity. Such of old were those Learned Men, Suibne of Clonmacnoise, who died in the year 891. Cormac, Son of Culian, King and Bishop of Cashel, kill'd in Battle in the year 908. And (to omit others) Cele Comarban of St.
Comgall, who died in the year 928. I confess, the name of Reader more frequently occurs in Irish Histories; yet some there are, who by the antient Irish Scribes understand Writers.

Scribes.

Sect. 4.

THere were likewise among the Irish certain Priests called Colidei or Guldei, that is, Worshippers of God. So in the Island Inchinemeo in Tiperary, there was a Chapel, in which (says (a) Giraldus Cambrensis) a few unmarri'd Men whom they call Coelicolæ or Colidei, devoutly served. And true it is, that there was heretofore a Monastery of Regular Canons.
The said (b) Giraldus says expressly that there were such Monks in the Island of Enbly, or Berdsey in Wales. There were also certain Secular Priests who served in the Choir of the Cathedral of Armagh, and were called Colidei, and the cheif of them Prior of the Colidei, and was in the Nature of Chanter of the said Church. He upon the Vacancy of the Priory was chosen by the Colidei, and confirm'd by the Archbishop

Colidei who.

(a) Itiner Cambriae Distinct. 2. cap. 4.

(b) ibid. lib.
2. cap. 6.

(a) Hist.
Scotia lib. 6.

Archbishop of Armagh, there was also a Prior of the Colidei at Cluin-Inis, in the County of Monaghan. Likewise another at Devenish, in the County of Fermanagh, as appears in the Register of John Kyte, under Henry VIII. Archbishop first of Armagh, then of Thebes, and after Bishop of Carlisle in England. (a) Heſtor Boethius also observes that there were such Monks and Priests call'd Culdei among the Scots of Albania. Lastly, this Name was not unknown among the English, for we find in the Register of the Charters of S. Leonard's Hospital in York, (preserv'd in the Library of S. Thomas Cotton) that the Ministers of the Cathedral of S. Peter in York, in the time of King Æthelstan, were call'd Colidei, and that the same Colidei, under William the Conqueror, Founded the Hospital of S. Peter in York, for the poor of that City, but it was afterward used for a Palace by William Rufus, and by King Stephen, who built a Church there in Honour of S. Leonard, it was call'd the Hospital of S. Leonard.

Sect. 5.

Anchorets.

There were likewise Anchorets, who had their Cells at F Lismore, Kilkenny, St. Dulach, and else-where in Ireland. These, by another name, were called Inclusi, from their cloystering themselves up in their Cells. But that custom was not so strictly observed, but that they who had once shut themselves up, might, by a dispensation, remove to some other place. So in the Ulster Annals, we read in the year 928, thus; Cele Comorban of S. Comgall, Scribe, Anchorer, and Apostolick Doctor of all Ireland, in the year of his Age 59, 18 Calend Octob. died happily in his Pilgrimage at Rome. And Marianus Scotus in his Chronicle in the year 1069; I the miserable Marianus, at the Command of the Bishop of Mentz, and Abbot of Fulden, 3 Non. April, in the tenth year of my retirement, was set at liberty from my Cell in Fulda, and came to Mentz; and on the Festival of the 7 Brethren, was again shut up. Thus he writes of himself. The Rule of the Anchoretical Life is extant in a Ms. heretofore belonging to the Abby of St. Thomas, near Dublin; together with an Epistle of one Robert a Presbyter, to Hugh the Anchorer, written (as I conjecture) about the time of Henry III. But it is certain they had heretofore many Rules. In the Register of Octavianus de Palatio, Archbishop of Armagh, mention is of Meiler Bratnagh, a Minorite of the Observance, who being blind, was admitted (by the said Archbishop, on the 10 of July 1508) an Anchorer, near the Cathedral of Cathel, where he had built himself a place in the Wall. Of these Anchorets, see more in Marianus Scotus, and Florentius Wigorn, in the years 1043, and 1058. Of another sort of Anchorets, see the (b) Lives of the Fathers. I omit here the Elders, so called by the Irish Writers; because Elder was among them, not a name of any Order, or Office, but only of Dignity. I also pass by the Monastick Rules ascrib'd to the Saints, Albeus, Columba, Congallus, Columbanus, and Colmanus, as not pertinent to this place.

(b) Lib. 4.
cap. 8.

Sect.

(1) 2. lib. 2. cap. 29. Sect. 6.

OF the inextinguishable Fire heretofore kept by the Nuns of S. Bridget at Kildare, thus (a) Giraldus Cambrensis. At Kildare famous for S. Bridget are many Miracles worthy to be Rememred, among which is S. Bridgets Fire, which they call inextinguishable, not that it cannot be extinguish'd, but because the Nuns and Holy Women, by a continual supply of Materials, have preserv'd it alive for so many years since the time of that Virgin, and tho so great a quantity of Wood has been consumed in it, yet no ashes remain. From hence that Nunnery is commonly call'd the Fire-House. But this fire was put out by Henry Loundres Archbishop of Dublin, in the year 1220, says an Anonymus Author, of the Order of Predicants, who compendiously writ the Annals of Ireland from the year of Our Lord 1163, to 1314, wherein he lived.

(a) Topogr. Hib. Distinct. 2. cap. 34.

Which the Archbishop possibly did, because that custom not being used elsewhere, might seem to be introduced in Imitation of the Vestal Virgins first instituted by Numa Pompilius. He appointed a fire (says Lucius Florus, speaking of Numa) to be kept by the Vestal Virgins, that a Flame in imitation of the Stars might perpetually watch as Guardian of the Empire. Vesta was also sometimes used to denote a perpetual fire, as Ovid in Fastor. lib, 6.

Nec tu aliud Vestam quam Vivam intellige Flamman.

But this by the way. However it were, the custom of preserving a fire in that Nunnery of S. Bridget (for the benefit of the Poor and Strangers) continued till the Suppression of Abbys under Henry VIII. See more of this fire in (b) Girald. Cambrensis.

(b) Topogr. Hib. Distinct. 2. cap. 35. and 36.

CH A P. XVIII.

Of the Ships, or Boats of the Antient Irish, that were covered with Skins.

THE antient Irish used Wicker-Boats covered with Ox-Hides, not only in Rivers but in the open Sea. These Boats were call'd in Irish Corraghs, possibly from the British Corrag, which signifies a Boat cover'd with leather. See the Glossary of William Somner, where you may find likewise the Names of certain learned Men who have written of such kind of Boats, (c) Adamnanus tells us that S. Cormack used such a kind of Boat in his Third Voyage. Likewise (d) Probus speaking of Muc-Fil, or Mac-Guil, Bishop of Mann, Being at Sea (says he) in a leather Boat, he was driven by a North Wind into the Island Eubonia, &c. Such Boats are also mention'd (c) Vit. S. Columbæ lib 2. cap. 29.

(d) Vit. Patricii. lib. 2

(a) in Chro.
ad anno. 892,

by (a) Florence of Worcester, Three Scotch Men (says he) Dufflane, Macbeth and Magulmumen, desiring to lead the life of Pilgrims for the Lords sake, taking with them Provision for one Week, went secretly out of Ireland, and in a Boat made but of two Skins and a half, without Sails, or Oars, in seven days Landed in Cornwall, and went to King Alfred. Thus he out of Marianus Scotus, and Gildas in his Epistle de Britannia excidio. The cursed flocks of Piets and Scots came thronging out of their Carruchs, in which they were Transported from Scythia. But (b) Claudian seems to imply the landing of the Irish Fleet in Britain under Honorius and Arcadius, (b) de laud.

Stillic. lib. 2.

*Me quoque vicinis pereuntem gentibus, inquit,
Munivit Stilicho, totam quum Scotus Iernen
Movit, & infesto spumavit remige Tethys.*

(c) Origin.
lib. 19. cap. 1.
(d) lib. 4.
cap. 16. and
lib. 7. cap. 56.

But to proceed, (c) Isidore expounds Carabus to be a Boat made of Osiers and cover'd with a raw Hide. (d) Pliny says that such Boats were of old in use among the Britains, and

*Primum cana salix madefacto vimine, parvam
Texitur in puppim, caesoque inducta Juvenco
Vectoris patiens tumidum supereminet annem.
Sic Venetus stagnante Pado, fusoque Britannus Navigat Oceano.*

(e) Polyhist
cap. 35.

And (e) Solinus says, The Sea which lies between it (Namely Ireland) and Britain is Tempestuous and unquiet &c. Yet they pass it in wicker Boats cover'd with Ox-Hides. The same were likewise in use among the Saxon Pirates, says (f) Apolinarius Sidonius, (f) Carm. 7.

*Quin & Avemoricus Piratam Saxona tractus
Sperabat cui pelle salum fulcare Britannum Ludus, & assueto glaucum mare findere lembo.*

The like were also in use among other Nations, as we find in Seneca, Solinus, Orosius, and others of the antient. Yet we allow that the antient English-Saxons (to say nothing of the Phenicians, Grecians, Romans, &c.) beside these Boats for Piracy, had also Ships of War. Of the number of Oars used in the Ships of King Alfred, thus Henry Huntingdon, King Alfred prepared long Ships of 40 Oars or more against the Dacians. And of the great Fleet of King Edgar, see Florence of Worcester in the year 973. And Florilegus in 975. And to come to later times, we are not ignorant how great Honour the English have acquired by the strength of their Fleets (Those wooden walls of England, as Sir Walter Raleigh calls them) their exquisite knowledg in Navigation, and their indefatigable industry in foreign Voyages. It is not beside the purpose to observe observe here also, that the antient Irish had in use another sort of Boat made of a Hollow Tree, which they used only upon Loughs or Rivers, and is still in use, called by the Irish Cotti, by the English a Cott.

C H A P. XIX.

Of their Antient Custom of Creating Knights.

THe first (that I know) who writ any thing to this purpose, was Froissard, a French Man, (a) who tells of 4 Irish Kings, who tho according to the custom of their Country, they had received the order of Knighthood, yet were again created Knights after the manner of England, by King Richard II. in his first expedition into Ireland. He relates the matter thus, These Kings, after their Submission and Fealty acknowledg'd to King Richard, were committed to the care of Henry Castile, an English Man, who understanding the Irish Tongue, was commanded by the King to instruct them in the English customs, and particularly in that of receiving the order of Knighthood. Castile so wrought, that he prevail'd with them to accept of it, tho they alledged, that they had long before receiv'd it from their Fathers at the Age of 7 years, as was the custom among all the Irish Kings to confer it on their Sons. The Ceremony thereof was, that at the time of the creation, the youths armed with slender Spears, proportionable to their strenghts, run some courses against a shield set up in the Midst of a Field, and he that broke most of those spears, had the greatest honour. Froissard adds, that those Kings being more fully instructed by the Earl of Ormond, by King Richards Command, were habited according to the Dignity, and having perform'd their Vigils, and heard a Mass, were Solemnly made Knights by the Kings own hand, in the Cathedral Church of Dublin, where others also at the same time receiv'd the same Order. Thus in substance says Froissard. But of making a Boy a Knight, we have a far more antient example in (b) William of Malmesbury, in the Creation of Athelstan, who was afterward King of England. For his Grand-Father Alfred (to use the words of Malmesbury) beholding with delight the comely Boy, and his Noble deportment, wish'd him a happy Reign, and Invested him early with the Honour of Knighthood, by the Donation of a Purple Robe, an Embroidered Belt, a Saxon Sword, and a Gilded Scabbard. Here likewise we may observe by the way (out of the Records of the Exchequer of England, Anno. 18 Richard II) that these Irish Kings made their submission at Tredagh in a Monastery of Fryars Preachers, on the 10. of March 1395, English Style, observing the following ceremony; Every one of them before the words of Submission, lay'd aside his Girdle, his Skeine, and

(a) Hist. vol
4. cap. 63.

(b) de gest.
Reg. Engl. lib.
2. cap. 6.

and his Cap, And kneeling down before the King, put both his hands joynd between the Kings hands. And this is what pass'd before the Creation of the Knights mention'd by Froissard. Let us now proceed.

CHAP. XX.

That Ireland was never Subject to the Roman Power.

Some believe (says Camden) that the Romans made some attempt to subdue Ireland, and they seem to infer it from that of Juvenal,

—Arma quid Ultra
Litora Juvenæ promovimus, & modo captas
Orcadas, & minima contentos nocte Britannos.

Some Copies of the Chronicle of Eusebius say that Galba usurped the Empire in Ireland, but it is to be read Hibernia not Hibernia. For this was done in Spain (call'd likewise Hiberia) as Ortelius well observes out of Suetonius. The Panegyrick likewise spoken to Constantius Chloras Augustus, implys, that Ireland was under his Command. Britain (says he) is so recover'd, that those Nations also adjoining to it, are reduced to your Obedience. And in the Chronicles of later Writers (says Camden) it is said, that in the division of the Empire, Ireland, together with Britain and Thule, fell to Constantine, Son of Constantine the Great. Yet neither the Irish Writers, nor the Romans themselves say any thing of any Expedition of the Romans into Ireland, or any attempt made on it. And truly I agree with Camden, that it had been happy for Ireland, had it fallen under the Roman Power, which might have sooner reduced it to Civility. True it is, that Julius Agricola had some intention to Invade Ireland, when he Friendly entertain'd one of those Kings, who had been tumultuously Expell'd; but we do not find that he ever made any attempt on it. Tacitus in the Life of Agricola, says thus. " In the Fifth year of Expeditions he pass'd over in the first Ship, and by many and successful Battles Subdu'd Nations at that time unknown, and fortify'd that part of Britain which lyes towards Ireland, but rather out of hope than fear, for Ireland lying in the midst between Britain and Spain, and convenient likewise to the Gallick Ocean, held an intercourse with the most Potent part of the Empire. It is less than Britain, but larger than the Isles of our Seas. The Soil, Climate, Disposition and Manners of the People differ not much from Britain, and the Ports and Havens are better known by Merchants. Agricola had entertain'd one of the Kings of that Nation, Expell'd by Domestick Sedition, and shew'd him Friendship till occasion should offer. From him I have often heard, that " with

“ with one Legion and a little help, Ireland might be subdued, which would be of great advantage against Britain, being then furrounded with the Roman Arms, and all hope of Liberty removed out of its sight. So Tacitus. From whose words, Camden collects, that many from Spain, Gaul and Britain, retired into Ireland, to withdraw themselves from the Roman subjection. But let others examin this, in matters obscure, I know that opinions, are Various.

Lastly in England, France and other Countrys heretofore subject to the Romans; many antient Coins, Altars, Statues, Urns, Columns, and Marble Inscriptions (as so many wonders of antique Work) have been found, left there by the antient Romans, but in Ireland there is not so much as any Roman Coin unless brought from some other part, from whence we conclude with (a) William Newbridge, That Ireland was never under the Roman Power, tho it extended as far as the Islands of the Orcades.

(a) Rer. Anglican. lib. 2 cap. 26.

C H A P X X I.

Of Cormac Son of Culinan, who was both King and Bishop of Cashel; where by the way of others who were at the same time both Kings and Bishops, or Priests, and of the strange Tonsure introduced by Æd Called Clericus Barbofus, or the Bearded Priest.

Historians do often make mention of some Kings who resigning their Kingdoms, became Monks or Bishops, So in Ireland, Cormac King of Leinster, resigning his Kingdom betook himself to a Monastick life in the Abby of Banchor under St. Congallus. So Aid the Black King likewise of Leinster, of a King was made Monk, Abbot and Bishop of Killdare, says Jo. Colgan, and dyed on the Tenth of May, In the year of our Lord DCXXXVIII. And so (to omit several others) in England, Sigibert King of the East-Saxons, resigning his Kingdom by the perswasion of Fursus an Irish man, became a Monk in the Abby of Cnoverburg, now called Burgh-Castle in Suffolk. But Cormac Son of Culinan, of whom we now speak, was at the same time both King and Bishop of Cashel, he derived himself (as we have elsewhere said) from Engusa Nafrach the first Son of the Kings of Cashel who embraced the Christian Faith. Cormac began his Reign in the year of our Lord 901. And (which may seem strange) exercised at the same time the Function of a Bishop. Historians do plainly shew that it was the custom of those times in Ireland, particularly among the Predecessors of Cormac. Olchobar who dyed in the year 851, And Cenfelad who dyed in 872, Were both Kings of Cashel and Bishops of Emly. Yet not without example; For among the Jews, Jonathan, Simon and John Hircanus, were both Rulers of the People and High-Priests; And those also among them who were Kings, were at the same time High-Priests, as Aristobulus, Alexander, Jannæus others, among the heathens. Likewise we find that the Roman Emperors were sometimes High-Priests, and among their Kings, Anius was King of Delos, of whom Virgil, Æneid. 3.

Rex Anius, Rex idem hominum, Phœbique sacerdos.

And Ovid.

Metamorph. 13.

Hunc Anius, quo Rege homines, Antiste Phæbus
Ritè colebatur, temploque domoque recepit,

(a) Genial.
dierum lib. 2.
cap. 8.

Likewise Mercurius Trismegistus, or ter-maximus, that is, Thrice great (if we may believe (a) Alexander ab Alexandro) had his Name from hence, that he was a great Philosopher, a great Priest, and a great King. Of this, see Plato, in Polit. But to our purpose. Caradocus Lhancarvanensis mentions this Cormac in his Chronicle of Wales, but he, or whoever Publish'd him in English, mistakes and calls him Carmot, Son of Cukeman, King and Bishop of Ireland. In the year 906, Flan Son of Melsechlin, King of Ireland, with a great Army Invaded Munster, and destroyed it as far as Limerick, but Cormac who then fled, highly repented the injury, the year following entred Meath with an Army, overthrew Flan in Battle, had Pledges from him for the performance of Articles, and so return'd to Cashel: But in the year 908 Flan to revenge his loss, Confederates with the Kings of Leinster and Conaght, and with united Forces again Invades Munster. They came to a Battle in a place called Moy-albe on the XVI. of August; the Dispute was long and Bloody, but Flan at last had the Victory, and Cormac was there slain. There were also at the same time killed most of the Chief Leaders or Princes, among whom are reckon'd Fogertach of Kerry, and Kellach of Offery. Thus the Irish Annals. But Caradocus Lhancarvanensis says that Cormac was at this time kill'd by the Danes. I remember likewise that I have Read in a certain MS. of Cotton's Library, that he was kill'd by a Herdsman at Beanree near Leghlin, while he was on his knees at Prayers for the success of his Army then engag'd. So Different are the opinions of his Death. His Body was convey'd to Cashel, and there Buried. He was a man learned and very knowing in the Irish Antiquities, and writ in his own Language the History commonly call'd Psalter-Cashel, which is yet extant, and in great esteem. I have some collections out of the said History in an antient Parchment Book call'd Psalter-Narran, written above 300 years since, as appears by the antiquity of the Character. In the same Book are many miscellanies, part Irish and part Latin, collected by Oengusa Celide, among which we have a bare Catalogue (viz. only the Names) of the Kings of Ireland, from Heremon to Brien Son of Cined, Sir-named Boro, of whom before, chap. 4. It is here to be observed, that Cashel was heretofore the chief

The Author of Psalter- Cashel

chief Seat of the Kings of Munster, and one of the first Synods of Ireland was there held by S. Patrick, S. Albus, and S. Declan, in the time of King Engusa, of whom before.

We may here add the Strange kind of Tonsure introduced by Æd, an Irish Man (from his long Beard commonly called Æd the Bearded Priest) had gain'd a great opinion for his Learning and Sanctity; but in the year 1053, or 1054, he was banish'd, because in his School, where he had a great Number of Clerks, Maids and Laicks, he would introduce a custom of shaving the Maids after the manner of the Clerks, as appears out of Marianus Scotus and Florence of Worcester. Here I had thoughts of describing the various kinds of Tonsures used among the antient, both Clerks (or secular Priests) and Monks, and the original of them; for some shaved their heads in the form of our Saviours crown of thorns, others only on the fore-part of the head with a round Tonsure, but an imperfect Circle drawn from ear to ear, others with a little Circle on the Crown of the head, others almost about the whole head, leaving only a few hairs below in form of a Crown. But having observ'd that all these and many other things of like nature have been already deliver'd by the most learned late Arch-Bishop of Armagh in his Antiquities of the British Churches, and by Prosperus Staburius in his Book de Coronis & Tonsuris Paganorum, &c. I thought this enough for me, and refer the Reader to those Authors for further satisfaction.

CHAP. XXII.

Of the Houses and Buildings of the Antient Irish, and of their Food, Banquets and Musical Instruments.

Certain it is that the Antient Irish had no Walled-Towns: There were indeed in Ireland Walled-Towns before the coming of the English, as Dublin, Limerick, Waterford, Wexford and Cork, but they were built by the Easterlings. That which we Treat of here is of the Houses of the Antient Irish, which as they were neither Marble, nor Brick, so neither were they (unless very seldom) subteraneous Caves or Dens, as were those of the Antient Germans describ'd by Tacitus, but made of Hurdles, and cover'd with Straw or Rushes; few of them were of solid Timber. These were either great or small, according to the Dignity of the Inhabitants, and were usually Built in Woods, and on the Banks of Rivers. Nor was it otherwise (it seems) among the Antient Britains. Of the Castle of Pembroke Built of small Rods and Turf by Arnulphus de Mountgomery, under Henry I. See (a) Giraldus Cambrensis, and of the Most Antient Towns of the Britains. (b) The Britains (says Cæsar) call it a Town when they have hedged in a Wood with a bank and a ditch. From this poor sort of Building among the Antient Irish, it comes to pass that we have so few signs remaining of any Houses or Castles Built by the Kings

(a) Itin.
Cambria lib.
i. cap. 12.
(b) de Dell.
Gall. lib. 5.

The first Builder with stone and lime in Ireland.

Kings of Ireland, before the coming of the English. Therefor when Roderick O Conner King of Conaght in the year 1161, built a Stone Castle at Tuam, it was so new and unusual in those times that the Irish call'd it the Wonderful Castle. But above all is Temoria (now called Taragh) in Meath, which, as is above said chap. 4. tho it were their principal Palace, and the place where at certain times they held their Royal Assemblys, yet at this day there is not the least sign or remainder of an Antient Building. The first of the Irish, or at least one of the first who began to Build with Stone and lime, was Malachias O Morgair Arch-Bishop of Armagh. Of which S. Bernard who lived at the same time, says thus in the life of Malachias, he was of opinion that he ought to Build a Stone Oratory at Benchor, like those he had seen in other Countrys, and having begun to lay the Foundation, it was the wonder of the Natives, the like Buildings never before being seen in that Country. And a little after he Introduces a certain Malicious fellow exclaiming thus, O Good Man, what is your meaning to Introduce such a Novelty into our Country? What levity is this? We are Scots not Gauls. What need is there of so proud and so Superfluous a work? how will you poor Man bear the Charge of it? or who will ever see it finish'd? In Bernard we likewise read, that this Malachias Built an Oratory there some years before, well and firmly set together of plained Timber, for a Scotch work fair enough. Nor is it beside the purpose to remember here that Henry II. King of England, being in Dublin in the year 1171, Caused to be built a Royal Palace of smooth Rods, after a wonderfull manner, near S. Andrews Church without the City, where he with the Kings and Princes of Ireland celebrated the Festival of the Nativity of our Lord. So says Roger Hoveden.

Sect. 2.

Sect. 2.

AS to the Food of the Antient Irish, It is certain that the daily Food of the Vulgar was heretofore very Mean and Slender, Namely Milk, Butter and Herbs; From whence the Epitome of Strabo calls the Irish, Herb-Eaters. Of Herbs, they chiefly used the Three-leav'd-Grass, Water-creffes, Sorrel and Scurvy-Grass, which last some Physitians take to be the same with that which Pliny calls Britanica, whereof thus he. Germanicus Caesar having led the Army beyond the Rhine in Germany, on the Sea-Coast a Fountain of sweet Water was discover'd, upon the Drinking whereof the Teeth within two Years time fell out, and the strength of the Nerves dissolv'd; the Physitians called those Diseases Stomacaces and Sceletirbes, the Remedy whereof was found to be the Herb Britanica, which prevail'd likewise against the Bitings of Snakes and Serpents &c. When they Met at their Ordinary Feasts, they sat in a Ring on Rushes or Grass, instead of Couches or Beds, and in the midst was plac'd a three-Leg'd Table, after the manner of the Gauls, whereon was set Bread baked on a Grid-iron, Milk-meats, Flesh and Fish, both boild and broil'd; in the mean time the Cup went about, which was either of Wood or Horn, and sometimes of Brass. The Antient and Peculiar drink of the Irish and Britains was Beer, a drink menti-mention'd by (a) Dioscorides, who says that the Britains and Irish instead of Wine, used a drink called Curmi made of Barly. But Curmi is there ill used for the British word Cærm, which signifies Beer, as Camden Notes. The Irish likewise heretofore used the drink which we now call Mead, made of Hony and Water, as we find both in the life of S. Barach who flourish'd in the VII. Century, and also in the Ulster Annals in the year 1107. Of their Aqua-Vitæ or Uiske-bah, (as they call it) which is not so hot as the English, and yet dryes more, this is no place to discourse, because the making of it is, I believe, an Invention of later times.

I come now to the time of their Feasting, which was usually in the Evening; From whence that Solemn Feast, with which Lægarinus, King of Ireland, Entertain'd all the Orders of the Kingdom at Temoria in the year 455, in the said Ulster Annals is call'd the Supper of Temra: And from this Supper, Historians (which is remarkable) Calculated the later times of his Government. The same time of Feasting was observ'd heretofore among Welsh People, as we may Collect from the Laws of King (b) Hoel Dha.

Sect 3.

WE now come to the Musical Instruments of the Antient Irish, which says (c) Giraldus Cambrensis, were the Harp strung with Brazen Chords, and the Drum, in which he says they were incomparably skilful beyond all other Nations. But whether that Instrument call'd in Irish Claspreach, which we call in English a Harp, be the Cythara or Lyra of the Antients is disputed, tho by many Grammarians they are Confounded. (d) Kenantius Fortunatus seems to distinguish Lyra from Harpa, Romanusque Lyra plaudat tibi, barbarus Harpâ, Græcus Achilliâcâ, Crotta Britanna canat.

Nor need we wonder at the difference. For the very Lyra of the Antients is much changed, both in the form, and also in the various Number of chords. Janus Gruterus in his (e) Inscriptions, shews the figure of an Antient Lyra, that was to be seen at Rome, in the Gardens of Cardinal Cæsius, in the hand of a Statue of Apollo, likewise (f) Cluverius shews us an Antient Græcian Coin, the one side whereof represents Apollo, the other his Harp, but something differing from the former; it is not amiss to add the figures both of the Antient Harps of Apollo, and that used at this day, which we call Cithara, that the Reader may judge of the Difference, see Fig.

3. 4. 5.

Of Orpheus's Harp which some say was a Tetrachord, others a Heptachord, see Seldens Marmora Arundeliana pag. 87.

Of the difference of the Lyra and Cithara, see Hadrianus Junius's Nomenclator. Nor are we here to omit that the Arms proper to Ireland, or at least for some Ages attributed to it, is in a Field Azure an Irish Harp Or, Strung Argent. But if we may give Credit to (g) Ulysses Aldrovandus, the more Antient Arms of Ireland were, in (a) lib 2.

cap. 110.

(b) cap. d scena Reg. i jus M. 1100

(c) Top.
Hib. Distinct.
3. cap. 11.

(d) lib. 7.
carm. 8.

(e) pag. 38.
n. 10.

(f) Sicilia antiq. pag. 93.

(g) Ornitho-log. lib. x.

one part of the Scutcheon Or, an Arm armed with a sword, in the other Argent, a semi-Eagle. But this by the way. The great antiquity of the Harp appears in Genesis chap. 4, where the Invention of it is imputed to Jubal. Likewise in Exodus chap. 15, we find an Antient example of the use of the Drum. Other more Modern Instruments, Introduced since the coming of the English, as not pertinent to this place, I omit.

CHAP. XXIII.

Of the Errors and Fictions of some Antient Writers who treat of Ireland; and of other Writers of the middle times.

OF the Ornaments and Indowments of Ireland we have before spoken, chap. 7. Let us now see what has been fictitiously deliver'd by some Antient Writers, and believed by their followers. Solinus affirms that a Bird is a rarity there, and adds a little after, that Bees are no where to be found there, and that the very dust brought from thence and sprinkled among the Hives, drive the Bees away, and that the Sea between Ireland and England is so tempestuous all the year long, that it is not Navigable but on some few days. Whereas both Bees and Birds abound there; and as to the Sea, the frequent Navigations from England, France, Spain, &c. into Ireland, and from it into forreign parts, are sufficient demonstrations that it is Navigable in the very Winter.

(a) Origin.
lib. 14. cap. 6.

(b) In Catalog.
log. gloriæ mundi parl.
12. confid. 57.

(c) Geogr.
lib. 2.

(d) Cosmograph.
lib. 3.

(e) Topogr.
Hib. Distinct.
1. cap. 4.

His first Assertion of Bees and Birds drew Isidore Hispalensis into the same Error, there (a) says he (speaking of Ireland) are few Birds, and no Bees; insomuch, that dust or little stones brought from thence and thrown among the Hives, banishes the Bees. Likewise (b) Barthol. Cassaneus, there (says he) Birds are few, and no Bees. Some likewise have followed him in his second Assertion of the Sea, and among them Cornelius a Judeis Geographus. Let us now come to the temper of the Clime. (c) Strabo who flourish'd under Tiberius Cæsar, in Xylanders Version of him, speaks thus, The farthest Navigation from the Celtick Coast Northward, in this our Age, is into Ireland (he calls it Ierne) which lying beyond Britain is scarce habitable by reason of the cold, so that what lies beyond it, is thought not to be at all habitable. Likewise (d) Pomponius Mela who lived under Claudius affirms, that the temperature of Ireland is unfit to bring Seeds to maturity. But more particularly (e) Giraldus Cambrensis says thus, Corn promises much in the Grass, more in the Straw, but least in the Ear, for the grains of Wheat are so small, that they can scarce be cleansed by the help of a Fan.

Let us hear now what others of the Antient have written to the contrary: Thus therefore Orosius, It lies nearer (says he) to Britain, is less in extent, but of a more temperate Air, and profitable Soil, and is inhabited by the Scots. Likewise Isidore in the the place above cited, Scotland is the same with Ireland, the next Island to Britain, less in extent of Land, but more fertile. And (a) Bede, Ireland (says he) both in the healthfulness and also serenity of the Air, much excels Britain. But (to speak my Opinion) if these comparisons relate to the South part of Britain which we call England, they are not to be allowed; yet we grant, that Ireland is of so temperate an Air, that we see the Fields green and flourishing in the midst of Winter, and Cattle put daily to Grazing, unless in time of Snow, which is rarely of two or three days continuance. Many boggy and fennish places being also now drain'd, the temperature of the Air has been much improv'd. As to the grains of Corn, they are not generally so small as Giraldus and his followers say, for in very few of the Neighbouring Countrys, fairer or larger Corn is to be found than in Ireland. Nor can we allow of the opinion of (b) Raphael Maffeus Volateranus, That Ireland produces nothing but Corn and Horses, which they call Hobbys. The error likewise of (c) Ranulphus Higden, That Ireland has no Pheasants, Partridges, Deer, nor Hedghoggs is to be corrected. And he adds (out of Giraldus and Jo. Brampton) That from South to North, viz. from the Brandon Mountains to the Island Columbina, it is eight days journey in extent, every days journey containing 40 Miles, and from Dublin to the hills of Patrick and the Sea of Conaght, it is four days journey in breadth. But of the Dimension of Ireland, see what we have already delivered, chap. 3. We might here observe many things that are fabulously delivered by Giraldus Cambrensis concerning Ireland, but we remit them to the Examination of others, for to do it exactly would require a particular Treatise; and the Reader is to take notice that Giraldus's Topography is to be read with caution, as Giraldus himself in a manner acknowledges, in the Apology which he makes in his Preface to his Book of the Conquest of Ireland. To which we likewise add this out of his Retractations. Of our Topography of Ireland, our first work, and not altogether Contemptible, wherein many things new and wholly unknown to other Countrys, are deliver'd, this is to be known, that we received the knowledg of very many things from the Authentick Testimony of Men of that Country, in other things we follow the general Report of the Country. In all which, we follow the Opinion of S. Augustin, who in his Book de Civitate Dei, speaking of things uncertain, says, that as they are not positively to be Affirmed, so neither wholly to be rejected. Thus Giraldus. And I cannot but admire, that some Men of this Age, otherwise Grave and Learned, should obtrude those Fictions of Giraldus upon the world for truths. Many things might be added out of other Authors, which I leave to the inquiry of others.

(a) Lib. 1.
cap. 1.

(b) Com-mentar. urbi-onorum lib. 3.
(c) In Poly-chronic. lib. 1.
cap. 32.

CHAP. XXIV.

Of the Easterlings, or Danes and Norwegians, and of their Acts in Ireland from the Year of our Lord 795, till the coming of the English under Hen. II. for almost 400 Years.

Certain it is that the Easterlings heretofore subdued a great part of Ireland, and after many bloody Battles and various success, possessed the principal maritime Towns of Ireland, till the coming of the English. Of their Name, and the Country from whence they came, the most Learned James Usher late Arch-Bishop of Armagh (a) says thus, Livonia extending to the Eastern shore of the Baltick Sea, is divided into Three parts differing in Place and Language, viz. Estia, Letitia, Curlandia. The Province of Estia or (as Grantzius calls it) Estonia, was Inhabited by those who by the Antient Grecians were called Ostiaxi and Ostiones; By Tacitus in Germania, Aestii; By Eginhard in the life of Charles the Great, Aisti; By Saxo Grammaticus, Estones; By Us, Ostman-ni, or Easterlings. The Easterlings of Ireland were also call'd by other Names, Danes, Norwegians and Normans; which, as the learned know (they are the words of Usher) was a Name common to all the people of Denmark, Norway, Livonia, and the rest of the Northern Nations, to omit what is deliver'd by the writer of the life of Griffith, Son of Conan. That one of those Three Brothers who came into Ireland, went with his Norwegians into France, and subduing the Franks seated himself in Normandy. Him he calls Radulphus, whom others call Rollo; from whom William and other Normans who Reigned in England derive themselves.

795.

The Irish Annals tell us, that the Danes and Normans, or Easterlings in the year of our Lord 795, first infested the Irish and Scotch Coasts, and particularly the Isle Recran. About the same time, or a little later, S. Findan, Son of the Prince of Leinster, was taken Prisoner by the Danes, and miraculously escaped, says an Anonymus Irish Author (who was likewise his companion) in his life, publish'd by (b) Melchior Goldastus. Those Norman depredations are also remembered by (c) Dicuil an Irish Author who lived at the same time, in his Book of the Measure of the Provinces of the World, according to the Authority of those (as he himself speaks) whom Theodosius the Emperour imploy'd to measure the said Provinces. Thus he, about our Island of Ireland, lye other Islands some small and others less, And a little after. But as from the beginning of the World they were always desert, so now, by reason of the Norman Pirats, they have not so much as an Anchoret in them &c. Three years after viz. In the year 798, the Normans infested Ulster, and the Hebrides. For antiently (says Olaus Wormius) Piracy was among the Danes, Honourable and Lawful, and Kings themselves and their Children, with the most Valiant and Notorious they could find, addicted themselves that way. But omitting those Piracies of the Danes, let us come to the Forces which which they sent to subdue Ireland, and to other things done by them there, according to the Series of time, till the coming of the English.

798.

(a) In veterum Epist. Hi bernic. recensione.

(b) Tom. 1. rerum. Alamanic. page 318.

(c) In lib. de mens. provinc. orbis terr.

In the year 807, the Danes and Norwegians Landed in Ireland, and destroyed Roscoman, and the Country thereabout with Fire and Sword. At the same time Cellach Abbot of the Monastery of S. Columba of Hy, many of his people being Murder'd by the Norwegians, fled into Ireland, and either built or repair'd the Monastery of S. Columba at Kenanusa or Kenlisa in Meath, but having resided there 7 years, he left one Dermot Abbot of that place, and return'd to the Island Fona or Hy, where within a year or two he dyed. I know not whether in that slaughter or a later Blathmac Son of a King of Ireland was Murder'd, but that about this time he was kill'd by the Danes or Norwegians, appears in his life, written by Wallafrid Strabo. I omit here the fictions of Saxo Grammaticus, who says, that Fridelith Frotho 3, and Haco Danes infested Ireland many Hundred of years before this time.

807.

The Danes first in Ireland.

In the year 812. (says Rhegino in his Cronicle) the Normans invaded Ireland, and many were slain in Battle by the Scots, and the rest put to flight. And Hermanus Contractus at the same year, A fleet (says he) of Danes invaded Ireland, and was overthrown by the Scots. And the Irish Histories affirm, that about the same time the Danes were overcome by the Scots in two Battles.

812.

About the year 815, or as others 818, Turgesius the Norwegian first invaded Ireland.

818.

In the year 835, the Norwegians with a Fleet and great Forces under the conduct of Turgesius, destroyed almost all Conaght, together with some parts of Leinster and Meath. Within 3 years after, a great part of Ulster was subdued, the Churches every where demolish'd, and the Professors of Christianity (to which they were then Enemies) used with great cruelty. Particularly the Irish Histories tell us that Turgesius possess'd himself of Armagh, and expell'd Earannan Arch-Bishop of the place, together with all the Religious and Students. Colgan moreover from the Annals of the 4 Masters (a) affirms, That in the year 838, the Normans with a Fleet of 60 Sail entered the River Boin, and the Liffy with a Fleet of as many more. It was Turgesius (which I note by the way) who Raised those many round Works or Fortifications, commonly call'd Danes Rathes, which are yet to be seen in many parts of Ireland, And such possibly were the Castles of the Brigantes, of which Juvenal in Satyr. 14.

835.

Qua dere.
Vide Focelin,
in vita S. Patri.
cap. 175.

(a) In Triada Thaumaturga.

Dirue Maurorum attegias, castella Brigantum.

Some likewise believe that the Danes and Norwegians raised many of those round Hills without ditches, which are yet to be seen in many parts of Ireland, for Sepulchers of their great Men and Captains. The like custom was heretofore in Denmark, as we find in Olaus Wormius in his Book (b) de Danicis Monumentis. In such a Mount on the East side of Dublin near the College, in the year 1646, was found a Monument containing the bones of a Man that had been Burn't. A work, as is believ'd of the Danes, of which more hereafter.

(b) Hafniae edito an. 1643.

Q

Whether

Whether those great Stones which we see in the County of Kildare, not far from the Naas, and elsewhere, (as Monuments of Victory) were erected by the Danes, I cannot certainly affirm.

845.

In the year 845, the Norwegians Plunder'd and Burn'd Clonmacnois, Clonfert, Logbran and Tirdaglas. Likewise about the same year Turgesius fell in love with the Daughter of Melachlin, or Melsechlin, King of Meath, and the King (says Giraldus Cambrensis) with a Malicious intention granted him his daughter, and promis'd to send her to an Island of Meath viz. the Isle of Loch-vair, with 15 other beautiful Maids. Turgesius well satisfied, came to the place appointed with the like number of his Nobility, and found in the Island 15 beardless Young Men, chosen out for the purpose, and clad in womens apparel, who under that Habit conceal'd their Arms, with which they treated Turgesius instead of the embraces which he expected, and he was there kill'd with the rest of his company; So (a) Cambrensis. But the Author of the Ulster Annals says nothing of this Stratagem, but that Turgesius was taken by Melachlin, and drown'd in the said Lough. The fame of this action

(a) Topog.
Hib. Distinct.
3. cap. 4.

(b) Cap. 41.

(b) says Cambrensis again) spread about the whole Island, the Norwegians were every where slaughter'd, and in a short time, either by Force or Stratagem, they were all kill'd or driven back to Norway, and the Islands from whence they came. And again cap. 42. The foresaid King of Meath demanding of Turgesius how he might destroy certain Birds lately brought into the Kingdom and very noxious to it, and being answer'd, that by destroying their Nests, interpreting this of the Castles of the Norwegians, the Irish unanimously Combin'd to their destruction. So the Tyranny of Turgesius and the Norwegians held in Ireland about 30 years, after which the Irish shook off their yoke, and return'd to their former liberty and manner of Government. Thus Giraldus. And certain indeed it is that the Irish did about this time very much reduce the power of the Norwegians, yet being daily supply'd with Auxiliary Forces from Denmark and Norway, they afflicted Ireland for many years after, as shall hereafter appear.

848.

In 848, a Battle was fought between the same Melachlin then King of Ireland, and the Danes at Four, where Melachlin had the Victory, and 700 Danes were kill'd. In another Battle fought at Scia-naght, by Olcabar King of Cashel (who in my Book of the Abby of Inisfall, is called also Abbot of Imelac) and Lorcan Son of Kellach, King, if I mistake not, of Leinster, 1200 Danes were slain, and in two other Battles before the end of the year, there fell about 1700 more; So that this year was very unfortunate to the Danes. Whereupon Melachlin sent Ambassadors to Charles the Bald, King of France, with presents, desiring liberty of passage to Rome. So the Norman Chronicle.

849.

In 849 Recruits came from Denmark and Norway into Ireland, and renew'd the War to the great loss of the Irish.

850.

In 850 Melachlin engaged in a Civil War, made peace with the Danes, and by their Assistance had a great Victory over his Enemies.

851.

Before the year 851, says the Irish Histories, the Danes possess'd themselves of Dublin, and the Neighbouring Country, which we we call Fingal. And this year, a bloody Battle was fought between these and others of the same Nation, wherein the Danes of Dublin had the worst, and Dublin was plunder'd by the Victors. But many escaping by flight into their Country, return'd the next year with Auxiliary Forces, overthrew their enemies, and recoverd Dublin. The writer of the life of S. Kevin doubtless means the Danes of Dublin, where he speaks of that City and its Inhabitants thus, The City Ath-cliath is Situate in the North side of Leinster, upon a fret of the Sea; And in Scotch it is called Dub-lein, which signifies the Black-bath, the City it self is Strong and Warlike, and the Inhabitants Martial and experienced in Sea-Affairs.

In 852, Armagh on Easter-day was destroy'd by the Danes, and not long after Dermot Bishop of that place, whom the Irish Annals call the wisest of all the Doctors of Europe, died either with Grief or Sicknefs.

In 853, Amlavus or Amelaus with a great Fleet of Danes and Normegians landed in Ireland, to whom all the Danes then in Ireland submitted. This was that Amlavus, and this the Fleet of which Giraldus Cambrensis (a) speaks. 'Not long after (namely after the Death of Turgesius) some from Norway and the Northern Islands, informed of the goodness of the Country by report of their Fathers, came into the Island, not with a Hostile Fleet, but with a shew of Peace, and under pretence of Merchandise, and seating themselves in the Maritime Towns of Ireland, at last with consent of the Princes of the Country, built several Cities in it, for because the Irish, out of a Natural inclination to idleness, as we have said, wholly neglected Trade and Navigation, by the unanimous judgment of the whole Country, it seem'd necessary that some people by whose industry the Traffick of other Countries to the supply of this, might be introduced, should be admitted into some part of the Kingdom. Their Leaders were 3 Brethren viz. Amelaus, Sytarachus and Yvorus. Therefore having first built 3 Cities, Dublin, Waterford and Limerick, the principality of Dublin fell to Amelaus, that of Waterford to Sytarachus, and Limerick to Yvorus; From them in process of time they proceeded to build other Cities in Ireland. Therefore the people now call'd Easterlings, were at first peaceable and quiet enough under those Kings, but their posterity growing numerous, and their Citys being well Fortified they revived their antient quarrels, and rebell'd. They were called Ostmanni, in their Language, which was corrupt Saxon, that is, Men of the East, for in respect of that Country they came from the East parts of the World. So Giraldus. From whom Ranulphus the Cistercian Monk seems to have borrowed the same.

But to speak my Opinion of this Narration of his, it will appear certain, I think, that those Easterlings seated themselves in those Maritime parts of the Kingdom, not under pretence of Traffick, nor by consent of the Irish, but by Force of Arms. If we consider with what cruelty they acted in Ireland at their first entrance into it, and even in this very time whereof we now speak. For it is evident 853.

852.

(a) Topog.
Hib. lib. 3. cap.
43.

evident out of the best Histories, that this Amlavus after a Battle or two successfully Fought against the Irish, was so terrible to them, that they were forc'd to purchase their Peace with an Annual Tribute.

856. In 856, a sharp War began between Melachlin and the Danes, wherein many fell on both sides.
857. In 857, Catheldus the White Rebelling, was put to flight in Munster by Amlavus and Ivarus.
859. In 859, Amlavus and Ivarus went into Meath with a great Army, what the success was we do not find in the Irish Annals, but, it seems, about that time a Truce was made between Melachlin and the Danes.
862. In 862, upon the Death of Melachlin King of Ireland, Lorcan Son of Cathaldus, and Cornelius Son of Dermot, divided the Kingdom of Meath between them, but being afterwards taken by Edan Sir-named Finliat with the assistance of the Danes, Edan was declared King of Ireland. Lorcan, they say, was deprived of his Eyes by Edan, and Cornelius was drown'd by Amlavus at Clonard.
869. In 869, Amlavus plunder'd and burn't Armagh, and slew 1000 Men there,
870. In 870, Amlavus and Ivarus with a Fleet of 200 Sail went into Britain to the Assistance of Hinguar and Hubba, Danes: Of whom see Florilegus and other writers of the affairs of England. The next year they return'd to Dublin with great Spoils and many Prisoners, but soon after Amlavus dyed.
871. In 871, Ailill King of Leinster was Killed by the Danes.
872. In 872, Ivarus dyed, whom the Irish Annals call King of the Normans of all Ireland.
875. In 875, Ostin Son of Amlavus, after a great Destruction of the Picts, was kill'd by treachery of the Danes. And Godfrid Son of Ivarus seems to have succeeded in the Government.
888. In 888, a great Battle was Fought between Flan King of Ireland and the Danes, wherein many on both sides were slain; Among others on Flan's side, Edan King of Conaght Son of Cornelius. Not long after, Godfrid Son of Ivarus Prince of the Danes, was kill'd by the treachery of his Brother Sitricus.
892. In 892, a difference began between Sitricus, son of Ivarus and one Godfrid Sir-named Merlum, at that time a Man of great Note in Dublin, and proceeded so far, that the City was in a manner divided between them.
895. In 895, the Danes of Dublin went into Ulster and plunder'd Armagh.
896. In 896, Sitricus Son of Ivarus, who slew his brother, was likewise, as an equal punishment, slain by his own people. A Battle was Fought between Amlavus Son of Ivarus and the people of Ulster, at Tirconal, where Amlavus lost the day and his Life.
902. In 902, the Danes Landing with a new Fleet, were overthrown by the people of Dublin with a great slaughter.
914. In 914, a sharp Battle was Fought at Sea near the Isle of Mann between Barred and Reginald O-Hivar, Danes, wherein Reginald had the Victory, and Barred was slain. In

In 915, the Danes, Landing with a great Fleet, destroy'd part of Munster.

915.

In 916, the Danes had the worst in some Battles in Munster; But Fought with better success in Leinster; For by the Conduct of Sitricus, Angarvus Son of Ailill King of Leinster was kill'd in Battle, and many more with him. About the same time the Danes of Dublin wasted the Isle of Mona, or Anglesey in Wales, as we learn from Caradocus Lhancarvanensis.

916.

In 918, on the 15 of September a bloody Battle was Fought between Neal Glundub King of Ireland, and the Danes, near Dublin, where the King and many of the Nobility were kill'd. Upon the death of Neal, Donogh Son of Flan succeeded in the Government, and the next year had a great Victory over the Danes.

918.

In 921, Reginald King of the Danes of Dublin being dead, Godfrid succeeded, who the same year went with an Army into Ulster, and in the Month of November Plunder'd Armagh.

921.

In 924, Godfrid in an expedition towards Limerick lost a great part of his Army.

924.

In 926, He sent Forces into Ulster, under the Conduct of Aulaf, his Son, who being twice put to flight by the people of Ulster, was at last with difficulty saved by his Father, who followed him with relief from Dublin.

926.

In 934, Godfrid dyed, infamous for his Cruelty, and his Son Aulafus or Aulavus succeeded; the same, I think, with that Anlaph, who in the Battle at Bruneburg in Northumberland was overcome by Athelstan King of the Angles, in the year 937, of whom see Ingulphus and Henry Huntingdon.

934.

In 941, Anlaph died suddenly. Him Lhancarvanensis calls Abloicus the Principal King of Ireland, and says, he died in the year 939, the Book of Margan says in 940.

941.

In 942, Down, Clonard and Killdare, and the Countries thereabouts were over-run by several Armies of the Danes.

942.

In 943, the Danes that Inhabited Lecalia were dispossess'd by the people of Ulster, who in the same year slew Murtach Prince of Ailech on the 26 of February, and the day following plunder'd Armagh.

943.

In 944, Donogh King of Ireland dying suddenly, Congelach Son of Melmith succeeded, who the same year, with the assistance of Brian King of Leinster, took Dublin, the Danes whereof were partly kill'd, partly put to flight.

944.

In 945, Blacar the Dane, Brother of Aulaf, with auxiliary Forces recover'd and repair'd Dublin.

945.

In 946, the Danes of Dublin, to revenge their late loss, wasted a great part of Meath.

946.

In 947, the Danes of Dublin were overcome in Battle by Congelach.

947.

In 948, those of Dublin revived the War, but were again, overcome by Congelach, their King Blacar and 1000 of his Men being kill'd in the Battle. To Blacar succeeded Godfrid Son of Sitricus, and about this time the Danes of Ireland were converted to the 948.

the Christian Faith, and some say that this very year the Danes built S. Mary Abby near Dublin for Monks of the Benedictine Order, though others think it was Founded long before by Melachlin, or Malachias King of Ireland (who dyed in the year 862) and I know not what Gillemoholmock and Roisia his wife, others think by Donald Gillemoholmock. However it were, the Monks of that place observ'd the Rule of the Cistercian Order in the year 1139, according to the example of their Father Abbot of Saviniae, as we find in the Annals of the same Abby. James the first Abbot dyed 5. Non. Mar. as appears in an antient Ms. of that place, in the hands of S. Roger Twysden; It says nothing of the year, but that the Fourth Abbot dyed 4. Id. April 1131, which if true, either most of them were long liv'd, or else the Abby was long without an Abbot.

950. In 950, the Danes of Dublin plunder'd and burnt Slane in Meath, in which fire Cinaus a learned Man and chief Reader of the place, with many others, assembled in the Church, they say, were lost. But the year following, having wasted the greatest part of Meath under the Conduct of Godfrid, as they return'd towards Dublin laden with the spoil, they were surpriz'd by the Irish, and overthrown with great slaughter.

956. In 956, a bloody Battle was Fought between Congelach King of Ireland, and the Danes of Dublin, at Tiguiran in Leinster, where Congelach lost the day and was slain. To him succeeded Donald Neal.

959. In 959, Aulaf King of Dublin, whom Caradocus Lhancarvanensis calls Abloicus King of Ireland, plunder'd Holy-Head (by the Inhabitants call'd Caer-gubi) in the Isle of Anglesey, and afterwards the little Country of Lhinmen. But the Book of Margan ascribes this attempt to the Sons of Abloicus.

962. In 962, Godfrid the Dane, Son of Aulaf, died. About this time Edgar King of England, subdued a great part of Ireland, and particularly the City of Dublin, of which, see what is before said, Chap. 4. out of the Preface of King Edgars Charter.

970. In 970, a Battle was Fought at Kilmore between Donald King of Ireland, and Donald Son of Congelach, assisted by Aulaf the Dane, wherein many were slain, but more of Donalds party.

977. In 977, Aulaf Son of Sitricus overcame in Battle and slew Murtach and Congellach Sons of Donald.

980. In 980, Melachlin, or Malachias Son of him, who the same year in a Battle at Taragh broke, and in a manner utterly ruin'd the power of the Danes, succeeded Donald, for in that Battle, besides some 1000 of common Soldiers, the principal Captains of the Danes were almost all slain, among whom was Reginald Son of Aulaf, for whose loss, and the destruction of the Danes, Aulaf the next year went on Pilgrimage to the Island Hy, where he died of grief, as we find in the Annals of the Abby of the Isle of All-Saints, in the West of Longford. To him succeeded his Son Gluiniarand. After the Battle of Taragh, Melachlin march'd into Fingal, a little Territory in the power of the Danes, and lay'd it waste with Fire and and Sword, and the same year let at liberty all the Irish that were Prisoners to the Danes. But a Peace being at last Concluded between Melachlin and the Danes of Dublin, they to repair in some measure their former losses, with Auxiliary Forces invaded the Territories of Brien, Son of Murchard, King of Leinster, and Brien in the opposition was taken and soon after kill'd.

In 983, Melachlin, assisted by the Danes of Dublin, overcame Donald Glen Son of Lorcan, King of Leinster, in Battle, wherein, among others of chief note, fell Patrick Son of Ivarus King of Waterford.

983.

In 989, Gluniarand or Glumain Son of Aulaf, King of the Danes of Dublin was Murder'd by his servant. His Brother Sitricus succeeded. About the same time, says Caradocus Lhancarvanensis, Elirman Son of Abloicus was slain, whom he calls King of Ireland, but is mistaken both in the Name and Title. The same year Godfrid Son of Harald King of the Hebrides, was slain by the Dalriadins, to whom his Son Reginald succeeded.

989.

In 994, Sitricus Son of Aulaf was Banish'd by the Danes of Dublin, but before the end of the year he was restor'd to his Kingdom.

994.

In 999, Marianus, or Malmurrius, Son of Murchard, assisted by Sitricus, obtained the Kingdom of Leinster, having in Battle taken his Predecessor Donagh, and compell'd him to resign. Before the end of the same year Brian Boro King of Munster, overthrew the Danes of Dublin in a Battle at Glenananin, and took Dublin.

999.

In the year 1000, the Danes giving Hostages to Brian, repaired and fortified Dublin. The same year Ivarus King of the Danes of Waterford, died, and his Son Reginald succeeded.

1000.

In 1013, Leinster was miserably lay'd waste to the very Walls of Dublin, first by Murchard Son of Brian Boro, and then by Boro himself: the people of Leinster and the Danes with united Forces in vain opposing.

1013.

About the beginning of the year 1014, or a little before, Brian Boro treated with most of the Kings of Ireland to joyn their Forces with him, and endeavour the expulsion of the Danes as publick enemies of the Kingdom. Sitricus on the other side understanding the design, neglected nothing that might Contribute to his Defence; And therefore having made Peace, as we have said, with Malmurrius, Son of Murchard King of Leinster, he procured assistance both from him and the Danes of the Isle of Mann and the Hebrides (by the Irish called Inche-gall). Having on both sides made great preparations, they met at last on the 23 of April at Clontarf near Dublin, where after a long and bloody Battle, the Victory fell to Brian, but he died of his Wounds. Others say that tho the Army of the Danes began to give ground, yet upon the Death of Brian, they turn'd upon the Irish, and defeated them with great slaughter. The Authors of this opinion say, that the rashness of Brian was of great advantage to the Danes, for not having patience to attend the arrival of the Auxiliary Forces expected within three days with his Son Donagh, he engaged the Enemy with what strength he had, had, which proved fatal to his Army and himself. He had also in his Army Melachlin formerly King of Ireland, at that time of Meath, who upon account of former grudges between them, did not shew himself his Friend in the Battle. With Brian fell his Son Murchard, and Tirdelvac Son of Murchard, besides a great Number of the Nobility, and of others 7000; or as some say 11000. Of the Danes likewise and people of Leinster many were lost, but the Number is uncertain. The chief of them were Dubgall Son of Aulaf, Bruodar General of the Danish Fleet, who slew Brian Melmurry King of Leinster, Donald Leader of the Fortuallians, and others whom I omit. Some say that the bodies of Brian and his Son Murchard, and also of Donogh O Kelly, Doulan O Hartegan, and Gille-Barmed, were buried at Killmainam a Mile from Dublin, near the old stone Cross. Others say the Bodies of Brian, and Murchard his Son, were convey'd to Swords, Six Miles from Dublin, and from thence by Melmurry, Son of Eocha Arch-Bishop of Armagh (whom the Irish Annals call Comorban, or successor to S. Patrick) attended with the Clergy, were carry'd to Armagh, and there buried in the Cathedral, to which Brian had been a Benefactor. After the Battle, Sitricus with the reliques of the Danes, retir'd to Dublin, and Melachlin King of Meath, was by the Populacy Proclaim'd King of Ireland.

The Battle of Clontarf.

1018. In 1018, the said Melachlin overthrew the Danish Forces of Leinster in a Battle at Fodway.

1019. In 1019, Brien Son of Melmurry King of Leinster was depriv'd of his Eyes at Dublin by King Sitricus.

1020. In 1020, Reginald, Son of Ivarus, King of the Danes of Waterford, died without issue, and his brother Sitricus succeeded him.

1022. In 1022, Ugair, King of Leinster, overthrew Sitricus King of Dublin in a Battle at Delgne.

1023. In 1023, Sitricus King of the Danes of Waterford was kill'd by the people of Offory, and Reginald O-Hivar Succeeded him.

1029. In 1029, Sitricus King of the Danes of Dublin died on the way in a Pilgrimage which he undertook to Rome. To him succeeded his Son Aulavus or Auloed, who the next year after was taken prisoner by Mathew, or Mathgaun O-Riagan, and for his Ransom pay'd 200 Cows, 80 British Horses, Three ounces of Gold, and a Sword commonly call'd Carols Sword.

1035. In 1035, Aulaf Son of Sitricus King of Dublin, in his way to Rome, was killed in England, and his Son Sitricus Succeeded.

1036. In 1036, Reginald O-Hiva King of Waterford, was kill'd at Dublin by Sitricus.

1038. In 1038, Commuan O-Raban King of Waterford was kill'd by the Treachery of his Domesticks. And the same year Waterford was plunder'd and burnt by Dermot King of Leinster.

1042. In 1042, or 1041, Sitricus Son of Aulaf King of the Danes of Dublin died. This was (I think) that Sitricus whom the black Book of Christ-Church in Dublin calls Sitricus Son of Ableb, of whom it says thus, Sitricus King of Dublin, Son of Ableb Earl of Dublin, gave to the B. Trinity and Donagh first Bishop of Dublin, a place to build a Church to the Holy Trinity, where the Vaults are, together with these Lands following, Bealdulek, Rechen, Portrahern, with the Villages, Cattle and Corn, also Gold and Silver sufficient to Build the Church, with the whole Court. To Sitricus succeeded Aalaf, or Aulod, whom Caradocus Lhancarvanensis calls Alphred. About the same time Conan ap Fago, Son-in-law to Aulaf, having raised Forces in Dublin, passed over to Wales against Gruffin ap Lhemwellin, who had usurp'd Venedotia, which of right belonged to Conan. He took Gruffin by stratagem, but as he was carrying him to his Ships, the Welsh people hearing of it, flock'd together in so great Numbers that they easily set him at Liberty, and drove Conan to his Ships.

Ableb

In 1050, Conan returned to Wales with another Fleet, and great hopes of recovering Venedotia his hereditary right, but he was again disappointed by a storm, wherein the greatest part of his Fleet was lost, and he blown back to the Irish Coast.

In 1066, Godred or Gotbrick Sirnamed Crovan King of Mann (as we find in the Chronicle of the Kings of Mann) Subdued Dublin and a great part of Leinster, and so reduced the Scots, that none of them who built Ships durst use more than 3 Nailes. Lanfranc Arch-Bishop of Canterbury in an Epistle, (a copy whereof is in the 11th Tome of the Annals of Cardinal Baronius) calls him King of Ireland.

In 1071, Murchard Son of Dermot King of Leinster died, and was buried by the Danes of Dublin.

In 1074, died Donagh or Dunan, the first Danish Bishop in the See of Dublin, and was buried in the Cathedral near the high Altar; And one Patrick a Dane likewise, was at the request of King Godred chosen by the people of Dublin to succeed him, and was sent into England to receive Consecration from Lanfranc Arch-Bishop of Canterbury, with an Epistle to be seen in the life of the said Patrick. Before the end of the year, Patrick was Consecrated by the said Lanfranc in St. Pauls Church in London, and made this following profession of Obedience. Whoever is set in Authority over others, ought not to disdain to be subject unto others, but rather with all humility give that Obedience to his Superiors, which he requires from those that are Subject to him. Wherefore I Patrick Elect Bishop of Dublin, the Metropolis of Ireland, offer this my Profession to you Revd. Lanfranc Primate of Britain, and promise Obedience to you and your Successors, in all things relating to the Christian Religion. This with other Professions of the Danish Bishops, was publish'd among other Irish Epistles, out of an Antient Ms. of Cotton's Library, by the most Learned James Usher Arch-Bishop of Armagh, Anno. 1632.

In 1076, Godred Crovan King of Dublin, as also of Mann, and the Hebrides, died in the Isle of Ila, the Epidium of Ptolomy. To him his Son Lagman succeeded in the Government of the Isles. But, the Dublinians Elected for King Godfrid Sir-named Meranagh.

1050.

1066.

1071.

1074.

1076.

1084. In 1084, October 10, Patrick Bishop of Dublin, was lost by Shipwrack in the British Sea, in the 10. year of his Episcopacy.
1085. In 1085, Donatus, or Dongus O-Haingly, a Dane, Born in Dublin, but Educated at Canterbury in England, where he was made a Benedictine Monk, with consent of King Tirdelvacus and the Clergy, after the usual profession of Obedience, was Consecrated Bishop of Dublin, by Lanfranc Arch-Bishop of Canterbury. And at his return home carried with him certain Books and Ecclesiastical Ornaments which Lanfranc bestowed upon the Church of the B. Trinity in Dublin.
1088. In 1088, Waterford was taken and burned by the Danes of Dublin.
1089. In 1089, the Danes of Dublin, Waterford, and Wicklow attempting with united Forces to assail Cork, were overthrown in Battle by the people of O-Neagh, 1095. In 1095, Moriertach O Brian, King of Ireland came to Dublin with his Army, and expell'd Godfrid Meranagh. The same year died Donatus O-Haingly Bishop of Dublin, to whom succeeded his Nephew Samuel O-Haingly a Benedictine Monk of S Albans, of whom see more in (a) Eadmerus. About the same time Godfrid Meranagh died with Grief.
- (a) Hist.
Honorum.
1096. In 1096, the Episcopal See of Waterford was instituted; and the First Bishop elected to it, was one Malchus, born in Ireland, but bred a Monk at Winchester in England. He was Consecrated at Canterbury by Anselm the Arch-Bishop 5 Kal. Jan. Ralph Bishop of Chichester, and Gundolph Bishop of Rocheſter assisting, and made this following Profession. I Malchus Elected Bishop of Waterford, and now to be Consecrated by you Reverend Father Anselm, Arch-Bishop of the Holy Church of Canterbury, and Primate of all Britain. Do promise in all things to give Canonical Obedience to you and all your Successors. We have a Copy of the Letters written in his behalf in Eadmerus Published by the learned Selden in the year 1623. About the end of the 11th. Century the Cathedral of Waterford was built by the Danes.
1103. In 1103, the Great King of Norway, having Subdued the Isle of Mann and the Orcades, made a League with Moriertach O-Brian King of Ireland, but the next year was Kill'd in Ulster. Of which the Chronicle of Mann says thus. " The Great King " sent to Murecard (more rightly Muriertach) King of Ireland, his " shoes, Commanding him to carry them on his shoulders in " his house on the day of the Nativity of Our Lord, in sign " of subjection to the Great King. Which the Irish understand" ing, were very much provoked; But the King better advised, " made answer, that he would not only carry his shoes, but " eat them rather than the Great King should destroy one Province
" in Ireland. Therefore he comply'd and honour'd the Ambassa" dors, and sent many Presents to the Great King, and con-
" firm'd the League. The Ambassadors returning, gave an ac" count to their Lord of the pleasant Situation of Ireland, its Fertility

" Fertilty and wholsome Air. Which the Great King under" standing, prepared a great Fleet to subdue all Ireland; And set" ting out first himself 16 Ships to take a view of the Country,
 " unwarily Landed, and was set upon by the Irish, who slew him " and almost all his Company. He was buried near S. Patricks
 " Church in Down, having Reigned Six years, viz. in Mann.
 So unlike was his end to such a beginning.

In 1106, Donald Arch-Bishop of Armagh going to Dublin to make Peace between Moriertach King of Ireland, and Donald O-Loghlin, fell sick, and died at Duleek in his return to Armagh, in the year of his Age 58. And of his Consecration 15.

1106.

In 1109, Limerick was burnt, to the great loss of the Danes.

1109.

In 1121, 4 Nones of July, died Samuel O-Haingly the Fourth Danish Bishop of Dublin. To him succeeded Gregory, Consecrated at Lambeth on the 2 of the next October, by Ralph Arch-Bishop of Canterbury.

1121.

In 1125, Torfin Son of Torcall, King of the Danes of Dublin, died suddenly in the Flower of his Youth.

1125.

In 1131, Everard the Dane, Abbot of S. Mary-Abby near Dublin died, and Andrew succeeded.

1131.

In 1134, Cornelius Son of Murchard, King of Meath, was slain in Battle by Donald Son of Gillemoholmock and the Danes of Dub- lin, but the same Donald, by a sudden turn of Fortune, being also slain in another Battle, and the Dublinians put to flight, those of Meath broke into Fingall, and destroyed it with Fire and Sword.

1134.

In 1136, Melissa O Hamire the Danish Bishop of Waterford died, and Tuistius or Toftius a Dane succeeded.

1136.

In 1140, Gille or Gilbert Bishop of Limerick dying, or at least resigning, one Patrick elected by the Danes of Limerick, went into England, and was there Consecrated by Theobald Arch-Bishop of Canterbury, and made this following Profession, I Patrick elected to the Government of the Church of Limerick, and now to be Consecrated by you Reverend Father Theobald, Arch-Bishop of the Holy Church of Canterbury, do promise due Subjection and Canonical Obedience to you and all that shall Canonically succeed you.

1140.

In 1142, or thereabout, Cadwalader rebelling against his Brother Owen Gwineth Prince of Venedotia, fled into Ireland, and offered the Danes 2000 Marks to make War against his Brother; the Danes agree, and raising Forces partly of their own, and partly Irish, sent them into Wales under the conduct of Ofter, and the Sons of Torcall and Cherulph, but soon after their Arrival, understanding that the Brothers had made Peace, they detain'd Cadwalader Prisoner, till for the 2000 Marks, they had received 2000 head of Cattle, and then Owen falling unexpectedly upon the Danes and their Companions before they could recover their Ships, slew a great number of them, and returned with the Spoils. Thus Caradocus Lhancarvanensis.

1142.

In 1147 Reginald Son of Torcall, King of Dublin, being slain in Battle by the People of Meath, Godfred Son of Olave, King of Mann (if we may believe the Chronicle of Mann) was Proclaim'd

1147.

proclaim'd King by the Danes of Dublin: But the Irish Annals say, that Oiter or Oeter succeeded, yet possibly was subordinate to Godfred; however Oeter being kill'd 2 years after, Brodar, Brother to Reginald, succeeded in Dublin.

1151. In 1151, died Harald the Dane, Bishop of Limerick, to whom succeeded Torgesius.

1161. In 1161, Brodar, Son of Torcall, King of the Danes of Dublin, being kill'd in battle by the People of Meath, his Brother Asculphus succeeded. The same Year died Gregory first Arch-Bishop of Dublin, to whom succeeded Laurence (by the Irish call'd Lorcan) OTool, Abbot of Glendelagh, consecrated by Gelasius Arch-Bishop of Armagh, in the Cathedral of the B. Trinity in Dublin.

1167. In 1167, Roderick O Conner King of Ireland, entring Leinster with an Army, and putting to flight Dermot Son of Murchard King of Leinster, compell'd the people of Leinster, and especially the Danes of Dublin, to give him Hostages.

1169. In 1169, about the beginning of May, Robert Fitz-Stephens, Miller Fitz-Henry, Milo Son of David of Menevia, and Herve de Montemarisco came out of Wales with an Army, and landed in Ireland. The place of their first Landing was called Banna, that is, Blessed, commonly Bag and Bun, near Fethard in the County of Wexford, which some (tho' I think not rightly) take to be the same with Ptolomy's Sacrum Promontorium, or Holy-Head. The next day after followed Maurice de Prendergast with 10 Men at Arms and 60 Bow-men. Dermot Son of Murchard understanding their arrival, hastned to Banna, and joyfully received them. The next day they marched to Wexford, which after a short Siege was Surrender'd to Dermot. Wexford thus taken, and Maurice Fitz-Girald landing with new Forces (for what relates not to the Danish Affairs, we here omit) King Dermot, as was agreed, join'd them with his Forces. They then consulted of drawing their Forces towards Dublin, which all agreeing to, they march'd thither, and had the Town surrender'd. But upon Hostages deliver'd, it was presently restor'd to Asculphus, of whom before.

1170. In 1170, King Dermot writ to Richard surnamed Strong-bow Earl of Pembroke, or (as Cambrensis calls him) Strigul, earnestly desiring the Auxiliary Forces which he had promis'd. The Earl upon the Receipt of these Letters, having obtain'd an Ironical rather than a real Licence (says Giraldus Cambrensis) from King Hen. II. sent Reymond le Gros about the beginning of May with 10 Knights and 70 Bow-men into Ireland, intending to follow soon after himself in Person. Reymond landed at Dundenil 4 Miles from Waterford. The Danes of Dublin hearing of their Arrival, resolv'd to set on them before they gathered strength, and with the aid of Malachias O Felan of Deje, and O Rian of Idrone, they formed an Army of 3000 Horse and Foot. With these they fell upon the English, who with small Assistance brought thither by Herve de Montemarisco, who by chance came to visit Reymond, after a Fight a Fight of some hours, put them all to flight. In the Battle about 1000 Danes and Irish were slain, and about 70 taken Prisoners; who, by Reymond, in revenge for the loss of his Friend de Buein kill'd in the Battle, were all put to death. So Maurice Regan. But Giraldus Cambrensis says that by perswasion of Hervey, contrary to the Advice of Reymond, they were all thrown headlong from a Rock. This was in May. In August following, Richard Earl of Pembroke set Sail from Milford, and landed at Waterford, with an Army of 200 principal men at Arms, and 1000 other Soldiers: after a day or two he marched to Waterford, which, on the 25th of August he took by force; and therein Reginald, Prince of the Danes of Waterford, and Malachias O Felan (of whom before) who were condemn'd to dye: but by the mediation of King Dermot (who with Fitz-Stephen, and many other English and Welsh after the Victory, was come to Waterford) were saved. After this the Nuptials were there Solemnized between Earl Richard and Eva Daughter of King Dermot, and the Earl and his Wife were publickly declar'd Heirs of King Dermot. Soon after Dermot and his Son in Law leaving a Garlson in Waterford, march'd towards Dublin, and (King Roderick in vain opposing their Passage) laid Siege to the Town. Asculphus Prince of the Danes, finding himself unprovided to make a resistance, by mediation of Laurence Arch-Bishop of Dublin, began to treat of a surrender, but Reymond and Milo Cogan, during the time of the Treaty, with a Select Party storm'd the Town, and at the first Assault took it, on the 21 of September, being S. Matthews day, Asculphus and many of the Citizens escaped in Boats which at that time lay in the Harbour.

In 1171, About Whitfontide, Asculphus assisted by one John (whom the Ulster Annals call Orcadiensis) and auxiliary Forces from Mann, with a Fleet of ten Sail, entred the Harbour of Dublin, and landing his Men, attempted to break into the East side of the City, where Milo Cogan Governor of the place, tho' with small strength, stood in defence of it, but his Brother Richard falling out at Paul's Gate with a small Party, the Enemy, who thought they were auxiliaries come to Cogan, was easily put to flight. Many of them were slain, partly in the Battle and partly in the flight, and among the slain was John Orcadiensis Asculphus himself was likewise taken, and for not governing his Tongue well, was afterward put to death. Of the coming of Hen. II. into Ireland, and of other things of moment done in Ireland, this is not a place to treat, as being not pertinent to our Subject. It may therefore suffice to note here, that the Cities of Limerick and Cork, possess'd chiefly by the Danes, being in a few years after taken, their strength was wholly broken, after some hundreds of Years that they had seated themselves in Ireland. Yet it (a) appears in the Records, that some Families of them remained there long after. To which we may add (if we look back into Elder times, a Survey taken upon the Oath of 12 English, 12 Danes, and 12 Irish, of the Lands, Churches, and other things belonging to the Church of Limerick, which Survey is in the Register of the Dean of Limerick. And thus we have briefly deliver'd the most memorable Actions of the Danes in Ireland.

1171.

(a) Specimen in Rot. Placit. an. 4. Edw. II.

C H A P. XXV.

Of the Antient Coin of Ireland, both before the coming of the English under Henry II. and afterward till the time of Henry VII.

(a) Vide Tacitum.

(b) lib. 4. de ling. latin.

THe greatest part of the Wealth of Ireland consisted heretofore in Multitudes of Cattle, after the manner of the (a) Germans, nor was it otherwise among the Antient Romans, therefore (b) Varo derives Pecunia from Pecus, and Justin Speaking of the Antient Spaniards (says) The herds of Gerion, which in those time were esteem'd the only riches. But we find by daily experience, that Ireland is likewise rich in Veins of Metal, particularly there are some Mines of Lead, which have a considerable Mixture of Silver, Hadrianus Junius, among other Commendations of Ireland, calls those Mines, Veins of pure Silver.

Et puri argenti venas, quas terra refoffis, Visceribus manes imos visura recludit.

(c) Hist. Danicæ lib. 4.

But this by the way. I come now to the purpose, and first it is to be enquir'd, whether the Irish before the coming of the English had the use of Money, or Gold, Silver, Braſs or Rings adjusted to any certain weight. (c) Saxo Grammaticus tells, that Huglet, a King of Ireland, was taken and slain in Battle by Haco a Dane, that he was rich and covetous, and a great sum of Money was found in his Treasury at Dublin. But the Saxons we know are notorious for Fictions. Particularly this whole Narration is rejected by the most knowing in the Antiquities of Ireland. In our Historians who treat of those Antiquities, we find mention sometimes of Gold, sometimes of Silver, given upon several occasions, and sometimes of the weight also. So in the Ulster Annals in the year 1004 Brian Boruma, or Boro, King of Ireland, is said to have come to Armagh attended with many of the Nobility, and having Hostages deliver'd to him, he returned to Munster, having first offer'd at the Alter of S. Patrick in the Cathedral of Armagh, 20 ounces of Gold. Likewise in the year 1152, (as we find in the same Annals) Tirdelvac O-Conner King of Ireland, Confederate with Dermot King of Leinster, Melachlin of Meath, and Tigernac of Brethny, March'd against the people of Munster, then in Rebellion, it came to a Battle at Monimore or Monadmore, where those of Munster were put to flight with great slaughter, and their Leader gave Tirdelvac for his Ranfom 60 Ounces of Gold, 60 Bracelets, and a Gold Cap, call'd the Cap of Brian Boro. Likewise in the year 1157 or 1158, Maurice O-Loghlin then King of Ireland, the dedication of the Abby Church of Mellifont being finish'd by Gelafius, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, among other things gave 60 Ounces of Gold to the Monks; likewise Donatus O-Caroll (King of Ergall and Founder of the place) other 60 Ounces, and Dervorgilla Wife of Tigernac O-Ruark as many more. Also in the year 1161, the Ulster Annals say, That 420. Ounces of pure Silver was collected in Ossory for the use of Flachertach O-Brolcan Comorban of Columb-Kill. See likewise what has been said chap. 24. In the year 1029, and 1042. Many such like examples occur, which I omit, but whether the Gold and Silver so given were coin'd or not, is not certain. Let us now hear what Giraldus Cambrensis (a) says to this. There are also (says he) Mines of Divers Mettals, which by reason of that idle disposition of theirs are no way improved to advantage; for the Gold which, like the Spaniards, they so much thirst after, is brought in by the Traffick of the Danes. And that the Danes and the Antient Irish themselves had Gold before the coming of the English, is not to be doubted. This is evident in an Epistle of Lanfranc Arch-Bishop of Canterbury, written in the year 1074, to Tirdehuac King of Ireland; wherein he desires him to reform that ill custom among the Irish, of Conserring holy Orders for money; but whether that money was Coin'd in Ireland or else-where, is not certain, but that the Antient Danes coin'd Money in Ireland, is sufficiently apparent from the Silver Coin of Aulaf or Anlaph King of Dublin, by some called King of Ireland; see fig. 6.

(a) Topogr.
Hib. Distinct.
3. cap. 10.

The doubt remains as to the antient Irish: And here I cannot forget, that certain Countrey-Fellows in the month of December in the year 1639 found a great quantity of antient Irish Coins near Glandelach, in the County of Wicklow, some whereof are presented to the Readers view in fig. 7.

The reverse of the third Coin seems to design the year 1115, and if so, we need not inquire farther into the matter of the rest; I can affirm nothing certain, but that they seem to have been Coin'd before the coming of the English, and such were those lesser kind of Farthings of an Antient and unknown Stamp, found in a field near Kilcolyn, of which we find mention in the (b) Records of the Exchequer.

(b) an. 33.
Edw. I.

We now come to the times after the coming of the English, when it is certain that money was frequently Coin'd. Of money Coind in Ireland in the time of King John, Roger de Wendover, and out of him (c) Mathew Paris says thus. He, (viz. King John) made John de Grey Lord Justiciar there, who caused the money of that Country to be Coin'd according to the weight of the money of England, and Pence and Farthings to be Stamp round: the King also Commanded that the use of that money should be common to all, both in England and Ireland, and the money of both Kingdoms to be put indifferently in his Treasury. From hence it appears that money had been Coin'd in Ireland before, but then, by the Kings Authority, the money of that Country was first reduced to the weight of the (c) an. 1210.

the Coin of England. Henry III, in the 35 year of his Reign, that is in the year of our Lord 1251, Commanded a new Coin to be made in Ireland, as we find in the Records of the Tower of London. The year following, says an Anonimous Author of the Annals of the Abby of the Canons of the Premonstratenses of Loghea in the County of Roscoman, A new Coin was made in Ireland by the Kings Authority, and the old was abolish'd. But see also a Figure of that Coin lately found in Dublin and there, if I mistake not, Coin'd, which on one side bears the Effigies of the King with this Inscription, Henricus Rex. III. and on the Reverse, a Cross and the Names of the Coiners, in Fig. 8.

Of the weight and value I find nothing deliver'd. Of a new kind of Coin made under Edward I, by Stephen de Fulborn while he was Bishop of Waterford, and Justiciar of Ireland, See Pembridg in his (a) Annals of Ireland in the year 1279. Robert de Ufford (says he) went into England and deputed his Brother Stephen de Fulborn Bishop of Waterford in his place, in whose time the money was changed. This was done by Command of King Edward I, who to his perpetual Honour instituted a certain Rule in weight and purity, or a Standard of money in England, according to which the Mint of Ireland was Regulated, as appears by the accounts of Donatus and Andrew Spersholt, Masters of the Exchange in Dublin. Afterward in the year 1300 the money call'd Pollards and Grocards was prohibited both in England and Ireland, see more in (b) Walsingham. One of those Pollards was in Value half a Sterling; and it is to be noted that the Coin heretofore properly call'd Sterling, or Easterling, was an English Penny, as appears in the Act commonly call'd The Composition of Measures, made in the time of Edward I, wherein we find that the English Penny call'd Sterling, Round and without Clipping shall weigh 32 Grains of Wheat of the middle of the Ear. And from hence other Monies were Measur'd by Sterlings, so a Shilling was in Value 12 Sterlings, a Mark, according to Mathew Paris, 13 Shillings and 4 Sterlings, or Pence. The Half-penny, half a Sterling, and the Farthing, the fourth part of a Sterling. As for the Name, Camden in his Scotland, says thus, it is an error in some who think that the Current Money of England is call'd Sterling, from Sterling-Castle; for it had that Name from the Germans, whom the English call'd Easterlings from their situation Eastward, and whom King John first call'd over to reduce money to its purity, and that Name of Easterling is always found in Antient writings. But when that money was first Coin'd and first so call'd is uncertain, for in Roger Hovedens History of Richard I, Predecessor of King John, this kind of Coin is thus mention'd. Therefore Geofry Elect of York, seeing that unless by the mediation of money he could not gain his Brothers good will, promis'd him 3000 pounds of Sterlings, to purchase his Affection. And in a more Antient Register of the Abby of S. Thomas near Dublin, there is a Copy of a Charter of the City of Dublin, made about the same time, at the end whereof we Read thus, for this Donation the aforesaid Roger gave us an Ounce of Gold for mending the Wall of the Town, and 20 Shillings

(a) a Cam.
Edit. ad cal-cem Brit.

(b) Hist. ad
an. 1301.

Fig. 5.

4.

9.

8.

6.

7.

lings Sterling when we sent Messengers to Earl John about affairs of the City. But for more Antient times, see (a) Orderick Vitalis, who frequently mentions the Coin which he calls Sterilenfis, in the times of William the Conqueror, and particularly in a Charter of his Granted to the Abby of Utick. Polidore Virgil and some others are of opinion that such mony was call'd Sterling from the Effigies of the Bird so called which was sometime stamp'd on it. But Polidore was an Italian, and therefore not very knowing in our affairs, and particularly that Effigies represented a Dove, not a Sterling, as others have also observed. About the end of the 13 Century, or the beginning of the next, Edward I instituted a new Mint in Dublin, and made Alexander de Luic, a Norman, Master thereof. Afterward in the Year 1304, as we find in the Red Book of the Exchequer in Dublin, Master William de Wimundham, Keeper of the Exchange of our Lord the King in England, by command of the Reverend Father, the Bishop of Bath and Wells, Treasurer to our Lord the King, sent to Sir William de Essenden, Treasurer in Ireland 24 stamps for Coining of Money there; viz. 3 Piles with 6 Crosses for Pence; 3 Piles with 6 Crosses for Half-pence; and 2 Piles with 4 Crosses for Farthings, by John le Minor, Thomas Dowle, and John de Shoreditch, Clerks of the Society of the Mint in London, the aforesaid Money to be wrought by them. But to conclude the times of Edw. I. It is to be noted, that as in England, so also in Ireland, the names of the Cities where the Mony was coined, were inscribed on the reverse of the Coin, according to that of Robert le Brun, an antient English Poet, cited by John Stow.

(a) Hist.
Ecclesiast.

Edward did smite round penny, half-penny, farthing.

Afterwards,

On the Kings side was his Head, and his Name written,
On the Cross side the City where it was smitten.

To this belongs the small Silver Orrory of this Edward Coin'd in Dublin, see fig. 9.

I have two others Coin'd in Ireland in the time of the same Edward, one at Waterford, the other at Droghedah as appears by the Inscriptions. There is likewise preserv'd among the Rarities of Sr. Simon D'Ews, an Antient Silver piece of Money Coin'd at Clonard in Meath, with this Inscription on the Reverse, CIVITAS DE CLUNARD, but of what time it was I know not. And so the Antient Romans us'd to Coin Money in Britain. Of Money Coin'd in memory of Constantine Junior, inscrib'd with the Letters P. LON. as being Coin'd in London, see Camden. And as among the Antient Romans, so among our Ancestors (as the same Camden observes in Wiltshire) Money us'd to be weighed and reckoned. But we proceed.

From the latter times of Edw. I. till the Tenth of Edw. III. I find nothing of this matter, but then (as appears in a Roll of the end of those times) there was an Act of State for the Coining of half-pence and farthings in Ireland, That the Pound des mailles by weight of the Standard of the Exchange, shall contain 21 sols, and the Pound of Sterling 21 sols: and 11 deniers and the aforesaid Pound shall contain 16 Ounces of fine Silver, that is, 3 sols and 4 deniers. So 20 pence temper'd as abovesaid made an ounce, and 12 ounces a pound, which they call Troy-weight, and according to that proportion, till the 18 year of the same King, that is 1344, all the Crown-Rents by weight and number were brought into the Exchequer; whereas (as Sir Robert Cotton well notes) by the various changes of the Standard made in following times, no more than 5 shillings is now allowed to the ounce. Nor need we therefore wonder that prices of all things are now treble to what they were in the time of Edward III. But as to the state of the Exchequer of Ireland in the time of Edw. III. I cannot but note here the gross error of Walsingham, who in the History of Rich. II. in the year 1394, affirms, that Edw. III. received yearly out of Ireland 30000 pounds, whereas from the very Records of that time, yet extant, it is evident that not the third part of that Summ was paid yearly into the Exchequer.

In the third year of Rich. II. that is in 1379, by Authority of Parliament it was granted that every one in Ireland might dig for Mines of Gold and Silver in the Lands belonging unto them, for the space of 6 Years, the ninth part to be reserv'd to the King, and the residue to themselves, to be converted into Vessels, or to be Coin'd in the Mint in Dublin: Yet with prohibition of Transporting Gold or Silver, or Bullion into any other Countrey except England, under pain of Confiscation.

In the times of Hen. IV. and Hen. V. I find nothing relating to this matter, but it appears that in the beginning of Hen. VI. 36 pence made an Ounce of Silver. So Linwood, who writ in that time, in the Chapter, Item quia Verbum Centum solidos. Hec Solidus (says he) is taken for 12 pence English, 26 of which weigh one Ounce, whereas now scarce 32 pence make an Ounce. But let us now see what the publick accounts of Ireland shew us of this matter in the following times.

In a Parliament held at Trim under John Talbot Earl of Shrewsbury, Wexford and Waterford, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, in the month of Jan. 1446, a law was made to Suppress Clipt Money, and that call'd O Relys Money, and other unlawful Coins. Likewise an Impost of 12 pence was laid upon every Ounce of Silver Plate, broken Silver, and Bullion to be Transported, except the Plate of any Noble Man or Messenger, sent into England about the affairs of Ireland. In the Month of Feb. 1459, the Mint was settled in the Castles of Dublin and Trim, and at the same time not only Silver but Brass Money was Coin'd by the King's Command. Of their value, see Rot. Pat. an. 39 Hen. for it is wanting in my Collections.

In the Fifth year of Edw. IV. that is, in 1465, in a Parliament ment began at Trim under Thomas Earl of Desmond, Deputy to George Duke of Clarence Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, The value of the Gold Coin'd from the beginning of Edw. III. to the end of Hen. VI. was raised, the Noble to Ten Shillings, which before was but Six and Eight pence, and so other Moneys proportionably. From that time (says Sir John Davis) the Money both Coin'd in Ireland, and for Ireland, was of less value than the Money of England, most commonly a fourth part, so that from thence-forward the Shilling of Ireland was in value but 9 pence English, but this requires a farther inquiry, for the difference of that fourth part relates to these latter times, as shall appear.

In 1467, by Authority of Parliament, liberty was granted of Coining Money in the Cities of Waterford and Limerick, and in the Towns of Tredagh, Gallway and Carlingford, and also in the Castles of Dublin and Trim.

Afterward in the 8th Year, viz. in the Month of July, 1475. in a Parliament held at Dublin under William Shyrmood Bp. of Meath, Deputy to the above-named Lord Lieutenant, the value of Silver was raised, so that the Silver Money of 4 pence value Coin'd in the times of the aforesaid Kings, was from thence-forward rais'd to 6 pence value, and lesser Money proportionably. And by that Law the Mint was Establish'd at Dublin, Tredagh and Waterford, and prohibited in other Towns. It was then likewise provided, that none should bring Money or Metal into the Mint without License from the Master of the Mint, under penalty of losing what they brought.

The Year following, in another Parliament held under the same Deputy, it was ordain'd that the Gold Money called a Royal, should pass for 13 Shillings and 4 pence, and the Antient Noble for 12 Shillings.

Two Years after (in the 8th of Edw. IV.) in a Parliament held under Girald Earl of Kildare, Justiciar of Ireland, liberty was granted to the Master of the Mint, to Coin pieces of 3 pence, 2 pence, and a penny. Of the weight or Standard, I find nothing. But it is to be observ'd of the Money Coin'd in those times, that the Impression was 3 Crowns, representing the 3 Kingdoms, England, France and Ireland, and that the current Money then Coin'd in Ireland, was a third part less in value than the English Money.

In the end of the Year 1483, in a Parliament began in Dublin under the said Girald Earl of Kildare, Deputy to Edward Son of Richard III. a Law was made to break all Counterfeit Money: Against which kind of Money, an Act was also made under Hen. VII. An. 1491, Apr. 15. And thus much may suffice as to the matter of Money.

As to the Weights and Measures of the Antient Irish, we leave them to the inquiry of others, more knowing and better provided for such a work, and proceed to other matters.

C H A P. XXVI.

An Account of the Monasterys of Ireland, of their Original and Antiquity.

OF the Episcopal Sees of Ireland, we have before spoke, chap. 16. Now follows a Catalogue of the Monasteries of the same Island, wherein many things are deliver'd relating to the History and Antiquity of them. But we purposely omit those Monasteries which were erected in the first times of the Irish Church, and were afterward converted into Parish Churches.

LEINSTER PROVINCE. D U B L I N.

The Places and Titles of Dedication; together with the Founders, Orders, and other Antiquitys.

Priory and Cathedral of the B. Trinity.

Founded by Sitricus, Son of Amlavus, King of the Danes of Dublin, and Donagh Bishop of Dublin, for Secular Canons, about the year 1038.

Laurence, Archbishop of Dublin, chang'd them afterward into Regular Canons of the Order of Aroacum, about the year 1163, but at last Hen. 8. chang'd the Prior and Convent into a Dean and Chapter, in 1541, and made Robert Castell, al. Painswick, the last Prior of the place, the first Dean. It is now commonly called Christ-Church.

S. Mary Abby.

The greater Register of this Abby has a Narration not very credible, of the Founding thereof by King Malachias or Melachlin and one Gillemoholoc, which they say, the Prior of S. John de Randoun in the Diocess of Elphin, had read in an Irish Book. Some think it was Founded by the Danes in the year 948, and some that it was either built or rebuilt by Donald Gillemoholoc. The Abbot and Monks of this Abby were made Cistercians in the year 1139, the Church was cover'd with Lead by Felix O Ruaden, A. B. of Tum, and he himself was buried there in the year 1238, at the foot of the Altar on the left hand, three years after he had resign'd the See. There was heretofore great contention about the Right of Filiation of this Abby, between the Abbot of Savinia in France, and the Abbot of Bildewas in England, but in the year 1301, in a General Chapter, by by the means of William Ashburn, then Monk and Proctor of the Abby of Bildewas, and afterward Abbot of S. Mary Abby, Dublin, the Right was adjudg'd to the Abby of Bildewas.

Nunery of S. Mary de Hoggis.

Dermot, Son of Murchard, King of Leinster, Founded a Nunery there, of the Order of Aroaca, about the year 1146, to which he subjected two Cells, in the year 1151, one (called Kilclebin) near Waterford, the other (called Athdab) in the Diocese of Leghlin. So the Register of John Alan A B of Dublin, under Hen. VIII.

Priory of All-Saints

Founded in the year 1166, by the same Dermot, for Canons of the Order of Aroaca. Queen Elizabeth at last Erected a College there in the year 1591, Dedicated to the B. Trinity.

Abby of S. Thomas.

William Fitz-Adelm, by command of Hen. II. built a monastery there for Canons of the Order of S. Victor, in the presence of Vivianus Presbyter Cardinal, intituled S. Stephen in Monte Caelio, Laurence A B of Dublin, and others, in the year of our Lord 1177. And it was afterward plentifully endowed by others.

Priory of S. John Baptist without Newgate.

Founded by Alured le Palmer a Dane, first Prior thereof, about the year 1188, and by others indowed. This Priory was likewise an Hospital, and in the time of Edward III. Maintain'd 155 sick and poor Persons, besides Chaplains and Converts, as we find in the Records. When the Crossbearers of the Rule of S. Augustin were first placed there, I know not.

S. Savior's Monastery of Friars Mendicant.

A Convent of Dominicans was introduced there in the year 1224, their Church Dedicated to S. Savior, was Founded Kal. May 1238 say the Annals of S. Mary Abby.

Friars Mendicant.

A Convent of Minorits, built about the year 1236, by the Encouragement of Hen. III. King of England, and Ralph le Porter gave the floor of the House.

Frier Mendicant.

The Friers Hermits of S. Augustin were first seated here, about the year 1259, and very many of that Order were Eminent for Learning in Dublin, says the Register of Jo. Alan A B of Dublin.

Friars Mendicant of S. Mary.

Founded by S. Robert Bagot, for Friers of the Order of S. Mary of Mount Carmel, in the year 1274. The Land was purchased from the Abby of Vallis Salutis.

County of Dublin.

Clontarf a Preceptory of S. Congall.

IT was first a Seat of the Knights Templars, under Hen. II. but they being put out under Edm. II. it became a Preceptory of Knights Hospitalers, Situate at the mouth of the Liffy. Hen. VIII. on the 20 of June 1541, made John Raufon Prior of the Hospital of S. Johns of Jerusalem, Viscount of this place, during life, and gave him an Annual Pension of 500 Marks to be paid out of the Lands of the said Priory.

Grace-Dieu, the Nunnery of S. Mary.

Founded by John Comin, A. B. of Dublin, and Indowed about the year 1190.

Holm Patrick.

Founded by Sitricus, Son of Murchard, for Canons of S. Augustin, before the coming of the English, and removed to a more commodious place in the year 1220, by Hen. Loundres, Arch-Bishop of Dublin.

Kilmainam, a Priory of St. John Baptist.

Founded for Knights of the Order of St. John Baptist of Jerusalem, commonly called Knights Hospitalers, by Richard, Sir-named Strongbow, Earl of Pembroke, or Strigul, about the year 1174. And Hen. I. confirm'd the Indowments. It was afterward mightily enriched by the Donations of others, and especially under Edm. II., when the Revenues of the Templars then newly suppress'd, were granted to this Order, Walter del Ewe being then Prior of the Hospitalers. This Priory was likewise an Hospital for Strangers and Pilgrims. The place took its name from S. Maignan a Bishop, who lived about the beginning of the 7th Century, and whose Memory is Celebrated 18 Decemb.

Priory of St. Catharine.

Waris de Pech founded an Abby there of Regular Canons in the year 1219, which Alexander Bicknore, A. B. of Dublin, with consent of William Hausted, Patron of the Place, annexed to the Abby of St. Thomas, Dublin, in 1327.

County of Kildare.

Nunery of St. Bridget in Kildare.

Founded by St. Bridget about the year 480, of which she was Abbess. Kildare denotes The Cell of the Oak.

Friers Minorits of Kildare.

Girald Fitz Maurice founded a Convent of Minorits there, about the year 1260. Some say it was founded by William de Vesey.

St. Marys of Kildare.

The same William de Vesey founded a Monastery of Carmelits in the same Town.

Friery of Athy.

The Dominicans first leated themselves here in the year 1257, where likewise the Chapters of that Order were held in the years 1288, 1295, and 1305.

Priory of St. John near Athy.

This Abby on the other side of the Bridge, was founded for the Order Order of Crois-bearers, by Richard de S. Michael, Lord of Reban, in the Reign of King John.

Friery of Clan by the Liffy.

In the Abby of Minorits (according to the Annals of Hailes) Girald Fitz-Maurice, possibly Founder of the Place, was buried in the year 1287. Some think he was Buried in the Convent of Minorits of Kildare. These Friers from the Colour of their Habit were called Grey-Friers.

Friery of S. Mary at Cloncurry

John Roch, with Licence obtain'd from Edward III. Founded a Convent of Carmelits there in the year 1347, and these from the Colour of their Habit were called White Friers, as the Dominicans for the like reason were called Black Friers.

S. Mary at Conal by the Liffy.

Founded by Miler Fitz Henry Justiciar of Ireland in the year 1202, and supply'd with Regular Canons of the Order of S. Augustin, out of the Abby of Lhanthor. He was buried here in the year 1220, his Father was Henry, Bastard Son of Henry I. King of England.

Nunnery of S. Mary at Graney.

Gualter de Ridelesford founded a Nunnery of Augustins about the year 1200, the Possessions whereof were confirm'd by King John.

Friery, commonly called New-Abby, near Kilcullen-Bridge.

It was a Convent of Minorits, founded by Rowland Fitz Eustace, Baron of Portlester, in the year 1486. He was buried there in 1496. But he had built a Fair Monument for himself and his Wife Margaret Jenic, in S. Marys Chapel in S. Owens Church, Dublin.

Kilbegs, Kilheel and Tully.

Three Preceptorys of Knights Hospitalers, whereof Kilheel was the Donation of Maurice Fitz Girald.

Killrush.

Founded by Mareschall Earl of Pembroke for Regular Canons; he made it the Cell of the Priory of Garthmel in Lancashire.

S. Mary Abby at Monaster-Evin, otherwise called Rosglafs and de Rosea Valle.

An Abby of Cistercians, founded by Dermot Dempsey, King of Offaly in 1178, or as others, in 1189. It has its Name from S. Evin, who Flourish'd in the begining of the 7 Century, in his Abby of Ros-mac-Treom. It is Situate by the Barrow.

Friery of the Naas.

Friers Hermits of the Order of S. Augustin.

Priory of S. John Baptist near the Naas.

Augustin Canons founded by the Baron of the Naas.

Friery near the Naas.

Founded for Friers Preachers at the foot of a round Hill in the year 1356, with Licence of King Edward III. The Eustaces were Patrons of it.

Nunnery

Nunery of S. Mary in Timolin.

Founded for Nuns of the Order of Aroaca, by Robert Son of Richard Lord of Norrach, who placed his Daughter there about the begining of the Reign of King John.

Priory and Hospital of S. John Baptist in Tristle-Dermot, commonly called Castle-Dermot.

Founded for the Cross-bearing Friers, by Walter de Ridelsford Lord of the Place, in the Reign of King John. The Town took its Name from S. Diarmitius, who lived a Hermit there, from whence it was heretofore called, the Desert of Diarmitius.

Friery of Castle-Dermot.

It was a Convent of Minorits in the Reign of Edward 1.

Priory of S. Wolstan.

Founded in the year 1205, for Canons of the Order of S. Victor by Richard first Prior of the place, and Adam de Hereford, in memory of S. Wolstan Bishop of Worcester, then newly Canoniz'd by Pope Innocent III. The first part of the building there, was commonly called Scala Cæli. It is most pleasantly Situated on the banks of the Liffy.

County of Wicklow.

Friers Mendicant in Wicklow.

A Convent of Minorits was there founded in the Reign of Henry III. on the banks of the River De. Wicklow is called by the Irish, Kilmantan, but Wicklow (heretofore possess'd by the Danes) seems to have a foreign Original, for Wick in the German tongue signifies the Bay of a River, or according to Hadrianus Junius, a secure Station, well furnish'd with buildings.

Friery of Arklow in Irish called Iniver-more.

A Convent of Friers Preachers was there founded by Theobald Pincerna or Butler, in the year 1264. who has his Statue in that Church where he lyes buried. Arklow is the Modern Name given by the Danes.

S. Mary Abby in Baltinglas, or de Valle Salutis.

An Abby of Cistercians built and indowed by Dermot Son of Murchard King of Leinster, in the year 1148, or as others, in 1151. It is Situate on the River Slane.

County of Wexford.

Priory of S. John and S. Bridget, in Wexford, by the Irish call'd Logh-Garmon, Founded by William Marescall Earl of Pembroke for Knights of the Hospital.

Friers

Friers Mendicant of Wexford.

The Minorits were there seated in the Reign of Henry III. In this Monastery, Maurice Fitz-Girald (from whom the Family of the Giraldines is descended) was buried, says John Hooker, but doubtless he mistakes, for that Maurice died in the year 1177, long before the Institution of the Order of Minorits.

Priory of S. Peter and S. Paul de Selsker, near Wexford.

Regular Canons of the Order of S. Augustin Inhabited there, and the Roches were Patrons of the place but who was the first Founder I do not find; Tho' it be reported that it was founded by the Danes.

Friery of Clomin.

A House was there founded of Augustin Hermits, which Nicholas Fitz-Nicholas the Clerk Augmented and Beautify'd in the year 1385. Some say it was afterward made the seat of the Friers Preachers. See Inquisition of the Exchequer An. 31 Henry 8.

Monastery of Donbrody.

Harvey de Monte Marisco, Mareschall to King Henry II., and Seneschall of all the Lands of Richard Earl of Pembroke, gave Ardfithen, Crosgormoc &c. to God and S. Mary, and S. Benedict, and the Monks of Bildewas in Shropshire in England to build an Abby for the Order of Cistercians about the year 1175. But the Monastery of Donbrody was not founded before the year 1182, when the Abbot and Convent of S. Mary of Bildewas, granted to the Abbot and Convent of the House of S. Mary near Dublin, The whole Right and Claim that they had in the Lands and Tenements aforesaid. As we find in the Register of S. Mary Abby. Not long after Harvey the founder became a Monk in Christ-Church in Canterbury. In this Abby in the year 1217, was buried Herlewin, Bishop of Leghlin, a great part of which Church he had built. It is Situate near the meeting of the Barrow and the Suire.

Dune Abby.

This Monastery of Augustin Canons, Founded before the coming of the English, is Situate on the little River Derriby, which not far from hence joyns with the Slane:

Abby of S. Mary of Ferns.

Dermot, Son of Murchard, King of Leinster, founded a Monastery of Augustins there, about the year 1158, by the River Bann, which three Miles from thence falls into the Slane.

Priory of S. Mary of Glas-carrig or the Green-Rock

This Abby of Benedictins was founded and indow'd by Griffin Gendon, David Roch, and others; It is Situate on the Sea-Coast, and was made the Cell of the Abby of S. Dogmael in Pembrokeshire in Wales.

Friery of S. Mary of Little-Horeton:

This Friery founded for Carmelites by the Family of the Furlongs.

Friery of Iniscorthy.

Founded for Minorits of the observance, in the year 1460, by Donald Sirnamed Fuscus.

Priory of S. John the Evangelist near Iniscorthy.

Girald Prendergast Patron of the place, and John St. John Bishop of Ferns made it a Cell to the Abby of S. Thomas near Dublin about the year 1240, as appears by their Charters inserted in the Register of the said Abby of S. Thomas.

Preceptory of Kiclogan.

The Habitation of the Knights Templars in the Reign of King John, but upon their suppression under Edward II, it was made a Preceptory of the Knights of the Hospital. It is Situate about 2 Miles from the Mouth of the Suire.

Friery of Rofs or Ross-pont.

John Devereux Knight, founded a Convent of Minorits in the place where sometime stood a House of the Cross-bearers by the River Barrow in the Reign of Edward I.

Friery of Rofs.

A Convent of Augustin Hermits was founded there in the Reign of Edward 3.

Abby of our Lady of Tintern, or of the Vow.

William Marescal the Elder, Earl of Pembroke in the year 1200 having Escaped a great Tempest, in performance of his Vow built this Abby on the Sea-shore, indowed it and supply'd it with Monks of the Cistercian Order, from Tintern in Monmouth-shire in Wales, and made John Torrell their Abbot. This Abby is called by (a) Chrysostome Henriques, the Lesser Tintern.

(a) In Fascic. ordinis Cister.
ert.

Kilkenny.

Priory or Hospital of S. John the Evangelist in Kilkenny.

Founded in the year 1211, on the East side of the Town, by William Marescall the Elder, Earl of Pembroke, for Canons of the Order of S. Augustin.

Friery of Kilkenny.

Founded for Preaching Friers by William Marescall Junior, Earl of Pembroke in the year 1225.

Friery of Kilkenny.

A Convent of Minorits founded about the year 1240, if not, as some say, before the year 1234, on the banks of the Neore.

Friery of Colan.

James Butler founded a Convent there, of Augustin Hermits, in whose Church he was buried in the year 1487. He was Father of Peter Earl of Ormond under Henry VIII. Some ascribe the foundation to Hugh de Mapilton Bishop of Ossory in the Reign of Henry III. But I think they mistake.

Abby of Dousk.

William Marescal, the Elder, Earl of Pembroke founded it in the year 1207, or, as some, in 1204 and supply'd it with Cistercian Monks from the Abby of Stanly in Wilt-shire in England. But we find find in the Register of the place, that the Monks often Chang'd their Seat, before they Settled at Douk. The Abby of Kilkenny, or de Valle Dei (Founded by Dermot O Rian, with the assent of Dermot, Son of Murchard King of Leinster) was united to this Abby in the year 1227.

Priory of Kiaran at Fert-ne-gerah.

Canons of the Order of S. Augustin.

Abby of S. Mary of Jeripont.

This Abby was built for Cistercians, or removed hither from another place in Offory, by Donald King of Offory, in 1180, among the Sepulchers of the Church the most Memorable are that of Donald the Founder, and Felix O Dullan Bishop of Offory, who Translated the Episcopal See from Aghavox to Kilkenny about the end of the 12th. Century.

Priory of S. Columby at Inistiock.

Built for Augustin Canons, by Thomas Son of Anthony, Senefcal of Leinster, about the year 1206, by persuation of Hugh Rufus or le Rom Bishop of Offory.

Priory of S. Mary at Kells.

Founded by Geofry Fitz Robert (Senefcal of Leinster before the said Thomas) in the Reign of Richard I. He placed in it 4 Augustin Canons of the Abby of Bodmin in Cornwall in Wales viz. Reynald de Acland first Prior of the place, Hugh Rufus, Successor to Reynald in the Priory, and at last Bishop of Offory; Alured made afterward first Prior of Inistiock; And Algar, who being afterward sent to Rome about Affairs of this Abby, had a Bishoprick bestowed on him in Lombardy. To this Abby the Prior of Tullales, built by Mathew, Son of Griffin in the County of Gork, was afterward annexed Kilclehin Nunery.

Dermot, Son of Murchard, King of Leinster, made it the Cell of the Nuns of S. Mary de Hoggis near Dublin, in the year of our Lord 1151. It was indowed after the coming of the English by John Earl of Morton, Lord of Ireland, and David Fitz Milo. It is Situate by the River Suire over against Waterford.

Friery of Knocktogher.

Founded for Carmelits in the year 1356, by James the second Earl of Ormond.

Friery of Ross-Ibercan.

A Convent of Friers Preachers was there introduced in the year 1267, 13 Kal. November. It is Situate by the River Barrow over against Ross-Pont.

County of Catherlagh.

Priory of S. Stephen in Leghlin.

OF the Order I find nothing, but Thad. Douling in his Annals says that in the year 1432 the Priory was dissolv'd by Authority thority of Pope Eugenius IV. and the Lands annexed to the Deanery of Leghlin, at the request of Nicholas Cloal, Dean. He affirms moreover that one Burchard, a Norwegian, Son of Gurmund, founded the Priory, or rather indowed it, and that he was buried in the Choir of the Cathedral of Leghlin under a Marble, whereon was his Effigies and this Inscription.

HIC JACET HUMATUS, DUX FUNDATOR LENIÆ,
EN GORMONDI BURCARDUS,
VIR GRATVS ECCLESIAE.

Friery of S. Mary near Leghlin-Bridge.

This Monastery of Carmelits built on the East side of the River Barrow, was founded about the end of the Reign of Henry III. by one Carew, says John Hooker in his Notes upon the 23 chap. of the second Book of Girald. Cambrensis, but he mistakes and calls it a Convent of Minorits.

Nunery of Athaddy.

Dermot, Son of Murchard, King of Leinster, made it the Cell of the Nunery of S. Mary de Hoggis, near Dublin.

Preceptory of S. John Baptist of Killergy.

Founded for Knights Templars by Gilbert de Borard, in the Reign of King John., but under Edward II. it was given to the Knights of the Hospital.

Tully-Felim or Felagh.

Founded by Simon Lombard and Hugh Talun for Augustin Hermits, in the year 1314. It is Situate by the River Slane.

Kings-County.

Durrogh Antiently Dermagh, or the Field of the Oak, Monastery of S. Mary and S. Columb.

Founded by S. Columb about the year 550. See Bede Ecclesi. History lib. 3 cap. 4. And Adamnanus in the Life of Columba lib. 1 cap. 3. There is yet extant as it was preserv'd in this Abby, a Book of the 4 Evangelists, of S. Hieroms Translation, adorn'd with Silver Plates, and the Inscription sets forth that it was written by the hand of S. Columba, in the space of 12 days. It appears that the Canons of this Abby at the time of the suppression and long before, were Augustins, tho we allow that S. Columb, framed a Rule of his own for the Monks that he placed there. The like happened to the Rules instituted by S. Brendan, S. Congall &c. as shall be shewed.

Gallen or Galin.

Founded for Augustin Canons by S. Canoc or Mochonoc about the year of 492, See Jo. Colgan Act. Sanctior. Hib. ad 11 Feb. It is Situate tuate on the River Brassinog in the little Territory of Mac Coghlan, which is part of the Kings-County.

Priory of the Holy Cross of Killeach in Ofaly.

The Ulster Annals say that S. Sincell Mac-Genain Abbot of Killeach died in the year 548, perhaps he was first Abbot and founder of this place.

Friery of Killeigh.

Founded for Minorits in the Reign of Edward I.

Nunery of Killeigh.

Nuns of the Order of S. Augustin.

Friery of S. Mary of Kilcarmic.

A Convent of Carmelits built near the River Brassinog by Odo Son of Nellan Mulloy, in the Church wherein he himself was buried in the year 1454.

Monaster-ferais or Totmoy Friery.

A Convent of Minorits founded by John de Bermingham Earl of Louth in the year 1325, In that part of the Country which was called Ofaly.

Seir or Saiger-Kiaran.

S. Kiaran the Elder founded a Monastery there which was of great note in the very Infancy of the Irish Church. It is Situate in that part of the Kings County called Elia-Carolina. The Canons thereof were Augustins.

Queens-County.

Aghavo in Upper Ossory

AN Abby of Dominicans built there by the Ancestors of the Baron of Upper Ossory. But Aghavo (which signifies the Field of the Ox) was heretofore chiefly famous for the Abbot St. Kenny, who died there 5 Id. Octob. an. 600.

Aghmacart, Priory of St. Tigernac.

A Priory of Augustin Canons.

St. Mary Abby of Leix.

Founded in the year 1183, and supply'd with Cistercians from the Abby of Baltinglafs. Thad. Douling says it was Founded by Coche-ger O More, and that he was there buried. It is situate by the Neore in that part of the Queens County called Lese.

Stradbally in Lese.

A Convent of Minorits founded by O More. I take it to be the same mention'd by Pisanus, under the name of Luasia.

County Meath.

St. Mary-Abby in Trim.

OF the First Founder I can say little: but it appears that it was built long before the coming of the English. The Ulster Annals nals, an. 820, or 821, make mention of the Death of Genfeal, Son of Rumain, Scribe, Bishop, Anchoret, and Abbot of Trim. It was either repair'd, or new built by the Lacys. The Monks were Regular Canons of the Order of St. Augustin.

Friery of Trim.

A Convent of Dominicans was there introduced in the year 1263. In this Convent Geofry de Genevil, Lord of Meath, took the habit of the Order of Predicants in the year 1308, Another Friery in Trim.

Of the Order of Minorits.

Priory of St. Peter and St. Paul near Trim.

A Priory of Augustin Canons founded by Simon de Rochfort Bp. of Meath, about the year 1286. He left Clonard, and removed the Episcopal See hither, and died in 1324, and was buried in that Church.

Priory or Hospital of St. John Baptist near Trim.

Of the Order of Cross-bearers; whereof the Bishops of Meath were either Founders or Benefactors.

St. Marys in Athboy.

A Convent of Carmelites founded by William de Loundres, Lord of the Place, in the year 1317. A Chapter of that Order was there held in the year 1467.

Priory of the B. Trinity in Ballibogan.

A Convent of Regular Canons; but of its Antiquity, I find no certainty; only it is reported, that one Jordan Comin was the Founder; it is situate by the Boin.

Friery of Beaubec.

It was a Cell of the Monastery of Bec in Normandy, of the Order of Benedictins, by Donation of Walter de Lacy, Lord of Meath, under King John. But it was afterward made a Cell of the Monastery of Furness in Lancashire in England, of the Order of Cistercians. For the Abbot of Bec having obtain'd leave from King Edward III. to sell, Sold that Cell to the Abbot of Furness. Bec in French denotes either the beak of a Bird, or the lands end.

St. Mary Abby of Bectif.

Of the Order of Cistercians. In the time of the Foundation of this Abby, the Chronologers of the Cistercian Order disagree: Some think it was founded in the year 1146, others in 1148, and others in 1151. But the difference is not great. It is situate on the Boin, and was founded by Murchard O Melaghlin, King of Meath.

St. Peters of Clonard, anciently Cluainirard.

Of the Order of Augustin Canons. Certain it is, that St. Finian, the great glory of Clonard, founded an Abby there not long after the beginning of the 6th Century. But that which we now speak of (I know not whether the off-spring of the Elder) was founded by the Lacys, in memory of St. Peter. It is situate on the Banks of the Boin.

St. Marys of Clonard, a Nunery.

Nuns of the Order of St. Augustin, indowed before the coming of the the English. Pope Celestin III. confirm'd the Possessions in the year of our Lord 1195. But this House was afterward reduced to so great poverty, that it was made a Cell to the Nunery of St. Bridget of Odra, commonly called Odder.

The Cell of Colp.

Of the Order of Canons Regular of St. Augustin. Hugh de Lacy made it the Cell of the Priory of Lanthon in Monmouth-shire in Wales, about the year 1182.

St. Marys of Duleek, antiently Damliag.

Of the Order of Augustin Canons. This Abby was founded by one Kelly, long before the coming of the English, as we find in the close Roll of the 29th of Edw. III.

The Cell of St. Cianan in Duleek.

Of the Order of Augustin Canons. Hugh de Lacy, Lord of Meath, made it the Cell of the Priory of Lanthon near Glocester in England, about the year 1170. It was heretofore famous for the memory of St. Cianan (commonly Kenan) who died in the year 489; on which year the Ulster Annals have this note. The Rest of S. Cianan, to whom St. Patrick gave the Gospel.

St. Mary Abby of Kells.

St. Columb antiently built a famous Abby there in the year 550. The Place was given by Dermot, Son of Cerbal, King of Ireland. It was afterward repair'd by Cellack, Abbot of Fona, or Hy, in the year 806. Of which, see the Ulster Annals in the years 806, and 813. It is situate by the River Mana, or Black-Water, and was heretofore famous for the Birth of St. Cuthbert.

Priory of St. John Baptist near Kells.

Of the Order of Cross-bearers, founded by Walter de Lacy, Lord of Meath.

Kilmainam-beg near Nobir.

A Preceptory of Knights Hospitalers founded by Walter de Lacy, Lord of Meath, in the Reign of Richard I. The name denotes the little Church or Cell of Maignan.

Kilmainan-Wood.

A Preceptory of Knights of the Hospital.

Nunery of the B. Trinity of Lismullen.

Founded for Nuns of the Order of St. Augustin, by Avice de la Corner, Sister to Richard de la Corner, Bp. of Meath, about the year 1240. To this Abby, that Richard granted the Manors of Dunsink and Ballygodman.

St. Mary Abby of Navan.

Of the Order of Augustin Canons, founded about the end of the 12 Century by Focelin Nangle. Of the more Eminent Abbots of this place was John Bole, Consecrated Arch-Bishop of Armagh in the year 1457. It is situate at the meeting of the Rivers Boin and Black-Water.

Nunery of St. Bridget of Odder.

The Possessions were Confirm'd by Pope Celestin III. in the year 1195. To this House were afterward annexed the Cells of some other Nunerys in Meath.

Friery of Scrin.

Of the Order of Augustin Hermits, founded by Francis de Feipo, Lord of the place, in the Reign of Edw. III.

Friery of Slane.

Of the Order of St. Francis, founded by Christopher Fleming, Baron of Slane, and Elizabeth Stukeley his Wife, in the year 1512, in the place of the Hermitage of St. Eric, as we find in the Charter of Foundation. This Christopher was the next year made Treasurer of Ireland by Hen. VIII.

West-Meath.

Priory of S. Mary in Molingar.

Canons Regular, Founded by Ralph de Petit Bishop of Meath, in the year 1227: This Priory was Antiently known by the Name of the House of God in Molingar.

Friery of Molingar.

A Convent of Preaching Friars was here introduced in the year 1237, and Chapters of that Order were afterward held here in the years 1278, 1292 and 1308:

Friery of Ardnecran.

The Order of S. Mary of Mount-Carmel.

Friery in that part of Athlone, which is thought to belong to West-Meath.

A Convent of Minorites was placed there by one of the Family of the Dillons. Albertus of Cologne, Arch-Bishop of Armagh Consecrated their Church in 1242. It is Situate on the banks of the River Sbenon.

S. Mary Abby of Logh-Suedy or Plary.

This Abby in an Antient book of the Statutes of the Order of Cistercians, is reckoned among the Abbys of that Order. But it was, I think, of the Order of Gilbertins or de Sempringham, wherein the Canons were of the Order of Premonstratenses and the Nuns Cistercians, but living in separate Houses. It was founded by the Lacys.

Priory of the Saints Taurin and Fechin, in Foure.

S. Fechin here Founded an Abby of Regular Canons, where he himself was Abbot till the year 665. when he died: But in the year 1218, Walter de Lacy Lord of Meath made it a Cell of the Abby of S. Taurin of Evreux in Normandy, from whence he furnish'd it with Benedictine Monks. Lastly in the 27th. of Henry VI. the Right of the Abby of S. Taurin of Evreux was abrogated by Authority of Parliament, and from thence forward, a power was granted to the Monks of Foure to elect their own Prior. This place (like Kiriath-sepher of old among the Jews) was called in Irish, Balle-Leabair, or the City of Books.

Abby

Abby of Kilbegain.

Founded in the year 1200, and furnish'd with Cistercian Monks from the Abby of Mellifont.

Kilkenny West, a Priory of S. John Baptist.

Of the Order (if I mistake not) of Cross-bearers.

Kilmachael.

Of the third Order of S. Francis.

Friery of Multifernan.

Founded by William Delamar under Henry III. See Luke Wadding Tom. 1. Annal. Minor. Where it is likewise said that the Convent was Translated from the Conventual Fathers to the Observant Professors in the year 1460.

Priory of S. Mary in Tristernagh.

Founded and Indowed for Canons of the Order of S. Augustin, by Geofry de Constantin, about the year 1200. As we find in the Register of the place.

County of Longford.

Friery of Longford.

IN this Monastery of Dominicans was buried Cornelius O. Ferrall, Bishop of Ardachad in the year 1424, a Man Eminent for his Charity. I know not whether he were founder of the House.

Friery of Balline-sagard.

Of the third Order of S. Francis.

Derg, Priory of S. Peter.

Canons of the Order of S. Augustin. Some say, (I know not how true) that it was Founded by Gormgall O. Quin, in the Reign of King John. In this House was buried Brendan Magodaig Bishop of Ardah in the year 1255.

Granard or Lerba near Granard, an Abby of S. Mary.

An Abby of Cistercians Founded by Sir Richard Tuit about the year 1210, and Furnish'd with Monks from S. Marys Abby Dublin. The next year after, he was kill'd by the fall of a Tower in Athlone.

Inis-more in Logh-Dawn:

S. Columb Founded a Monastery there of Regular Canons about the middle of the Fifth Age.

Inis-bo-find, in a Logh of the River Shenon call'd Logh-rie.

In this Island S. Riach Nephew to S. Patrick by his Sister Darerca, Founded an Abby. There are likewise two Islands of the same Name in the Sea, one in the County of Mayo, wherein S. Colman sometime Bishop of Lindesfern lived long after; The other in Tirconell.

Inis-cloghran, in the same Logh.

S. Diarmitius was Abbot and Founder of an Abby of Canons there, in the first times of the Irish Church.

The Island of All-Saints in the same Lough.

S. Kiaran founded an Abby of Regular Canons in a certain Island in Lough-Rie, called Inis-Aingen, or Oilean-Aingin; which, if I mistake not, is the same we now speak of. But let others inquire.

Shrowl, by the River Eny.

The Chronologers of the Cistercian Order, say, that the Abby de Benedictione Dei was founded in the year 1150, or 1152. Perhaps it was the same we speak of.

County Louth,

Heretofore called part of Uriel, or Ergall.

Drogheda.

Lucas de Nettervil, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, Founded an Abby of Preaching Friars there in the year 1224. In this Abby was buried Patrick O-Scanlain, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, in the year 1270.

Drogheda.

A Convent of Minorits, founded about the year 1240 near the North side of the River Boin.

Drogheda.

A Convent of Augustin Hermits was introduced there under Edward I.

Priory of S. Mary de Urfo near Drogheda.

Founded by Ursus de Suamel, without the West-Gate, about the year 1206. For the Maintenance of the Poor and Sick. When the Cross-bearers of the Rule of S. Augustin were introduced, I do not find. The first Superior of the place, was called Custos, or Guardian, not Prior.

Priory of S. Laurence near Drogheda.

Of the Order of Cross-bearers Founded by the Major and Citizens of Drogheda, as we find in an Inquisition of the Exchequer.

S. Marys near Drogheda.

A Convent of Carmelits founded by the Citizens under Edward I.

Priory of S. John Baptist near Drogheda.

Of the Order of Cross-bearers, Walter de Lacy, if not the Founder, was at least the first Benefactor under King John.

The Reader is to take Notice, that part of Drogheda is Situate in the County of Louth, and part in Meath, but is to be reckon'd of neither, being a County distinct and incorporate of it self; And that all the said Monasterys are Situate in that part of the City beyond the Bridge, which heretofore belonged to the County of Louth, except the Hospitals of S. John Baptist and S. Marys of Mount-Cormel, which standing on this side of the Bridge, belonged heretofore to Meath. The Town has its Name from from a Bridge, and a Ford; For the Irish call a Bridge Droched, and a Ford Ab.

Atherdee, or de Atrio Dei, a Priory of S. John Baptist.

The Order of Cross-bearers of the Rule of S. Augustin, Founded by Roger Pipard Lord of the place, about the year 1207.

built to St Marys, of Atherdee.

The Order of Carmelits, Founded by Ralph Pipard in the Reign of Edward I.

Carlingford.

Of the Order of Predicants. The Earls of Ulster were Patrons of the place.

Dundalk.

On the East-side of the Town was an Abby of Minorits Founded by John de Verdon under Henry III. The Eastern Window whereof, for the Excellency of the Work, was heretofore much admired in Ireland.

St. Leonards near Dundalk.

The Order of Cross-bearers of the Rule of S. Augustin, Founded by Bertram de Verdon, Lord of the place in the time of Henry II. The Town was famous for the Birth of Richard Fitz-Ralph, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, who was from thence call'd S. Richard of Dundalk.

Kilsaran.

This Seat first belonged to the Knights Templars, by Donation of Maud de Lacy, but was afterward given to the Knights of the Hospital in the Reign of Edward II.

St. Mary Abby of Louth.

The Abby of S. Mary in Louth was Founded by S. Moete, first Bishop of the place, in the life time of S. Patrick, says the writer of his life, publish'd by John Colgan in the year 1645; how long that Abby continued I do not find: but Donogh O-Carol, King of Ergall, and Edan O-Kelly, Bishop of Clogher, Founded an Abby of Regular Canons at Louth in the year 1148, where Edan was buried in the year 1182, having been Bishop of Clogher about 42 years.

Knock near Louth, or the Abby of the Mount of the Apostles Peter and Paul.

An Abby of Augustin Canons Founded by Donogh O-Carol, and afterward indowed by Edan O-Kelly, as appears in the Register of Clogher. The place was heretofore called Knock-na-sen-gan, or the Hill of Pismires.

Mellifont.

The famous Abby of Mellifont, of the Order of Cistercians (from whence many Abbys in Ireland of the same Order were peopled) was Founded by Donogh O-Caroll, King of Ergall, or Ulriel, in the year 1142, it was supply'd with Monks by S. Bernard from his Abby of Clarevaux in France, and their Abbot was Christian O-Conarchy afterward Bishop of Lismore. In that Church were many Sepulchers of Bishops, and others, but the most Memorable were those of Donogh the Founder, Thomas O-Conner, and Luca.

Luke Nettervil, Arch-Bishops of Armagh. The Situation of the place is very like that of Clarevaux.

Nunery of S. Mary of Termon-Fechan.

Of the Order of S. Augustin. The Possessions of it were confirm'd by Pope Celestin on the 4 of the Kal. of March, 1195, but how long before it was Founded, I do not find.

ULSTER PROVINCE.

County of Armagh.

Abby of S. Peter and S. Paul in Armagh.

THe first Founder, 'tis thought, was S. Patrick, the second Imarus O-Hedagain, Master of Malachias O-Morgair afterward Arch-Bishop of Armagh. The Canons were of the Order of S. Augustin.

and Priory in Armagh.

A Convent of Minorits was there Founded by Patrick O-Scanlain Arch-Bishop of Armagh, in the year 1263 or 1264.

Two Nuneries in Armagh.

There were likewise two little Nunerys built here, the one called the Temple of S. Bridget, the other Temple-na-ferta, or the Temple of Wonders, wherein S. Lupita Sister to S. Patrick was buried. Of the first Founder I find no certainty: but Jocelin in the life of S. Patrick cap 165 says, they were Founded by S. Patrick.

Nunery of Kilsleve-cuilin.

Founded by Darerca, called also Moninne, where she was Abess, and died July the 6th, in the year 518.

County Down.

Priory of Dundaleth-Glas and the Cathedral of S. Patrick in Down.

IN this Priory, John de Courcy conqueror of Ulster, turning out the secular Canons, placed in their stead Benedictin Monks from the Abby of S. Werburg of Chester in the year 1183; among whom William de Eteshall was chosen first Prior of the place; and at the same time, by perswasion of Courcy, the Cathedral, tho before consecrated to the B. Trinity, was now dedicated to S. Patrick. Malachias the 3d. Bishop of Down of that name, bestowed large Revenues on these Monks, reserving to himself the Title of Guardian and Abbot, as is the Custom (So says the Charter) in the Church of Winchester or Coventry. Reserving likewise for the Honour of his Bishoprick, half the Offering on these five Festival days days of the year, and no more, viz. Christmas-day, The purification of our B. Lady, S. Patrick, Easter-day and Whitsunday.

English Priory of S. John Baptist in Down.

Of the Order of Cross-bearers under the Rule of S. Augustin, Founded by John de Courcy.

Irish Priory of S. John Baptist in Down.

Augustin Canons Founded by Malachias O-Morgair in the year 1138.

Nunery in Down.

Of the Cistercian Order.

Friery in Down.

Hugh de Lacy Earl of Ulster Founded a Convent of Minorits about the year 1240. He obtain'd the Dignity of Earl from King John with the ceremony of Girding with the sword. As appears by the Records of the Tower of London.

Black-Priory of S. Andrew in the Territory of Ards.

The said Hugh de Lacy made it the Cell of the Abby of Lonley in France about the year 1218, and Supplied it with Benedictin Monks. But the first founder of this Abby was John de Courcy, who in the Charter of Foundation calls it the Abby of S. Andrew de Steokes, and Indowed it with ten Carucats of Land with all the appurtenances, in the Land Del Art, namely in the Land of mac Colloqua, &c. This Abby was afterward annexed to the Arch-Bishoprick of Armagh under Edward III. Richard Fitz-Ralph Arch-Bishop of that See paying to the Abbot and Convent of Lonley 200 pounds Sterling for Confirmation. Yet some think, it was not united to the Arch-Bishoprick till the Reign of King Richard while Colton was Arch-Bishop.

Priory of S. John Baptist in the Territory of Ards.

Founded for Knights of the Hospital by the said Hugh-de Lacy.

Friery of Ardincnife.

Of the Order of Minorits.

Bangor, or the Vale of Angels.

S. Congall Founded an Abby of Regular Canons there in the year 555, where he was Abbot. It was afterward half Ruin'd by the Danes, and Restored by Malachias O-Morgair before he was Bishop, in the year 1120. It has its Name from the Fair Choir; It is Situate in the Territory which was heretofore called (as we find in the life of S. Congall) the Hight of Ulster near the Eastern Sea, now commonly called the Ards.

S. Mary Abby of Comeror or Comber.

It was Founded in the year 1199, and supply'd with Cistercian Monks from the Abby de Alba Landa.

Friery of Holy-wood.

Of the Third Order of S. Francis.

S. Mary Abby of Inis.

Founded by John de Courcy in the year 1188 or 1180, and indowed with the Revenues of the Abby of Carig (by him demolish'd) and supply'd with Cistercian Monks from the Abby of Furness.

turnefs in Lancashire. Inis both among the Britains and Irish, signifies an Island.

Leigh or de Jugo Dei, Abby of S. Mary or Grey-Abby.

Founded by Africa, wife of John de Courcy, and Daughter of Godred King of Man, 8 Kal September 1193, and supply'd with Cistercian Monks from the Abby of Holmcultrai in Cumberland. In this Abby, Africa the Foundress was Buried, as we find in the Chronicle of Man.

Movilla or Maigeville, Abby of S. Finian.

Founded by S. Finian for Augustin Canons, about the year 550. John Colgan, a Man learned and industrious, affirms in his Acts of the Irish Saints, that he was the same with Fridian Bishop of Luca in Italy.

Priory of Neddram.

Founded for Benedictins by John de Courcy in the year 1183, and made the Cell of the Abby of S. Bega in Cumberland.

Newry or de Viridi Ligno Abby of S. Mary and S. Patrick.

An Abby of Cistercians Founded by Maurice Mac. Loghlin, King of Ireland, as we find in the Charter of Foundation. The Chronologers of the Cistercian Order say it was Founded in the year 1153, viz. Five years after the death of Malachias, Bishop of Down, whom some not rightly make the Founder. The Indowments were Confirm'd by Hugh de Lacy, Earl of Ulster, in the year 1237.

Friery of Newton.

A Convent of Preaching Friers was there introduced in the year 1244, and Chapters of the same Order were there held in the years 1298, and 1312. It is situate in the Territory of Ardes, near the Sea.

Saballum, commonly called Saul.

An Abby of Regular Canons founded by St. Patrick, who made St. Duny Abbot of it, and built the Church, not after the usual manner, East and West, but North and South. It was repair'd by Malachias O-Morgair, Bishop of Down, and is situate in that part of this Country, which is called Lecall.

County of Antrim,

Anciently called Andrum.

Carrigfergus, or Knockfergus.

A Convent of Minorits founded by Hugh de Lacy, Earl of Ulster, about the year 1232: in their Church the Earl was Buried in the year 1242. The Friers Minors of the Observance were here introduced in the year 1497.

Good-born, or Wood-born, Priory of the Holy-Cross.

Of the Order of Premonstratenses. This Priory had its beginning from the Abby of Drieboire in Scotland, and it seems, was built by the Scots; and it appears, that Alanus de Galwia, Duncan de Carrig, and and other Noblemen of Scotland, had Lands given them here by King Henry III. It is not far from Carrigfergus, or the Rock of Fergus.

Friery of Inver.

There, and also at Bunamargy, Masserin and Limbeg, little Monasterys of the 3d Order of St. Francis, were built in the 15th Century.

Kells, or Disert, the Priory of St. Mary.

Regular Canons of the Order of St. Augustin.

Muckmor, Priory of St. Mary, and St. Colmanel.

A Priory of Regular Canons founded by S. Colmanel about the year 580. It was indowed after the coming of the English by William Mataland, Stephen de Sandall, and Gilbert de Croft, as I find in the Register of the place. Of this Monastery and S. Colmanel the founder, see the Prophecy of S. Patrick, in Jocelin cap. 96.

County of London-derry.

Derry or Londonderry, anciently Daire-calgac.

AN Abby of Regular Canons founded by S. Columb in the year 545. It was heretofore called the Black Cell, and was the filial place of the Abby of S. Peter and S. Paul in Armagh, as appears in the Register of John Bole some time Archbishop of Armagh.

Friery in Derry.

A Convent assign'd to the Preaching Friers in the year 1274. Situate on the North-side of the City.

Nunery in Derry.

The Register of the Honours of Richmond shews that the Abby de Dere in Ireland was built in 1218. It was either the same with this Nunery, or with the Abby of Moycoscan, of which hereafter.

Friery near Colfane.

The Dominicans were first seated there in the year 1274, by the River Ban, from whence, in an ancient Catalogue of the Abbys of this Order, it is called the Convent of Bannin.

Priory of Dungevin.

The Ulster Annals say that Paul O Murey, Prior of the Monastery of Regular Canons of Dungevin, dyed in the year 1215. But what time it was built, I do not find.

Moycoscain, or de Claro fonte, Abby of S. Mary.

An ancient Catalogue of the Cistercian Abbys of Ireland, says that the Abby of Clarifont was founded in the year 1218. The Register of Richmond says in 1223.

County

County of Donegall.

Friery of Donegall.

OF the Order of Minorits of the Observance. Founded by Odo, Sir-named Rufus O-Donell, in the year 1473. This Convent was heretofore famous for a well-stored Library.

Ashro, or Esarua, Abby of St. Mary.

This Monastery was founded and supply'd with Cistercian Monks in the year 1179, or as others, in 1184, by Roderick O Cananan, King of Tirconal, who was kill'd by his Successor O Flachertach, in the year 1188. Some say it was founded by that O Flachertach. It is situate not far from the mouth of the River Ern, called by Ptolomy, Ravius; by Girald Cambrensis, Samarius.

Kilmacrenan.

A little Convent of Minorits founded by O-Donel. Of the same Order likewise were the Convents of Bellaghan and Bally-mac-suine near the Castle of Doe, whereof the last was founded by Mac-Suine.

Magheri-beg, or the little Plain.

A Monastery was there built for Friars of the Order of St. Francis, by O Donel. Of which Order likewise were the little Convents of Calebeg, Kil-O Donel and Fanegarah.

Rathmullian.

A little Convent was there built for Friars of the Order of St. Mary of Mount-Carmel, by Mac Suine-Fanagh.

County of Tirone.

Clogher, Abby of St. Mary.

S*Macartin*, Bishop of Clogher, by Command of St. Patrick, built a Monastery there for Regular Canons, of the Order of St. Augustin, in the Street before the Royal Seat of Ergall. As we find in the Register of Patrick Culin, an Augustin Hermit, Bishop of Clogher, under Hen. VIII.

Dunganon.

On the South-side of the Town of Dunganon, stands a little Convent of Friers, of the 3d Order of St. Francis, founded by Con O-Neal, in the Reign of Hen. VII. For which Order, at several times, were likewise built in the same County, the Convents of Balline-jagart, Corock, Gervagh-Kerin, Puble and Omey.

County of Fermanagh.

Priory of St. Mary of Dam-inis, commonly Devenish.

S Lagerian, called likewise Molasse, Abbot and Founder of the Priory of Dam-inis in Logh-Ern, died there 12 Septemb. 571. It is said that he Instituted a particular Rule; but 'tis certain that his Successors took the Rule of St. Augustin. In the Interpolations of the Annals of Ulster, in the year 1130, we read thus, This year was founded the Monastery of Dam-inis. The Author means either the repairing of this, or the founding of another Priory in the same Island, which was of the Colidei, or Secular Priests; of which Order, see what we have said, Cap. 17.

St. Mary Abby of Lisgavail, commonly Lisgool.

Regular Canons, founded (as we find in the foresaid Interpolations) in the year 1106. It is situate by Logh-Ern.

Friery of Lisgavail.

Of the Order of St. Francis, founded in the year 1530.

Priory in the Island of St. Dabeoc, or Avog, in Logh-derg.

This House of Augustin Canons, in the Register of John Bole, some time Arch-Bishop of Armagh, is called The Filial Place of the Monastery of the Apostles, Peter and Paul of Armagh. It is said to be founded by St. Dabeoc in the life-time of St. Patrick. Others say that St. Patrick himself was the Founder. The Prior of the place was heretofore called the Prior of St. Patrick's Purgatory; but the Cave it self, that bears the name of St. Patrick's Purgatory, the finding whereof, is by some ascrib'd to Patrick, the Abbot, who flourish'd in the year 850, by others, to St. Patrick, is situate in another Island of the same Logh, where usually some Canon of the Priory of St. Duobec resided, for the service of the Church and Pilgrims. Of this Cave, strange and incredible things are related. It was demolish'd, as a fictitious thing, on St. Patrick's Day, in the year 1497, by authority of Pope Alexander VI, by the Guardian of the House of Minorits of Donegall and others, says the Author of the Ulster Annals, who then lived. Yet it was afterward restored, and frequently visited by Pilgrims. Some ridiculously imagine that Ulysses first made this Den, when he discours'd the Shades below. And I am inclin'd to believe, that Ulysses, as it is historically related, or poetically feign'd by Homer, was in Ireland, one of the British Islands, or in Britain it self. This Circe implys, in her Instructions to Ulysses (in Homer) in his Voyage to Hell, where she tells him what Wind would be happy, and what Course he ought to Steer at Sea; and to this belongs that of Claudian in Rufin, Lib. 1.

Est locus extremum pandit qua Gallia litus,

Oceani prætentus aquis, quò fertur Ulysses

Sanguine libato populum movisse silentum.

Vili Illic Umbrarum tenui stridore volantum

C c

Flebilis

*Flebilis auditor questus, Simulacra coloni
 Pallida, defunctasque vident migrare figuras.
 Hinc Dea prosiluit, Phæbique egressa serenos
 Infecit radios, ululatuque æthera rupit
 Terrifico, sensit ferale Britannia murmur,
 Et Senonum quatit arva fragor, revolutaque Tethys Substitit, & Rhœnus projecta torpuit unda.*

To which we add the Tetraſtich of John Garland, Lib. 3, de Triumphis Ecclesiæ, where speaking of John, King of England, he says thus,

*Evertit nemora variis Hibernica bellis,
 Ad Stygis introitus Patriciique lacus.
 Purgant (ut dicunt) hic Purgatoria vivos,
 Si sint constanti pectora fixa fide.*

The MS. is extant in Cotton's Library. But not to enlarge further in this Discourse, take a view of the Island of St. Patrick's Purgatory, with some additional Notes, in Fig 10.

It is to be noted, that the Circles there mention'd, commonly call'd Beds, inclos'd with stone-walls scarce three foot high, were the places where Pilgrims perform'd their Penance. As to the Cave it self, it was built of Free-stone, and cover'd with broad flags, and green turf laid over them. The door being shut, there is no light but what enters at a little Window in the corner. It is in length within the walls 16 foot and a half, and in breadth 2 and an inch. And as the Cave is small, so likewise is the Island; which (as we have before said, Chap. X) is scarce three quarters of an Irish Acre. The Church of this Island was heretofore called Regles, says the History of Forval, Henry Knighton, and others. But whether it were so called from the Reliques that were there preserv'd, or because it was inhabited by Regular Canons, let others inquire.

County of Monaghan.

Friery of Monaghan.
Founded for Friars Minorits, by Felim-Mac-Mabon, in the year 1462.

Cluan-eois, commonly Clunes, Abby of St. Peter and Paul.
 Of the Order of Augustin Canons, St. Tigernac, Bishop and Founder thereof, died in the year 550.

County

County of Cavan.

Friery of Cavan.

Gelasius Rufus O'Rely Founded a Convent of Minorits there in the year 1300. This place John Clyn calls Brefnia, it was given to the Minorits of the Observance in the year 1502.

Priory of S. Mary of Drumlahan.

Of the Order of Augustin Canons, it was Founded, or at least rebuilt by S. Edan commonly call'd Maidoc, Arch-Bishop of Ferns, about the end of the 6th Century. It was at last subjected to S. Mary Abby of Kenlis in Meath.

Trinity Abby in the Island of Lough-oughter.

Canons of the Order of the Premonstratenses, Founded in the year 1249, by Clarus Mac-Mailin, some time Arch-Deacon of Elphin, and Indowed by Charles O'Rely. Either this, or S. Mary Abby of Ballimore (of which we have spoken before in West-Meath) is the same with that which Johnle Paige calls Monasterium Ballimenuualense in the Province of Armagh.

Bibliothec. Ordin. Præmonst. edit. Par. 1633

MUNSTER PROVINCE.

County of Waterford.

Priory of S. Catherine near Waterford.

IT was indowed by Elias, Son of a Norman, and the possessions were confirm'd by Pope Innocent III. In the year 1210, the Canons of this House were of the Victorian Order, and it is thought to have been Founded by the Danes.

Priory of S. John the Evangelist near Waterford.

Founded by John Earl of Moreton, afterward King of England, who supply'd it with Benedictine Monks and made it a Cell of the Abby of S. Peter and Paul in Bath in England. This House he calls in his Charter, The House of his Charity. Among the Chief Benefactors, is reckon'd Peter de Fonte.

Friery of Waterford.

The Friers Preachers were here introduced in the year 1226, and Nine years after the Citizens Built them a Monastery.

Friery in Waterford.

Of the Order of Minorits, Founded by Sir Hugh Purcell about the year 1240, who was buried in the Church of the same Convent. See more in Luke Wadding.

Friery of Little Carig.

Founded for Minorits by James I, Earl of Ormond, in the year

1336

Annal. Minor. Tom. 1.

1336, The first Frier was admitted there on the Festival of the Apostles Peter and Paul, says John Clyn, who was the first Guardian of the Place.

Friery of Dungarvan.

Of the Order of Augustin Hermits. This Convent heretofore owned the Earls of Desmond as Patrons.

The Preceptorys of Kilbarry, Killure, Crook.

First belonging to the Knights Templars, afterwards to those of the Hospital.

Molanna, or the Island of S. Molanfid.

This Abby of Regular Canons, called heretofore Dar-inis, was Founded by S. Molanfid the first Abbot thereof, in the 6th Century. S. Fachnan Sirnamed Mongach, that is Hairy, because he was Born with Hair, was afterward Abbot there. See John Colgans Acts of the Irish Saints, on the 13th of March. In this Abby, they say, was buried Reymond le Gros, a man of great Name under Henry II, and one that labour'd much in the Conquest of Ireland.

Mothil, Abby of the Saints, Coan and Brogan.

Founded by S. Brogan, to whom, if I mistake not, succeeded S. Coan or Cuan in the 6th Century. Some, by what Authority I know not, say that this Abby afterward belonged the Cistercian Order, but I am of their opinion who think it belonged to the Augustines, till the very time of the Suppression under Henry VIII.

County Cork.

Abby of S. Barr, or Finbarr near Cork.

Founded for Regular Canons of the Order of S. Augustin, by Cormac King of Munster, or, as some say, of Desmond, about the year 1134, in honour of S. John Baptist. And it is, if I mistake not, the same which that, S. Bernard in the life of Malachius calls Monasterium Ibracense built by King Cormac. It was indowed by Dermot Son and successor of Cormac about the year 1173. This Abby, the former name being many years since Antiquated, is called Gille Abby, from Gill-Æda an Abbot of great Name there, and afterward Bishop of Cork, who died in the year 1173.

Friery near Cork.

The Dominicans seated themselves here in the year 1229, by Donation of Philip Barry, whose Effigies on Horse-back cast in Brass was heretofore Hung up in this Church, and preserv'd in Testimony of their Gratitude.

Friery near Cork.

Of the Order of Minorits, Founded by Philip Prindergast about the year 1240. Some think it was Founded by Maurice Prindergast, but they mistake.

Friery

Friery near Cork.

A Convent of Hermits of the Order of S. Augustin was here introduced, in the Reign of Edward I.

Priory of S. John the Evangelist near Cork,

Founded for Benedictins by John, Lord of Ireland and Earl of Moreton, who made it a Cell of the Abby of S. Peter and S. Paul in Bath in England.

Priory of Ballibeg near Butavant.

This Monastery William de Barry Founded for Augustin Canons. David his Son enlarged the Revenues in the year 1237.

Friery of Bantre.

Dermot Sullivan built a House there for Minorits near the Sea shore, about the year 1460.

Friery of Butavant.

This House of Minorits was Founded by David Barry Lord of the place, under Edward I. and he was there buried in the midst of the Choir. The Town was heretofore called Kilnemallagh.

Castle-lehan or Castle-lion.

John Barry Built a House of Minorits there in the year 1307.

S. Mary Abby of Chore.

Founded in the year 1180, and supply'd with Cistercian Monks from the Abby of Nenay or Magio in Limerick.

S. Mary Abby of Fermoy or de Castro Dei.

Founded in the year 1170, and supplied first with Cistercian Monks from the Abby of Sury, but it afterward receiv'd a new Colony from the Abby of Furness in Lancashire. It is Situate by the River Avenmore.

Priory of S. Mary in Ballindroghed.

Founded and Indowed by Alexander Fitz-Hugh, in the Reign of King John, as appears by the Charter of Foundation. He supply'd it with Canons from the Abby of S. Thomas in Dublin.

Friery of Glanore.

Of the Order of Preachers, Founded by the Family of the *Roche*s.

Friery of Inis-hircan.

An Island of the Sea in the Bay of Baltimore, two Miles distant from the shore, wherein Florence O-Driscol Founded a little Convent of Minorits of the Observance, in the year 1460. Some say it was Founded by Dermot O-Driscol in 1470. This Coast abounds with Pilchards, which are from thence in great plenty Transported into Spain.

Friery of Kilcre.

Cormac Son of Thady Mac-Garty Founded a Convent of Minorits there, in the year 1478, or as others in 1465, and was himself buried in that Church in 1494.

Friery of S. Mary at Kinsale.

Robert Son of Richard Belrain Founded a Convent of Carmelits there, in the Reign of Edward. III.

S. Mary Abby of Maur, or de Fonte Vivo.

Founded, as they say, by Dermot Mac-Cormac (of whom before) in the year 1172. And supply'd with Cistercians from the Abby of Baltinglass. Chriſtoſtom Henriquez reckons the Abby of Re in Ireland, among the Cistercian Abbys, I believe he means Inch-rie, which was afterward a Cell of the Abby of Maur.

D d in

Preceptory of S. John Baptiſt of Morn or Mora or Balline-mony.

Of the Order of Knights of the Hospital. Alexander de Sancta Helena was either Founder, or the first Benefactor, in the Reign of King John.

Priory of Rofs, or Rofs-Carbry:

Canons of the Order of S. Auguſtin. S. Fachan (before mention'd) was the first Abbot and Founder of a Monastery there, about the end of the 6th Century. The place was Antiently call'd Rofs-ailithri, and was in great esteem, as being an Antient seat of the Muses. It looks to the South Sea.

Friery of Temolagi.

A Convent of Minorits Founded by William Barry, in the Reign of Edw. II, or as some say, by the Cartys. It was Translated hither from Cregan, The Library, Belfry, Dormitory and Infirmary were built by Edmond Courcy Bishop of Rofs, who died the 10th of March 1518, and was buried in the Church of this Convent.

S. Mary Abby of Tracton.

Founded in the year 1224, and supply'd with Cistercians from the Abby de Alba Landa at Maridun in Wales, the Possessions were confirm'd by Edward III.

Friery near Youghall.

A Convent of Minorits Founded by Maurice Fitz-Girald on the South side of the Town about the year 1231. He died on the 8 of May 1257, having taken the habit of this Order, and was buried in the Church of this Convent. He is said to be the first that introduced this Order into Ireland.

Friery near Youghall.

The Friers Preachers seated themselves here in the year 1268, or according to Clyn 5 Kal. August 1271. And, they say, Thomas Fitz-Maurice was the Founder.

County of Limerick.

Priory of S. Mary and S. Edward in Limerick

Simon Minor, a Citizen of Limerick, Founded this Priory for Canons, if I mistake not, of the Order of S. Auguſtin, in the Reign of King John. The Prior of this Place had the first Voice in the Election of the Mayor of Limerick.

Friery in Limerick.

A Convent of Friers Preachers Founded by Donagh, Sirnamed Carbrac O-Brian in the years 1227, he was buried in the same Church in 1241.

Friery in Limerick.

A Convent of Minorits Founded by one of the Family of the Burks, Burks, in the Reign of Henry III. Here was buried Thomas de Clare of the Family of the Earls of Glovernia, in the year 1287, and his Son Richard in 1318.

S. Peters in Limerick.

Founded for Black Nuns of the Order of S. Augustin, by Donald O-Brian King of Limerick, about the time of the coming of the English.

Any, a Preceptory of S. John Baptist.

Founded for Knights of the Hospital, in the Reign of King John, by Geofry de Mariscis. Aneas O-Hernan the last Master of this place was design'd Bishop of Imelac by Henry VIII. in 1543.

Friery of Any.

Augustin Hermits Founded by John Fitz-Roberts and others, in the time of Edward II.

Friery of Athdare, or Adare.

This Abby was founded for Friers of the Order of the B. Trinity, for the Redemption of Christian Captives, in the Reign of Edw. I.

Athdare, a Friery of Augustin Hermits.

Founded by John Fitz Thomas, Earl of Kildare, under Edw. II.

Friery of Athdare.

Thomas, Earl of Kildare, and Joan his Wife, founded a Convent of Minorits, of the observance, in the year 1464, in the Reign of Edw. III. on the East-side of the Town.

Friery of Asketin.

Founded for Friers Minorits, by James, Earl of Desmond, in the year 1420, by the River Del, near his Castle of Asketin.

Friery of Ballinebraher.

Of the Order of St. Francis.

Friery of Ballinegall.

Of the Order of Predicants, founded, as they say, by the Family of the Roches.

Iniscatte, or Iniscathaig, an Island of the River Shenon.

Bishop Senan built a Monastery there of Regular Canons, about the end of the fifth Century. In the same Island likewise, was heretofore the Episcopal See, which after the coming of the English, was united to the See of Limerick, as we have said, Cap. 16. This Island did lately belong to Tuomond, or the County of Clare, but is now taken for part of Limerick.

Killoch, or Kilmallock.

The Friers Preachers seated themselves here in the year 1291.

Kilshane.

Of the Order of Minorits, or, as others, of the third Order of St. Francis.

Monaster-ne-Gallioch, St. Catharins.

A Nunery of the Order of St. Augustin, near the Lough, called Loghgir.

S. Mary Abby of Nenay, or de Magio.

Founded in the year 1148, 'tis thought, by O-Brian, and supply'd with Cistercians from the Abby of Mellifont. The Possessions were confirm'd by King John. To this Abby was annexed the Cell of Feal Feal near the River Feal, in the Borders of this County and that of Kerry.

Priory of S. Mary of Rathkel.

Of the Order of Canons of Aroaca.

S. Mary Abby of Woney or Wetheny.

Founded by Theobald Walter Butler of Ireland, a little before the end of the 12th Century, and supply'd with Cistercian Monks from the Abby of Savigniac in France. The Register of the Honour of Richmond says it was Founded 11. Kal. April 1205.

County of Tipperary.

S. Mary Abby near Cashel.

THIS Abby commonly called Hore Abby was Founded for Cistercians by David Mac-Garwil Arch-Bishop of Cashel, in the year 1272, who Indowed it with the Revenues of the Benedictins, whom he put out of the Abby of the Rock of Cashel Situate near the Cathedral of S. Patrick. The Hospital likewise built by David le Latimer for Leapers, he united to this Abby.

Friery of Cashel.

David Mac-Kelly Arch-Bishop of Cashel Founded a Convent of the Order of Predicants in the year 1243, which was rebuilt by John Cantwell Arch-Bishop likewise of Cashel, under Henry VI.

Friery of Cashel.

Of the Order of Minorits, commonly called Hackets-Abby, from the Founder William Hacket, in the Reign of Henry III.

Ardfinan.

Of the Order of S. Francis.

Athassel, Priory of S. Edmond, King and Martyr.

THIS Priory was Founded for Augustin Canons about the year 1200, by William de Burgo, of whose Posterity lyes buried there Walter de Burgo Earl of Ulster, and Richard Son of Walter, commonly called the Red Earl, the one in 1326, the other in 1271. The possessions of it were confirm'd by King John, 20 April 1205. Among those Priors Hubert de Burgo was famous, who was made Bishop of Limerick in 1223.

Cahir or Cahir-Dunesk, Priory of S. Mary.

Founded by Geofry de Camvil for Augustin Canons, in the Reign of King John.

Priory of S. John the Evangelist at Carrig.

Founded by William de Cantel and Dionisia his wife, Daughter of Thomas Fitz-Anthony, it was afterward subjected to the Hospital of S. Thomas de Acon at London, as we find in the Register of the said Hospital in Cottons Library, under the Effigies of Tiberius C. V.

Preceptory of Clonaul.

It was first the seat of the Templars, afterward of the Hospitalers.

Clonmel

Friery of Clonmel.

The Minorits seated themselves here in the year 1269. Some think Otho de Grandison was the Founder of this Convent, some say the Citizens, and others the Giraldins.

Abby of the Holy-Cross by the River Suire.

This Abby was Founded in Honour of the Holy-Cross for Cistercians, by Donald O-Brian King of Limerick, about the year 1169, or as others, in 1181. The possessions were confirm'd by John Lord of Ireland and Earl of Moreton, afterward King of England. This Abby was afterward in a General Chapter subjected by the Abbot of Clarevaux to the Abby of Furness in England.

Friery of Fetherd.

Walter Mulcot Founded a Convent there of Augustin Hermits, with the assent of Maurice Mac-Carwill Arch-Bishop of Cashel, in the year 1306.

Friery of Galbally.

Of the Order of Minorits, Founded by O-Brien in the Borders of this and the County of Limerick.

Inchinimeo, Priory of S. Hilary or S. Mary

The Prior and Convent of the place seated themselves at last at Corbally, not far from this Isle of the living. Girald Cambrensis says, that heretofore there was in this Island a Chapel where a few unmarried Person, whom they called Coelicolæ or Colidei, devoutly served God. But it was afterward a House of Regular Canons.

Topog. Hib.

Inislannaght, or de Surio, Abby of S. Mary.

The Book of the Statutes of the Order of Cistercians of Ireland, says that the Monastery de Surio was Founded in the year 1159. with which agrees an Antient Catalogue of the Abbys of that Order. Yet some think it was built long after by Donald O-Brian King of Limerick, and Indowed by him and Malachias O-Felan King of Deffe. But it seems more probable that those Monks came hither from some other House seated on the same River Suire, than that this was their first Seat: for in the life of S. Malachias, written by S. Bernard, who died in the year 1153. Mention is made of the Monastery de Surio. This Monastery receiv'd a new Colony of Monks from the Abby of Furness in Lancashire, in the year 1249.

S. Mary Abby of Kilcoul, daughter of Ieripont.

A Copy of a Charter of Henry III, by which he confirm'd the possessions of this Abby, says that Donald O Brien Founded it for Cistercians; perhaps he means that Donald above mention'd, who according to the Irish Annals, died in the year 1194. On the other side, the above mention'd Book of the Statutes of the Cistercians, says that it was Founded in the year 1200, Six years after the death of Donald, and the Register of Richmond says in 1209. How to determin herein, I know not. It may be suspected that by the neglect of the Transcriber, the Name of Donald crept in for Donagh his Son, who Flourish'd in the years 1200 and 1209.

Priory of Kilcumin, or the Cell of the Saints Philip and James, and S. Cumin.

Founded by Philip of Winchester, who made it a Cell of the Abby of Glaston in England, but loosing its Revenues it continued not.

Friery of Killinenallah.

A Convent of Minorits was here introduced, in the Reign of Henry VI.

Priory of S. Ruaden at Lurcho, or Lothra.

Of the Order of Augustin Canons, S. Ruaden the first Abbot and Founder thereof died in the year 584. Some say that his hand was preserv'd in a Silver Glove in the Cathedral of Canterbury, till the times of Henry VIII.

Friery of Lurcho.

Walter de Burgo, Earl of Ulster, Founded a Convent of Friers Preachers there, in the year 1269.

Nunery of Moylagh.

Black Nuns of the Order of S. Augustin.

Friery of Nenagh.

Of the Order of Minor, Founded in the Reign of Henry III. by the Kenedys, or as others think by the Butlers. A Provincial Chapter was there held, in the year 1344.

Priory or Hospital of S. John Baptist, near Nenagh.

Founded and indowed by Theobald Walter, Butler of Ireland, about the year 1200, for the maintenance of Augustin Canons and the sick that serv'd God there. From the Name of S. John, to whom it was dedicated, it was commonly called Teach-eon, or the House of John.

Friery of Roscrea.

Bibiana, Widow of Melron O Carol, Founded a Convent of Minorits there.

Thome, Priory of S. Donan, or S. Mary.

It was a Cell of the Priory of Canons of Hilary de Insula Viventium, where S. Donan was heretofore celebrated as Patron, perhaps he was Founder of the place.

Friery of Tipperary.

A Convent of Augustin Hermits was here introduced, in the Reign of Henry III.

Friery of Thurles.

A Convent of Friers of the Order of S. Mary of Mount Carmel was there Founded, as they say, by the Butlers.

County of Kerry.

Friery of Aghamore.

Of the Order of Augustin Canons.

Priery

Friery of Ardfer, or Ardart.

The Fitz-Maurices, Ancestors of the Baron of Kerry, founded a Convent there of the Order of Minors. They deduce their Original from Reynold le Gros.

Friery of Balli-ne-scelig.

Of the Order of Augustin Canons. In one of the Isles of Scelig (some miles distant from hence) was an ancient Abby dedicated to St. Michael the Arch-Angel, which is mention'd by Girald Cambrensis. Of the first Founder, I can say nothing, the Annals of the Abby of Inisfale say, that Flan Mac-Cellach, Abbot of Scelich, died in the year 885; but the Abby was afterward removed to a more commodious place, near the part of Balli-ne-scelig.

Topeg. Hib.
Dist. 2. Cap.
30.

Friery of Inisfallen, or Inisfathlen, in Logh-Lean.

Founded by St. Finian, Sir-named Leprous, after the middle of the 6th. Century. Of whom see Jo. Gogan in his Acts of the Irish Saints, the 16th of March. The Island abounds with the Arbut Tree, the Fruit whereof is commonly called by the Inhabitants The Cane Apple, but in Latin Unedo, because it is so unhealthful, that one is sufficient to be eaten at one time. So Hadrian Junius.

Irrialagh, near Logh-Lean. Friery of the H. Trinity.

Founded for Minorits, by Donald Son of Thady Mac-Carty, in the year 1440, and repair'd by him in 1468, the year of his death.

Killagh, Priory of St. Mary.

Of the Order of Regular Canons, founded by Geofry de Mariscis, under King John. It stands near the River Mang.

Friery of Lislaghtin.

John O-Conner founded a Convent of Minorits there, in the year 1478. The place has its name from St. Laetian, who died in the year 622.

Odorney, or Kirie-leyson, Daughter of Magio Abby.

This Abby had its beginning in the year 1154, and here was buried Christian, that famous Bishop of Lismore, in the year 1186, who retired hither, when, some time before his death, he resign'd his Sec.

Rathtoy; Abby of St. Peter and St. Paul.

It was first an Hospital dedicated to St. John Baptist, built by Frier William, and confirm'd by Meiler, Son of Meiler, in the Reign of King John. Afterwards an Abby of Regular Canons.

Friery of Traley.

John, Son of Thomas Giraldine, founded a Convent of the Order of Predicants there, in the year 1243. In the Church of this Convent, he and his Son Maurice, slain by Mac-Carty, were buried in the year 1261.

County Clare, heretofore Tuomond.

Clare, or Kilmony, Abby of St. Peter and Paul.

Donald O Brian, King of Limerick, built a Monastery there of Augustin Canons by the River Forgy, from whence it is sometimes called the Monastery de Forgio.

St. Mary Abby of Corcumro.

Founded by the foresaid Donald for Cistercian Monks, in the year 1194, or, as some say, by his Son Donagh Carbrac in 1200. It was a Daughter of the Abby of Suire, and was afterward subjected to the Abby of Furness in Lancashire in England. To this Abby was also annex'd the Cell of Kiljane.

Inif-cluan-ruada Friery.

It was very beautifully built by Donagh Carbrac O Brian, in the year 1240, for Minorits, by the River Forgy.

Inif-catte Priory.

Of the Original of this Convent, see what we have said in Limerick.

Inis-negananagh Priory.

Of the Order of Augustin Canons, founded or re-built by Donald O Brian King of Limerick. It is an Island of the River Shenon, which is here very large.

Kil-Oen, Nunery of St. John Baptist.

The same Donald founded a Nunery there of the Order of St Augustin.

Friery of Quinchy.

This Convent of Friers Minors was founded by Macon Mac-Nemarra, in the year 1433.

CONAUGHT PROVINCE.

County of Galway.

Friery near Galway.

Founded by William de Burgo for Minorits, in the year 1296, in the Isle of St. Stephen without the Walls of the City. In the Church of this Convent, under one and the same Marble, lye buried two Arch-Bishops of Tuam, Maurice de Portu, eminent for his Learning, and his Successor Thomas Laley, both of the same Order.

Friery near Galway.

Of the Order of Predicants, Daughter of the Convent of Athenry. The place is said to have been granted by the Canons of the Order of the Præmonstratenses of Tuam.

Friery

Friery near Galway.

This Convent of Augustin Hermits was founded by the Citizens of Galway. Nicholas Crusenius calls it, not rightly, Conventus Calvinienfis. But he is more mistaken in the rest of the Augustin Convents of this Province, as shall appear when we treat of the Convent of Ardnare.

Monast. Aug.
gust. edit.
162.

Aghrim, or Eachraim, Priory of S. Catharine.

Of the antiquity of this Convent I can affirm nothing certain, Some think it was founded by the Butlers, but how truly, I know not. It was of the Order of S. Augustin.

Aran, or Arna-nemb.

This Island which lyes in the Sea between Conaght and Munster, did heretofore belong to Munster, but it is now taken for part of Galway. Here S. Endeus, about the year 480, built a Monastery of Regular Canons, the Island being granted by Engusa King of Munster, Son of Nathfraic.

Friery of Athenry.

Miler de Bermingham, Lord of the place, founded a Convent of Predicants there, in the year 1241. he dyed in Munster not far from Cassel, from whence his Body was convey'd to Athenry, and buried in the Church of the said Friers. In the same Church are several other Sepulchers of the Bps. of Killmacough and others, but the most memorable is that of William Bermingham Son of the said Miler, fix'd in the wall on the North side of the Altar.

Friery of Ballinehinch.

A Convent of the Order (if I mistake not) of Carmelits, was there founded by the Flaghartiys.

Friery of Clare, or Clareyndoul.

Founded with great Cost by John de Cogan, about the year 1290, Four Miles from Galway.

S. Mary Abby of Clonfert by the Shenon.

Founded by S. Brendan the Abbot, Son of Finloga, in the year 118. In this and other Monasterys which he founded, he is said to have governed 3000 Monks, who maintained themselves by the labour of their own hands. He instituted a particular Rule, tho' his Successors followed the Rule of S. Augustin.

Friery of Clonkeen-Kerril.

Thomas O-Kelly Bp. of Clonfert, and afterward Archbishop of Tuam, granted the Parish Church there to the Friers of the 3d. order of S. Francis, at the request of David and John Mulkerril, Professors of that Order, about the year 1435. Eugenius IV. confirmed the Donation, in the year 1441. for this Order were likewise afterward built the Monasterys of Coulevernoge, Templemoyle, Killtullagh, and Beagh.

Clontuuskirt.

Of the Order of Augustin Canons. The Ulster Annals say, that Boadan Cloantuaiscert dyed in the year 808. He was Abbot and (I think) founder of this Abby.

Friery of Crevabane.

Of the Order, I think, of Carmelites.

Dunmore.

A Convent of Augustin Hermits founded by the Berminghams, Lords of Athenry.

Enaghdune, or Enaghcoin.

S. Brendan founded a Nunery there, and made his Sister Briga Abbess of it. Pope Celestin III. Confirmed the Church there, and the Town of Kelgel, to the Nuns of the Order of Aroaca, in the year 1195. It is Situate near Logh-Curb.

S. Mary Abby of Enaghdune.

This Abby perhaps is the same with that of the Order of the Premonstratenses, which John le Paige calls the Monastery of Kilvainena, Daughter of that Tuam, in the Diocese of Enechtun.

Kaltragh-ne-Pallice.

Of the Order of S. Mary of Mount Carmel.

Kilbought.

Founded by the Family of the Waleys, some say the Friars of the 3d Order of St. Francis seated themselves there.

Kilconnel.

Founded for Minorits by William Kelly in 1414.

Friery of Kilcarbain.

Thomas de Burgo Bishop of Clonsfert, with consent of his Chapter, granted to the Friars of the 3d Order of St. Dominick, the Chappel of St. Mary de Kilcarbain, at the request of John fitz Rery and the Fraternity of the said Order, which was confirmed by Pope Eugenius IV. in 1444.

Kilcreunata.

Founded for Benedictine Nuns, by Charles O Conner, from his red hand commonly called Crouderg, about the Year 1200. To this Nunery were afterward annexed the Cells of Inchmean and Ardcarn, this situate in the County of Roscomon, that in Mayo.

Kil-mac-duac.

Of the Order of Regular Canons, some ascribe the Original to S. Colman Son of Duac, first Bishop of Kilmacough, in the 6th Century. Others to one Maurice Bp. of the same See. It is situate near a Lough, that in the Summer time sucks up its Waters, and in the Winter pours them forth, which Whirl-pools are dangerous to Passengers, who in the Summer take the shortest way.

Kinalekin, Preceptory of S. Jo. Baptist.

Of the Order of Knights Hospitalers.

Friery of Kinalekin.

Of the Order of Minorits.

Abby of Knock-moy.

Founded by the foresaid Charles Crouderg, for Cistercian Monks, in the year 1189. in memory of a Victory which he there obtain'd. He dyed V. Kal. June 1224. and was buryed in this Convent, where he had also taken the Cistercian habit. To this Convent was afterward annexed the Cell of Cleary in an Island of the same name in Mayo.

Friery of S. Mary at Lough-reogh.

Founded for Carmelits by Richard de Burgo Earl of Ulster, about the year 1300. Friery Friery of Milick.

Of the Order of Minorits founded by O Madden on the banks of the river Shenon, the floods whereof surround it in the Winter.

Monaster-O-Gormogan.

Of the Order of Augustin Canons, founded by some one of the family of the O-Gormogans.

Friery of Portumna.

A Convent of Dominicans founded by O-Madden on the banks of the Shenon.

Friery of Rosserelly.

Some of the family of the Gannards built a Convent there of Minorits of the Observance, in the Year 1498.

Friery of Slewshancogh.

Of the Order of Minorits.

Friery of Tea-Saffon near Athenry.

A little Convent of Friars of the 3d Order of St. Francis, was there founded in the Reign of Hen. VII. Tea-Saffon, that is, The House of the Saxons (so the Irish call the English) is of British Original, Tui in British denotes a House, so they call Menevia, Tuy Dewi, the House of David, from S. David, who Translated the Episcopal See from Isca Legionis, thither.

Trinity Abby in Tuam.

Aubertus Miræus in his Chronicle of the Order of the Præmonstratenses calls Trinity Abby of the Diocese of Tuam, the Daughter of Steinfeld in Podolia, and says, not rightly, that it was afterward made a Cathedral Church. John de Paige in his Bibliotheca of the same Order, calls it the Daughter of that Abby of the Præmonstratenses. Christian O-Lachnan Abbot of the place was shipwrack'd in the Irish Sea, in the year 1251. The Abby seems to have been founded about the end of King John, or the beginning of Hen. III.

Priory of S. John Baptist in Tuam.

Founded by Tirdelvac O-Conner King of Ireland, about the year 1140. Of the Order I find nothing.

County of Mayo.

Mayo

S Colman Bp. of Lindisfarn, having resign'd his See, return'd into Ireland in the year 665. where he placed English Men (among whom S. Gerald) in the Monastery of Mayo, whereof he was founder, from whence the place is called Magio-na-Saffon. The Canons of this Monastery were of the Order of S. Augustin.

The Cell of Anagh.

Walter, Son of Thomas de Burgo founded a Cell there, but of what Order doth not appear. Some think it was of the Order of S. Francis, others of the order of Augustin, and that it was a Cell of the Abby of Cong. With these I agree.

Friery

Friery of Balinrobe.

Of the Order of Augustin Hermits. The Register of the Monastery of Predicants of Athenry, in the year 1337, mentions the Convent of Robe, but when or by whom founded, is not said. Of the same Order were the Convents of Belahaunes and Boriscarra, of which I find nothing, but that one of the family of the Nangles was founder of the Convent of Belahaunes.

Friery of S. Marys of Ballinsmale.

A Convent of the Order of Carmelites founded by one of the family of the Prendergasts.

Trinity Abby of Ballintobber, or de Fonte.

Founded and Indowed by Charles O-Conner surnamed Crouderg, who suppli'd it with Regular Canons of the Order of S. Augustin, over whom he placed as Abbot, Briectius Imakin, in the Year 1216. Of this Abby the Priory de Cross was a Cell and Off-spring, of which the Register of Ballintobber says thus, It is to be noted that the Abbot de Fonte causes the Prior to be Created in the Filial Church called Cross, in the Cantred of Iris: At whose Creation, the Filial Church, after the Reception of the Rosary, is obliged to pay to the Mother Church de Fonte 20 shillings and 12 pence, and every year after, 3 Ounces.

Friery of Boghmoynen.

Of the 3d Order of S. Francis.

Friery of Borisoole.

A little Convent of Predicants founded by the Family of the Butlers.

S. Marys Abby of Cong.

An Abby of Augustin Canons, founded by Donald Son of Æd. or Hugh, Nephew of Amirach, King of Ireland, in the Year 624 near lough Curb. S. Fechin they say was sometime Abbot there.

S. Marys Cell of Cross.

Of this Cell, see what is aforesaid, of the Abby of Ballintobber.

Friery of Moyen.

Founded by Nehemius O-Donachon of the Order of Minors of the Observance, in the Year 1460; Of which Order he was afterwards Vicar Provincial in Ireland. It is situate by the River Moy, in Adammanus, called Moda, in Giral. Cambrensis, Moadus.

Friery of Murisk.

Of the Order of Augustin Hermits, founded at the foot of the Mountain commonly called Cruach-Patric (in Jocelin Cruachan-aigle) by the Family of the O-Malys. Cruc in British signifies a Hill or Mountain, and the same is denoted here by Cruac.

Friery of Orlare.

Founded, they say, by one of the Family of the Nangles. It was of the Order of Predicants.

Friery of Rathbran near the Sea.

The Friers Preachers first seated themselves here, in the Year 1274. as appears by the Chronicle of that Order. Some say it was founded by the Family of the Exons.

Friery of Rosserick.

Of the 3d Order of S. Francis.

Friery

Friery of Strade near Athlethan.

Jordan of Exon Lord of Athlethan, or (as some say) Son of Jordan, at the request of Basilis his Wife Daughter of Miler de Bermingham, gave this place to the Friers Preachers, where before inhabited the Friers Minors, as we find in the Register of the Convent of Predicants of Athenry. The Dominicans first seated themselves here in the Year 1252, says the Chronicle of that Order. From this English Family of the Jordans Exonia, which was heretofore of great esteem in those parts, many are at this day, after the Irish way, called Mac-Jordan.

County of Roscoman.

Abby of S. Coman in Roscomman.

AS this Abby of Regular Canons, so also the Town it self derives its Name and Original from S. Coman, who flourish'd in the Year 550. Edward I. King of England, exchang'd with the Prior and Convent of S. Coman the Land of Rathbrenin for Lisnenerny, &c. in the Year 1282.

Friery of Roscoman.

Felim or Fedlimid O-Conner founded a Convent of Predicants there, in the Year 1253. and was buried in the Church of the same Convent in 1265. To this Convent certain Cells of the same Order were Annexed. Some say also that the Minorits seated themselves at Roscoman in 1269. This Town was Fortified with a Castle by Robert de Ufford Lord Justice of Ireland, at the charge of Hen. VII. King of England.

S. Peters of Athlone.

In that part of Athlone which is thought to belong to the County of Roscoman, stands an Abby Dedicated to S. Peter, or as some say, to S. Peter and S. Benediēt, which in the Table of Procurations of the Church of Elphin, is called the Monastery de Innocentia, it was either of the Order of Benediētins or Cistercians, but I think of the latter. The Castle of Athlone was built upon the Monks Land, under King John, therefore the King granted them the Tythes of the Charges of the Castle, in the Year 1214. as we find in the Records of the Tower of London.

Friery of Bealaneny.

Of the Order of Minorits.

S. Mary Abby of Boyl.

Of the Order of Cistercians. The first Habitation assign'd to the Monks of Boyl, was at Grellechdin in the Year 1148, where their first Abbot was Peter O-Morda, who was soon after Bishop of Clonfert, and was at last drown'd in the River Shenan in 1171. Edan O-Maccain the second Abbot Translated the Convent to Dromconaid and his Successor Maurice O-Dubhai after two years continuance at Dromconaid, removed the Monks first to Buinsiny, and two years and six Months after to Boyl, according to the Annals of Conaght, in 1161, according to others in 1151. and there died in 1174. Many of his Successors were made Bishops, but that is beside my purpose.

Friery of Clonrahan.

They say it was founded for Friers of the 3d Order of S. Francis, by O-Conner Roe, about the time of Hen. VII.

Friery of Clonshanvil.

Founded for Dominicans by Mac-Dermot Roe.

Abby of Clontuoskirt, or Clontuoskirt-natin.

This Abby of Augustin Canons was founded by S. Faithlec. It is situate not far from the River Shenon, in the Barony of Ballintobber.

Priory of Dorhan.

The Augustin Canons first seated there, were brought from the Abby of Roscoman. The place was granted them by the O-Conners.

Friery of S. Patrick of Elphin.

Cornelius, Bp. of Elphin, granted the Parish Church of St. Patrick there to the Friers Minors, before the Year of our Lord 1450.

Friery of Inchemacnerin.

This Island is situate in a Lough called Loughke, which receives the River Buelly. There was heretofore founded a Monastery of Regular Canons, perhaps the same with that which the Writer of the life of S. Colum' calls Eas-mac-neirc, at the mouth of the River Buelly, where the said Colum built a Monastery, and made Dochonn, or Mochonn, Abbot thereof. But of this let others enquire. This Abby is a Mile distant from the Abby of Buelly.

Inchmore in Logh-Rie.

Of the Order of Augustin Canons, founded perhaps by S. Liberius Son of Loffenus, whose Memory is there Celebrated.

Priory of S. Mary of Kilmore.

Con O-Flanagan was the first Founder and Prior thereof, in the Year 1232. He govern'd it till 1249, when he dyed. It was a Priory of Augustin Canons, situate by the River Shenon.

Nunery of Kilaragh.

This Nunery is the same (if I mistake not) with that which S. Patrick is said to have founded and given to the Virgin S. Athraet.

Friery of Knocvicar.

Randon, or Teacon, commonly called S. Johns.

It belonged to the Knights of the Hospital, or as some say, to the Cross-bearers, and it was founded in the Reign of King John, and as some say by his Command. Philip Nangle was a great Benefactor to it, under Hen. III. It is situate by the River Shenon in the Barony of Athlone. Heretofore a Town and a strong Castle was built there, whereof the Carcass is now only remaining. So true is that of Rutilius.

Non indignemur mortalia corpora solvi, Cernimus exemplis Oppida posse mori.

Trinity Abby in the Island of Loughke.

An Abby was there built for Canons of the Order of the Premonstratenses (commonly called the white Canons) by Clare Mac-Mailin Arch-Deacon of Elphin, about the year 1215. He dyed the day before Whitsunday in 1251, and was buried in the Church of the same Abby, as we find in the Annals of Conaght.

Friery of Tuilsk.

This Convent, they say, was founded by the Family of the O'Donnells, some say by the O'Connors.

County of Sligo.

Friery of Sligo.

Maurice Fitz-Girald built a Convent of Friars Preachers there, in the Year 1252, and fortifi'd the Town with a Castle.

Acheras, or Kilmaltin.

Of the Order of the Augustin Canons, I know not whether the same with the Abby of Echrois, whose Abbot and Founder was S. Molaisse.

Friery of Ardnary.

This Convent of Augustin Hermits is situate in the Borders of this and the Country of Mayo. Nicholas Crusenius in his Monasticum Augustinianum miserably confounds the names of the Abbys of this Order in the Province of Conaght, for he calls this place the Convent of Arnac, and that of Bealahaunes he calls Belufame, that of Ballinrobe, Valla-auron; that of Benade, Benefiade; that of Borrisarreen, Burgesqueren; that of Donmore, Domine; that of Galway, Galvy; and that of Murisk, Morasqueren.

Balli-Affadara.

Founded for Augustin Canons by S. Fechin, in the 7th Century. he was sometime Abbot there, but most commonly at Four, where he died 20 Jan. 665.

Friery near Ballimot.

There, and at Court, were built certain little Convents of Friars of the 3d Order of S. Francis, the former by the Family of the Mac-Donoghs, the other by that of the O-Haras.

Friery of Ballindown.

Of the Order of Predicants founded by the family of the Mac-Donogh.

Friery of Benad.

Of the Order of Augustin Hermits.

Kilamoy, or Athmoy, and Kilras

These Cells of Trinity Abby of Loukee were built for Canons of the Order of the Premonstratenses, by Clare Mac-Mailin Arch-Deacon of Elphin about the year 1233.

Friery of Knockmore.

Teach-Temple.

The Knights Templars seated themselves here, in the reign of Hen. III. but their Order being suppressed, under Edm. II. It was made a Preceptory of the Knights of Jerusalem.

County of Letrim.

Friery of Cruleagh, or Balli-ruark.

OF the Order of Minorits of the Observance, founded by Margaret Wife of Eugenius Ruark, in the year 1509.

Moyhil, or Moethel.

Founded by the Abbot S. Maclen in the 7th Century. He was the same, I believe, with Maclen Abbot of Menedrocaid, whose death is referr'd by the Irish Historians to the year 651. or 652. The Canons of this Abby were of the Order of Augustin.

For a Corollary, we add here a Catalogue of those Abbots & Priors, who before the suppression, upon summons, had Place and Voice among the Lords in Parliament. But as to their certain Number, it is far short of what appears in the Records.

Abbots of Mellifont.

S. Thomas in Dublin.
S. Marys in Dublin.
Baltinglafs.
Jeripont.
Tintern.
Dousk.
Traeton.
Dunbrody.
Mayo or Nenai.
Wethen.
Rosglafs.
Bectiff.
Rathroe.

Priors of

S. John of Jerusalem.
H. Trinity of Dublin.
S. Peters, New-Town near Trim.
Conal.
Kenlife in Offory.
S. Patricks in Down.
All Saints in Dublin.
S. Edmond of Athassel.
Killagh.
S. Marys in Louth.

CHAP. XXVII,

Of the Colonies sent out of England and Wales into Ireland, in the time of Henry II. and of the Lands granted to them.

IRELAND being now united unto England, King Henry II distributed Provinces and large Territories there, among those who had been Active in the work. The first was Richard surnamed Strongbow, Girald. Cambrensis calls him Earl of Strigul, others of Pembroke, but in the Charter whereby he grants to Vivianus de Cursun and and his Heirs, the Land of Ratheny (near Dublin) so as Gilcolm held it before, he is called only Earl Richard, Son of Earl Gillebert, without any Addition. He, upon agreement with Dermot King of Leinster, for whose Assistance he brought Forces into Ireland, in the Year 1170, married Eva his Daughter and Heir. After the Celebration of the Nuptials, the Earl and his Wife were publickly at Waterford, declared Heirs to Dermot. Soon after the King having Notice of the Earls success, not knowing what might be the issue, commanded all his Subjects to return by a certain day out of Ireland, and prohibited all the rest to carry any more Men or Provision thither. The Earl hearing of the Proclamation, consulted with his People and by their Advice sent Reymond with Letters full of Expressions of his Duty to the King, then in Aquitain, and obsequiously offer'd to resign to him whatever he was Master of in Ireland. The next Year while he was hot in prosecution of his Conquests, he met at Wexford with Harvey de Monte-Marisco, who was sent to him by King Henry with his Command, that without delay he should hasten over into England. The Earl upon these Orders, with what speed he could, took Shipping, and went to the King, who was then at Newnham in Glocestershire, with an Army which he had rais'd for an Expedition into Ireland. There, after he had with all submission made over to the King in Writing, what ever he had acquired either by the Sword or in right of his Wife, he was received into favour, and had all Leinster granted to him to hold jure beneficiario, except the City of Dublin and the Cantreds adjacent, with some maritime Towns and Castles, there is not (that I know) any Copy of the Charter granted to him by Hen. II. now extant, but a Copy of the Confirmation of the Charter granted by King John to William Marescal Earl of Pembroke, who married Isabel Daughter and Heir of Earl Richard, is in the Roll of Charters in the ninth year of King John, among the Records of the Tower of London.

Let us now see the Distribution made by Earl Richard, beside the large Possessions he reserv'd to himself and his Heirs. We have it from Maurice Regan, who then liv'd and writ the History of his time, together with some Additional Collections out of Records and Authentick Authors. The Earl gave (says Regan) to Reymond le Gros (who married Basilea the Earls Daughter) Fothbert, Odrone and Glas-carig, to Hervey de Monte Maurico, Obarthy, to Maurice de Prendergast, Firneganelan, which was afterward granted to Maurice Son of Godetert, but how he obtain'd it (says Regan) I know not. To Miler fitz Henry he gave Carbry, (namely that Barony which is now part of the County of Kildare) to Maurice fitz Giralde, Naase O-Felim, heretofore in Possession of Mackelan, and Wicklown, this Maurice dying not long after at Wexford, John then Lord of Ireland, and Earl of Moreton Confirm'd to William Son of the said Maurice, the Cantred of Land which Mackelan held, namely, that wherein the Town of the Naase is situate, which Earl Richard gave to Maurice Father of the said William. So the Charter. It is in a Roll of the Common-Pleas in Berminghams Tower in Dublin. Regan goes on thus, to Walter de Riclesford he gave the Lands of Omorthy to John.

Lands granted by Strongbow, Earl of Strigule.

Anno 10
Hen. 6.

ae Ulakul, the Marinalley of Leinster, and the Lands between Aghave and Leghlin. To Robert de Bermingham, Ofaly, and to Adam de Hereford large Possessions. What these Possessions were, we find in an Antient Register of the Abby of S. Thomas in Dublin, afterward (says the Register) Leinster being acquired, there was a certain young Man with him (with the Earl) whom he much affected, to whom he gave for his Service the Lands and Tenements underwritten, viz. The Tenement of the Salmon leap, (from whence the Barony of Salt in the County of Kidare has its name) Cloncoury, Kille, Houterard, and the Tenement of Donning, with all the Appurtenances. But the said Adam considering that he could not well hold and defend the said Tenements alone; sent into England for two of his Elder Brothers, viz. John and Richard de Hereford, who coming to him, he gave to John the Tenement of Kille, Kildroth, Clonsbanbow and Mainay, with all the Appurtenances, viz. Okey. Likewise he gave to his other Brother Richard, Donning in Otyny, with all the Appurtenances. And he reserv'd to himself the Salmon leap, with all the Appurtenances. viz. Cloncoury, Oweterard, a strong Castle, and the rest. So the Register. I have seen likewise a Charter of the said Earl whereby he granted to this Adam, half the Town of Achebo, and the whole Cantred of Land wherein the Town is situate, &c. To Milo fitz-David (so Regan again) one of his special Friends, he gave Overk in Offory. To Thomas le Fleming, Arde. To Gilbert de Borard, Ofelmith. To a certain Knight called Reinand, he gave 15 Knights Fees near the Sea, and to one Robert (fitz Richard) who was afterward killed in Conaght, he gave Norragh. Thus far of Leinster in the time of Hen. II.

Meath, Hen. II.
granted to Hugh Lacy.

We come now to Meath, which the said Henry granted in these words to Hugh de Lacy. Henry by the Grace of God, King of England, Duke of Normandy and Aquitain, and Earl of Anjou. To the Arch-Bishops, Bishops, Abbots, Earls, Barons, Justices, and all his Officers and faithfull Servants French, English and Irish, Greeting, Know that I have given and granted, and by this my Charter confirm'd to Hugh de Lacy for his service the Land of Meath, with all its appurtenances, by the service of 50 men, to him and his Heirs, to have and to hold of me and my Heirs, as Murchard Hu-Melachlin held it, or any other before or after him. And moreover, I give him all the Fees about Dublin while he is my Bailiff to do my Service in my City of Dublin. Wherefore I will and firmly Command, that the said Hugh and his Heirs after him, have and hold the foresaid Land, and all the Libertys and free Customs, which I there have or can have, by the foresaid Service, from me and my Heirs, well and in Peace, freely and quietly and honourably in Wood and plain, in Meadow and Pasture, in Waters and Mills, in Parks and Ponds, and Fishing and Hunting, in Ways and Paths and Sea Ports, and in all other places and things thereunto belonging, with all other Liberties which I have or can give him, or Confirm to him by this my Charter. Witness Earl Richard, Son of Gilbert, William de Braosa, &c. at Weisford. This Donation King John Confirm'd to Walter de Lacy, Son of Hugh, in the 9th Year of his Reign, by the Service abovesaid, and moreover his Fees in Fingal, in the Vale of Dublin, by the Service of seven Men, to him and his Heirs for ever. As we find in the Roll of Charters of the same Year, among the Records of the Tower of London. Now

Now follows the Distribution made by Hugh Lacy, I do not say the entire, for of that let others make enquiry, but such as I find it deliver'd by the said Regan, with some Additions from the Charters of Hugh, and approved Authors. He gave (says Regan) to Hugh Tirrel his intimate friend, Castleknoek, and to William Petit Castlebreck. I have seen an Ancient Charter wherein Lacy grants to this William Petit, among other things, Matherithirman, with all its Appurtenances, except the Lough and Town called Differt, &c. To the valiant Man Meiler fitz Henry (so again Regan) he gave Magherneran, the Lands of Rathkenin and Cantred of Athinorker. To Gilbert Nangle, all Magherigallen. To Jocelin, Son of Gilbert Nangle, Navan and the Lands of Ardraccan. To Richard de Tuit, large Possessions. To Robert de Lacy, Rathwer. To Richard de la Chappel many Lands. To Geofry de Constantin, Kilbisky and Rathmarthy. But in the Charter of Walter Lacy, Son of Hugh, more fully. The Fees of five Knights in Theof de Kilbixi, with a Castle, and the Fees of Fifteen Knights in the Land of Conemake (or Conmacne) next to the said Castle beyond the Water of Ethni, by the Service of Four Knights. Regan again. To Adam de Feipo, Gilbert de Nugent, William de Misset, and Hugh de Hose he gave large Possessions. Particularly he gave to the said Adam Skrine, and the Fees of one Knight about Duvelin, viz. Clontorht and Santreff, as we find in a Copy of his Charter, in the Register of S. Mary Abby in Dublin. Likewise he gave to Gilbert de Nugent, Delvin, which the O-Finnellans held in the time of the Irish, with all the Appurtenances and Towns belonging to the said Delvin, except a Town called Torrechelash belonging to the Abbot of Four; for the Service of 5 Knights. So are the words of Lacy's Charter, which I have seen entire, with the Impression of a Horseman Armed, affix'd to the Seal. To Misset he also gave the Land of Luin, and to Hose or Hussy all the Land del Dies, which Schaclin held. Regan goes on. To Adam Dullard he gave the Lands of Dullenvarthy. To one Thomas he gave Cramly, Timlath-began on the North East of Kenlife, Lathrakalim and Sendevonath. And to Richard Fleming he gave Crandon for 20 Knights Fees. In this Distribution of Meath and part of Fingall, there is no mention of the Lands which Lacy reserv'd to himself and his Heirs, which were very large.

Lands granted by H. Lacy

We now come to Munster, and here the first thing that offers is the Charter of Hen. II. by which he granted to Robert Fitz-Stephens and Milo de Cogan the Kingdom of Cork (which heretofore comprehended Desmond) except the City Cork, and the cantred of the Easterlings. The words of the Charter are these,

Munster.

" Henry by the Grace of God King of England, Duke of Normandy and Aquitain, and Earl of Anjou. To all Arch-Bishops, Bishops, Abbots, Earls, Barons, Justices, and all his faithful Subjects and Servants French, English and Irish, Greeting. Know, that I have Granted, and by this my Charter confirmed to Robert Fitz-Stephen and Milo de Cogan the Custody of my City of Cork, with the Cantred that belonged to the Easterlings of the same City, which I retain in my own hands. To have and to hold the same so long Charter of Hen. II. to Robert Fitz-Stephens.

" as

" as I shall please, and they shall serve me well. Moreover I give " and grant to them, and by this present Charter confirm the " whole Kingdom of Cork, except this said City and the foresaid
 " Cantred, which I retain in my own hands, to them and their " Heirs, to hold of me and my Son John and our Heirs rightly set " out towards the Chapel of S. Brendan upon the Sea Coast, and " towards Limerick and other parts, and as far as the Water near " Lismore, which runs between Lismore and Cork and falls into the " Sea, by the Service of 60 Knights, to be performed to me and my " Son John and our Heirs, the Service of 30 Knights to be done
 " by the foresaid Robert and his Heirs, and 30 by the foresaid Milo
 " and his Heirs. Wherefore I will and firmly command that the " said Robert and Milo have and hold the Custody of the foresaid
 " City and Cantred, as is abovesaid, and that they and their Heirs
 " after them, have and hold the whole foresaid Kingdom, except
 " the City and Cantred which I retain in my own Hands, of me " and my Son John and our Heirs, rightly set out, as is abovesaid,
 " well and in peace freely and quietly, entirely, fully and honou-
 " rably, in Wood and in Plain, in Meadows and Pastures, in Wa" ters and Mills, in Ponds and Parks, in Ways and Paths, and in " all other places and things thereunto belonging, with all Liber" ties and free Customs; So that from the foresaid River that " runs between Lismore and Cork, the whole Land as far as Wa- " terford, with the City of Lismore, may remain in my own hands.
 " Witness John Bishop of Norwich, Adam Bp. of S. Asaph, and Augu- " stin Bp. of Waterford, Richard de Lacy, William fitz Adelm, Hugh de
 " Lacy, Hugh de Burid, Roger fitz Ramsey, Maurice de Prendergast, " Robert Dene, Robert Fitz Eliodore, Geofry Poer, Harvy de Monte-Ma-
 " risco, at Oxford.

This Charter seems to have been granted in the Year 1177, for then (according to Hoveden, in Hen. I.) The King came to Oxenford, and in a general Council there held, Constituted his Son John King in Ireland, by Grant and Confirmation of Pope Alexander. Notwithstanding, King John in all his Charters made both in his own and the Reign of his Brother Richard I. was stiled only Lord, and not King of Ireland, and Earl of Moreton. Two Years after, a Division was made of 7 Cantreds, between Fitz Stephen and Cogan, which (a) Girald. Cambrensis delivers thus. Therefore Dermot of Desmond and other great Men of those parts being quieted, Fitz Stephens and Milo, divided among themselves 7 Cantreds near the City, which they then held in peaceable Possession, 3 of which Eastward fell to Fitz Stephens Lot, and 4 Westward to Milo, the fewer to one, because they were the better, and the more to the other because they were the worse, the Custody of the City being common to both, and the tribute of the other 24 Cantreds that remain'd when they should fall, to be equally divided between them. Of the Lands which Fitz Stephen and Cogan granted to others, little is deliver'd by Cambrensis the Writer of that Age, the Death of Cogan which happen'd in 1184. (not 1189. as some will have it) hindring the work. But the Charters of Confirmation of King John granted in the 9th Year of his Reign, afford us some light in the matter,

(a) Expugnat.
 Hib. lib. 2.
 cap. 18.

matter, for he then Confirm'd to "William Barry the Donacion „ which Robert Fitz-Stephen made to Philip de Barry (his Nephew by „ his Sister, Father of the said William, whose heir he was, of 3 Can„ treds in his land of Cork, viz. Olethan, with all its appurtenances,
 „ and other two, namely, Muscrie-Dunegan and Killede, by the ser„ vice of 10 Knights, as the Charter of the said Robert, which he „ had from thence, testified. So the Charter of Confirmation.
 „ Likewise he granted to Adam de Rupe the Cantred of Rosselbir, with „ all its appurtenances, saving the Demeans of the Bp. of the place;
 „ by the service of five Knights. Likewise, to Richard de Cogan
 „ the Cantred called Muscrie-O-Millane, with its appurtenances, by „ the service of five Knights, with the appurtenances between the „ Port of Cork, and the Port of Insovenach, and 25 Knights Fees „ which he ordered to be elsewhere set out to him, by advice of „ Meiler Fitz-Henry Justice of Ireland, and John Marescall, by the „ service of 4 Knights, saving to the King and his Heirs the fore-„ said Ports and Demeans. Likewise, to Robert Fitz-Martin in the „ Cantred of Insovenach, 20 Knights Fees, and elsewhere 20 Knights „ Fees, which he order'd to be set out to him, by advice of Meiler „ Fitz-Henry Justice of Ireland, and John Marescall, and Philip de „ Prindergast, by the service of 4 Knights Fees for all his service, „ likewise to Henry and Maurice, Sons of Philip, one Cantred of land, „ wherein Dunalaboth is situate, by the service of five Knights.
 „ Thus far of the Kingdom of Cork.

Now follows the Kingdom of Limerick, or North Munster, which Hen. II. granted to Philip de Breusa or Braos, except the Citys of Limerick and Cantred of the Easterlings. But in the Charter of Confirmation granted by King John to William de Braos, Nephew of Phi- lip, the King gave him only the honour of Limerick, retaining in our Demeans (are the words of the Charter) the City of Limerick and the Donations of the Bishopricks and Abbys, and detaining in our hands the Cantred of the Easterlings, and the holy Island. Among other principal men there seated, are reckon'd Hamo de Valois, Philip of Wor- cester, Theobald Walter, William Fitz-Aldelm, and Thomas Maurice.

As for Waterford, which is part of Munster, Benedict Abbot, who then lived and wrote the history of Hen. II. says, that The King granted to Robert Puber or Poer the City of Waterford in Custodium, with the whole Province thereabouts. To these I thought fit to add from the same Benedict, the services assign'd by the King for Wexford, Waterford and Dublin.

„ And the King (says he) deliver'd to William Fitz-Aldelm, the „ City of Wexford in Custodium, with all its appurtenances, and „ ordain'd that the under written should for the future belong to „ Wexford, Arkelow and Glas carrig, the land of Bisrohard, Fernregwinal,
 „ and Fernes, all the land of Hervey between Wexford and the River „ of Waterford, with their Appurtenances, for the Service of Wex- „ ford, the service of Reymond de Druna, Ferdonelon, Uthmorth and „ Leghlin for the service of the same, the Tenement of Machtalo.
 „ Less, the land of Geofry de Costentin, with their appurtenances for „ the service of the same.

“ And the King likewise deliver'd to Robert de Poer the City of “ Waterford in Custody with all its appurtenances, and ordain'd that “ the under-written should for the future belong to the service “ of Waterford, the whole land between Waterford and the Water “ beyond Lismore, all the land of Ossory with its appurtenances for “ the service of the same. The King likewise deliver'd to Hugh “ de Lasey the City Duvelin in Custody with all its Appurtenances, “ and ordain'd that these under-written should belong to the ser“ vice of Duvelin. All the land of O-Felan, all the land of Offaly, “ Kildare, Wichelou, with their appurtenances, for the service of the “ same, the service of 4 Knights which Robert Poer owes for his Castle “ of Dunavet for the service of the same. And after that the King “ at Oxford had in the foresaid manner divided the lands of Ire- “ land, and their services, he caus'd all to whom he had commit“ ted such Custodiams to become his men to himself and his “ Son John, and to swear Fealty and Allegiance for the lands of “ Ireland. Thus far Benedict Abbot, who furthermore (not to conceal any thing from the Reader) affirms that Hen. II. at the same time gave to Hebert (perhaps Hubert) Son of Hebert, and William Brother of Earl Reginald, and to Joelan de Pumai their Nephew the Kingdom of Limerick, for the service of 60 Knights to hold of him and his Son John, except the City of Limerick with one Cantred, which the King retained in his own hand, for his occasion and his Sons.

However it doth not appear that they went into Ireland to subdue that Kingdom of Limerick. But of the Donation made to Phi- lip de Bruesa of which mention is made above. See Roger Hoveden in Hen. II. And of the confirmation of King John granted to William de Braos Nephew to Philip, See Rot. Chart. an. 2. Johan. in the Tower of London.

As to Conaght, in the Annals of Ireland, we find mention of an Incurſion there made by Milo Cogan in the year 1178, and of another ten years after by John de Courcy. But of any English Colony there ſeated in the time of Hen. II. I find nothing deliver'd.

We come now to Ulſter, which was firſt attempted by John de Courcy in the year 1177, ſoon after, with the aid of Roger Poer, Almarick de S. Laurence, Adam Camerarius, and others, he conquered Ulidia, in Iriſh called Ullagh, now part of the County of Down, afterward in the year 1182 he ſubdued Dalriata, whereof Route, a Territory now in the County of Antrim, is part, from whence, if I miſtake not, came thoſe Dalreudins mentioned in Bede, who under the Conduct of Reuda went out of Ireland, and either by force or freindſhip, gain'd thoſe habitations among the Picts, which they yet retain. Courcys firſt habitation was at Down in Lecalia, where in the year 1183 he expell'd the Secular Canons out of the Cathedral, and in their ſtead introduced Bene- dictin Monks from the Abby of S. Werburg in Cheſter. His Life tranſlated out of Latin into English by George Dowdall Arch-Biſhop of Armagh, under Hen. VIII. is extant in Manuscript. In the time of Courcy many English planted in Ulſter, among whom were the Sa- vages, Whites, Ridells, Mandivills, Jordans, Stantons, Logans, Sandalls, Poers, Chamberlains, Stokes, Passeleus, Ruffels, Audleys, Copland and Martels;

Mutels. Moreover Ergall or Uriel, which antiently comprehended all that Country, which was afterward divided into the Countys of Louth, Monaghan and Armagh, was part of Ulster. About the end of Hen. II. his Son John then called Lord of Ireland and Earl of Moreton, gave to Bertram de Verdun Seneschall of Ireland, (who dyed afterward in Palestine in the year 1192) 4 Cantreds of land in Uriel, and half a Cantred in Lava (or Louth) viz. that toward the Sea, for the Service of 25 Knights. Of this kind many are to be found in the Records, which we leave to the inquiry of others. I omit the many Incursions made by John Courcy into other parts of Ulster, and the battles he had with the Irish, as not pertinent to this place. It may suffice here to shew that from his Conquest of Ulidia, and the Plantations there made by him and his followers, Jocelin the Monk of Furness, who then lived, in his Preface to the life of S. Patrick, calls him Prince of Ulidia.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Of the lesser Islands dispersed in the Irish Seas.

OF the Irish Sea we have before treated, Chap. I I, and XXIII. and of the Commoditys of it in Chap. VII. It now seems convenient in this place, to add somewhat of the Islands of that Sea, which I shall do, first in generall out of antient Authors. (a) Marcianus Heracleota says, that Ireland has 6 famous Islands, but he gives them no names. Take likewise the fabulous Relation of (b) Demetrius Grammaticus, concerning the Islands adjacent to Britain. “ Demetrius relates that the Islands about Britain are many dispers’d up and down (such as from thence the Grecians call Sporades) and those desert, whereof some are called Islands of the Genii and Heroes, and moreover that he was sent by the Emperor to view them, and came into one of them, next to those that are desert, which had some few Inhabitants. But presently upon his Arrival, there arose a great Confusion in the Air, many Prodigy’s appear’d, the Winds broke out into Storms, and Fiery Meteors run about the Earth, at the end of all, some of the Islanders told him, that One who was of a nature above humane, then ceased to be. And he adds a little after, That there is a certain Island wherein Saturn is held Captive by Briareus in Chains of sleep (for such were the Chains invented for him) and that many Genii are there attending upon Saturn as his Companions and Servants. So Plutarch. Nor are there wanting some, who out of Orpheus collect that Jason, with his Argonauts, either landed in Ireland, or pass’d by the Coast. From whence Hadrianus Junius introduces him thus speaking to Ireland.

(a) In Periplo.

(b) Plutarch.
Lib. de Oraculor. Defectu.

Illa Ego sum Græcis olim Glacialis Ierne Dicta, et Jasonia puppis bene cognita Nautis.

Thus far in General. What Pliny, Ptolomy, and others have to this this purpose both from the antient and middle Writers shall be shew'd in its place. But now to proceed with best order in our purpose, it will be convenient to set sail from the Bay of Carigfergus, and from thence coast along the shore, first Visit the Easter Isles, then the Southern, next the Western, and lastly the Northern. In this voyage the first that offer themselves to our view, are the Coplands, two Islands so perhaps called from the Family of the Coplands, which heretofore flourished in the neighbouring Ulidia. Next the Island of Berry, from whence if we coast along towards the Shore of Dublin we shall meet no other worth Notice: for the Islands of Logh-Cone, and one or two small ones in the Haven of Carrigford, as likewise the Rocks here and there dispersed in the Sea, I purposely omit, as not pertinent to this purpose. On the Coast of Dublin is Holm-Patrick or the Island of S. Patrick, so called in memory of him who landed there in the year 432, and from thence passed over to the Continent to plant Christianity there. Next to this are the Skerres, rocky Islands: and on the same Coast is Lambey, which Pliny (if I mistake not,) calls Limnus, and Ptolomy Limni. Next to this is a small Island called Ireland's Eye, where (as John Allen Arch-Bishop of Dublin under Hen. VIII. observes in his black Register) S. Nessan was frequent in Watching, Fasting and Prayer. Three Miles from hence Southward is Dalkey, in some Maps called S. Bennets Island, from which, coasting along the shore, when we have passed those Sands called by Mariners, the North, Middle, and South Grounds, we come now to Begeri, which signifies Little Ireland, belonging to the County of Wexford, perhaps the same which Pliny calls Edros, and Ptolomy, Edri, famous for the School of St. Ibarus, who there (as we read in his life) built a famous Monastery, and taught the holy Scriptures, and other excellent Arts, to a multitude of Irish and others. Next to this are the Salies, Islands which are thought to belong likewise to this County.

From hence to Capel, a small Island 3 or 4 miles distant from the Port of Toughal, we meet with no Island worth Notice. But after that we find Cotton Island, Lesteren, Lacallan, Gray and Loughin, with others of less Note. More to the West appears the Island called by Seamen, Cape Clere, the great Glory whereof was S. Kiaran the Elder Bishop of Saiger, who (as the writer of his life relates) was here born and brought up. More below in the Bay of Baltimore are many Islands, among which are Inisfirkán or Inishirkan, Aughra the long Island, the Island called the Horse, and lower in the Bay of Bantry, the Isle of Whiddy.

Further in the Main appear 3 Islands, the greatest whereof is called the Cow, the second the Bull, and the third the Calf. Then in the mouth of the river Kilmar, or Kilnare, are some small Islands, but the Pearls are more memorable which are found in the Shells of this River and the neighbouring Coast. In the Main also appear the three Scelegs, rocky Islands, in one of which an Abby was heretofore dedicated to S. Michael the Archangel, which was afterward (as we have said in Chap. XXVI,) translated to the Continent. Next to these is the Island Valentia or Dariry, which for some miles lies lyes over against the shore of Kerry. and is divided from the Continent with a small Fret.

More to the North lye the Blakes, with the adjacent Rocks. Nor are we to forget Inis-catte, or Inis-cathaig, (tho' within the mouth of the River Shenou) heretofore an Episcopal See, whereof S. Senanus was Bishop. The Scholiast of Ancas, Son of Oengobban deduces the name of this Island from Cathac, a Beast which there and in the neighbouring Countrys destroyed many people. The next of Note are the three Isles of Aran, viz. Inis-ier, Inis-man and Aran-more, which now belong to the County of Galway, but heretofore to Munster. The chief of these is Aran-more, that is Great-Aran, called likewise Arn-nan-emb, or Aran of the Saints, from the Sepulchers of the Saints buried there. Of this Island and S. Enna or Endeus the first Abbot there, the writer of the life of S. Albeus, says thus. S. Albeus returning from Cassel, met the Abbot Enna, who said, return with me to the King, (Engus) and demand that Island, namely Arn, for me, that in the name of the Lord I may build a Monastery there. Then S. Albeus returning to the King saluted him, saying, Give us that Island situate in the Ocean, that we may build a Monastery there: The King answered, I have not seen, nor heard what, nor how big that Island is, and therefore will give it to none, till I know more of it. Then the divine power made the King see the whole Island at a great distance, and he knew what and how great it was, and gave the Island Arn to the Saints, and S. Enna under S. Albeus built a famous Monastery there, and by one Name the Island is called Arn. And that Island is great, and the Island of Saints, because none knows the number of Saints that are there buried, but God alone. Thus He: with whom agrees the writer of the life of S. Endrus, who likewise affirms that Darania Sister of Endeus was Wife to King Engus. But hear likewise a fabulous account of that Island, out of (a) Cambrensis; There is a certain Island in the West of Conaght, called Aran, consecrated as they say by S. Brendan, in this Island the Bodys of Men are neither buried, nor do they putrify, but exposed to the open Air, remain uncorrupt, men here live to see their Grand-fathers, great Grand-fathers, and great great Grand-fathers, and a long Series of their Fore-fathers. And there is another thing remarkable, that tho' all Ireland abounds with Rats, yet in this Island are none, nor are any bred or will live in it when brought from other parts. I know not whether it may be worth while to mention, what some Inhabitants of that place, who would seem credible, affirm, that from these Islands in a clear air they have seen the enchanted Island called O-Brasil, in search whereof some have lately lost their labour, yet the situation of it is confidently describ'd in some Maps. Of this Island or the Island of S. Brendan see more in (b) Oriolius. I pass by here the Fable of a certain Island in the Irish Sea which heretofore floating and unstable, was settled and fix'd by fire. He that desires to know more of it, let him look into (c) Cambrensis. Between the Isles of Aran and the Continent, are many little Islands, but more to the North, among others of less note, are Ardillan, Ilanemraher, Inissharke, the Island of Conys, and Inis-bo-sind, that is, the Island of the White Heifer, where great heaps of Ambergreese are sometimes found. Here S. Colman, Bishop of Lindisfarn, built a Monastery.

(a) Topogr.
Hib. Dist. 2.
cap. 7.

(b) In Thesauro Geogr.

(c) Topogr.
Hib. Dist. 2.
Cap. 12.

(a) Hist. Ecclesiast. lib. 4. cap. 4.

stery. For thus (a) Bede, In the mean time Colman who was Bishop of Scotland, leaving Britain, took with him all the Scots which he had gathered together in the Island of Lindisfarn, and of the English about 30, who were both instructed in the Studys of a Monastlick life, and leaving some Friers in his Church, he came first to the Island Hu, where he design'd to Preach the word of God to the English, afterward he betook himself to a little Island on the West Coast of Ireland, called in Scotch Inis-bo-find, the Island of the White Heifer; coming thither, he built a Monastery, and placed Monks there; whom he brought from both Nations, &c. The Voyage of Colman to the Island of the White Heifer in the Annals of Tigernac (who flourished in the XI Century) is refer'd to the year 676, and there Colman dyed 9 years after, on the 8 of Aug. On the same Coast appear Inisturk and Clercy, wherein heretofore stood a Cell of the Abby of Knockmoy, between these and the Continent are many little Islands in the Bay of Borisöl, and next the two Akils, the greater and less, and that Rock more to the Westward, so well known to Seamen, called the Black Rock, and then Iniskea, and Davilan.

We are now to visit the Isles of Ulster, and first those that are reckon'd Parts of Tirconal, or, as we now speak, of the County of Donegall. And here, after some small Islands which lye before the mouth of the River Ern, and the Ports of Donegall and Galebeg, we meet with the Islands called the North Arans, to distinguish them from the Arans before mention'd, near which are the Rocks called by Seamen the Staggs, next Cladagh and more to the East, Torre, 8 Miles from the Continent, a land fertil enough. But Inis-oen (or the Island of Eugenius) tho' called an Island, is indeed a Peninsula, and joyned to the Continent by an Isthmus, the great Ornament of which is London-derry, antiently called Derry and Dair-Calgaic. The next are Glassedy and Srahul or Inis-Srahul, Rocky Islands frequented by the Porpoises, that betake themselves thither to sleep and breed. Then the Skerres, and next Ragblin, which is part of the County of Antrim, distant a league from the Continent, and is called by Pliny, Ricnea, by Ptolomy, Ricina, and by Antoninus, Riduna; but the Irish Historians call it Recarn and Reccrain. Tigernac says, that in the year 634 or 635, Segenius Abbot of Ja founded the Church of Recarn. And in the Annals of Ulster at the year 794, mention is made of the burning and destruction of Reccrain by the Gentiles. By whom, the Danes are to be understood, says Caradoc Lhaucarvanensis, in his Chronicle of Wales, for the Danes (says he) about this time having ravag'd the greatest part of Ireland, wasted Reccrain alto. John, King of England, gave this Island (among other things) to Alane de Galway, as we find in the Records. Between that and the Continent lye some small Islands, and more Southward nine Rockey Islands, called The nine Maids, not far from the Peninsula of Magie. Next to these are the Coplands, from whence we set Sail, and where we now cast Anchor, and conclude the Chapter.

CHAP. XXIX.

Of the Cathedral Churches of Ireland, their Original and other Antiquitys.

S. Patrick's in Armagh.

S Patrick the Apostle of the Irish, built a Church, and fixed his See there, in the year of our Lord 445, or according to the Ulster Annals, in 444, at which year in the same Annals we find this Note, Armagh Founded. From the building of Rome to the founding this City, are 1194 years. The place where it was built (near the River Calin) from the abundance of Willows that grew there, called Druim-Jailec, was given by one Dair, a wealthy Man, and of great Name in his Country. But from the rising Situation of it, it was afterward called Armagh, or Ardmagh, that is, a high Field. Of S. Patrick's first Constituting his See there, Jocelin the Monk of Furness, in the Life of S. Patrick says thus, He Constituted the Archiepiscopal See in that City, and ordain'd that it should be the Chief See, the Metropolis, and Mistress of all Ireland. Of the Antient Dignity of this See, I have nothing to say, but that it had heretofore very large Priviledges, granted, in Confirmation of the Liberties of the Church. This Cathedral, as it was often ruin'd and destroy'd by Fire, so it was again and again rebuilt and amplify'd by the Archbishops of Ardmagh, but chiefly by Patrick Scanlain, about the year of our Lord 1262, then newly Translated from the See of Rapho to Armagh. His next Successor Nicholas, Son of Moliffa, beside Books, rich Ecclesiastical Vestments, and other things which he gave to the Church of Armagh, bestowed likewise an Annual Pension of 20 Marks for the Fabrick of the same, to be pay'd out of his Manour of Termon-feichan. He also appropriated to his See the Manour of Dromyskin. He died on the 10th of May 1303. Famous for his Eloquence and Prudence, having govern'd the See of Armagh 31 years.

The Church of S. Finian in Clonard.

In Meath were heretofore many Episcopal Sees, as Clonard, Damleag, Kentlis, Trim, Ardbraccan, Donaghlin and Slane, with others of less note, all which, except that of Damleag and Kentlis were united, and their Common Seat was Constituted at Clonard, before the year 1152, when the Division of Bishopricks was made by John Papyron, Presbiter Cardinal, Intituled S. Laurence in Damaso, at that time Legate from Pope Eugenius III. to the Irish, in the Synod began the day before the Nones of March, either in the Abby of Melifont, or, as some think at Kenliffe. But those two (viz. Damleag and Kentlis) were afterward united, as others. Of these briefly in their Order, and first of Clonard.

S. Finian or Finan, a famous Philosopher and Divine, was the first Bp. of Clonard. He was nobly descended, but was more enobled by his Piety, and Inhabited sometime with S. David, Bp. of Menevia in Wales, to whom for the Excellent Qualifications of his mind.

Clonard.

he

he was very dear. At his return to his Country he was made Bishop, and fix'd his Seat at Clonard in Meath near the Boin, where he Instituted a School, which by his care and industry produced many Eminent for their Piety and Learning: among whom were the two Kiarans, the two Brendans, the two Columbs (viz. Columba-kille, and Columba Son of Crimthan) Lasserian, Son of Nathfrac, Caine, Movy and Ruadan. And as the School of S. Finian was as it were a Sacred Repository of all Wisdom (as the Writer of his Life speaks) So S. Finian himself acquired the Sirname of Sapiens, or Wise. He died 12 Decemb. 552, and was buried in his Church. The last of the Bps. of this Diocess that sat at Clonard was Simon de Rochefort, an English Man, who, like his Predecessor Eugenius, chang'd his stile, and was called Bp. of Meath, as all his Successors are to this day. Yet we are not to omit that Idumanus, one of the Predecessors of Eugenius, was long before him, called Bp. of Meath, and used that stile among the Witnesses to an Epistle of the People of Waterford, written to Anselm, Archbishop of Canterbury, in favour of Malchus, Elect of Waterford, in the year 1096. But to return to Simon. He about the year of Christ 1206, leaving Clonard, transferr'd his Episcopal Seat to the Abby of St. Peter and Paul in Newtown near Trim, which he had then newly founded for Augustin Canons. It appears likewise that Henr. VIII, who routed the Monks in all places, converted the Church of St. Mary Abby of Ballemore near Logh-seudy in West-Meath, into the Cathedral of this Diocess; but how long it so continued, I know not.

Duleek.

The Episcopal Seat was first Constituted at Damleag, or Duleek, as 'tis now called, by St. Kenan, or Cianan, who was himself Bishop of it in the first times of the Irish Church. His Office (a Copy whereof, transcribed from a Ms. of the publick Library of Cambridge, was communicated to me by my very good Friend Mr. William More) sets forth, That St. Kenan built a Stone-Church there, and that from thence it had the name of Damleag. For Churches in Ireland (says the same Office) were before built of Wattles and Boards. Nor indeed shall we easily find any Stone-Building of the Irish, before the time of St. Malachias, Arch Bishop of Armagh, the Cotemporary and dear Friend of St. Bernard, tho he died first. But of the Buildings of the antient Irish, see what is above-said, Chap. 22. This St. Kenan was born in Munster, had his Education some time in France, under St. Martin, Bishop of Tours, and died 24 November 489, or 488.

Kenlis, or Kells

Next follows Cenanas, afterward Kenlis, and then (as at this day) Kells, antiently reckon'd one of the most famous Citys of Ireland: but in later times, when it declin'd to a small Town, it was called, from the situation and strength of it, The Key of those Parts of Meath. It is to be noted, that St. Columb, who was also call'd Columb-Kille, (a name says Bede) compounded of Columba and Cella) built a famous Monastery there, about the year 550, the place being given by Dermod Mac-Cervail King of Ireland. It appears likewise that an Episcopal See was there afterward erected; but when first Constituted, is not certain. Yet thus much appears, that in the 13th Century it was united to the See of Meath. The great Ornament of of this Kentis, was S. Luthbert Bp. of Lindisfarn, who was here born, as the writer of his Life tells us out of the Irish Histories. The Book is extant in Cottons Library, under the Effigies of Vitelius, D. XIV. 8. tho' some contend that he was born at a place call'd Kilmacudrick, 4 Miles from Dublin.

As for the rest, it may suffice to say only that the Churches of Trim and Dunshagblin were Erected by the Nephews of S. Patrick, this by S. Secundin or Sechnal, that by S. Luman. That of Slane was built by S. Erc, who died in 513, and Ardraccan by S. Ultan, who died in 657. All these, as they were Founders, so they were the first Bishops of them. And thus much may suffice as to these Sees, which are now all United by the name of Meath.

Trim and Dunshagblin.

Slane and Ardraccan.

S. Patricks Church in Down.

S. Gailan, Cotemporary S. Macnifus, Bp. of Conor, but a younger Bishop, was, of Abbot of Nendrum, made Bishop of Down, about the end of the fifth Century. This Church was rebuilt by S. Malachias Morgair Bp. first of Conor, afterward Arch-Bishop of Armagh, and then, upon his Resignation of that See, Bp. of Down in 1137. About 40 years after, Malachias the third of that name Bp. of Down, assisted by John Courcy, called the Conqueror of Ulster, Beautify'd and Enlarg'd it. The same John likewise, displacing the Secular Canons, introduced Benedictin Monks in their room, out of the Abby of S. Werburg in Chester, in the year 1183, and at the same time, by persuation of the same Courcy, that Cathedral, before Consecrated to the B. Trinity, was dedicated to S. Patrick, from whence, many believed, Courcy drew upon himself those many misfortunes that afterward befel him. However the place was heretofore famous, for the Sepulchre of S. Patrick, to which likewise the Bodies of S. Columb and S. Bridget were afterward Translated. The last Bp. of this See, before the real Union of the Churches of Down and Conor, was John Sely a Benedictin Monk, but he being depriv'd in the year 1441, John Bishop of Conor obtain'd a Union of both Sees from Pope Eugenius IV, and now one and the same Bishop is called Bishop of Down and Conor. The place was heretofore called Aras-Cealtair, which name being Antiquated, it was called Down, as likewise the Country thereabout. Dunum among the Antient Gauls, Britains and Saxons, signified a Hill, or Elevated situation, and from hence we have Lugdunum and Juliodunum in France, Dunelnum, Camolodunum, Sorbiodunum, and the like in England; Nor did it denote otherwise among the Irish. For this See in the Register of Centius Camerarius is called Dun-da-leghblas, which the Irish interpret a Hill of the two halves of a Chain, and Jocelin cap. 38. says that Down had its name from broken Chains. So from the height of the situation, these names are deriv'd Dun-amius, Dun-keran, Dun-gannon and Dun-garvan, examples of the like are obvious, but in a matter so well known, these may suffice.

The Church of S. Mac-nisius in Connor.

Engus Mac-nisius was the first founder and Bp. of this Church. He took his name, after an unusual manner, from his Mother; and was commonly called S. Mac-Nisæ, without any other Addition. His Fathers name was Fobrec, as we find in the Annals of Tigernac, and in the Antient Scholiast of the Martyrology of Engus. He died a Venerable Old Man 3 Septemb. 507. Isaac of New-Castle upon Tine made Bishop of Connor, in 1245, was a Benefactor to this Church, where he sat 12 Years, but what he gave to it I do not find. This place was most famous for S. Malachias, who was sometime Bp. here, whose Life is written by S. Bernard Abbot of Clarevaux, from whence you may know more.

The Church of S. Macartin in Clogher.

This Church was Founded by S. Patrick, who gave it afterward to his Beloved Disciple and Indefatigable Assistant in Preaching the word of God, S. Macartin, in Jocelin call'd Kerten, descended of the Noble Family of the Arads. S. Macartin was Bishop there till the Year 506, when he dyed, and was Buried in the Cemetery of that Church. Some Ages after, namely in 1041, this Church was new built, and Dedicated to the Memory of S. Macartin, and about the Year 1295 it was repair'd by Mathew Mac-Cataisid Bp. of Clogher. He likewise built a Chapel over the Sepulcher of S. Macartin, and inclosed the Cemetery with a Wall. At last on the 28 of April 100 years after, while Arthur Mac-Gameil, Bp. of the place was new Building the Chapel of S. Macartin, the Cathedral, two Chappels, S. Mary Abby, and the Bishops Court, and Thirty two other Houses were consum'd by Fire. This Arthur apply'd himself afterward with great diligence to the repair of the Church and Court. He died a very Old Man on S. Laurence's day in 1432, having govern'd this See 42 Years, his Ordinances (which I note by the way) are extant, Publish'd in the Years 1395 and 1430. Clogher situate by the River Lann, has its name from a Golden Stone, by which in the times of Gentilism, the Devil gave Answers, as at the Oracle of Delphos. So we find in the Register of Clogher. Among the Bishops of this place next to Macartinus, Christian O Morgair is most Eminent, who was only Brother of S. Malachias of Armagh. S. Bernard in his Life calls him a good Man, full of Grace, second to his Brother in Opinion, but in Sanctity of Life, and love of righteousness, possibly not inferior. He died in the Year 1139, and was buried in the Abby of S. Peter and S. Paul at Armagh.

The Church of S. Mel, in Ardagh.

The Cathedral of Ardagh justly reckon'd among the most Antient of all Ireland, was Founded by S. Mel, first Bp. of the place. He was Nephew to S. Patrick by his Sister Darerca; and Consecrated Bp. by S. Patrick himself, whose Scholar he was. He gain'd his Living by the labour of his own Hands, as S. Paul did, says Jocelin in the Life of S. Patrick. S. Mel died 6 Feb. 488, four years before fore his Uncle, and was Buried in his Church of Ardagh. The Name of Ardagh is deriv'd from the Height of its Situation ; as the word Ard doth generally denote in Irish.

The Church of S. Eunan, in Rapho.

A Monastery was there Founded by S. Columba-cille, a Man born of noble Blood, to Learning and Vertue : he was before called Crimthan, and had the name of Columba given him (according to Adamnanus who writ his Life) for his Innocence, or (according to that Antient Scholiast of Engus, in the same sense) for his Candid Simplicity, with allusion possibly to that Precept of our Saviour, be wise as Serpents and Innocent as Doves. This Structure was afterward rebuilt by the aforesaid Adamnanus, that famous Abbot of Hy, mention'd with great honour by Bede. The Church of this Monastery was erected into a Cathedral by S. Eunan, who is thought to be the first Bishop of this place, but what time he lived I can by no search find out. His Bed was to be seen not long since at Rapho or, (as of old) Rathboth. There was likewise a Tower or Pyramid built upon a Hill, where the Bishops of Rapho had heretofore their Study. The famous Patrick Magonail Bp. of Rapho about the year 1360, was a Benefactor to this Church, who likewise built the Bishops Houses in 3 Mannors belonging to his See. The name of the place is partly from the Irish word Rath, which denotes a kind of Military Fortification, the rest let others inquire.

Eccl. Hist.
lib. 5. cap. 16.

The Church of S. Columba in Derry.

Of the Monastery built by S. Columba at Derry in the year 545, we have before treated, but the Cathedral of that place is a work of much later time. For the Bishop of that Diocess had the See first constituted at Ardfrath by the River Derg, where S. Eugenius was the first Bishop, who some say was a Disciple of S. Patrick and Consecrated Bishop by him, but some make him cotemporary with S. Kenny and S. Congail. The times indeed do little agree, unless (among the long liv'd Men of that Age) we allow S. Eugenius that great Age. He was a great and Assiduous Preacher, and was born, they say, of the Royal Blood of Leinster, and died 23 of August 618, and was buried in the Cemetery of his Church, and over his Grave a Chapel was afterward built. From Ardfrath the Episcopal Sec was Translated to Magher, which was dedicated to S. Luroch, whose Festival is on the 17. of Feb. from whence I believe, the Bishops of that See are Stiled Rathlurienses. At length about the Year 1150, Maurice called by the Irish, Mureach O Coffy or Cobthaig, removed the See to Derry. He from an Augustin Canon was made Bishop, and called likewise Bishop of Kenel-eogain or Tirone, and in the Printed Hoveden corruptly Charensis. A Man for his Learning, Humility and Charity, much Celebrated in History. He lived till the year 1173 or 74, and then died on the 10 of Feb. and was buried in the Abby of S. Columba in Derry, which was heretofore called the black Cell. While he sat in the year 1164, the Cathedral Church (as I understand) or the Great Church

Ann. 1172.

Church of Derry, as in the Ulster Annals it is called, was built, Maurice Mac-Lochlin King of Ireland, and Fian O-Brolchan Abbot of S. Columba's in Derry, advancing the work. Yet it is not to be deny'd, that before Maurice, some Abbots of Derry were called likewise at the same time Bishops. To this Diocess, about the year 1266, Germanus or Gelasius O-Cherballan Bishop also of Derry (as I find in the Register of Clogher) by the power of his Nation of Kenel-eogain United the Church of Ardfrath, with several other Churches of Opheacrach. These he is said to have taken from the Church of Clogher, while David O-Brogan Bishop of Clogher lay Paralitick in the Abby of Mellifont, of which sometime he was a Monk, and where he was buried in the Year 1267. He is said likewise to have taken some part of the Diocess of Rapho from Carbrac O-Scoba of the Order of Predicants, and Bishop of Rapho, and United them to his See. The Bishop of this See in the Year 1420, was William Quaplod a Carmelite, the Meeen. is of Bertram Fitz-Allen a Carmelite likewise and a Learned Man, as we find in Leland in his Book de Scriptoribus Hib. which I the rather note, to shew the Error of Bale, who makes him Bishop of Kildare and one of the Suffragans of the Arch-Bishop of Dublin. The City it self is called London-Dery from a Colony of Londoners planted there, but it was heretofore called Daire-Calgac, that is, the place of Oaks of Calgac, and sometime Daire Columb-kill, and in the Antient Roman Provincial, Darrich.

The Church of S. Kiaran at Clone or Clonmacnoife.

The Abby of Clonmacnoife, formerly called Tipraic, near the River Shenon in the heart of Ireland, was built by S. Kiaran the younger, of the Family of the Arads, but Son of Boetius or Beonand a Carpenter, from whence he is commonly called Mac-iteir or the Son of the Artificer, the place was granted by Dermot Cervail King of Ireland. S. Kiaran, as some say was Abbot here only one year, others think 7, and there he died 5 Id. Sept. 549, in the Flower of his Age, having lived only 33 years. S. Coemgen or Keivin was at his Obsequies the third night following, and S. Columba his friend Compos'd a Hymn in his Praise. This Church was afterward converted into a Cathedral. Some expressly say that S. Kiaran was Bishop of Clonmacnoife. If this be true, we need no farther Inquiry of the beginning of the Cathedral. However it were, in latter times nine other Churches, in one and the same Cemetery of about two Irish Acres of Ground, were subjected to it. To the West of this place the Bishops built their Palace.

The Cathedral it self was heretofore indowed with many Possessions, and was famous for the Sepulchres of the Nobility and Bishops, and some Monuments and Inscriptions, part in Irish, and part in Hebrew. But by little and little it declin'd, and was at last reduced to great Poverty. In the Synod above-mention'd, held in 1152, Cinani is reckon'd among the Episcopal Sees of the Province of Tuam, which after long debate at Rome, between the Archbishops of Armagh and Tuam, was at last Adjudged to Tuam. This See, from the Affinity of the Name, I heretofore thought to be the same same with Cenanuse or Kenliffe, but one day teaches another; and I now beleive that Cenani is there corruptly read for Cluana, commonly Clonmacnois, both by reason of their Vicinity, as being separated from the Province Tuam only by the River Shenon, as also because in the foresaid division of Bishopricks, among those of the Province of Armagh, we find Connarus, which doubtless is the same with Cenanuse. For it is not probable that one and the same See in that distribution made in a Synod of so many Bps. should be twice mentioned, and assign'd to divers Provinces. Clone or Cluain signifies a Lurking place. As for the reason of the rest of the name, the Annals of Inisfale say thus, This year was founded Cluain-macnois, that is, Nois-Muccaid, King of Conaght. from whence Cluain is named. Thus much of antient Clone, the antient Face whereof the Reader may see in fig 11

Ann. 547.

The Church of S. Fedlimid in Kilmore.

Kilmore denotes a Great Church. The Bishops of this Diocess from the County of Bresny, were some time called Bresnienses, and some time Triburnenses, from an obscure little Village called Triburna, where they were formerly seated. But at last in the year 1454, Andreas (Brady I think) Bishop of Triburna, Erected the Parochial of St. Fedlimid, or Felim, at Kilmore, which he found a more convenient place, into a Cathedral, with consent of Pope Nicholas V, and placed in it 12 Canons. The year following this Erection was confirm'd by Calistus III; and about the same time, if I mistake not, the Deanry of Kilmore was Constituted. As for St. Fedlimid, he lived in the sixth Century, and was Brother to St. Diarmidius, Abbot of Inis-Cloghran. He died on the 9th of August; but what year, I know not.

The Register of the Church of Clogher makes him Bishop of Cluain, which is situate by Logh-Ern, and is commonly call'd Glunes, and says that he was there buried with St. Tigernac, first Bishop of the place. From the beginning of this new Foundation, Andrew himself, and his Successors, were no more called Bresnienses, nor Triburnenses, but Bishops of Kilmore. And it would seem indeed that the See of Bresny or Triburna were not of antient memory, for there is no mention of them in the afore said Distribution of the Bishopricks of Ireland, as appears in the Register of Centius Camerarius, who was afterward Pope Honorius III. Notwithstanding this new foundation of the Cathedral of Kilmore, Lucas Wadding says, that two Bishops were afterward promoted to the See of Triburna, namely Stephen de Straboniza, and by his death Fr. Bernard on the 13 of June 1509, but it being certain that Thomas Brady was then Bishop of Kilmore, and died not till the year 1511, it is probable that they receiv'd no profit from the See.

Annal. Minor.
Tom. 3.

The Church of S. Colman at Dromore.

Dromore denotes the side of a great Hill. This Church was founded by S. Colman (descended of the Family of the Ards) first Abbot of Muckmore in Antrim, and afterward first Bishop of this See.

M m

Focelin

Cap. 96.

Jocelin calls him Colmanel, but the Antient Scholiast of the Martyrology of Engusius says, he was also called Mocolmnoch. Colman flourish'd in the 6th Century, for he was born in the year 616, but when he died I do not find. Of this See there is no mention (which is strange) in the aforesaid Book of Centius Cumerarius, and 'tis therefore probable that for some Ages it had no Bp. of its own, and some think that all that while it was comprehended in the Diocess of Armagh, nor do I find that any Bishop sat there, after the aforesaid Distribution of Bishopricks, till Gerard a Cistercian Monk of the Abby of Mellifont, who (as I have learn'd from the Records of the Tower of London) was elected, and had the Royal Assent on the 25 of April 1227. Many of the Bishops of this See, after the 15th Century, lived for the most part in England, and but little here, by reason of the poverty of their Church, particularly under Hen. IV. Richard Messin a Carmelite, and his Successor one John, likewise under Hen. V. Nicholas Warter a Minorite and David de Chirbury a Carmelite, and under Hen. VI. Thomas Scroop or de Bradley a Carmelite likewise, and Thomas Radcliff. The former poverty of this See may be collected from an Epistle of Octavianus de Palatio Arch-Bishop of Armagh to Hen. VIII. wherein he affirms that the yearly Revenue of this See did not amount to above 40 Marks Irish Money, and this Money was then (as he there affirms) a third part less in value then the Money called Sterling. And as the Bishoprick was small, so the Parishes were few, being no more than 23. But thus much of the Churches of the Province of Armagh, I come now to those of Dublin.

Dublin Province.

The Church of the B. Trinity, commonly called Christ-Church in Dublin.

Sitricus Son of Amlave, King of the Danes, and Donatus Bishop of Dublin built this Church in the heart of the City, in the year 1038. Of this Foundation the black Book of the same Church says thus, Sitricus King of Dublin, Son of Ableb, Earl of Dublin, gave to the Holy Trinity and Donatus first Bishop of Dublin a place to build a Church to the B. Trinity, where the vaults were founded, with these following Lands, viz. Beal-dulek, Rechen, Pórttrahern, with Towns, Cattel, and Corn, and Gold and Silver sufficient to build the Church and the whole Court. This Donatus, beside the body of the Church built the collateral Structures, and rais'd from the Foundation the Chapel of St. Nicholas on the North side, and that of S. Michael, which his Successor Richard Talbot some Ages after erected into a Parochial. Donatus died 6 May 1074, and was buried in his Church. Laurence Arch-Bishop of Dublin about the year 1163, changed the Secular Canons of this Church into Regular ones of the Aroacan Order. This Laurence and Richard, surnamed Strong-bow, Earl of Strigule,
Robert

Robert Fitz-Stephens and Reymond le Gros, jointly undertook to enlarge the Church, and at their own cost and charges built the Quire, with the Steeple and two Chapels, one for S. Edmund King and Martyr and S. Mary, the other for S. Laud. Among the chief Benefactors are reckoned the 3 next Successors of Laurence, John Comin, Henry Loundres and one Lucas, who before he was Bishop was Dean of S. Martins in London, and Treasurer of the Wardrobe to Hen. III. Nor is it to be forgot that John de S. Paulo Arch-Bishop likewise of that See, a little before his death (and he died 9 Septemb. 1362.) built at his own charge the whole Presbitery, and the Archiepiscopal Seat. He is buried under a Marble adorned with brass plats, at the second step before the high Altar, as he order'd by his last Will and Testament. Hen. VIII. Converted the Prior and Convent of this Church into a Dean and Chapter in the year 1541.

S. Patricks Church in Dublin.

John Comin (of whom before) built and indow'd this fair Church, Dedicated to S. Patrick in the Southern Suburbs of the City, having demolish'd the Old Parish Church, in the year 1190, and placed in it 13 Prebendaries, which number was increas'd in latter times to 22. He also obtain'd a Bull from Pope Lucius III. dated at Velletry in the Ides of April 1182, wherein among other Privileges granted to the See of Dublin we read thus. Following likewise the Authority of the Sacred Canons we ordain, that no Arch-Bishop, or Bishop, without the Assent of the Arch-Bishop of Dublin, if he shall be in a Bishoprick in the Diocess of Dublin, shall presume to hold any Convention, or debate Ecclesiastical causes, unless enjoin'd there-to by the Pope or his Legat. A Copy of this Bull is in the Antient Register of Dublin called Crede Mihi, and from this Privilege the Controversy between the Arch-Bishops of Armagh and Dublin took beginning, and continued for some years, viz. Whether he of Armagh had the right of Primacy, bearing the Cross, Appeals, and Visitations in the Province of Dublin. Henry Loundres next Successor to Comin erected this Collegiate Church into a Cathedral, united (says John Allen Arch-Bishop of Dublin under Hen. VIII.) with the Cathedral of the Blessed Trinity in one Spouse, saving the Prerogative of Honour to the other Church. William Fitz-Guy was the first Dean. He likewise constituted a Chantor, Chancellor, and Treasurer, to whom he assign'd Lands and Rectories. S. Marys Chapel was there afterward built by Fulk Sanford one of his Successors, where he himself was buried in the year 1271. Part of the Church that was accidentally consum'd by Fire, was re-built by Thomas Minor Arch-Bishop of Dublin, who likewise built the Steeple of square Stone about the year 1370, from whence he afterward used in his Seal the Effigies of a Bishop holding a Steeple in his hand. And thus much of this Church, which if we consider the largeness of it, the Beauty and Magnificence of the Structure, is (in my Opinion) to be preferr'd before all the Cathedrals of Ireland.

The Church of S. Edan at Fernes.

Brandub King of Leinster, gave the City Fernes to S. Edan or Moedog, the first Bishop of that place, and according to our Writers, with the consent of a great Synod, made it the Metropolis of all Leinster, about the year 598. Of which an Antient writer of the Life of S. Edan says thus: A great City grew up there in honour of S. Moedog, and was called Fernes, afterward a great Synod being Assembled in Leinster, King Brandub with the Laitty and Clergy decreed, that the Arch-Bishoprick of all Leinster should always be in the See of S. Moedog, and then S. Moedog was Consecrated by many Catholicks. S. Edan died very Old the last of January 632, and was buried in the Church of Fernes whereof he was founder. To him succeeded S. Moling, called also Dairchilla, who (as we read in his Life) was Constituted Arch-Bishop in the See of S. Moedog. It was already ordain'd by Brandub Son of Eathac King of Leinster, that the Archiepiscopal See of Leinster should be in the City of S. Moedog. The City it self was called Fernes, which is in the Land of the People of Kenselach. But he, long before his death, resign'd the See, and died very Aged 17 June 697, and was buried at Temoling in a Monastery which he had there founded. (a) Girald. Cambrensis calls Moling, Braccan, and Patrick and Columba the 4 Prophets of Ireland, and affirms, that their Books were extant in his time. The place (says Colgan) was so called from Ferna the Hero, Son of Caril King of Dese, kill'd in Battle there by Gall Son of Morna. Among the principal Benefactors of the Church of Fernes are reckoned John S. John, both for his Structures and the Priviledges which he bestowed upon it. He died in 1243, having with great Prudence and Integrity sat about 21 years. Geofrey de S. John (perhaps his Brother) succeeded him twice, first in the Treasury of the Church of Limerick, and afterward in the See of Fernes. Geofrey was also, before he was Bishop, Escheator of Ireland. It is to be noted, that some of the Predecessors of the foresaid John viz. Joseph O Heth and Albin O Mulloy were sometimes called Bishops of Wexford, and used that Style in the Subscription of some Charters, perhaps it was with a design of Translating this See to Wexford, a Town at that time more frequented and populous. Certain it is, that this Bishop in a Bull of Pope Lucius III. to Jo. Comin Arch-Bishop of Dublin is called Bishop of Wexford.

(a) Hib. expugnat. lib. 2. cap. 33.

S. Bridgets Church in Kildare.

S. Conleth or Conlaid or Conlian is said to be, with the assistance of S. Bridget, the first Founder and Bishop of the Cathedral of Kildare. In the Life of the same Bridget written by Cogitosus, he is called Arch-Bishop and High Priest. He died 3 May 519, and was buried in his Church at Kildare (which signifies the Cell of the Oak) near the high Altar: his bones 281 years after, viz. in the year 800, were remov'd into a Silver Case Gilded and Adorn'd with precious Stones. The Red Book of the Earl of Kildare (from what Authority I know not) says that one Lonius was first Bp. of that place, that Ivorius succeeded him, and to Ivorius Conleth: And from from the same Book, Richard Stanburst has the same, in his English Description of Ireland, extant in the Published Holinshed, but both I think are mistaken; it is much more probable that Conlath was the first who constituted the Episcopal See there; which is thus Confirmed by an Antient Writer of the Life of S. Bridget. Conlian the Holy Bishop and Prophet of the Lord, who had his Call on the South of the field Liffy, came in his Chariot to S. Bridget, and stayed with her, and S. Bridget elected him Bishop in the City of Kildare. Ralph de Bristol first Treasurer of S. Patricks in Dublin, was at the charge of adorning and repairing this Church, and the first English Bishop of this See. He died about the beginning of the year 1232, having sat 9 years. The same Church was likewise repair'd by Edmund Lane, Bishop in the Reign of Hen. VII. Among the Suffragan Bishops of Ireland in Councils and elsewhere, as the Bishop of Meath had the first place, so the Bishop of Kildare had the next. The rest according to the time of their Ordination.

Lib. 2. Cap. 11.

The Church of S. Cainicus in Kilkenny.

The Episcopal See of Offory was first at Saiger, which we now call Seir-keran in Ely O Carol, where, about the middle of the first Century, S. Kiaran the elder was first Bishop, a Man of great Authority for his Piety and Learning. But I dare not affirm that he was that Quirinus, to whom with the rest of the Bishops in Ireland, the 61 Epistle of Gregory I. was written, which we find in the Register of the same Gregory. Tho' the great repute of Kiaran, his long Life and the similitude of the Name, may something persuade it. This See was Translated to Agabo in Offory, but when is not certain, yet possibly it was in the Year 1052; for in that year the MS. Annals of Leinster have this note, The Church of Achadbo was built, and the Shrine of S. Kenny placed there. This S. Kenny Son of Laidec a famous Poet, a Learned and Industrious Man was the first Abbot of the Abby of Aghabo founded by him, where he also died in 599, Aged 72. He writ the Life of S. Columb and some Hymns in his praise. Aghavo, or as heretofore Achadbo in the Life of S. Columb by Adamnanus is Interpreted the Field of the Ox, and so also in the Life of S. Kenny. From hence the See was at last Translated to Kilkenny by Felix O Dullany Bishop of Offory, about the end of the Reign of Hen. II. he seems to have laid the Foundation of the Cathedral of Kilkenny, which yet was not finish'd till the time of Bishop Geofry de S. Leger, who with no small cost, finish'd it before his death, which was in the year 1286, tho' before him, some of his Predecessors, chiefly Hugh Mapilton had labour'd much in the Fabrick thereof. Nor are we to forget Richard Ledred a Minorit, one of his Successors, who was at great Charges in the Repairing and Beautifying of the same Church, particularly he new built and glazed all the Windows among which that to the East, was of such excellent work, that it exceeded all others in Ireland. Ledred died in 1360, and was buried in his Cathedral near the high Altar on the Gospel side. 100 years after his Successor David Hacket built the Belfrey of polish'd Stone. Also Oliver Cantwel (which I had almost forgot) about the end of the 15 Century besides the repairing the Bishops Houses at Aghore and Freinston, and the great Bridge of Kilkenny broken by a Flood, appropriated the Church of S. Mall to the Vicars Choralls. To this we may add the pleasant Situation of this Church, which from a hill gently rais'd, has a delightful Prospect over the City and the Fertile Country thereabout, water'd with the River Neore.

The Church of S. Lasarian in Leghlin.

Of the Province of Dublin, Leghlin only remains to be spoken of, where the Cathedral was Constituted by S. Lasarian or Molaisfre, Son of Cairel de Blitha. He is said to have had his Education till his adult years, under S. Murin the Abbot, to whom his Mother, who was Daughter of a King of the Picts, committed him to be Instructed. He afterward went to Rome, where he lived 14 years, and there heard S. Gregory expounding the Holy Scriptures, by whom being ordain'd Priest, he returned home. Soon after he came to Leghlin, where S. Goban was then Abbot, who freely deliver'd up his Abby to him, and built a Cell for himself and his Monks in another place. 1590 Monks were here under the Government of S. Lasarian, says the writer of the Life of S. Munn, who farther affirms that a great Synod was held in the White Field, and a great Controversy arose between S. Lasarian and S. Munn, about the Celebration of Easter, whether on the Lord's-day, or with the Hebrews, at the fourteenth Moon. But this Synod being held in the Month of March, 630, and concluded without the desired success, Lasarian went again to Rome, where Pope Honorius I. made him Bishop, and at his return (as we read in the Life of the same Lasarian) committed to him the Office of Legat in Ireland, and not in vain, for after his return, it appears that the Observation of Easter was reform'd in the South parts of Ireland, according to the Order of Pope Honorius. Lasarian died the 14 of the Kalends of May 638, or 639, and was buried in his Church. In the Synod held at Dublin under Alexander Bicknor Arch-Bishop of Dublin, the days of the death of S. Lasarian, and likewise of Patrick, Bridget, Kenny and Edan are reckon'd Festa Duplicia in the Province of Dublin. Among the principal Benefactors of the Church of Leghlin, is reckon'd Burchard the Norwegian, Son of Gurmund, of whom before. Some of the Bishops also of this See were great Benefactors, especially Donatus about the coming of Hen. II. and William sometime Arch-Deacon of Leghlin, who began to sit in the year 1227, or as others in 1229, and died in 1251. He likewise Confirm'd to the Burgeses of Leghlin, the Lands and Privileges granted to them by Herlewin his Predecessor. Nor among the Benefactors are we to forget John Mulgan Bp. under Hen. VI. and Mathew Sanders under Hen. VIII. Leghlin, commonly call'd old Leghlin is situate not far from the River Barrow, called by Ptolomy, Birgus or Brigus. I omit Glendalagh, where the Episcopal Seat was of old, (by Hoveden call'd Bistagnensis, and in the Bull of Lucius

Vide Bede
Hist. lib. 3.
cap. 3.

Lucius III, the Bishoprick of the Islands) it being in the Reign of King John United to the See of Dublin.

In the Province of Cashel.

The Church of S. Patrick in Cashel.

IT is not to be doubted, that after the Conversion of Engus (Son of Nasthrac) King of Munster, to Christianity by the Preaching of S. Patrick, the people of Cashel were sometime subject to the Jurisdiction of S. Albe and his Successors, whose See was at Emly, 12 Miles from Cashel: but who was the first Bishop of Cashel is not easie to determine. We have before spoken at large of the Son of Cormac Culinan, King and Bishop of Cashel, and he is commonly thought to be either the Founder or Rebuilder of that Church. Before him there is very little Memory of the Bishops of Cashel. The Annals of the Priory of the Island of all Saints, say that after the rebuilding of it, it was solemnly Consecrated, and a Synod held there in the year 1134. But about the time of the coming of the English, Donald O Brian, King of Limerick, built a new Church from the Ground, and indowed it, converting the old Church of Cormac into a Chapel or Chapter-House on the South-side of the Choir. He likewise bestowed large Revenues on the See of Cashel, to which his Son Donogh, surnamed Carbrac, gave others in Tuomond, and among the rest two Islands called Sulleith and Kismacayl. This Donation was confirm'd by King John 6 Septemb. 1215. About 200 years after, Richard Hedian Arch-Bishop of Cashel repair'd this Church that was declining with Age. He built likewise a Hall for the Vicars Chorals, to whom he gave the Lands called Grange-Connel and Thurlisbeg. The Church it self situate without the City, is fortified with a Rocky and steep Hill, but by reason of the height of its situation too much expos'd to the winds. In the Ascent to it, I remember to have seen a great Stone, at which (as is the Tradition of the Inhabitants) every new King of Munster was publicly proclaim'd. There is likewise another Cashel, called Cassel-irra, in Conaght, whose first Bishop was S. Bron, who died in the year 512, which I thought fit to mention here, because some have thought that this Bron was Bishop of Cashel in Munster.

The Church of S. Albe in Emly.

Imelac or Imleca Ibair, a most Antient Episcopal See, is situate in a pleasant Fertile Country, and was heretofore richly indow'd. Where likewise of old stood a famous City, which yet by degrees is declin'd to a small Village. The great glory of this place was S. Albe called another Patrick, and the second Patron of Munster after S. Patrick; whose labour in propagating the Gospel in Ireland, Ireland, God so blessed, that both by his Doctrine and Example, he converted many, both of the Nobility, and common people, to the Faith of Christ. At last, having travelled through the whole Island in these Offices of Piety, he fixed his Cathedral at Emly, near a Logh, now almost dried up. An antient Author (to me nameless) who writ the Life of St. Colman, Bishop of Dromore, calls him Bishop of Imblic, a wise and religious man. He adds, That Colman lived with him for some years, and was studious in the holy Scriptures, with Watching, Fasting, and Prayer, and that St. Albe was made Arch-Bishop of all Munster: the Writer of the Life of St. Declan, as yet (I think) unpubliſh'd, expreſſly affirms thus: St. Patrick, St. Albe, and St. Declan, and many other Saints, his disciples, being together in the City Caſhel, with King Enguſe, they ordain'd many things of Chriſtian Diſcipline; and there King Enguſe, and St. Patrick, with all the people, eſtabliſh'd the Archiepiſcopal Seat of Munſter in the City and See of St. Albe (who was then Ordain'd Arch-Biſhop by them) for ever. The Writer alſo of the Life of St. Albe informs us, that when St. Albe had heard that Patrick had Converted Enguſe, Son of Nefrich, King of Munſter, to the Faith, and was with him in the City of Caſhel, he came to ſalute them. And the King and Patrick rejoiced at the coming of Albe, and he rejoic'd to ſee them. And there St. Albe took Patrick for his Maſter, for he was very humble. Then King Enguſe and Patrick ordain'd that the Arch-Biſhoprick of Munſter ſhould be the City of St. Albe. In what time St. Albe began to Preach the Goſpel in Ireland, is doubted. Some ſay that he labour'd in that work, and converted many, before the coming of St. Patrick into Ireland: but I rather adhere to their Opinion, who think he was later than St. Patrick. See what we have obſerv'd in our Annotations on the works of St. Patrick: to which add, that St. Albe was Ordain'd Prieſt by St. Patrick, as Tirechan, an ancient Writer tells us. Likewise out of the aforeſaid Life of St. Albe, we underſtand that he was a Boy, and Baptiz'd by him, when Palladius was ſent into Ireland by Pope Celeſtin, which was in the year 431, no more than one year before St. Patrick, as the learned well know. This ſo great a Man, died very old, but with entire ſtrength of mind and body, 12 Septemb. 527, or, as ſome will have it, in 541, and was Buried in his Church at Emly. The Ulſter Annals ſay that Emly was plunder'd, and the Miter of St. Albe preserv'd there for many Ages, burnt by Thieves in the year 1123. Melmorda was then Biſhop of this See, who eſcap'd by flight. 120 years after, Chriſtianus one of his Succeſſors (for before him I find nothing to this purpoſe) took much care in the repair of it, he died in 1249. Thomas Hurley, who was Biſhop in the Reign of Hen. VIII, erected I know not what Colledge at Emly.

Vit. St. Patr.
lib. 2.

St. Mary's Church in Limerick.

This Cathedral was Built and Indowed by Donald O Brian, King of Limerick, (of whom before) about the time of the coming of the Engliſh into Ireland. But there is in Limerick a Church commonly Theoatrick indow'd the Church of Killaloe with ample Revenues, and dying very aged was buried in the same. Among the Benefactors of this Church, is reckon'd Moriertach O-Brien King of Ireland, who died in the year 1120, and as he order'd in his Will, was buried in that Church. Nor are we to forget Donald O-Brien, King of Limerick, who for his Liberality not only to this, but to many other in Ireland, is famous in History. About the end of the 12 Century, the antient See of Roscrea was united to this. King John with the consent of Cornelius O-Henry, Bishop of Killaloe, erected a Castle there. But Mathew O-Hogan one of his Successors, exchanging the Manour of Roscrea with King Edm. I. for some Lands near new Castle in the County of Dublin, which 148 years after viz. in 1428. Donogh Mac-Cragh, then Bishop, exchanged again with William Fitz-Reuber for the Town of Hammonston in the County of Limerick. But Edm. I. in the year 1281 granted the Manour of Roscrea to Edmund Butler afterward Earl of Carick. However, by this Union of the two Sees, the Diocess of Killaloe grew very large; and contain'd about 116 Parish Churches, besides Chappels. As to the Original of the Church of Roscrea, it most certain, that St. Cronan Bishop, or as some call him, Abbot, was the first founder of it. The Frontispiece to the West (considering the poverty of the place) is specious and fair enough.

The Church of St. Brendan in Ardfert.

This Episcopal See is situate in Kerry, called heretofore Kerrigia, which was the Country of St. Brendan, Abbot of Clonsfert, to whose memory it was Dedicated. He in his first years in this his Country, studied under Ert the Bishop, and afterward went into Conaght to St. Jarlath, under whom for a time he studied Divinity. I have a MS. Copy of a long Prayer ascrib'd to St. Brendan, which begins thus: Omnipotent God, Father, Son and Holy Spirit, which I the rather mention because the Prayer was never yet Printed. And thus much of St. Brendan. But whether that Ert was ever Bishop of this See or not, I cannot easily determine. Yet I see no reason why we should not believe it, till time declare the truth. His habitation in Kerry seems to imply it. And the Bishops of Ardfert were sometime called Bishops of Kerry, as we find both in the Irish Historys and publick Records. Ardfert signifies a High Wonderful Place, or as some interpret it, the Height of Miracles, it is now commonly called Ardart.

The Church of St. Fachnan in Fenabore.

Next is Fenabore commonly Kifenore, in the County of Clare, in the Barony of Corcumro, wash'd with the Western Ocean. John Clin in the end of his Annals notes, that the Bishop of this See was called Bishop of Corcumroth. When or by whom this Church was founded, I do not find. But it may be judg'd that St. Fachnan was the founder. Of which let others inquire. This See, as it was the least, having but 13 Parishes, so it was the poorest in all Ireland.

Tuam Province.

St. Mary's in Tuam.

THe first Bishop that fix'd his See in Tuam, (called heretofore Tuaim-da-gualand) was St. Jarlath, Son of Loga, who flourish'd in the beginning of the sixth Century; for he was Master to St. Brendan, Abbot of Clonfert, as we find in the life of the same Brendan, a Learned and Pious Man, he died old 26 Decemb. but what year I do not find. Some Prophecies are extant in his name, of his Successors in the See of Tuam, whereof I have a Manuscript Copy, but what Credit we may allow them, I leave to the Judgment of others. His Bones being found long after his death, were put into a Silver Box, and laid up at Tuam in the Church or Chapel commonly called Temple ne-scrin. Some Ages after, viz. about the year 1152 the Cathedral, with the assistance of Tirdelvac O Conner King of Ireland, was new built by Edan O Hoisin, first Arch-Bishop of Tuam, at least the first that had the use of the Pall, for some of his Predecessors are in the Irish Histories called Arch-Bishops, tho' they had not the Pall. This Edan died in 1161, and was buried in his Cathedral, where he has an Epitaph in Irish, wherein he is called Comorban, or Successor of Jarlath. But the Successors of Edan, built a new Quire and left this Church for the Body of the Church. Among them Thomas O Conner was a great Benefactor, who likewise obtain'd from King Hen. III. a Fair to be held in Tuam on the 28 of Decemb. and 7 days after yearly. As to the Sees united to that of Tuam, the first was Mayo, United in the time of Felix O Ruadan Arch-Bishop, after the death of Celestin or Cæle O Dubhai Bishop of Mayo, who died in 1210. The Second was Enaghdun; but before the real Union of this, there was great debate between the Arch-Bishops of Tuam and others, who pretended a right to it. The Controversy first arose after the Death of Thomas O Maley Bishop of Enaghdun. For upon his Death Florence Mac-Flin, promoted the same year from the Chancery of Tuam to the Archbishoprick, Entred into the Bishoprick of Enaghdun, with Licence of the Canons of Enaghdun, and retain'd all his time the Temporals and Spirituals of the said Bishoprick, as we find in Rot. Placit. An. 34. Edm. 1. One Concord Consecrated Bishop and Confirm'd by the Royal Assent, on the 8 of May 1251, complaining of an injury done him. Florence's next Successor Walter de Salern, sometime Dean of S. Pauls in London (whom Mathew Paris falsely calls Archbishop of Armagh) died at London in his return from Rome, soon after his Consecration. In the Month of April 1258, before he had seen his See. So that of him I have nothing more to say.

To Walter succeeded Thomas, of whom before, who held the See
of

of Tuam and Enaghdun together 20 years, but while Stephen de Fulburn was Bishop the Controversy revived, between him and John de Ufford, who was Elect of Enaghdun, and had the Royal Assent the 16 of March 1282, but Ufford was Cast. Upon the Death of Fulburn in 1288, William de Birmingham succeeded, who was Elect and Consecrated Bp. of Enaghdun in 1306, and restor'd to the Temporals the 15 of July 1308, against the Archbishop's will. To avoid prolixity, I omit here the disputes between Malachias's, Successor to William, and the foresaid Gilbert, and his Successors, James Kerney, Robert le Petit and Thomas Maley. It may suffice to shew here, that Malachias upon the Death of Tho. Maley at Avignon in the year 1318, recover'd to the Church of Enaghdun, and govern'd it some years before his Death, and so that long Debate ended.

St. Mary's Church in Elphin.

Elphin, or, as some write it, Elfm, is situate in a fertile and pleasant Country, something rising, where St. Patrick built the Cathedral, near a little River that flows from two Fountains, about the middle of the fifth Century, and there placed Aiscus, a Monk of an austere life. Some say that this Aiscus was a Goldsmith, and by his Art adorn'd the Church with Monuments of excellent Workmanship. After many Centurys, and not long after the coming of the English, the See of Roscoman being translated hither, this See of Elphin was very much enriched, and indow'd with large possessions. When Ardcarn, Drumclive, and other Sees of less note were united to this, I confess I know not; but it is probable that it was before the coming of the English. Their names are not in the distribution made in the year 1152, nor (which is strange) the See of Elphin it self. From whence I cannot but think, that it was at that time, namely, before the said translation, united to the See of Roscoman. However, it is certain that the See of Elphin, by these Unions, was esteem'd one of the richest in Ireland, and had more or less 79 Parish Churches. The ignorant Vulgar think the name was given it, from a great Stone there to be seen, called the Stone of the Giant Finn-Mac-Cool.

The Church of St. Mary in Clonsfert.

S. Brendan, Son of Finlog, Fellow Student with S. Brendan Birr, built the Abby of Clonsfert, near the River Shenon, in the Year 558, where he was Abbot, and where at 93 years of Age, he was buried. He died at Enaghdun 16 May 577, from whence his Body was convey'd to Clonsfert and there buried. In his time the Cathedral of Clonsfert was first Constituted. We find the death of the first Bishop, in the Ulster Annals, at the year 571, thus noted; Marna, Bishop of Clonsfert-Brenain died. Among the Benefactors of this Church, is reckon'd a man of great name, one John an Italian, Nuncio from Pope Innocent IV. in Ireland, consecrated to this See at Athenry, the Sunday before Christmas day in 1266. Where having sat 30 years, he was translated to the See of Beneventum in Italy, to him succeeded in the See of Clonsfert, Robert a Benedictin Monk Monk of Canterbury, who had the Assent of King Hen. III. the 24 of Septemb. 1296.

The Church of S. Muredach in Killally.

That Muredach to whose Memory the Cathedral of Killally is dedicated, was the first Bishop of the same Church, he was ordain'd by S. Patrick, from whence it appears that he flourish'd in the 5th Century, but of the time of his death I find nothing. Killally is situate not far from the River Muad or Moy in the County of Mayo, and the Bishops of that See, from that part of the Country which incloses it, are sometimes in History called Bishops of Tir-Amalgaid. The Antient possessions of this See were confirm'd by Pope Innocent III. in 1198. at the request of Donogh Bishop of Killally. See a Catalogue of them in the Decretal Epistles of the same Pope.

The Church of S. Comragh in Achonry.

This Church was built by S. Finian of Clonard, about the year 530, who gave it to Nathy commonly called Comrah, or Gruimthir a Man of great Sanctity. The Writer of the Life of S. Finian calls him only Presbyter, but I cannot believe, but that he was afterward made Bp. of Achonry, in the Antient Irish Annals, the Bps. of this See, from the Hundred where it is situate, are called Lugnienfis, or Leiniences. Among those Bishops, William Andrew, D. D. an English Man, of the Order of Preachers, is much Celebrated for his Learning, who having govern'd this See about 6. years, was Translated to the See of Meath, in the year 1380, and died the Eve of S. Michael 1385.

The Church of St. Colman in Kilmacough.

We conclude with the Church of Duac, which owes its original to St. Colman, Son of Duac, who was there Bishop about the middle of the 6th Century, and died 3d Feb. but what year I do not find. From his Sur-name, the See it self is call'd Kil-mac-Duac, that is, the Church of the Son of Duac, commonly Kil-macough. Of this See, I find nothing else worth the notice.

Some possibly may blame me, that I have said so little of the Churches of the Province of Tnam: but they are to take notice, that almost all the antient Charters and Registers of the Bishops and Churches of that Province, except some few bare Catalogues of Possessions, Rents, and Procurations, to the great detriment of the Church, are lost. And this is what I had to say of the Cathedrals of Ireland.

CHAP. XXX.

Of the Servants of the Antient Irish, and of the Villains, Natives, or Betagii, belonging to the Lands which they held.

Certain it is that the Irish had heretofore Servants which they bought and sold at a certain price. And so frequent was this custom.

stom among them; that in an ancient Irish Synod, we find the Legacy of a Bishop out of the Goods of the Church, determin'd by the price of a Maid. So an ancient Canon, A Prince (or Bishop as we have elsewhere noted) may at his Death bequeath out of the Goods of the Church; the price of a Maid, either of his movable Substance, or of Land. It is an old Book of Canons in Benedict Colledge in Cambrige, written 700 years since. Likewise Cotton's Book of Canons of 66 Titles. An Irish Synod saith; Whoever shall steal any thing from the King or Bishop, or commit any thing against them, or despise them, shall pay the price of seven Maids, or do penance with the Bishop seven years. And there also in another Canon, The Oath of a Servant, unknown to his Master, is void: as also, The Oath of a Son or Daughter, unknown to the Father; and the Oath of a Monk, unknown to the Abbot. Among Servants, were reckon'd such as were taken in War, who were bought and sold at a price, and were so often redeem'd. To this belong these two Canons in the foresaid Book of 66 Titles, ascrib'd to S. Patrick, If any require the Redemption of a Captive, without permission of the Abbot, he deserves Excommunication. Also; if any have Permission from the Bishop, and the price of the Captive be Collected, he shall not exact more than is needful; if any thing remain over and above, it shall be deposited upon the Altar, and employ'd to the use of the Poor and Prisoners. Of any Custome or Form of Manumission of Captives or Servants among the Antient Irish, I do not find any mention. Nor do I know whether we may have any light therein from those various Forms of Manumission used among the Antient Franks, as by a Penny thrown down before the King, or in his absence, before any of the Nobility, or by a Charter in the Church, before the Priests and the Altar, or by a private Epistle.

Beside these Servants, there were others whom they called Villains; from whence the Lands granted to them, were said to be granted in Villanage. These were Lay-men belonging to the Manour or Glebe, and were counted as parts of that Farm or Inheritance. So we find in the Black Book of Christ-Church in Dublin, where the Lands granted by King Sitricus to that Church, are said to be granted cum Villanis, Vaccis & Bladis, with the Villains, Cattle and Corn. The same likewise we find in a Charter of Dermot King of Leinster, granted not long before the coming of the English, as it is in the Register of the Priory of All Saints in Dublin. In the name of the Holy and Individual Trinity, Father Son and Holy Spirit, I Dermot King of Leinster for the Love of God, and Salvation of my own Soul, have given and deliver'd to my Spiritual Father and Confessor Edan Bishop of Lugud (or Clogher) for the benefit of the Canons of the filial Church of Zola and their Successors, the Lands called Ballidubgail with the men thereof, viz. Melifu Mac-Feilecan, with his Sons and Nephews, Free and Discharg'd from my Procuration and Expedition, and from that, of all who shall succeed in the Government of Leinster and Dublin, in perpetual Alms, with the Lawful and Antient Lands, and all other things to the same Town appertaining, &c. Witnesses Laur. Arch-Bishop of Dublin, Kinad Bishop of Glendelagh, Q q and

and Benignus Abbot of Glendelach, Enna my Son, Felan Mac-Feolain, D. Mac-Gillacolum, Ethmarehac and Aralt Sons of Torcail, G. Mac-Gunnar, and many others. So the Register, Fol. 45. These Villains were the same with those called by some Natives, or Originals, or Original Inhabitants, and sometimes Betagii. Of those Betagii we find mention in an Antient Register called Crede mihi, belonging to the Arch-Bishop of Dublin, in Two Bulls of Pope Urban IV. and also in the Black Book of the Church of Lismore; from whence, before that Book was burnt, this that follows was taken. It is to be noted that every Caruc of the Betagii ought every year to Plough for the Lord (the Bishop) one Acre at the Season of Wheat, and one Acre at the Season of Oats, &c. Likewise the Betagii ought to draw home the Corn of their Lord. Where the Betagii are distinguish'd from the Tenants. Likewise in a Charter of Edw. I. dated the 14 of May, in the 9th of his Reign, and of our Lord 1316, by which he made John Son of Thomas, Earl of Kildare; he gave him the Castle and Town of Kildare, together with the services of the Free-holders, Farmers and Betagys, &c. Men of this servile Condition were not permitted to bear any Military Employment, and after the old way of the Heroick Ages, as * Virgil shews, Aeneid. 9.

*Quorum Primævus Helenor,
Mæonio Regi, quem serva Lycimnia furtim Sustulerat, vetitisque ad Trojam miserat armis.*

But followed only the Rustick Labours of Digging, Hedging, Plowing and Sowing, &c. In fine, the Lord of the Soil had Jurisdiction as well over the Body as over all the Goods and Fortunes of the Villain, so heavy was the yoke of their Servitude.

CHAP. XXXI.

Of the Antient ways of Proofs and Purgations among the Irish after their Conversion to Christianity.

THE Usual Way of Purgation among the Irish when they had embraced Christianity, was by Oath, with a solemn laying hands on the Evangelists, or a reception of the Eucharist. This we learn from an ancient Canon of St. Patrick, Intituled, Of the Contention between two without Witness, It is Decreed, that what is to be proved shall be attested upon the holy Evangelists, before the Communion, and then the matter shall be left to the Judge. But several other kinds are related by Authors of the middle Ages, particularly by Venerable Bede, in his Martyrology, speaking of St. Bridget, among the Scots (says he) the Virgin St. Bridget, whose Life was eminent for Miracles, who when she touch'd the Wood of the Altar in testimony of her Virginity, it grew green and flourished. The same is related by Cogitosus, elder than Bede, in the life of the same Bridget. The following Canon of a Synod of St. Patrick, Auxilius and Ifferninus, relates to the prohibiting of the Trial by Duel in Clerks. If a Clerk become bound for a man that is, an Infidel, in any sum, and if it shall happen (which is no wonder) that this Infidel by his Craft deceive the Clerk, that Clerk shall path.

the Deat: for if he enter the Comat with him, he will be justly aduag'd to be as one out of the Church. After the coming of the English in some solemn Trials of Right: the Duel was, tho' seldom allowed of. And such a Duel we find mention'd by John Clyn in his Annals at the year 1284. Geofry de St. Leodegario Bishop of Oilory, recover'd by Duel the Manour of Seir-keran; the Champion of the Bishop (for so I understand it) summon'd by a Writ of Right, overcoming the Champion of his Adversary. Likewise, ten years after, in that sharp Contest between William de Vesey, not long before Justice of Ireland, and John Fitz Thomas, afterward Earl of Kildare, where Vesey was accus'd of Treason, before William de la Hay Keeper of the Office of Chief Justice of Ireland. Vesey offer'd to defend his Cause by Duel, which his Adversary accepted. After some usual Ceremonys, the day was appointed in England; but Vesey before the time convey'd himself privately away, whereupon the King gave his Lands in Ireland to the said John. But these two examples are Modern. There was also another kind of Trial received in the ancient Laws, called Ordeal, which was perform'd either by Red-hot-Iron, Hot or Gold Water. Gillbert or Gille, Bishop of Limerick, who flourished in the year 1130, in his Book De Statu Ecclesie; Among other things which the Bishop us'd to Consecrate, reckons the Judicial Fire, from whence it seems probable that the Irish heretofore had that kind of Tryal in use among them. Particularly, Saxo Grammaticus in the Life of Nicholas the 8th King of the Danes, relates that Harald, an Irish Man by birth, underwent the Judgement of hot Iron with his bare Feet, and was not burnt. But these last Tryals by Duel and Fire Ordeal are forbidden by the Canons, and highly inveigh'd against by the Divines. That of Fire Ordeal is long since extinct, and the other by Degrees is grown out of use.

The last ill Custom to be spoken of (which I had almost forgot) used among them, was that of Swearing before the Brehons, in any matter in debate, by the Head, Hands, Life or Health of their Lord or Prince: which use is certainly Ethnick in its Original, and seems to be derived from the Egyptians: as we may imply from the Oath of Joseph, swearing by the Life of Pharaoh: The like custom of Swearing by the Life and Fortune of Caesar, was among the Ancient Romans, says Dio, Lib. 45 and 57. It is certain likewise that the like was in use among the Christians both of the East and West for some ages after. And in Ireland it continued longer than in other places. But was there at last prohibited.

CHAP. XXXII. Of the Funerals, Sepulchers and Subterraneous Vaults of the Antient Irish, and Danes in Ireland.

THE learned well know, that Antiently among the Gentiles of Greece, Italy, Germany, Gaul, Britain and elsewhere, there was two kinds of Sepulture, viz. Interring and Burning. Nor need we doubt, that the like Rites were observed among the Anti-ent

(a) Geograph.
lib. 3.

ent Irish before they embraced Christianity, more especially since it is certain that the Druids were their Priests and Law-givers. And that the Druids burnt and interr'd their Dead, is expressly affirm'd by (a) Pomponius Mela; nor were the Exequys of the Danes in Ireland much different while they were Heathens. For in our time in the year 1646, while they were working the Line of Fortification in the Eastern Suburbs of Dublin, an antient Sepulcher was digg'd up; it lay South-West and North-East, and was built of eight Marble Stones, whereof two covered, and the rest supported it. It was in length 6 foot and 2 inches, and in breadth three foot and one inch, the thickness of the Stones was three inches. At each corner was erected a Stone of 4 foot high, and hard by at the South-West-end another in form of a Pyramis of 6 foot high, but of rude work, and of that kind of Stone which we call a Mill-Stone. See fig. 12.

(a) Danic
Monum lib. 1.
(b) Æneid.
12.

In the Sepulcher was found a great quantity of coals, ashes and bones of Men, some burn'd, some half burnt; a work, as is believ'd, of the Danes, built in memory of some of their Nobility, before they were Christians. The manner of burning the Dead, and collecting their Ashes among the Danes, may be seen in (a) Olaus Wormius of Antient Sepulchers in Hills and Mountains: see (b) Virgil.

*Fuit ingens monte sub alto,
Regis Dercenni terreno ex aggere bustum, Antiqui Laurentis, opacæque ilice tectum.*
Et Lucan lib. 8.

Et Regum cineres extructo monte quiescunt.
See likewise Isidore, lib. 15. Etymolog. cap. 11.

Some of this kind, of Antient work and round form are yet to be seen in Ireland, particularly at the Naas in the County of Kildare, and at Clonard in Meath, which are believ'd to be Tombs of the Antient, when Cymeterys were not yet in use among them.

We omit here those Circles or round Fortifications commonly called *Danes Rath*s, whereof many are to be seen in Ireland, the Saxons of old encamped so in a Circle, and called those places Burghs, and Raith in Irish denotes the same.

Yet it is not to be omitted that some round Hills are found, the inner parts whereof are formed into Chambers, and served the Danish Princes of old for houses. And such is that Hill at Sligo in Conaght, a mile distant from Castle Conner, the entrance into which was for some years stopt up, but was at last, An. 1640, discover'd by chance and open'd. The Chambers are quadrangular, of great Stones and arched, and the passages to them are circular. The figure of part of it are exhibited to the Readers view, as it was describ'd to me by that able Mathematician Dr. Miles Symner, who had taken a View of it soon after the discovery. See fig. 13.

Of this ancient Work, many are the Opinions, but there being, as I hear, in those Chambers no passages either for light or smoke, it seems seems not probable that they should be Habitations of the Danes, but rather Barns or Store-houses, or (which I rather think) Sepulchers of their Princes. This is only my Opinion, time may perhaps discover more, when the inner parts are seen, which are yet closed up. To this we may add the Caves of the Hill, or rather Rock of Corren, in the said County of Sligo, where within a steep and almost inaccessible Entrance, Antiquity has form'd out of the very Rock, many and strange Habitations and Recelles on the West side of the Rock, they call it the Giants House. Before these Caves is a path of about 100 paces long, cut likewise out of the Rock, whether this was an Irish or Danish Work doth not certainly appear. But in the time of the War it was a Sanctuary to many. Of the Subterraneous Vaults, which the Greeks called Hypææ, and the Latins Conditoria we find frequent mention in History. Of the Sepulchers of the Ancient Hebrews in such Caves, see Gen. chap. 23 and 49. and it is certain that the Ancient English-Saxons had Sepulchers, which they called By-gens, under Hills, called also by some Burrows. Moreover it was a Custom among the Northern People, that all those Soldiers that surviv'd a Battle, should cast as much earth as their Helmets would contain, upon the Graves of the Slain, as Cambden notes in Wiltshire. But of these Customs among the Northern Nations, see more in the aforesaid Olaus Wormius, or in Saxo Grammaticus and Olaus Magnus.

We come now to the Antient Custom of burning among the Irish, which was in use not only among the Danes in Ireland, while they were Idolaters, but likewise among the Irish after they had embraced Christianity. For in the Antient Book of Canons of 66 Titles, written in the time of the English Saxons, under the Title De nomine Basilicæ & ejus scissura, we read thus: Synod. Hibern. Βασιλῆος, in Greek, King in English, from thence Basilica took its name, because in former times, Kings only were buried in them. For other men were buried either in the Fire or under a heap of Stones. Item, No Stranger has liberty of cutting the Church, without the leave of the Prince. Whoever shall attempt so to do shall give satisfaction according to the dignity of the place. So the Synod. Where we may likewise observe another Antient Irish Custom of burying under a heap of Stones. If according to this Custom that heap of Stones at Windgate in the County of Wicklow were not there laid in Memory of the slain, it may seem to be a Mercurial Monument, laid there by Travellers according to the Custom of Antiquity, in honour of Mercury, the Protector of Travellers, or one of those heaps of Stones which were heretofore laid to design the Mears and Bounds of Land, and were called Scorpions. Nor ought we to pass by what we find in an Antient Irish Synod, concerning the Rights of a dead Body, in these words, Every dead Body has a right to a Cow, a Horse, and a Suit of Cloaths, and the furniture of his Bed, nor can any of these be taken in satisfaction of other debts, because they are peculiar to the Body. Of the Cries and Howlings of the Irish Women at the Funeral of their Friends, we have before treated chap. XII. and sometimes Women were hired to this Office like the Antient Præfica, Servius calls a Præfica the Prince of Mourners. Such was likewise the Custom among the Roman Women, who tore their Hair and Face, as we find in the Roman Authors. But that use was prohibited by the Laws of the XII Tables Mulieres genas ne radunto. Mulier faciem ne carpito. Mulieres lessem funeris ergo ne habento. Tacitus in his Book of the Customs and People of Germany, after his Description of the Funerals of the Antient Germans, who (Says he) burn'd the Bodies of their Eminent Men, with a certain kind of Wood, and rais'd them Sepulchers of Earth. goes on thus: They soon lay aside their Tears and Lamentations, but not their Grief, in Women it is commendable to Lament, in Men to Remember. And doubtless the Antient Irish deriv'd a Resemblance of Manners in many things from the Cauci and Menspii, who planted in Ireland; and others likewise from the Gauls, particularly, their Feasts at Funerals. And this is what I had to say of the Funerals, Sepulchers and Caves of the Antient Irish.

The End of the Antiquities.

A Chronological Table of the Chief Governors of IRELAND from the Conquest in 1168, to the Year of our Lord God, 1704.

GOVERNORS.

King Henry the II. being embroiled in his French Affairs gave little ear to King Dermot, but recommended him to Earl Strongbow, and granted the said Earl licence to assist him, who undertook the quarrel on condition of Marriage with the said King's Daughter. But K. Henry growing jealous of Strongbow's Potency comes toward Ireland, Strongbow meets him at Gloucester, surrender'd all his Conquests to his Dispose, returns with him to Waterford, and from thence to Dublin, to whom all the Petty-Kings and great Lords of Ireland submit, and swear fealty: the King returns for England, and leaves 1172. Hugh de Lacy, Robert Fitz Stephens, Maurice Fitz Gerald, and Robert de Bruis, Governors.

1173. Richard Strongbow & Raymonde le Grosse, Lord Wardens of Ireland.

1175. Raymond le Grosse, Lord Procurator General.

1175. William Fitz-Andelm, John de Courcy, Governors.

1179. Hugh de Lacy, L. P. G.

1180. John de Lacy and Richard Peck Gov.

1181. Hugh de Lacy and Robert of Shrewsbury, Governors.

1184. Philip de Winchester Governor.

Earl John, Son to King Henry the II, Lord of Ireland.

1185. John de Courcy Earl of Ulster, Governor.

1190. Hugh de Lacy the younger, and John de Courcy Governors.

1191. William Marshal and William Pettet, L. J.

1197. Hamo de Valis, L. J.

1199. Myler Fitz-Henry, King John's Son, Governor.

- | | | |
|---|---|--|
| 1200. Hugh de Lacy,
L. J. | 1280. Sir Kob. de Ufford
L. J. | of Ufford L. J. |
| 1208. John Gray Bish.
of Norwich, L. J. | 1282. Steph. Fulbern,
Arch-Bp. of Tuam, L. J. | 1332. Sir Roger Morti-mer L. J. |
| 1210. King John. | 1288. John Samford,
Arch-Bp. of Dublin, L. J. | 1334. Sir John Darcy, L. J. Thomas Bourk Lieutenant to him. |
| 1210. John Gray, Bish.
L. J. | 1291. William Vesey, L. J. | 1337. Sir John Carlton,
L. J. |
| 1213. Henr. Launders,
Arch-Bishop of Dublin,
L. J. | 1293. William de lay
Hay L. J. | 1338. Tho. Carlton Bp.
of Hereford, L. J. |
| 1215. Geoffry Marsh, with Sir Edmond Butler,
L. J. | Wil. Dodinsale, L. J. | 1340. Roger Outlaw,
Prior of Kilmainham, L. J. |
| 1219. Henry Launders and Maurice Fitz-Gerald,
L. J. | 1295. Tho. Fitz Morris,
L. J. | 1341. Sir John Morris,
L. J. |
| 1224. Will. Marshall,
L. J. | 1295. John Wogan, L. J. | 1344. Sir Ralph Ufford,
L. J. |
| 1225. Geoffry Marsh,
L. J. | 1308. Sir Will. Bourk,
L. W. | 1346. Roger Lord Dar-
cy, L. J. |
| 1227. Richard Bourk,
L. J. | Piers Gaveston L. J. | 1346. Sir John Morris,
L. J. |
| 1232. Maur. FitzGerald
L. J. | 1310. John Wogan L. J. | 1348. Sir Walter Bermingham, L. J. |
| 1245. John Fitz Geoffry
L. J. | 1312. Sir Edmund Butler
L. J. | 1348. John Archer Prior of Kilmainham. L. J. |
| 1247. Theobald Butler,
Lord of Carrick, and John Cogan, L. J. | 1314. Theobald de Ver-don, L. J. | 1349. Sir Wal. Bermin-
gham, L. J. |
| 1257. Geoffery Alan de la Zouch, L. J. | 1314. Sir Edm. Butler
Earl of Carrick, L. J. | 1349. Sir Tho. Rooksbey,
L. J. |
| 1258. Steph. Longsword,
L. J. | 1317. Sir Roger Morti-mer, L. J. But the Lord
Birmingham General. | 1350. Maur. Fitz Thomas Earl of Desmond, L. J. |
| 1260. Will. Dean, L. J. | 1318. William Arch-Bp. of Cashal, Lord Chancellor of Ireland, L. J. | 1356. Sir Tho. Rooksbey,
L. J. |
| 1261. Ric. de Rupella
alias Rochel. L. J. | 1318. Alexand. Bignor
Arch-Bp. of Dublin L. J. | 1357. Almeric de St. Amand, L. J. |
| 1267. Sir David Barry
L. J. | 1319. Roger Mortimer
again L. J. | 1359. James Butler Earl of Ormonde L. J. |
| 1268. Ro. de Ufford, L. J. | 1320. Tho. Fitz John,
Earl of Kildare, L. J. | 1360. Maur. Fitz Thomas Earl of Kildare, L. J. |
| 1269 Ric. de Exon, L. J. | 1321. John Bermingham
Lord of Athenry, and Ralph de Gorges, L. J. | 1361. Lionel Earl of Ulster, 3d. Son to K. Edward the third, he was after created Duke of Clarence,
L. L. he stayed till 1365. |
| 1270. Sir James Audley,
L. J. | 1323. Sir John Darcy,
L. J. | 1365. Sir Thomas Dale,
L. J. |
| 1272. Maur. Fitz Maurice, L. J. | 1326. Tho. Fitz John,
Earl of Kildare, L. J. | 1367. Gerald Fitz Morris Earl of Desmond, L. J. |
| 1272. Sir Geoffry de Ge-neville, L. J. | Roger Outlaw Prior, of Kilmainham, L. J. | 1369. William de Wind
for, L. J. |
| 1276. Sir Robert de Uf-
ford, L. J. | 1326. Sir John Darcy,
L. J. and Roger Outlaw
his D. | 1372. Sir Ro. Ashton, L. J. |
| 1279. Stephen Fulborne,
Bp. of Waterford, L. J. | 1331. Sir Anthony Lu-
cy, L. J. | |
| | 1331. Will. Bourke Earl | |

1374. Maur. Fitz Thomas Earl of Kildare, L. J.
 1376. James Butler Earl of Ormonde, L. J.
 1378. John Bromwich, L. J.
 1379. Edmund Mortimer Earl of March, L. Lieut.
 1380. Roger Mortimer Earl of March and Ulster, L. L.
 1382. Philip Courtney, the King's Cofin, L. L. but the Lord Bermingham General.
 1384. Robert de Vere Earl of Oxford, L. L.
 1385. Sir John Stanley, L. D.
 1386. Alexander Bp. of Meath, L. J.
 1389. Sir John Stanley, L. J.
 1392. James Earl of Ormonde, L. J.
 1394. William Scroope, L. J.
 1394. King Richard the Second in person.
 1395. Roger Mortimer Earl of March and Ulster, L. L.
 1398. Roger Grey, L. J.
 1399. John Stanley L. L.
 1399. King Richard 2, the second time.
 1402. Thomas Earl of Lancaster the Kings Son, L. L.
 1402. Alexander Bp. of Meath his D.
 1404. Stephen Scroop, D.
 1405. Gerald Earl of Kildare, L. J.
 1408. Thomas Butler Prior of Kilmalianan, D.
 1410. Thomas Butler again.
 1411. The same again.
 1412. John Talbot Lord Furnival, L. J.
 1416. Thomas Earl of Lancaster, L. L. and Stephen Scroope, D.
 1419. Richard Talbot, Arch-Bp. of Dublin, L. J.
 1420. John Duke of Bedford, L. L. James Butler Earl of Ormonde, D.
 1423. Edward Earl of March and Ulster, L. L.
 1425. John Lord Talbot D.
 1426. James Butler Earl of Ormonde, D.
 1427. Sir John Gray, L. L.
 1428. Edward Dantsey, Bp. Meath D. and the same year.
Sir John Sutton Lord Dudley L. L.
 1429. Sir Thomas Strange D.
 1432. Sir Thomas Stanley L. L. Sir Christoph. Planket D.
 1435. Sir Thomas Stanly, again returns.
 1436. Richard Talbot Arch-Bp. of Dublin, D.
 1438. Lion. Lord Wells, L. L.
 1440. Richard Talbot, Arch-Bp. of Dublin D. the same year James Earl of Ormonde D. and Lion Lord Wells returns.
 1441. James Earl of Ormonde, D.
 1442. William Wells, D. to Lion. Lord Wells.
 1443. James Earl of Ormonde, L. L.
 1446. John Earl of Shrewsbury, L. L.
 1447. Richard Talbot, ArchBp. of Dublin, Lord Chancellor D.
 1449. Richard Duke of York L. L.
 1450. James Earl of Ormond, and Wiltshire Lord Treasurer of England, L. D. to the Duke of York.
 1452. Baron of Delvin, Dep.
 1454. Tho. Fitz Maurice Earl of Kildare, Dep.
 1454. Edward Fitz Eustace Dep.
 1456. Thomas Fitz Maurice E. of Kildare, D.
 1459. Richard Duke of York L. L. here in person.
 1460. Tho. Fitz Maurice, Earl of Kildare Dep.
 1462. Sir Roland Fitz Eustace, Dep.
 1460. George Duke of Clarence, L. L. for life.
 1463. Thomas Earl of Desmond, Dep.
 1467. John Tiptoft Earl of Worcester Dep.
 1471. Thomas Earl of Kildare, L. D.
 1475. Bp. of Meath, D. Thomas E. of Kildare D. Sir Roland Fitz Eustace Dep.
William Sherwood Esq; Dep.
 1478. Henry Lord Grey L. D. Gerald Earl of Kildare, L. J.
 1478. Sir Robert Preston L. D.
 1479. Richard Duke of York L. L.
 1479. Gerald E. of Kildare, D.
 1483. Prince Edward Son to Richard the third, L. L.
 1483. Gerald E. of Kildare D.
 1484. John de la Pole E. of Lincolne L. L.

1487. Gerald E. of Kildare, L. D. to John de la Pole, E. of Lincoln.
1490. Jasper Duke of Bedford L. L.
1492. Walter Fitz-Simons Arch-Bp. of Dublin, L. Dep.
1493. Robert Preston the 1st L. Visc. Gormanstown, L. Dep.
1494. Sir Edward Poynings, L. Dep.
1495. Hen. Dean Chancellor of Ireland, L. J.
1496. Gerald Earl of Kildare, L. L.
1501. Henry D. of York, after K. Hen. 8. L. L. E. of Kildare, L. D.
1503. Wal. Fitz Symons Arch-Bp. of Dublin, L. D.
1504. Gerald Earl of Kildare, L. L.
1513. Gerald, the Son of Gerald late E. of Kildare, L. J.
1515. Lord Visc. Gormanstown, L. J.
1519. Sir Thomas Fitz Maurice, L. J.
1520. Thomas Howard, Earl of Surrey, L. L.
1522. Pierce Butler Earl of Ormond & Ossory, L. D.
1524. Gerald E. of Kildare, L. D.
1526. Thomas Fitz Gerald of Liexlip, L. D.
- Richard Nugent, Baron of Delvin, L. D.
1526. Richard Nugent, Baron of Delvin, L. J.
1528. Pierce Butler, E. of Ormond & Ossory, L. D.
1530. Henry D. of Richmond, L. L.
- Sir Will. Skefington, L. D.
1531. Gerald E. of Kildare, L. D.
1534. Thomas Son to the Earl of Kildare, L. D.
- Sir Will. Skefington, L. D.
1535. Leonard L. Grey, Lord Visc. Graney, in Ireland, L. D.
1539. Sir Anth. St. Leger, L. Dep.
1540. Sir William Brereton, Baron of Loghlin, in Ireland, L. J.
1543. Sir Will. Brabazon, L. J.
1544. Sir Anthony St. Leger, L. D.
1546. Sir William Brabazon, a second time L. J.
1547. Sir Anthony St. Leger, L. D.
1548. Sir Edward Belingham, L. D.
1549. Sir Francis Bryan, Marshal of Ireland, and Sir William Brabazon, L. J.
1550. Sir Anthony St. Leger, a fourth time, L. D.
1551. Sir James Crofts, L. Dep.
1552. Sir Tho. Cusacke, and Sir Ger. Aylmer, L. J.
1553. Sir Anthony St. Leger, the fifth time L. D.
1556. Thomas Radcliff, Visc. Fitz Walter, L. D.
1557. Hugh Corwin, Arch Bp. of Dublin, and Sir Henry Sidney, L. J.
1557. Sir Henry Sidney, Treasurer of Ireland, L. J.
1558. Thomas Earl of Sussex, L. L.
- Sir Henry Sidney his Dep.
1559. Sir William Fitz Williams, L. J.
1561. Thomas Earl of Sussex returned, L. L.
1561. Sir William Fitz Williams, L. J.
1562. Thomas Earl of Sussex, L. L.
1565. Sir Nicholas Arnold, L. J.
1565. Sir Henry Sidney, L. D.
1567. Dr. Weston Lord Chancellor, and Sir Wm. Fitz-Williams, L. J.
1568. Sir Henry Sidney, L. D.
1571. Sir William Fitz-Williams, L. D.
1575. Sir Henry Sidney, L. D.
1578. Sir William Drury, L. J.
1579. Sir Wm. Pelham, L. J.
1580. Arthur Lord Grey, L. D.
1582. Adam Loftus Archbishop of Dublin and Lord Chancellor with Sir Henry Wallop, Treasurer of Ireland, L. J.
1584. Sir John Perrot, L. D.
1588. Sir William Fitz-William, L. D.
1594. Sir Wm. Russel, L. D.
1597. Thomas Lord Bororoughs, L. D.
1597. Adam Loftus Ld. Chancellor, and Sir Robt. Gardiner, L. J.
1598. Robt. Earl of Essex, L. L.
1599. Sir Adam Loftus Lord Chancellor, and Sir George Carey, Lord Treasurer, L. J.
1599. Sir Charles Blunt, Lord Mountjoy, L. L.
1603. Sir George Carey, L. D.
1604. Sir Arthur Chichester, L. D.
1613. Thomas Jones, Archbishop of Dublin, Lord Chancellor, and Sir Richard

Richard Wingfield, L. J.
1614. Sir Arthur Chichester, Lord of Belfast, L. D.

1615. Thomas Jones Lord Chancellor, and Sir John Denham Chief Justice of the King's-Bench, L. J.

1616. Sir Oliver St. John, L. D.

1622. Sir Adam Loftus Visc. Ely, Lord Chancellor, and Richard Wingfield Lord Visc. Powerscourt, L. J.

1625. Henry Carey, Lord Visc. Falkland, L. D.

1629. Sir Adam Loftus Visc. Ely, Lord Chancellor, and Sir Richard Boyle, Lord Treas. L. J.

1633. Tho. Lord Visc. Wentworth, L. D.

1636. Sir Adam Loftus Visc. Ely, Lord Chancellor, and Sir Christopher Wandesford, Master of the Rolls, L. J.

Tho. Lord Visc. Wentworth, L. D.

1639. Robert Lord Dillon of Kilkenny-West, and Sir Christopher Wandesford, L. J.

Thomas Lo. Visc. Wentworth, E. of Stafford, L. L.

1640. Sir Christopher Wandesford Master of the Rolls, L. D.

1640. Robert Lord Dillon, and Sir William Parsons, Masters of the Court of Wards, L. J.

1641. Sir William Parsons, and Sir John Borlase, Master of the Ordnance, L. J.

1643. Sir John Borlase, and Sir Henry Tichburne, L. J.

1643. James Marquiss of Ormond, L. L.

1647. June 19. The L. L. delivered up the the Government to Arthur Annesley, Esq; Sir Robert King, and Sir Robert Meredith, Knts. Col. John Moore, and Col. Michael Jones, Commissioners.

1649. Ulick Bourke Mar. of Clanrickard, L. D.

1649. Oliver Cromwell, L. L.

1650. Henry Ireton, Esq; L. D.

1654. Charles Fleetwood, Esq; L. D.

1657. Henry Cromwell, L. D.

1660. Sir Maurice Eustace, L. Chan. Roger Boyle, E. of Orrery, and Charles Coot E. of Montrath, L. J.

1661. Sir Maur. Eustace, L. C. and Roger E. of Orrery, L. J.

1662. James, D. Mar. and E. of Ormond, L. L.

1664. Thomas E. of Ossery, L. D.

1665. James D. of Ormond, &c. returns from England, L. L.

1668. Thomas Earl of Ossery, L. D.

1669. John Lord Roberts, L. L.

1670. John L. Berkley, L. L.

1671. Michael Boyle L. Archbishop of Dublin, Lord Chancellor, and Sir Arthur Forbes, Marshal-General, L. J.

1672. Arthur E. of Essex, L. L.

1675. Michael Boyle, Archbishop of Dublin, and Sir Arthur Forbes, Marshal-General, L. J.

1676. E. of Essex returns L. L.

1677. James D. of Ormond, &c. L. L.

1682. Richard E. of Arran, L. D.

1683. James D. of Ormond, L. L.

1685. E. of Clarendon, L. L.

1687. Richard E. of Tirconnel, L. D.

1690. Henry Lord Sidney, and Tho. (now Lord Conningsby.) L. J.

1691. Sir Charles Porter, Lord Chancellor, and Tho. Conningsby, Esq; L. J.

1692. Henry Lord Sidney, L. L.

1693. Charles Porter, Lord Chancellor, and Sir Cyril Wych, L. J.

1693. Henry Lord Capel, and Sir Cyril Wych, and William Duncombe, Esq; L. J.

1695. Henry Lord Capel, L. D.

1696. Sir Charles Porter, Lord Chancellor, L. J.

1696. Sir Charles Porter, Lord Chancellor, Charles E. of Montrath, and Henry E. of Drogheda, L. J.

1697. Charles Marquiss of Winchester, and Henry E. of Gallway, J. J.

1699. Henry E. of Gallway, and Narcissus Marsh, Archbishop of Dublin, L. J.

1699. Earl of Berkley, and E. of Gallway, L. J.

1701. Narcissus Archbishop of Dublin, Henry E. of Drogheda, and Hugh E. of Mount-Alexander. L. J.

1701. Laurence E. of Rocheester, L. L.

1702. Narcissus Archbishop of Dublin, and Henry E. of Drogheda, L. J.
1702. Hugh E. of Mount-

Alexander, Tho. Erle, and Tho. Keightley, Esqs; L. J.
1703. James Duke of Ormond (Son to the most

Noble and Valiant Tho.
E. of Offory, L. L.

A Catalogue of the Nobility of IRELAND, Anno 1704.

Dukes.

His Grace, JAMES
Duke of Ormonde.
Mainhardt Schonbergh
Duke of Leinster.

Sir Richard Cox, Knight,
Lord High Chancellor.

Arch-Bishops.

Dr. Narcissus Marth, L.
A. B. of Armagh, Pri- mate of all Ireland.

Dr. William King, L. A.
B. of Dublin, Primate
of Ireland.

Dr. William Pallisar, L.
A. B. of Cashel.

Dr. John Vesey, L. A. B. of Tuam.

Earls.

Charles Boyle E. of Cork,
Lord High Treasurer.

John Fitz-Gerald, E. of Kildare.

Henry o Bryen, E. of Thomond.

Richard Bourk, E. of Clan- rickard.

— Touchet E. of Ca- stlehaven.

Alexander Mac Donell E. of Antrim.

Henry Nugent E. of West- meath.

Rob. Dillon E. of Rof- common.

Robert Ridgway E. of Londerry.

Bazil Fielding E. of Def- mond.

Edward Brabazon E. of Meath.

James Barry E. of Barry- more.

John Vaughan E. of Car- bery.

Luke Plunket E. of Fin- gall.

Arthur Chichester E. of Donegall.

Richard Lambert E. of Cavan.

Will. o Bryen E. of In- chiquin.

Charles Boyle E. of Or- rory.

Charles Coote E. of Mountrath.

Henry Moore E. of Drog- heda.

Charles Talbot E. of Wa- terford and Wexford.

Hugh Mountgomery E. of Mountalexander.

Roger Palmer E. of Castle- maine.

— Taaf E. of Carling- ford.

James Power E. of Ty- rone.

Richard Jones E. of Ra- nelagh.

Ambrose Aungier E. of Longford.

Arthur Forbes E. of Gra- nard.

Nanfon Coote E. of Bel- lomont.

Charles Butler E. of Ar- ran.

Henry de Massue E. of Gallway.

Viscounts.

— Preston V. Gor- monstown.

— Roch V. Formoy.

Richard Butler V. Mount- garret.

George Villiers V. Gran- dison, Minor.

James Annesley V. Va- lencia.

Henry Dillon V. Costel- logallen.

John Netterville V. Lowth

Arthur Loftus V. Ely.

Tho. Beaumont V. Swords

Robert Needham V. Kill- murry.

Dominick Sarsfield V. Kil- mallock.

— Bourk V. Mayo.

— Chaworth V. Ard- magh.

George Saunderfon V.
Castletown.

John Scudamore V. Sligoe

Richard Lumly V. Wa- terford.

Philip Smith V. Strang-
ford.

— Wenman V. Tuam.

— Molineux V. Mary- borough.

— Fairfax V. Emely.
Pierce Butler V. Ikerin.
Thomas

Thomas Fitz-Williams V. Merion.

Bryan Cockain V. Cullen.

Tracy V. Rathcoole.

Francis Smith V. Carrington of Barretore.

Richard Bulkley V. Cashel.

William Ogle V. Catherlogh.

Nich. Barnwall V. Kingfield.

Francis Boyle V. Shannon.

Clotworthy Skeffington V. Massereen.

Hugh Cholmondy V. Kells.

— O Bryan V. Clare.

Francis Fanshaw V. Dromore.

Mark Trevor V. Duggannon.

John Barkley V. Fitz-Harding of Beerhaven.

Will. Gaultfield V. Charlemont.

Folliot Wingfield V. Powercourt.

Murogh Boyle V. Blessington.

James Lane V. Laneshoro.

Henry Dawney V. Downe.

Richard Parsons V. Rosse, Minor.

Will. Steward V. Mountjoy.

Tho. Windesor V. Windesor.

Scroop How V. How.

James Hamilton V. Strabane.

Arthur St. Leger V. Donerayle.

John Varney V. Fermamanagh.

Bishops.

Dr. Richard Tennison
Bishop of Meath.

Dr. William Moreton Bp.
of Kildare.

Dr. Edward Wettenhal
Bp. of Kilmore and Ardagh.

Dr. Simon Digby Bp. of Elphin.

Dr. Bartholomew Vigers
Bp. of Ferns & Laughlin.

Dr. William Fitz-Gerald
Bp. of Clonfert.

Dr. Nathaniel Foy Bp. of Waterford & Lismore.

Dr. William Loyd Bp. of Killalla and Achonry.

Dr. John Hartstongue Bp. of Ossery.

Dr. Toby Pulein Bp. of Dromore.

Dr. St. George Ash Bp. of Clogher.

Dr. Thomas Smith Bp.
of Limerick.

Dr. Thomas Lyndsey Bp. of Killallow.

Dr. John Pooley Bp. of Raphoe.

Dr. Edward Smith Bp. of Down and Connor.

Dr. Dive Downes Bp. of Cork and Ros.

Dr. Charles Crow Bp. of Cloyne.

Dr. Charles Hickman Bp. of Derry.

Barons

Edward Bermingham B. of Athenree.

Almericus Courcy B. of Kinsale.

Thomas Fitz-Maurice B.
of Kerry and Lixnaw.

—Fleming B. of Slane.

Thomas St. Laurence B.
of Howth.

Barnaby Fitz-Patrick B.
of Upper Ossery.

Theo. Butler B. of Cahir.

Henry Folliot B. of Ballyshanon.

Banastre Mainard B. of Wicklow.

Richard Gorges B. of Dundalk.

William Digby B. of Geshill.

William Fitz-Williams B. of Lifford.

William Blaney B. of Monaghan.

—Herbert B. of Castle Island.

—Malone B. of Glanma- hire.

John Calvert B. of Bal- timore.

—Brereton B. of Leghlin.

Henry Haire B. of Cole- rain.

Bennet Sherrard B. of Lei- trim.

Francis Hawley B. of Du- namore.

Magwire Ld. Iniskilling.

Hiledbrand Allington B.
of Killard.

John King B. of Kingston.

Henry Barry B. of Santry.

Arthur Annesley B. of Al- tham.

Richard Bellew B. of Du- leek.

John Cutts B. of Gowran.

Thomas Coningesby B.
of Clanbrazil.

Henry Petty B. of Shel- burne.

A LIST of the COMMONS of IRELAND, Assembled in Parliament, in the Third Year of Her Majesty Queen ANNE.

County of Ardmagh . S IR Hans Hamilton, Bar. Arthur Brownlow, Esq; Borough of Ardmagh . Marmaduke Coghill, Esq; Samuel Dopping, Esq; Borough of Charlemont . John Caulfield, Esq; James Caulfield, Esq; County of Antrim . The Honourable Clotworthy Skeffington, Esq; Clotworthy Upton, Esq; Borough of Antrim . Hugh Montgomery, Esq; Thomas Bell, Esq; Borough of Lisburne . Michael Harrison, Esq; Richard Nutley, Esq; Borough of Belfast . William Crafford, Esq; William Cairns, Esq; Borough of Randlestown . Edmond Stafford, Esq; Timothy Armitage, Esq; County and Town of Carrickfergus . Henry Davys, Esq; Edward Lyndon, Esq; County of Catherlogh . -- -- -- Pierce Butler, Esq; Borough of Catherlogh . Richard Wolfeley, Esq; Walter Weldon, Esq; Borough of Old Leighlin . James Agar, Esq; John Tench, Esq;	County of Cavan . Sir Francis Hamilton, Bar. Theophilous Butler, Esq; Borough of Cavan . Thomas Ashe, Esq; Robert Saunders, Esq; Borough of Belturbet . Richard Tighe, Esq; Thomas Taylor, Esq; County of Clare . Sir Donagh ô Bryen, Bar. Lucius ô Bryen, Esq; Borough of Ennis . Francis Burton, Esq; Simon Purdon, Esq; City of CORK . The Right Honourable Thomas Erle. Allan Brodrick, Esq; Her Majesty's Solicitor-General, now Speaker . County of Cork . Sir John Percivall, Bar. Thomas Brodrick, Esq; Town of Youghall . Henry Luther, Esq; John Hayman, Merchant. Town of Kinsale . The Honourable H. Hawley. William Southwell, Esq; Town of Bandon-Bridge . Francis Bernard, Esq; Colonel Richard Georges. Town of Moyallow . Lawrence Clayton, Esq; Bartholomew Purdon, Esq; Borough of Baltimore . Pierce Freake, Esq; Thomas Beecher, Esq;	Borough of Clonighkilty . Ralph Freake, Esq; George Freake, Esq; Borough of Charleville . George Evans, Esq; Robert Fitz-Gerald, Esq; Borough of Castlemartyr . Joseph Dean, Esq; Robert Fitz-Gerald, Esq; Borough of Middleton . St. John Broderick, Esq; Robert Foulk, Esq; Borough of Rothcormick . James Barry, Esq; Daniel Gahan, Esq; Borough of Donerayl . Sir Francis Brewster, Knt. William Phillips, Gent. City of Dublin . John Forster, Esq; Benjamin Burton, Esq; College and University of the Holy Trinity of Dublin . Sir William Robinson, Kt. Edward Southwell, Esq; County of Dublin . John Allen, Esq; Joseph Dean, Esq; Borough of Swords . The Hon. Robert Moulsworth, Esq; Jacob Peppard, Esq; Borough of Newcastle . Dan. Reading, Senior, Esq; John South, Esq; County and Town of Drogheda . The Right Honourable the Lord Charles Moore. Edward Singleton, Esq; County
---	--	---

County of Donegall
 Gustavus Hamilton, Esq;
 Henry Cunningham, Esq;
 Borough of St. Johnstown.
Coll. Kilner Brazier, Esq;
 Charles Melvill, Esq;
 Borough of Donegall.
 Ralph Gore, Esq;
 Richard Jones, Esq;
 Borough of Ballyshannon.
 Richard Geering, Esq;
 Richard Warburton, Esq;
 Borough of Killybeggs.
 Charles Hamilton, Esq;
 Benjamin Parry, Esq;
 Borough of Lifford.
Colonel Hugh Hamill.
 David Creighton, Esq;
 County of Downe.
 Nicholas Price, Esq;
 John Magill, Esq;
 Borough of Down-Patrick.
 Francis Annesley, Esq;
 Matthew Foord, Esq;
 Borough of Killyleagh.
 Hans Stephenson, Esq;
 John Haltridge, Esq;
 Borough of Newry.
 Robert Echlin, Esq;
 Adam Swift, Esq;
 Borough of Bangor.
 James Hamilton, Esq;
 Henry Maxwell, Esq;
 Borough of Hillsborough.
 William Richardson, Esq;
 Samuel Waring, Esq;
 Borough of Newtown.
 George Carpenter, Esq;
 Charles Campbell, Esq;
 County of Fermanagh.
 James Corry, Esq;
 Christopher Irwin, Esq;
 Borough of Inniskillin.
 John Corry, Esq;
 John Cole, Esq;
 County of Galway.
 John Eyre, Esq;
 John French, Esq;
 County of the Town of Galway.
 John Stanton, Esq;

Edward Eyre, Esq;
 Town of Athenree.
 Richard Whalley, Esq;
 John Ormsby, Esq;
 Borough of Tuam.
 Gilbert Ormsby, Esq;
 Agmondisham Vesey, Esq;
 County of Kerry.
 Edward Denny, Junior, Esq;
 John Blenerhasset of Bally-
feedy, Esq;
 Borough of Dingle-Isouch.
The Honourable William
 Fitz-Maurice.
 Francis Brewster, Esq;
 Borough of Tralee.
 Samuel Morris, Esq;
 Arthur Hyde, Esq;
 Borough of Ardfert.
 Henry Rose, Esq;
 Andrew Young, Esq;
 County of Kildare.
The Honourable Thomas
 Keightly, Esq;
 Sir Kildare Burrows, Bar.
 Borough of Kildare.
 Thomas Jones, Esq;
 Richard Lock, Esq;
 Borough of Naas.
 Alexander Graydon, Esq;
 Francis Spring, Esq;
 Borough of Athy.
 Maurice Keating, Esq;
 Richard Meredith, Esq;
 Borough of Harryestown.
 Richard Fitz-Patrick, Esq;
 Robert Dixon, Esq;
 County of Kilkenny.
 Sir Henry Weymes, Knt.
 William Ponsonby, Esq;
 City of KILKENNY.
 Sir Thomas Smith, Bar.
 Standish Hartstonge, Esq;
 Borough of St. Kennis, alias Irishtown.
 Sir Christopher Wandes-ford, Bar.
 Richard Connell, Esq;
 Borough of Gowran.
 Patrick Weymes, Esq;

Robert Maud, Esq;
 Borough of Thomastown.
 Arthur Cuth, Esq;
 John Beauchamp, Esq;
 Borough of Ennistoege.
 Edward Dean, Senior, Esq;
 Benjamin Portlock, Esq;
 Borough of Callen.
 Francis Flood, Esq;
 Silvester Cross, Esq;
 Borough of Cnocktopher.
 Edward Worth, Esq;
 Francis Harrison, Esq;
King's-County.
 Sir Francis Blundell, Bar.
 Sir William Parsons, Bar.
 Borough of Phillipstown.
 George Monke, Esq;
 John Moore, Esq;
 Borough of Banachir.
 Thomas Leistrange, Esq;
 George Eyre, Esq;
 County of Leitrim.
 William Gore, Esq;
 Theophilus Jones, Esq;
 Borough of Jamestown.
 John Mahon, Esq;
 John King, Esq;
 Borough of Carrick.
 Sir George St. George, Knt.
 Oliver St. George, Esq;
 County of Limerick.
 Sir Thomas Southwell, Bar.
 Charles Oliver, Esq;
 Borough of Killmallock.
 John Ormsby, Esq;
 Robert Oliver, Esq;
 Borough of Askeaton.
 Robert Taylor, Esq;
 Chichester Phillips, Esq;
 City of LIMERICK.
 Robert Blenerhasset, Esq;
 Major General Richard Ingoldsby.
 County of Longford.
 Sir Robert Newcomen,
 Knt. and Bar.
 Anthony Sheppard, Esq;
 Borough of Longford.
 Sir Richard Leving, Knt.
 Franc. is

Francis Edgworth, Esq; Borough of Granard.
Wentworth Harman, Esq;
John Percivall, Esq;
Borough of Lanesborough.
Nicholas Sankey, Esq;
Henry Fox, Esq;
Borough of St. Johnstown.
John Achmuty, Esq;
Ambrose Edgworth, Esq;
County of Londonderry.
William Connelly, Esq;
Hercules Rowley, Esq;
City of LONDON-DERRY.
Jacob Lennox, Esq;
Charles Nerman, Esq;
Borough of Coleraine.
Sir Arthur Langford, Bar.
Thomas Peirce, Esq;
Borough of Lymovaddy.
George Mac-Cartney, Esq;
Thomas Carr, Esq;
County of Louth.
Thomas Bellingham, Esq;
Henry Tennison, Esq;
Borough of Atherdee.
James Tisdall, Esq;
Robert Chambre, Esq;
Borough of Dundalk.
Henry Bellingham, Esq;
James Somerville, Esq;
Borough of Carlingford.
Charles Deering, Esq;
Arthur Hill, Esq;
Borough of Dunleer.
Stephen Ludlow, Esq;
Blaney Townley, Esq;
County of Mayo.
Sir Henry Bingham, Bar.
John Bingham, Junior, Esq;
Borough of Castlebar.
Gerrald Cuffe, Esq;
William Palmer, Esq;
County of Meath.
Sir John Dillon, Knt.
Thomas Bligh, Esq;
Borough of Kells.
Charles Meredyth, Esq;
Brinsley Butler, Esq;

Borough of Navan.
Arthur Meredyth, Esq;
Coll. Thomas Meredyth,
Borough of Duleck.
Charles Wallis, Esq;
Robert Curtis, Esq;
Borough of Athboy.
Robert Johnson, Esq;
John Wade of Clanbranny,
Esq;
Borough of Ratooth.
Standish Hartstong, Bar.
Edward Foord, Esq;
Borough of Trim.
William Napper, Esq;
James Napper, Esq;
County of Monaghan.
Robert Echlin, Esq;
William Barton, Esq;
Borough of Monaghan.
Sir Thomas Prendergast,
Knt. and Bar.
Sir Richard Vernon, Knt.
and Bar.
Queen's-County.
Dudley Cosby, Esq;
John Weaver, Junior, Esq;
Borough of Maryborough.
St. Leger Gilbert, Esq;
Robert Pigott of Dysert,
Esq;
Borough of Ballynekill.
John Barrington, Esq;
Arthur Gore, Esq;
Borough of Portarlington.
Richard Warburton, Esq;
Thomas Carter, Esq;
County of Roscomon.
Sir George St. George, Knt.
and Bar.
Sir Edward Crofton, Knt.
and Bar.
Borough of Roscomon.
Henry Sanford, Esq;
William Westgarth, Esq;
Borough of Boyle.
Sir Rob. King, Knt. and Bar.
John King, Esq;
Borough of Tullsh.
William Neave, Esq;

VVilliam Caulfield, Esq;
County of Sligo.
Edward VVingfield, Esq;
Hugh Morgan, Esq;
Borough of Sligo.
Peircy Getting, Esq;
Samuel Walton, Alderm.
County of Tipperary.
Sir John Mead, Knt. and Bar.
James Dawson, Esq;
Borough of Clonmell.
Thomas Medicot, Esq;
Robert Hamerton, Esq;
City of CASSHELL
Samuel Green, Esq;
Kingsmel Pennyfeather,
Esq;
Borough of Fetherd.
Matthew Jacob, Esq;
Epaphroditus Marsh, Esq;
County of Tyrone.
Richard Stewart, Esq;
Audley Mervin, Esq;
City of CLOGHER.
Coll. Richard St. George.
Capt. Henry St. George.
Borough of Strabane.
James Topham, Esq;
Oliver MacCailland, Esq;
Borough of Augher.
James Montray, Esq;
John Hamilton of Callidon,
Esq;
Borough of Dungannon.
Thomas Knox, Esq;
Edward Brice, Esq;
County of Waterford.
The Hon. William Steward,
Esq;
Sir John Mason, Knt.
Borough and Manor of Dungarvan.
James Barry of Rathcormick,
Esq;
Roger Power of Lismore,
Esq;
Borough of Tallogh.
Samuel Maynard, Esq;
Richard Cox, Esq;

Borough of Lismore.
Sir Arthur Shaen, Bar.
Sir James Jeffryes, Knt.
 City of WATERFORD.
 Richard Christmas, Esq;
 Mynard Christian, Esq;
 County of Westmeath.
 Robert Rochfort, Esq; Her
Majesties Attorney General.
 William Handcock, Senior,
 Esq;
 Borough of Foar.
 Walter Pollard, Esq;
 Thomas Smyth, of Drom-cree, Esq;
 Borough of Athlone.
 VVilliam Jones Esq;
 VVilliam Handcock,
 Junior, Esq;
 Borough of Kilbeggan.
 Charles Lambert, Esq;
 Patrick Fox, Esq;
 Manor of Mullingar.
Sir Patrick Dunn, Knt.
 Henry Edgworth, Esq;

County of Wexford.
The Honourable Phillip Savage, Esq; Chancellor of the Exchequer.
 Matthew Foord, Esq;
 Town or Borough of Wexford.
 James Stopford, Esq;
 Cadwallader Edwards, Esq;
 Borough of New-Ross.
The Hon. Arthur Annesley,
 Esq;
 Thomas Crawford, Esq;
 Borough of Eniscorthy.
 Motley Sanders, Esq; L. D.
 VVilliam Berry, Esq; Borough of Newborow, alias Gowery.
 Abel Ram, Esq;
 John Chichester, Esq;
 Borough of Taghmon.
 Anderson Saunders, Esq;
 Richard Saunders, Esq;
 Borough of Fethard.
Sir Richard Bulkeley, Bar.

Thomas Pallasar, Esq;
 Borough of Clomines.
 James Tutler, Esq;
 Walter Bunbury, Esq;
 Borough of Bannow.
 John Cliffe, Esq;
 Nathaniel Boyse, Esq;
 County of Wicklow.
 Richrad Edwards, Esq;
 VVilliam Whitshed, Esq;
 Borough of Wicklow.
 John Price, Esq;
 VVilliam Fowns Esq;
 Town of Mac Redding, alias Caryesfort.
 Hugh Eccles, Esq;
 Richard Thompson, Esq;
 Borough of Baltinglass.
 Edward Stratford, Esq;
 Charles Rickaseye, Esq;
 Borough of Blessington.
 VVilliam Crow, Esq;
 John Jephson, Esq;

A

L I S T

Of the Lower House of CONVOCATION, which Met the 11th of January, 1703. at St. Patricks, Dublin, and Adjourn'd to St. Mary's-Chappel in Christs-Church, Dublin.

Province of Ardmagh.
Peter Drelincourt, LL.
 D. Dean of Armagh.
 VVm. Hamilton, A. M.
 Archdeacon of Arm.
 Henry Maxwell, A. M. Proctor for the Chapter.
 Edw. Perkinson, A. M. and Joh. Morris, A. M. Proctors
 for the Clergy.
 James Moorcraft, A. M.
 Archdeacon of Meath.

John Stearne, D. D. and Robert Perkinson, A. M.
 (Proctors for the Clergy.
 Theophilous Harrison, D. D.
 Dean of Clanmacnoise.
 Jeremiah Marsh, D. D. Dean of Killmore.
 Mathew Handcock. D. D.
 Archdeacon of Killmore.
 Andr. Charleton, A. M. and Robert Maxwell. A. M.
 (Proctors for the Clergy.

John Barton, D. D. Dean of Ardagh.
 Benjamin Span, A. M. and John Moore, A. M. Proctors
 for the Clergy.
 John Lesly, A. M. Dean of Dromore.
 Henry Jenny, D. D. Archdeacon of Dromore.
 John Cuppage, A. M. Pro
 ctor for the Chapter.
 John

John Rowan, A. M. and Thomas Leigh, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
Joseph VVilkins, A. M. Dean of Clogher.
John Smith, A. M. Archdeacon of Clogher.
John Forster, A. M. Proctor for the Chapter.
Dillon Ashe, D. D. and Adam Nixon, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
John Trench, A. M. Dean of Raphoe.
Andrew Hamilton, D. D. Archdeacon of Raphoe.
Mossom VVye, D. D. Proctor for the Chapter.
Thomas Wadman, B. D. and Moses Davys, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
John MacNeal, A. M. Dean of Downe.
Henry Lesly, A. M. Archdeacon of Downe.
Ralph Lambert, D. D. Proctor for the Chapter.
J. Iper Brett, A. M. and Hans Montgomery, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
George Story, A. M. Dean of Connor.
VVilliam Armar, A. M. Archdeacon of Connor.
VVilliam Smith, A. M. Proctor for the Chapter.
Richard Griffith, A. M. and John VVindar, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
John Bolton, D. D. Dean of Derry.
Roger Ford, D. D. Archdeacon of Derry.
Robert Gourney, A. M. Proctor for the Chapter.
David Jenkins, LL D. and Gideon Scot, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.

Province of Dublin.

VVill. Lord Bp of Kildare, D. of Christ-Church, Dublin.
Hyeronimus Ryves, D. D. Dean of St. Patrick's, Dub.
Enoch Reader, D. D. Archdeacon of Dublin.
John Travers, D. D. Proctor for the Cha. of Christ-Chu.

Daniel Jackson, A. M. Proct. for the Cha. of St. Patrick's.
Ezekiel Burrridge, LL. D. and Thomas Hawley, A. M. --- Proctors for the Clergy.
VVilli. VVilliamson, A. M. Archdeacon of Glandelagh.
Samuel Synge, LL. D. Dean of Kildare, Prolocutor.
Thomas Benson, A. M. Archdeacon of Kildare.
John Jones, D. D. Proctor for the Chapter.
John Lulls, LL. B. and Nicholas Knight, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
Thomas Cox, D. D. Dean of Fernes.
James Cox, A. M. Archdeacon of Fernes.
Robert Ellior, D. D. Proct. for the Chapter.
John Haugh, A. M. and Nathaniel Hufon, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
John Francis, A. M. Dean of Leighlin.
Benjamin Neale, A. M. Archdeacon of Leighlin.
Laurence Potts, A. M. Proctor for the Chapter.
Thomas Moss, A. M. and Andrew Nisbit, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
Robert Mossom, D. D. Dean of St. Kennys Kilkenny.
John Hinton, A. M. Archdeacon of Offory.
John Congreve, A. M. Proctor for the Chapter.
Lemuel Schuldharn, A. M. and Francis Higgins, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.

Province of Cashel.

Henry Price, D. D. Dean of Cashel.
VVilliam Percival, A. M. Archdeacon of Cashel.
John Doherty, A. M. Proctor for the Chapter.
Anthony Irby, D. D. and Richard Leake, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
Enoch Reader, D. D. Dean of Emly.
John Hicky, A. M. Archdeacon of Emly.

V v *

Richard Burgh, A. M. Proctor for the Chapter.
Neptune Blood, A. M. Dean of Killfanora.
Joseph Armyrall, A. M. A. D. John Price, A. M. Proctor for the Chapter.
John Hall, D. D. and Thomas Veley, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
John Eccles, A. M. Dean of Waterford.
Alexander Alcock, A. M. Proctor for the Chapter.
Thomas Dean, A. M. and Thomas France, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
VVilliam Jephson, A. M. Dean of Lismore.
John Eccles, A. M. Archdeacon of Lismore.
Simon Ratcliff, A. M. Proctor for the Chapter.
Robert Bredin, A. M. and Richard Downing, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
Ezekiel VWebb, A. M. Dean of Limerick.
James Bland, A. M. Archdeacon of Limerick.
John Shepperd, A. M. Proctor for the Chapter.
Edward Ingram, A. M. and John Moore, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
John Richards, A. M. Dean of Ardfert.
Thomas Connor, A. M. Archdeacon of Ardfert.
Patrick Moline, A. M. Proctor for the Chapter.
Samuel Wilson, A. M. and Patrick Crosby, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
Ezekiel Webb, A. M. Archdeacon of Aghadoe.
Chidly Coote, A. M. and Josiah Kennington, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
James Abadié, D. D. Dean of Killaloe.
Jos. Armyrall, A. M. Archdeacon of Killaloe.
Patrick Fitz-Simmons, A. M. Proctor for the Chapter.
William Twigg, A. M. and Thomas Hemsworth, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.

Arthur

164 The List of the Mayors and Bailiffs of the City of Dublin.

Arthur Pomroy, D. D. Dean of Cork.
 John Whetenall, A. M. Archdeacon of Cork.
 Edward Synge, A. M. Proctor for the Chapter.
 Daniel Lord, A. M. and Samuel Foley, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
 Roland Davies, A. M. Dean of Rofs.
 Hen. Scardevile, A. M. Archdeacon of Rofs.
 John Patrickson, A. M. Proctor for the Chapter.
 Thomas Mead, A. M. and Thomas Derham, A. M. (Proctors for the Clergy).
 Henry Scardevile, A. M. Dean of Cloyne.
 Dominick Mead, A. M. Archdeacon of Cloyne.
 John Rugg, A. M. Proctor for the Chapter.
 Francis Quaile, D. D. and Charles Northcot, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.

Province of Tuam.
 Robert Echlin, A. M. Dean of Tuam.
 The Honourable Edward Chichester, A. M. A. D. Fielding Shaw, D. D. Proctor for the Chapter.
 Richard Thomas, A. M. and William Pulleyn, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
 Edward Goldsmith, D. D. Dean of Elphin.
 Peter Mahon, A. M. A. D. Thomas Wallis, A. M. Proctor for the Chapter.
 Edward Nicholson, A. M. and George Digby, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
 John Burder, A. M. Dean of Clonsfert.
 Adam Usher, A. M. A. D. William Glen, A. M. Proctor for the Chapter.
 Thomas Rivett, A. M. and Peter Harvey, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
 Stephen Handcock, A. M. Dean of Killmacduagh.

Robert Shaw, A. M. Archdeacon of Killmacduagh.
 Owen Lloyd, D. D. Proctor for the Chapter.
 William Tisdall, A. M. and Charles Carr, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
 Francis Knapp, A. M. Dean of Killalla.
 Michael Jones, A. M. Archdeacon of Killalla.
 Peter Browne, D. D. Proctor for the Chapter.
 Will. Achonleck, A. M. and William Lloyd, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.
 John Yeard, A. M. Dean of Achonry.
 Henry Yeardon, A. M. Archdeacon of Achonry.
 George Carr, A. M. Proctor for the Chapter.
 Gideon Johnston, A. M. and Tobias Caulfield, A. M. Proctors for the Clergy.

JOHN SALE Registrarius inferioris Domus Convocationis.

A Full and Perfect CATALOGUE of the Names of all such Persons as have been Mayors, Bailiffs, Sheriffs, and Lord-Mayors, of the City of Dublin, since the First Year of the Reign of King EDWARD the Second.

In His Second Year, 1308.

JOHN Le Decer, Mayor,
 Richard de St. Olave, and John Stakebold, Bailiff.
 John Le Decer, Mayor, 1309.
 Richard Lawles, and Nicholas Clerk, Bailiffs.
 Robert Notingham, Mayor, 1310.
 Richard de St. Olave, and Hugh Carlington, Bailiffs.
 John Sergeant, Mayor, 1311.
 John Leicester, and Richard Le St. Olave, Bailiffs.
 Richard Lawles, Mayor, 1312.
 William Sergeant, and Hugh Silvester, Bailiffs.
 Richard Lawles, Mayor, 1313.
 Nicholas Golding, and Thomas Hunt, Bailiffs.
 Richard Lawles, Mayor, 1314.

Richard de St. Olave, and Robert de Moenes, Bailiffs.
 Robert Notingham, Mayor, 1315.
 John de Castleknock, and Adam Phelcpe, Bailiffs.
 Richard Lawles, Mayor, 1316.
 Robert Woder, and Robert de Moenes, Bailiffs.
 Robert Notingham, Mayor, 1317.
 Robert Woder, and Robert Burnell, Bailiffs.
 Robert Notingham, Mayor, 1318.
 Robert de Moenes, and John Wolvert, Bailiffs.
 Robert Notingham, Mayor, 1319.
 Robert Woder, and Robert de Moenes, Bailiffs.
 Robert de Moenes, Mayor, 1320.
 Luke Brown, and William le Mareschal, Bailiffs.

Robert

The List of the Mayors and Bailiffs of the City of Dublin. 165

Robert Notingham, Mayor, 1321.
 Roger Woder, and Stephen de Mora, Bailiffs.
 Robert Notingham, Mayor, 1322.
 Robert Woder, and Robert de Cyton, Bailiffs.
 John Sergeant, Mayor, 1323.
 John Creeks, and
 Walter de Castleknock, Bailiffs.

William Donce, Mayor, 1324.
 Stephen de Mora, and John de Moenes, Bailiffs.
 John le Decer, Mayor, 1325.
 William le Mareschal, and Robert Tanner, Bailiffs.
 John Sergeant, Mayor, 1326.
 Thomas Walsh, and Thomas Dod, Bailiffs.

The Reign of King Edward the Third.

In His First Year,

Robert Tanner, Mayor, 1327.
 John de Moenes, and
 Robert Woodfoul, Bailiffs.
 William le Mareschal, Mayor, 1328.
 Richard Swerd, and
 John Crekes, Bailiffs.
 Robert Tanner, Mayor, 1329.
 John de Moenes, and Philip Cradock, Bailiffs.
 Philip Cradock, Mayor, 1330.
 Richard Swerd, and
 Robert de Walton, Bailiffs.
 William Donce, Mayor, 1331.
 John Crekes, and John Sergeant, Bailiffs.
 John Moenes, Mayor, 1332.
 William Walsh, and John de Callan, Bailiffs.
 Jeffery Crompe, Mayor, 1333.
 John Crekes, and
 Giles de Waldefwell, Bailiffs.
 William Gaydon, Mayor, 1334.
 William de Winerton, and
 Roger Grancourt, Bailiffs.
 William Gaydon, Mayor, 1335.
 William de Winerton, and
 Roger Grancourt, Bailiffs.
 John Moenes, Mayor, 1336.
 Kenelbreck Sherman, and John de Callen, Bailiffs.
 Philip Cradock, Mayor, 1337.
 Robert Hony, and
 Roger Grancourt, Bailiffs.
 John Moenes, Mayor, 1338.
 Giles Waldefwel, and John Crekes, Bailiffs.
 Robert Tanner, Mayor, 1339.
 John Crekes, and
 Robert de Haughton, Bailiffs.
 Kenelbreck Sherman, Mayor, 1340.
 John Callen, and Adam Lovestock, Bailiffs.
 Kenelbreck Sherman, Mayor, 1341.

John Creke, and William Dancie, Bailiffs.
 Kenelbreck Sherman, Mayor, 1342.
 John Creke, and
 Walter de Castleknock, Bailiffs.
 John Sergeant, Mayor, 1343.
 William Walsh, and
 John Taylor, Bailiffs.
 John Sergeant, Mayor, 1344.
 William Walsh, and
 John Taylor, Bailiffs.
 John Sergeant, Mayor, 1345.
 William Walsh, and
 John Taylor, Bailiffs.
 John Sergeant, Mayor, 1346.
 William Walsh, and
 Thomas Dod, Bailiffs.
 John Sergeant, Mayor, 1347.
 William Walsh, and
 Thomas Dod, Bailiffs.
 Jeffery Crompe, Mayor, 1348.
 William Walsh, and
 Walter Lusk, Bailiffs.
 Kenelbreck Sherman, Mayor, 1349.
 John Callen, and John Deart, Bailiffs.
 John Sergeant, Mayor, 1350.
 John Deart, and John Beake, Bailiffs.
 John Bath, Mayor, 1351.
 Robert Burnell, and Richard Heigreen.
 Robert Moenes, Mayor, 1352.
 John Deart, and
 Peter Moynull, Bailiffs.
 Adam de Lostock, Mayor, 1353.
 John Callen, and
 Peter Woder, Bailiffs.
 Nicholas Sergeant, Mayor, 1354.
 Maurice Duncrean, and David Tyrrell, Bailiffs.
 John Sergeant, Mayor, 1355.
 Maurice Duncrean, and Thomas VVoodlock, Bailiffs.

John Sergeant, Mayor, 1356.
 Peter Barfett, and VWilliam VVells, Bailiffs.
 Robert Burnell, Mayor, 1357.
 Thomas VVoodlock, and
 Thomas Browne, Bailiffs.
 Peter Barfett, Mayor, 1358.
 Robert VValsh, and John VVidon, Bailiffs.
 John Taylor, Mayor, 1359.
 Thomas VVoodlock, and Roger Delwith, Bailiffs.
 Peter Barfett, Mayor, 1360.
 Peter Moynull, and John Passavant, Bailiffs.
 Peter Barfett, Mayor, 1361.
 Roger Delwith, and
 Thomas Browne, Bailiffs.
 Richard Heygreen, Mayor, 1362.
 David Tyrrell, and Thomas Woodlock, Bailiffs.
 Robert Burnell, Mayor, 1363.
 William Heard, and John Grandset, Bailiffs.
 John Beake, Mayor, 1364.
 Thomas Brownel, and John Passavant, Bailiffs.
 David Tyrrell, Mayor, 1365.
 VWilliam Herdman, and John Grandset, Bailiffs.
 Richard Heygreen, Mayor, 1366.
 Maurice Young, and VValter Crompe, Bailiffs.

David Tyrrell, Mayor, 1367.
 John Grandset, and Richard Chambrelan, Bailiffs.
 Peter VVoder, Mayor, 1368.
 Thomas Browne, and Richard Chambrelan, Bailiffs.
 John VVydor, Mayor, 1369.
 Roger Beakford, and John Beak, Bailiffs.
 John Passavant, Mayor, 1370.
 Robert Beakford, and John Hoyle, Bailiffs.
 John Wydon, Mayor, 1371.
 William Herdman, and
 Edward Berle, Bailiffs.
 John Passavant, Mayor, 1372.
 Roger Beakford, and
 John Hoyle, Bailiffs.
 John Passavant, Mayor, 1373.
 William Herdman, and
 Edward Berle, Bailiffs.
 John Wydon, Mayor, 1374.
 John Field, and
 Richard Chambrelan, Bailiffs.
 John Wydon, Mayor, 1375.
 John Field, and
 Richard Chambrelan, Bailiffs.
 Nicholas Sergeant, Mayor, 1376.
 Robert Stakebold, and
 Robert Piers, Bailiffs.
 Edward Berle, Mayor, 1377.
 Stephen Flemming, and John Ellis, Bailiffs.

The Reign of King Richard the Second.

In His First Year, 1378.
Nicholas Sergeant, Mayor,
 Roger Folliagh, and
 Robert Piers, Bailiffs.
 Robert Stakebold, Mayor, 1379.
 Walter Passavant, and William Banke, Bailiffs.
 John Wydon, Mayor, 1380.
 William Bladen, and Roger Kilmore, Bailiffs.
 John Hull, Mayor, 1381.
 William Tyrrell, and Roger Folliagh, Bailiffs.
 John Hull, Mayor, 1382.
 William Passavant, and John Holme, Bailiffs.
 Edward Berle, Mayor, 1383.
 Robert Burnell, and Richard Bertain, Bailiffs.

Robert Burnell, Mayor, 1384.
 John Bermingham, and John Drake, Bailiffs.
 Roger Wekeport, Mayor, 1385.
 Thomas Mareward, and Roger Sergeant, Bailiffs.
 Edmond Berle, Mayor, 1386.
 Thomas Cusack, and
 Jeffrey Gallan, Bailiffs.
 Roger Wekeport, Mayor, 1387.
 Nicholas Finglas, and Richard Kercluis, Bailiffs.
 John Bermingham, Mayor, 1388.
 Robert Piers, and Richard Cravis, Bailiffs.
 John Passavant, Mayor, 1389.
 Walfran Bron, and Simon Long, Bailiffs.

Thomas

Thomas Mareward, Mayor, 1390.
 Thomas Cusack, and William Wade, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Cusack, Mayor, 1391.
 Richard Berchin, and Jeffrey Gallan, Bailiffs.
 Richard Chambrelan, Mayor, 1392.
 Jeffrey Dovewich, and Jeffrey Gallan, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Mareward, Mayor, 1393.
 Thomas Dovewich, and Ralph Ebb, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Cusack, Mayor, 1394.

Ralph Ebb, and Thomas Duncreef, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Cusack, Mayor, 1395.
 William Wade, and Hugh White, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Cusack, Mayor, 1396.
 Richard Giffard, and
 Jeffrey Parker, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Cusack, Mayor, 1397.
 Richard Giffard, and Jeffrey Parker, Bailiffs.
 Jeffrey Gallan, Mayor, 1398.
 Thomas Duncreef, and John Philpot, Bailiffs.

The Reign of King Henry the Fourth.

In His First Year, 1399.
Thomas Cusack, Mayor,
 Jeffrey Parker, and Richard Clark, Bailiffs.
 Nicholas Finglas, Mayor, 1400.
 Richard Bacon, and Richard Bove, Bailiffs.
 Ralph Ebb, Mayor, 1401.
 Richard Bove, and Richard Taylor, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Cusack, Mayor, 1402.
 Richard Taylor, and
 Walter Tyrrell, Bailiffs.
 John Drake, Mayor, 1403.
 John Philpot, and
 Walter Tyrrell, Bailiffs.
 John Drake, Mayor, 1404.
 Walter Tyrrell, and Robert Gallarey, Bailiffs.
 John Drake, Mayor, 1405.
 John Philpot, and
 Walter Tyrrell, Bailiffs.

Thomas Cusack, Mayor, 1406.
 Richard Bonne, and
 Thomas Shortall, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Cusack, Mayor, 1407.
 Richard Bonne, and
 Thomas Shortall, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Cusack, Mayor, 1408.
 Richard Bonne, and
 Thomas Shortall, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Cusack, Mayor, 1409.
 Richard Bonne, and
 Thomas Shortall, Bailiffs.
 Robert Gallan, Mayor, 1410.
 John Walsh, and
 William Heiford, Bailiffs.
 Robert Gallan, Mayor, 1411.
 John Walsh, and
 William Heiford, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Cusack, Mayor, 1412.
 Richard Bonne, and John White, Bailiffs.

The Reign of King Henry the Fifth.

In His First Year, 1413.
Luke Dowdall, Mayor.
 Stephen Taylor, and
 Nicholas Eustace, Bailiffs.
 Luke Dowdall, Mayor, 1414.
 Stephen Taylor, and
 Nicholas Eustace, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Cusack, Mayor, 1415.
 John White, and
 Thomas Shortall, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Cusack, Mayor, 1416.

John White, and
 Thomas Shortall, Bailiffs.
 Walter Tyrrell, Mayor, 1417.
 John Barrett, and
 Thomas Shortall, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Cusack, Mayor, 1418.
 Nicholas Eustace, and Thomas Pembroke, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Cusack, Mayor, 1419.
 John Barrett, and Robert Ireland, Bailiffs.

Walter Tyrrell, Mayor, 1420.
 John Kilbery, and
 Thomas Shortall, Bailiffs.

John Burnell, Mayor, 1421.
 John Kilbery, and
 Thomas Shortall, Bailiffs.

The Reign of King Henry the Sixth.

In His First Year, 1422.

John Burnell, Mayor.
 John Kilbery, and
 Thomas Shortall, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Cusack, Mayor, 1423.
 Stephen Taylor, and
 Thomas Shortall, Bailiffs.
 John White, Mayor, 1424.
 Randolph Pembroke, and
 Robert de Ireland, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Cusack, Mayor, 1425.
 John Kilbery, and
 Thomas Shortall, Bailiffs.
 Sir Walter Tyrrell, Mayor, 1426.
 John Kilbery, and
 Thomas Shortall, Bailiffs.
 John Walsh, Mayor, 1427.
 John Bennett, and
 Robert de Ireland, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Shortall, Mayor, 1428.
 Thomas Bennett, and Thomas Ashe, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Shortall, Mayor, 1429.
 Thomas Ashe, and Thomas Bennett, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Cusack, Mayor, 1430.
 Thomas Bennett, and Robert Chambers, Bailiffs.
 John White, Mayor, 1431.
 John Hadfor, and
 John Bryan, Bailiffs.
 John White, Mayor, 1432.
 John Hadfor, and
 Nicholas Woder, Bailiffs.
 John Hadfor, Mayor, 1433.
 Nicholas Woder, and
 Robert de Ireland, Bailiffs.
 Nicholas Woder, Mayor, 1434.
 Philip Bryan, and Thomas Newbery, Bailiffs.
 Ralph Pembroke, Mayor, 1435.
 James Dowdall, and Richard Willett, Bailiffs.
 John Kilbery, Mayor, 1436.
 Richard Willett, and Robert Clifford, Bailiffs.
 Robert Chambers, Mayor, 1437.
 John Bryan, and
 Nicholas Clark, Bailiffs.

Thomas Newbery, Mayor, 1438.
 Nicholas Clark, and John Bennett, Bailiffs.
 Nicholas VVoder, Mayor, 1439.
 Robert de Ireland, and John Bryan, Bailiffs.
 John Fitz-Robert, Mayor, 1440.
 Richard Fitz-Eustace, and David Row, Bailiffs.
 Nicholas VVoder, Mayor, 1441.
 John Bryan, and
 John de Diveer, Bailiffs.
 Ralph Pembroke, Mayor, 1442.
 Thomas VVallsh, and Robert Sclafford, Bailiffs.
 Nicholas VVoder, Mayor, 1443.
 John VVallsh, and VVilliam Curragh, Bailiffs.
 Nicholas Woder, Mayor, 1444.
 John Walsh, and William Curragh, Bailiffs.
 Nicholas Woder, Mayor, 1445.
 Philip Bellew, and John Tankard, Bailiffs.
 Nicholas VVoder, Mayor, 1446.
 Robert VVade, and Thomas Sanadge, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Newbery, Mayor, 1447.
 Thomas Sanadge, and John Battman, Bailiffs.
 Nicholas VVoder, Mayor, 1448.
 Robert Burnell, and
 Nicholas Clark, Bailiffs.
 John Bennett, Mayor, 1449.
 John Battman, and John Tankard, Bailiffs.
 Sir Robert Burnell, Mayor, 1450.
 Walter Dunnaugh, and William Grampe, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Newbery, Mayor, 1451.
 Richard Fitz-Eustace, and
 John Tankard, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Newbery, Mayor, 1452.
 Richard Fitz Simons, and
 John Tankard, Bailiffs.
 Sir Nicholas Woder, Mayor, 1453.
 James Blarkney, Esq; and VVilliam Chambrelan, Bailiffs.
 Sir Robert Burnell, Mayor, 1454.

John White, and William Brian, Bailiffs.
Philip Bellew, Mayor, 1455.
John Tankard, and William Sanadge, Bailiffs.
John Bennett, Mayor, 1456.
Thomas Savage, and Thomas Wotton, Bailiffs.
Thomas Newbery, Mayor, 1457.

Thomas Savage, and Simon Fitz-Rear, Bailiffs.
Sir Robert Burnell, Mayor, 1458.
Thomas Savage, and John Heigh, Bailiffs.
Thomas Walth, Mayor, 1459.
Thomas Boyle, and Symon Fitz-Rear, Bailiffs.

The Reign of King Edward the Fourth.

In His First Year, 1460.
Thomas Newbery, Mayor.
Arnald Usher, and William Purcell, Bailiffs.
Sir Robert Burnell, Mayor, 1461.
John Tankard, and
Thomas Barby, Bailiffs.
Thomas Newbery, Mayor, 1462.
John Shanagh, and
Nicholas Bourke, Bailiffs.
Thomas Newbery, Mayor, 1463.
John Shanagh, and
Nicholas Bourke, Bailiffs.
Sir Thomas Newbery, Mayor, 1464.
Nicholas Cook, and John Bowland, Bailiffs.
Simon Fitz-Rear, Mayor, 1465.
Nicholas Cook, and John Bowland, Bailiffs.
William Grampy, Mayor, 1466.
John Bowland, and
John Walth, Bailiffs.
Sir Thomas Newbery, Mayor, 1467.
John Burnell, and
Nicholas Bourke, Bailiffs.
Sir William Grampe, Mayor, 1468.
John Boland, and John Walth, Bailiffs.
Arnoldor Usher, Mayor, 1469.
Thomas Fitz-Simons, and John Bellew, Bailiffs.
Thomas Wotton, Mayor, 1470.
Robert Fitz-Simons, and John Bellew, Bailiffs.
Simon Fitz-Rear, Mayor, 1471.
Richard Parker, and John Dancy, Bailiffs.
John Fyan, Mayor, 1472.
Thomas Molghan, and John West, Bailiffs.
John Bellew, Mayor, 1473.
William Donnough, and
Patrick Fitz-Simons, Bailiffs.

Nicholas Bourke, Mayor, 1474.
John Bowland, and Walter Pierce, Bailiffs.
Thomas Fitz-Simons, Mayor, 1475.
Richard Stainhorste, and William Tue, Bailiffs.
Thomas Fitz-Simons, Mayor, 1476.
John Sanadge, and Matthew Fowler, Bailiffs.
Patrick Fitz-Lewis, Mayor, 1477.
Thomas Collier, and Thomas Harbert, Bailiffs.
John West, Mayor, 1478.
Jennyco Marckes, and Richard Arland, Bailiffs.
John Fyan, Mayor, 1479.
William Grampe, and Thomas Meiller, Bailiffs.
William Dovewich, Mayor, 1480.
John Sergeant, and John Whitaker, Bailiffs.
Thomas Moulghan, Mayor, 1481.
John Russell, and James Barbe, Bailiffs.

The Reign of King Edward the Fifth.

Patrick Fitz-Lewis, Mayor, 1482.
Thomas Miller, and Richard Barbe, Bailiffs.

The Reign of King Richard the Third.

John West, Mayor, 1483.
Rynald Talbott, and John Goydon, Bailiffs.
John West, Mayor, 1484.
Hugh Talbott, and Henry Mole, Bailiffs.

The Reign of King Henry the Seventh.

In His First Year, 1485.

JOHN Sergeant, Mayor,
 John Burke, and John Gaydon, Bailiffs.
 Jennyroe Marckes, Mayor, 1486.
 Thomas Bennet, and Robert Blanchfield, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Miller, Mayor, 1487.
 William English, and Robert Boyle, Bailiffs.
 William Tue, Mayor, 1488.
 Thomas Bermingham, and Patrick Mole, Bailiffs.
 Richard Stamhorste, Mayor, 1489.
 Robert Forster, and Thomas West, Bailiffs.
 John Sergeant, Mayor, 1490.
 Robert Carrolls, and William Browne, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Bennett, Mayor, 1491.
 Richard Tyrrell, and Thomas Newman, Bailiffs.
 John Sergeant, Mayor, 1492.
 John Blake, and
 William Browne, Bailiffs.
 John Sergeant, Mayor, 1493.
 Nicholas Harbart, and Henry Lawles, Bailiffs.
 Patrick Fitz-Leones, Mayor, 1494.
 Thomas Phillis, and Archbold Boulte, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Bermingham, Mayor, 1495.
 William Canderll, and William Heynot, Bailiffs.
 Jencken Caydon, Mayor, 1496.
 John Becker, and Edmond Long, Bailiffs.

Thomas Coller, Mayor, 1497.
 John Dongan, and Bartholomew Russel, Bailiffs.
 Raynould Talbot, Mayor, 1498.
 Thomas Umffrie, and Richard Pricket, Bailiffs.
 James Barbee, Mayor, 1499.
 William Flemming, and John Coullocke, Bailiffs.
 Robert Forster, Mayor, 1500.
 Patrick Boyre, and John Stanton, Bailiffs.
 Hugh Talbott, Mayor, 1501.
 William Hudgson, and Richard Garrar, Bailiffs.
 Richard Tyrrell, Mayor, 1502.
 Richard Moore, and Richard Sanfte, Bailiffs.
 John Blake, Mayor, 1503.
 John Zoughan, and William Goodwine, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Newman, Mayor, 1504.
 Walter Peppard, and Morrice Coulton, Bailiffs.
 Nicholas Harbart, Mayor, 1505.
 John Blanchfield, and Patrick Harbart, Bailiffs.
 William English, Mayor, 1506.
 William Talbott, and Nicholas Roach, Bailiffs.
 William Cantrell, Mayor, 1507.
 John Rochford, and Patrick Feal, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Phillips, Mayor, 1508.
 Walter Eustace, and Henry Councie, Bailiffs.

The Reign of King Henry the Eighth.

In His First Year, 1509.

William Talbott, Mayor.
 Nicholas Quayttrott, and James Harbart, Bailiffs.
 Nicholas Roach, Mayor, 1510.
 John Fitz Simons, and
 Robert Falconer, Bailiffs.
 Thomas Bermingham, Mayor, 1511.
 Christopher Usher, and Thomas Tue, Bailiffs.

Walter Eustace, Mayor, 1512.
 John Sherive, and Stephen Ware, Bailiffs.
 Walter Peppard, Mayor, 1513.
 Nicholas Hancock, and James Fitz-Reer, Bailiffs.
 William Hudson, Mayor, 1514.
 Richard Talbot, and Nicholas Homes, Bailiffs.
 John Rochford, Mayor, 1515.

A List of the Mayors and Bailiffs of the City of Dublin. 167

William Newman, and Robert Cowly, Bailiffs.
Christopher Usher, Mayor, 1516.
John Sarsfield, and Giles Revees, Bailiffs.
Patrick Feat, Mayor, 1517.
Walter Kelly, and Hugh Nugent, Bailiffs.
John Longhan, Mayor, 1518.
Henry Gaydon, and
William Kelly, Bailiffs.
Patrick Boyxe, Mayor, 1519.
Nicholas Gaydon, and
Patrick Fitz Simons, Bailiffs.
Thomas Tue, Mayor, 1520.
Robert Shilfort, and Michael Fitz-Simons, Bailiffs.
Nicholas Harbart, Mayor, 1521.
Arlonton Usher, and Thomas Barbe, Bailiffs.
John Fitz Simons, Mayor, 1522.
Robert Byly, and James Brown, Bailiffs.
Nicholas Quoytrott, Mayor, 1523.
Bartholomew Blanchfield, and John Candee, Bailiffs.
Nicholas Handcock, Mayor, 1524.
Walter Fitz Simons and
William Kelly, Bailiffs.
Richard Talbott, Mayor, 1525.
John Shelton, and Simon Gaydon, Bailiffs.
Walter Eutface, Mayor, 1526.
Alexander B. swick, and Richard Elliott, Bailiffs.
William Newman, Mayor, 1527.
James Fitz-Simons, and Nicholas Bennet, Bailiffs.
Arlonton Usher, Mayor, 1528.
Francis Harbart, and John Squiner, Bailiffs.
Walter Kelly, Mayor, 1529.
Thomas Stephans, and Nicholas Umphry, Bailiffs.
Thomas Barbe, Mayor, 1530.
Nicholas Stamhorst, and Nicholas Peppard, Bailiffs.
John Sarsfield, Mayor, 1531.
Walter Tyrrell, and William Quoytrott, Bailiffs.
Nicholas Gaydon, Mayor, 1532.
Simon Luttrell, and Brandom Forster, Bailiffs.
Walter Fitz-Simons, Mayor, 1533.
William Forster, and John Peppard, Bailiffs.
Robert Shillinfort, Mayor, 1534.

Henry Plunkett, and William White, Bailiffs.
Thomas Stephans, Mayor, 1535.
John More, and Christopher Cosgrave, Bailiffs.
John Shelton, Mayor, 1536.
Thadey Duffe, and
Patrick Burges, Bailiffs.
John Squiner, Mayor, 1537.
Nicholas Pentany, and Robert Cusack, Bailiffs.
Sir James Fitz-Simons, Mayor, 1538.
Richard Barfirst, and Matthew Goodwing, Bailiffs.
Nicholas Bennett, Mayor, 1539.
James Handcock, and Robert Taylor, Bailiffs.
Walter Tyrrell, Mayor, 1540.
James Fyan, and Thomas Spencefield, Bailiffs.
Nicholas Umphry, Mayor, 1541.
Richard Fyan, and Bartholomew Ball, Bailiffs.
Nicholas Stamhorst, Mayor, 1542.
Richard Fitz-Simons, and Barnaby King, Bailiffs.
David Sutton, Mayor, 1543.
Richard Quoytrott, and Thomas Rogers, Bailiffs.
William Forster, Mayor, 1544.
James Segrave, and John Elles, Bailiffs.
Sir Francis Harbart, Mayor, 1545.
John Challenor, and John Worrall, Bailiffs.
Henry Plunkett, Mayor, 1546.
Oliver Stephans, and Nicholas Pentany, Bailiffs.
Thadey Duffe, Mayor, 1547.
John Bryan, and Thomas Fleming, Sheriffs.

Edward The Reign of King Henry the Sixth.

In His First Year, 1548.
James Handcock, Mayor.
Edward Brown, and Robert Golding, Sheriffs.
Richard Fyan, Mayor, 1549.
Christopher Segrave, and John Nangell, Sheriffs.

John Money, Mayor, 1550.
 Patrick Fitz-Simons, and Thomas Fitz-Simons, Sheriffs.
 Michael Penteny, Mayor, 1551.

Richard Burnwell, and William Handcock, Sheriffs.
 Robert Cusack, Mayor, 1552.
 Walter England, and Edward Drake, Sheriffs.

The Reign of Queen Mary the First.

In Her First Year, 1553.
B Artholomew Ball, Mayor.
 Walter Rochford, and Robert Usher, Sheriffs.
 Patrick Sarsfield, Mayor, 1554.
 William Sarsfield, and Robert Janes, Sheriffs.
 Thomas Rogers, Mayor, 1555.

Patrick Buckly, and Patrick Gigen, Sheriffs.
 John Callennor, Mayor, 1556.
 John Usher, and Edward Peppard, Sheriffs.
 John Spensfield, Mayor, 1557.
 John Dempsey, and Walter Cusack, Sheriffs.

The Reign of Queen Elizabeth.

In Her First Year, 1558.
R Obert Goulding, Mayor.
 Michael Fitz-Simons, and Nicholas Fitz-Simons, Sheriffs.
 Christopher Segrave, Mayor, 1559.
 Richard Galtrem, and Edward Burran, Sheriffs.
 Thomas Fitz-Simons, Mayor, 1560.
 Patrick Gough, and
 James Bellew, Sheriffs.
 Robert Usher, Mayor, 1561.
 Henry Browne, and Michael Tyrrell, Sheriffs.
 Thomas Fynning, Mayor, 1562.
 Edward Barron, and Walter Clenton, Sheriffs.
 Robert Cusack, Mayor, 1563.
 John Fitz-Simons, and John Luttrell, Sheriffs.
 Richard Fyan, Mayor, 1564.
 James Barras, and Patrick Dowdall, Sheriffs.
 Nicholas Fitz-Simons, Mayor, 1565.
 Christopher Fagan, and John White, Sheriffs.
 Sir William Sarsfield, Mayor, 1566.
 John Gaydon, and John Gough, Sheriffs.
 John Fitz-Simons, Mayor, 1567.
 Giles Allen, and John Luttrell, Sheriffs.
 Michael Bee, Mayor, 1568.
 Nicholas Duffe, and Richard Rouncell, Sheriffs.
 Walter Cusack, Mayor, 1569.

William Fitz-Simons, and John Lenan, Sheriffs.
 Henry Brown, Mayor, 1570.
 Nicholas Ball, and Simon Grave, Sheriffs.
 Patrick Dowdall, Mayor, 1571.
 Andrew Tyrrell, and Thomas Doayne, Sheriffs.
 James Bellew, Mayor, 1572.
 Walter Ball, and Thomas Cosgrave, Sheriffs.
 Christopher Fagan, Mayor, 1573.
 John Quin, and
 Patrick Brown, Sheriffs.
 John Usher, Mayor, 1574.
 Henry Cusack, and Thomas Cane, Sheriffs.
 Patrick Gough, Mayor, 1575.
 Richard Fagan, and William Barnwell, Sheriffs.
 John Gough, Mayor, 1576.
 Edward White, and Edward Devenish, Sheriffs.
 Giles Allen, Mayor, 1577.
 Walter Segrave, and James Barry, Sheriffs.
 Richard Rowntell, Mayor, 1578.
 John Forster, and William Picket, Sheriffs.
 Nicholas Duffe, Mayor, 1579.
 Henry Shelton, and Thomas Smith, Sheriffs.
 Walter Ball, Mayor, 1580.
 John Durmings, and James Matton, Sheriffs.

John Gaydon, Mayor, 1581.
 John Malone, and Philip Conran, Sheriffs.
 Nicholas Ball, Mayor, 1582.
 Robert Stephans, and Edward Thomas, Sheriffs.
 John Lenan, Mayor, 1583.
 John Borran, and William Brown, Sheriffs.
 Thomas Colgrave, Mayor, 1584.
 John Dongan, and
 Lawrence White, Sheriffs.
 William Pickots, Mayor, 1585.
 Thomas Garrot, and James Ryan, Sheriffs.
 Richard Rouncell, Mayor, 1586.
 Francis Taylor, and Edmond Conran, Sheriffs.
 Richard Fagan, Mayor, 1587.
 Nicholas Weston, and Michael Chamberling, Sheriffs.
 Walter Segrave, Mayor, 1588.
 John Tyrrell, and
 James Bellew, Sheriffs.
 John Forster, Mayor, 1589.
 Matthew Handcock, and Thomas Browne, Sheriffs.
 Edward Devenish, Mayor, 1590.
 Walter Galtrim, and Nicholas Burrane, Sheriffs.
 Thomas Smith, Mayor, 1591.

George Kennedy, and John Mills, Sheriffs.
 Philp Conran, Mayor, 1592.
 John Uther, and Thomas Flemming, Sheriffs.
 James Janes, Mayor, 1593.
 Richard Ashe, and John Moophem, Sheriffs.
 Thomas Garrott, Mayor, 1594.
 William Gough, and Ralph Sancky, Sheriffs.
 Francis Taylor, Mayor, 1595.
 John Elliott, and John Marshall, Sheriffs.
 Michael Chamberling, Mayor, 1596.
 John Shelton, and Alexander Pallice, Sheriffs.
 Nicholas Weston, Mayor, 1597.
 Robert Pantine, and John Gooding, Sheriffs.
 James Bellew, Mayor, 1598.
 John Brice, and
 Edward Purcell, Sheriffs.
 Garret Young, Mayor, 1599.
 John Cusack, and John Arthur, Sheriffs.
 Nicholas Burrane, Mayor, 1600.
 Robert Ball, and Thomas Bishop, Sheriffs.
 Matthew Handcock, Mayor, 1601.
 Robert Kennedy, and William Turner, Sheriffs.

The Reign of King James the First.

In His First Year, 1602.

SIR John Tyrrell, Mayor.
 Nicholas Stephans, and Peter Dermott, Sheriffs, and William Gough, Mayor, Eight Months,
 John Elliott Succeeded them as Mayor, Four Months, 1603.
 James Tyrrell, and Thomas Carroll, Sheriffs.
 John Shelton, Mayor, One month four weeks;
 Robert Ball in his stead, Mayor, 1604.
 Edward Malone, and Richard Barry, Sheriffs.
 John Brice, Mayor, 1605.
 John Bennes, and Richard Brown, Sheriffs.
 John Arthur, Mayor, 1606.
 John Lany, and
 Nicholas Purcell, Sheriffs.
 Nicholas Burrane, Mayor, for Thomas
 Plunkett, 1607.

Thomas Dromgowle, and James Bee, Sheriffs.
 John Cusack, Mayor, 1608.
 Thomas Allen, and Robert Eustace, Sheriffs.
 Robert Ball, Mayor, 1609.
 Thomas Long, and William Preston, Sheriffs.
 Richard Barry, Mayor, 1610.
 Edward Ball, and Richard Eustace, Sheriffs.
 Thomas Bishop, Mayor, 1611.
 William Chalketert, and Richard Wiggert, Sheriffs.
 Sir James Carroll, Mayor, for his Father, 1612.
 Edward Cullen, and John Francon, Sheriffs.
 Richard Forster, Mayor, 1613.
 Thadey Duffe, and Auntient Taylor, Sheriffs.

Richard Brown, Mayor, for John Goodwin, 1614.
 Patrick Fox, and Robert Bennett, Sheriffs.
 Richard Brown, Mayor, for John Dowde, 1615.
 Simon Banewell, and Nicholas Springham, Sheriffs.
 John Bennes, Mayor, for George Dean, 1616.
 Nicholas Kelly, and Daniel Burn, Sheriffs.
 Sir James Carroll, Mayor, 1617.
 William Bishop, and Robert Linigar, Sheriffs.
 John Lane, Mayor, 1618.
 Thomas Russell, and Henry Cheshire, Sheriffs.

Richard Forster, Mayor, 1619.
 John Lock, and Richard Teyster, Sheriffs.
 Richard Brown, Mayor, 1620.
 Edward Janes, and William Allen, Sheriffs.
 Edward Ball, Mayor, 1621.
 Christopher Forster, and Christopher Handcock, Sheriffs.
 Richard Wiggett, Mayor, 1622.
 Thomas White, and Thomas Evans, Sheriffs.
 Sir Thadey Duff, Mayor, 1623.
 Christopher Wolverston, and George Johns, Sheriffs.
 Sir William Bishop, Mayor, 1624.
 Sir Walter Dungan, and William Weston, Sheriffs.

The Reign of King Charles the First.

In His First Year, 1625.

SIR James Carroll, Mayor.
 Adam Gordman, and Nicholas Salgrave, Sheriffs.
 Thomas Evans, Mayor, 1626.
 Robert Arthur, and Francis Dowde, Sheriffs.
 Edward Janes, Mayor, 1627.
 Michael Brown, and Thomas Shelton, Sheriffs.
 Robert Bennet, Mayor, 1628.
 James Bellew, and William Baggott, Sheriffs.
 Christopher Forster, Mayor, 1629.
 Charles Forster, and James Watson, Sheriffs.
 Thomas Evans, Mayor, 1630.
 Sankey Syliard, and John Flemming, Sheriffs.
 George Johns, Mayor, 1631.
 Walter Tyrrell, and John Stanly, Sheriffs.
 Robert Bennet, Mayor, 1632.
 David Begg, and Walter Kenedy, Sheriffs.
 Robert Dixon, Mayor, 1633.
 Thomas Wakefield, and Christopher Brice, and William Purfel, Sheriffs.
 Sir James Carroll, Mayor, 1634.
 Edward Brangan, and John Gibson, Sheriffs.
 Christopher Forster, Mayor, 1635.
 John Carbery, and Thomas Ormsbey, Sheriffs.

Sir Christopher Forster, Mayor, 1636.
 Thomas Arthur, and William Smith, Sheriffs.
 James Watson, Mayor, 1637.
 Philip Watson, and William Bladon, Sheriffs.
 Sir Christopher Forster, Mayor, 1638.
 Sir Robert Forth, and Andrew Clark, Sheriffs.
 Charles Forster, Mayor, 1639.
 Edward Lake, and Richard Bamwell, Sheriffs.
 Thomas Wakefield, Mayor, 1640.
 John Bamber, and Abraham Rickes, Sheriffs.
 Thomas Wakefield, Mayor, 1641.
 Laurence Allen, and John Woodcock, Sheriffs.
 William Smith, Mayor, 1642.
 John Pue, and
 Thomas Pemberton, Sheriffs.
 William Smith, Mayor, 1643.
 John Miller, and Peter Fletcher, Sheriffs.
 William Smith, Mayor, 1644.
 John Brice, and Morice Pue, Sheriffs.
 William Smith, Mayor, 1645.
 Edward Hughes, and John Collins, Sheriffs.
 VWilliam Smith, Mayor, 1646.
 Robert Caddell, and Robert Deey, Sheriffs.
 VWilliam Bladen, Mayor, 1647.

VValter

A List of the Lord-Mayors and Sheriffs of the City of Dublin. 171

Walter Springham, and Thomas Hill, Sheriffs.
 John Pue, Mayor, 1648.
 Ralph Vanden-Hoven, and Robert Mills, Sheriffs.
 Thomas Pemberton, Mayor, who Died in Jane of the Sickneſs, Sankey Silliard Succeeded him for the Year, 1649.
 Thomas Waterhouſe, and Richard Tigh, Sheriffs.

When Dyed of the Plague 15000 that year.

In the Time of the Parliament only.

Ralph Hunt, Mayor, 1650.
 George Gilbert, and Richard Cook, Sheriffs.
 Richard Tigh, Mayor, 1651.
 Richard Hatfield, and John Brown, Sheriffs.
 Danial Hutchiſon, Mayor, 1652.
 John Cranwell, and William Clift, Sheriffs.

In Oliver Cromwell's Government.

In His First Year, 1653.

JOHN Preſton, Mayor.
 Thomas Clark, and Tobias Creamer, Sheriffs.
 Thomas Hookes, Mayor, 1654.
 William Cox, and John Deſmaneer, Sheriffs.
 Richard Tigh, Mayor, 1655.
 Daniel Billingham, and Richard Palfrey, Sheriffs.

Ridgely Hatfield, Mayor, 1656.
 Rice Phillips, and Bollard, Sheriffs.
 Thomas Waterhouſe, Mayor, 1657.
 John Forreſt, and John Totty, Sheriffs.
 Peter Wybrants, Mayor, 1658.
 Robert Arundell, and John Eaſtwood, Sheriffs.

The Reign of King Charles the Second.

In his First Year, 1659.

RObert Deey, Mayor.
 John Price, and Hugh Price, Sheriffs.
 Sir Hubard Adrenvarner, Mayor, 1660.
 Peter Warde, and Thomas Johns, Sheriffs.
 George Gilbert, Mayor, 1661.
 William Whitchett, and George Hewlet, Sheriffs.
 John Cranwell, Mayor, 1662.
 Chriſtopher Bennet, and Ehas Beſt, Sheriffs.
 William Smith, Mayor, 1663.
 Thomas Kerkam, and William Brookes, Sheriffs.
 William Smith, Mayor, 1664.
 Joſhua Allen, and Francis Brewſter, Sheriffs.
 Sir Daniel Bellingham, firſt Lord-Mayor, (1665).
 Chriſtopher Lovet, and John Quelch, Sheriffs.

John Deſmeneer, Lord-Mayor, 1666.
 Philip Caſtleton, and Joſeph Dobſon, Sheriffs.
 Markes Quinn, Lord-Mayor, 1667.
 Matthew French, and Giles Mee, Sheriffs.
 John Forreſt, Lord-Mayor, 1668.
 William Greſſingham, and John Linigar, Sheriffs.
 Lewis Deſmeneer, Lord-Mayor, 1669.
 William Story, and Richard Ward, Sheriffs.
 Enock Reador, Lord-Mayor, 1670.
 Richard Hanaway, and Haac Johns, Sheriffs.
 John Totty, Lord-Mayor, 1671.
 Henry Reynalds, and Nathaniel Philpot, Sheriffs.
 Robert Deey, Lord-Mayor, 1672.
 Thomas Clinton, and John Caſtleton, Sheriffs.
 Sir Joſhua Allen, Lord-Mayor, 1673.

172 A List of the Lord-Mayors and Sheriffs of the City of Dublin.

Abel Ram, and George Blackall, Sheriffs.
 Sir Francis Brewiter, Lord-Mayor, 1674.
 Humphrey Jervis, and William Sands, Sheriffs.
 William Smith, Lord-Mayor, 1675.
 John Knox, and Walter Motley, Sheriffs.
 Christopher Lovet, Lord-Mayor, 1676.
 William Watts, and Benjamin Leadbetter, Sheriffs.
 John Smith, Lord-Mayor, 1677.
 James Cottingham, and William Billington, Sheriffs.
 Peter VVard, Lord-Mayor, 1678.
 VVilliam Cook, and Thomas Tennant, Sheriffs.
 John Eastwood, Lord-Mayor, 1679.
 Thomas Taylor, and Robert Bridges, Sheriffs.
 Luke Lowther, Lord-Mayor, 1680.
 John Coyn, and Samuel VValton, Sheriffs.
 S Humphrey Jervis, Lord-Mayor, 1681.
 John Fletcher, and
 Edward Haines, Sheriffs.
 S Humphrey Jervis, Lord-Mayor, 1682.
 VVilliam Watts, and
 Edward Haines, Sheriffs.
 Sir Elias Best, Lord-Mayor, 1683.
 George Kenedy, and Michael Mitchell, Sheriffs.
 Sir Abel Ram, Lord-Mayor, 1684.
 Charles Thompson, and Thomas Quine, Sheriffs.

The Reign of King James the Second.

In His First Year, 1685.

S IR John Knox, Lord-Mayor.
 Richard French, and Edward Ross, Sheriffs.
 Sir John Castleton, Lord-Mayor, 1686.
 James Howison, and Isaac Holroyd, Sheriffs.
 Sir Thomas Hackett, Lord-Mayor, 1687.
 Thomas Keiran, and Edmond Kelly, Sheriffs.
 Sir Michael Creagh, Lord-Mayor, 1688.
 Christopher Palles, and John Coyne, Sheriffs.
 Sir Terence Dermott, Lord Mayor, Nine (Months), 1689.
 Ignatius Brown, and John More, Sheriffs.

The Reign of King William the Third.

In His First Year, 1689.

W Alter Motley, Lord-Mayor, the other Three Months.
 Anthony Piercy, and Marks Rainsford, Sheriffs.
 John Otterington, Lord-Mayor, 1690.
 Marks Rainstord, and Edward Llovd, Sheriffs.
 Sir Michael Mitchell, Lord-Mayor, 1691.
 Thomas Bell, and Henry Stephens, Sheriffs.
 Sir Michael Mitchell, Lord-Mayor, 1692.
 Francis Stoyte, and William Gibbons, Sheriffs.
 Sir John Rogerson, Lord-Mayor, 1693.
 John Page, and Robert Twigg, Sheriffs.
 George Blackhall, Lord-Mayor, 1694.
 Benjamin Burton, and Thomas Denham, Sheriffs.
 William Watts, Lord-Mayor, 1695.
 Andrew Brice, and William Stowell, Sheriffs.
 Sir William Billington, Lord-Mayor, 1696.
 Robert Constantine, and Nathaniel Whitwell, Sheriffs.
 Bartho. Van Homrigh, Lord-Mayor, 1697.
 William Founds, and John Pearson, Sheriffs.
 Thomas Quine, Lord-Mayor, 1698.
 Robert Mason, and Samuel Cook, Sheriffs.
 Sir Anthony Piercy, Lord-Mayor, 1699.
 Charles Forest, James Barlow, Sheriffs.
 Sir Mark Rainstord, Lord-Mayor, 1700.
 John Eccles, Ralph Gore, Sheriffs.

The Reign of Queen Anne.

In Her First Year, 1701.

S Amuel Walton, Lord-Mayor.
 John Stoyte, Thomas Bolton, Sheriffs.
 Thomas Bell, Lord-Mayor, 1702.
 Thomas Pleasants, and David Cossart, Sheriffs.
 John Page, Lord-Mayor, 1703.
 John Hendrick, and William French, Sheriffs.
 Francis Stoyte, Lord-Mayor, 1704.
 Thomas Wilkinson, and Robert Cheatham, Sheriffs.

The HEADS of the ESTABLISHMENT FOR IRELAND,

Commencing March the 25th, 1704.

Civil LIST.

Court of Exchequer. Yearly Allowance.

	l.	s.	d.
L ord Treasurer	365
Vice Treasurer	50
Chancellor of the } Exchequer	200
Lord Chief Baron for his Fees } and Robes	500
Second Baron for the same	400
Third Baron for the same	400
Augmentation of 200 l. each } to the three Barons	600
Prime Serjeant	33	16	8
Second Serjeant	30	6
Attorney General	88	6	8
Solicitor General	88	6	8
Auditor General for his Fee, } and all Fees due upon passing } Sheriffs Accounts, and trans- } porting Yearly Accounts } into England.	265
Surveyor General	60
Escheators of } Leinster } Munster } Conaught } Ulster }	6 1 1 1	13 5 5 5	4
Chief Remembrancer	51	19	2
Second Remembrancer	53	2	3
Clerk of the Pipe	156	12
Chief Chamberlain	52	3	4
Second Chamberlain	52	3	4
Comptroller of the Pipe	53	10
Usher of the Exchequer	24	2	6
Transcripser and Foreign Opposer	53	15
Summoniser and Clerk of the } Eftreats }	43	18	6

Marshal of the Four Courts } over and above the lawful } Fees of his Office, computed } at 120 l. per Annum.

Clerk of the Pells	30
Clerk of the First Fruits and } Twentieth Parts	38	14	9
Cryer of the Exchequer	9	8	4
Pursuivant	79
Auditor of the Foreign Accounts	121	13	4
Total	4191	6	10

Court of Queen's-Bench.

L ord Chief Justice for his } Fee and Robes	600
Second Justice for the same	400
Third Justice for the same	400
Augmentation of 200 l. each } to the three Justices	600
Clerk of the Crown	7	10
Total	2007	10

Court of Chancery.

L ord Chancellor of Ireland	2000
Master of the Rolls	157	9	11
Four Masters in Chancery, at } 20 l. each,	80
Clerk of the Crown in Chancery	25
Clerk of the Hanaper	35	10
Total	2297	19	11

Court of Common-Pleas.

L ord Chief Justice for his } Fee and Robes	500
---	-----	--	--

A a a

Second

The HEADS of the Yearly Allowance.

	l.	s.	d.
Second Justice for the same	400
Third Justice for the same	400
Augmentation of 200 l. each to the three Justices	600
Prothonotary	7	10
	1907	10

Officers and Ministers attending the State.

Principal Secretary of State	300
Clerk of the Council	440
Physician to the State	66	13	4
Ulster King at Arms	26	13	4
Athlone Pursuivant	13	13	9
Chief Serjeant at Arms	100
Second Serjeant at Arms	50
First, Second and Third Pursuivants, at 30 l. each,	90
Keeper of the Council Chamber	18	5
Keeper of the Rooms in Dublin Castle	16	16
Keeper of the Records in Birmingham's Tower	10
Constable of the Castle in Dublin	20
A Kettle-Drum and six Trumpets, each 70 l.	490
Lord Mayor and Citizens of Dublin	500
Ranger of the Phoenix Park and Master of the Game	50
Porter of the Castle of Dublin	13	13	9
	2205	15	2

Incidents.

Charge of the Circuits to every Justice of Assize who goes, 100 l. which for five Circuits twice a Year comes to	2000
To the Dean of Christ-Church for the Rent of Rooms with-in the Four Courts	15	10
Rent of Skiddey's Castle, being the Store-House of Cork,	7	10
To the Receiver General for Paper and Parchment	25
To the Keeper of the House for Receipt	5
Singers of Christ-Church for praying for the Queen every Term	2

	l.	s.	d.
Officers of the Customs	638	6	8
	2693	6	8

Perpetuities.

To the Provost and Fellows of Trinity College	388	15
To the Dean and Chapter of Christ-Church	45	6	8
To the Lord Bishop of Meath out of the Mannor of Trim	3	15
To the Lord Arch-Bishop of Dublin for Proxies out of divers Churches belonging to the late Monasteries of S. Thomas Court, S. Mary's Abby and S. John of Jerusalem,	18	5	6
To the Chanter of Christ-Church, Dublin, for Rent of a plot of Ground near the Castle of Dublin,	27
For the Rent of Castlenye Park where the Fort of Kinsale stands	6	13	4
To the Minister of the French Church	50
For Printing the Bills of Mortality	12
Tythes of the Land in the Phoenix Park	12
Clerk of the Paper-Office	100
	663	15	6

Pensions.

Pensions to several persons, amounting in the Total to	7225
To three Commissioners of Appeals, 100 l. each,	300
To Light-Houses	500
To Nonconforming Ministers a Sum not exceeding	1200
For Extraordinaries by Concordatums	5000
To French Pensioners	24152	7	1

Total of the Civil List 54344 10 2

Military

Establishment for IRELAND.

Military LIST.

General Officers. Yearly Allowance.

	l.	s.	d.
L ORD Lieutenant, Deputy, Justice, or other Chief Governor or Governors General of Ireland,	65	93	6 8
One Aid de Camp	182	10
One Lieutenant General	1460
One Aid de Camp	182	10
One Major General	730
Two Brigadiers	1095
Muster-Master General and Clerk of the Checque	500
Six Deputy Commissaries at 5 s. per diem each	547	10
Quarter-Master General	365
Adjutant General	365
Judge Advocate General	121	13	4
Chirurgion General	121	13	4
Provost Marshal General	73
	12337	3	4

Military Contingencies from the 1st of January, 1704 } 3000

Military Incidents.

R ent of the Horse-Guard, and Fire and Candle for the Guards in Dublin Castle	170
Three Regiments of Horse, each consisting of six Troops of 36 private Men in each, in all 648 Men besides Officers, amounts to	338	17	5
The Pay of a Colonel of Horse as Colonel, being at 12 s. per diem,	219
Of a Lieutenant Colonel as Lieutenant Colonel, at 8 s. per diem,	146
Of Major as Major, at 5 s. 6 d. per diem,	100	7	6
Chaplain at 6 s. 8 d.	121	13	4
Chirurgion at 4 s.	73
Kettle-Drummer at 2 s. 6 d.	45	12	6
The Captain of each Troop at 10 s. and two Horses at 2 s. each,	255	10
The Lieutenant 5 s. and two Horses at 2 s. each,	164	5
The Cornet 3 s. and two Horses at 2 s. each,	127	15
Quarter-Master for himself and Horse at 5 s.	91	5

Two Corporals, each at 2 s. 6 d.	91	5
One Trumpeter at 2 s. 6 d.	45	12	6
Thirty six private Soldiers at 1 s. 6 d. each	985	10
The Pay of three Regiments of Dragoons (each consisting of six Troops and 36 private Men) in all 648 Men besides Officers	257	14	5
The Pay of a Colonel of Dragoons, as Colonel, being at 12 s. per diem.	219
A Lieutenant Colonel, as Lieutenant Colonel, at 7 s.	127	15
Major, as Major, at 5 s.	91	5
Chaplain at 6 s. 8 d.	121	13	4
Chirurgion at 4 s.	73
A Captain at 10 s.	182	10
A Lieutenant at 5 s.	91	5
A Cornet at 4 s.	73
A Quarter-Master at 3 s.	54	15
A Serjeant at 2 s. 6 d.	45	12	6
Two Corporals, each 1 s. 6 d.	54	15
One Drummer, 1 s. 6 d.	27	7	6
One Hautboy, 1 s. 6 d.	27	7	6
Thirty six Dragoons, each 1 s. 2 d.	766	10
The Pay of Fourteen Regiments of Foot, consisting of twelve Companies and one Company of Granadeers, and 50 private Men in each Company, in all 8400 Men besides Officers,	1576	86	1 8
The Pay of a Colonel of Foot, as Colonel, being at 12 s. per diem.	219
Lieutenant Colonel, as Lieutenant Colonel, at 7 s.	127	15
Major, as Major, at 4 s.	73
Chaplain at 6 s. 8 d.	121	13	4
Chirurgion at 4 s. and one Mate at 2 s. 6 d.	118	12	6
Adjutant & Quarter-Master at 4 s.	73
A Captain of Foot at 8 s.	146
A Lieutenant at 4 s.	73
An Ensign at 3 s.	54	15
Two Serjeants, each 1 s. 6 d.	54	15
Three Corporals, each 1 s.	54	15
Two Drummers, each 1 s.	36	10
Fifty private Men, each 6 d.	456	5
Another Regiment of Foot consisting of 11 Companies, and 1 Company of Granadeers, of 40 private men in each, in all 600 Men besides Officers, at the same rates as the Companies and Officers abovementioned.	10387	5	10

One

The HEADS of the, &c.

		Yearly Allowance.			l. s. d.
One Company of Foot-Guards to be armed with Battle-Axes and to attend the State, to consist of as follows.
A Captain at 15 l. each Kalendar Month.
Two Lieutenants at 9 l. per Month.
Two Serjeants at 2 s. per diem each.
Fifty Yeomen at 10 d. per diem each.
Charge of the Ordnance.
Master of the Ordnance		500
Lieut. of the Ordnance		300
Major of the Train of Artillery		200
Surveyor and Comptroller		200
Clerk of the Ordnance		100
Engineer, Overseer and Surveyor General of the Fortifications and Buildings		300
Second Engineer of Ireland		182	10
Third Engineer to attend the Train of Artillery		146
Two Gentlemen of the Ordnance		146
A Store-Keeper		100
Two Fire-Masters at 4 s. per diem each		146
Two Bombardeers at 2 s. per diem each		73
Armorer at Dublin		73
Four Assistant Armourers to move from Store to Store as occasion require, at 2 s. each,		146
Wheelwright		36	10
Waggon and Carriage maker		36	10
Master Gunner to attend the Train		50
Gunner's Mate		25
Eight Gunners to attend the Train at 12 d. per diem each		146
Eight Matrosses to attend the Train and Stores in Dublin, at 9 d. each,		109	10
At London-Derry,
A Store-Keeper		40
Two Gunners		36	10
Two Matrosses		27	7	6
Charlemont,
One Gunner		18	5
One Matross		13	13	9
Limerick,
A Store-Keeper		40
Four Gunners		73
Two Matrosses		27	7	6
Kinsale,
A Store-Keeper		40
Master Gunner		36	10
Eight Gunners		146
Four Matrosses		54	15
Galway,
A Store-Keeper		40
Three Gunners		54	15
Two Matrosses		27	7	6
Athlone,
One Gunner		18	5
One Matross		13	13	9
Duncannon,
A Store-Keeper		40
Master Gunner		36	10
Two other Gunners		36	10
Two Matrosses		27	7	6
Carrickfergus,
A Store-Keeper		40
One Gunner		18	5
One Matross		13	13	9
Total Charge of the Ordnance		3935	16	3
Additional Pay of 3 d. per diem each to the private Troopers and Non-commission Officers of two Troops of Horse, and 1 d. per diem to each private Man and non-commission Officer of two Regiments of Foot whilst they do Duty in Dublin,		23	10	2	11
To the Governors of Garrisons.
Of London-Derry and Culmore		182	10
Galway (during the present War)		200
Cork		365
Limerick		365
Town-Major of Limerick		73
Kinsale		365
Lieutenant Governor		182	10
Fort Major		73
Duncannon		365
Fort Major		73
Ross Castle		182	10
Dublin Town Major		91	5
		25	17	15
Military Pensions		2978	5
The Annual Charge for maintaining and upholding 36 Barracks for Horse and 227 for Foot, and supplying the same with Bedding and other necessary Utensils, Barrack-Masters Salaries, Charges of watching empty Barracks, & other contingent Expences,		13336	10
To Half Pay Officers		4051	10
Total of the Military List, besides the Half Pay to Reformed Officers,		2694	19	18	4

A LIST of HER MAJESTIES Most HONOURABLE PRIVY COUNCIL For the Kingdom of IRELAND, Anno Domini, 1704.

- | | |
|--|---|
| <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1 James Duke of Ormonde Lord Lieutenant. 2 Lord Chancellor. 3 Lord Primate. 4 William Lord Arch-Bishop of Dublin. 5 Edward Earl of Meath. 6 William Earl of Inisquin. 7 Charles Earl of Montrath. 8 Henry Earl of Drogheda. 9 Hugh Earl of Mount-Alexander. 10 Henry Earl of Galway. 11 James Earl of Abercorne. 12 Murrough Lord Viscount Blesinton. 13 Richard Lord Bishop of Meath. 14 William Lord Bishop of Kildare. 15 St. George Lord Bishop of Clogher. 16 Edward Lord Bishop of Down and Connor. 17 Thomas Lord Coningsby. 18 William Lord Berkly, Master of the Rolls. 19 Henry Lord Shelburne. 20 Francis Roberts, Esq; 21 Sir Charles Fielding. 22 Phillip Savage, Esq; Chancellor of the Exchequer. 23 Sir Richard Pyne, Knight, Lord Chief Justice of the Queens Bench. 24 Robert Doyne, Esq; Lord Chief Justice of the Common-Pleas. | <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 25 Nehemiah Donellan, Esq; Lord Chief Baron of the Exchequer. 26 Sir Christopher Wandesford, Baronet. 27 Sir Robert King. 28 Sir Cyrill Wych. 29 Lieutenant General Stewart. 30 Thomas Keightley, Esq; 31 Lieutenant General Erle. 32 Major General Richard Ingoldsby. 33 Thomas Broderick, Esq; 34 Robert Molefworth, Esq; 35 Charles Deering, Esq; Auditor General. 36 Francis Gwyn, Esq; 37 Sir William Robinson, Knight. 38 Edward Southwell, Esq; Secretary of State; |
|--|---|

ASSISTANTS.

- John Pulteney*, Esq; Clerk of the Council.
Sir Thomas Pakenham, Knight, Prime Serjeant at Law.
Robert Rochfort, Esq; Attorney General.
William Neave, Esq; Second Serjeant.
Sir Richard Levinge, Sollicitor General.
Henry Pulteney, Deputy Clerk of the Council.

B b b

Principal

Principal Officers

Civil and Military,

Civil L I S T.

Lord High Treasurer, Earl of Cork and Burlington.
 Vice Treasurer, Thomas Lord Coningsby.
 Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Honourable Phillip Savage, Esq;
 Lord Chief Baron of the Exchequer, Nehemiah Donellan, Esq; Second Baron, Sir Henry Echlin, Knight.
 Third Baron, Robert Johnson, Esq;
 Prime Serjeant, Sir Thomas Pakenham, Knight.
 Second Serjeant, Robert Neave, Esq;
 Attorney General, Robert Rochfort, Esq;
 Solicitor General, Sir Richard Levinge, Knight.
 Auditor General, Charles Deering, Esq;
 Surveyor General, Stone, Esq;
 Chief Remembrancer, Richard Aldworth, Esq;
 Second Remembrancer, Richard Barry, Esq;
 Clerk of the Pipe, Paul Barry, Esq;
 Chief Chamberlain, Gascoyne, Esq;
 Second Chamberlain, Robert Curtis, Esq;
 Comptroller of the Pipe,
 Usher of the Court of Exchequer, Nicholas Peters.
 Foreign Opposer, David Kennedy, Esq;
 Summoner, William Duberry.
 Marshal of the Four Courts, Henry Vaughan, Esq;
 Clerk of the Pells, Theophilus Butler, Esq;
 Clerk of the First Fruits, Colonel Roger Moore, Esq;
 Cryer of the Exchequer, Mr. Simon Marshal.
 Pursuivant of the Exchequer, William Briggs, Esq;
 Auditors of the Foreign Accounts and Imprests, John Champanty and Robert Curtis, Esquires.

Lord Chief Justice of the Queens-Bench, Sir Richard Pyne, Knight.
 Second Justice of the Queens-Bench, Richard Coote, Esq;

Third Justice, George Macartney, Esq;
 Clerk of the Crown, the Honourable Phillip Savage, Esq;

Lord High Chancellor, Sir Richard Cox, Knight.

Master of the Rolls, Lord Berkley.

Masters in Chancery, Dr. Porter,
Dr. Usher,
Dr. White,
Dr. Stone.

Clerk of the Hanaper and Crown in Chancery, Sir Thomas Domvile, Baronet.

Lord Chief Justice of the Common-Pleas, Robert Doyme, Esq; Second Justice, Sir Gilbert Dolben, Knight.

Third Justice, Anthony Upton, Esq;

Prothonotary, James Barry, Esq;

Officers and Ministers attending the STATE.

Principal Secretary of State, Edward Southwell, Esq;

Clerk of the Council, John Pulteney, Esq;
 Secretary to the Lords Justices, Joshua Dawson, Esq;

Physician to the State, Sir Patrick Dun, Knight.

Ulster King at Arms, William Hawkins, Esq;

Atblone Pursuivant, Mr. Joseph Moland.

Chief Serjeant at Arms, Richard Povey, Esq;

Second Serjeant at Arms, Thomas Carter, Esq;

Constable of the Castle of Dublin, James Clerke, Esq; Pursuivants, 1 Mr. Robert Preston.

2 Mr. Jos. Dawson.

3 Mr. William Levinston.

Keeper of the Records in Birmingham's Tower, Joshua Dawson, Esq;

Keeper of the Council Chamber

Keeper of the Rooms of Dublin Castle,

Porter of Dublin Castle,

Wheeler.

Ranger

The Names of the Principal Officers, &c.

Ranger of the Phœnix Park, Sir Thomas Smith, Knight.

Military LIST.

Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, James Duke of Ormonde.

Lords Justices, { Sir Richard Cox, Knight.
Earl of Mount-Alexander.
Thomas Erle, Esq;

Lieutenant General of the Army, Thomas Erle, Esq;

Major General, Francis Langston, Esq;

Brigadeers, { John Tidcombe, Esq;
Robert Echlin, Esq;

Muster-Master General, Captain Michael Harrison.

Quarter-Master General, Colonel Richard Gorges.

Adjutant General, Major Pepper.

Judge Advocate General, Arthur Bushe, Esq;

Chirurgion General, Thomas Proby, Esq;

Provost Marshal General, Captain Michael Tooley.

Officers belonging to the Train of Artillery.

Master General of the Ordnance, Earl of Mount-Alexander.

Lieutenant General, Colonel Chidleigh Coote.

Major of the Train, John Wybault.

Surveyor or Comptroller, George Houghton, Esq;

Clerk, Edward Payne, Esq;

Engineer, and Surveyor General, Thomas Burgh, Esq;

Engineers, { 2 Captain Rod. Corneille.

{ 3 John Obryan.

Gentlemen of { Thomas Wheeler.

the Ordnance, { Montgomery.

Fire-Masters, { John Logan.

{ Richard Swan.

Master Gunner, Andrew Cumpsty.

Bombardeers, { George Alston.

{ John Watson.

London-Derry, Store-Keeper, Chris. Carlton.

Galway, Store-Keeper, Ald. Tho. Cartwright.

Limerick, Store-Keeper, Alderman Robinson.

Duncannon, Store-Keeper, Matth. Palin.

Master Gunner, Isaac Phipps.

Kinsale, Store-Keeper, John Love.

Master Gunner, John Lewis.

Carrickfergus, Store-Keeper, Tho. Lewers.

The Commissioners of the Revenue.

Thomas Keightley, Esq;
John South, Esq;
Sir Thomas Southwell, Baronet.
Samuel Ogle, Esq;
Thomas Everard, Esq;
Henry Tenison, Esq;
Sir John Bland, Knight.

Arthur Bushe, Esq; Secretary.

Surveyors General.

Francis Babe.
Phillip Moore.
Farmer Glover.
Thomas Hyde.

The Collectors of the several Districts in Ireland.

Districts. Collectors Names.

A Rmagh,	F Rancis Nevill .
Athlone,	Robert Temple .
Baltimore	Henry Smithwick .
Belfast	John Elsmere .
Cavan,	John Walker .
Clonmell,	James Harrison .
Colerain,	Daniel Mecan ,
Cork Port,	Warham Jemmatt .
Cork Excise,	Cuthbert Wilkinson .
Dingle,	John Gash .
Donaghadee,	Francis Allen .
Drogheda,	Will. Abraham Bodens .
Dublin Port,	Martin Tucker .
Dublin Excise,	Charles Melvill .
Dublin County,	Charles Bourcheir .
Dundalk,	Samuel Hobson .
Ennis,	Nicholas Westby .
Foxford,	Gerald Cuffe .
Galway Port,	Henry Arkwright .
Galway Excise,	George Lee .
Kilkenny,	Amyas Bushe .
Killebeggs,	Burdett Pilkington .
Kinsale,	Robert Conron .
Limerick,	John Napper .
Lisburne,	John Latham .
London-Derry,	John Wootton .
Maryborough	William Newstead .
Moyallow,	Edward Dodsworth .
Naas,	William Sotheby .
Ros,	Thomas Crawford .
	Sligo,

The Names of the Principal Officers, &c.

Districts.	Collectors Names.
Sligo,	Thomas Griffith.
Strabane,	Stephen Godfrey.
Strangford,	George Lambert.
Trim,	Hugh Bowen.
Waterford,	John Kent.
Wexford,	Francis Heyton.
Wicklow,	John Lloyd.
Youghall,	Luke Ogle.

Officers of the Customs.

Dublin.

Customer, Joshua Dawson, Esq;
 Comptroller, Charles Maule, Esq;
 Searcher, Henry Edgworth, Esq;

Wexford.

Customer, Robert Harmsworth, Esq;
 Comptroller, John Lloyd, Esq;

Waterford and Ross.

Customer, William Crow, Esq;
 Comptroller, John Lloyd, Esq;
 Searcher, Sir John Mason.

Toughall and Dungarvan.

Customer, Lewis Jones, Gent.
 Comptroller, William Fownes, Esq;
 Searcher, John Jephson, Gent.

Cork.

Customer, John and Richard Travers, Gent.
 Searcher, Stephen and Henry Sweet, Gent.

Kinsale.

Customer, Matthew French, Gent.
 Searcher, Joseph Ellwell, Gent.

Dingle-Icough.

Customer, Henry Warren, Esq;

Limerick.

Customer, Thomas Harrison, Esq;
 Comptroller, Benjamin Chetwood, Esq;
 Searcher, Charles Cooling, Gent.

Galway.

Customer, Robert Widdrington, Gent.
 Searcher, Henry Russel, Gent.

Drogheda, Dundalk and Carlingford.

Customer, Richard Whaley, Esq;
 Comptroller, Joshua Dawson, Esq;
 Searcher, Robert Harmsworth, Esq;

Carrickfergus.

Customer, Edward Lyndon, Esq;
 Searcher, Arthur Davis, Esq;

Strangford.

Customer, Henry Echlin, Gent.
 Searcher, Oliver Savage, Gent.

Accomptant General, William Burgh, Esq;

The Lord Mayor and Court of Aldermen of the City of Dublin.

Francis Stoyt, Esq; Lord Mayor.
 John Forster, Esq; Recorder.

Sir Humphrey Jervis,
 Sir John Rogerfon,
 Thomas Quine,
 Sir Mark Randsford,
 Samuel Walton,
 John Page,
 Henry Stephens,
 William Gibbons,
 Benjamin Burton,
 John Pearson,
 William Fownes,
 Robert Constantine,
 Charles Forrest,
 John Eccles,
 James Barlow,
 Samuel Cooke,
 Ralph Gore,
 Robert Mason,
 John Stoyte,
 Thomas Pleasants,
 John Henderick,
 Thomas Bolton,
 William French,
 David Coassert,
 Thomas Wilkinfon,
 Robert Cheatham,

} Aldermen.

} Sheriffs.

A SURVEY of the Liberties and Franchises OF THE CITY OF DUBLIN.

As they are Ridden and Perambulated every Third Year
By the Lord Mayor, and Corporations in their several Stations following, viz.

Corporation of

1	M erchants
2	M ayors
3	Smiths
4	Barber-Chirurgions
5	Bakers
6	Butchers
7	Carpenters
8	Shoemakers,
9	Sadlers
10	Cooks
11	Tanners
12	Tallow-Chandlers
13	Skinner's & Glovers

Corporation of

14	Weavers
15	Shearmen & Dyers
16	Gold-Smiths
17	Coopers
18	Felt-makers
19	Stationers, Cuttlers and Painter-stainers
20	Bricklayers & Plasterers
21	The Carriers
22	Hosiers
23	Brewers & Maltsters
24	Joyners & Wainscoters

A SURVEY of the City Liberties.

Beginning at the Custom-House, you go down Essex-street, Temple-Bar, and to the East end of Lazars-Hill. From thence across the Strand to Rings-End. From thence to the Water Mark, where the Dart is thrown. From thence to the * Black-Rock. From thence Westward to a Red-House on the East side of * Merrian. From thence through the Garden on the Back of the House, and across the Fields to Simons-Court. From thence across the Fields into the Road to Bray. From thence Southward along the said Road to Two little Cabbins on the South-side thereof. From thence across the Fields into the Road to Clanskeagh, opposite to a Mill on the River of Donnibrook. From thence along the said Road to the Bridge of Clanskeagh, and under the East-most Arch thereof. From thence to the Mill of Clanskeagh, and through the Mill. From thence to a Lane call'd * Clanskeagh-Lane, and along the said Lane to Mill-Town Road. From thence Northward to Mr. Roberts's House in the said Road. From thence through Mr. Roberts's House and Garden across the Fields to Donnibrook Road, near a little Cabbin on the Right Hand thereof. From thence Northward along Donnibrook Road, to the House with the Sign of the Curran-Tree, on the West side of the said Road. From thence by the South End of the said House through the Garden, and across the Fields by the Back of Mr. Leeson's, to the Corner House at St. Cavan's-Port, on the East side thereof, and through the said House. From thence by the West side of Cavan's Port, to big Butter-Lane. From thence through Bigg Butter-Lane to Bride-street. From thence along Bride-street to Bull-Alley. From thence down Bull-Alley to Counsellor Swift's House, and through the said House and Garden into St. Patrick-street. From thence to the House with the Sign of King William and Queen Mary, on the West side of the said Street. From thence thence through the Back side to the Comb, at the great Stone that Stands in the Street. From thence along the Comb, by the Water-Course to Crooked-Staff. From thence over the Wall on the Left side of Crooked-Staff, between the Willow Trees, and along the Water-Course into the Road to Dolphins-Barn. From thence by the Water-Course to the Malt House at the West End of Dolphins Barn, Including the said Malt House and Garden Westward of it. From thence North-ward across the Fields, and through the Garden and Red-House, at the North End of Cat-Throat-Lane. From thence to Bow-Bridge, and under the Middle-most Arch of the said Bridge. From thence into the Hospital Fields over the Old Deer-Park Wall, near the old Slaughter-House. From thence through the Hospital-Fields, and a-cross the Liffy Strand to the Round Stone by the Deer-Park Wall. From thence over the Deer-Park Wall, and through the Park to a Corner of the wall near the Dog-Kennel on the North side thereof. From thence over the Wall Northward by the said Wall, to the First Half Round or Rising on the said Wall. From thence Eastward through Mr. Brownlow's Fields and several Gardens, to Stony-Batter by Mr. Addison's House, on the South End thereof. From thence through the House with the Sign of the Half-Moon, on the East side of Stoney Batter, and Gardens to Coll. Standly's, and through the said House to Grange Gorman-Lane. From thence by the South End of the House, with the Sign of the Half-Moon on the East side of Grange Gorman-Lane, and through the Gardens into Finglas Road, * From thence Northward to the Broad-Stone. From thence through the Water-Course under the Stone, and through the Gardens into * Drumcondra Road. From thence Southward to the little Cabin, at a Well * in the Garden, on the East side of the Road. From thence through the Gardens to the Sign of the Coach and Horses in Ballybough Lane. From thence Northward along Ballybough Lane to Ballybough Bridge. From thence a-cross the River on the West side of the Bridge, and along the Strand side to Clantarf. From thence to the Shades of Clantarf. From thence to the Mill of Rahenny. And from thence farther Northward one hundred and Thirty Pearches, to a little Brook which is the End of the Liberties of the City of Dublin.

C c c

 Note, Where this * is, there is called a Court.

An Account of the Officers, &c. of the Royal Hospital at Kilmainham : With their Respective Salaries.

M aster,	400	Clerk of the Chappel,	3 10	3 Barbers,	9
Physitian	50	Hall-Keeper,	1	Looker after the Gar-	7
Chaplain,	80	Messenger,	6	den,
Auditor and Register,	50	Scullery-Man,	12	Overseer of the Works	10
Pay-Master,	50	Scullery-Man's Assist-	8	and Buildings,
Aid Major,	26	ant,		Late Treasurers annuity	30
Reader,	20	2 Kitchen-helpers,	10
Chirurgion,	50	Water-Man,	16 18	8 Decay'd Commission
Chirurgeons Mate,	20	4 Porters, each 16l. 10s.	67 12	and Warrant Officers
Providore,	50	12 Nurses, each 6l. 10s.	78	of the Army, each 80
Apothecary,	20	1 Superannuated Nurse,	2	ten pound per Annum,
Butler,	16	Slater,	20	and their Table, &c.
Cook,	10	Glazier,	32
Under Cook,	8	Incident Expences,	70	494 Soldiers,
Fueller and Chamber-		Medicaments,	50
keeper,	16	Clock-Keeper,	2 10

FINIS.

68 Comms

to Libris

Henry Lowndes divided CES & from the THORI

1780

Scale
British Stat
5 10 15
Irish Miles 3 6 9

ELAND,

divided into its

ES & COUNTIES

om the best

THORITIES.

1780

Scales.

British Statute Miles

French Miles 5 to a Degree

EXPLANATION.

THE ANNALS of the Affairs of
IRELAND,
FROM
The First Conquest by the ENGLISH,
In the REIGN of
King HENRY, II.
Unto the End of the REIGN of Queen ELIZABETH.

By Sir James Ware, Knight.

TOGETHER,

With a Continuation of the most Memorable Transactions there, from the End of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, unto this Present Time.

DUBLIN: Printed by Andrew Crook, for M. Gunne in Essex-street, and E. Dobson at the Stationers Arms in Castle-street, 1705.

ANNALS

OF THE IRISH

AND

THE HISTORY OF THE

IRISH

BY

JOHN

JOHN

JOHN

JOHN

JOHN

JOHN

THE PREFACE
TO THE ANNALS,

PUBLISH'D
By Sir JAMES WARE,
In HIS Life Time.

TIS now somewhat more than Six Years, since I Publish'd the ANNALS of the Affairs of Ireland, in the Reign of King Henry the Seventh. I afterwards added what was done there during the Reign of his Son King Henry the Eighth; But then being Employed in other Business, I resolv'd to leave the History of the following times to the Search and Industry of others. I had in my mind that saying of Cicero; An History cannot be begun, unless a Man have leisure to prepare it; nor be Finish'd in a small time. Nevertheless, I complied so far with the Advice; and Encouragement of my Friends, as to continue the History, at least, unto the beginning of Queen Elizabeth's Reign: I therefore set my self at leisure hours to this Task; and besides those few helps, which our Common Historians afforded me, I made a Research into the publick Records, Acts of Parliament, and my own Papers: And from these Originals I drew this account of our Affairs under these two Princes Edward the Sixth, and Queen Mary, and digested into Annals.

I am of Opinion, many things worthy to be known, and hitherto unheard of, very pertinent to the History of the times of King Edward, and Queen Mary, might be added out of the Manuscripts in that incomparably well furnish'd, and inestimable Cottonian Library at Westminster; but, to my sorrow, I neglected whilst I was in England, thence to enrich my Collections. Yet in these which I now Present, I have not only deliver'd Matters of Fact, but also (according to Sempronius Asellio's advice in Agellius) have added as far as I could learn, the Reason and Design of their Being done; from whence Maxims may be drawn, which may be of no small Utility to the Publick.

I have touch'd upon Ecclesiastical Affairs very sparingly, but have left them to the Inquiry of Church Historians; altho' Ecclesiastical and Civil Matters are so interwoven, that they are hardly to be seperated. It was never my intention to obtrude Frauds and Falshoods for Truths: Yet, wherever I may, through Credulity, have been Imposed on, I shall upon friendly Information, most willingly acknowledge and Correct my Mistakes; For I alway esteem'd it a most commendable Quality, and the most worthy of a Free-Man, to be always a Proficient in the Truth; and modestly without odious Reflections, to Communicate the same to Posterity.

There are that reject Antient Memoirs as unprofitable, and wish them all Destroy'd; away with them. 'Tis an excellent saying of that wise Senator Cicero; To be ignorant of what has happen'd before a Man was born, is always to be a Boy. Nor is the Carelesnes of those learned Men to be excus'd, who liv'd in the Reigns of both the Henrys, Edward the Sixth, and Queen Mary, and must needs know the certainty of the Transactions of those Times, and yet wrote little or nothing (that I know) concerning them, unless by the by, and as minding something else. However, I have here given the Reader, who is desirous to be informed of our Affairs, such a Taste of those Times, as may in some measure be to his Satisfaction.

1

THE ANNALS
OF
IRELAND,

From the first coming of the ENGLISH under
KING HENRY
THE SECOND.

The INTRODUCTION.

DERMOT King of Leinster, Son of Murchard, having committed a Rape upon Dervorgill the Wife of Tigernac O Roirk King of Bresnia, Tigernac in Revenge, deals with Rodrick O Connor, at that time King of Ireland, to fall upon Dermot with their United Forces : Tigernac was easily perswaded, and marching into Leinster, with his own, and what Forces Tigernac, and his Neighbours had joyn'd him, Engag'd in Battle with Dermot, gave him a signal overthrow, and oblig'd the People of Leinster, particularly the Easterlings of Dublin, to give him Hostages. This was in the Year 1167. Dermot in the Interim, flying from place to place, sometimes absconding in the Monastery of the Augustin Canons at Fernes, whereof he was Founder ; Sometimes elsewhere, and fearing a general Revolt of his Subjects, for the former Tyrannies of his Reign, the next Year following, with no more than 60 in Company, fled over to Bristol in England, where he was entertain'd by Robert Fitz-Harding, a Nobleman of Bristol, of the Royal Blood of the Danes ; and understanding there, that Henry King of England was then in Aquitain, he hasten'd over to him, and with all submission offer'd to Subject himself, and his Kingdom to the Crown of England, if by his Assistance he cou'd recover it. The King of England readily agree'd to his request, and granted him his Letters Patents, whereby he gave leave to any of his English Subjects to supply and assist him. Dermot with these Letters Returns to Bristol, where Communicating the matter with Richard, Surnamed Strongbow, Earl of Strigule, it was agree'd between them that the Earl the next Spring should send Auxiliary Forces into Ireland to restore him ;

An.Dom.
1167.

The first occasion of the coming of the English into Ireland.

Dermot flies into England.

From thence to Aquitain.

Strongbow's Compact with Dermot.

A

And

An. Reg.
XVI.

And that Dermot should Confirm to the Earl the Succession of the Kingdom in Marriage with his Daughter Eva. From hence he goes into Wales, where making Acquaintance with Maurice Fitz-Girald and Robert Fitz-Stephens, he compacts with them likewise for Aid to be sent him next Spring; and in consideration thereof grants them the City of Wexford, together with two adjacent Cantreds. This done Dermot set sail from S. Davids, and returned into Ireland, where known to very few, he lay conceal'd at Ferns the whole Winter: Thus almost says Girald Cambrensis, with a little addition out of Maurice Regan, Servant and Interpreter to Dermot, and who Writ the History of those times, some fragments whereof, as far as the Year 1175. are yet extant. This Regan affirms (which ought not to be here omitted) that Hen. 2d. did positively promise to send Auxiliary Forces to the Assistance of Dermot; and that Dermot having long in Vain expected them at Bristol, made that Compact we have Spoken of with Strongbow.

Anno Domini MCLXIX. Et Anno Regni 16.

CHAP. I.

The first Arrival of the English.

About the Beginning of May, Robert Fitz-Stephens, sometime Governour of the Castle of Cardigan, Remembring his Promise, with 30 Horse-men, among whom the Principal were Miler Fitz-Henry, Milo Fitz-David of Menevia, and Harvy de Monte Marisco, with 60 Men at Arms, and 300 Archers on Foot, in three Ships, first of the Norman Race Landed in Ireland. The Place of his first Landing was ominously called Banna, or Happy, commonly Bag and Bunn, near Fethard, in the County of Wexford, which some (though I think not rightly) take to be the same that Ptolomy calls Hiero, or the Holy Promontory. The next day after came Maurice de Prendergast from Milford Haven, with 10 Men at Arms, and 60 Archers in 2 Ships, and their Affairs Succeeded well; Dermot mac Murrogh understanding their arrival, went with all speed to Banna, and gave them a joyful reception; the next day they Marched to Wexford, then in Possession of the Easterlings, which after a short Siege, was Surrender'd to Dermot, who there, according to Promise, made over by Grant the Town, and two adjacent Cantreds to Robert Fitz-Stephens, and Maurice Fitz-Girald, though they were not yet arriv'd. To Harvy he likewise gave two Cantreds near the Sea, between Wexford and Waterford, and liberally pay'd the Army.

Wexford Surrender'd.

Donald King of Offory overcome.

This done Dermot led the English and Welch to Ferns, from whence, after three Weeks stay there, he March'd with his Army, consisting of 3000 Men, besides the Britains of Wexford, and others of his Subjects, (as says Maurice Regan, Dermot's Servant and Interpreter) against Donald King of Offory, who was ever his greatest Enemy; Him he overcame in several Battles, wherein Robert Barry, and Miler Fitz-Henry, Nephews of Fitz-Stephens, particularly Signaliz'd themselves; and at last, upon Hostages given, Concluded a Peace with him. While the English were thus employ'd, Rodrick O Conner King of Ireland, dealt with several of the the Petty Kings of the Island, to Unite the forces of their several Dominions, and put a stop to the proceedings of Dermot, and the English in the beginning; But before they declared War, they thought fit to send to the English, and represent, that contrary to all Equity and Justice, they had made that Incursion into Ireland, and therefore advis'd them fairly to depart; but the Messenger found them Deaf to their perswasions, whereupon they sent others to Dermot, who after some Dispute condescended at last to these Conditions. That he should be Restored to the Kingdom of all Leinster. That he should acknowledge the supream Power of Roderick, and that for the observation of the Articles of this Treaty, He should give in Hostage his Son Cnothburin ab Cnuth, which Son should take to Wife the Daughter of Roderick: This openly, but 'tis said that Dermot in private Compacted with Roderick, That upon the Restitution of Leinster, all Strangers should be expell'd.

In the mean time *Maurice Fitz Giral*d Landed at Wexford, with 10 Knights, 30 Horsemen, and 100 Archers; Dermot hearing of their arrival, hasten'd to Wexford, accompanied with the Britains of his Party, and receiv'd Maurice with great appearance of Joy. Not long after by Dermot's Advice, they consulted of carrying the War to Dublin, in revenge of former Injuries done, both to him and his Country, which with a general consent being resolv'd on, they made haste thither to prevent the News of their design, and in a short time, having Wasted the Country thereabouts, the City it self Surrender'd; But upon the Citizens submission to Dermot, and Hostages deliver'd, it was presently Restor'd again to Asculphus, Son of Torcallus, Prince of the Danes there.

Roderick at this time made War against Donald O Brian King of Limerick, or, as some say, of Thomond, Son-in-Law to Dermot, to whose Assistance, by Dermot's Perswasion, Fitz-Stephens Marched, and in several disputes, so broke the Power of Roderick, that he fled into Conaught. This likewise is not unworthy the Remembrance; That this Year Dermot O Melaglin King of Meath, was Murder'd by his Ambitious Nephew Donald Bregagh, who was afterward banish'd by King Roderick, but returning home again in the Year 1173, was kill'd by Arthur O Melaglin at Durmagh alias *Durrog*h.

An. Dom.
1170.

Dermot Compacts with Roderick.

Fitz-Girald lands at Wex- ford.

Dublin taken.

Anno Domini MCLXX. Et Anno Regni 17.

CHAP. II.

ALL Leinster in a manner being thus recover'd by Dermot, he notwithstanding his Compact, had a great desire to make War upon Roderick; but Communicating the Matter with Robert Fitz-Stephens and Maurice Fitz-Girald, they thought it safe and adviseable to suspend it till their Forces were increased by new Recruits out of England. He therefore writes to Richard Earl of Strigule, earnestly desiring him to send the Auxiliary Forces he had Promised. The Earl upon these Letters, obtaining an Ironical, rather than real leave (says Girald Cambrensis) from 40. Reg.

XVII.

Raymond le
Gross Landr.

Strongbow takes Waterford.

Dublin taken.

from our King Henry the 2d. sent Raymond le Gross, a Valiant young Man, about the beginning of May with 10 Horsemen, and 70 Archers, into Ireland, intending to follow soon after himself. Raymond Landed at Dundevil, Four Miles from Waterford, on the South of Wexford. The Danes of Waterford hearing of the Arrival of the English, resolv'd to Attack them before their Strength increased; and with the Assistance of Malachias O Felan of Dese, and O Rian of Idrone, got together an Army of 3000 Horse and Foot, with which Passing the River Sure, they fell upon the English, who Valiantly Receiv'd them, and tho' few in Number under the Conduct of Harvy Monte Marisco, who accidentally came thither upon a Visit to Raymond, after some hours dispute, put them to Flight. In this Battle there fell about 1000 Danes and Irish, and 70 of the Principal Citizens were taken, who were all put to Death by Raymond, to revenge the loss of his Friend De Budin, slain in that Battle. So Maurice Regan, but Gerald Cambrensis says that by Harvy's Perswasion, contrary to the intent of Raymond, they were cast headlong from a Rock into the Sea. This was in the Month of May. The August following Richard Earl of Strigule set sail from Milford-Haven, and with a fair wind landed at Waterford with an Army of 1200 Men. After a day or two he march'd to Waterford, which on the 25th of August he took by force, and therein Reynald Prince of the Danes of Waterford, and Malachias O Felan, of whom before. These being afterward condemn'd to Death, were Sav'd by the Intercession of K. Dermot, who together with Fitz-Stephens, and many other English and Welsh came thither after the Victory obtain'd; and the Marriage of Earl Richard with Eva, the Daughter of King Dermot, being there Celebrated, they were Publickly Declar'd Heirs of King Dermot. Not long after Dermot and his Son-in-law, leaving the Garrison of Waterford, March'd towards Dublin, and notwithstanding the opposition of King Roderick, laid Siege to it. Asculphus Prince of the Danes, judging himself with his unequal Forces, not Provided to sustain the Siege, by perswasion of Laurence Arch-Bishop of Dublin, who had foretold the Destruction of the City, Treated of a Surrender, but during the time of the Treaty, Raymond and Milo Cogan, with a select Party assaulting the Town, carried it on the 21st of September. Asculphus, and many of the Citizens in little Ships and Boats, that then lay ready in the Harbour, with the best of their Goods made their escape to the Orcades, the City was Plunder'd, but the Goods of the Ecclesiasticks were (by earnest Solicitation) restor'd to the Arch-bishop. The City being thus taken, Dermot and his Son-in-law, leaving Cogan with a Garison there, March'd the next Month into Meath, which they destroy'd with Fire and Sword. Roderick hearing of these Proceedings, sent Embassadors to Dermot, Complaining of the Violating of the League, and the Invasion of his Dominions, but the Embassadors returning with an unpleasing Answer, Roderick was so incens'd, that he put Dermot's Son, whom he had in Hostage, to Death; and the Winter now coming on, Dermot return'd to Ferns, and the Earl to Waterford.

In the mean time King Henry II^d understanding the Success of Earl Strongbow, and fearing the Event, Commanded all his Subjects to return out of Ireland at a day appointed, and Prohibited all at Home the sending sending any more aid or supplies thither. The Earl hearing of this EDICT, communicated the matter to his People, and with their Advice sent Reymond with Letters full of Duty and Submission to the King then in Aquitain, professing his readiness to Resign into the Kings Hands whatever he had acquired in Ireland.

About the same time a Synod was held at Armagh; where with the consent of the whole Clergy it was Concluded, that GOD, for the Sins of the People, had Afflicted the Irish, and particularly, for their selling the English taken by Pirates, or otherwise; and therefore it was there Decree'd that were then in Bondage in Ireland, should be set at Liberty.

This Year likewise Cornelius, Son of Murtach O Neal, Lord of Tir-oen, was kill'd at Armagh by Hugh-beg-mac-Canna and Dub-Cavacan.

An. Dom.

1171.

A Council at Armagh.

Anno Domini MCLXXI. Et Anno Regni 18

CHAP. III.

MAt 4, Dermot mac Murrogh Died at Kerns, Aged 61 Years, and was there Honorably Buried.

Asculphus (of whom before) assisted by one John of the Orcades Sur-Named the Wood, and others of the Isle of Mann, with a Fleet of 60 Sail entred the Harbour of Dublin, and attempted to enter the East side of the City; Milo Cogan Commanding at that time in the Town, tho' with inconsiderable Forces, his Brother Richard made a Sally at Paul Gate with a small Party, and attacked the Enemy in the Rear, who thinking they were Recruits sent to Cogan, were easily put to flight. Many were slain, partly in the Battle, and partly in flight, among whom was John of the Orcades, slain by Walter de Ridlesford; Asculphus likewise himself was taken in Fight, and brought to Dublin, and for the too much freedom of his Tongue, was by Milo's Command there Beheaded.

Dublin attacked. by Ascul- phus.

This Tempest allay'd, a much greater soon after arose, for King Roderick making the greatest Levies he could both in Conaught, and other Provinces, and assisted by Godfry King of Mann, took a resolution utterly to extirpate, either by Death or Banishment, all the English in Ireland; and by advice of Laurence Archbishop (says Cambrensis) Dublin was the first Place he designed to attack; Earl Richard at that time Commanded in the Town, and tho' his Forces were not great, yet they were much more considerable than at the time of the Siege of Asculphus. In effect he sat down before the Town, and continued the Siege for two Months, in hopes the scarcity of Provision, which he knew was among them, would soon induce them to Surrender. The Earl now finding that he was to work his Liberty by the Sword, resolved to make an unexpected assault upon the Enemy, and in order thereunto divided his Forces, tho' small, into 3 Parties: The first he committed to Reymond, who was now return'd from King Henry; the second to Cogan, and the third he reserved to him-

Besieg'd by Roderick.

An. Reg.
XVIII.Roderick defeated.Earl Strongbow goes into England.The King Grants to him
the Province of Leinster.Robert Fitz-Stephens Imprison'd.

self; In this order, early in the Morning he fell upon the Enemy, who were struck with so great a Terror at so Sudden an assault, that they fell into disorder, and without much opposition were put to flight; Many were kill'd in Battle, and many in Flight, and many taken, Roderick himself, who at the time of the assault, was in a Bath, hardly escaping: And the Earl return'd safe with the spoil.

The Earl having obtain'd a Victory almost unexpected, leaving the Garrison of Dublin to the Conduct of Milo Cogan, March'd by the way of Idrone towards Carig near Wexford, to the assistance of Robert Fitz-Stephens, who was Besieg'd by Donald, Bastard Son of King Dermot, and the Danes of Wexford; but by the way, he had News that Donald had craftily deluded Robert into his Hands, and had committed him into Custody in an Island call'd Beg-eri near the Port of Wexford, that some were Slain, others Imprison'd, and Wexford Burnt by the Rebels, and that all the English in Prison were to lose their Heads, if he attempted to relieve them, for the Besiegers had reported for a certain truth, that Dublin was taken, the Earl and all the English Slain, and that Roderick's Army was at Hand. The Earl in great doubt what course to take, declin'd the Journey he intended, and went to Waterford, where he found Harvy now return'd from King Henry, with Command that the Earl, without farther delay, should repair to him in England. The Earl upon this, with what expedition he could, set sail for England along with Harvy, and found the King at Newenham in Glocester-shire, with an Army which he had prepared for the Irish Expedition, having there Submitted himself to the King, he made over to him by Writing under his Hand, whatever he had acquir'd in Ireland either in Right of his Wife, or by his Sword, and being thereupon receiv'd into Favour, the King Conferr'd on him the whole Province of Leinster, to be held of him Jure bene ficiario, except the City of Dublin, and the Cantreds adjacent, and some Maritime Towns and Castles. A Copy of the King's Grant to him, is not, that I know of, extant, but the Confirmation of the Charter Granted by King John, to William Mareſchall Earl of Pembrok, who Married Isabell, Daughter and Heir, Earl Richard, is in the Role of Charters, Anno 4. of King John, in the Hands of the keeper of the Records of the Tower of London.

In the mean time Tigernac O Roirk, encourag'd by the absence of the Earl, and, as he thought, of the flower of the Army, laid Siege again to Dublin, but in vain, for he was Defeated by Milo Cogan, and his Son a Youth of great hopes was Slain among many others. Soon after Henry II, King of England, (having a way now open'd for him into Ireland by Earl Richard and his followers) with 400 Knights, (says Regan) or 500 (as Gambrensis) and 4000 other Men at Arms, set sail from Milford Haven, and with a happy gale Landed on the 18th of October at Waterford, where he was receiv'd with great Joy by William Fitz-Adelm, Robert Fitz-Bernard, and others, whom he had sent before into Ireland, and the City it self was deliver'd to him by Earl Richard, who there did Homage to him; While the King was at Waterford, the Citizens of Wexford brought Robert Fitz-Stephens, bound before the King, accusing him that he as a Traytor, had first enter'd enter'd Ireland without Licence from the King; upon which the King Commanded him to Reynald's Tower. About this time Der-mot mac Garty, King of Cork, or, as some say, Desmond, Swore Fealty, and gave Hostages, and Subjected his Kingdom to a Yearly Tribute; From hence the King with his Army March'd to Lismore, and from thence to Cashel. In the mean time Donald O Bryan, King of Limerick, Donald King of Offory, and Malachias or Melaghlin O Eilan, King of Deje, came in and voluntarily Submitted themselves and their Territories to him, and were kindly receiv'd by him, and liberally Presented. From hence the King went to Waterford, by Tribacty, and by Mediation of Friends was perswaded to Grant Liberty to Robert Fitz-Stephens, but took Security for his good Behaviour for the Future; and having committed the Government of the Town to Robert Fitz-Bernard, he return'd with his Army by way of Offory, to Dublin, where he was receiv'd with great Joy on the 11th of November. Here he Caus'd to be Erected a Royal Palace (says Hoveden) fram'd Artificially of Wattles, according to the Custom of the Country, near St. Andrew's Church without the Town, where, with the Kings and Princes of Ireland, he Solemniz'd the Festival of the Nativity of our Saviour. Concerning which, see likewise Gervas. Dorobernensis. In the mean time Murchard O Carol, King of Uriel or Ergal, Tigernac O Roirk, Machlan O Felin, O Tothil or O Tool, with some other Princes and Lords of Ireland submitted themselves to him; Likwise Roderick O Conor King of Conaught, called Monarch of Ireland, near the River Shenan, in the Presence of Hugh de Lacy, and William Fitz-Adelm, our King's Embassadors, and a great Number of English and Irish, submitted himself, and did Homage, and Granted a Yearly Tribute. Thus all the Kings and Princes of Leinster, Conaught, Munster, and the East of Ulster submitted themselves, and acknowledg'd him their Supream Lord, without a drop of Blood-shed. What the Clergy of Ireland did to confirm his Title, shall appear in the following Years 1172 and 1175. This Winter, the English Soldiers by the Scarcity of Provision, and Change of Air and Diet, Contracted several Distempers, and many Died. This Year likewise Peter O Morda Bishop of Clonsfert, sometime Abbot of Buellium, a Learned Man, was Drown'd in the River Shenan at Port-no-Caneog, on the 27th of December. About the same time, the Great Son of Dunleve, King of Ulidia, for his Incest and Rapine, was Slain by his Brother Dunleve who succeeded in the Kingdom.

An. Dom.

1172.

Hen. 2. builds a palace in Dublin.

Rodr. King of Ireland Submits.

Anno Domini MCLXXII. Et Anno Regni 19.

CHAPTER IV.

ABOUT the begining of this Year, or end of the foregoing, reckon'd from the 25th of March, by Command of King Henry, a Synod was Assembled at Cashel, wherein Christian O Conarchy Bishop of Lismore, the Popes Legat, Presided; In this Synod were present all the

The Synod of Cashel.

An. Reg.
XIX.

The Clergy
Confirm the Kingdom of Ireland to King Henry.

The same con-firm'd by the Pope.

John Earl of Morton made King in Ireland.

The King
threaten'd for the Death of Thomas Becket

the Bishops of Ireland, except Gelasius Archbishop of Armagh, who for his great Age could not attend it, but when the Synod was broke up he came to Dublin, and submitted all things (says Girald Cambrensis) to the King's disposal. Beside the Irish, the King sent likewise to this Synod, of the English, Ralph Abbot of Bildervas, Ralph Archdeacon of Landaff, and others. The Decrees of this Synod are to be seen in Girald Cambrensis, Lib. 1. Hib. expugn. Chap. 24. Jo. Bromton Abbot of Joveval in his Chronicle says, That King Henry receiv'd from every Archbishop and Bishop, Letters with their Seals Pendent, in manner of Charters, whereby they Confirm'd the Kingdom of Ireland to him and his Heirs, and testify'd that they Constituted him and his Heirs Kings and Lords of Ireland for ever. Hoveden adds, That the King sent a Transcript of the Charters of the Archbishops and Bishops of Ireland, to Pope Alexander, and that he, by his Authority Apostolick, Confirm'd to him and his Heirs, the Kingdom of Ireland according to the Letters of the Archbishops and Bishops. With this agrees Bromton. The Pope (says he) Confirm'd that Kingdom to him and his Heirs, and by Authority Apostolick, Constituted them Kings thereof for ever. For Pope Alexander 3d hearing of the Transactions of that Synod by Ralph Archdeacon of Landaff, the King's Embassador, and having Read the Letters of Christian his Legat, and of the Archbishops and Bishops of Ireland, Granted three Letters in Confirmation of the Right and Title of King Henry, Dated at Tusculum 12 Cal. Octob. The first whereof was sent to Christian the Legat, the Archbishops and Bishops of Ireland; The second to King Henry himself; And the third to the Kings and Princes of Ireland. Copies of which Letters are extant in the little Black Book of the Exchequer in England, in Custody of the Chief Remembrancer. From the same Pope, the King afterward obtain'd, that he might make which Son of his he pleas'd King of Ireland, and Crown him as King, and might likewise bring into Subjection those Lords of the Country that Refused to Submit themselves to him. As we find in Brampton at the Year 1177, the same Year the King came to Oxenford, and in a General Council there held, made his Son John, King in Ireland, by Grant and Confirmation of Pope Alexander. So Hoveden. In the Month of February, about the beginning of Lent, after a very Tempestuous Winter, the King having stay'd three Months in Dublin, made a Journey to Wexford, and understanding here that two Presbyter Cardinals viz. Albertus, Intituled S. Laurentius, and Theodorick, Intituled S. Vitalis, sent from the Pope, expected him in Normandy with Threats of Excommunication, unless he clear'd himself, before them, of the Death of Thomas Becket Archbishop of Canterbury; He hasten'd his return thither, before his departure, John Courcy, who was afterward a famous Soldier, desired leave of him to subdue, if possible, the Province of Ulster. He then made Hugh de Lacy, Robert Fitz-Stephens, and Maurice Fitz-Girald, Governours of Dublin; Humphry Bohun, Robert Fitz-Bernard, and Hugh de Gundevill, of Waterford; William Fitz-Adelm, Phillip de Hasting, and Phillip de Braos, of Wexford. He gave likewise to Hugh de Lacy the Country call'd Meath, to be held by the Service Service of 50 Knights, a Copy of the King's Charter Granted at Wexford is in my Book of the Antiquities of Ireland, Chap. 27. and moreover, if we believe Hoveden, he made him Justice of Ireland.

Affairs thus settled, he took Shipping at Wexford, says Ralph de Diceto, Paris, and Wallingham, on Easter-day; But according to Hoveden, the day following, and taking with him Milo de Cogm, with a fair gale Landed at Port Finan near Merenia in Pembrokeshire, from thence he went into England, and so to Normandy, where after much dispute before the Cardinals, he at last clear'd himself of the Murder of Thomas Becket, yet because tho' the Fact were not done by him he could not deny it was done for him, he was injoy'n'd Penance, and then had Absolution.

About this time fell out a difference to be decided between Hugh de Lacy and Tigernac O Roirk, the day of meeting was appointed, and the Place to be the Hill the Number likewise and Arms of the Assitants was agree'd upon, at the day appointed they met, but after much dispute, Lacy hardly escap'd being Murder'd by Tigernac, who design'd it, had not Maurice Fitz Gerald interpos'd, but the Treachery being discover'd, Tigernac himself was kill'd by Griffin, Brother of Raymond, three more likewise of the Traytors were slain, and the rest put to flight, and the Body of Tigernac was Buryed with the Heels upwards, but the Head was, for a time, set over one of the Gates of Dublin, and afterward sent into England; about the same time Earl Richard return'd to Ferns, where he gave in Marriage one of his Daughters by a former Venter, to Robert de Quincy, and bestow'd on him presently the Territory of Daffren, together with the Constableship of Leinster; the Nuptials being Solemniz'd with great Splendor, the Earl went to Kildare, and from thence about the beginning of the next Year, he with 1000 Horse and Foot made an Incurfion into Osaly, against O Dempfy, and having Burnt and Plunder'd some little Towns, he return'd with a great Booty of Cattle to Kildare; but his Son-in-law Quincy, at a difficult Pass, was set upon by Dempfy, and Fighting Valiantly was slain, to the great Grief of his Party. He left a Daughter Marry'd afterward to Phillip de Prendergast, Son of Maurice. Thus says Regan.

This Year Dyed Gilla Ada O Mugin Bishop of Cork, sometime Abbot of the Abby of the Cave of S. Finbar, near Cork; He was a Man famous in History for his Piety. At this time Lacy entering Amalia with his Army, wafted a great part of it, and kill'd in Battle Donald O Farral King of that Country. Likewise a Provincial Synod was held at Tuam by the Archbishop Dubbay, who at the same time Consecrated Three Churches.

An. Dom.

1172.

Hugh de Lacy made Justice of Ireland.

Robert de Quincy Constable of Leinster.

An. Reg.
XX.

Anno Domini MCLXXIII. Et Anno Regni 20.

CHAP. V.

THis Year Henry, Son of Henry the Second, King of England, whom His Father had lately Solemnly admitted as his Partner in the Crown, like another Abolom, violating the Laws of Nature, began to Rebel, and with the Assistance of his Father-in-law Lewis King of France, Invaded his Father's Dominions in Normandy. King Henry the Elder, at that time at Rouen in Normandy, in the Month of April, finding this Disturbance in his Affairs, sent his expresse Commands to Richard Earl of Strigule in Ireland, that without delay he should repair with his Army into Normandy. The Earl upon this Command, went not only thither himself, but took with him a select Party of the Army, leaving a Sufficient Defence in the Cities and Castles. In France having acted considerably for the King against his Son, he was made (says Regan) Guardian of the Town of Gefors. Returning afterwards into Ireland, he had the Title given him of Guardian of the same, and Reymond le Gros, as he desired, was joyn'd with him in Commission, and at his arrival in Dublin, Hugh de Lacy deliver'd up the City to him, where he was receiv'd with great Joy.

Soon after Robert Fitz-Bernard, Robert Fitz-Stephens, and Maurice de Frendergast, were Commanded over into England with their Forces against Robers Earl of Isses, then in Rebellion, with which Recruits added to the English Army, the Earl was overcome in Battle, and both Robert, and Maurice de Prendergast were sent into Normandy, and brought him to the King, who Commanded him to Prison. The Count de Falaife, with his Wife, Hugh Earl of Chester, and Hugh de Castellis, were honourably receiv'd. In the mean time Waterford and Wexford were Reinforc'd with new Garrisons, and Hugh de Lacy planted a Colony in Meath, where he made Hugh Tirell Governor of Trim.

About the same time many of the Irish Lords seeing the King diverted by Civil Wars, and the Flower of the English Army absent, notwithstanding all their Compacts and Submissions, form'd an Army to Drive the English out of Ireland, and Earl Richard having Consum'd the Treasure he brought with him, his Army was ill pay'd, and he found himself daily Reduc'd to great straits. The English Soldiers were at that time Divided into Factions, but the greater part Complain'd of Harvy de Monte Marisco (who was esteem'd the Second Person to the Earl, and after the Death of Quincy Executed the Office of Constable of Leinster) and earnestly desir'd that Reymond might Command them; the Earl agree'd, and Reymond with a Select Party made an Incurfion into Dese the Country of O Felain, which he every where Depopulated, and went from thence to Lismore, which he took by force, and putting the Spoils of that and other Places

Earl Richard sent for into England.A Colony planted in Meath.The Irish begin to Revolt.

The Reign of HENRY the Second.

11

Places on Shipboard, to Convey them to Waterford, under the Conduct of Adam de Hereford, they were met in their Passage by a Fleet of the Danes of Cork, consisting of 35 Sail, with whom they fought, but the Danes lost the Victory, and their Leader Gilbert, Son of Turgissius being kill'd by Phillip Welch, a Valiant young Man; Hereford got safe with his Prize to Waterford. In the mean time Reymond with another Part of the Army returned to Waterford by Land, with a Booty of 4000 Cattle, having gain'd a Victory against Dermot King of Cork, or as some will have it, of Desmond. Here Reymond had news that his Father William Fitz-Gerald was Dead, therefore leaving Waterford he pass'd over into Wales; But if we believe Regan, the cause of his Voyage was his Love to Baylia, the Earl's Sister, whom he labour'd much to gain, but could not prevail with the Earl, either in this, or the Request he made to have the Constableship of Leinster during the Minority of the Daughter of Quincy; So that discontented he withdrew from Ireland, and retir'd himself to a private Life in the Castle of Carew in Pembrok-shire in Wales.

An. Domini

1174.

Reymond leaves Ireland.

In Ulster in the mean time Dunleve King of Ulidia was slain by his own People, and Roderick his Son Succeeded.

This Year the Plague destroy'd many in Munster, and Gonaught, and of the Episcopal order, on the 16th of February died Maurice O Coffy Bishop of Derry, a Man Eminent for many Vertues, and was Bury'd at Derry, in the Monastery of S. Columba. This Year likewise died Celestin alias, Cyned O Ronan Bishop of Glendelaugh, and Melissa mac-Award, Bishop of Clonsfert.

Anno Domini MCLXXIV. Et Anno Regni 21.

CHAP. VI.

Reymond being gone; Harvy de Monte Marisco, to whom Earl Richard had given Reymond's Command, had a great desire to try the Fortune of War, and mov'd the Earl to give him leave to Invade the Territories of Donald King of Limerick; The Earl readily agreeing, he drew his Forces out of Waterford, and March'd to Cashel, expecting a farther Supply from Dublin; Donald inform'd of their March, set upon them early in the Morning, at Durlas Horgarta, and defeated them, and killed about 400 in the Flight, or, according to the Annals of Inisfall, 700, among them 4 Captains. The Earl much concern'd at this Loss, return'd to Waterford, and as tho' he were Besieg'd, did not at all stir from the Town.

Soon after King Roderick raising the greatest Army he cou'd, made an Incurfion into Meath, which he Wasted with Fire and Sword; but in the mean time, Hugh Tirrel, to whose Custody Lacy, then in England, had Committed the Castle of Trim, finding that without greater Forces and Supplies of Provisions it was not Tenable, Demolish'd the Fortifications, and Burnt it, and carry'd his men off to Dublin, and for the same Reason likewise Burnt the Castle of Duleke.

In

Harvy de Monte Marisco defeated by Donald King of Limerick.

An. Reg.
XXI.

The Earl recalls Raymond.

Insurrection in Wexford.

In Roderick's Army, besides the Kings of Conaught, were O Melaglin of Meath, O Neal of Tyrone, Dunleve of Ulidia, O Carol of Ulriel, and some others of the chief Princes of Ulster (mention'd by Regan) who had united their Forces with Roderick.

Earl Richard hearing this, by the general advice of his Friends, writes into Wales to Raymond le Gros, earnestly desiring his return into Ireland, with what Auxiliary Forces he cou'd possibly make, and promises him his Sister Basilina in Mariage; Raymond much rejoyc'd at these Letters, with his Cousen Milo, and 30 other valiant Men of his kindred, and with 100 Horse and 300 Foot, with the first fair Gale landed at Waterford very opportunely, for about that very time they had made an Insurrection against the Earl, and design'd a general destruction of the English. The Earl himself was deliver'd by Raymond, by force of Arms, and carry'd to Wexford, but Trecele Guardian of the Town attempting to follow the Earl in a Boat upon the River Sure, was with some others Intercepted by the Danes, and killed, and from this time forward the Danes Murder'd all the English, where ever they met them, without distinction of Sex or Age. Yet some of the English taking Courage, retir'd to Reynalds Tower, and defended themselves there till the Conspirators, fearing the event of the Revolt, yielded up the City, but with Conditions little Advantageous to themselves. In the mean time, the Earl brought his Sister Basilina to Wexford, and according to Promise, gave her in Mariage to Raymond; and the Nuptials were Celebrated with great Pomp, and the Earl at the same time made him Constable of Leinster. The next day Raymond having made necessary preparations for the War, was Commanded by the Earl, into Meath, against King Roderick, but Roderick, who was well Acquainted with the Valour of Raymond, hearing of his approach, and distrusting his own Strength, withdrew his Army into Conaught. So says Cambrensis. But Regan says, that the Earl himself went into Meath, and falling upon the Enemy in the Rear, put them to Flight, with the loss of 150 of their Party, after which the Earl leaving Tirrell in Trim, returned to Dublin. And thus we have brought our Discourse to the times wherein Leinster and Meath were pretty well reduc'd.

This year was likewise Memorable for two other Marriages, for Harvey de Monte Marisco Married Nesta, a Cousen of Raymond, and Daughter of Maurice Fitz-Girald, then newly return'd from Wales, and the Earl Married his Daughter Aliva to William Eldest Son of the same Maurice.

This Year died Galusius Archbishop of Armagh, at first an Augustin Canon of the Abby of S. Columba in Derry, where he was afterward Abbot for 16 Years; He dy'd on the 27th of March 1174, Aged 87 Years, having Govern'd in that See almost 37 Years, with great Commendation. This Year likewise died Eleutherius Bishop of Clonard, Melisea O Conaeltain Bishop of Elphin, and in the Island Jonz, Patrick O Bannan, sometime Bishop of Connor, who, it seems, some time before his Death, had resign'd, to lead a private Life.

This Year likewise died Florence, or Flamin O Gorman, Reader in the Academy of Armagh, a Man of great Learning, who had his Education ducation for many Years in England and France, and dy'd on the 30th of March, Aged 70 Years:

An. Dom.
1175.

Anno Domini MCLXXV. Et Anno Regni 22.

CHAP. VII.

ABout this time King Henry II^d sent Nicholas, Prior of Wallingford (afterward Abbot of Malsbury) and William Fitz-Adelm into Ireland, with the Bull of Pope Alexander 3, in Confirmation of the Bull of Pope Adrian 4; and likewise the very Bull of Pope Adrian, whereby he Grants the Lordship of Ireland to the King; upon their Arrival (says the more correct Copy of Cambrensis) a Synod of the Bishops was call'd at Waterford, and in a publick Audience with a general Assent, those Priviledges were solemnly read, together with other Priviledges before obtain'd by King Henry from Pope Adrian, Predecessor of Alexander. This Synod, Sir Henry Spelman, following a corrupt Copy, says, was held about the year 1158, in the Month of September, Earl Richard finding that Donald O Bryan, King of Limerick, was still inclin'd to Work disturbance, sent Reymond with sufficient Strength to attack Limerick. [Thus far Regan.] In his way through Offory, Donald King of that Country joyn'd him, and freely offer'd to Lead him the way. In the beginning of October, Reymond sat down near Limerick, but could not approach the Walls, by reason of the Depth of the Shenan which furrounds the Town; however a young Man call'd David the Welshman, Nephew to Reymond, impatient of that Obstacle, spur'd his Horse into the River and got safe to the other side, but finding that none follow'd him but one Soldier call'd Jeffery Judas, he return'd again the same way, but the Soldier was drown'd. Miler Fitz-Henry, Encourag'd by these examples, threw himself boldly into the River, and Swimming safely to the opposite bank, a great shout was rais'd on both sides, Reymond seeing the danger his Nephew was expos'd to, in a short harangue, represented the Disgrace it would be to let their Companion perish before their Face, for want of their Assistance, and to Encourage them, led them himself into the River, where lighting upon a Ford, he presently cry'd S. David, and the whole Army following, they pass'd the River with the loss of only 3 Men. The Enemy fled presently to the Town, with the loss of many of their Party, and the English entering with them, took the Town, and enrich'd themselves with the Spoil, where Reymond having taken care for what was Necessary to maintain the Place, left Milo of Menevia Governor, and return'd himself to Wexford.

The King's Title approved by the Bishops assembled in Council.

Limerick besieged.

In the mean time Roderick O Connor, King of Conaught, finding that he could no way prevent the daily Incurfions of the English into Ireland, thought it best to Comply, and sent three Embassadors to the King in England, viz. The Catholick Bishop of Tuam, Concord, Abbot of S. Brendens of Clonfert, and Laurence, his Chancellor; On the 8th

An. Reg.
XXIII.King Roderick submits, and is allow'd to continue King.

of October, King Henry held a Parliament at Windsor, wherein, upon the Supplication of those Embassadors, the King Granted unto the said Roderick, his Liege Man (so says Hoveden out of Brompton) King of Conaught so long as he should Faithfully Serve him; That he should be King under him, and ready to do him Service, as his Man; and that he should hold his Land as well, and in Peace, as he held it before our Lord the King came into Ireland, paying Tribute, &c. Of other Subjects in Ireland, Honour'd with the Title of King, by the Kings of England themselves, See our Book of the Antiquities of Ireland Chap 4. In the same Parliament the King gave to Master Augustin (says Hoveden) an Irish Man, the Bishoprick of Waterford, then void, and sent him into Ireland, with Laurence Archbishop of Dublin, to be Consecrated by Donatus Archbishop of Cashel.

This Year died Flathbert O Brolcan, sometime Bishop of Derry, famous for his Learning and Liberality, and was Buried in the Abby of S. Gallumba, in Derry; having resign'd the See sometime before his Death, and contented himself with only the Government of the Abby. He was before Elected Abbot of Hy, but refus'd it; Gelasius O Brandan, succeeded him in the Abby of Derry. This Year likewise died two Bishops of Down, Malachias or Melissa Man Inclericuit, and his Successor Gelasius mac-Cormac.

Anno Domini MCLXXVI. Et Anno Regni 23.

CHAP. VIII.

THE foregoing Winter Harvy de Monte Marisco, according to his usual Malice, accus'd his Kinsman Reymond by Messengers sent to the King in England, that he had some designs of innovating Affairs in Ireland; and the Acculation succeeded so, that the King believ'd it, and sent Four into Ireland in the beginning of the Spring, viz. Robert Poer, Osbert de Herlotera, William de Bendenges, and Adam de Gervenjan, with Command, that two of them should return with Reymond into England, and the others stay with Earl Richard in Ireland. Reymond upon Receipt of this Command, was presently in a Readiness to obey, and stay'd only in expectation of a fair Wind, when Messengers came from Limerick, earnestly desiring relief, for that the Town was then Besieg'd by King Donald with a numerous Army, it was likewise thought that Provisions were scarce in the Town. While the Earl was in serious Deliberation on this Matter, the Soldiers Unanimously refus'd to March without Reymond, whereupon the Earl advising with the King's Embassadors, it was judg'd fit that Reymond should again have Commission to Command the Army, and accordingly, with 80 Knights, 200 Horse, and 300 Foot, and the Forces of Murchard of Kenjelagh, and Donald of Ossory, that joyn'd him, he March'd with all expedition towards Limerick. King Donald raising the Siege met him near Cashel, in a difficult Pass, but the Valour of Miler Fitz-Henry, who Commanded the first Battle

Reymond accus'd to the King.Leads the Army to Limerick

Battle (for Reymond had divided his Forces into three) open'd the way, and part of the Enemy falling by the Sword, the rest were put to flight; This was on Easter Eve, and the third day after the Army enter'd Victoriously into Limerick, where having taken order for the Peace and Security of the Town, Reymond not long after had a Conference with Roderick King of Conaught, and Donald King of Limerick, on one and the same day, but in divers places; and with that Success, that both Kings gave Hostages, and swore Fealty to the King of England.

This done, Reymond returns with his Hostages to Limerick, where not long after, Messengers from Dermot mac-Carty King of Cork, or, as others say, of Desmond, came to desire aid from him against Cormac-Leiavac mac Carty, eldest Son of Dermot, who had almost driven his Father out of the Kingdom, promising great rewards to Reymond, and reasonable Pay to his Soldiers; Reymond Agrees, and presently, drawing up his Forces, engages in the War against those Rebels, restores Dermot, and return'd to Limerick with his Army laden with Riches and Honour; but Dermot was afterward taken by Cormac, and thrown into Prison, where he was so inrag'd at the Perfidiousness of his Son, that he Employ'd Carol or Cabel Uder, another of his Sons, to Murder him, and so he again obtain'd the Kingdom.

About the beginning of June died Richard Strongbow that Martial Earl of Strigule; by his Wife Eva Daughter and Heir of Dermot King of Leinster, he left Isabel his Daughter, Married afterwards to William Marechal Earl of Pembrok, by which Marriage he had large Possessions in Leinster. Reymond inform'd of the Earl's Death, by Letters from his Wife Basilea, considering how much the Removal of such a Prop would weaken the Affairs of Ireland, consulted seriously with his Friends, what was to be done. With advice of these it was Resolved that he should return to Dublin, and take care of all the Maritime Towns and Castles, and no other fit Person being found for the Government of Limerick, it lying so far distant from the rest of the English Garrisons, it was likewise Resolv'd, it should be committed to the Care of King Donald, as Baron of the King of England. Reymond agree'd to it, tho' very unwillingly, and committed the City to Donald's Charge, taking first new Hostages from him, and an Oath to restore the Town at the King of England's Command; which done, he began his Journey, but was scarce out of the Town, when he was witness of the perfidiousness of Donald, who had set the Town on Fire in Four Places. Upon his arrival in Dublin, the Body of Earl Strongbow, which according to his order, was preserv'd till Reymond's coming, was by procurement of Laurence Archbishop of Dublin, with solemn obsequies, Interr'd in the Cathedral of the Blessed Trinity.

This Earl Founded a Priory at Killmainam near Dublin for Knights of the Order of S. John of Jerusalem, commonly call'd Knights Hospitalers, which was afterwards endowed with large Possessions, especially after that under Edward II'd, in the Month of November, the Revenues of the Knights Templers (then Condemn'd) were granted to this Order, it was so large and fair a Fabrick, before the suppression,

An. Dom.

1176.

Reduces the Kings of Conaught and Limerick.

Strongbow Earl of Strigule dies in Dublin.

Strongbow bury'd in Christ Church.

The Priory of Killmainam.

An. Reg.
XXIV.

Reymond made Governor of Ireland.

Fitz-Adelm
Lord-Justice.

pression, that it was deservedly esteem'd the most Beautiful building in the whole Kingdom. After the Funerals of the Earl, upon deliberation with the King's Embassadors, Reymond, as the Necessity of the times required, was made Governor, till the King should appoint another, and the Embassadors returned to give the King an Account of the Change of Affairs upon the Death of the Earl.

King Henry hearing this, sent presently William Fitz-Adelm Lord-Justice into Ireland, and together with him, John Courcy, Robert Fitz-Stephens, and Milo Cogan, who in that two Years Civil War in France, had done him eminent Service. Reymond hearing of their arrival, went Immediately to Wexford, where he resign'd his Charge to William Fitz-Adelm, who not long after, by the King's Command, seiz'd on all the Fortifications that Earl Strongbow had reserv'd for himself. I omit here the Language which Girald Cambrensis, uses of Fitz-Adelm, for it is sufficiently known how favourable Cambrensis was to his own Relations (which truly were not a few of the Chief Men) and how severe to others.

In the beginning of September, Maurice Fitz-Girald died at Wexford; a Man of great esteem in Ireland, for his Valour; He left Three Sons, William, Girald, and Alexander, and from this Maurice all the Noble Families of the Giraldines are descended.

This year (according to Hoveden) Vivianus Presbiter-Cardinal of S. Stephens in Monte Caelio, was sent Legat by Pope Alexander 3d, into Scotland, Ireland, and Norway, to determine Ecclesiastical Causes, but coming first into England, he was there question'd by the King for entering the Kingdom without leave, and therefore, to make satisfaction he took an Oath not to do any thing in his Legation prejudicial to the King's Interest, from thence he had leave to go into Scotland, and had the King's assistance thither. On Christmas Eve (says Abbot Benedict who then flourish'd) from Scotland he landed in the Isle of Mann, from whence after being 15 days Honourably entertain'd by King Godfrey, he pass'd over to Down in Ireland. This year (as we find in the Annals of Leinster) the Castle of Slane was Besieged and Demolished by Melagblin mac Loghlin, and Richard the Flemin Lord of the Place with many of his Men was slain.

Anno Domini MCLXXVII. Et Anno Regni 24.

CHAP. IX.

John Courcy enters Ulster.

IN the Month of January, John Courcy March'd from Dublin towards Ulidia (in Irish call'd Ullagh, now the County of Down) with 22 Knights and 300 other Men at Arms, and in 4 days time about the Calends of February, arrived safe at Down without seeing any Enemy, and there found Cardinal Vivianus, the Pope's Legate. But Hoveden says that the Cardinal was taken Prisoner by Courcy's Army in his way to Dublin, but was presently set at Liberty by Courcy himself. However it were, it appears that Vivianus labour'd labour'd much afterward to make Peace between Courcy and Roderick, but in vain. Roderick understanding all this, in 8 days time with an Army of 10000 Men, was in a readiness to take the Town by Storm; Courcy inform'd of the Enemy's approach, drew his small Forces out against them, and divided them into three Bodies, the first he committed to Almerick de S. Laurentio, the second to Roger Poer, and the third he Commanded himself, and in this order engaging the Enemy, he prevail'd, and had the Victory, many of the English behaved themselves Gallantly in this Battle; among whom was Roger Poer: and Courcy return'd home Triumphant. In this Battle was taken Malachias Bishop of Down, but at the Request of Cardinal Vivianus, was restor'd to his Liberty and former Dignity: This Victory was followed by a greater on the 24th of June, on which day it is said that 1500 of the Irish of Ulster were slain in Battle; In this Battle Almerick de S. Laurentio, and his Son Nicholas were wounded, but to the great joy of their party were soon Cur'd. From this Almerick are descended the Barons of Houth, and to a Son of this Almerick, call'd likewise by the same Name, King John, then Earl of Morton, and Lord of Ireland, confirm'd the Lands de Hovede, with all the appurtenances, as the words of the Charter are, as quietly and freely to hold, as his Father ever held them, by the Knights Service, witnesses John de Courcy, Godfry de Constantino, Gilbert de Angulo, Jordan his Brother, &c. at S. Edmonds. This year likewise Courcy made an Incurfion into Tyroen, burnt and destroy'd that Country, and afterwards entring Dalraida, slew in Battle Donald mac-Gabasy, the King thereof. Cambrensis says, that S. Columba had heretofore foretold the subversion of Ulster by Courcy, and that Courcy had in his Hands that Prophecy of S. Columba, written in Irish, as a prospect of the Work he was to do. In the mean time Cardinal Vivianus call'd a Council of the Bishops and Abbots in Dublin, where in an Eloquent Speech setting forth King Henry's Title to Ireland, he enjoyn'd Obedience and Fidelity to all under pain of Excommunication. The Council ended, he pass'd over to Chester, and from thence to Court, where, as Bromton says, he obtain'd Letters for his Progress into Scotland, to continue his Legation there. While Vivianus was in Dublin, that Famous Monastery commonly call'd Thomas-Court was founded for Canons of the Order of S. Victor, by William Fitz-Adelm, by Command of King Henry, who gave thereto one Carucat of Land call'd Donoure &c. for the Soul of Geofry Earl of Anjou, Father of King Henry, and of his Mother the Empreß, and his Ancestors, and for King Henry himself and his Sons, in pure and perpetual Alms. So the Charter.

An. Dom
1177.

Defeats Roderick,

The Barons of Houth.

John Lord of Ireland, and Earl of Morton.

About the same time Henry II. in a Parliament held at Oxford, made (says Hoveden) his Son John, King in Ireland, by Grant and Confirmation of Pope Alexander; To this relates that place of Brompton. This Year (says he) the King obtain'd, from the same Pope, Liberty of Making and Crowning which Son of his he plac'd King of Ireland, and to reduce those

An. Reg.
XXIV.

those Lords of the Country that should refuse to Submit. Nevertheless John Surnamed Sans Terre, in all the Charter made both in his Father's time and in the Reign of his Brother Richard I. was call'd only Lord of Ireland and Earl of Morton, which Title was likewise us'd by his Successors the Kings of England, till the 33d year of Henry VIII. when he was in Parliament declared King of Ireland, and Ireland was Dignify'd with the Title of a Kingdom. About the same time the King Granted to Robert Fitz-Stephens and Milo de Cogan the Kingdom of Cork, the City of Cork and Cantreds of the Danes only excepted, a Copy of the Grant is to be seen in my Book of the Antiquities of Ireland, Chap. 27.

Two Years after a Division was made of 7 Cantreds to Fitz-Stephens and Cogan, which Division you may see at large in my Book of the Antiquities of Ireland, Chap. 27.

This Year Milo Cogan, whom William Fitz-Adelm had made Guardian of Dublin, by the perswasion of Murtach O Connor, Son of Roderick, King of Conaught, with 40 Knights, 20 whereof were under the Conduct of Ralph Son of Fitz-Stephens, and 200 Horse and 300 Archers, passing the River Shenan, made an Incurfion into Conaught, hitherto untoucht by the English, but Roderick hearing of his coming burnt and lay'd waste the Country round about; however Cogan came to Tuam, but finding the Country waste and his Army almost Perishing for want of Provisions, he hasten'd his return, and after 8 days March in Conaught, Roderick with a great Army endeavour'd to stop his passage in a Wood, that was of it self Fortify'd by Nature, but Cogan ingaging him made his way, and with the loss of only 3 of his own Men, and many of the Enemy's, got safe to Dublin. So says Girald Cambrensis. But the Irish Annals tell us of many more of the English slain in that Battle. Roderick afterward put Murtach into Prison, and put out his Eyes, and discovering a Conspiracy of Cornelius Meunoig, his Eldest Son, he first put him into Prison in the Island where he kept him for the space of a whole year, but afterward (says John Lynch) the O Fla-gherty's, and others his Friends, set him at Liberty by force, and he after that wrought his Father much Trouble, tho' some say he obtain'd his Liberty upon a reconciliation with his Father. In the mean time Odo or Hugh O Neal, King of Tir-qen was kill'd by Me-lachlin mac-Loghlin and Argal mac-Loghlin.

The English
Invade Co:
naught.

Anno Domini MCLXXVIII. Et Anno Regni 25.

An. Dom.

1178.

CHAP. X.

John Courcy, with a Select party, made an Incurſion into Ergall or Uriel, and encamped at Gliury, where in a ſmart Ingagement with Murtach O Carol of Uriel, and Roderick, Son of Dunſlevy of Ulidia, he was put to flight, and many were ſlain on both ſides: This attempt not ſucceeding, he try'd his Fortune in Dalaraida, but was there likewise diſappointed. William Fitz-Adelm was now recall'd out of Ireland, and Hugh deLacy appointed by the King to Succeed him, and Robert Poer Guardian of Waterford and Wexford was joyn'd in Commiſſion with him. About the ſame time likewise Milo Cogan and Robert Fitz Stephens returned into England. From Wexford Poer ſent forces to Imuredia, who ſlew in Battle Dunlang O Tool King of that Country, and the English return'd home laden with ſpoil. About the ſame time the English Built and Fortify'd a Caſtle at Kenlis, the Key of thoſe parts of Meath, againſt the Incurſions of the Ulſter men. This year or the next following, the Ciſtercian Abby at Monafter-euin was built by Dermot Dempſy King of Offaly. The ſame year died Donald O Fogerty Biſhop of Offory at Rath-Caran, and Felix O Dullany a Ciſtercian Succeeded him.

Caſtle of Ken- lis built.And the Abby of Monafter- euin.

Anno Domini MCLXXIX. Et Anno Regni 26.

CHAP. XI.

IN the Month of November Robert Fitz Stephens, Milo Cogan, and Phillip de Braos, Landed at Waterford with new Recruits. From thence they went forward to Lifmore, and thence to Cork, where they were Honourably receiv'd by Richard the Londoner, whom William Fitz-Adelm had left Guardian of the City. Fitz-Stephens had with him 30 Knights and 40 Horſe; Cogan had 20 Knights and 50 Horſe; and Phillip de Braos had 60 Knights, 20 Horſe, and many Foot. With theſe Forces they Marched to Limerick, where Fitz-Stephens and Cogan offer'd themſelves with their Party to paſs the Shenan, and make the Attack, but Phillip, tho' daring enough in his own Perſon, was perſwaded by his party (men uſed to live at quiet in their own Towns) rather to return into Wales, than run the hazard of an uncertain War, in a Remote and Hoſtile Country; And ſoon after he returned; But Fitz-Stephens and Cogan went to Cork, to ſettle and confirm the English Colonies in thoſe Parts. In thoſe days was Built the Abby of Aſhcren for Ciſtercian Monks, by Roderick O Cavanah, King of Tirconnell.

Recruits brought into Ireland.

About

An. Reg.
XXVII.The Bishops that went from Ireland to the Lateran Council.

About the end of December, Laurence Archbishop of Dublin, Catholicus Archbishop of Tuam, Constantine Bishop of Killaloo, Felix Bishop of Lismore, Augustine Bishop of Waterford, and Brictious Bishop of Limerick went over into England in their way to the Lateran Council to be held at Rome; and having taken an Oath not to act any thing there prejudicial to the King, or Kingdom, they were permitted to go on to Rome, where Laurence was made Legate of Ireland by Pope Alexander 3d, and at his return exercis'd his Legantine Power, says the Author of his life, but Girald Gambrensis seems to imply that he never after return'd into Ireland, but that having out of a Zeal to his Country, obtain'd from the Pope certain Priviledges prejudicial to the King's Authority, he fell into the King's Displeasure, and after, being long detain'd in England and France, he died at last in Normandy.

Anno Domini MCLXXX. Et Anno Regni 27.

CHAP. XII.

Courcy marries the Daughter of the King of Mann.

John Courcy, whom Jocelin in his Prologue to the Life of S. Patrick, call'd Prince of Ulidia, injoy'd now a firm and settl'd Peace, and that he might the better tye Godfrey King of Mann to his Interest, and Strengthen himself against his Enemies, he propos'd to Marry Africa the King's Daughter, which was readily accepted, and the Nuptials soon after Celebrated.

This Year Laurence Archbishop of Dublin went into Normandy, and carry'd with him one of the Sons of Roderick King of Conaught, whom he deliver'd in Hostage to Henry King of England (says Hoveden) for the Payment of the Tribute promis'd by Roderick. Not long after Laurence Died on the 14th of November, in Normandy, and was Buried in our Lady's Church, and in the Year 1225 was Canoniz'd by Pope Honorius 3d, a Copy of the Bull of his Canonization dated the 3d of the Ides of December, and the 10th of the Pontificate of Honorius, is extant in the Bullary of Laurence Cherubin. Some of the Bones of the Archbishop were afterward Translated to his Cathedral of the Blessed Trinity in Dublin, upon his Decease the King sent Geofry de Haya his Chaplain, and a certain Clerk of Alexius the Legate, into Ireland to Collect the Revenues of the Archbishoprick into the Exchequer.

Hugh de Lacy
remov'd from the Government.

About the same time, according to Hoveden, the King sent John Constable of Chester, and Richard de Pech, Justices into Ireland, in place of Hugh de Lacy, for the King was displeas'd with him, that upon the Death of his former Wife Rosa de Munene, he had without his Consent Married the Daughter of the King of Conaught, Girald Gambrensis assigns, rightly enough I think, the coming of these Justices into Ireland, to the following Year. In the mean time William Fitz-Adelm Translated S. Patrick's Staff from Armagh to Dublin, and gave it it to the Cathedral of the Blessed Trinity, where it was preserv'd with great care till the suppression of Monasteries. This Staff which some call the Staff of Jesus, was adorn'd (says S. Bernard in the Life of S. Malachias Archbishop of Armagh) with Gold and precious Stones.

This year died Gilbert O Canan Archbishop of Armagh, sometime Bishop of Rapho, and Meridith Son of Robert Fitz-Stephens, a Youth of great hopes, and great Strength, who died at Cork in the Month of March. This year the Abby of Inistathlen in Kerry, where the Gold and Silver, and Richest Goods of the whole Country were repositied, as in the safest Custody, with the Clergy, was Plunder'd by Milduin Son of Daniel O Donagh, and likewise the Church of Adfert in the same Country, and many were kill'd in the very Cemetery, by the Clancarty's, but GOD, as is observ'd in the Annals of Inistathlen, soon punish'd the Impiety by the Death of some of the Authors.

An. Dom.

1181.

Anno Domini MCLXXXI. Et Anno Regni 28.

CHAP. XIII.

Hugh de Lacy Planted several Colonies in Meath, which heretofore Comprehended all those Countries now call'd Meath, West-Meath, and Longford, together with some Part of the King's-County, and Fortify'd it with many Castles for the Defence and Security of the English: Thus strengthened with these Colonies, and his Affinity with Roderick O Connor King of Conaught, he began to raise his thoughts to a Vain Imagination that the Kingdom of Ireland was more Subject to him than to the King of England; The King hearing of it, sent for him, and he contemning the Command, confirm'd the Report of his presumption. To this belongs what we find of him in Girald Cambrensis. Lastly (says he) He had in a short Peace acquired so much Land, had so enrich'd himself and his followers by the oppression of others, had so courted the Popular Applause by a seeming Familiarity and Affability to all Men, that he was very much suspected of Affecting the Sovereignty of the Kingdom.

Hugh de Lacy's Detection.

About the beginning of May, Lacy was recall'd, and John Constable of Chester, and Richard de Pech, Justices, Landed in Ireland. But Lacy departed not till by common Advice, they had Built certain Castles in Leinster, for the Security of the English, for hitherto Meath was well Fortify'd with Castles, but Leinster had very few. In Leinster, the following Summer, was built a Castle at Fort O Nolan, by Raymond le Gros, and another by Griffin his Brother, a third by Walter de Riddlesford at Tristle Dermot, in O Murthy, by John de Clabur, at Legblin by the River Barrow, a fifth at Killagh or Killdroght by John of Hereford, but Kildare, which Earl Richard gave to Miler Fitz Henry, was taken from him, and he had in Compensation the Country of Lese, a Wild and Hostile Country. This done, the following Winter the Justices were Recall'd into England, and Hugh de Lacy was a-

Castles built in Leinster.

Ann. Reg.
XXVIII.

Hugh de Lacy
Justice of Ireland.

Castles built by him.

Controversie between Ar- magh and Dub-
lin.

gain receiv'd into Favour, and upon Security given, was Justice of Ireland, in joynt Commission with Robert Bishop of Strewsbury, afterward of Bangor, who in the King's behalf, was to be his Coadjutor and Adviser, and likewise a Witness of his Actions. He Govern'd Ireland, after this, almost Three years, in which time he Built many Castles in Leinster, and among the rest, the Castle of Temogho in Lese for the use of Miler Fitz-Henry, who Married his Niece; and not far from thence the Castle of Oboney, of which he made Robert de Bigarz Governour, likewise a Castle in the further part of the Country of Omurthy near the River Barrow, of which he made Governour Thomas the Fleming, and likewise the Castle of Norragh, of which he made Governour Robert Fitz-Richard, likewise in Meath he built the Castles of Clonard, Killair, Delvin, and the Castle of Adam de Ruport, with many others.

In the mean time John Comin, an English Man, a learned grave and eloquent Person, was by means of K. Henry Elected Archbishop of Dublin, in the Monastery of Evesham in Worcester-shire in England, on the 6th of September, he was afterward Ordained Priest at Velletry in Italy, on the 3d of the Ides of March, and on the 12th of the Calends of April, (according to Hoveden, the Account of the Calender likewise agreeing) he was then Consecrated Archbishop by Pope Lucius 3d. He there likewise obtain'd a Bull from the Pope dated the Ides of April Indi. 15, 1182. wherein among other Priviledges granted to the See of Dublin, we read thus, following likewise the Authority of the Sacred Canons. We Ordain that no Archbishop or Bishop without Assent of the Archbishop of Dublin, if it be in a Bishoprick in the Diocese of Dublin, do presume to hold any Assembly, or hear Causes Ecclesiastical, or meddle in the Affairs of that Diocese unless thereto injoyn'd by the Pope or his Legat. A Copy of this Bull is in the Antient Register of the Archbishop of Dublin, call'd Crede Mihi, Fol. 806. and from hence arose that great Controversie between the Archbishops of Armagh and Dublin, viz. Whether the Archbishop of Armagh should have the right of Primacy, bearing the Cross, Appeals and Visitations in the Province of Dublin, which continued for some Hundred of Years after. Girald Cambrensis who knew the Archbishop, says that he was then made Presbiter Cardinal, but I am very much persuaded that Girald Cambrensis was deceiv'd, for neither in the Charters of Comin, which are yet extant, nor in Onuphrius, or Giaconius, who writ a Catalogue of the Cardinals, nor in that Bull of Lucius 3d, whereby he granted him the Pall, is there any mention of that Title.

In the Month of May, Flachertach O Meldory, King of Tirconel, march'd with his Army into Conaught, against the Sons of King Roderick, the Battle was Bloody, but Flachertach had the Victory, and many of the Conaught Men were slain, among whom were 16 of the King's Blood.

An. Dom.

1182.

Anno Domini MCLXXXII. Et Anno Regni 29.

CHAP. XIV.

THE beginning of the Summer, John Courcy with his Army enter'd Dalrieda, a part of which is the Territory of Raut in the County of Antrim, and obtain'd a great Victory at Dunbo against Donald O Loghlin. From hence (I conjecture) are come those Dalrudini mention'd by Bede, Hist. Ecclesiast. lib. 1. Chap. 1. who under the Conduct of Reuda, left Ireland, and either by Force or Friendship, seated themselves among the Picts, where (says he) they yet continue. While this pass'd in Ulster, Roderick O Connor, King of Conaught, made Cornelius, or Gonogher, his eldest Son, King, but within two years after he himself took the Kingdom again.

In these times Hugh de Lacy, Lord of Meath, built two Cells for Regular Canons of the Order of S. Augustin, one at Dulek which he made a Cell of the Priory of Lanthony near Gloucester in England; another at Colp, which he made a Cell of Lanthony in Monmouthshire in Wales.

This year died Edan O Kelley, or O Cellay, Bishop of Clogher, who was Elected to this See, and Consecrated by S. Malachias then Bishop of Down, whose Disciple he was, in the year 1139, or 1140. Afterward in the year 1148, Donatus O Carrol, or mac Carwel, King of Ergall, and this Edan built a Monastery at Louth for Augustine Canons, where Edan himself was this year buried, having sat Bishop of Clogher, with Louth annex'd, about 42 years. He likewise Endow'd the Abby of Knock near Louth built by the same Donatus; the place was therefore call'd Knockna-Fengan, the Hill of Pismires, Philippus Saguinus and Christopher Henriquez, following him, falsely affirm that this Man was Bishop of Armagh. This year died likewise Donald O Hallucan Archbishop of Cashel, in whose time was held the Council of Cashel before-mentioned, in the year 1172.

Anno Domini MCLXXXIII. Et Anno Regni 30.

CHAP. XV.

THIS year John Courcy plac'd Benedictin Monks of the Abby of S. Werburg in Chester, in the Cathedral of Down, in place of the Secular Canons, and made William de Etleshale one of the same Society, their Abbot. And at the same time by perswasion of the same Courcy, that Cathedral, tho before Dedicated to the Name of the Blessed Trinity, was now made Sacred to S. Patrick; which many believ'd (says

An. Reg.
X XXI.

Religious Foundations
by John Courcy.

Milo Cogan
Murder'd.

(says Christopher Pembrige in his Annals) was the cause of all those that afterward fell upon Courcy. However the Sepulcher of S. Patrick, to which afterwards the Bodies of S. Columba and S. Bridget were Translated, did heretofore occasion a great Veneration to the Place. To the Monks and Prior of this Convent, S. Malachias Bishop of Down gave much Revenue, reserving to himself the Title of Guardian and Abbot, as it is (are the Words of the Charter) in the Church of Winchester. or Coventry, Reserving likewise for the Honour of his Diocese, the half of the Offerings on these 6 solemn days, and no other, viz. Christmas-day, the Purification, S. Patrick's, Easter-day, and Whitsunday. He likewise began and finished a Priory at Down of the Order of Cross-bearers, under the Rule of S. Augustin, Dedicated to S. John Baptist. He likewise Founded a Monastery of Benedictins at Nedrum, and made it the Cell of the Monastery of S. Bega in Cumberland in England. About this time Milo de Cogan, and his Son-in-Law Ranalphus Fitz-Stephens, famous Captains, with five other Knights, Traveling towards Lismore, as they sat in a Field expecting a Conference with the Inhabitants of Waterford, were offered Lodging and Entertainment by one Maeltive, and Treacherously Murder'd. The Fact being divulg'd, Dermot mac-Carty, and almost all the Irish Kings of Munster, revolted from King Henry, and Confederating themselves against Robert Fitz-Stephens, belieg'd him in the Town of Cork. Reymond inform'd of the Danger, took Shipping at Wexford, with 20 Knights, and 100 Horse and Foot, and Coasting the Country went with all possible expedition to Cork. Fitz-Stephens with this Relief fell upon the Enemy, and in the first onset obtain'd the Victory, and in several Incounters afterwards, killing some, and driving out others, the rest were receiv'd and settled in their Obedience. Soon after Richard Cogan brother to Milo, was by King Henry put into his Brothers Place, and with a select party sent into Ireland. Towards the end of February, Phillip Barry, together with Girald, his Brother (commonly call'd Cambrensis) went into Ireland with a strong Party, both to the Assistance of Fitz-Stephens, and also to recover his Lands of Olethan, Granted to him by Fitz-Stephens, and unjustly detain'd by Ralph his Son. About the same time Harvey de Monte Marisco, Founder of the Abby of Bunbrody, took a Religious Habit in Christ-Church at Cantharia.

Anno Domini MCLXXXIV. Et Anno Regni 31.

CHAP. XVI.

KING Henry designing now to Transferr the whole Dominion of Ireland to his Son John, about the beginning of August sent over John Comin, Archbishop of Dublin, as a Forerunner of his Son, and in the beginning of September recall'd Hugh de Lacy from the Government of Ireland, and appointed Phillip de Pergornia to succeed

Hugh de Lacy
recall'd, lucceed him, who with 400 Knights went over and took the Government as Justiciar of Ireland. The first Act recorded of his Government is that he restor'd to the King's Table, Ocathefs, and many other Revenues alienated by Lacy. The Lent following, about the beginning of March, he went with a great Army to Armagh, where he stay'd for 6 days, and extorted much Money, and other things from the Clergy. But at his return was struck with a sudden passion and hardly Escaped, how Hugh Tirrel, one of his Captains, was Punish'd for his Extortion, you may Read in Girald. Cambrensis Topograp. Hib. Dist. 2. Chap. 50. Of this Expedition, I find nothing else mention'd, nor of any other Acts of this Philip, except that he after ward Founded the Priory or Cell of SS. Philip and Jacob of Kilcumin, and Supply'd it with Benedictine Monks from the Abby of Glastenby in England, and made one James, a Monk of the same Abby, their Prior.

This Year Arthur O Melaghlin, the Chief of his Family, was kill'd by the English in Meath, to whom Melaghlin Beg Succeeded.

This year likewise died Three Noble Youths, Robert Barry, who was kill'd at Lismore, Reymond Son of Hugo was kill'd at Lechana, and Cantiton who was kill'd in Idrone.

On the 11 of June, S. Barnaby's day, died King Henry the younger, at the Castle of Martell in Gascony, from whence his Body was convey'd to Roven in Normandy, and there bury'd in the Cathedral near the high Altar: He died at 28 years of Age, and no wonder he was cut off so soon, when we consider his Rebellion against his Father, nor need we much wonder at that when we consider the false Opicks of Ambition, that represent all things as Lawful to an unruly and unsettl'd Spirit.

An. Dom.
1185.

King Henry the younger died.

Anno Domini MCLXXXV. Et Anno Regni 32.

CHAP. XVII.

JOHNSON Earl of Moreton, made Lord of Ireland (as we have said) was on the last of March, and in the 19th (not, as some mistake, the 12th) year of his Age, Knighted by his Father at Windsor, and went to Milford-haven, where a Fleet attended to Transport him to take upon him the Lordship of Ireland. He was attended in his Journey by Ralph Glanvill Justiciar of England, and other Principal Persons, and setting sail on the Fourth day of Easter with a fair Wind, accompany'd with 300, or as some say, 400 Knights, and many Horse and Archers: He Landed the day after at Waterford. Upon notice of his Arrivall, the Irish Nobility of those Parts, that had hitherto continued their Obedience to the English, came to welcome him, but being rudely Entertain'd by the young Men that attended him, they Retir'd, forsook their Habitations and betook themselves to the King of Limerick, and to him, and the Kings of Conaught and Gork,

John Earl. of Moreton sent into Ireland.

His attendants rude to the Irish.

An. Reg.
XXXII.

They revolt.

Earl John returns into England.

John Courcy
Justiciar of Ireland.

related what had happen'd to them, upon notice hereof; they who before were prepared to make their address to Earl John, with profession of their Obedience and Fidelity, fearing greater Mischiefs might follow from so ill a beginning, tho' they were at Variance before among themselves, they now enter'd into a mutual Confederacy, took Arms for the Defence of their Country and Liberty, and wasted and destroy'd much of the English Plantation. In the mean time Earl John, for the better security of the English, Built Three Castles in Munster, one at Tibraet, another at Ardfinan, and a third at Lismore. But the new rais'd Soldiers following the example of their Captains, gave themselves to Debauchery, and liv'd idly in the Sea-port Towns, while the Neighbouring parts of the Country were expos'd to the Rage and Rapine of the Enemy, and the Veterane Soldiers, as if by the Malice of the new, lay neglected, and out of use, Thus Girald. But Hoveden says expressly, that Earl John put all into his own Purse, withheld the Pay of the Army, and wasted the greatest part of it in little Incounters with the Irish, and was at last Reduc'd to that Indigence, that leaving Justices and Soldiers in particular Places for the Defence of the Country, he was forced to return into England. In these days the Bodies of the Saints Patrick, Columba and Bridget were found at Down, for the Translation whereof, about the beginning of the following year, an Embassy was sent to Rome, to Pope Urban 3d. from Malachias Bishop of Down, and John Courcy, whereupon a Solemn Translation was made of those Reliques by the Popes Nuncio on the 5th of June.

On the 24th of June, 4 English Knights, and many others of the Garison of Ardfinnan were kill'd in an Incounter with Donald O Bryan, King of Limerick, in an adjacent Wood. Nor had the Soldiers of that Garison better Success in attempting to make a Booty not far from Limerick, where 19 of them were lost. The Winter following, John Courcy was made Justiciar of Ireland, and Earl John return'd into Wales, and so into England, for the King laying aside the new Adventurers, who were Ignorant (and Idle says Gir. Cambrensis) in those Affairs, Imploy'd again the old ones who were experienc'd in the Wars of Ireland; and therefore Committed the Government to John de Courcy: Under him the Island began to enjoy a more settl'd Peace, for his Name and Conduct in Arms being great, he boldly overrun the lands of Gork and Conaught, and never indulg'd his Army in Idleness, he daily keep the Enemy in Action with various Success sometimes to his own loss, and sometimes to theirs. The Earl likewise before his return committed a special Trust to Girald. Barry, commonly call'd Cambrensis, his Tutor, and to Bertram de Verdon Seneschal of Ireland, to whom he, not long after Granted 4 Cantreds of Land in Uriel, and half a Cantred in Luvva, towards the Sea, for Service of 20 Knights. So the Charter. Of this Expedition likewise see Hoveden in the same year.

In the mean time Cornelius, or Conogher, Surnamed Manimoigi, Son of Roderick O Connor, King of Conaught, aspiring to that Kingdom, Collected what Forces he could and invaded Conaught, but his Father with the Assistance of Donald O Bryan, King of Limerick, after divers Encounters, Encounters got the Victory, and by Mediation of Friends the Father and Son were at last made Friends.

This year died Amlawc O Murried, Archbishop of Armagh, and Tomaltach O Connor succeeded him. Whom the Annals of S. Mary-Abby near Dublin, calls A Noble and Honest Man. He was prefer'd to the See of Armagh after the Death of Gilbert, which was in the year 1180, but had sat hardly four years, when weary of it (perhaps to decline the noise of War) he resign'd to Melissa O Carrol Bishop of Clogher, but upon the death of Melissa, and his Successor Amlawc, he return'd to the See.

About the same time Dermot, Son of Gormac mac-Carty, King of Cork, with some others was kill'd at a Conference near Cork, by the Inhabitants of Cork, and the Party of Theobald Walter.

About the middle of Lent, John Cumin, Archbishop of Dublin, held a Provincial Synod in Dublin in the Church of the B. Trinity, where he himself the first day Preach'd of the Sacraments of the Church; and the next day after Albin O Mulloy Abbot of Balinglass, afterward Bishop of Fernes, Preach'd of the Continence of the Clergy; says Girald. Camb. who was present at the Synod, and made a long discourse wholly against the Clergy that came into Ireland from England and Wales; and laying the fault upon them, that by their ill Examples had vitiated the Probity and Innocence of the Clergy of Ireland; the Sermon ended, Girald. Cambrensis made a sharp reply, and great Contention followed between him and Albinus, which Giraldus in his Life, as it is extant in Ms. in Cotton's Library, particularly mentions. Before Whitfontide next Giraldus (whom we are now to leave) return'd to his Archdeaconry in Wales, where he finished his Works of the Topography of Ireland, and his History of the Conquest.

This year came one Giraldus into Ireland, as Legat from the Pope, but what he acted there I do not find.

An. Dom.
1186.

Theobald Walter.

A difference between Girald. Cambrensis and Albinus.

Anno Domini MCLXXXVI. Et Anno Regni 33.

CHAP. XVIII.

Hugh de Lacy, Lord of Meath, a Noble and Valiant Man, was Treacherously Murder'd by a Labouring Man, whom Radulphus de Diceto calls Malucia Macluir, others Symmachus O Chabargy, who almost cut his head off with an Ax as he stoop'd to direct him in his work at a Castle he was building at Dermagh or Durrogh; the Murderer presently took to his heels and escap'd into the next Wood, so unexpected are the Accidents that attend Mortality. Many of his Fellow-Soldiers were after this kill'd by the Irish, his Body was long detain'd by the Irish, but was at last in the year 1195, recover'd, and bury'd with great Solemnity in the Abby of Beetis, by Mathew O Heney, Archbishop of Cashel, the Pope's Legat, and John Cumin

July 25.

Hugh de Lacy Murdered.

An. Reg.
XXXIII.

Cumin, Archbishop of Dublin, but his Head was carried to Dublin and bury'd in the Abby of Thomas-Court, in the Tomb of Rosa de Munemene his former Wife; a great controversy arose between the two Abbys for the rest of his Body, but was at last decided in the year 1205, and it was adjudg'd by Simon Rochfort, Bishop of Meath, the Pope's Legat, to the Abby of Thomas-Court. This Hugh de Lacy left two Sons, Walter, Lord of Meath, and Hugh, afterward Earl of Ulster.

This year likewise died on the 19th of August, Geofry (fourth Son of King Henry, by his Wife Elinor) Duke of Britany, and was buried in the Choir of our Ladies Church in Paris.

He left his Wife Constance bigg with Child, who afterward was Deliver'd of a Son called Arthur.

King Henry hearing of the Death of Lacy, resolved (says the Chronicle of S. Werburg's Abby in Chester) to send his Son John with a sufficient Army into Ireland, but while John in his Journey stay'd at Chester, expecting a Wind, the King hearing that his Son Geofry was dead at Paris, recall'd John, and sent Philip de Wigornia into Ireland. Thus the Chronicle of Chester. But Fabian says that the King himself made his Expedition this year into Ireland, to reform the many Abuses there: Of this Expedition I find mention also in Rot. Placit. Coron. An 4. Edward. II. in Custody of the Clerk of the same Court. Where in an Inquisition than taken we read thus; Who being Sworn say, upon their Oath, that from the Time, &c. They had the Law of England in Ireland.

How great the Authority and Reputation of Henry II. was for his Prudence in those days among the Princes of Christendom, may from hence appear, that this year (as we find in Mathew Paris) Embassadors from Alphonso King of Castile, and Sancho King of Navarre, from Manuel Emperor of Constantinople, Frederick Emperor of Germany, William Archbishop of Trevers, Henry Duke of Saxony, and Philip Earl of Flanders, were altogether at his Court at Westminster, to receive his Arbitrage in the differences depending among them.

In the mean timer Cornelius Conspiring against his Father, drove him out of Conaught. Likewise Donald Son of Hugh O Loghlin Prince of Tyroen, was compell'd to resign, and in his place was substituted Roderick O Lagherty, but he being kill'd the next year, Donald was restor'd.

This year died in a very old Age Christian O Conarchy, sometime Bishop of Lismore, and was bury'd in the Abby of Odorny, having long before his Death resign'd his Diocess.

This year likewise died Matildis, Daughter of Henry the 1st King of England, Wife of Henry 4. Emperor of Germany, and Mother of King Henry II. from whence this Distick was Inscib'd on her Tomb in the Abby of Reding:

Magna ortu, Major viro, sed Maxima Partu Hic jacet Henrici filia Sponsa Parens.

An. Dom.
1188.

Anno Domini MCLXXXVII. Et Anno Regni 34.

CHAP. XIX.

ABout the beginning of this year, Cardinal Octavianus and Hugh de Nunant, Bishop of Coventry and Lichfeild, or, as some say, of Chester, landed in England with a Legantine power from Pope Urban 3d. to Crown Earl John, the King's Son, King of Ireland. But the King, says Hoveden, suspended the Coronation, and took the Legats with him into Normandy to a Conference between Him and Philip King of France. To this year Henry of Marleburg, Vicar of Ballyscadan in the Diocess of Dublin, refers the Translation of S. Laurence Archbishop of Dublin. At this time likewise Roderick O Lachertair King of Tyroen was kill'd while he was ravaging and spoiling the Country of Tirconel, and to him Succeeded Donelan Son of Hugh O Loghlin.

The Pope sends to Crown Earl
John.

Anno Domini MCLXXXVIII. Et Anno Regni 35.

CHAP. XX.

Courcy with his Forces, and the Assistance of Cornelius O Dermada, this year Invaded Conaught, and came to Esadar, where he incamp'd, but understanding, in his way towards Tirconel, that Flacher-tach O Moildory, was upon his March to Tirconel with a great Army, he chang'd his design and burn'd Esadar, and so retired; in his return he met the Armies of Cornelius Mommoigi and Donald O Brian King of Limerick, and ingageing with them was Defeated with the loss of many of his party, among whom were 15 or 16 Persons of Quality, A little before about the beginning of this year, Roderick O Cavanan King of Tirconel, was Treacherously slain by the now mentioned O Flachertach, near the Bridg of Sligo, together with his Brother and some Servants. This year (says the Ulster Annals) Donald Son of Hugh O Loghlin, King of Tirone, laden with Spoil, fought the Garison Soldiers of the Castle of Mogeava at Cavan-ne-cran; the Battle was for a time dubious, but Donald got the Victory, tho' with the loss of his own Life. He was a Man of great esteem among his People. His Body was carry'd to Armagh, and there honourably Buried.

In these days Alured le Palmer, a Dane, Founded the Priory of S. John Baptist, without the New-gate of Dublin, whereof he himself was the first Prior: It was afterwards plentifully endow'd by others. This Priory was likewise an Hospital for the Sick in the Reign of Priory of St.

John in St.
Thomas-Street
Founded.

An. Reg.
XXXVI.

Edward III. Maintained 155 persons, besides Chaplains, as appears by the Records. But when the Cross-bearers, under the Rule of S. Augustin were introduc'd there, I do not find. Then likewise, or as others say, in 1180 John Courcy Founded the Abby of Inis, and Endow'd it with the Revenues of the Abby of Carick, heretofore built by Magnal mac-Eulof, King of Ulster, near the Bridg of St. Finn, and supply'd it with Cistercian Monks from the Abby of Furness in Lancashire in England. This year died Martan O Broley, Reader of the University of Armagh, call'd in the Ulster Annals, the most Learned of the Irish. And then likewise died Radulphus, Abbot of Furness, in the Abby of Mellifont.

JOHN Lord of IRELAND.

Anno Domini MCLXXXIX. Et Anno Regni 36.

CHAP. XXI.

COrnelius, or Conogher, Surnamed Menimvigi O Conor, who as we have said, had Raised new Calamities in Conaught, was about this time, by persuation of Cornelius O Dermada, slain by his own People, and indeed had deserved no less for his impiety, in depriving his Father Roderick of the Kingdom, but O Dermada was not long after kill'd by Charles Carragh, Son of Cornelius Menimoigi, and so Roderick obtain'd the Kingdom again. In the mean time John Courcy assembling his Forces, over-run many of the Neighbouring parts of Ulidia; nor in this Expedition did he spare Armagh; Helike-wise Defeated the Forces of Carol and O Moilruam, and slew O Moilruam himself.

About the same time Roger Poer, with many of his Party, were Treacherously kill'd in the Castle of Dangisdrony in Offory, he was a Man of Noble Birth, and Glorious in Arms. They likewise kill'd the Guardians Guillenius O Cullen and O Felan, and Reduced the Castle of Lismore in Munster, but they soon demolish'd it, for they held it a very difficult matter to maintain it against the English. This year likewise died Murchard O Carol King of Uriel, in the Abby of Mellifont, where he was Buried near Donogh O Carol, King of Uriel, or Ergal, Founder of the Place.

But this year was most Memorable for the Death of King Henry II. of England, who with Grief, as 'tis thought, fell into a Feavour, and died at his Castle of Chinon in Normandy, on the 6th of July, and was Buried in the Nunnery of Font Everard, of which he was Founder. Of this Princes Vertues, take this account of John of Salisbury, who then lived, in his de Nugis Curialium, lib. 6. chap. 18. The best King (says he) of Britany, Duke of Normandy and Aquitain, and first in the Largeness of his State, and Splendour of his Vertues, the Valour, Munificence, Prudence, and Modesty that attended him from his Infancy, King Hen. II.

dies.

Envy

The Reign of HENRY the Second.

31

Envy it self cannot conceal, for his Works are yet fresh and manifest, and have Propagated his Fame from his own Dominions to those of Spain. How Ireland likewise came into his Power, appears by what has been said. But of his Vertues and Vices, see Girald. Cambrensis, lib. 1 chap. 45. Expug. Hib. To him Succeeded Richard I. commonly call'd Cœur de Lyon, the Glory of both is express'd in this Verse,

An. Dom.
1189.

Mira Canam, Sol occubuit nox nulla Sequuta est.

He was Crown'd the 3d of the next September. Of the Irish Clergy there were present John Comin Archbishop of Dublin, Albinus O Mulloy, Bishop of Fernes, and Concors Bishop of Enaghdam, who were all likewise present at the British Council held this year.

But John Earl of Moreton, Younger Son of King Henry, enjoy'd the Lordship of Ireland.

About this time William, called Mareschal (because his Ancestors were Hereditary Mareschals of the King's Palace) Married Isabel, only Daughter of Richard Strongbow, by which Mariage he had great Revenues in Ireland, and the Title of Earl of Pembroke.

THE

THE ANNALS
OF IRELAND,
During the REIGN of
KING RICHARD
THE FIRST.

Anno Domini MCXC. Et Anno Regni 1.

CHAP. I.

An. Reg.
I.

RICHARD I. to Expiate the Crime of his Rebellion against his Father, went this year with a great Army to the Holy Land, where he arrived the next year, and in the mean time took no care of Ireland, because his Father had granted it to his younger Brother John for ever, as is likewise observ'd by Sir John Davis in his Historical Relations.

June 5. Pope Clement 3. at the King's request, made Wm. de Longschamp, Bishop of Ely, his Legat in all England and Wales, both in the Diocess of Canterbury and York, and in those parts of Ireland where John the Noble Earl of Moreton had Power and Dominion, So the words of the Writ, as Mathew Paris has them in his Hist. Maj. what this Legat did in England may be seen in the English Chronicles, but it is certain he never came into Ireland; and whether he acted any thing in the Affairs of Ireland, I know not. This year, or the former, Carolus O Conor from his Red-hand, call'd Crou-derg, founded the Abby of Knoc-moy for Cistercians, in memory of a Victory which he had there gain'd. About the same time John Comin built St. Patrick's Church in Dublin, having demolish'd the old Parochial, and plac'd in it 13 Prebends, which number was afterward increased to 22. Of those first Prebends, Comin in his Charter says, We Decree, God willing, with the Approbation of the Holy See of Rome, and our Prince John Earl of Moreton, to make S. Patrick's Church

St. Patrick's Church built.

Church in Dublin a Prebendary, and to Institute therein a Colledge of Clerks, of good Life and Learning, who by their Lives and Conversations may give Example to others. In a Statute of the 28 of Hen. 8. Cap. 4. this Church is call'd the Only Light of all the Pious and Ecclesiastical Discipline in Ireland. The Church it self is the fairest and largest in Ireland. This Prelat did likewise partly repair and enlarge the Choir of Christ Church in Dublin, and built the Nunnery call'd Grace Dieu. This year likewise a Peace was made between the Princes of Thomond and Desmond, but within a few years was again dissolv'd.

In Dom.

1191

1192

Anno Domini MCXCI. Et Anno Regni 2.

CHAP. II.

WHat King Richard perform'd this year in Palestine against the Saracens may be found in the English Writers, yet it is not to be omitted as something pertaining to our Affairs, that John Constable of Chester, sometime one of the Guardians of Ireland, who attended the King in this Expedition, died this year at Tyre in Phenicia of the Publick Affairs of Ireland scarce any thing memorable occurs.

This likewise may seem worth the Remembring, that this Year there were so great Tempests in Desmond, that many Houses and Churches were beaten down, and much Cattle and Men destroy'd.

This year likewise the Translation of the Reliques of S. Malachias Archbishop of Armagh was Celebrated in the Monastery of Clare Vall.

Anno Domini MCXCII. Et Anno Regni 3.

CHAP. III.

Mathew O Heney, Archbishop of Cashel, was made Legat of Ireland by Pope Celestin 3d, and at the same time held a Council in Dublin. About the same time Donald O Brian King of Limerick, defeated the English in a Battle at Dunlus O Forgerte, and the English to Revenge the loss, enter'd and Plundered Thomond.

This Year the City of Dublin was much impair'd by Fire, but was soon rebuilt; and the Cathedral Church suffered the like. About the same time the Castles of Ballinorcher and Kilbixy were built by the English in West-Meath.

In Leinster the Castle of Kilkenny was built, and another at Kilfeacle in Munster. In the mean time on the 24th of August, died Bertram de Verdon Seneschal of Ireland Founder of the Abby of Croxden in Staffordshire, who had followed Richard to the Holy Land.

Kilkenny Castle built.

An. Reg.
IV, V.

Anno Domini MCXCIII. Et Anno Regni 4.

CHAP. IV.

KING Richard being taken and detained by Leopold Duke of Austria in his return from the Holy-Land, John, the King's Brother, Lord of Ireland, by instigation of Philip King of France, endeavour'd to Usurp the Crown, but finding his hopes fail him, he Fortify'd his Castles in England, and Fled over to King Philip, who at that time invaded Normandy, who honourably receiv'd him. But King Richard having got his Liberty the next year, and a Treaty of Peace being on Foot between the two Kings, fearing to fall into his Brothers Hands, he hasten'd over to Normandy, and with al Humility Submitted himself to his Brother, Confess'd his Fault, and promis'd all Obedience for the Future. The King upon the Intercession of his Mother Ellenor, and out of his own Natural Goodness, receiv'd him again into Favour, and said (as Walsingham has it) I wish I may forget, and only you remember the Fault you have been Guilty of.

In Thomond was built the Castle of Briginis, with the Assent (as they say) of King Donald O Bryan, that Desmond might from thence be more easily Spoil'd, And about the same time Gilbert de Nangle Plunder'd the Isle of Inis-Cloghran in Logh-dee. In these days Casshan O Dur of the Famil y of the Carty's, a Man of great Fame, was kill'd by Daniel.

Africa, Wife of John de Courcy, Daughter of Godred King of Mann, Founded the Abby of our Lady de Leigh, or de jugo Dei, in Ulster, and Supply'd it with Cistercian Monks from the Abby of Holmicuktrain, in this Abby Africa her self was afterward Buried, as appears by the Chronicle of Mann.

It is Reported likewise that Deruorgil Daughter of Murchard O Melaghlin, sometime King of Meath, Wife of Tigernack O Roirk Ravish'd, as has been said, by Dermot mac-Murrogh King of Leinster, died this year in the Abby of Mellifont.

Anno Domini MCXCIV. Et Anno Regni 5.

CHAP. V.

Peter Pippard Justiciar, if I mistake not, of Ireland, and Son of Jocelin de Nangle, with his Comrade (says Henry Marlebourg) were taken this year by Walter de Lacy, who was then newly become Lord of Meath, but he neither tells the Cause, nor manner, nor nor place, nor issue of it; for he only says thus, Walter de Lacy, took the Lordship of Meath, and Apprehended Peter Pippard, Justiciar with his Comrades.

An.Dom.

1195.

1196.

This year died Donald O Brien, King of Limerick, a Warlike Man, and Founder of many Monastries, and to him succeeded Donogh Carbrach O Brien, his other Son Murtach had his Eyes put out by the English.

In those days the Reliques of S. Malachias (say the Annals of S. Mary-Abby near Dublin) were brought from Clare Valle into Ireland, and honourably receiv'd in the Monastery of Mellifont, and other Houses of the Cistercian Order.

Anno Domini MCXCV. Et Anno Regni 6.

C H A P. VI.

CHarles Crobderg made an Incurfion into Conaght, and destroyed many Castles, and much land of the English. The same year Dermot O Connig, Bishop of Killaloe, was deprived by Mathew O Heney Archbishop of Casbel, the Popes Legat, and soon after he died with grief, and was buried at Cork. About the same time Philip de Wigornia landed in Munster to assist the English, defeated in some Battles, and cast out of Limerick by Donald Garty. In the mean time Roderick, Son of Dunleve, joyning some Forces of English and Conaght-Men, invaded Tir-Oen, but at his return was defeated at Armagh, with the loss of many of his Party. Soon after Murtagh O Loghlin, Prince of Tir-ven, was Murder'd by Donagh Mac-Bloschy O Cahán, and his Body was honourably buried in Derry. He was much celebrated by the Irish Historians.

This year died Florence mac Riagan O Mulrony, Bishop of Elphin, sometime Abbot of Buelliam.

Anno Domini MCXCVI. Et Anno Regni 7.

C H A P. VII.

Courcy this year took a Garifon-Castle at Kilsandall, where he plac'd one Ruffel, who making an Incurfion into Tirconell, was at his return with a great Booty, kill'd with many of his Men, by Flachertach O Merldory, King of Tirconell.

In Munster, Donald mac Garty demolish'd the Castle of Imacalle, and kill'd many of the English. He likewise plunder'd the Castle of Kilseacle, kill'd many there. Soon after the English from Cork, and the Neighbouring places, drew a great Army against him, but by the n. Reg.

VIII. IX.

the Intercession of some, a Peace was Concluded, and the Armies on both sides withdrew.

About this time Gilbert de Nangle, a powerful Man in Meath, making a Party, much disturb'd the Neighbouring Parts, and committed many Outrages, but Hamon de Valoniis, Justiciar of Ireland, so terrify'd him, that he fled out of Ireland, after which his Castles were taken, and his Lands Confiscated.

Anno Domini MCXCVII. Et Anno Regni 8.

C H A P. VIII.

John Comin, Archbishop of Dublin, had this year a great Contest with Hamon de Valoniis, Justiciar of Ireland, and other Ministers of John Earl of Moreton, who intruded upon the Rights of his Church. Whereupon the Archbishop Incens'd, Excommunicated them all, and made haste into England to complain of the Injuries offer'd him, but found no Redress there; Yet it appears in the Register of John Alan, long after Archbishop of Dublin, that Hamon to expiate the Crime that he and his party had Committed while he was Justiciar of Ireland, gave to his Successors 20 Carucates of Land, in a Lay-fee of his.

In Ulster, Jordan de Courcy (says Walter of Coventry) Brother of John, was kill'd by an Irish Friend or Servant of his, whereupon his Brother John in revenge kill'd many of the Irish.

This year, on the 10th of February, after a long distemper, died Flachbertach O Maldory King of Tirconel, a Man eminent among his own People, at Inis-famer, Aged 59, and was honourably bury'd at Drum Tuama, to whom Succeeded O Dogherty, against whom John Courcy March'd with a strong Army into Tirconel, and kill'd him, and Courcy returned from Inis-oen Home with a great Booty of Cattle.

This year died Cornelius mac-Dermot King of Moylurg in the Abby of Bueliam, and in a Cistercian Habit.

This year likewise the City of Jerusalem was, to the great Prejudice of Christendom, taken by Saladin Prince of the Saracens.

Anno Domini MCXCVIII. Et Anno Regni 9.

C H A P. IX.

HAMON de Valoniis was this year recall'd, and Miler Fitz-Henry made Justiciar of Ireland, a Man of a great Name in Arms, and whom we have often before mentioned.

This

This year died Roderick O Conor, sometime King of Ireland, in whom ended the Irish Monarchy, and settled in the Person of Henry II. King of England. He died at Cong in an Abby of Augustin Canons, whether he had retired to a private Life, upon his Death a great dissention arose between Charles Crobderg and Charles Carragh, both taking upon them as Kings of Conaught.

In Munster the English built the Castle of Ard-Patrick, and another the next year at Astretin by the River Delwin.

An.Dom.
1198.

Roderick O Conor dies.

K

THE

THE ANNALS
OF IRELAND,
During the REIGN of
KING JOHN.

Anno Domini MCXCIX. Et Anno Regni 1.

CHAP I.

An. Reg.
I.

RICHARD I. died of a Mortal Wound given him by an Arrow on the Left Arm at the Siege of the Castle of Chalux in Aquitain, John Earl of Moreton took the Crown, Excluding Arthur the Right Heir, as being Son of Geofry his Elder Brother, and was Crown'd at S. Peter's Church in Westminster by Hubert Walter, Archbishop of Canterbury, on the 6th of June. In the mean time Peace was made between Charles Crobderg and Charles Carragh in Ireland, but it held not long: About the same time John Courcy sent a Party of Horse and Foot into Tiroen, from whence they brought great Numbers of Cattle, but attempting the same a second time, had not the same Success, but were intercepted by Hugh O Neal, and defeated at Donaghmore.

Soon after the English of Munster, making an Incurfion into Desmond, lay'd waste the Country from the River Shenan to Perdum.

June 29, Girald Barry, Archdeacon of Menevia (whom we have often mentioned) was again by the Voices of the Canons of Menevia (as he says in his Life, written by himself) chosen Bishop of Menevia, and was sent to Rome with Letters from the Chapter, to be consecrated by Pope Innocent 3. and to dispute the Rights of the Metropolis of Menevia; whereupon the next day after the Election he set sail for Ireland, to consult his Relations Miler, Justiciar of Ireland, and other great Lords there, who commended his undertaking, and promised him great Assistance; within three Weeks after he return'd to Menevia, and going the next day to the Chapter, he understood from the Canons that they had again received a Letter from the Archbishop and Justiciar of England, with Command that the next Sunday after the Assumption of our Lady, they should appear before them to make Election, and should Receive for their Bishop the Prior of Lanthony, whom, if they came not, they would send Consecrated to them. The matter was long depending, and Girald made three Voyages Voyages to Rome to obtain Confirmation, but in Vain, for after the Death of Peter de Leya, Bishop of Menevia, who died the 17th of the Calends of August 1198. Geofry, Prior and Canon of Lanthony, by means of Hubert Archbishop of Canterbury, was Elected to that Sec, and by him consecrated, as Girald himself affirms, Itin Cambr. lib. 2. Chap. 1. Therefore Godwen in his Catalogue of the Bishops of Menevia, is in an Error where he says that this Geofry died in the year 1198, and that Girald Barry, whom he calls Silvester Girald, or rather, as another Girald Fitz-Girald, Succeeded him. In those days Richard Tuit built a Castle at Granard in Aumale against the Incursions of the O Rely's and other Irish. This year was likewise Founded the Abby of Commer, or Comber, in Ulster, and supply'd with Cistercian Monks from the Abby of Alba Landa. In Munster died Richard Carew, a Man of a great Name and Power in Ireland. And also Thomas Duerdon, Son of Bertram, a Man of Authority in Uriel, to whom his Brother Nicholas Succeeded.

An. Dom.

1200

Anno Domini MCC. Et Anno Regni 2.

CHAP. II.

Charles Carragh made a League with William de Burgo, and with his assistance Charles Crobderg was defeated and depriv'd of the Government of Conaught, and Banish'd, and Charles Carragh was substituted in his Place. This same year (says Hoveden, who then Liv'd) King John sold for 4000 marks to William de Brausa all the Land of Philip de Worcester, and all the Land of Theobald Walter in Ireland, but Philip Escaping from the King return'd into Ireland by the way of Scotland, and recovered his Land by Force of Arms, and Theobald Walter by the Assistance of Hughbert, Archbishop of Canterbury, his Brother, gave to William de Brausa 500 Marks to Redeem his Lands, and did him Homage.

Between Christmas and the beginning of Lent (says Hoveden) Roderick mac-Dunlef, call'd King of Ulidia, was kill'd at a Barn of White Monks, by the Servants of John de Courcy, but without his knowledge, and when he heard of it, he was much troubled, and Banished those that Committed the Fact.

Before the end of the year Hugh O Neal led his Forces from Tiroen to aid the Exile, but was defeated with a great slaughter by Charles Carragh and the Auxiliaries of William de Burgh, at Assadar, in Conaught, and Hugh O Neal, and the Exile escaped by flight; Nor had John Courcy and Walter de Lacy better success with the Forces they led into Conaught to Assist Charles Crobderg, which were with great loss defeated by Charles Carragh at Kill-mac-duac. Charles Crobderg being twice overthrown, used all his Endeavours to dissolve the League of William de Burgo, promising great things if he could have his Assistance to restore him, to which William at last agree'd, and took

An. Reg.
III.The Abby of Tintern Found-ded.

took him into his Protection against his Competitor, the Success whereof we shall hear.

This year William Mareschal, the Elder, Earl of Pembroke, having escap'd a great Tempest at Sea, built and indow'd, in performance of a Vow he then made, the Abby of Tintern, and supply'd it with Cistercian Monks from the Abby of Tintern in Morrmouthshire in Wales, and made John Torrel their Abbot. This Abby is by Chrysostom Henriquez, in his account of the Acts of the Cistercian order, called Tintern the Greater.

Two other Abbies of the same order were likewise Founded, one at Kilcont by Donogh Carbragh O Bryan, another at Kilgan, and about the same time, Geofry de Constantine Founded the Abby of Tristernagh.

Anno Domini MCCL Et Anno Regni 3.

CHAP. III.

THis year died Thomas O Connor, Archbishop of Armagh, a Man of Eminent Birth and Vertue, and was Honourably bury'd at Mellifont. And also Catholicus O Dubbay, Archbishop of Tnam, very Aged, in the Abby of Cong, of whom see more in our lives of the Bishops.

In Ulster in the mean time, Walter de Lacy, a Man of Power (as Hoveden gives the Account) in a Conference with John de Courcy Duke of Ulster, had a design to betray him, and killed many of his Men; John de Courcy escaping by Flight, Hugh de Lacy, Brother of Walter, invited him to take Sanctuary in his Castle, for which (says he) I do you Homage, till he had got his Forces together, and put himself in a Posture to take his Revenge; Courcy confiding in him accepted his offer, but when he was in the Castle, he was there detain'd a Prisoner, to be sent over to the King of England, who had long desired to have him in hold, but Courcy's Party ceased not day nor night to waste and destroy the Lands of Walter and Hugh de Lacy, with Fire and Sword, till they delivered Courcy from his Captivity.

About the same time the People of Tiroen made Cornelius mac Laughlin King instead of Hugh O Neal, but he was soon after kill'd in Battle by Egvechan O Donek. In Munster, by the discords of Philip de Wigornia and William de Brausa, Men of great Power in those parts, the Country of Muighfenin was miserably wasted, but the year following the Castle of Knockgraffan, and some others that were Seized by Philip, in the Honour of Limerick, were by the King's command restored to William.

About this time William de Burgo enter'd Desmona, and carry'd a great booty from thence to Cork.

To this William, King John gave this year 5 Knights fees, call'd Torb, wherein is Situate the Castle of Canic, now. if I mistake not, call'd Castleconnel, to him and his Heirs, to be held by the Service of one Knight yearly, yet so, that if he shall Fortify the Castle (are the words of the Charter) and we shall desire to have it in our hands, we will give him a reasonable exchange for it.

Anno

An. Dom.

1202.

Anno Domini MCCII. Et Anno Regni 4.

O H A P. IV.

Meler Fitz-Henry, whose Father was the base Son of King Henry the First, Founded the Abby of Cownal; He came into Ireland with the first Conquerors, being a young stripling, and is highly commended by Cambrensis for his great Valour, and Worthiness in Martial Prowess: He left this World, Anno 1220, his Epitaph I find in John Clyne,

*Conduntur tumulo Meyleri nobilis ossa;
Indomitus domitor totius gentis Hibernæ.*

Intombed are the Bones of him they Noble Meler call,
Who was the Tameless Tamer of the Irish Nation all.

In the Seventeenth year of the Reign of King John, Theobald Fitz-Walter, Fitz Gilbert, Becket the first Lord Butler of Ireland, Founded the Monastery of Wethencia, alias Wethran, alias Wethenoya, alias Voghney, in the County of Limerick; This difference I find in Dowling, Grace, and others.

Saint Monon, an Irish Man, and a Martyr, (Molanus layeth him down among the Saints in Flanders) flourished; He is reputed the Patron of Nassonia, under the command of the Abbot of Saint Hubert, in the Lordship of Audiamum; He was the Disciple of Saint Remulch, and Saint John Agnus, Bishop of Trajectum, and of Irish Birth. This Monon was Massacred at Ardevenna, (saith Molanus) by some bloody Murderers, and lieth Buried at Nassonia, in the Church which he there had Founded.

(I find it in Dowling and Grace) Sir Hugh de Lacy the younger, being Lord-Justice, entred into Thurles, where the Country being in Rebellion, offer'd him Battle, he laid Siege to Castle Meiler, won it, broke it down, and made it even with the Ground; but he lost there more Men (say the Irish) then he took away with him; the chief Rebel was Jeffery mac-Moris, alias Morich.

The occasion of Black-Monday, and the Original remembrance thereof rose at Dublin. The City of Dublin, by reason of some great Mortality, being waste and desolate, the Inhabitants of Bristol flock'd thither to Inhabit, who after their Country manner, upon Holy-days, some for Love of the fresh Air, some to avoid Idleness, some other for Pastime, Pleasure, and Gaming-sake, flock'd out of the Town towards Cullen's Wood upon Monday in Easter Week. The Birnnes, Tooles, (the Mountain Enemies) like Wolves lay in Ambush for them, and upon finding them unarm'd, fell upon them, and slew 300 Men, besides Women and Children, which they led 1205.

Anno

1206.

1208
A rebellion in Thurles,1209.
Black Monday.

in their hands, altho' shortly after the Town was upon the report thereof soon Peopled again by Bristolians; yet that dismal day is Yearly remember'd, and solemnly observed by the Mayor, Sheriffs, and Citizens, with Feast and Banquet, and Pitching up of Tents in that Place in most brave sort, daring the Enemy upon his Peril, not to be so hardy, as once to approach near their Feasting Camp: And whereas the Irish heretofore accounted Tuesday their fatal and unfortunate day (for Limerick was twice won, Wexford yielded up, Waterford was Besieged, and Dublin was Sacked upon a Tuesday) now they have Monday in Memory.

Anno:
1210.

This year (or somewhat before) the Monastery of Grenard was Founded by Richard Tute, who shortly after miscarry'd at Athlone by the fall of a Turret, and was Buried in the same Monastery. Not long before, viz. In the year 1209, the Monastery of Fort was Founded by Walter Lacy, Lord of Meath.

1211.
King John came into Ireland.

King John in the Twelfth year of his Reign came into Ireland, and landed at Waterford with a huge Army, marvelous well appointed to pacifie that Rebellious People, that were universally Revolted, Burning, Spoyling, Preying, and Massacring the English. Fabian and Graffton alledge the Cause that mov'd the Irish men to this Rebellion, to have been for that the King endeavour'd to lay grievous Taxes upon them towards his aid in the Wars against the French King, which they could not brook, and therefore rose in Arms against their Sovereign. When he came to Dublin the whole Country fearing his Puissance, craved Peace, and flock'd unto him along the Sea-Coast, the Champion Countries and Remote Places receiving an Oath to be True and Faithful unto him. There were 20 (Reguli) of the Chiefest Rulers within Ireland, which came to the King to Dublin, and there did him Homage and Fealty. Harding nameth them, Lord O Neal, and many more. Walsingham mentions Catelus King of Conaught.

After this he marched forwards into the Land, and took into his hands divers Fortresses, and strong Holds of his Enemy's that fled before him, for fear to be apprehended; as William le Bruse, Mathilda his Wife, William their Son, with their Train, of whom I spake before; Also Walter de Lacy Lord of Meath, and Hugh de Lacy Earl of Ulster, and Lord-Justice of Ireland, fearing his Presence, fled into France their Exaction, Oppression and Tyranny was intolerable. Likewise they doubted how to Answer the Death of Sir John de Courcy, Lord of Ratheny and Kilbarrock, within 5 Miles of Dublin, whom they had Murder'd, of especial malice and deadly hatred.

First, for that he was of the House of Sir John de Courcy, Earl of Ulster, (whom the Lacies always maligned.)

Secondly, for that he had made grievous Complaints of them in England to King John, the Tryal whereof they could not abide. Upon the Flight of the Lacies, King John made John Gray, Bishop of Norwich, his Deputy. Of these Lacies it is further remembred in the Book of Houth, and other Antiquities, How that in France they obscured themselves in the Abby of S. Taurin, and gave themselves to manual Labour, as Digging, Delving, Gardening, and Planting, John Gray B. of Norwich

Lord Deputy.

for

for daily Wages, the space of 2 or 3 years; the Abbot was well pleas'd with their Service, and upon a day (whether it were by reason of some inkling or secret Intelligence given him, or otherwise) demanded of them of what Birth and Parentage they were, and what Country they came from; when they had acquainted him with the whole, he bemoaned their Case, and undertook to become a suiter unto the King for them. In a Word he obtain'd the King's favour for them thus far, that they were put to their fine, and restored to their former Possessions; so that Walter de Lacy paid for the Lordship of Meath 2500 Marks, and Hugh his Brother, for Ulster and Conaught a greater Sum.

Hugh de Lacy, in remembrance of this kindness which the Abbot shewed him, took his Nephew, his Brothers Son, with them into Ireland, one Alured, whom he Knighted, and made Lord of the Dengle. The Monks also, which out of that Monastery he had brought with him into Ireland, he Honoured greatly, and gave them Entertainment in Four, the which Walter de Lacy had formerly builded.

King John having pacified the Land, Ordained that the English Laws should be used in Ireland, appointed 12 English Shires, with Sheriff and other Officers to Rule the same, according unto the English Ordinances; He reformed the Coin, and made it uniform, (some say it was Gray his Deputy) of like weight and fineness, and made it Current as well in England as in Ireland.

When he had disposed of his Affairs, order'd all things at his pleasure, he took the Sea again, with much Triumph, and Landed in England the 30th day of August.

When the French King, by instigation of Innocentius 3d. Bishop of Rome, prepared to Invade England: King John understanding thereof, made Provision accordingly, to answer his enterprise, and among others (the cause why the Story is here incerted) Holinshed writeth how that to his Aid the Bishop of Normich, the King's Deputy of Ireland, levied an Army of 300 Foot, well appointed, beside Horsemen, which arrived in England to the Encouragement of the whole Camp. And as the French were frustrate of their purpose, so they shortly returned with great Joy to their Native Country.

In the same year, viz. 1213. John Comin, Archbishop of Dublin, departed this Life, and was Buried in the Choire of Christ-Church, whom Henry Loudres succeeded in the days of this King John. This Henry Builded the Castle of Dublin, and was made Lord-Justice of Ireland. His Tenants Nick-named him Schorchbill or Schorcvillen upon the following occasion.

He being Peaceably installed in his Bishoprick, Summoned all his Tenant, and Farmers at a certain day appointed, to make their personal appearance before him, and to bring with them such evidences and writings as they enjoyed their Holds by; the Tenants at the day appointed, appeared, shew'd their Evidences to their Landlord, mistrusting nothing, he had no sooner received them, but before their Faces, upon a sudden, cast them all into a Fire, secretly made for the purpose; this Fact amazed some, that they became silent, moved others to a stirring Choller and Furious Rage, that they regarded neither 1213.

Castle of Dublin built.
Schorchbill.

neither Place nor Person, but brake into irreverent Speeches : Thou an Archbishop, nay thou art a Schorcwillen, another drew his weapon and said, as good for me to kill as be killed ; for when my Evidences are burned, and my Living taken away from me, - I am kill'd. The Bishop seeing this Tumult, and the imminent danger, went out at a back door : His Chaplains, Registers, and Summoners, were well beaten, and some of them left for dead. They threatned to Fire the House over the Bishops Head ; some means was made for the present time to pacifie their outrage, with fair promises, that all hereafter should be to their own Content : upon this they departed, the intent of the of the Promises I cannot learn, other some inveigh against it ; but in fine, complaint thereof being made to Henry III. the King thought so hardly of the course, that he removed him from his Justiceship, and placed in his Room, Maurice Fitz-Girald, of whom hereafter. This Loudredes was buried in Christ-Church.

Maurice Fitz-Girald Lord Justice.

In the same year also King John being mightily distressed through the Practices of his Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, Monks, Priests of his Dominions, and the Barons of his Kingdom revolting, and the inward hatred of the French King, with Foreign Powers, intending an open Invasion, was driven, to prevent further Mischief, as I find in Polychronicon, to Surrender his Crown, and to subject his Kingdoms of England and Ireland, Tributary to the See of Rome, and as his Client, Vassal, and Feodary to that See, to hold them of Innocentius the Bishop. Again, England being Interdicted, and Ireland likewise, were after released upon Agreement, Composition and Charter, and Homage ; as in the Chronicle of England more at Large appeareth.

The Death of King John, and the manner of it, I refer to the English Chronicles.

THE ANNALS
OF IRELAND,

During the REIGN of King HENRY, III.

Anno Dom. MCCXVI. Et Anno Regni 1.

HENRY the III. Eldest Son to King John, began his Reign about the Ninth Year of his Age; and in his fourth Year, Clyn, Dowling, and Grace writes; all Meath was wonderfully afflicted and wasted, by reason of the private Quarrels and Civil Wars between William Earl Marshal, Earl of Pembroke, &c. and Sir Hugh de Lacy, Earl of Ulster, and Lord of Connaught. Trim was Besieged, and brought to a lamentable plight, and when the rage and fury of those Broils was somewhat mitigated and appeased, which had occasion'd the shedding of much Blood; to prevent further Calamities, the same Year the Castle of Trim was Built.

Anno Reg.
IV.

Anno, 1220.

About this time, certain worthy persons of great Fame and Renown, to wit, Henry Londreds, Roger Peppard, and William Peppard, Lords successively, de saltu Salmonis, and Meiler Fitz Henry, one of the first Conquerors, paid Nature her due, Sin her debt, and ended their days.

The same year that Henry Londreds died, being in the Year 1220. the Castle of Dublin was builded, I mean the Walls four square, or Quadrangle wise; but the four Turrets and the other afterwards. Sir Henry Sidney is said to have builded the inner Lodgings, in whose eternal Commendation, I find in Staniburst these Verses.

*Gesta libri referunt multorum clara virorum,
Laudis & in chartis stigmata fixa manent:
Verum Sidnei laudes hæc saxa loquuntur,
Nec jacet in solis gloria tanta libris.
Si libri pereant homines remanere valebunt,
Si pereant homines ligna manere queant;*

M *

Lignaque

Anno Dom.
1230.

*Lignaue si pereant, non ergo saxa peribunt,
Saxaque si pereant tempore, tempus erit,
Si pereat tempus, minime consumitur ævum,
Quod cum principio, sed sine fine manet.
Dum libri florent, homines dum vivere possunt,
Dum quoque cum lignis saxa manere valent,
Dum remanet tempus; dum denique remanet ævum,
Laus tua Sydnei, digna perire nequit.*

Anno, 1224.

Abbatia de Albo tractu was founded. By general consent of Antiquaries, after the Death of Henry Loudres, Maurice Fitz-Gerald was made Lord-Justice of Ireland, and afterwards fell under the King's Displeasure, and was removed; but the Years they agree not upon, wherein I find great discord.

The English Chronicle of Ireland sheweth, that he was made Lord-Justice Anno 1228. Florilegus and Holmshead writes, that he was removed from his Justice-ship, Anno 1245. and John Fitz-Jeffery substituted in his room. Matthew Paris writeth, that he was removed Anno 1248. but howsoever they have mistaken the Years; or whether the fault of the Printer crept in, it forceth not: I am to shew to the Reader, the truth of the History, and the most worthy Service of this Noble Man, with the Years and the time, as near as I can.

Anno, 1219.

Maurice Fitz-Gerald, being Lord-Justice, Stephen Chapplen, and Nuncio to Pope Gregory, came to King Henry with the Popes Apostolick Mandates, and procuration Letters; requiring of Spiritual and Temporal throughout England, Ireland, and Wales, the Tenth of all their Movables, to the Maintenance of his War, against Frederick the Emperor. At the Day and place Appointed, when the King and His Lords-Spiritual and Temporal met together, and the Nuncio had read his Letters, the King was silent, and reputed as consenting thereto; the Earls and Barons, and all the Laity, said flatly, they would give the Pope no Tenths; neither subject their Baronies and local Possessions to the Church of Rome: The Clergy after three or four Days deliberation, fearing the Thunder-bolts of Excommunication, with Grudging and Murmurs, and many a bitter Curse, yielded; yet Ranulphus, Earl of Chester, alone, stood stoutly in the Cause, and would not permit the Clergy of his Country to become in Bondage; neither to contribute the said Tenths, tho' England, Wales, Scotland, and Ireland, were compell'd to pay. Ireland sent likewise after their Money, Irish Curses; for they were driven at the worst hand, to sell unto the merciless Merchants, their Cows, Hackneys, Caddoes, and Aquæ-vitæ, to make present payment; and were driven in that extremity to pawn and sell their Cups, Chalice, Copes, Altar-cloths and Vestments.

Anno, 1230.

Hubertus de Burgo was chosen Lord-Justice of Ireland, in the absence of Maurice Fitz-Gerald, to whom the King gave the Land and Connaught; and made him Earl of Connaught. And shortly after, being called into England for his Uprightness, and and singular Fidelity, was made Governor of the King, Lord-Justice of England, and Earl of Kent, by the Consent of all the Peers of the Realm : Afterwards, as the course of this World wheels about, he fell under the Kings Displeasure, so that he called him Old Traytor, (and in his rage wou'd have run him thorow with his Sword, had not the Earl of Chster, and others run between) for that 'tis said, he had taken Five thousand Marks of the Queen of France to hinder his purpose. To avoid the Kings Displeasure, this Hubert fled to the Chappel of Brandwood in Essex, where he was taken; and by Command of the King, sent to the Tower of London; all his Friends forsook him; none answered for him but the Arch-Bishop of Dublin; Wherein we may behold as in a Glass, the Disposition of feigned Friends in former Ages; who in the spring of Man's Felicity, like Swallows will fly about him, but when the Winter of Adversity nippeth, like Snails they keep within their shells. At length this Hubert was somewhat restored to the Kings Favour, that he was Inlarg'd, yet banish'd the Court: Lastly, he ended his Miseries at his Mannor-House of Bansted in Surry, and was Buried at the Church of the Fryers-Preachers at London, which was then in Holborn; unto the which Church he gave his Noble Palace at Westminster, the which afterwards Walter Grey, the Arch-Bishop of York, bought of Them, and made it his Inn, since commonly call'd York House, but now White-Hall.

The Year aforesaid, Jeffrey March, al. Maurish, Succeeded as Lord-Justice of Ireland; which was thought to be Appointed in the absence of Maurice Fitz-Gerald, who made Three Journeys to the King. First, One with Great Power out of Ireland, to Aid him beyond the Seas. Secondly, To clear himself of the Death of Richard Marshall, Earl of Pembrook. Lastly, With Irish Forces against the Welshmen; Matthew Paris and Holinshed make report of his good service; How that an Irish petty King in Corrnaught, understanding that when both the King of England, and the Earl Marshall, and Maurice Fitz-Gerald, were gone over into France, and so Ireland left without any great Aid of Men of War, on the English part, raised a mighty Army, and with the same entred into the Marches and Borders of the English Dominion, spoiling and burning the Country before him. And how that Jeffrey de Maurisco, then Lord-Justice, being thereof Advertized; called to him Walter d' Lacy, Lord of Meath, and Richard d' Burgh, Assembling therewithal a huge Army, the which he divided into three Parts; appointing the said Walter d' Lacy, and Richard d' Burgh with the two first parts, to lye in Ambush within certain Woods, through the which he purposed to draw the Enemies; and Marching forth with the Third, which he reserv'd to his own Government, he profered Battel to the Irishmen, the which, when they saw but one Battel of the Englishmen, boldly assailed the same.

The Englishmen, according to the Order appointed, feigning as though they had fled, and so retired still back, until they had drawn the Irish within danger of their other two Battels, which coming forth upon them, did beset 'em eagerly; whilst the other, who seem'd before to fly, return'd back again, and set upon them in like manner;

Wino Dom.
1230.

by means whereof, the Irishmen being in the midst, were beaten down; if they stood to it, they were before and behind slain; if any offer'd to fly he was taken: thus in all parts they were utterly vanquish'd, with the loss of 20000 Irish, and the King of Connaught taken and committed to Prison. This Noble Jeffrey de Maurisco, a Man sometime in great Honour and Possessions in Ireland, fell into the displeasure of the King, and was banish'd; who after he had remained long in Exile, and suffered great Misery, ended the same by natural Death: Thus the unstable Wheel goeth round about; and yet I may not so leave it; He had a Son called William de Maurisco, who together with the Father, (the Justice of God requiring the same) came to most shameful Ends; Matthew the Monk of Westminster, and Matthew Paris the Monk of St. Albans, do Write the Story: While the King was beyond Seas, a certain Noble Man of Irish Birth, to wit Willielmus de Maurisco, an exil'd and banish'd Man; the Son of Jeffrey de Maurisco, for some heinous Offence laid to his Charge, kept himself in the Isle of Lundee, not far from Bristol, Preying, Robbing, and Stealing, as a notorious Pirate; at length being apprehended, together with Seventeen of his Confederacy, and by the King's Commandment adjudged to cruel Death; He was drawn at London, with his Confederates, at Horse-Tails to the Gibbet, and there Hang'd and Quarter'd. His Father one of the Mightiest Men of Ireland, by Name Galfridus de Maurisco, hearing thereof, fled into Scotland, and scarce there could he lye safe; who pining away with grief and sorrow, soon after ended a miserable Life, with wished Death. Again, after in another place he writeth; Galfridus de Maurisco, reckon'd amongst the most Noble of Ireland, an exile and a banish'd Man, died pitifully, yet not to be pitted; whom being banish'd Ireland, expuls'd out of Scotland, and fled out of England, France received for a Beggar; where he ended an unfortunate Life, after the most shameful Death of his Son Willielmus de Maurisco.

These things therefore I shew more at large unto the hearers; that every man may weigh with himself, what End is allotted unto Treason, and specially being committed against the sacred Person of a Prince: His Father against Richard, Earl and Marshal in Ireland; and his Son William against the King; unadvisedly, and unfortunately adventur'd to practise Mischief.

The Name of this William was very odious unto the King, for so it was reported, that through the Counsel of Jeffrey his Father, he had conspir'd the Death of the King; and that he had treacherously sent that Varlet, which came in the Night season, to Woodstock to slay the King; and last of all, that he had killed at London, in presence of the King, one Clemens, a Clerk, Messenger of some Noble Man of Ireland, that came to inform the King against him.

About this same time flourished a learned Man of Irish birth, one Cornelius Historicus, so called, because he was an exquisit Antiquary; Bale and Staniburst have briefly Written his Life, and his Commendations out of Hector Boetius, who was greatly furthered by this Cornelius, to the perfecting of the Scotch History; he wrote, as they say:

Multarum rerum Cronicon. Lib. I.

About

ABOUT this time, viz. Anno, 1230. there rose a doubt in Ireland, so that they sent to England to be therein resolved. The King by his learned Council, answered as followeth.

Anno Regis
XVIII.

HENRY, By the Grace of God, &c. King of England, Lord of Ireland, Duke of Normandy and Guian, &c. Trusty and well-beloved Gerald Fitz-Maurice, Justicer of Ireland, Greeting;

WHEREAS certain Knights of the parties of Ireland, lately informed us; that when any Land doth descend unto Sisters, within Our Dominion of Ireland, the Justices errant in those parties are in doubt; whether the Younger Sister ought to hold of the Eldest Sister, and do Homage unto her or not. And forasmuch as the said Knights have made instance, to be certified how it had been used before within our Realm of England in like case: At their instance we do you wit, that such a Law and Custom is in England in this case; that if any holding of us in Chief, happen to die, having Daughters to his Heirs, our Ancestors, and we after the Death of the Father, have alway had and received Homage of all the Daughters; and every of them in this case did hold of us in Chief. And if they happen to be within Age, we have alway had the Ward and Marriage of them; And if he be Tenant to another Lord, the Sisters being within Age, the Lord shall have the Ward and Manage of them all, and the Eldest only shall do Homage for her self, and all her Sisters; And when the other Sisters come to full Age, they shall do their service to the Lord of the Fee, by the Hands of the Eldest Sister; yet shall not the Eldest by this Occasion, exact of her Younger Sisters Homage, Ward, or any other Subjection: for when they be all Sisters; and in manner, as one Heir to one Inheritance; if the Eldest should have Homage of the other Sister, or demand Ward; then the Inheritance should seem to be divided so, that the Eldest Sister should seem to be Seignoresse and Tenant of Inheritance, simul & semel, that is to say, Heir of her own part, and Seignoresse to her Sisters, which could not stand well together in this case, for the Eldest can demand no more than her Sisters, but the Chief Mase, by reason of her Anciency. Moreover, if the Eldest Sister should take Homage of the Younger, she should be as a Seignoresse to them all, and should have the Ward of them and their Heirs; which should be none other, but to cast the Lamb to the Wolf to be devoured.

And therefore we command you that you cause the aforesaid Customs that be used within our Realm of England, in this case to be Proclaimed throughout our Dominions of Ireland, and to be straightly kept and observed; in Testimony whereof, &c. I Witness my Self at Westminster, the Ninth of February, the Thirteenth Year of Our Reign.

THE Seventh of April, there appeared, as it were four Suns, besides the natural Sun, of a red colour, and a great Circle of Chrystal colour, from the sides whereof went out half Circles, in the divisions whereof, the four Suns went forth. There followed that Year great War and cruel Bloodshed, and general great Disturbance throughout England, Wales, and Ireland.

Anno, 1234.

This troublesome Year Died Gualter Lacy, Lord of Meath, leaving behind him two Daughters, Coheirs, to Inherit his Possession, Anno Dom.

1234.

to wit, Margaret, that was Married to the Lord Theobald Verdon, and Mathilda, Married to Jeffrey Genevile.

Amids these Troubles, in the flourishing Days of Maurice Fitz-Gerald, Hubert de Burgo, Jeffrey de Maurisco, and Gualter de Lacy, whose Ends followed according. The Noble Earl, Rich. Maxfield, Lord Maxfield, Earl Marshal of England, spoken of before; and being by them maligned, was treacherously cut off by sundry devilish Draughts. Mat. Paris wrote the Story at large; laid down their practice on both sides of the Seas, their forged Letters; and secretly, as it were by Stealth, fixing thereto the King's Seal: He calleth them Troystors, Judasses, and Jeffrey de Maurisco he termeth Achitophell, that gave wicked Counsel. Hubert had a lamentable End, Jeffrey dyed in Misery, Lacy was shortly cut off; and Maurice Fitz-Gerald was with dishonour removed from his Justiceship. This Maurice of the King desired to be Reconciled to Gilbert Marshal, his Brother whom he greatly feared; and offered in satisfaction, to build with all speed a noble Monastery; and to endow the same with large Possessions, and to furnish it with a reverent Covent; to pray for the Soul of Richard Marshal: At length, with much ado, and importunate intreaty of the King and Nobility of England, Gilbert Marshal granted him peace, but of Earl Richards End I have spoken somewhat before.

About the Years 1233. or 1234. Hugh Mapleton Bishop of Offory, whose Episcopal See was then at Achboo, in Upper-Offory, began the Foundation of the Cathedral Church, now standing in the Irish Town of Kilkenny, in the honour of God and Saint Canicus; (of whom the Town of Kilkenny had the Name) and is reckoned the First Founder. He Ordained Three Canons for the Service, he gave them divers Churches and Tithes for their Maintenance, as in the Foundation of those Canons more at large doth appear. He Builded the Bishops-Court of Aghor; adding thereto Fish-ponds, Fishings, and other Necessaries. Such good Men lived in those Days.

At the same time came the King of Connaught, Exhibiting a grievous Complaint unto the King, against John de Burgo, the Son, as I suppose, of Hubert de Burgo, before spoken of; that he had entered his Country with Forces, and wasted the same with Fire and Sword; That it would please his Majesty to do him Justice, and Command such rash attempts to be bridled; alledging that he was his loyal Subject, and paid for his Kingdom an annual Pension, amounting to the Sum of Five thousand Marks, ever since King John had subdued his Kingdom; And that he would rid him of that base Upstart, or new Commer, which sought unjustly to dis-inherit him. The King tendred his reasonable request, and Commanded Maurice Fitz-Gerald, then present, to pluck up by the Root, the fruitless Plant, the which Hubert Earl of Kent had sometime planted in those parts, while he was in Ruffe, that it might bud no more. He wrote also unto the Nobility of Ireland, that they should banish the said John de Burgo, and peaceably Establish the King in his Kingdom; who with these Princely Favours, joyfully returned into his Country.

THE Irishmen Rebelled.

Anno, 1235

Mat-

M Atthew Paris Writes, that in the North parts, not far from the Abbey of Rochor-Rupy, and also in Ireland, and the parts thereabouts more apparently, strange and wonderful sights were seen, which amazed the Beholders : To wit, there appeared coming forth of the Earth, Companies of Armed Men on Horseback, with Spear, Shield, Sword, and Banners displaid in sundry forms and shapes, riding in Battle Array, and encountring together; this sight appeared sundry Days each after other; sometimes they seemed to join as it had been in Battle, and fought fore; and sometimes they seemed to Just and break Staves, as if it had been at some triumphant Justs of Tourny. The People of the Country beheld them afar off with great Wonder, for the Skirmish shewed it self so lively, that now and then they might see them come with their empty Horses, fore wound and hurt; and likewise men mangled and bleeding; A pitiful sight to behold; and that which seemed more strange, and most to be marvelled at, after they vanished away, the prints of their Feet appeared in the Ground, and the Grass trodden in those places where they had been seen.

Anno Reg.
XX.

Anno, 1236.

P Petrus de Supino came from Pope Gregory into Ireland, with an Authentick papal Mandate; requiring under pain of Excommunication, and other Censures Ecclesiastical, the Twentieth part of the whole Land, besides Donatives and private Gratuities, to the Maintenance of his Wars against Frederick the Emperor, where he extorted a thousand and Five hundred Marks, and above; at which time also, one Petrus Rubens, Intituled the Popes Familiar, and Kinsman, and both Bastards, filled in like sort in Scotland. These Nuncios were so crafty, that they needed no Brokers; they secretly understood by Poits and Curisitors, the State of the Court of Rome, which quailed them full fore, that the Pope was either gone, or panted for Life; secretly by the Conduct of the Monks of Canterbury, they were conveyed to Dover, where they took Shipping, and crossed the Seas. The Emperor Frederick, against whom this Provision was made, having Intelligence thereof, and secretly acquainted with the Pope's State, Wrote to the King of England, to apprehend such Prollors, wherein he also reproved his Cowardize. The Emperor when he understood that the Birds were flown away, made search for the Nest, yet overtook them in Italy; where, to be short, he Imprisoned them; their Kindred and Favourers rifled them of their Money, and sent them to Rome to sing for more.

Anno, 1240

Petrus de Supino & Petrus Rubens, Pope Gregory's Agents in Ireland, and Scotland, were rifled of all they had by the Emperor.

The same Year, Andelmus born in Cullen, a Man highly commended for Life and Learning, was by the Bishop of Worcester, Solemnly Consecrated at Westminster; Arch-Bishop of Armagh, and Primate of Ireland, in the presence of the King, the Legate, and many Reverend Prelates.

Andelmus, Primate of Armagh.

Anno, 1242. M AURICE Fitz-Gerald, Lord-Justice of Ireland, builded the Castle of Sligo.

The Castle of Sligo builded.

Anno, 1243. C Lun and Dowling writes, that Giraldus Fitz-Maurice, Richardus de Burgo, and Hugh de Lacy, Earl of Ulster, in Ireland, ended the way of all Flesh, and was Buried at Girald Fitz-Maurice, Richardus de Burgo in Gascogne.

Anno Dom.
1245.

Carrickfergus. Matthew Paris giveth Lacy great Commendations; that he was a most Renowned Warriour, and a valiant Conqueror of a great part of Ireland: This Lacy left behind him one Daughter and Heir, whom Walter de Burgo Married, and in her Right, became Earl of Ulster. Of Richardus de Burgo, Matthew Paris writeth, he had great Possessions and Lands in Ireland, by the Conquest of his most Noble Father.

Anno, 1245.

Fleurbaey, Powell, and Hollinshead, Writes, How that the Welshmen Rebelled against the King; and his Forces being foiled by David ap Llewelin, Prince of Wales, he sent into Ireland to Maurice for Aid, and was in Winter-time mightily distressed; the which I find by Powell Recorded, and Writ by a Noble Man out of the Camp unto his Friends.

THE King with his Army lyeth at Gannock, fortifying of that strong Castle; and we live in our Tents, thereby Watching, Fasting, Praying, and Freezing with cold: We watch for fear of the Welshmen, who are want to Invade, and come upon us in the Night-time; we fast for want of Meat, for the half-peny Loaf is worth five pence; we pray to God to send us home speedily; we starve with cold, wanting our Winter Garments, having no more but a thin Linen-Cloath between us and the Wind: There is an Arm of the Sea under the Castle where we lye, whereto the Tyde cometh, and many Ships come up to the Haven, which bring Victuals to the Camp, from Ireland and Chester.

The King all this while expected the arrival of Maurice Fitz-Gerald, with his Irish Forces; mused with himself, fretted with himself; the Wind serving, and yet said nothing: At length the Irish Sails are discry'd; a shore they came; and Maurice Fitz-Gerald, together with Philins, O Connor, alias O Conogher, in Battle Array, present themselves before the King at Chepstow, say the Irish Chroniclers; but the Brittish Chroniclers Copied out of the Abbies of Conway, and Stratflur, say they Landed at the Isle of Man, or Anglesey; the which in my Opinion, seemeth to be most likely to be true. For David ap Llewelin was Prince of North-Wales, and there kept his Forces; and Chepstow is in South-Wales; and besides, it is agreed upon of all sides, that the Irish Landing, spoiled the Isle of Anglesey; laded themselves with Spoils; and going to their Ships, were driven to Run, and leave all behind; but to be short, when all the Forces joined together, the Welshmen were Overthrown: The King Manned and Victualled his Castles, returned into England, gave the Irishmen leave to return; winking a while in policy, at the tarriance and slow coming of Maurice Fitz-Gerald.

When Maurice Fitz-Gerald, Lord-Justice arrived in Ireland, he found O Donnell the Irish Enemy, upon the Death of Hugh Lacy, in Arms, Invading and sore annoying the King's Subjects in Ulster; and called unto him Cormock Mac-Dermot, Mac-Dory, with great Forces, and entred Tyrconnell, Preyed, Burned, Spoiled, and Vanquished the Enemy; there he slew Moyleslaghlin O Donnell, called King of Keyvail, together with Gille Canvinelagh, O Bugill, and Mac-Surley, called ed King of Oryſgall, with divers others, Gentlemen of thole parts : In like fort many Engliſhmen were caſt away in the River, whoſe paſſage O Don ll ſtopped, and flew there William Butt, High-Sheriff of Connaught, together with a valiant Young Gentleman his Brother : When the Lord-Justice had thus atchieved his purpoſe, he manned and victualled the Caſtle of Sligo, took pledges of O Neale to keep the Kings peace, and left them in the ſaid Caſtle, gave Cormack Dermot Mac Dory that came to his aid, the moiety of Connaught, and returned with a great Prey.

Anno reg.
XXXI.

When this Noble Service was Performed, the King diſgorged himſelf, and what inwardly he had Conceived, and for a while Concealed againſt the Lord-Justice, he then in writing delivered, and removed Maurice Fitz-Gerald out of his Juſticeſhip, and Placed in his Room, John Fitz-Jeffery de Morisco, the which the Iriſh Cronicles have Suppreſſed, yet Florilegus and Holinshed do Write, Mauritium Hiberniæ Juſtitiarium eo quod ſicte & tarde auxilium ab Hibernia Domino Regi duxerat periclitantia Juſtitia Depoſuit.

John Fitz Jeffery Lord-Justice, Anno, 1245.

This Maurice departed out of this World, Anno Dom. 1256. was buried ſaith Clyn in the habit of the Fryers Minors at Toughall, the which Maurice had founded, of whom Matthew Paris ſaith thus ; he was a Valiant Knight, a very pleaſant man, inferior to none in Ireland, who ſometime ſwayed the Land when he had the Sword of Juſticeſhip ; this man lived with commendations all the days of his Life, but peradventure falſly reported of, and ſtained in the end with the death of Richard, Earl Marſhal.

ANNO, 1247. After that Henry the third, and the Clergy of England and Ireland found themſelves mightily grieved at the Popes Exactions and Intollerable Extortions in England, Wales, and Ireland, and had ſignified the ſame in writing to the Court of Rome ; whereupon ſaith Florilegus, the Court of Rome fretted and ſorrowed, that their avarice was as well reprov'd, as reſtrained. Innocentius 4. deviſed in his conceit, a milder courſe to be held, that inſtead of a greater ſumm, they ſhould give him at that time out of thoſe Dominions, to ſupply his wants, but Eleven Thouſand Marks. Then ſaith Florilegus, Maſter Johannes Rufus was ſent into Ireland, furniſhed with authority, diligently to Collect the Popes Money, as a Legate, yet not clad in ſcarlet, leſt the Pope ſhould offend the King of England, who hath this priviledge, that no Legate ſet Foot on his Land, unleſs he be ſent for, or Licenced ; but the ſaid John being a Sophiſtical Legate, vigilantly plying the Papal Mandate, and his own private gain, Extorted out of Ireland, about Six Thouſand Marks, the which by the Conduct of the Clergy, was transported and Conveyed to London, about the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel.

The ſame Year, ſaith Florilegus, there was a marvellous and ſtrange Earthquake over England ; but ſaith Felcon, over Ireland : And all the Weſt of the World, and there followed immediately a continual untemperature of the Air, with a filthy ſkurf ; the VVinter Stormy Cold and Wet, which continued until the 11th of July, and put the

A great Earthquake.

Anno Dom.
1256.

Gardeners, Fruterers, and Husbandmen void of all hope, insomuch, that they complained that Winter was turned to Summer, and Summer to Winter, and that they were like to lose all, and be undone.

ANNO, 1252. saith Dowling and Grace, and the English Anonimus, but Clyn and Florilegus write, that it was 1254. King Henry gave to Prince Edward his Son, Gascoigne, Ireland, Wales, Bristow. Standford and Grantham, and sent him to Alphonfus King of Spain, to take Ellinor his sister to Wife, where he was by the said King Knighted, and returned together with his wife into England, with great Riches.

ANNO, 1255. Alanus de la Zouch, was made Lord-Justice, so I find in the Book of Houth, and after his departure out of Ireland, he being a Lord-Baron, and chief Justice in England, Florilegus, Humfrey Loyd and Stow, do write the Story how he came to his End; great strife rose in England, between certain of the Nobility, about Territories, Lands and Titles, whereto each side made Claim; the matters in controversy, by direction from the King were decided in Westminster-Hall; the first Controversy was between John Earl of Surrey and Warren, and Hugh de Lacy Earl of Lincoln, which went upon Lacy his side. The second was, between this Earl Warren and Allan de la Zouch; this Zouch being Chief Justice, asked Earl Warren, how he held his Land, Earl Warren drew forth his Sword and said, by this mine Ancestors held the same, and by this I presently hold it, and with that Ran the Chief Justice through, in Westminster-Hall, and in his flight wounded also his Son; thence he fled to his Castle at Risgate, whom Prince Edward the Kings Eldest Son pursued with an Army; to whom the Earl submitted himself, and afterwards with Friends and with Money, pacified all.

ANNO, 1256. In the Wars of Lewelin Prince of Wales, so I find in the Records of Conway and Stratflur, Copied by Gettine Owen. Edward Earl of Chester fell to Outrage one while against the King, another while against the Welshmen; his Army was 1500 Foot, and 500 Horse, Henry the Third together with Richard Earl of Cornewall, and King of Almane wrote unto him Gently, wishing him to return to his Country, and keep the peace, and not to provoke the Welshmen to Arms; the which he refused to do, but sent to the Irishmen for Succour and Supplies. Prince Edward the Kings Eldest Son, understanding thereof, Rigged a Navy, met with the Irish Fleet, killed their Men and sunk their Ships, few only remaining to return, and to make report of this hard Success in Ireland; In a while after, the King raised Wars against Lewelin Prince of Wales, and the Welshmen (saith Paris, Causa autem eorum etiam hostibus eorum iusta videbatur) and was brought to a narrow straight, so that he sent to Ireland, and to Gascoigne for Succour; the Irishmen not forgetting their late overthrow, were loath to come (being of all sides driven to serve) in the end came, and joyned with their Kings coming to aid

The Irish
Ed. Earl of Chester, were slain and their Ships sunk.

Kings Forces, where no Memorable Act was performed, for God, saith Paris, defended the Poor People that put their whole confidence in him.

About this time, to Wit, Anno, 1256. Flourished Johannes De Sacro Bosco; Bale out of Leland, will have him to be a Yorkshireman, and terms him John Holyfaxe, Stanhurst Writeth he was born in Ireland at Holy-Wood in Fingal, some 12 Miles from Dublin, and therefore called Johannes De Sacro Bosco, which carried great likelihood with it, his great learning graced him unto Posterity: In his springing Years, he sucked the sweet milk of good Learning, in the famous University of Oxford; afterwards he went to Paris, where he professed the Learned Sciences, with singular Commendations, and there slumbereth in the dust of the Earth, whose exequies and funerals were there with great Lamentations Solemnized: First, he followed Aristotle, afterwards gave himself to the Mathematicks, and addicted himself so much thereto, that few since could follow him; He wrote.

De Sphaera Mundi-lib. 1. Traetatum de sphaera, quatuor.
De Algorismo-----lib. 1. Omnia quæ a primæva rerum orig.
De Anni Ratione-lib. 1. Computus scientiam considerans.
Breviarium Juris-lib. 1. Verborum superficie penitus.

Upon his Tomb, together with the Mathematical Astrolabe, was insculped as followeth.

M. Christi his. C. quarto deno quater anno,
De Sacro Bosco discrevit tempora ramus, Gratia cui nomen dederat divina Johannes.

ANNO, 1258. Stepham Espee, alias de longa spatha, that is Stepham with the long-skean or two handed Sword, Earl of Salisbury, as I suppose, was made Lord-Justice of Ireland; this Stepham gave battel unto O neil, and the Rebels of Ulster and Connaught, and slew of them together with O neil (saith Clinn) in one Day, Three Hundred Fifty and Two, and departed this life, saith Florilegus, 1260.

ANNO, 1260. William Denn was made Lord-Justice, in whose time Green-Castle Arx Viridis was destroyed, and the Carties played the Devils in Desmond, where they burned, spoiled, preyed, and slew many an Innocent; they became so strong, and prevailed so mightily, that for the space (so it is reported) of twelve Years, the Desmonds durst not put plow in Ground in their own Country; at length through the operation of Satan, a bane of discord was thrown between the Carties and the O Driscoles: O Donovans, Mac Donoch, Mac Mahonna, Mac Swines, and the Inhabitants of Muscry, insomuch, that by their cruel dissention, they weakned themselves of all sides, that the Desmonds in the end overcame and overtopped them all; but in the

Anno Reg.
XLIV.

The Life of Johannes de
Sacro Bosco.

The Epitaph of Johannes de
Sacro Bosco.

Stepham Espee
Lord-Justice
of Ireland. The Battel of Down.

S. Will. Denn
Lord-Justice,
Anno, 1260.

Anno Dom.
1261.

Richardus de
Capella Lord-Justice of Ireland, Anno, 1261.

beginning of these Garboils, the Carties slew of the Desmonds, John Fitz Thomas Founder of the Monastery and Covent of Ti ally, together with Maurice his Son; eight Barons, Fifteen Knights, beside infinite others, at a Place called Callan, where they were Buried. Mine Authors are John Clinn, and the Book of Houth. In the the End of these Tumults, Died Sir William Denny Lord-Justice, Anno, 126. Richardus de Capella, otherwise called Rochell (Clinn calleth him La Rochell de Capella) became Lord-Justice of Ireland.

ANNO, 1262. There Rose in Dublin a great stir between the Prior and Convent of the Blessed Trinity, now called Christ-Church, and the Commonalty of the City, about the Tythe Fish of the Liffee.

ANNO, 1264. Walter Bourk, commonly called Walterus de Burgo (spoken of before) was made Earl of Ulster, he had Married the Daughter and Heir of Sir Hugh Delacy the younger, and in her Right Enjoyed the Earldom.

The Book of Houth layeth down the Descent, that this Walter by the said Heir of Ulster, had issue Walter, and he had issue Five Daughters; One Ellin that Married Robert le Bruse King of Scotland; 2. Elizabeth, that Married the Earl of Gloucester; 3. Johan, that Married Thomas Earl of Kildare; 4. Catherine, that Married the Earl of Louth; 5. Margaret, that Married the Earl of Desmond, the 6th. Ellinor, that Married with the Lord Multon; notwithstanding, these Honourable Matches and Amity concluded in the outward sight of the World; there Rose deadly Wars between the Giraldins and Burks, which wrought Blood-sheds and Troubles throughout the Realm of Ireland, at the same time the Fury of the Geraldins was so Outragious, insomuch, that Morice Fitz Maurice, the Second Earl of Desmond, opposed himself against the Sword, and took at Trifledermot, now called Castle-Dermock; Richard de Capella the Lord-Justice, Theobal le Butler and John or Millis de Cogan, and committed them to the Prisons in Leix and Donamus; but the Year following, Henry the Third not pleased with these Commotions and Hurly Burlies, by mature Advice taken of his Council, pacified the variance between them; Discharged Denny of his Justiceship, and appointed David Barry Lord-Justice in his Place.

David Barry
Lord-Justice,
Anno, 1267.

The Fryers
Preachers and Minors came to Ireland.

ANNO, 1267. David Barry took by the appointment of the King, the Sword of Justiceship and the Command of Ireland, and Quelled or Tamed (saith the English Anonymos) the insolent dealing of Morice Fitz Maurice, Cousin-german to Girald.

The same Year, saith (John Clinn) the Fryers Preachers, first of all settled themselves at Ross in Wexford, and the Minors at Kilkenny, and Two Years after at Clonmell.

ANNO, 1268. Conochur O Brian was slain by Dermot Mac Mo nard; and the same Year (saith Felcon and Clinn Maurice)

Maurice Fitz Gerald Earl of Desmond was drowned, crossing the Seas between England and Ireland, leaving behind him a Son and Heir, of the Age of Three Years and a half.

The same Year, Robert Ufford became Lord-Justice of Ireland, and began to build the Castle of Roscommon, ANNO, 1269. Richard de Excester was made Lord-Justice, who Died the same Year, together with his wife Margery de Say; the same Year (saith Florilegus) Othobone the Popes Legate, held a Council at Paul's in London, where he called before him the Clergy of England, Wales, Ireland and Scotland, and left among them certain constitutions, which were afterward commended by Linwood, and are at this Day in request, the which constitutions of Otho and Othobone, were afterwards confirmed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, in Edward 1. Reign. Hollinshead.

ANNO, 1270. The Lord James Audley was made Lord-Justice of Ireland, and Died with the fall of a Horse; in his time Florilegus and Hollinshead note, there was great commotion in Ireland, the Irish took Arms against the English, Burned, spoiled, destroyed, and slew as well the Magistrates as others. Clinn goeth more particularly to work, and delivereth how that the King of Connaught by force of Arms, in the plain field overthrew Walter Burk Earl of Ulster, who hardly escaped with Life, yet Died the Year following, and slew a great number of Nobles and Knights, that held with the Burk, and among others, by especial name, the Lord Richard Verdon, and the Lord John Verdon, and that there ensued over all Ireland great Famine and Pestilence, as the Sequel of Wars.

About this time, say our Antiquaries, the Bishop of Rome sent to Ireland, requiring the Tythes of all Spiritual promotions for Three Years to come, to maintain his Wars against the King of Aragon, the which was greatly murmured at, and gain-said; yet the Nuntio went not Empty away.

ANNO, 1272. The most Renowned King Henry the Third, having Lived 65 Years, and Reigned 56 and 28 Days, Ended his Days, and was Buried at Westminster. Edward, the First of that name, Son of King Henry the Third, surnamed Long-shanks, of the Age of 35 Years, began his Reign, Anno, 1272.

ANNO, 1272. And the First of Edward the First his Reign, Maurice Fitz Maurice was made Lord-Justice, in whose time the Irish brake out into Cruel Rebellion, Rased and Destroyed the Castles of Aldleek, Roscommon, Scheligath and Randon; this Maurice (saith Clynn) not long after was Betrayed by his own Followers in Ophaly, taken and imprisoned.

ANNO, 1273. The Lord Walter Genevill (who lately returned home from the Holy Land) was sent into Ireland, and appointed Lord-Justice: In his time (so write Dowling and Grace) the Scots and Red-shankes out of the Highlands, crossed the Seas, Burned Towns and Villages, most Cruelly, killed Man, Woman and Child, took

Anno Reg.
11.

Maurice Fitz Gerald Earl of Desmond drowned.
Robert Ufford Lord-Justice, Anno, 1268.
The Castle of Roscommon.
Ric. d. Excester Lord-Justice, Anno, 1269.
Othobone the Popes Legat.

James L. Audley Lord-Justice, Anno, 1270. The Irish rebels.

Maurice Fitz Maurice, Lord-Justice, Anno, 1272. Called Reck-fallath.

Walter Lord Genevill, Lord-Justice, Anno, 1273.

Anno Dom.
1273.

a great Prey, and returned Home afore the Country could make preparation to pursue them: But in a while after, to be Revenged of them, Ulster and Connaught Mustered a great Army, under the leading of Richardus de Burgo, and Sir Eustace le Poer, Knight, made after them, Entred the Islands and High-land of Scotland, slew as many as they could find, Burned their Cabbins and Cottages, and such as dwelt in Caves and Rooks under Ground (as the manner is to Den out Foxes) they Fired and Smothered them to Death, covering their Entrances into the Ground with great and Huge Stones, and so returned into Ireland.

ANNO, 1276. What time Thomas Clare came into Ireland, and Married the Daughter of Maurice Fitz Maurice. The Castle of Roscommon was taken by the Irish, and a great overthrow given unto the Englishmen at Glynburry (Glandelory, saith Clynn), where William Fitz Roger, Prior of the Kings Hospitallers, and many others, were taken Prisoners, and a great number of others were slain; at what time also Ralph Pepar, and Otholand gave O Neal a fore Battle.

Robert Ufford
Lord Justice,
Anno 1277.

ANNO, 1277. Walter Lord Genuill, was sent for into England. and Robert Ufford the second time took the Office of Justice ship; At this time Muridath or Murtagh, a Notable Rebel, was taken at the Noraght, by Gualter de Fam, and Executed: Thomas Clare likewise in this Rebellion slew O Bryan Roe, King of Thomond, and yet after this, the Irish drew such a Draught, that they closed him up in Slew-Banny, together with Maurice Fitz Maurice his Father-in-law, and all their Forces, until they gave Hostages to escape with their Lives, upon condition to make satisfaction for the Death of O Bryan, and his followers, and in the mean while to yield them up the Castle of Roscommon, although the conditions seemed hard and prejudicial to the Kings Majesty, yet were they driven for safeguard of their Lives to condescend thereunto. In this rebellious season, to clear himself, that in his own person he came not to Daunt the Enemy, Robert Ufford the Lord-Justice was sent for into England, who Substituted in his Room, one Fryer Robert Fulborn, Bishop of Waterford, who when he had cleared himself, came and resigned his place of Justiceship.

Robert Ufford
going into England, substituted
Fulborn
Bishop of Waterford.

ANNO, 1278. There Rose Civil Wars, no better then Rebellion, between Mac Dermot de Moylargo, and Cathgur O Conghor, King of Connaught, where there was great Slaughter and Blood-shed on both sides, and the King of Connaught slain. Raphael Holinshee in his Irish Collection thinketh that there were slain at that time, above Two Thousand Persons. The King of England hearing thereof, was mightily displeased with the Lord-Justice, and sent for him into England, to yield Reason why he would permit such shameful Enormities under his government. Robert Ufford substituted Robert Fulborn (as before) satisfied the King that all was not true that he was charged withal, and for further contentment, yielded this reason, that in policy he thought it expedient to wink at one knave cutting off another, and that would save the Kings Coffers, and purchase peace to the Land. Whereat the King smiled, and bid him return to Ireland. (Stowe)

(Now, is mine Author) King Edward commanded groats of Four pence a piece, Pence, Half-pence, and farthings to be coined, and to be currant through England and Ireland, not decrying the old; whereupon faith he, these Verses were made.

Edward did smite Round Peny, Half-peny Farthing,
The cross passes the bond, of all throughout the Ring:
The Kings side was his head, and his name written,
The cross side, what City it was made in, coined and smitten.
The poor man ne to Prielt, the Peny trayfes nothing,
Men given God ay the least, they fealt him with a farthing:
A Thousand Two Hundred, Fourscore Years and mo,
On this money men wondred, when it first began to go.

The City of Waterford faith Clyn, through some Foul mischance was all set on fire; others report, that some Merchant stranger being wronged, as they thought, by the Citizens, brought baggs of powder out of their ships, and threw them in the night season, in at their feller windows, and coals of fire after them, and spoiled the City in that sort, that it was long after e'er they could recover themselves.

Robert Fulborn, Bishop of Waterford, was by direction from the King, ordained Lord-Justice of Ireland. This Year there was a great Rebellion in Connaught, and in Upper-Ossory, and in Archloe, which cost many mens lives, but the ringleaders were cut off. Adam Cusack slew William Barret and his Brethren, which contended about Lands. In Connaught, Hogken Mac Gill Patrick was cut off; in Upper-Ossory, Muntough Mac Muroch, with Art: his brother, lost their heads at Wickloe, another faith at Archloe, so Clyn and Dowling do report.

It is Remembred by Clyn and others) that a great part of Dublin was burned. Campanile & Capitulum sanctæ Trinitatis, faith mine Author, the Belfry or Steeple and Chapter house of the blessed Trinity, with the Dormiture and Cloyster. Others write that certain Scots to be revenged upon some Citizens for wronging of them, set Skinner-Row a Fire, and by that means the Fire Ran into Christ-Church, but the Citizens of Dublin (therein greatly to be commended) before they went about to repair their own private houses, agreed together to make a collection for repairing the Ruin of that Antient Church.

Flourished Jeffery, or (as Clynn writeth) Galfridus de sancto Leodegario, Bishop of Ossory, the Secoud founder of the Cathedral Church of St. Canicus, and the First founder of the Colledge of the Vicars of the same Church, who gave unto the Colledge and Vicars of the same Church, for the maintenance of Divine Service, his Manse and Lodging, with the Edifices thereunto adjoyning the Rectory of Kilkeesh, and Revenue de manubrinnio, One Mark sterling, of the Abbor of Duisk, for the Land of Scomberloway with other Revenues. The said Jeffery by combate (the combatants I find not Recorded) Anno, 1284. Recovered the Mannor of Sirekeran in Elly, now O Carrolls Country. He builded part of the Mannors of Aghboo and Dorogh, he builded a great part of the Church of Saint Canicus, formerly begun by Hugh Mapilton his Predecessor, he exchanged the Town Scomkarthy, for the Town of Killamerry, with William Marshal the Anno Reg.

XXXI.

Anno 1279.
The groats, pence, half-pence, and farthings were made.

Anno, 1280.
Waterford
burned.

Robert Ful-born Lord-
Justice of Ireland. Anno, 1281.

Anno, 1283.
Dublin burned.

Anno, 1284.
Galfridus de sancto Leodegario.

Anno Dom.

1273.

Earl of Penbroke, in his kind of Devotion he enjoyed the Collegiat Vicars of Kilkenny, to Celebrate the Univerfary and Aniverfary of the Reverend Fathers his Predecessors, Walter Barkeley, Galfrid, Turvill, Hugh Mapilton and others, and his Successors and Cannons in the faid Church of Offory. He Eftablifhed other things for the good of the Burgefles of Crofs:... in the Irish Town of Kilkenny, as in the Foundation of the Burgefles there more at large doth appear: He Died Anno 1286. And Lieth Buried before the Chappel of our Lady, in the Cathedral Church.

Anno, 1285.

The Lord Theobald Butler fled from Dublin, and Died fhortly after; and the Lord Theobald Verdon loft his Men and Horfes, going towards Ophaly, and the next Morning, Gerald Fitz Maurice was taken prifoner, and John Samford was confecrated Archbishop of Dublin, and the Lord Jeffery Genevill fled, and Sir Gerard Duget, and Ralph Petit were flain.

Anno, 1287.

Deceased Richard Decetir, Gerald Fitz Maurice, Thomas de Clare, Richard Taffe, and Nicholas Teling Knights.

Anno, 1288.

In England a Bushel of Wheat was at Four pence. And Fryer Stephen Fulborn Lord-Justice of Ireland Died. And John Samford Archbishop of Dublin was made Lord-Justice. And the Lord Richard Bourgh Earl of Ulster, Befieged Theobald Verdon in the Castle of Aloan, and came to Trim with a great power by the working of Walter Lacy.

Anno, 1290.

Was the chafe or difcomfiture of Ophaly, and divers Englifhmen were flain. And Mac Coghlan flew Omolaghlin. And William Bourgh was difcomfited at Delvin by Mac Coghlan. And Gilbert Earl of Gloucefter, Married the Daughter of King John le Bayloll, King of Scotland. And Sir William Vefcy was made Lord-Justice of Ireland.

Anno, 1294.

Deceased John de Samford, Archbishop of Dublin, and John Fitz Thomas, and John de la Mare took Prifoners, Richard Bourgh Earl of Ulster, and William Bourgh in Meath. And the Castle of Kildare was taken, and by the Englifh and Irish, the whole Country was wafted. And Calwagh Burnt all the Rolls and Tallies of that County. And Richard was delivered out of the Castle of Leye for his two Sons. And John Fitz Thomas with a great Army, came into Meath.

Anno, 1295.

William Dodinfell Lord-Justice of Ireland Died, and the Lord Thomas Fitz Maurice was made Lord-Justice.

Anno, 1296.

Fryer William de Hothum was confecrated Archbishop of Dublin.

Anno, 1298.

The Lord Thomas Fitz Maurice Died; and an agreement was made betwixt the Earl of Ulster, and the Lord John Fitz Thomas: And Sir John VVagon was made Lord-Justice of Ireland.

Anno, 1299.

William, Archbishop of Dublin Died: and Richard de Feringes was confecrated Archbishop of Dublin.

Anno, 1302.

The King of England (Edward the Firft) went into Scotland, and there Sir John VVagon Lord-Justice of Ireland, and the Lord John Fitz Thomas, with many others met with him.

Anno, 1305.

King Edward made the inquisitions of Treylbafon. The fame Year Jordan Comin flew Conthir de Ophaly: and Calwagh his brother was flain in the Court of Peirs de Birmingham at Carrick: and Baltymore was Burnt.

Ann, 1306.

THE ANNALS OF IRELAND,

During the REIGN of

KING EDWARD THE SECOND.

Anno Domini MCCCVI.

EDWARD the Second succeeded, his Father being dead, in the Kingdom. In the beginning of his Reign he call'd back from beyond the Seas, Peirs de Gaviston, whose company in the presence of his Father he abjured; and being wholly taken up with him, he neglected Isabell his Queen, and his Nobles; for which cause the Nobles being offended, they banished the said Peirs into Ireland, where also the King's Treasure that was sent over thither was wantonly consumed. Then Peirs was call'd back again, but in regard the King's Treasure was spent, as aforesaid; the Nobles made an Insurrection, and put away Peirs from the King.

And in the Second year of King Edward the Second, Peirs de Gaviston, by the Lords of England, but contrary to the King's mind, was banished into Ireland, about the Nativity of our Lady: But the next year he was call'd back again, and the King met him at Chester.

The Lord Jeffry Genvill became a Fryar at Trim, of the order of the Preachers; and the Lord Peirs de Bermingham died.

This year was Consecrated John Leeke, Archbishop of Dublin: And Richard Bourgh, Earl of Ulster, with a great Army went to Bonrath in Thomond, and there he was taken Prisoner by Sir Robert de Clare, and John Fitz-Walter, Lacy, and many others, were slain: And there Died Sir Walter la Faint, and Sir Eustace Power. And the next year, Maurice Fitz-Thomas, and Thomas Fitz-John, Married two Daughters of the Earl of Ulster. And St. Fingay was Translated; and William de Loundres the first, and John the Son of Sir Ri- chard

P *

Anno 1306.

1308.

1309.

1311.

chard Bourgh, Kt. deceased, and the Lord Edmond Butler made 30 Knights.

Anno

1313.

This year died John Leek, Archbishop of Dublin, and Theobald Verdon came over Lord Justice of Ireland, William de Montency and Richard Loundres died.

1315.

The Lord Edward Bruse, Brother of the King of Scots, enter'd the North part of Ulster with a great Army, upon St. Augustin's day, in the Month of May; and afterward he burnt Dundalk, and a great part of Urgil: And the Church of Athirde was burnt by the Irish: And in the War of Comeram in Ulster, Richard Earl of Ulster was put to Flight: Sir William Bourgh, Sir John Mandevill, and Sir Alan Fitz-Warren were taken Prisoners, and the Castle of Norburgh was taken. Moreover at Kenlis in Meath the Lord Roger Mortimer in the War, together with the said Edward, were put to Flight, and many of the Men of the said Roger were slain and taken Prisoners, and he burnt the Town: After this he went as far as Finnagh, and the Skerries, in Leinster; and there Encounter'd Edmond Butler Lord-Justice of Ireland, the Lord John Fitz-Thomas, afterward Earl of Kildare, and the Lord Arnald Power; and every one of them had a great Army to War against him: And upon a sudden there arose a dissention amongst them, and so they left the Field, and this dissention happen'd upon the 26th day of January: After this he burnt the Castle of Leye, and afterward he returned into Ulster, and Besieged the Castle of Knockfergus, and slew Thomas Mandevil, and John his Brother, at Down, coming out of England, and then returned into Scotland.

1316.

Edward Bruse, before Easter, came into Ireland with the Earl of Murry, and other Armies, and Besieged the Castle of Knockfergus; afterward they went to Castle-Knock, and there took the Baron Prisoner, and Edward Bruse lay there: And Richard Earl of Ulster lay in St. Mary's Abby near Dublin. Then the Major and Commonalty of the City of Dublin, took the Earl of Ulster Prisoner, and put him in the Castle of Dublin, slew his Men, and spoiled the Abby. Then the said Bruse went as far as Limerick after the Feast of St. Mathew the Apostle, and stay'd there till after Easter; and in the meantime Roger Mortimer the King's Lieutenant, Landed at Waterford with a great Army, and for fear of him, Edward Bruse made haste to go into the parts of Ulster, and John Fitz-Thomas was Created Earl of Kildare: Also O Conthir of Conaught, and many other of the Irish of Conaught and Meath, were slain, near Athenry, by the English there: Also there was a great slaughter made by Edmond Butler, near Testildermot upon the Irish: And another slaughter by the same Edmond upon Omorthie, at Balitcham.

1317.

The said Lieutenant delivered the Earl of Ulster out of the Castle of Dublin, and after Whisontide, he Banished out of Meath Sir Walter, and Sir Hugh de Lacy, and gave their Lands unto his Soldiers, and they together with Edward Bruse went back into Scotland: Alexander Bignor, was Consecrated Archbishop of Dublin.

1318.

The Lord Robert Mortimer went again into England, and Alexander Bignor was made Lord-Justice, and Edward Bruse and the said Walter

Walter and Hugh de Lucy with a great Army, Landed at Dundalk upon St. Calixtus the Pope's day; and there the Lord John Birmingham, Richard Tute and Miles Verdon, with One Thousand Three Hundred Twenty Four Men Encountred them, and slew the said Edward Bruse, with Eight Thousand Two Hundred Seventy Four of his Men; and the said John Birmingham did carry the Head of the said Edward into England, and gave it to King Edward, and the King gave unto the said John and his Heirs Male, the Earldom of Louth, and the Barony of Atherdee; also Sir Richard de Clare, with Four Knights, and many others, were slain in Thomond.

The Lord Roger Mortimer came over again Lord Justice of Ireland. And the Town of Athessell and Plebs, were burned by the Lord John Fitz-Thomas, Brother to the Lord Maurice Fitz-Thomas. And the Bridge of Kilculin was built by Maurice Jakis.

The Lord John Fitz-John, Earl of Kildare, was made Lord Justice. And the Bridge of Loughlin was Built by Maurice Jakis.

There was a very great slaughter made of the O Connors at Ballybogan, by the English of Leinster and Meath. And the said Earl of Louth was made Lord Justice.

This year died the Lord Richard Birmingham, Lord of Athenry: the Lord Edmond Butler, and the Lord Thomas Perswall. Moreover the Lord Andrew Birmingham, and Sir Richard de la Londe, were slain by O Nolan.

John Darcy came over Lord Justice of Ireland.

This year deceased Nicholas Fitz-Simon Conwill.

This year likewise, the Lord Richard Earl of Ulster died.

Anno

1319.

1320.

1321.

1322.

1323.

1325.

1326.

THE

THE ANNALS OF IRELAND,

During the REIGN of

KING EDWARD THE THIRD.

Anno Domini MCCCXXVI

Anno
1326.

EWARD the Third, Son to Edward the Second, after the Conquest, at Fifteen years of Age, in his Fathers Life-time, was Crown'd at Westminster on Candlemas-day. In the beginning of whose Reign, there was great likelihood of good Success to follow: For the Earth receiv'd Fruitfulness, the Air Temperature, and the Sea Calmness.

1327.

Donald, Son to Art, Mac-Morogh, and Sir Henry Traharn were taken Prisoners.

1328.

This year deceased the Lord Thomas Fitz-John Earl of Kildare, the Lord Arnold Power, and William Earl of Ulster came into Ireland.

1329.

John Birmingham Earl of Louth, and Peter his Brother, with many other, were slain on Whitson-Eve; at Balibragan, by the Men of the Country: Also the Lord Thomas Butler, and divers other Noble-men were slain by Macgobegan, and other Irish-men, near to Molingar.

1330.

This year died Sir Richard Deicetir. The Earl of Ulster went with a great Army into Munster against Obren: Also the Prior of the Hospital, then Lord Justice, put the Lord Maurice Fitz-Thomas Earl of Desmond, into the custody of the Marshal, out of the which he escaped. And Sir Hugh de Lacy returned into Ireland, and obtained peace of the King.

1331.

The Earl of Ulster went into England, and great slaughter was made upon the Irish in Okenlie; Also the Castle of Arcloe was taken by the Irish, and a great slaughter made of the English in the Cowlagh by Ototbell, where Sir Philip Bryt, and many others were slain; slain; and the Lord Anthony Lacy came over Lord Justice of Ireland, and great slaughter was made of the Irish at Thurles, by the Men of the Country, and at Finnath in Meath; there were many of them slain by the English; also the Castle of Fernis was taken and burned by the Irish; and Maurice Fitz-Thomas, Earl of Desmond, was apprehended at Limerick by the Lord Justice, upon the day of the Assumption, and sent unto the Castle of Dublin. Moreover, the Lord Justice took Sir William Birmingham, and Walter his Son, at Clonmel, by a wile, whilst he was sick in his Bed, and sent them to Dublin-Castle the 19th of April.

Sir William Birmingham was hanged at Dublin, but Walter his Son was deliver'd, by reason he was within orders. Also the Castle of Clonmore was taken by the English, and the Castle of Bonrath was destroyed by the Irish at Thomond; and Henry Mandevill was sent Prisoner to Dublin: Likewise Walter Burgh, with two of his Brethren were taken in Conaught, by the Earl of Ulster, and sent to the Castle of Norburgh; and the said Lord Justice was deposed by the King, and went into England with his Wife and Children; and John Darcy was made Lord Justice, and great slaughter was made upon Bren Obren and Mac Carty in Munster, by the English of the Country.

The Earl of Desmond, by the Parliament held at Dublin, was sent over into England unto the King; and William Earl of Ulster, in going toward Knockfergus, upon the seventh day of June, was Treacherously slain near to the Foords in Ulster, by his own People: but his Wife, with his Daughter and Heir, escaped into England; which Daughter was married to the Lord Lionell, the King's Son, and afterward died at Dublin, and had a Daughter and Heir, which was afterward married unto Roger Mortimer, Earl of March, and Lord of Trim. And to revenge the death of the said Earl, the Lord Justice of Ireland, with a great Army, went into Ulster. But before he came thither, the Men of that Country had done the Revenge: and the Lord Justice, with his Army, went into Scotland to the King of England; because at that time he was there in War; and he left the Lord Thomas Burgh his Lieutenant in Ireland. And on St. Margaret's Eve great slaughter was made in Scotland by the Irish; And so what by the King in one part, and the Lord Justice in another, Scotland was Conquered, and Edward Balioll was Established King of Scotland; and John Darcy came back Lord Justice of Ireland, and delivered Walter Birmingham out of the Castle of Dublin.

On St. Laurence-day, the Irish of Conaught were discomfitted and put to flight by the English of the Country there, and there was slain ten Thousand and one English-man.

And in the sixteenth of King Edward the 3d. Pope Benedict deceased; Clement the sixth succeeded, a Man truly of great Learning, but exceeding prodigal, so that he would bestow upon his Cardinals Church-Livings in England when they were vacant, and would go about to impose new Titles for them. For which cause the King of England about the year 1344, disannull'd the Provisions so 1332.

Anno

1333.

1336.

1342.

made by the Pope, interdicting upon pain of Imprisonment, and death, that none should bring any of them.

Anno. This year there was a great Mortality in all places, especially in 1348. and about the Court of Rome, Avinion, and about the Sea-Coasts of England and Ireland.

1349. This year Alexander Bignor, died, upon the 14th day of July, and the same year John de St. Paul was Consecrated Lord Archbishop of Dublin.

1355. This year died Maurice Fitz-Thomas, Earl of Desmond, Lord Justice of Ireland.

1356. And this year Deceased the Lord Thomas de Rokesbie, Lord Justice of Ireland.

1357. Began great variance betwixt Master Richard Fitz-Ralph, Primate of Ardmagh, and the four Orders of Begging-Fryars.

1360. Richard Archbishop of Ardmagh died the 17th day of the Kalends of December, in the Popes Court, and Richard Kilminton died in England, therefore the Controversy ceased betwixt the Clergy and the Orders of the Begging-Fryars.

1361. And in the Thirty Fourth year of King Edward 3. about Easter, began a great Mortality of Men, consuming many Men, but few Women, in England and Ireland. Also the same year, the Lord Lionell, Son to King Edward 3. Duke of Clarence, came over the King's Lieutenant into Ireland.

1362. This year deceased, John de St. Paul, Archbishop of Dublin, on the Fifth day before the Ides of September.

1363. The next year Tho. Minot was Consecrated Archbishop of Dublin.

1369. The Lord Will. Windsor came over the King's Lieutenant in Ireland.

1370. There was a third Pestilence in Ireland. And the Lord Gerald Fitz-Maurice, Earl of Desmond, and the Lord John Fitz-Richard, and the Lord John Fitz-John, and many other Noble Men, were taken Prisoners, with many others, who were slain by Obren and Maccoinnard of Thomond, in the Month of July.

1372. Sir Robert Asheton came over Lord Justice of Ireland.

1373. There was a great War betwixt the English of Meath and Offord; in which War, many on both sides were slain.

1375. Thomas, Archbishop of Dublin, departed this Life, and the same year was Richard de Wikesford Consecrated Archbishop there.

1377. This year King Edward the III. died, in the 64th year of his Age, having Reigned 51 years. And Richard the II. succeeded him, being Grandson to King Edward.

1381. Edmond Mortimer, the King's Lieutenant in Ireland, Earl of March and Ulster, died at Cork.

1383. The fourth great Pestilence was in Ireland.

1385. Dublin-Bridge fell.

1387. About Martilmas the Peers of England rose against those that were of the side of King Richard the 2d. But Robert Veer, Duke of Ireland, came over to Chester, and got together many men, and put them in array to march back toward the King: whom the said Peers met at Rotcotebridge, and slue Thomas Molleners, and spoiled the rest. Nevertheless the Duke of Ireland escaped. But in the same same year on the morrow after Candlemas-day, a Parliament began at London, in which was adjudged the Archbishop of York, the Duke of Ireland, the Earl of Suffolk, &c.

Four Lord Justices of England were banished into Ireland, by a Decree of Parliament; and it was not lawful for them either to make Laws, or to give counsell; upon pain of the sentence of Death.

Anno.
1388.

Robert de Wikeford, Archbishop of Dublin, departed this life, and the same year was Robert Waldebie Translated unto the Archbishoprick of Dublin, being an Augustine Fryar.

1390.

And in the Seventeenth year of K. Richard II. died Anne Queen of England. And the same year about Michaelmas, the King crossed the Sea over into Ireland, and landed at Waterford the Second day of the Month of October, and went back about Sbrevetide.

1394.

Fryar Richard de Northalis, of the order of the Carmelites, was Translated to the Archbishoprick of Dublin, and died the same year. This year also Thomas de Craulie, was Consecrated Archbishop of Dublin. And Sir Thomas Burgh, and Sir Walter Birmingham slew Six Hundred Irish-men, with their Captain Macdowne. Moreover, Edmund Earl of March, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, with the Aid of the Earl of Ormond, wasted Obren's Country, and at the winning of his chief House, he made Seven Knights, to wit, Sir Cristopher Preston, Sir John Bedlow, Sir Edmond Loundres, Sir John Loundres, Sir William Nugent, Walter de la Hide, and Robert Cadell.

1397.

And in the Twenty Second year of K. Richard the II. on the Ascension-day, the Totbillis slew Forty English-men, among whom these were accounted as principal, John Fitz-Williams, Thomas Talbot, and Thomas Comyn. This year, on St. Margarets-day, Edmond Earl of March, the King's Lieutenant, was slain, with divers others, by Obren, and other Irish-men at Kenlis in Leinster. Then was Roger Grey Elected Lord Justice of Ireland. The same year on the Feast day of St Mark, the Pope and Confessor, came to Dublin, the Noble Duke of Surrey, the King's Lieutenant in Ireland, and with him came Thomas Crauly, Archbishop of Dublin.

1398.

And in the Twenty Third year of King Richard II. on Sunday, being the Morrow after St. Petronilla the Vigins-day, the Illustrious King Richard landed at Waterford with Two Hundred Ships, and the Fryday after, at Ford in Kenlis, in the County of Kildare, there were slain, Two Hundred Irish-men by Jenicho, and other English-men, and the Morrow after, the Citizens of Dublin broke into Obren's Country, slew Three and Thirty of the Irish, and took Fourscore Men, Women and Children. This year also King Richard came to Dublin upon the Fourth Kalends of July, where he was advertiz'd of the coming of Henry Duke of Lancaster into England; whereupon he also speedily went into England: And a little while after, the same King, was taken Prisoner by the said Henry, and brought to London, and there a Parliament was held the Morrow after Michaelmas day, in which King Richard was Deposed from his Kingdom, and the said Henry Duke of Lancaster, was Crown'd King of England, on the Feast-day of St. Edward the Confessor.

1399.

THE ANNALS
OF IRELAND,
During the REIGN of
KING HENRY
THE FOURTH.

Anno Domini MCCCC.

Anno.
1400.

IN the First Year of the Reign of King Henry the Fourth, at Whitsontide, the Constable of Dublin-Castle, and divers others, at Stranford in Ulster, fought the Scots at Sea, where many English Men were Slain and Drown'd. The same year, on the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary, King Henry, with a great Army, entered Scotland, and there he was Advertized that Owen Glendor, with the Welsh-men, had taken up Arms against him; for which cause he hasten'd his Journey into Wales.

1401.

In the Second year of King Henry the IV. Sir John Stanley, the King's Lieutenant, in the Month of May, went over into England, leaving in his room Sir William Stanley. The same year, on Bartholomew-Eve, arrived in Ireland, Stephen Scroope, Lieutenant to the Lord Thomas of Lancaster, the King's Lieutenant of Ireland. This year also on St. Brices-Day, the Lord Thomas of Lancaster, the King's Son, and Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, arrived at Dublin.

1402.

On the fifth Ides of July, was the Dedication of the Church of the Fryars Preachers in Dublin, by the Archbishop thereof. And the same day the Major of Dublin, Namely, John Drake, with the Citizens and Townsmen, slew of the Irish, near Brea, Four Hundred Ninety Three, being all Men of War. The same year, in September, a Parliament was held at Dublin; during the which, Sir Bartholomew Verdon Kt. James White, Stephen Gernon, and their complices, in Urgile, slew John Dowdall, Sheriff of Louth.

1403.

In the Fourth year of King Henry, in the Month of May, Sir Walter Betterly, Steward of Ulster, a Valiant Knight, was slain, and to the the Number of Thirty with him. The same year, on St. Maudlin's-Eve, near to Shrewsberry, a Battle was fought between King Henry, and Henry Percy, and Thomas Percy then Earl of Worcester; which Percies were slain, and on both sides there were Six Thousand and more fell in the Battle. The same year also, about Mar-temas, the Lord Thomas of Lancaster, the King's Son, went over into England, leaving Stephen Scroop his Deputy here: Who, in the beginning of Lent, Sailed over into England, and then the Lords, of the Land Chose the Earl of Ormond to be Lord-Justice of Ireland.

In the Fifth year of King Henry, John Colton, Archbishop of Ar-magh, departed this Life on the fifth of May, whom Nicholas Flem-ming Succeeded. This year likewise, on the day of St. Vitall the Martyr, the Parliament began at Dublin, before the Earl of Ormond, then Justice of Ireland, where the Statutes of Kilkenny and Dublin were confirmed, and likewise the Charter of Ireland. This same year Patrick Savage was Treacherously slain in Ulster, by Mac-Kil-mori, and his Brother Richard was given for a Pledge, who was Mur-der'd in Prison, after he had paid Two Thousand Marks. And on Mar-temas day, deceased Nicholas Houth, Lord of Houth, a Man of singular Honesty.

In the Sixth year of King Henry, in the Month of May, three Scottish Barks were taken, two at Greencastle, and one at Dalkay, with Captain Thomas MacGolagh. This year the Merchants of Drogheda enter'd Scotland, and took Pledges and Preys. The same year on the Eve of the Feast of the Seven Brethren, Oghgard was burnt by the Irish. In the Month of June, Stephen Scroop crossed the Sea into England, leaving the Earl of Ormond Lord-Justice of Ireland. In the Month of June also, they of Dublin entred Scotland at St. Ninian, and valiantly behaved themselves; and afterward they enter'd Wales, and there did much hurt to the Welsh-men, and brought away the Shrine of S. Cubius and placed it in the Church of the Holy Trinity in Dublin. The same year on the Eve of the Feast of the Blessed Virgin, James But-ler, Earl of Ormond, died at Raligauran, (whose Death was much la-mented) whilest he was Lord-Justice of Ireland, unto whom Girald Earl of Kildare Succeeded.

In the Seventh year of King Henry, on Corpus Christi-day, the Ci-tizens of Dublin, with the Country People about them, Manfully Vanquished the Irish Enemies, and slew divers of them; and took two Ensigns, bringing with them to Dublin, the Heads of those that they had slain. This year the Prior of Conall, in the Plain of Kildare, fought Valiantly, and Vanquish'd Two Hundred of the I-rish that were well Armed, slaying some of them, and chasing others; and the Pryor had not with him, but Twenty English-Men. After Michaelmas, came into Ireland, Scroop, Deputy Justice to the Lord Thomas of Lancaster, the King's Son, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. This year died Innocent the Seventh, and Gregory Succeeded him in the Popedom. A Parliament was held at Dublin, on the Feast of St. Hillary, which in the Lent after was ended at Trim, and Meiler Birmingham slew Cathole O Conghir, in the end of February; and there died Sir Jeffery Vaulx, a Noble Knight in the County of Car-lough.

Anno.
1404.

Nicholas Lord of Houth died.

1405.

1406.

Anno.

1407.

A certain false fellow, an Irish-Man, Named Mac Adam Mac Gilmore, that had caused Forty Churches to be destroyed, who was never Baptized, and therefore he was call'd Corbi; took Patrick Savage Prisoner, and received for his Ransom Two Thousand Marks, and afterwards slew him, together with his Brother Richard.

The same year, in the Feast of the Exaltation of the Holy Cross, Stephen Scroop, Deputy to the Lord Thomas of Lancaster, the King's Son, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, with the Earls of Ormond and Desmond, and the Prior of Kilmainham, and divers other Captains, and Men of War of Meath, set from Dublin, and invaded the land of Mac Murch, where the Irish had the better part of the Field for the former part of the day, but afterwards they were valiantly rescued by the said Captains, so that Onolad, with his Son, and divers others, were taken Prisoners. But being inform'd that the Burkens and Carol, in the County of Kilkenny, had for the space of two days together done much mischief, they rod with all speed to the Town of Callan, and there encountring with the Adversaries, manfully put them to flight, slue Carol, and eight hundred others; and it was averr'd by many that the Sun stood still for a space that day, till the English-men had rod 6 Miles, which was much wondered at.

The same year Stephen Scroop went over into England, and James Butler Earl of Ormond, was Elected by the Country, Lord Justice of Ireland.

The same year, in England, near to York, was slain Henry Piercy, Earl of Northumberland, and the Lord Bardolf, and the Bishop of Bangor, were taken Prisoners.

1408

The said Lord Justice held a Parliament at Dublin, in which the Statutes of Kilkenny and Dublin were Established, and the Charter Granted under the Great Seal of England against Purveyors.

The same year, the morrow after Lammas-day, the Lord Thomas of Lancaster, the King's Son, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, landed at Carlingford, and in the following week he came to Dublin, and Arrested the Earl of Kildare, coming to him with three of his Family: He lost all his Goods, being spoiled and rifled by the Lord Lieutenant's Servants, but he kept still in the Castle of Dublin, till he paid 300 Marks fine.

The same year on the day of St. Marcell the Martyr, the Lord Stephen Scroop died at Tristledermot.

The same year the said Lord Thomas of Lancaster was wounded at Kilmainham, and hardly escaped death; And after caused Summons to be given by Proclamation, that all such as ought by their Tenures to serve the King, should assemble at Ross. And after the Feast of St. Hillary, he held a Parliament at Kilkenny, for a Tallage to be granted; And after the 13th of March, he went over into England, leaving the Prior of Kilmainham his Deputy in Ireland.

This year Hugh Mc. Gilmore was slain in Carigfergus, within the Church of the Fryars Minors, which Church he had before destroy'd, and broke down the Glafs-Windows, to have the Iron-Bars, thro' which his Enemies the Savages entred upon him.

Of King Henry the Fourth, in June, Janico de Artois, with the Englishmen, slue fourscore of the Irish in Ulster.

Anno.
1409.

The same year, on the day of St. John and Paul, Alexander the Fifth of the Fryars Minors, was Consecrated Pope, and Pope Gregory and Antipope Clemens were Condemned for Hereticks.

The same year a Heretick, or Lollard of London, was burned for not believing the Sacrament of the Altar.

Pope Alexander died, on the day of the Apostles Philip and Jacob, at Bononia; to whom succeeded John the XXIII.

1410.

On Thursday before Septuagesima, Marriage was Celebrated betwixt William Preston, and the Daughter of Edward Paris; And on Saint Valentines Even and Day, Mariages were Celebrated between John Wogan, and the Daughter of Christopher Preston and Walter de la Hide, and the second Daughter of the same Christopher, with a great deal of Charges.

1411.

About the Feast of Tiburtius and Valerianus, O Connor did much mischief in Meath, and took a hundred and threescore Englishmen.

1412.

The same year Odoles, a Knight, and Thomas Fitz-Maurice, Sheriff of Limerick, slew each other.

The same year on the Ninth of the Kalends of June, died Robert Mountaine, Bishop of Meath, to whom succeeded Edward Dandissey, sometimes Archdeacon of Cornwall.

The same year in Harvest, the Lord Thomas of Lancaster, Duke of Clarence, went over into France, and with him went the Duke of York, the Earl of Ormond and Green-Cornwall, with many others.

The same year, on St. Gilbert's-day, King Henry IV. departed this Life. And Henry V. succeeded, being his Eldest Son.

THE ANNALS
OF IRELAND,
During the REIGN of
KING HENRY
THE FIFTH.

Anno Domini MCCCCXIII.

Anno.
1413.

ON the Fifth Ides of April, Namely, the First Sunday of the Passion of our Lord, A. being the Dominical Letter, Henry V. was Crown'd at Westminster.

The same year, on the first of October, landed at Clontarf in Ireland, John Stanley, the King's Lieutenant in Ireland. He departed this life the 18th of January:

The same year, after the death of John Stanley, Lieutenant, Thomas Crawley, Archbishop of Dublin, was chosen Lord Justice of Ireland, on the 11th of the Kalends of February: The morrow after St. Mathias-day, a Parliament began at Dublin, and continued for the space of 15 days, In which time the Irish burned all that stood in their way, as their usual Custom was in times of other Parliaments; whereupon a Tallage was demanded, but not Granted.

1414.

* Now call'd Castle-Dermot.

The English slew One Hundred of the Irish of the O Mores, and ODempsey, near to Kilka, (Thomas Crawley, Archbishop of Dublin, then Lord Justice of Ireland, in * Tristledermot, praying in Proceffion with his Clergy). On the Feast of St. Gordian and Epimachus, the English of Meath were discomfited, and there Thomas Manravad, Baron of Skrine, was Slain, and Christopher Fleming and John Dardis taken Prisoners, and many others were Slain by O Connor and the Irish. On St. Martin's Eve Sir John Talbot, Lord Furnivall, the King's Lieutenant in Ireland landed at Dalkey.

1415.

In the Month of November, a right Noble Man that Walled the Suburbs of Kilkenny, departed this Life; and after Hallontide Fryar Patrick Baret, Bishop of Fernes, a Canon of Kenlis, died, and was buried there.

On

On the Feast-day of St. Gervasius and Prothasius, the Lord Furnival, Lord Justice of Ireland, had a Son Born at Finglass. About this time Stephen Fleming, Archbishop of Armagh, a Venerable Man died, after whom Succeeded John Swayn: And the same time died the Lord and Fryar Adam Leins, of the Order of Preaching Fryars, Bishop of Ardagh. On the day of St. Laurence the Martyr, the Lord Furnival's Son, Thomas Talbot, that was Born at Finglass, departed this Life, and was Buried in the Choir of the Fryars-Preachers Church in Dublin. About the same time the Irish fell upon the English and slew many of them, among whom Thomas Balimore of Baliquelan was one. The Parliament, which the last year had been call'd and held at Dublin, was this year removed to Trim, and there began the 11th of May, when it continu'd for the space of Eleven days, in the which was Granted unto the Lord Lieutenant a Subsidy of 400 Marks.

Anno.
1416.

Upon May-Eve Thomas Cranly, Archbishop of Dublin, went over into England, and deceased at Faringdon, but his Body was Buried at the New Colledge at Oxford; this Man is greatly praised for his Liberality, he was a good Alms-man, a great Clerk, a Doctor of Divinity, an Excellent Preacher, a great Builder, Beautiful, Courteous of a Sanguine Complexion, and of a tall Stature; Insomuch as in his time it might be said unto him; Thou art Fairer than the Sons of Men, Grace and Eloquence proceedeth from thy Lips. He was 80 years of Age when he died, and had Govern'd the Church of Dublin almost 20 years in great quiet.

1417.

The Annunciation of our Lady was in Easter-Week, and shortly after the Lord Deputy Spoiled the Tenants of Henry Cruse, and Henry Bethat; Also at Slain upon the Feast day of St. John and St. Paul, the Earl of Kildare, Sir Christopher Preston, and Sir John Bedlow were Arrested and Committed to Ward within the Castle of Trim, because they sought to Commune with the Prior of Kilmainham. Upon the 29th of June Mathew Hussey, Baron of Galtrim, deceased, and was Buried in the Convent of the Fryars-Preachers of Trim.

1418.

Upon the 11th of May died Edmund Brel, sometime Mayor of Dublin, and was Buried at the Fryars-Preachers of the same City. A Royal Council was held at the Naas, where were Granted unto the Lord Lieutenant 300 Marks. At the same time died Sir John Loundre, Kt.

1419.

The same year upon *Cene-Thursd*ay, O Tool took 400 Cows belonging to Balimore, breaking the Peace, contrary to his Oath. The 4th of the Ides of May, *Mac Morth*e, chief Captain of his Nation, and of all the Irish in Leinster, was taken Prisoner. And the same day was Sir *Hugh Coke*sy made Kt. The last of May, the Lord Lieutenant and the Archbishop of Dublin, with the Mayor, razed the Castle of Kenini. The Morrow after the Feast of Processus and Martinianus, the Lord William de Burgh, and other English men slew 500 of the Irish, and took O Kelly. On the Feast-day of Mary Magdalen, the Lord Lieutenant, John Talbot, went over into England, leaving his Deputy the Archbishop of Dublin, carrying along with him the Curses of many, because he being run much in Debt for

Anno.
1419.

Viſuals and many other things, would pay little or nothing at all. About St. Laurence's day divers died in Normandy, as Fryar Thomas Butler, that was Prior of Kilmainham, and many others; Fryar John Fitz-Henry Succeeded him in the Priory. The Archbishop of Dublin being Lord Deputy, made an Assault upon Scobies, and slew 30 of the Irish near unto Rodiston. Also the 13th of February John Fitz-Henry, Pryor of Kilmainham, departed this Life, and William Fitz-Thomas was Chosen to Succeed in his Place, and was Confirmed the Morrow after St. Valentine's-day. Also the Morrow after the Lord John Talbot deliver'd up his Place into the Hands of the Lord Richard Talbot, Archbishop of Dublin, who was afterwards chosen to be Lord Justice of Ireland.

1420.

About the 4th of the Ides of April, James Butler, Earl of Ormond, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, landed at Waterford, and shortly after he caused a Combat to be fought between two of his Cosens, of whom one was slain in the place, and the other was carried away sore wounded to Kilkenny.

On St. George's-day the same Lord Lieutenant held a Council at Dublin, and there summoned a Parliament, and after the midst thereof, he made great Preys upon O Rely, Mac-Mahon, and Mac-Genys. And the 7th of June the Parliament began at Dublin, and there were Granted unto the Lord Lieutenant 700 Marks. And the Parliament continu'd for 16 days, and was Adjourned again to Dublin, until Monday next after St. Andrew's-day. And in the said Parliament were reckon'd up the Debts of the Lord John Talbot, late Lord Lieutenant, which amounted to a great Sum. Also the Morrow after Michaelmas-day Michael Bodley departed this Life. Upon St. Francis's-Eve died Fryar Nicholas Talbot, Abbot of the Monastery of St. Thomas the Martyr at Dublin, whom Fryar John Whiting Succeeded. The Morrow after the Feast of the Apostles Simon and Jude, the Castle of Colmolin was taken by Thomas Fitz-Girald. And on St. Katherine's-Eve, — Butler, Son and Heir to the Earl of Ormond was Born: And the Monday after St. Andrew's-day the Parliament was begun at Dublin, and continued for 13 days, and there were Granted unto the Lord Lieutenant 300 Marks, and then again the Parliament was Adjourned until Monday after St. Ambrose's-day. Then rumours were spread abroad, that the Lord Thomas Fitz-John, Earl of Desmond, was departed this Life at Paris upon St. Laurence's-day, and that he was Buried in the Convent of the Fryars-Preachers there, the King of England being there Present: After whom Succeeded his Uncle James Fitz-Girald, whom he had three several times renounc'd, alledging that he was an unthrift, and had wasted his Patrimony, both in Ireland and England, and that he gave or would give Lands unto the Monastery of St. James of Keynisham.

1421.

Our Lady's day fell out to be upon a Monday in Easter-Week. Also the Parliament began the third time at Dublin, the Monday after St. Ambrose's-day, and there it was Ordained, that Agents should be sent over to the King for Reformation of Matters touching the State of the Land; Namely the Archbishop of Armagh, and Sir Christopher Preston, Kt.

At

At the same time Richard OHedian, Archbishop of Cashell, was accused by John Gesa, Bishop of Lismore, and Waterford. upon 30 Articles, among others, one was, that he made very much of the Irish, and that he lov'd none of the English Nation, that he bestowed no Benefices on any English man, and that he Counsell'd other Bishops not to give the least Benefice to any of them, that he Counterfeited the King's Seal and Letters Patents, and that he went about to make himself King of Munster, and that he had taken the Ring from the Image of St. Patrick (which the Earl of Desmond had offer'd) and bestowed it on his Concubine, and he Exhibited many other Enormous matters against him, by which the Lords and Commons were troubled. Also in the same Parliament there arose a Contention between Adam Payn, Bishop of Cloyn, because the said Adam would have united unto his See, the Church of another Prelate, and the other would not give way to it, and so they were dismiss'd unto the Court of Rome, and the Parliament continued 18 days. Then news was stirring that the Lord Thomas of Lancaster, Duke of Clarence, was slain in France, and many others with him. Upon the 7th of May there was a great Slaughter made upon the Earl of Ormond's (the Lord Lieutenant's) Men, by the O Mores, near to the Monastery of Leys, and there were 27 English-men slain, the Chief of whom were Purcell and Grant. Ten Noble-men were taken Prisoners, and 200 fled to the said Abby, and so sav'd themselves. About the Ides of May, died Sir John Bedlow, Kt. and Jeffery Galon, sometime Mayor of Dublin, who was buried in the House of the Fryars-Preachers of the same City. About the same time Mac-Mahon an Irish Lord, did much hurt in Urgile, by wasting and burning all before him. Upon the 7th of June, the Lord Lieutenant enter'd into the Country about Leys, upon the O Mores, leading a very great Army, for the space of Four days together, slaying the People, till the Irish were glad to sue for Peace.

This year in the latter end of August died that Glorious and Renown'd Conqueror of France King Henry the Fifth.

Anno.
1421.

1422.

THE ANNALS
OF IRELAND,
During the REIGN of
KING HENRY
THE SIXTH.

Anno Domini MCCCCXXII.

Anno.

1422.

HENRY the Sixth (then but an Infant) succeeded Henry the Fifth in all his Dominions. Not long after Edmond Mortimer Earl of March and Ulster, was made Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, in the room of James Earl of Ormond.

1425.

John Lord Talbot, Lord Justice, Succeeded Edmond Mortimer, in the Government of this Kingdom.

1426.

And he resigned it unto James Earl of Ormond, Lord Justice. About this time the Duke of Bedford had by Patent Granted unto him, all the Mines of Gold and Silver in Ireland, as well as in other the King's Dominions, paying a Tenth to the Church, a Fifteenth to the King, and a Twentieth part to the Owner of the Soil.

1427.

Sir John de Gray, was Sworn Lord Lieutenant, and afterwards returning for England, left Edward Dantzy, then Bishop of Meath, Lord Deputy, who was also for a time, Treasurer of Ireland. He dying, Sir John Sutton Lord Dudley, came over Lord Lieutenant, who held a Parliament, which Enacted, that the Place of Abode, Estate, and Mystery of Jurors, should be added to the Panel by the Sheriff on Pain of Amercement.

1429.

1432.

After which the Lord Lieutenant, went for England, leaving Sir Thomas Strange his Deputy, in whose time, upon the Affirmation of a Judgment in the Parliament of Ireland, removed thither from the Common Pleas, and after by a Writ of Error to the King's Bench in England; and the Refusal of that Court to take Cognizance, a Judgment in the Parliament of Ireland, to reverse it, the Prior of Lanthony, Prayed the King, that the Record might be Transmitted to the House of Lords in England.

Sir

Sir Thomas Stanly came over Lord Lieutenant, and not long after returned for England, and left Sir Christopher Plunket Lord Deputy.

Anno.

1432.

Sir Thomas Stanly came back Lord Lieutenant, and with the Assistance of the Knights and Gentlemen of Meath and Uriel, on the Feast of St. Michael, the Arch-Angel, Engaged the Irish, who had Invaded the Pale, and took Neyle O Donnel Prisoner, and slew most of the rest.

1435.

Richard Talbot, Archbishop of Dublin, was Lord Deputy, upon the Lord Lieutenant's Second return to England.

1436.

After whom Lion, Lord Wells, was made Lord Lieutenant, and a Parliament in Ireland Enacted the stopping the Passage of any more Irish into England, the same time, when by reason of the manifold Murders, Robberies, and other Outrages Committed by the Irish men in England, a Law was made there, that all Natives of Ireland, should return to their own Country.

1438.

The Earl of Desmond, by Vertue of a Grant from Robert Fitz-Geofery Cogan, and Letter of Attorney, took possession of all his Lands in Ireland, being half the Kingdom of Cork, to the gre at wrong and prejudice of the Families of Garew and Courcy, to whom the same by the Heirs General ought to have descended.

1439.

Richard Talbot, Archbishop of Dublin, was a second time Lord Justice, and a Parliament held by him, made a Law against Purveyors taking any thing without Payment, (and in such Case allowed the Proprietor to resist): It was also Enacted that Protection of Tories, as also Charging the King's Subjects with Horse or Foot, should be Treason, and that the Party who desires a protection (cum clausa Volumus) shall make Oath in Chancery of the Truth of his Suggestion, as also that every 20 Pounds worth of Land should Furnish and Maintain an Archer on Horse-back.

1440.

James Earl of Ormond, Lord Lieutenant, Succeeded him, and resigned to Lion, Lord Wells, who made James Earl of Ormond Lord Deputy (to whom the Temporalities of the See of Cashel were Granted for Ten years) and after him appointed William Wells, his own Brother, to be his Deputy, in whose time, the Parliament held in Dublin, sent over the Archbishop of Dublin, and the Abbot of St. Mary's, to inform the King that the State of Ireland was so very low, that the publick Revenue fell short of the Necessary Charges for the Defence of the Kingdom, 1456 pound per Ann.

1442.

To him Succeeded James Earl of Ormond, Lord Lieutenant, who obtained a License to be absent many years, Notwithstanding the Statute 3. R. 2. James Earl of Desmond, who stood by the Butlers against the Talbots, and upon that Account was befriended by the Lord Lieutenant, got a Patent for the Government of the Counties of Waterford, Cork, Limerick, and Kerry, and was Licensed to absent himself during Life from Parliament, and to Purchase any Lands he pleased, by what Service soever they were holden of the King.

1443.

John Talbot, Earl of Shrewsbury, was made Lord Lieutenant, and afterwards obtained a Grant of the City and County of Waterford, and of the Royal Rights from Waterford to Youghall, by reason the 1346.

Country was then waste, and yielded no profit; but was rather a loss to the Crown.

Anno.

1447.

A Parliament was held at Trim, where it was Enacted, That any Officer might Travel any where in Ireland without Licence; That no Tole or Custom be taken, but only in Cities and Towns, under the Penalty of Twenty shillings for every penny; That every Man Shave his upper-lip, else to be used as an Irish Enemy; That any Denizon'd Irish-man be used as an Enemy, if he Kill or Robb. A Law was also made against unlawful Coin, and Guilt Harness, or Armour. It was also provided that the Sons of Husbandmen and Labourers should follow their Fathers Calling; That Lords of Parliament should not be Amerced more than others, in Pleas Real or Personal; And that the King should have 12 pence per Ounce for all Bullion Exported. The Lord Lieutenant returned for England, leaving Richard Talbot, Lord Archbishop of Dublin, Lord Deputy, and there accused the Earl of Ormond of High Treason, but the accusation was quash'd by the King.

1449.

Richard Plantagenet, Duke of York, Earl of Ulster, Father of Edward the Fourth, had the Office of Lord Lieutenant Granted him by Letters Patents, for Ten years, with Extraordinary Powers. During which time, either in his own Person, or by his Deputies (of whom he had several, viz. (a) James Earl of Ormond. (b) Sir Edward Fitz-Eustace, Kt. (c) And Thomas Fitz-Maurice, Earl of Kildare) he held several Parliaments, in which there were Enacted many good Laws. After this Duke had behaved himself exceeding well in Ireland, by Providing for the Quiet and Defence of that Country, hearing that he and his Abettors were Declared Traytors in a Parliament at Conventry, went over into England, and not long after was slain at the Battle of Wakefield.

(a) 1451.

(b) 1454.

(c) 1455.

1460.

1461.

EDWARD Earl of March, Son and Heir of Richard Duke of York, immediately after the Battle of Wakefield, with incredible Diligence, gathered an Army, with which having Defeated the Earls of Pembrook and Ormond, killing near 4000 of their Men, March'd up to London, where he was Proclaimed King. Within a few days after he Defeated another Army of 60000 of his Enemies, killing above 36000 on the Spot. Soon after he was Crown'd King by the Name of Edward the Fourth.

1462.

Soon after, Thomas Earl of Kildare was chosen Lord Justice of Ireland. Sir Rowland Fitz-Eustace was made Deputy to George Duke of Clarence, the King's Brother, who was made Lord Lieutenant, during Life, who afterwards appointed Thomas Earl of Desmond Lord Deputy: In his time Mints were Established in several places of Ireland, for Coining Groats, Two-penny Pieces, Pence, Half-pence, and Farthings; and English Money was in his time first advanced to a Fourth part more in Value in Ireland, than it was Currant for in England.

1463.

A Parliament was held, and Adjourned several times, which before its Dissolution Enacted, The Privileges of Parliament-Men 40 days Days before, and 40 after every Session; The Regulation of Attorney's Fees, and against the Currency of Clipt Money.

Another Parliament was held, wherein Laws were made for the like Challenge to be had against the Feoffee as against Cestuy que use.
* For making it Lawful to kill Thieves or Robbers, having no Men of good Name in English Apparel in their Company, For the Irish within the Pale to wear English Habit, take English Names, and Swear Allegiance, For the having Bows and Arrows; For having a Constable and Butts in every Town, and for Regulating the Fishing of Foreign Vessels.

John Tiptoft, Earl of Worcester, was made Lord Deputy of Ireland. He called a Parliament at Drogheda, which Enacted, That the Governor for the time being may pass into Islands: That none purchase Bulls for Benefices from Rome, under great Penalties: That the King's Pardon to Provisors be void; That the Courts of Exchequer and Common-pleas be removeable: That the Earls of Desmond and Kildare, and Edward Plunket Esq; be attainted of High Treason, for Corresponding with the King's Enemies.

In virtue of this Act of Parliament the Great Earl of Desmond was Beheaded at Drogheda the 15th of February 1467.

About this time Edmond Lord Dunboyn, for taking of Con-O Connor prisoner, and delivering him to the Lord Deputy, and other Services, was Rewarded with a Pension of Ten pounds per Ann. payable out of the Fee Farm Rents of Waterford, Forfeited by the Attainder of James Earl of Ormond (who being Attainted by Parliament in England, in the First of this King's Reign, was Beheaded at New-Castle) and also with the Prifage of Limerick, Cork, Ross, Galway, Kinsale, Dungarvan and Dingle, and the Lands of Castle-Richard, in Meath, during his Life.

After the Earl of Desmond's Execution, the Lord Deputy went for England, and Thomas Earl of Kildare, was not only Pardoned, but made Lord Justice, and afterwards Lord Deputy to the Duke of Clarence. A Parliament was held at Drogheda, by this Lord Justice wherein it was Enacted, That the Statute of 6. Rich. II. That Women consenting to Ravishers, should Forfeit their Inheritance, was of Force in Ireland, and that, and all other English Statutes made before that time, are confirmed here. A Law was also made against Regrators and Ingrossors.

Another Parliament was held by him, which Enacted, That Staple Wares should not be Transported into Scotland, without payment of the Custom called the Cocquet, upon pain of Forfeiture of the same.

That every Merchant shall bring 20 Shillings worth of Bows and Arrows for every 20 pounds worth of other Goods, he Imports from England.

William Sherwood, Bishop of Meath, Lord Deputy to the Duke of Clarence, He held a Parliament at Dublin, which made the bringing Bulls or Apostiles from Rome, High Treason, Orders the Lords of Parliament to wear Robes, and the Barons of the Exchequer their Habits in Term time; Gave leave to any English-man damnified by any Irish-man not Amefnable to Law, to reprice himself upon the whole Sept, or Nation.

This year Succeeded Henry Lord Grey, of Ruthen, who held a Parliament

Anno.

1465.

* This Statute is repealed 11, Car. 1. c. 6.

1467.

1467.

1468.

1472.

1475.

1478.

Anno. 1478. liament at Drogheda, which Repeal'd all the Acts of the aforesaid Parliament 1472.

After him Sir Robert Preston was Lord Deputy, who soon resign'd to Giralde, Earl of Kildare, in whose time a Parliament was held at Naas, which Enacted, That distresses taken for Rent might be Sold. That Non-Residents might be Chosen Parliament Men.

1480. The said Earl of Kildare was made Deputy to the King's Son, Richard Duke of York, for Four years.

He held another Parliament, which Enacted That no Hawks be Transported without great Custom; That the Pale have no Correspondence with the Irish.

This Parliament Naturalized Con O-Neal who had Married the Lord Deputy's Daughter.

1483. King Edward the Fourth died in the Forty Second year of his Age; and thereupon his Son the Prince of Wales, was Proclaimed King by the Name of

EDWARD the Fifth, who by the wiles and Artifices of his Uncle the Duke of Gloucester, was together with his Brother Carried to the Tower of London, under pretence that it was for their Security, where they were both Murdered. After which their said Uncle Usurped the Title of King by the Name of RICHARD the Third, who Chiefly Minding to Settle himself in the Throne of England, did not concern himself much with the Affairs of Ireland.

And therefore Giralde, Earl of Kildare (who before was Lord Deputy to the Duke of York) continued in the Government of Ireland, and held a Parliament, which gave leave to the Mayor and Bayliffs of Waterford to go in Pilgrimage to St. James of Compostella in Spain, leaving sufficient Deputies to Govern that City in their absence; and that the Corporation of Ross might reprove themselves against Robbers: And also Enacted that, no Person in Ross might alienate his Free-hold therein, without consent of the Portreeve and Council of the Town.

1484. A Parliament held in Dublin, gave a Subsidy of 13 shillings and 4 pence out of every Plow-Land, for the Service of the Lord Deputy, against the Irish.

1485. King Richard was slain at Bosworth-Field August, 22.

THE ANNALS
OF IRELAND

During the REIGN of

KING HENRY
THE SEVENTH,

Anno Domini 1485. Et Anno Regni I.

CHAP. I.

RICHARD the Third being slain at the Battel of Bosworth, Henry Earl of Richmond, afterwards called Henry the Seventh, (if we except the troubles that were stirred up by two Mock Princes, or rather by their Abettors) put an end to that Civil War which had for so many years miserably afflicted England. He began his Reign on the 22th. day of August Anno 1485. being the very same day on which the said Battel was fought; and on the 30th. of October following, the Solemnities of his Coronation were performed at Westminster.

Gerald Earl of Kildare Governed Ireland at that time as Deputy to John de la Pole Earl of Lincoln, and Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, who enjoyed that place by a Grant from Richard the Third. The King confirmed him in his Deputyship, and soon after by new Letters Patents he Constituted him Deputy under Jasper de Halfeild Duke of Bedford, whom he had designed to be Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

This King confirmed Thomas Fitz-Gerald Brother to the said Earl, Lord Chancellor; Roland Fitz-Eustace Baron of Portlester, Lord Treasurer. A man by reason of his long experience very well versed in the affairs of Ireland, as also the rest of the Privy-Council, the Judges, and other prime Officers;

B

An. Reg.
I.

He began his Reign the day of Bosworth Fight.

The Earl of Kildare then Deputy under the Earl of Lincoln.

Henry the 7th.
confirmeth all those in their places who were preferred by his Predecessor.

An. Dom.
1485.

(a) To the House of York.

fieers; although he knew many of them to be well-wishers to the White-Rose (a). But at that time (a thing to be admired at in so wise a Prince) he added not to the Council, others whom he knew to be of approved fidelity. What prejudice he received thereby, will hereafter appear.

During these Transactions a great dissention arose between James Keating and Marmaduke Lomley, about the Right of the Priory of St. Johns of Jerusalem in Ireland, commonly called Kilmainan, each of them behaving themselves as Prior, which was at last destructive to them both. This contention (that I may repeat the matter from the beginning) took its first rise in the year 1482; for about the end of that year Keating was displaced by Peter Daubusson great Master of that Order in the Isle of Rhodes, (under whose Authority he was) for disobedience, and his male-administration in that employment particularly, because he had made away divers of the Jewels and other Ornaments of that Priory, and pawned others of them, amongst which mention is made of a piece of our Saviours Cross. Also because he had sold divers Farms belonging thereunto, made long Leases of others, and charged it with divers annual Pensions. Keating being therefore deprived, the said Marmaduke Lomley, an English-man, descended of the Noble Family of the Lomleys, was by the said Master of Rodes ordained to succeed him. These things were done in the month of December 1482. he being thus elected, the next year he landed at Clontarf, being a Preceptory of the same Order, two miles distant from Dublin: as soon as Keating had notice of his arrival, who for a long time bore a great sway, having governed that Priory about 20 years) he hastens thither, being attended by a great company of his Servants, and brought Lomley away Prisoner, keeping him in safe custody until all the Instruments of his Confirmation and Election being resigned into his hands. Although Lomley made a previous protestation against it, at last he assigned to him the Preceptory of Kilsaran in the County of Lowth. Lomley gave an account by Letters of all proceedings as well to the King as to the great Master, and at length with that great success, that Keating was for his offences Excommunicated. Keating being offended hereat, and laying all the fault on Lomley, he with armed force expelled him out of the Priory, as the fountain of all these new troubles; Octavianus de Palatio, Archbishop of Ardmagh, in whose Diocese the said Priory was situate, endeavouring in vain to rescue him: Nor were Lomleys troubles ended here, for he was about this time once more cast into Prison by his Adversary, what become of him afterwards I know not; certain it is that he never Governed the Priory. Yet Keating himself notwithstanding this, for almost nine years after he held the Priory by force, he was at last ejected with greater disgrace, and ended his life in great poverty after that he had seen James Vale to be substituted in his place.

The Prior of this place (which is here noted by the way) was heretofore esteemed Protho, Prior of all Ireland, and had his Place and Vote in the House of Lords. As for the Priory it self, it was so spacious, and of such an excellent Structure before the Suppression, that it was deservedly esteemed to be one of the goodliest Fabricks of all the Kingdom.

But to proceed to our purpose, in November this year of our Lord 1485. Sir Thomas Ormond, alias Butler, in a Parliament assembled at Westminster, was restored to the Possessions and Title of Earl of Ormond: And the Statute made in the first year of Edward the 4th. whereby the said Thomas and his two elder Brothers, viz. James Earl of Ormond and Wiltshire, and

Sir

Preceptory of Kilsaran.

What privilege the Prior of Kilmainan had formerly. How this Priory was esteemed before the dissolution there-
of.

The Statute past in Edward the 4th.
Reign against the Earl of Ormond was now repealed, and made one of the Kings Privy-Council.

Sir John Ormond were declared Traytors, were Repealed, and soon after the said Earl was made one of the Kings Privy Council.

This year John Lord Barry died, whose Vertues and high Descent strove to outvy each other ; also Vlick Bourke Lord of Clanrickard descended of the most Noble Family of the Bourkes, (whose Branches are far and wide spread in Ireland) being a man of great Name and Power, departed this life ; his Son Vlick succeeded him : of whom more hereafter.

This year in a Session of Parliament held at Trim before Gerald Earl of Kildare, Lord Deputy, being the Munday after Corpus Christi his day the Manour of Swords was granted to John Walton Archbishop of Dublin for his maintenance, he having resigned up the Bishoprick to Walter Fitz-Symons, by reason of the sad accident that besel him, he being blind for certain years before his death.

On the second day of February, as the Lord Deputy was at Mass in the Cathedral of the Blessed Trinity in Dublin, Captain George Fame being sent from the King and Council into Ireland to the Lord Deputy and Council, brought the news of the Marriage between his Majesty Henry the 7th. and the Lady Elizabeth, who was eldest Daughter to Edward the 4th. The News being sent to the Deputy, he sent the Letter to the Archbishop Walter Fitz-Symons, who caused the Prior of the same to say another Mass for the King and Queen. This memorandum was taken out of the Records of the Councel-Book, being the first year of the Reign of Henry the 7th. as also out of the Book called the Chain-Book of the City of Dublin, John Serjeant being then Mayor.

An. Reg.
I I.

What of the Irish Nobility died this year.

Addition.
The Manour of Swords granted to John Archbishop of Dublin during life.

The Earl of Kildare then Deputy.

News of King Henry the Seventh's Marriage.

Anno Domini 1486. Et Anno Regni II.

CHAP. II.

AT this time the King had some hint that the Earl of Kildare was setting new Plots a foot, upon which he commanded him by Letters to hasten for England, under a specious pretence of advising with him concerning the affairs relating to the publick peace and tranquility of this Realm. Kildare after the receipt of these Letters fearing the event, acquainted the Estates then assembled at Dublin with the King's commands ; whereupon, on the fourth of June, the Lords of the Realm wrote Letters of Excuse to his Majesty, wherein they signified, that the Earls sudden departure for England might prove very prejudicial to some affairs of great consequence, which were to be treated of in Parliament ; and therefore earnestly desired that he might be suffered to stay so long till these matters were ended. * Now of the Clergy that subscribed to these Letters, were Walter Fitz-Symons Archbishop of Dublin, Octavianus de Palatio Archbishop of Ard-magh, John Paine Bishop of Meath, John Purcel then Abbot of Thomas Court near Dublin, Walter Champflowr Abbot of St. Mary-Abby near Dublin, John Troy Abbot of Mellyfont, Henry Abbot of Baltinglass, and Nicholas Prior of Henry the 7th. writes for the Earl to come over into England.

Kildare acquaints the Estates therewith. The Lords write to excuse him.

* The names of those Clergy-men that subscribed to the Letters.

An. Dom.
1486.

(a) The names of the secular Rank who subscribed to the said Letters.

Now begins the conspiracies, with the names of the Conspirators. Father Symons his contrivance.

Some write a Bakers Son, others a Shoemakers Son.

At this Lads Entertainment Messengers were sent abroad to send aid here.

The Lord of Hoath discovered the matter to K. Henry the 7th. and what the King did to quash the Imposture afterwards.

The names of the well-wishers to Henry the 7th. in Ireland.

A relation of what hapned during these clashes and conspiracies were a-foot, by mac Mahon, and other accidents.

Conal. (a) And of the Secular Rank were Robert Preston Viscount Gormanstowne, with these six Barons, viz. Slane, Delvin, Killeen, Hoath, Trimleston, and Dunsany. The Earl imagining himself to be secured by these Letters, put off his journey from day to day.

And now to proceed. We come to a time full of Conspiracies; for Margaret, Sister to Edward the 4th. late King of England, Widow and Dowager to Charles Sirnamed the Hardy, Duke of Burgundy, John de la Pole Earl of Lincoln, Francis Viscount Lovel, some time Chamberlain to Richard the Third, and some others, did combine together to subvert the Government of King Henry; and to this was added

The wonderful and notable contrivance of a certain subtil Priest of Oxford called Richard Symons, or according to Polydore Virgil, Simonds, added Oil to this Flame: For he this year, with his disciple Lambert Simnel, a poor Baker or Shoemakers Son, being a youth of good and ingenious aspect, and also of competent years, passed over into Ireland, and having at first warily instructed him, he presented him before the Deputy, the Chancellor, the Treasurer, and others of the Nobility, whom he had heard to be devoted to the House of York, giving out that he was Edward Earl of Warwick, Son to George Duke of Clarendon, and next Heir to the Crown of England, having escaped out of the Tower of London: by this means he supposed to get a Kingdom for his Scholar, and a rich Bishoprick for himself. This matter being easily believed and communicated to some of the Nobles, the Lad was honourably entertained by the Chancellor. Soon after Messengers were sent as well to certain well-wishers of the House of York in England and Ireland, as to the foresaid Duke of Burgundy to demand aid, to assert (as they said) the just Title of that Edward whom they had saluted King, by the name of Edward the Sixth. This business afterwards did occasion great calamities to the Earl of Kildare, and had not God supported him, it had been both destructive to himself, and his noble Family.

The King having notice of these proceedings from the Lord Baron of Hoath and others to discover the Impostor, caused the true Earl of Warwick (who was kept close Prisoner in the Tower of London) to be led upon Sunday through the Streets of the City, and afterwards went with him in a solemn Procession to St. Pauls Church, being guarded with the Flower of the Nobility, so that the Impostors deceit was plainly detected by the English; but in Ireland this counterfeit was retorted on the King as if he had obtruded a counterfeit Earl of Warwick to the people. However there were many in Ireland who most faithfully and constantly defended King Henry's Title and Interest with all their might, and among them Octavianus de Palatio Archbishop of Ardmagh, Edmond Courcay of the Order of the Fryers Minors then Bishop of Clogher, who was afterwards Bishop of Ross, the Family of the Butlers, the Lord of Hoath, as also the Citizens of Waterford; of whom in the next years relation we shall, God willing, declare the event of that conspiracy.

In the mean while Hugh mac Mahon and his Sects fell on the County of Lowth, drove away the Cattel, destroying and burning the houses on all sides: in this IncurSION twenty eight Villages were burnt; also in some parts of Ulster, on the 6 Calends of March, there hapned so great a storm of wind and rain (which in a word to mention will not be amiss) that Trees were pulled up by the roots, and many Houses, and some Churches (among many other mischiefs) were blown down to the ground.

This

This year Thadeus Bishop of Downe and Connor seventeen years after his Consecration, John Hedian Bishop of Offory, when he had fate about seven years, and on the 19th of July, Thomas Arthur Bishop of Limerick having enjoyed that Bishoprick for seventeen years departed this life; one Tiberius succeeded Thadeus, Oliver Cantwell of the Order of the Preachers succeeded Hedian, and John Folan Rector of the Church of Clonmore, Agent at the Court of Rome for the said Octavianus succeeded Arthur.

While these things were done in Ireland, in the mean time at Winchester in England Queen Elizabeth on the 20th of September bore the King a Son named Arthur, nor must it be here past over in silence how that King Henry procured a Bull this year from Pope Innocent the eighth, dated the sixth Calend of April, wherein (among other things) all Bishops, &c. were commanded to excommunicate Rebels as often as the King should require them so to do. This Bull did afterwards very much help, and promote the Kings Affairs both in England and Ireland.

Octavianus, as appears by the Registry of that Archiepiscopal Seat, wrote Letters to Pope Innocent the eighth as touching the Affairs of this Kingdom, amongst other accounts, he relates the whole concerning Lambert Simnell, and how the Nation was deceived by the aforesaid Symons the English Priest, which is to be supposed was the chief Instrument of Innocents granting the aforesaid Bull; as for the part of that Letter touching this matter is as followeth.

THe Clergy and Secular are all distracted at this present with a King and no King, some saying he is the Son of Edward Earl of Warwick, others saying he is an Impostor; but our Brother of Canterbury hath satisfied me of the truth, how His Majesty the King of England hath shewed the right Son of the said Earl to the publick view of all the City of London, which convinceth me that it is an error willingly to breed Dissention.

An. Reg.
III.

The names of those Clergymen of repute in Ireland that died this year, and who succeeded them.

What were the chief things that promoted Henry the Seventh's affairs both in England and Ireland.

Addition:

The part of Octavianus his Letter to Pope Innocent the Eighth concerning this relation of Lambert Simnell.

Anno Domini 1487. Et Anno Regni III.

CHAP. III.

John Earl of Lincoln, Son and Heir to John de la Pole of Suffolk, one of a great and haughty Spirit, (whom Richard the Third at the death of his Son had declared Heir and Successor to the Crown) being advertised by Letters and Messengers, of the reception of this Idol in Ireland, for the true Earl of Warwick; and lead by hopes, that by this Bridge a way might be made for him to obtain the English Scepter by his own Title, if so be that (under the name of this Masker to be detected in due time) he might put down King Henry; whereupon he sailed into Flanders, where he met with the Lord Lovel, one of his own party, who had arrived there not long before. These entred into a private consultation with How John Earl of Lincoln was put in hopes to come to the Crown of England.

An. Dom.

1487.

The Earl and the Lord Lovel enter into discourse with the Dutchess of Burgundy. 2000 Germans land at Dublin.

The Idol or mock King Crowned in Christ-Church.

The House that now is called Cork-House, there this Chappel was founded.

The Archbishop of Ardmagh refused to be at the Coronation.

All Proceffes, Statutes and Acts go forrh in this Idols name.

The Copy of the Letter is to be had in Octavianus his Registry, fol. 152. a.

All these Acts made void by Poynings, vid. pag. 33.

Rowland Eustace made Chancellor. The petty Prince prepared a Fleet, and with an Army of Germans and Irish failed for England.

with Margaret Dutchess of Burgundy (Sister to Edward the Fourth, and a most bitter Foe to the House of Lancaster) to unthrone King Henry.

It was there resolved among them that the Earl and the Lord Lovel (by an Army that should be raised at the expences of the Dutchess) should first sail into Ireland, and from thence into England, with additional Forces out of Ireland, soon after an Army of 2000 Veteran Souldiers out of Germany were mustered under the Conduct of Martin Swart (or as others would have it Sovarp) the Army being Shipt, sailed from Flanders, and arrived at Dublin, the Metropolis of Ireland, in the month of May. Afterwards that Pseudo Warwick (whom we have already mentioned) was solemnly Crowned at Dublin in the Cathedral Church of the Holy Trinity commonly called Christ-Church, after a Sermon Preached by John Payne then Bishop of Meath, wherein his Title to the Crown was published in the presence of the Deputy, Chancellor, Treasurer, Earl of Lincoln, Lord Lovel, and many other Nobles and Prime men of the Kingdom, as well Ecclesiastical as Secular. They say that the Crown wherewith he was Crowned, was borrowed from the Statue of the Blessed Virgin Mary, kept in a Church called by her name, scituate near the Gate commonly called Dames-Gate; from hence he was conducted through the midst of the City to the Castle of Dublin with great applause of the people, and was there feasted.

These present carriages of Affairs did much displease Octavianus Archbishop of Ardmagh, soon after he had laboured (but in vain) to deter the Earl of Killdare from so unlucky a fact, he withdrew himself from the Earl, and from the Solemnization, refusing to be present at the Coronation, which refusal afterwards created him much trouble.

In the mean while the Parliament, Courts of Justice, Proceffes, Statutes, and Acts of the Council came all out in the name of this Imaginary King or Prince. And more especially there is mention made in a Letter of the said Octavianus, to a certain English Prelate, whose name is not mentioned, of a great Council called in his Name by his Authority; in which Council a Subsidy was granted by the Clergy to the Pope in his absence, as he alledged, for to obtain absolution from the Censures and Excommunication which happily they might have incurred by raising new tumults against the King.

All the Acts that came out in this mock Kings Name were repealed in Poynings his time, when he was Deputy, in the year 1494. in a Parliament held at Drogheda.

About the beginning of June this year 1487. the Lord Thomas Fitz-Gerald resigned the Lord Chancellorship, to whom succeeded Rowland Eustace Baron of Portlester. Soon after a Navy by the decree of the Council, with this mock Prince attended by German and Irish Forces, of whom the Earl of Lincoln was Commander in chief (being accompanied by the aforementioned Lord Lovel, the Lord Thomas Fitz-Gerald, and Swart the German) set sail from Dublin, and with a fair Gale of Wind arrived at Fouldrij in Lancashire, where Sir Thomas Broughton being one of the Conspirators, immediately joyned with them with a small number of men; being thus provided, they passed through Yorkshire, where they expected an additional supply of certain Forces, but all in vain: However not long out of hope, they hastened towards Newark, hoping by their sudden arrival

val, to carry the place with ease; but the King having notice of the Rebels resolution, he with a strong Army, under the Command of Jasper Duke of Bedford, and John de Vere Earl of Oxford, and High Admiral of England, left Nottingham, for he had lately been there, and encamped not far from Newark, where he stopped their passage. On the other side the Earl of Lincoln having notice of the Kings approach, continued notwithstanding his intended journey, without fear, and pitched his Tents near a Village called Stock in Nottinghamshire, almost within view of the Kings Army.

The next day being the 20th. of June, King Henry drew-out his Forces, and divided them into three Armies, he marched to Stock, where the Earl likewise by Swarts directions did courageously range his men in Battalia.

They fought valiantly for three hours together on each side, with equal loss; but at last the Van of the Kings Army, which hitherto had borne the brunt, the other two Armies standing idle all this while as lookers on, (which is to be admired at) continued the Fight with so great valour and fury, the first Leaders on of the Army being slain, that the rest were easily put to flight. In this Battel (which Polydore Virgil by a mistake supposes to have hapned in the year 1485.) on the mock Princes party fell valiantly fighting John de la Pole Earl of Lincoln, Francis Viscount Lovel, the Lord Thomas Fitz-Gerald, whom some do erroneously call the Earl of Kildare, Maurice Fitz-Thomas, a Geraldine, Broughton, Plunket, Son to the Baron of Killeney and Swart, besides 4000 common Souldiers. Some do report that the Lord Lovel was drowned in the River of Trent, and others that he perished not by water, but that he lay hid for a long season in a certain Vault under ground, where he led a miserable life.

Among the Prisoners that were taken, were that Scenic Kingling, Lambert Simmel, and his Tutor, that subtil Priest.

But as touching Lambert, by an unknown clemency of a Prince, after he had acknowledged his faults, and had implored the Kings mercy, was not condemned to die, but was thrust into the Kings Kitchen, where for a time he turned the Spit, and was afterwards made one of the Kings Faulconers. But the Priest his Tutor was deprived of his Priestly Function, and committed to a certain Dungeon, as some do report, yet others say that respect being had to his Function, notwithstanding the heinousness of his fault, he was neither punished by death, nor degraded, but only adjudged to perpetual Imprisonment.

But John Hery a Doctor of Physick, who hath written the History of England in Heroick Verses, from the beginning of Edward the 4th. time until the beginning of Henry the 8th. shall declare this matter in his own words.

*Lambertus Capiter, necnon Simondus inermis, Equibus hic, tenebris damnatur Carceris atri,
Concludendus ibi misero dum vita Superfit:
Ille, ex Rege novo lixa est & Calo Creatus
Servus, ut ad Regis portaret ligna Coquinam
Regis, & accipetres posthac aluiffere fertur:
Sic quam vis meriti tormenta Cracesq; fuissent, Parvâ Rex pœnâ, Statuit Scelus omne piare.*

An. Reg.
III.

The King prepares and meets them. The Earl of Lincoln continueth his journey.

The King draws forth his Forces.

The Battel.

The names of those of Quality which fell by Battel on the mock Princes side.

Writers write variously of the Lord Lovels death.

Lambert Simmel and his Tutor taken Prisoners, and what became of them.

John Hery his Verses upon Lambert Simmel and his Tutor.

This

An. Dom.

1487.

How the King
afterwards proceeded with Lambert Simmels Abettors.
Qu. Elizabeth
Crowned.
Prognosticati-
on.

The King wrote to Waterford, and commended their fidelity.

A relation how the Earl of Desmond was murdered this year.

Mantagh in Irish signifies one without feet.

Englified
thus.

This flame being thus quenched, the King marched Northwards, and in that Expedition not a few of Simmels and the Earl of Lincolns Abettors were discovered, whereof some to terrifie others were put to death, and some were fined in great sums of Money; and others, especially those of the meaner sort were pardoned. These things being done, the King returned to London, where he was received with great applause of the people. On the 25th. of Novemb. following (being St. Catherines day) Queen Elizabeth his Wife was with great Pomp Crowned at Westminster: The Prognostication of whose Coronation Bernardus Andreas soon after composed in Lyrick Verses, as he was the Kings Poet Laureat, and his Torionographer.

Soon after the King writes to the Mayor and Citizens of Waterford whom he had found to be most faithful unto him, wherein after he had commended them for their immovable fidelity, he required and commanded them to endeavour to seize on the Ships, Goods and Merchandize of the Citizens of Dublin, for and to the use of their City, as also of all others trafficking with them. Also the next year (on the 12th. of May) as a fuller testimony of his good will, he with new Priviledges and Immunities rewarded the fidelity of that City. Hitherto he sent no Forces into Ireland to extinguish this Sedition, (a thing much to be admired at) it cannot be denied but that hitherto he did much neglect his Irish affairs, but the next year following he somewhat redressed this oversight, yet with such clemency and moderation, (deserving rather to be loved than feared) that he shewed himself both a merciful Prince, and a lover of Peace, whereby he gained a Conquest without bloodshed, as by that years Story to the Reader will plainly appear.

In the mean while on the seventh of December, James Fitz-Thomas a Geraldine, and Earl of Desmond, who for almost twenty eight years flourished both in Wealth and Power, was suddenly and cruelly murdered by his Servants in his House at Rathkeale in the County of Limerick; he derived his Pedigree from Morris the Son of Gerald, who in the Conquest of Ireland in Henry the Seconds time he behaved himself so bravely and manfully as several Histories make mention of the same. This James dying without issue, at least without issue-male, his Brother Morris succeeded him, by whom John Mantagh the chief contriver of that Murder, was soon after taken and slain. And so for the most part it falls out, that those who embroil their hands in others blood, have the same measure meted unto them. Horace gives a touch of this kind in this third Book of Verses, Ode the second.

Raro antecedentem Scelestum, Deservit pede Pæna Claudio.

Surpassing Wickedness in haste, Vengeance punisheth at last.

The Truth whereof may readily be demonstrated by many examples. We shall hereafter have occasion to say more of Morris his Successor, but we will return to more publick affairs.

Upon

Upon the first rumour of the Kings Victory, the Irish Rebels were down cast, and soon after the Earl of Kildare and others of the great ones having certain notice thereof, did in conclusion send away Messengers, who excused this fault to the King, acknowledging their errors, and humbly craveth pardon for the same. The King being somewhat appeased with these Submissions and Messengers, after mature deliberation had, with the advice of his Privy-Council, he at last sent back the Messengers for Ireland, with Letters to the Earl, and the rest, wherein after he had checked them for their late defection, he notwithstanding promised to pardon them all what was past, according to their future deserts. And as for the Government of Ireland, he did again, for a season, commit the same to the Earl's fidelity, with some commands, and certain instructions convenient and fit for that time. And thus at length that counterfeit Lambert in Ireland vanished into smoke.

And now what course the King took, lest a new Rebellion should again take fire, shall be related in the following Chapter for that year. It cannot be denied but that the King had just cause to suspect there were some remaining sparks that were not so fully quenched, but that a new occasion being offered, all might again be blown to a flame.

In these days many complaints were made in England and in Ireland about the privileges of Sanctuaries; whereupon this very same year certain of their exorbitant privileges were diminished and suppressed by Pope Innocent the 8th. his Bull, bearing date at Rome the 8th. of August; so that Offenders flying afterwards thither, who committed new crimes a broad, might after their return be, by the Kings command, or his Ministers, taken out, and brought to their Tryal. Also that the Goods of Bankrupts might be subject to their Creditors, in case it were done to defraud them: And lastly, that those who were protected, being convicted, be made close Prisoners by the King, lest that if they were let go, they commit worse crimes. This Bull is to be had at Westminster in Sir Thomas Cotton's famous Library of Antiquities. Especially of British affairs, under the head of Cleopatra, E. 3. Tacitus in his third Book of Annals, sheweth that the impunity of affairs in the Reign of Tiberius, brought the like evils in times past on the Grecian Cities, until a means was prescribed by a decree of the Senate.

Soon after that the King had shewed his Clemency to the Earl, and to all his Subjects in Ireland, the Citizens advising with Jerico Markes then Mayor of this City, what they should say for themselves, for they were somewhat jealous that the King shewed such favour and kindness to the Mayor of Waterford (as indeed their fidelity did deserve a thankful and an encouraging return) they in their excuse to the King, amongst other sayings, spake thus. "We were danted to see not only your chief Governour, whom your Highness made Ruler over us, to bend or bow to that Idol whom they made us to obey, but also our Father of Dublin, and most of the Clergy of the Nation, excepting the Reverend Father his Grace Octavianus Archbishop of Ardmagh: We therefore humbly crave your Highness Clemency towards your poor Subjects of Dublin, the Metropolis

C

An. Reg.

III.

The Earl and the chief of the Kingdom sent over Messengers to the King, and craved pardon. A merciful King sheweth mercy. Kildare notwithstanding all, is permitted to rule under the King.

Pope Innocent the 8th. Bull.

A place of refuge.

Where this Bull is to be found.

Addition. After the King sent the Messengers back, the City petitioned to the King.

The Citizens submission to King Henry the 7th.

" of

An. Dom.
1488.

" of your Highnesses Realm of Ireland, which we hope your Gracious " Highness will remit, with some sparks of favour towards Us,

Your Highnesses Loving and Faithful Subjects of Dublin.

Jerico Markes Mayor of Dublin.

*John Serjeant
John West
Thomas Mulughan
John Fian* } Aldermen, &c.

Now you must know several of the Citizens of Dublin could not write in those days, but put their marks; but the Copy runs thus to most of their Names, the mark of L, and so forth.

This Copy Sir James Ware took out of the City Records when his good Friend Sir Nathanael Cutline Knight, was Recorder of the City of Dublin, amongst several other things concerning this City. On the seventh Calend of April this year was Walter Blake, by Pope Innocent the 8^{ths}. means consecrated Bishop of Clonmacnoysse, being a Gallway man, several of that name yet there reigning.

Walter Blake Consecrated Bishop of Clonmacnoysse.

Anno Domini 1488. Et Anno Regni IV.

CHAP. IV.

*Sir Richard
Edgcombe sent over from the King.*

THis year the King sent Sir Richard Edgcombe Knight, a Cornish man into Ireland, who was Comptroller of his House, and one of his Privy-Council, being a man of singular prudence: He brought over with him 500 armed men, with this power to take the Oath of Allegiance and Obedience as well of the Nobility, Gentry, and prime Citizens, as of the Commonalty of the Realm, and to pardon Offenders. The same favour was nominally granted to many of the Nobles, and others. For of the Ecclesiastical men who were pardoned by the Kings Letters Patents, were, the Archbishops of Ardmagh and Dublin, the Bishops of Meath, Kildare, and Cloyne; the Abbots of St. Maries Abbey, and of St. Thomas near Dublin; the Abbots of Baltinglass, Navan, Mellyfont, Becliffe, and St. Maries of Trim: Afterwards the Priors of the Abbeys of St. Peters of Newtown near Trim, Conally, and Lowth. Thus much for the Ecclesiastical men that got Grants of Pardon.

Which of the chief of the Clergy were pardoned by Patents.

What Nobles and prime men of this Realm got Grants for their Pardons:

And as for the secular Nobles and chief of Ireland which got grants of Favour and Mercy, were these, viz. the Earl of Kildare, the Lord Viscount Gormanstowne, the Barons of Slane, Delvin, Killeney, Hoath, Trimlestown, Donsany, and Portlester; also the chief Judges of both Benches. All these things were performed in the Month of May.

But

But to return to Edgcombe, he with these 500 men (already mentioned) being Shipped in five Vessels, arrived at King'sale Haven on the 27th. day of June, notwithstanding his resolution was not to land there, but to take the Oath of Fidelity in his Ship, of certain persons of Quality, and then to hoise Sail for other places. Whereupon on that very same day, in his own Ship, Thomas Lord Barry did homage for his Barony, and also took the Oath of Allegiance in his presence: However the next morning being prevailed upon, at the earnest entreaty of James Lord Courcy, and the chief of the Town, he made his entrance into the Town of King'sale, where in the Chancel of St. Meltocks Church, Courcy did homage for his Barony, and not only he, but the whole Town took the Oath of Fidelity, and entred into Bonds besides: Which being done, and the Kings Pardon granted unto them, he after dinner set Sail from thence, and on the last day of the same Month he arrived at the City of Waterford, which by no pretences would suffer themselves to be drawn away from their due Obedience; there he was honourably received by the Mayor and Citizens. The next day after he had commended the Cities constancy and faithfulness to their Prince, he declared the Kings thanks and good will, with a promise of reward and protection, he sets sail towards Dublin, but by reason of contrary winds he came not thither before the 5th. of July, on which day the Mayor and Citizens like Supplicants received him near the Abbey-Gate of the Friars Preachers, by whom he was entertained. He stayed there seven days before the Earl of Kildare returned from his journey which he had lately undertaken. At last on the 12th. day of July the Earl came to Dublin; on which day Sir Richard Edgcombe went to St. Thomas-Abbey in the West Suburbs of the City, where the Earl then was, being conducted thither by the Baron of Slane, and others, who were sent to him by the Earl of Kildare to that end: Where after he had there openly in the great Chamber delivered the Kings Letters to the Earl, not without some shew of bitterness, they both withdrew into the inner room, where, in the presence only of the Nobles, they talked together for a long season about matters of consequence; but at that time, by reason of the absence of several of the Nobility, there was nothing decreed. That Parley being ended, the Earl returned to his own House at Maynouth, and Sir Richard Edgcombe to the Friars Preachers. The day following (being Sunday) the Absolution of Excommunication which King Henry procured of the Pope, to all those that yielded due obedience, was proclaimed by Edgcombe's command, at Christ-Church in Dublin, in a Sermon there Preached by Payne Bishop of Meath. Concerning the dispute of the manner of taking the Oath between Edgcombe and the Nobility, some days were spent, as well at Maynouth as Dublin; but at length they agreed on the following Oath.

I do promise and oblige me that from henceforth I shall be true, faithful and obeysant, Liegeman and Subject unto the most High and most Mighty Christian Prince, my Natural and Right Wise Sovereign Lord King Henry the Seventh, by the Grace of God King of England, and of France, and Lord of Ireland, and to his Heirs of his Body, coming Kings of England. Item, I shall never aid, assist, or favour any of my said Sovereign Lords Rebels, or Traytors, or any that I may know of his Subjects doing, contrary to their Allegi-

An. Reg.
IV.

How Edgcombe sailed from place to place, and how he executed his Majesties commands. The said Barry doth homage for his Barony. The Lord Courcy doth homage together with the Town of King'sale. Edgcombe comes to the City of Waterford.

How Edgcombe was received at Dublin, and how received by the Mayor and Citizens. The Earl of Kildare and Edgcombe talk together at Thomas Court, and what followed.

The Popes Absolution proclaimed in Christ-Church in Dublin.

Disputes for a while concerning the Oath.

The form of the Oath of Allegiance and Obedience then taken in Ireland.

An. Dom.

1488.

ance touching the Kings Person, or his Crown; nor I shall never assist, nor favour privily ne appertly any thing that may be contrary to the Weale Honour or Surety of my said Sovereign Lord, or his said Heirs, Kings of England, in things concerning the conservation of his most Noble Person and Estate Royal. But if it shall fortune me at any time to know any thing that may be to the hurt, dishonour or displeasure of his Highness, or any of his said Heirs, Kings of England, contrary to my Allegiance, I shall to the best and uttermost of my power resist and let it. And over that, I shall as soon as I can or may, shew or do the same to be shewed unto his said Highness, or his said Heirs, Kings of England, or his other Council. Item, I shall serve my said Sovereign Lord and all his said Heirs, Kings of England, in all their Titles to the Crowns of England and France, and Lordships of Ireland, and in all his and their said Titles and Quarrels concerning the Crown, live and die with him and them, against all earthly Creatures, and his and their lawful Commandments truly and faithfully obey, observe and follow to the utmost of my power. Item, if any Messengers, or other persons, of what Estate, Degree or Condition they be, sent from the Dutchess of Burgundy, or from any other with Letters or Messages to me, or to any other that I may have knowledge of, to pervert me or them from mine or their Allegiance and Obeysance, or cause Commotion or Rebellion amongst the Kings Subjects to be renouelled: Or if any person inhabiting within Ireland, being the Kings Subject, or Stranger resorting to the said Land, use seditious or unfitting language touching the Kings Person and Honour; I shall, as soon as it shall come to my knowledge, put me in full endeavour to take, or cause to be taken, that person or persons so as abovesaid bringing Letters or Messages, exciting new Commotion or Rebellion, or sowing seditious or unfit Speeches, and as much as in me is, cause them to be punished after their demerits, according to Law, or else send him or them with their Letters or Words to the Kings Grace. Item, I shall not let or cause to be letted, from this day forwards, the execution and declaration of the great Censures of Holy Church to be done against any person, of what Estate, Degree or Condition he be, by any Archbishop, Bishop, Abbot, Prior, Parson, Vicar, or any other Curate or Priest in any open place or Church, within the Kings Land of Ireland, given by the authority of our holy Father Pope Innocent the 8th. that now is, against all them of the Kings Subjects that letten or trouble our said Sovereign Lord King Henry the 7th. in his Title of the Crown of England, and Lordship of Ireland, or caused by any Commotion or Rebellion against the same, or in any wise supported or comforted any of his Traytors or Rebels, that intend the destruction of his most Noble Person, or subversion of his said Realm of England, or Lordship of Ireland; but the same execution and declaration of the said Censures, by my power shall aid and assist, and cause to be done, as much as in me is, as often as I shall be on the behalf of our said Sovereign Lord required; otherwise I shall or may have sufficient matter or cause lawful, the same execution and declaration to be done without fraud or malice: So help me this Holy Sacrament, &c.

But to the Oath of Ecclesiastical persons, this Clause was added.

Item, I shall from this day forth, as oft as I shall be lawfully required, on the behalf of our said Sovereign Lord, to execute the Censures of the Church, by the authority of our holy Father Pope Innocent the 8th. that now is, and by his Bull given under Lead against all those of his Subjects, of what Dignity, Degree, State or Condition he be of, that letteth or troubleth our said Sove.

This Clause was added to the Ecclesiastical sort when they took the Oath of Allegiance and Obedience.

Sovereign Lord, or his Title of the Crown of England, and Lordship of Ireland, or causeth Commotion or Rebellion against the same; or aideth, supporteth, or comforteth any of his Traytors, or Rebels, that intendeth the destruction of his most sacred Person, or subversion of his said Realm of England, and Lordship of Ireland; the same Sentence, with all Solemnity thereunto belonging within any Church within my Jurisdiction, openly and solemnly execute and declare the same Censures upon and against all transgressors of the same Bull, or cause to be executed and declared; so that the cause why, be unto me Notary, or otherwise lawful, on the behalf of our said Sovereign Lord, or his Heirs the Kings of England, shewed and proved not letting nor sparing so for to do for love or dread, hatred, envy or enmity, or fear of Lordship, ne for any other cause. So help me, &c. Salvo Ordine Episcopali.

An. Reg.
IV.

On the 21th. of July Gerald Earl of Kildare, did in the first place do his homage in the presence of Sir Richard Edgecombe, in St. Thomas Abbey in the great Chamber (called the Kings Chamber;) afterwards, while Mass was sung, he was absolved of his Excommunication, and took the Oath of Allegiance according to former Order. The like did Rowland Eustace Baron of Portlester, High Treasurer of Ireland; Robert Preston Viscount Gormanstowne, James Flemming Baron of Slane, Nicholas St. Lawrence Baron of Hoath, Christopher Barnewell Baron of Trimlestowne, John Plunket Baron of Dunsany, and others.

Kildare and the rest of the Irish Nobility take their Oaths in Tho. Court.

Now as touching the Clergy that were absolved, and that took the Oath, were as followeth.

Walter Fitz-Symons Archbishop of Dublin, and John Walton his Predecessor, who had delivered up the Archbishoprick some years before (as is specified) being blind, reserving only the Manour of Swords for his support during his natural life. Also Jon Payne Bishop of Meath, Edmond Lane Bishop of Kildare, John Purcel Abbot of St. Thomas Court near Dublin, Walter Champflowr Abbot of St. Maries Abbey near Dublin, and John Cogan Prior of St. Patricks Abbey of Holm-Patrick. All which persons did bind themselves in Bonds to keep the Oath of Allegiance.

The names of the Clergy that took the Oath at the same time.

Nor must it be forgotten how Edgecombe after the Earl had done his Homage, and taken the Oath, did fit a Golden Chain about his neck, which the King had sent him as an earnest of his favour. Matters being thus performed, Sir Richard Edgecombe entertained the Earl and the rest of the Nobility at a great Feast in the House of the Friars Preachers.

Edgecombe placed a Golden Chain about Kildare's neck.

Edgecombe invited the Nobility to a Feast.

The next day Thomas Meiler Mayor of the City of Dublin, and the chief of the Citizens met at the Town-House commonly called the Thoulfel, alias the Toulfel, and there they took the Oath of Fidelity in the presence of Sir Richard Edgecombe, who took the form of the Oath from them, and carried the same to the King, being sealed under the City Seal.

The 21th. of July the Mayor of Dublin and Aldermen took the Oath of Fidelity.

On the 23^d. of July Sir Richard went from Dublin to Drogheda, and the next day after the Mayor and Townsmen took their Oaths in his presence in their Town-House, being all pardoned and received into favour by his Majesties Letters Patents.

The Mayor of Drogheda takes his Oath.

The next day being the 25th. of the same month, Sir Richard went to Trim, where the Provost was also pardoned for what was past; after that he and his Charge had taken the Oath of Allegiance to the King, where also

The Provost of Trim and several Abbots took the Oath also.

An. Dom.

1488.

Sir Richard returned to Dublin, and how he expelled Keating Prior of St. John of Jerusalem out of his place, as Governor of the Castle of Dublin.

Sir Richard Edgecombe leaves Dublin, and sails for Cornwall.

John Payne Bishop of Meath sent over by the Deputy and Council to appease the King also Nicholas Herbert then Prior of St. Peters Abbey at Newtowne near Trim, Richard Nangle then Abbot of the Navan, and James Abbot of Castle-Martin of the Bediff Order, took the Oath as it was tendred unto them, and were received into favour.

Kildare goes now against Macgeoghean.

Afterwards on the 26th. of the same month Sir Richard returned to Dublin, where soon after in the house of the Friars Preachers, Octavianus de Palatio Archbishop of Ardmagh, Philip Bermingham Chief Justice of the Kings-Bench, and Thomas Dowdal Master of the Rolls, tendred the same to others. Sir Richards Charge being now at an end, Kildare with others of the Nobility, laboured earnestly with him, that Keating the above named Prior, and Thomas Plunket the Chief Justice of the Common-Place might be pardoned; for these two, especially Keating, had mightily provoked the Kings anger against them, as being the prime Incendiaries and Fomentors of the late Rebellion; Plunket at last by their earnest intercessions was pardoned; but as for Keating, by reason of the many crimes laid to his charge, he not only precisely denied to pardon him, but immediately displaced him of being Governor of the Castle of Dublin, which for some years he had usurped: In whose room Richard Archbould was placed, whom before perforce Keating had dispossessed.

Now Sir Richard Edgecombe having finished his last business in granting of Pardons, he on the 29th. of the said month of July went to Dalkie, whither Walter Fitz-Symons the Archbishop, and many other persons of Quality went to honour him; from whence he took Shipping, and sailed towards Cornwall, where by reason of contrary winds and tempests he arrived not till the 8th. of August following.

About this time John Payne Bishop of Meath (whom the Baron of Hoath numbers amongst the Earl of Kildare's Enemies) was sent by Kildare and the Council for England, as well to appease the King, as to subvert the Plots of his Adversaries; nor was Octavianus Archbishop of Ardmagh on the other side wanting to himself, who, the better to weaken the power of the Earl of Kildare, dealt with his friends in England to procure for him the Chancellorship of Ireland, (but in vain) the King knew full well that he was faithful unto him, but by reason of these times he had just cause to fear, least if he were made Chancellor, it might be prejudicial unto the Common-Wealth, much doubting that the contentions between the Deputy and him being at that time almost extinguished, might again revive, whereby the publick Peace might be disturbed.

Soon after the Earl went to Moy Cassel, a small Territory belonging to Macgeoghean, where by force he took and demolished the Castle of Bileragh, and then the Souldiers dispersed themselves, destroyed the Villages and Farms round about them, and so with spoils and preys they returned homewards.

This year Thomas Harold a very grave person, the Prior of the Cathedral of the Blessed Trinity in Dublin died, being on the 27th. day of February, on the request of this man, King Henry the Seventh granted twenty pounds per ann. to the said Cathedral out of the Revenues of the City of Dublin. The report is, that this Harold is descended from the Danes or Ostmen. Also this year died John Slack Bishop of Ardfer, to whom succeeded one Philip by name, on the fourth Calend of January.

Now

Now whereas mention is already made by the Author of the death of John Hedian late Bishop of Offory, who died in the year 1486. That Oliver Cantwel succeeded him, (it is true) but by reason of the turbations aforesaid, that See of Offory lay vacant till this year; then by Innocent the 8th. he was ordained Bishop thereof, but not confirmed by King Henry the Seventh till the eleventh year of his Reign, which was in the year of our Lord one thousand four hundred and ninety five, Henry Deane Bishop of Bangor then being Justice of this Nation. More concerning this Cantwel you may read in Sir James Ware's Book of the Bishops of Ireland in that See, fol. 147.

An. Reg.
V.

Addition.
Oliver Cantwel elected Bishop of Offory by Pope Innocent the 8th.

Anno Domini 1489. Et Anno Regni V.

CHAP. V.

MOST of all the Lords Temporal being sent for out of Ireland went over into England, and were at Greenwich admitted to the Kings presence, (four miles from London) where they were severally checked by him, for taking Lamberts part; and it is said amongst other things, that the King should say that he thought they would at length set the Crown upon an Ape in his absence, in case he were absent any while. The King feasted his Irish Nobles, and in that Feast he caused Lambert Simnel to perform the office of a Butler, thereby shewing and reproving them for their faults; soon after they were received into favour, and honourably entertained, but more especially in a solemn Procession at Greenwich, where they waited on the King to Church, and at last were friendly dismissed, according to the Kings wonted clemency. The King gave the Lord Baron of Hoath 300 l. Sterl. in Gold, which makes about a thousand French Crowns, which gift was a testimony of his favour.

Morrish Earl of Desmond this year was victorious in two conflicts in Ireland, in one whereof he vanquished, and slew Murchard O Carrol and Mel Murry his Brother, in another he killed Dermot Carly, the Son of Thady; that Morrish (whose name now mentioned, minds me of it) was by some surnamed the Lame, but commonly the Valiant, because of his sundry conflicts with his neighbours, of whom it is also said that he wrested away many Farms, converting them to his own use.

This year on the 6th. of July a Provincial Council or Synod was called by Ostavianus Archbishop of Ardmagh, in the Parish Church of our Blessed Lady of Athurdee (alias de Atrio Des) at which were present John Payne Bishop of Meath, Edward Courcey Bishop of Clogher, William Ferral Bishop of Ardagh, George Bishop of Dromore, Donald Fallon Bishop of Derry, Menelaus mac Carmnycan Bishop of Rapho, Walter Blake Bishop of Clonmacnoyffe. In this Synod there hapned a great contention between Thomas Brady the Son of Andrew, and one Cormuck, about the Jurisdiction of the Bishoprick

The King sent for most of the Nobility of Ireland to come for England.

See the Book of Hoath. how he feasted his Irish Nobles.

The Lord of Hoath received the gift from the King.

What feats Morrish Earl of Desmond did this year.

A Synod called by Ostavianus was at Athurdee.

What Bishops were at the Synod.

An. Dom.

1490.

Two Bishops of Kilmore at the same time

This year proved a sickly year.
What men of note died.
The Kings Son Proclaimed Prince of Wales.
Addition.
A note out of the City of Dublins Book of Memorandums, William True being then Mayor.
See the Register of St. Patricks in Dublin, 154.
Ann. 5th. to H. 7th.

Bishoprick of Kilmore; but at length the matter was by common consent left to the Arbitrament of the Bishops of Meath, Clogher, and Ardagh; but what at that time was concluded on, I do not find. However it appears by the Registers Book of the said Octavianus, that both of them (as well Thomas as Cormuck) were six years after called Bishops of Kilmore, and were present (a thing much to be admired at) at the Provincial Council held at Drogheda in St. Peters Church.

This year on the 3d. Calend of February, Philip Bermingham Lord Chief Justice of the Kings-Bench died; he was an excellent Lawyer, he was buried at St. Maries Abbeys near Dublin; and likewise Miles Roch Bishop of Leighlin, in whose place one Nicholas mac Quire succeeded, a man very Learned and Industrious. This Summer proving very pestilent and feverish, many people died. This year on the latter end of February the young Prince Arthur, King Henry's Son was Proclaimed Prince of Wales.

This year for a great rarity was sent to the Earl of Kildare six hand Guns (or Musquets) out of Germany, which his Guard, during the time that they stood Century, bore before his habitation standing in the great Hall, at the entrance into his House or Quarters at Thomas Court.

This year also John Walton, notwithstanding he was blind, Preached before Kildare and the Nobility on St. Patricks day in the said Church in Dublin, to the admiration of the Hearers, and was led to the Archbishop's Palace to Walter Fitz-Symons, where the Deputy and Nobles all dined.

Anno Domini 1490. Et Anno Regni VI.

CHAP. VI.

New Plots set afoot by the Dutchess of Burgundy in Ireland.
The Dutchess contrivance in her choice of a youth to represent the Duke of York.
Where Perkins was born, viz. at Tournay.

How the Dutchess instructed the Youth, and sent him into Portugal, and not from herself, that he may go into Ireland.

IN these days Margaret Dutchess of Burgundy (already mentioned) out of hatred to King Henry and the House of Lancaster, resolved to stir up new Rebellions in Ireland. At first she caused false rumors to be given out, that Richard Duke of Tork was not murdered in the Tower of London, as was reported, but that he escaped by flight.

Afterwards by the means of her spies she cull'd out a certain youth whose true name was Peter Osbeck, commonly called Perkin Warbeck, to represent this Duke of Tork, who was second Son to Edward the 4th. and Heir to the Kingdom by the death of his Brother Edward the 5th. for this Perkin was not unlike Richard Duke of Tork both in body and countenance, and had also a very acute wit, being of fit and convenient years. He was born at Tournay in Flanders, whose Father John Osbeck was Comptroller of that place or City, and his Mother Catharine de Faro, who could speak English.

The Dutchess judging therefore this Youth to be a fit Instrument, she keeps him privately with her self for some months, until she had taught him how to imitate the gesture of a Prince, having fully informed him how how to speak of all things that might appertain to the Duke and Dukedom of Tork, together with certain other instructions necessary for the enterprizing of so great an affair: He being thus instructed, she at length sends him privately into Portugal, together with the Lady Brampton, Wife to Sir Edward Brampton, and one of her Servants, who, in the notion of a spy, should daily observe his actions; besides, she did this on purpose, that he might from thence, and not out of Flanders, sail for Ireland, as soon as he should receive a command from her, least this contrivance should seem to proceed from her; for there were many in Ireland yet, that she knew well enough, that were much devoted to the House of Tork.

But let us now leave Perkin Warbeck in Portugal, and what relates unto him after his landing in Ireland shall be unfolded in his place: In the mean time we must not pass by how some do yet contend that this Perkin Warbeck was the true Richard Duke of Tork; it must needs be confessed (if judged) that his life (as to circumstantial) was involved in no little obscurity, especially if we consider how so many Princes (as by the sequel will appear) did for some years side with him against the King; yet it will again appear, that under colour of this every one promoted his own interest, which being ended, Perkin would be deserted. Nor would it seem new or wonderful unto those who know the History of a mock Alexander in Josephus, and of a mock Neroe in Tacitus, and Suetonius, that imaginary Princes should dare to attempt such vast designs. But now to return to our purpose.

This year William de Rupe (alias Roch) Bishop of Cork and Cloyne, having resigned up these Sees, Thadymac Carty by the Bishop of Romes means was designed his Successor. Also Bernard Bishop of Achedoe, alias Acho-ney this year dying, the Pope preferred one John de Buclamant a Spaniard upon the 9th. Calend of October. This said John was Master of the House of St. Catharines for the receiving of the fees of the Captives, which was of the Order of the Blessed Virgin at Toledo; to him succeeded Thomas Fort in the said See of Achedoe. This Thomas was a Canon of the Monastery of our Lady, and of the Augustine Order. Bodminæ Exoniensis Diocesis in Anglia.

This year in England one James, base Son to John late Earl of Ormond and Wilkshire, died in a Pilgrimage going to Jerusalem, who was in great esteem with the King, and preferred to great places. He was an expert man at his Weapon, and did great service for his King against Lambert Simnel's party: He was not called by the name of the Butlers, but by the name of Ormond, for most Histories call him by the name of Sir James Ormond, which Surname he kept to his death. He was Knighted in England by the King for the great Service he did against the Geraldines when Lambert Simnel was cryed up amongst the Irish. I put down his name more willingly to tell his Pedigree, being that several who read (Sir James Ormond) supposed him to be one of the Earls of Ormond; but John the right Earl of Ormond, whom I have already mentioned, died without true Issue, and then the Title descended to Thomas Butler, Brother to the said John, in whose custody he left the tuition and management of the aforesaid James, who is generally called Sir James Ormond; he bred him at Court, and gave him such Education as in those days were fit for persons

An. Reg.
VI.

Note that the Bishoprick of Archedo is now joyned with Killalla, and hath no Deanery. See more in Sir James Ware's de Presulibus, 277, and 278.

Addition.
One Sir James Ormond, a man of great esteem in these days; What he was, and from whom descended.

An. Dom.

1491.

of Quality, which at last preferred him to that esteem with King Henry the 7th. as hereafter you shall know more at large.

Anno Domini 1491. Et Anno Regni VII.

CHAP. VII.

This year in Ireland was called the dismal year.

The English call the Pox, Morbus Gallicus, coming from France; the French calls the Pox, Morbus Hispanicus, as from them; and they Morbus Judaicum, as from them; so the Irish, this Disease coming from England, being there first before it came hither. Polydore Virgil's relation of this terrible Disease.

Margaret Dutcheſs of Burgundy did yet procrastinate the ſending of Perkins into Ireland, in the mean while all things ſeemed peaceable there; however this year was commonly called by the Natives, the diſmal year, by reaſon of the continual fall of rain all the Summer and Autumn, which cauſed great ſcarcity of all ſorts of Grain throughout Ireland.

About the latter end of December, after the appearance of a Blazing-Star which ſhone for ſome days, a certain grievous and peſtilential Sickneſs, commonly called the Engliſh Sweat, (becauſe it came from England into Ireland) began firſt to afflict this Nation, which Diſeaſe ſome of the Phyſitians imagined to proceed from a certain malignity in the air, bred and cauſed by the often unhealthy mutations of the air: It will not be amiſs, having now ſpoken of this Sickneſs how it came here, to bring in the relations of Polydore Virgil, with its ſigns, and the cure thereof, being a thing to be admired at.

In the firſt year of Henry the 7th. at which time the Sickneſs firſt moleſted England, the ſame year a new kind of a Diſeaſe overſpread the whole Kingdom. A ſad Contagion it was, which no former age, as appears, knew; for a ſudden deadly Sweat ſeized on the Body, and with it, a pain took them in the head, the ſtomach being troubled with a vehement burning heat; if they lay in their beds, they flung off the coverlets; if clad, they put off their clothes; others being thirſty, drank cold drink; and laſtly, others enduring the heat and ſmell (for the Sweat ſtunk ſo grievous, by keeping on the clothes, provoked Sweat ſo, that out of all the number of ſick folk, ſcarce the hundredth perſon did recover; but in the ſpace of twenty four hours, the force of that Diſeaſe continuing ſo long, the Sweat going away, they were preſerved, notwithſtanding it did not ſo free them of it, but that they might have it again, whereof many periſhed.

But at laſt a remedy was found out for ſo great an evil; for they who ſweated the firſt time, when they had a ſecond fit, they obſerved thoſe things which availed in the firſt cure; and uſing the ſame for remedies, they always added ſomething that was profitable to the cure: Alſo thoſe very ſame folks, when they fell in the like fit again, they by their former obſervations eaſily avoided the violence thereof; which at laſt was ſo common, that after a great loſs of people, a very ſpeedy remedy was found out; which was this:

If

If any fell sick by day, having his clothes on, he immediately went to his bed; but if it took him in his bed by night, then he was to lye still, and not to rise for the space of twenty four hours, and in the mean time to load him so with coverlets, yet not so as to provoke Sweat, but what should gently proceed of it self, and withal to take no food, if he could forbear so long, or to drink any more warm drink than might sparingly be sufficient to quench his thirst; during the cure he was chiefly to have a care not to put his hands or feet out of the bed, to cool them; which if he did, was mortal. This remedy was found out for this new Disease, which overspread England so much at that time, and did often after grievously afflict them. Thus far Polydore writes as touching this Sickness, who on the end of the year 1507 had the Archdeaconship of Wells conferred on him.

There were some who did observe that this Sickness for the most part seized on young and middle-aged men, who if they slept never so little in the beginning of the Disease, they presently died, and that few escaped whom it took with a full stomach; and that women, young children, and old men, were very seldom troubled with the same.

Now we have no reason to wonder at the novelty of this Disease, for who knows not how that even in our very Ages new Sicknesses have risen; and therefore the same thing must be thought of in the ancient days: (As for example,) it appears by Pliny, where he speaks of the times wherein, of new Diseases that began first in Italy, particularly the Gout, the Ulcer, called Carbunculus; the Leprosie, called Elephantiasis; the Gemursa, or Corn-grief under the little toe, &c. But having spoken too much of these affairs, we will now proceed to other matters.

On the 22th. day of June this year, Queen Elizabeth bare the King a Son at Greenwich in Kent, named Henry, who afterwards Reigned, being called Henry the 8th.

About the latter end of this year, being in the month of November, the Earl of Kildare summoned a Parliament at Trim to be held on the Friday next after the Feast of the Epiphany of our Lord; but of the Laws and Acts there passed, there be none extant that I know of.

On the 15th. day of January Thomas Croke alias Bradley being almost an hundred years of age, departed this life; he was descended of a Noble Stock, but more Noble were his Vertues; who while he was a Carmelite at Norwich, he was by Pope Eugenius the Fourth Ordained Bishop of Dromore. But after he had taken upon him the Episcopal Dignity, (they were the words of John Leland the Antiquary, not yet put forth or published) he was highly esteemed by the Knights of Rhodes; for he was employed by them in the nature of an Ambassador; besides he was much esteemed of at Rome, being much accompanied of by Eugenius the 4th. to whom he dedicated some Historical Pieces concerning the affairs of the Carmelites: He lived to a decrepit old age, and deceased Anno Dom. 1491. His Sepulchre is shewn at Lovetoff a Sea-Town in the borders of Suffolk. Thus much for Leyland.

Scropes Book which he writ of the Institution of the Carmelites Order, is now to be seen in the publick Library at Cambridge. He resigned up the Bishoprick of Dromore long before his death, of his own accord; and after that submitted himself to the discipline of the Carmelites in the Ab-

An. Reg.
VII.

The Cure that was found out for this sad Disease.

This Author
Polydore was Archdeacon of Wells.

On whom this Sickness fell, and what sort generally was most apt to take it.

Though people wondred at this Disease, yet it is not to be so admired.

Pliny lib. 22.
cap. prima.

Henry the 8th.
born.

Kildare calls a Parliament.

A relation of Thomas Scrope,
late Bishop of Dromore, of his Life and Death

What Leland says of this man,

Scrope deliver-eth up his Bishoprick of his own accord.

An. Dom.

1491.

Tho. Radcliffe succeeded Scrope.
Lib. Vitæ. fol.
57. B.

Dissentions in Ulster between O Neale and O Do alias Hugh Rufus O Donnel.

bey of the same Order at Lovetofft, where he lived, separated from worldly affairs. Thomas Radcliffe in Henry the 6^{ths}. time succeeded him in the Bishoprick, who lived in England as his Predecessor had done, and as I suppose never saw his Bishoprick. In the Book of the Benefactors of the Church of Durham, commonly called heretofore the Book of Life, fol. 57. B. He is called Mr. Thomas Radcliffe Bishop of Dromore, and Suffragan of Durham, which Book is to be had in the Famous Library of Sir Thomas Cotton Baronet, (under Domitian A. 7.) The first and elder part of that Book is written in Silver and Gold Letters. Scrope's great Age seems to confirm the opinion of those who imagine the tranquility of the mind, and a Diet according to the strictest rules to be greatly available to health and long life.

These things being done at the end of the year, in the mean season Dissentions in Ulster daily encreasing between Con O Neale of Trim, and O Do (alias Hugh) Rufus O Donel Lord of Tirconnel; at last both of them in the month of August consented, by the intercession of the Earl of Kildare then Deputy, that after he had heard the complaint of both Parties, he might make Peace between them, if it might be conveniently done. The Earl took upon him to reconcile the business, but without effect, by reason of the Parties obstinate wranglings; whereupon they returned to Ulster, where after they had preyed one upon another, a Skirmish was at length fought between both, where many on both sides fell, but more on O Donnel's side: But Con O Neale a while after, (viz.) on the 6th. Ide of January 1492 (English Stile) was murdered through the treacherous dealings of his Brother Henry; and then was Tyrone as it were for a time divided, whilst one part of the Inhabitants sided with Henry, and the other with his Brother Daniel, being the elder, as I take it; until at last, by Donnel's resignation in the year 1497. the whole obstacle of his Ambition being removed, Henry alone possessed the Lordship: But this ill-gotten Power lasted not long, as shall hereafter appear in its place.

Audax omnia perpeti (inquit Horatius)
Gens humana ruit per vetitum nefas

Mankind dares venture on ill things,
And on what's forbidden, which a mischief brings.

As for O Donnel, he on the 7th. Calend of June 1497. (that we might close all together) quitted the Government, and on the Tuesday following his Son Con was placed in his stead. O Do lived afterwards till the year 1505. and deceased an old man on the 5th. Ide of July, and was Buried in the Abbey of the Friars Minors of the Observants of Donnegal, which himself had Founded. We have therefore added these things here, least the Series of the Story might receive an interruption.

And now to return to the Cheats, Frauds, and Deceits of Money-Coiners that this year the King sought to prevent; on the ninth of March Nicholas Flint was by King Henry's appointment made Overseer of the Mints of Dublin and Waterford.

Also in April following a Proclamation of the Kings came forth against counterfeit Moneys coined before in Ireland.

Nicholas Flint
the Overseer of the Mints in Dublin, etc.

Addition.

Now

Now having a Copy of the above named Proclamation, we suppose it would not be amiss to set it down.

An. Reg.
VIII.

Whereas in the first year of Richard the Third, our Predecessor, King of England, and Lord of Ireland; who sent directions to Gerald Earl of Kildare, then ruling his Affairs thereof under him or his Vice-Roy, as also now at these presents under Us, to cause and prescribe certain Laws for the prevention of false or mixt Silver in Coin within that his Lordship of Ireland.

The Copy of the Proclamation.

We do therefore likewise order and appoint that the said Gerald Earl of Kildare do take further course for the prevention of the like evil for the time to come, laying such penalties or punishments as He and our Learned Council shall think most convenient or fit for the Malefactors taken, or to be taken hereafter, either by Act or Acts of State or Parliament made, or to be made for the future, as is or shall be most convenient or necessary at present, or for the future, in that our said Lordship of Ireland. Given at Greenwich the 15th. of April, Ann. sex. Regni H. R.

Anno Domini 1492. Et Anno Regni VIII.

CHAP. VIII.

KING Henry having at this time notice given him of some new Plots in Ireland, he substituted in the room of the Earl of Kildare whom he then suspected, Walter Fitz-Symons Archbishop of Dublin (his affairs as he conceived requiring it to be) with the Title of Deputy, under Jasper Duke of Bedford, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

*Kildare put out of his Place of Lord Deputy,
and the Archbishop of Dublin put in.*

Also the same time Rowland Fitz-Eustace Baron of Portlesfer, Father in Law to the said Earl of Kildare, being removed from his Place of High-Treasurer of Ireland, which Place he held above thirty eight years, the King promoted to that Place Sir James Ormond Knight, who was base Son to John Earl of Ormond, who died in his Pilgrimage to Jerusalem in the year 1478. as before I have mentioned, coming into Ireland with a few Souldiers with him. These things hapned in June; but I find no mention of his Actions, or what Feats he did this year after his arrival, excepting a slight Skirmish or two which he had near Dublin with Kildare and the Geraldines.

*Vid. pag. 9.
Rowland Fitz-
Eustace put out of his Place, and Sir James Ormond put in.*

These Affairs occasioned much harm to both Families, among other things many of the Natives of Ireland took occasion hereby to spoil and to burn the English borders.

The Irish begin to Quarrel.

On the 11th. of June Sir Alexander Plunket was made Lord Chancellor of Ireland; the which Office faithfully to discharge, he took his Oath on the 26th. of September following; also on that very same day Thomas Butler being ordained Master of the Rolls took his Oath, and a little before, viz. on the 20th. of August (for this year was memorable for its mutations) Nicholas Turner (Plunket being removed) was Constituted Chief Justice

This year a memorable year for Mutations.

An. Dom.

1492.

Thomas Earl of Ormond, and the Prior of Canterbury, sent Embassadors to Charles the 8th. of France, A Match in hand between the French King and Anne Dutcheſs of Armorica.

This Thomas Earl of Ormond a great Favourite with Henry the 7th. and very rich.

Wars being denounced between the two Kingdoms of England and France, the Dutcheſs of Burgundy ſets her deſign a-foot.

VVhat Perkins Confession ſaith.

VVhat others ſay.

Perkins Letters be extant.

The proffers that Charles the 8th. offers Perkin.

Justice of the Common Pleas, for which Place he took his Oath alſo.

During theſe Tranſactions King Henry ſent Thomas Earl of Ormond the Queens Great Chamberlain, and Thomas Gouldſtone Prior of the Cathedral Church of Canterbury, being prudent and faithful men, as Ambaſſadors to Charles the Eighth King of France, to treat of a League between them, if it might conveniently be done, which affair (as Polydore ſaith) was managed on both ſides with much ſubtilty; but the French Kings Council about the conſummating of a Match between himſelf and Anne Dutcheſs and Heireſs of Armorica or Bretaigne being now fully detected, (for they were principally ſent to diſcover that buſineſs) they, by the Kings Command (who took it ill that the King of France ſhould reduce Bretaigne under his Dominion) returned into England re infecta.

This Earl of Ormond (pardon the digreſſion) as he flouriſhed in his Princes ſingular Favour, ſo he alſo (as they ſay) abounded in Wealth, and when after ſome years he returned for Ireland, it was thought that he carried a great ſum of Mony along with him, ſome do precisely affirm, that he had Forty thouſand pounds ſterl. beſides ready Mony that he left in his Coſſers at his death, (which happened at London in the year 1515.) a wonderful thing indeed, and ſcarce credible in thoſe days.

But to proceed to our purpoſe, the Treaty of Peace between both Kings being ſoon broke off, Wars were denounced on each ſide, the Dutcheſs of Burgundy having now, as ſhe thought, gotten a fit opportunity, ſhe diſpatcheth away a Meſſenger with Letters to Liſbon in Portugal, commanding Perkin without delay to paſs into Ireland; he as ſoon as he read the Letter, prepared himſelf for his journey, and going on ſhipboard he ſoon after landed at Cork, which is a City diſtant ſoutherly a hundred miles from Dublin; there (if any credit may be given to his Confession, written afterwards with his own Hand in England) certain of the Citizens ſeeing him richly attired, ſtuck not to affirm, that he was Son to George late Duke of Clarence; and others ſaid, that he was Baſe Son to Richard the Third; but at laſt with joint-conſent they took him to be without doubt Richard Duke of Tork, Edward the Fourth's ſecond Son: His Confession ſaith, that at the firſt he denyed theſe things upon Oath before the Mayor and Citizens, but that by their Importunities and promiſes of Aid, partly to be raiſed by the City, and partly by the Earl of Kildare and Deſmond, which Forces were to be muſtered for to aſſiſt him againſt the King, he was at length compelled to ſubmit to them. Notwithſtanding there are ſome, whom I rather believe, who expreſſy affirm, that immediately after his arrival in Ireland, he openly carried himſelf for Richard Duke of Tork, and that he was received with great joy by the Citizens of Cork, but eſpecially by John Water the Merchant: Alſo the report goeth that he was formerly an Apprentice to the ſaid Water, which I can neither affirm nor deny. The Letters that he ſent to Kildare and Deſmond are yet extant, wherein he entreated them to ſide with him againſt King Henry, and to ſend him Auxiliary help to recover his right. And thus was Ireland at this time as it were a Theatre or Stage on which Masked Princes entred, though ſoon after their Vizards being taken off, they were expulſed the Stage.

As ſoon as Charles King of France heard of this, he inſtantly laid hold on this occaſion, and immediately diſpatched away Meſſengers to Perkin, ſignify-signifying unto him that he had resolved to supply him with sufficient Forces to recover his Kingdom from an Usurper, being a professed Enemy to France; and desired him for his sake to hasten to him into France.

Perkin rejoycing with these great promises, and imagining now that all things fell out according to his own mind, being edged on by the said Messengers, viz. Lewis de Laques, and Stephen Fryon, late the Kings Secretary for the French Tongue, but distasted with the King for I know not what, having lately fallen off from him. He communicated this affair with his chief Friends and Favourites, and soon after (with their advice) he set Sail towards France; where the winds being favourable, he safely arrived; and being conducted to the Kings Court, he was saluted, and Honourably entertained by Charles the 8th. by the name of Duke of York. These things were done openly; but in truth the King did it for no other end than to draw our King Henry to more equal conditions of Peace; for a Negotiation being made for Peace, and afterwards transacted, Perkin was soon neglected: He therefore out of fear (as it was thought) lest he should be delivered up to the King, privately fled into Flanders to the Dutchesse's Court; where, as if he had been Edward the Fourth's true Son, and then the first time seen by her, he had a most Honourable Reception.

At this time a Prophecy of St. Catoldus an Irish man, who was the first Bishop of Rachuen in Munster (which is a Southern Province in Ireland) and afterwards translated to Tarentum in Italy, engraven in Leaden Plates, is said to be found at Tarentum, and shewn to Ferdinand the first King of Arragon, and both the Sicilies. The wonderful things that are reported as well of the said Prophecy, as of the finding thereof, may be seen in Alexander ab Alexandro (who then lived) Genialium Lib. 3. Cap. 15. of publick Monuments and Books heretofore made up in Leaden Sheets. See also Hermanus Hugo Lib. de prima Scribendi, and Origen, Cap. 10.

But nothing more signalizeth this year than the Navigation of Christopher Columbus of Genoa; wherein, as it were a new World, was first discovered to those of Europe, as many do think; in the Atlantick Ocean, by the Assistants of Ferdinand King of Castile. Some are not wanting, who refer that of Seneca in his Medea, as a Prophecy to this discovery.

An. Reg.
VIII.

How Perkin failed for France, and how he was entertained there.

To what end Charles entertained Perkin at Court.

Perkin fled out of France into Flanders.

Catoldus his Prophecy found this year engraven in Lead.

Where this Prophecy may be seen.

Columbus this year sets Sail to find out new-found Lands.
Seneca his Prophecy.

Venient Annis

Secula Seris, quibus Oceanus

Vincula Rerum Laxet, & Ingens

Pateat Tellus, Typhisque novos

Detegat Orbis, nec sit Terris

Ultima Thule.

Seneca seems to have borrowed these things out of Plato's Dissertions, in his Phædo of an unknown World. How much our King Henry was wanting to himself, and his own Glory, by his delays; to whom Columbus had first made this proffer, let others judge. Now to return to our Irish Affairs.

There was so great a Drought this Summer throughout Ireland, that many Rivers were almost dried up; the Cattel dying every where with thirst. Also soon after the Pestilence began to rage, by which, among many

From whom Seneca seems to borrow his sayings.

Columbus first offered his service to King Henry the 7th. This year a year of drought and of pestilence.

An. Dom.
1493.

Addition. :

Tho. Bennet
Mayor; Richard Tirrel,
Tho. Newman
Bayliffs.

ny others, James Flemming Baron of Slane was taken away, to whom his Son Christopher succeeded; who was afterwards made High Treasurer of Ireland by Henry the 8th. on the 13th. of January 1513. (English Stile.) And lastly, it will not be amiss, in a word, to mention how this year a Comet shone for the space of two months, after Sun-set always appearing.

This year, as it appears by the Records of this City of Dublin, and especially in the Memorandums of the same, collected by my Father, Sir James Ware Knight, out of the Book (called the Chain-Book) be as followeth. The Harvest following, James of Ormond came down into this Countrey with a great Host of Irish men Camped in Thomas Court Wood; and from this time began the great Quarrel between the Earl of Kildare, who lyeth buried in Christ-Church in Dublin, and the Family of the Butlers.

Anno Domini 1493. Et Anno Regni IX.

CHAP. IX.

A Parliament called at Dub-
lin.

Rowland, Baron of Port- lester, ordered to give an account of the Place which he had so long held for 37 or 38 years.

Waterford restored to all its Priviledges.

John Water
Citizen of Cork, called before the Parliament.

ABout the end of June, viz. on the Friday next after the Nativity of St. John Baptist, Walter Archbishop of Dublin, Deputy under Jasper Duke of Bedford, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, summoned a Parliament at Dublin; in which all the Inquisitions that before that time were found against him, by the instigation of Rowland Baron of Portlester, were all declared void; and by a sudden turn of the Wheel, a day was given unto the said Baron for his appearance in the Exchequer, to give an account of his Office whilst he was High Treasurer of Ireland, and that upon pain of losing his Lands and Goods, and his Body to be disposed of at the Kings pleasure. When, and by what means Distempers were allayed, I find not.

At this time the Citizens of Waterford, who some years before were condemned in a Parliament held by Gerald Earl of Kildare, were by a Law fully restored; and the Statutes heretofore made against them, were disannulled and abrogated: Also the Possessions and Immunities of that City were confirmed.

In this same Parliament, took well the Plots of certain seditious Persons: On the 12th. of August John Water Citizen of the City of Cork was summoned to appear, being one of Perkin Warbecks chief Abettors, (above mentioned) and was ordered to render himself into the hands of the Constable of the Castle of Dublin, upon pain of Felony the same day, for the same cause, a day was assigned to Philip Water (the Son of the said John) and Dean of Limerick, together with others expressly mentioned in the Statute; among whom was Edmond Comerford Dean of Kilkenny, who notwithstanding was happily quit, and was afterwards made Bishop of Osory; as shall hereafter appear in its place.

Lastly,

Lastly, in this Parliament (to omit matters of lesser consequence) all the Crown-Lands which were granted, or alienated after the first year of Henry the 6th. were restored to the King, but yet with certain cautions mentioned in the Statute. In August following this Parliament was dissolved.

Soon after this, about the 6th. of September following, Sir Robert Preston, first Viscount of Gormanstown, succeeded Walter Fitz-Symons Archbishop of Dublin, in the place of Deputy under Jasper Duke of Bedford, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland; which Honour Edward the Fourth had conferred on him.

Sir Robert as soon as he received the Sword of State, summoned the Nobles and Prime Men of the said Counties (viz. of Dublin, Meath, and Kildare, as many as could meet) to assemble at Trim; where, on the 12th. of the same month, (being the day appointed) there met Alexander Plunket Lord Chancellor, Gerald Earl of Kildare, John Payne Bishop of Meath, Edmond Lane Bishop of Kildare, Christopher Flemming Baron of Slane, Richard Nugent Baron of Delvin, Edmond Plunket Baron of Killeney, Nicholas St. Lawrence Baron of Hoath, Christopher Barnwel Baron of Trimlestown, John Plunket Baron of Dunsany, Sir William Darcy and Sir William Wellesey, and some others; all which on the 4th. day after, gave in both their Bonds and Pledges to observe and keep certain Articles tending to the Peace and welfare of the Kingdom.

The chief Points of the Articles were to restrain the Militia without the Kings or Deputies assent, and to take away certain Irish Tributes, with certain other Articles against Men-slaves, Thieves and Vagabonds. He also held a Parliament at Droghedah, whose Statutes are not extant: But that Parliament at Droghedah, in the next that was held in the following year under Poynings, was declared void; and that for these following causes.

Because the Duke of Bedford, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, whose Deputy he was, had resigned his Place before the summoning of the Parliament.

Because the summoning was not general, but only directed to four Counties.

Because in the Kings Letters Patents, by which he was made Deputy, there was no Power granted him to call a Parliament.

In the mean time, in the month of October, Walter Archbishop of Dublin went for England, where he fully informs the King of the State-affairs of Ireland.

The Earl of Kildare (a thing not to be passed over in silence) having intelligence that his Adversaries at Court were picking an hole in his Coat, in the month of November he set Sail for England, to purge himself to the King of the crimes that were laid to his charge; where indeed he was heard: But at that time his Answer being not approved of by the King, he was the next year following sent back for Ireland with Sir Edward Poynings, who was ordained Deputy of Ireland to examine the matters there.

James Ormond, Treasurer of Ireland, is said to be one of the Earls greatest Adversaries; who a little before, with Fire and Sword, had burnt up and destroyed his and his friends Farms and Possessions in the County

An. Reg.
IX.

When the Parliament ended.

Sir Rob. Preston Lord Deputy, who was first Viscount Gormanstown.

This Sir Robert summons a Parliament not of above 3 or 4 Counties.

The chief Articles of that which passed.

The reasons why they were made void first.

Secondly.

Thirdly and lastly.

The Archbishop goes over to the King.

Kildare goes to Court to purge himself of certain crimes laid to his charge.

James Ormond a great enemy of Kildares.

An. Dom.

1493.

Deputy Chancellor.The Mayor of Dublin committed to the Castle of Dublin.King Henry sends Spies into Flanders and elsewhere after Perkin War-beck.

Addition.

King Henrys question to the Archbishop.The Archbishops reply.The part of that Letter which the Archbishop formerly writ.Vide Richard Stainburst, fol.
41. a. i.

of Kildare; and afterwards leaving Sir William Preston as Deputy in his place, who was Son to the Lord Viscount Gormanstown, hasted into England; and in presence of the Kings Council he laid many crimes to the Earls charge.

Perhaps it will not be amiss to mention here that about the beginning of this year John Serjeant Mayor of Dublin, (which Office he had born twice before) was committed to the Castle of Dublin, Richard Arland being for the remainder of the year substituted in his Place. I cannot for certain tell what Offence was laid to this Serjeants charge, nor what became of him afterwards: Some do suspect that he was a promoter of Perkin Warbecks designs, and engaged in his Conspiracy.

Matters thus passing at home while these Affairs were transacted in Ireland, King Henry was not wanting to himself; for the easier to subvert the Plots of the Dutchess of Burgundy, and the mock Duke of York, he sent divers Spies into Flanders, under divers pretexts; who discharged their Parts so well, that many of the Conspirators were defeated in England; the King having full information of the whole mystery, whereby the prime Conspirators in England lost their Heads. What the King did in order to the settling of Irish Affairs, shall be set forth in the next year.

Before we set forth what the Contents of the next year were, we shall only add to this Translation, a little Passage between King Henry the 7th. and Walter Fitz Symons Archbishop of Dublin; whom we have already mentioned, to have informed the King of several Affairs of this Kingdom.

Among which, this was one. The King among several discourses with the Archbishop, asked him this Question: My Lord, I do much admire at my Subjects of Ireland, why they do so oft rebel against their Prince, and that they have not improved my Lordship there all this while, since our Ancestors Conquest there; the Countrey being, as is reported, a fruitful Soil, and a place for good Trading?

The Archbishop replied, I signified it unto your Highness in my Letter, among other things, touching your Highnesses Affair there. The King replied, I think you have. Now, for the better satisfaction of the Reader, we shall insert so much of that Letter as now in this discourse is convenient for the purpose; which is as followeth: The greatest and chiefest thing that not only impoverisheth this your Highnesses Lordship of Ireland, as also causeth so many Stirs and Fars with them (is idleness;) for if the Father have an Estate, and dies, though he have never so many children, they all hanker on that name, who is Prince or Chief of them, rather than to take an Employment or Trade, supposing it a disgrace so to do; their Fathers afore them having acquired an Estate. This is the custom of the Countrey, which your Highness Subjects have learned of the Natives, filling their panches, care not for any other than brawling, and plotting. There are so many Straglers, and Poor, that it is more charity to put them to Work, than to succour them with Victuals. This passage, among other things, Sir James Ware collected out of Sir Thomas Cotton's Antiquities, in that Famous Library, in the year 1656.

Having read another Passage between this Grave Father and King Henry the 7th. during his stay in England, as aforesaid.

Walter being in the presence of the King, and other of his Nobles, when when one made an Oration before him, the King demanded of this Walter, what he found most marerial therein; Truly, quoth Walter, if it please your Highness it pleaseth me, I find no fault, save only he flattered your Highness too much. Now in good Faith replied the King, our Father of Dublin, we minded to find the same fault our selves.

An. Reg.
X.

Anno Domini 1494. Et Anno Regni X.

CHAP. X.

THe King now resolving to send some prudent and faithful persons for Ireland, as well to detect Perkins the Impostor, as to undermine the Plots of his Abettors. Whereupon at one and the same time, viz. on the 13th. of September, he ordained Sir Edward Poynings, one of his Counsellors, Lord Deputy of Ireland, Henry Dean Bishop of Bangor in Wales, and Prior of both Lanthons, Lord Chancellor; also he made Sir Hugh Conway High Treasurer, by the resignation of James Ormond; also about the same time new Judges were appointed, viz. Thomas Bouring Chief Justice of the Court of Kings Bench, John Tapclip Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, and Walter Evers Chief Baron of the Exchequer, men very well versed in the Laws of England: He presently dispatched all these for Ireland together, with some Forces under Poynings Command, scarce amounting to 1000 men. These a few days after landed safely at Hoath, within seven miles of Dublin, where Poynings with them marched up to Dublin; then he received the Sword after the usual manner of his Predecessors, and the rest of the Kings Ministers above-mentioned were made of his Majesties Privy Council.

Soon after Poynings uniting his Forces together, as well those of his own, which he brought out of England, as others collected by the Earl of Kildare and James Ormond, he hasted towards Ulster, against Perkins Abettors, who with other Rebels had fled thither. There he began with Fire and Sword to destroy the Territories of O Hanlan, Magenis and other Neighbours: the Irish in the mean time flying to the Boggs and Woods; James Ormond was at that time in the Army, who is said to have added Oyl to that Flame. They say that the Earl of Kildare (who was there at that present) was highly incensed against Poynings, as if he were indulgent to his Adversaries, and had promoted their Designs; and that thereupon he had entred into a close Combination with certain Irish Lords to oppose the Deputy, and more especially with Malachi O Hanlan (in whose Country the Deputy then was) to murder him: yet there be some who imagine this Report to have been given out (not without cause) by the Earls Adversaries, to hasten his downfall; and this seems to be more likely, as well because O Hanlan being two years after sworn, did declare the Earl to be free of that Wickedness; as also because the Earl being sent soon after for England, and heard by the King, was happily quit; as you shall know further hereafter. About

The coming over of Sir Edward Poynings, and several other prime men, for to order the affairs of Ireland.

Poynings receives the Sword, and all the abovementioned persons of Quality were sworn Privy Counsellors.

Poynings marched to Ulster, and what feats he did in that progress.

Several rumours and reports of the Earl of Kildare against the Deputy.

An. Dom.

1494.

James the Earls Brother strengthens Carlogh Castle against Poyning's.

Poyning's calls a Parliament at Droghedagh.

No Parliament to be summoned without the great Seal of England in Ireland.

The English Statutes to be observed here.

The Lords to sit in Parliament in their Robes.

The Kilkenny Acts confirmed in this Parliament.

(Protection.)

Several Acts passed for the Hospital of St. Johns of Jerusalem by Dublin, which be as follow.

the same time James the Earls Brother, by his advice and counsel, (as is said) suddenly seized on Carlogh Castle, which is thirty miles from Dublin, and strengthened it with a Garrison. As soon as the Deputy heard this news he hastened his return, and taking Pledges from O Hanlan and Magennis to observe the Peace, he marched to Carlogh, where he straightly beleaguered the Castle, and after a weeks Siege or two he took it by surrender.

About this time the Deputy calls a Parliament, which Parliament began at Droghedagh the Munday next after the Feast of St. Andrew the Apostle, in which those heavy Impositions of Coyn and Livery, &c. were wholly abolished, and in lieu of that Subsidies were granted to the King.

There were also many other Laws made at that time, among which one was, that for the time to come no Parliament should be called in Ireland, without transmitting or yielding of Reasons and Acts to be made for calling the same under the Great Seal of Ireland to the King and Council, with an Approbation of the said Acts, together with His Majesties leave, under the Great Seal of England, to summon a Parliament.

Also that memorable Law, which (as well as the former) is at this day commonly called Poyning's Law, of the publick Statutes of England then lately ordained to be received also in Ireland; for before that in old times (as Lawyers do observe) the English Statutes were admitted in Ireland.

Also in another Law was made that the Lords should appear in Parliament in their Robes, as they were wont to do twenty or twenty four years before.

Also certain Statutes of Kilkenny were confirmed, for the Preservation of the publick Peace, with an honourable Elogium of Ireland's Fidelity: while these Statutes were there observed, Murder, and the raising War against the Lord Lieutenant, the Deputy and the English Nation were made High Treason: Power to treat of Peace or War, and to keep Guns or pieces of Ordnance without the Governours leave were restrained; also the Words or Motto's of unlawful Patronage, and which nourished Dissention between Noble Families, viz. Crom-abo Butlerabo, (the one used by Ormond, the other by Kildare) and such like things were abrogated: amongst which numbred Desmonds Shannet-abo, and Clanriccards Galriagh-abo, and some other things of this kind, fit for the times, were established.

Also in this Parliament, upon the Petition of Mr. John Kendall Prior of the Hospital of St. Johns of Jerusalem, in the name and stead of the great Master of Rhodes, a Law was made, whereby all the Alienations and Concessions made by James Keating, already mentioned, Thomas Talbot his Predecessor, and other Priors of the Hospital of the same Order in Ireland were made void.

Also other Orders were made for restoring of the Jewels, Ornaments and Reliques of the said Priory, which were engaged and pawned by Keating: also to make good those Preceptories which were constituted by him; and not to grant that Priory to any in Ireland, except he were descended of an English Race, and likewise to receive a Support from the same Order in England.

Lastly,

Lastly, among other Acts, Gerald Earl of Kildare and James Fitz Thomas Gerald the Earls Brother (as I take it,) whom we have already mentioned, and many more of the Geraldines and their partakers were declared Traytors; also the Earl himself was by Poynings commanded, apprehended, and sent to Droghedab, and was soon after sent Prisoner for England: but the event hapned beyond expectation; for he was at length approved of by the King, and restored to all his Right, wick shall more opportunely appear in its due time.

The Parliament being not yet dissolved, the Deputy undertook another Expedition against the Rebels; but even at that time, by reason of the Woods and Boggs unto which they fled, he reaped not his expected Fruit; in the mean time before his departure he committed a certain Authority to Dean then Chancellor in his absense, to continue the Parliament, as also adjourn, prorogue and dissolve the same. The Statutes of this Parliament (which is noted by the by) are written in English, whereas the Laws of former Parliaments were done in the old French tongue, and digested into Rolls.

About that time the Military Fraternity of St. George ceased, which was by Act of Parliament in December 1479. under Edward the 4th. established, for the Defence of the Counties of Dublin, Kildare, Meath and Lowth. This Society consisted of thirteen principal men, who yearly at Dublin, on St. Georges day, chose a Captain or Leader out of the above number for the year to come; but the Captain had but very few armed men at his Command, being only 200.

The first men, when they were elected into this Society, were,

Out of the County of Kildare.

Gerald Earl of Kildare, then Deputy under Richard second Son to Edward the 4th. Duke of Tork, and Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.
Rowland Eustace Baron of Portlesfer, and Treasurer of Ireland.
Sir Nicholas Wogan.

Out of the Cotunty of Dublin.

James Keating Prior of St. Johns Hospital of Jerusalem in Ireland.
Robert St. Lawrence Baron of Hoath, and The Mayor of Dublin.

Out of the County of Meath.

Robert Preston Viscont Germanstown.
James Flemming Baron of Slane.
Sir John Plunket Knight.
Alexander Plunket Esquire.

Out of the County of Lowth.

Richard Bellew Esquire.
The Mayor of Droghedagh.
Nicholas Taffe Esquire.

But to proceed, on the 28th. of April James Waley Doctor of Divinity departed this life, he was a Minorite, and some time Bishop of Kildare, and

An. Reg.
X.

The Earl of Kildare declared a Traytor, and all his followers likewise.

Yet Kildare came off at last notwithstanding the Act of Parliament.

Poynings goes against the Rebels, and leaves Dean the Chancellor orders for the Parliament.

The Statutes written in French till this Parliament altered them.

The Fraternity of St. George is now annull'd and set aside by Act of Parliament.

Of what number this Order consisted.

How this number was ordered at the first Election.

Kildare County

Dublin County

Meath County.

Lowth County

Two Bishops resigned their Places before their Deaths.

An. Dom.

1495.

Ardmagh Register, fol. 405.b.

Cormock, Lord of Muskery murdered.

The English Laws for a long time not observed with the Irish notwithstanding Poyning's Acts.

The Reliques of St. Paladius was this year translated out of Ireland into Scotland.

and was buried at London in the Abbey of the same Order, whereof he was Guardian, when he had lived long in great tranquility in the same Abbey, having of his own accord renounced the Bishoprick of Kildare, and was in the mean time made the Bishop of Londons Suffragan. In September following Nicholas Bishop of Elphin, by reason of his crazy old age, and the dimness of his sight, finding himself unable for so great a burthen, did willingly also quit the Bishoprick, reserving only to himself during his life an annual Pension of 50 Marks, payable out of the said See. The Instrument of this Resignation is to be had in the Register of Octavianus Arch Bishop of Ardmagh, in the end whereof he entreats the Pope, that he would transfer George Bishop of Down to the same resigned See of Elphin.

About the latter end of this year Cormock Carty Lord of Muskery, a small Territory, not far from Cork, was cruelly murdered by Owen the Son of Teige his Cousin German; Cormocks Body was brought to the Abbey of the Friars Minors of Killareah, which the said Cormock had founded, and was there intombed. Whether or no the Fratricide was judged according to the Laws I find not.

This is certain, that although many good Laws were in those days established for the benefit and welfare of the Common-Wealth, yet the Force and Vertue of them did neither then or for a long time after extend beyond those Countries inhabited by English people.

Also this same year (that now we may conclude the year) the Reliques of St. Paladius the Bishop were in a Golden Box translated to Tordon in Scotland by William Schewes Arch-Bishop of St. Andrews; I say that Paladius, who in the first times of the Church of Ireland was by Pope Celestinus sent into Ireland, there to propagate the Christian Faith, in which Imployment, when he had laboured a little; being about to return for Rome, he went into Scotland, where he died at Tordon the 18th. Calend. of January, anno 431. being the very same year that he came into Ireland. But in MSS. Annals of Inisfallen Abbey, I hear, he is said to have tarried a Twelvemonth in Ireland; and then in Britan to have slept in Christ: Tirechanus in the Life of St. Patrick says, that he suffered Martyrdom there. But now to proceed to other affairs.

Anno Domini 1495. Et Anno Regni XI.

CHAP. XI.

Perkin this year comes and lands in Kent, but beaten back again.

THis year Perkin Warbeck broke out of his Sanctuary in Flanders; for after that he had resolved, by the Dutchess persuasion, to hazard the Dye of War in England, he got a few Souldiers together, viz. about 500 or 600 Men, being strangers for the most part, and the scum of the people, he steered his course for England, and about about the beginning of July arrived on the Coast of Kent, he soon landed some of his men on that open shore, on purpose to try the minds of the Kentish men: but 169 of his men were taken by the Townsmen of Sandwich, and other Inhabitants of the neighbouring Countries; the rest were partly slain, and partly repulsed to their Ships again. Then he bent his course for Ireland, where he likewise expected more Aid: In the mean season the Prisoners were brought to London, being bound with Ropes, where some were soon after hanged at London and Wapping, others on Gibbets about the Sea coasts, as a terrour for the like Rogues. But when Perkin after his arrival in Munster had there also failed of his hope, and likewise justly fearing an imminent tempest from the Kings Ministers, he did, by the advice of his abettors, set sail for Scotland to demand Aid of King James the 4th. There he was decently attended, being very honourably received by him, as if he were the true Duke of Tork; and, which is to be wondred at, not long after, by the Kings Assent, he married the Lady Catherine Gordon Daughter to Alexander Earl of Huntley, being a Virgin and in the flower of her age, both fair and modest, and allied to the King himself.

Some do report that the King of Scotland, who bore no good will to Henry the 7th. did lay hold on this proffered occasion to proclaim Wars against him, being also edged on by private Letters from Maximilian the Emperor, Charles King of France, and Margaret the Dutchess Dowager of Burgundy written in the favour and on the behalf of this counterfeited Prince.

Nor was he altogether out of some hopes from Ireland; Perkins therefore (under the feigned name of Richard Duke of Tork) writ to Maurice Earl of Desmond, in which he earnestly entreated him to send him Aid into Scotland, for the recovery of his Right in England, but all in vain; for the Earl (by what reasons induced I know not) yet sent to him no help.

In the mean time while these were in agitation in Ireland, that we may return to Poynings; he at that time governed Ireland, being in a peaceable condition: in January following he was called back from thence and went for England, where not long after his return King Henry, for the good and profitable Service that he did him, as well in times of Peace as in War, made him a Knight of the Garter: besides he afterwards for many years flourished in favour and power, as well with our Henry the 7th. as with his Son Henry the 8th.

In Poynings stead, as was said, Henry Dean Bishop of Bangor immediately was substituted by the Title of Justice of Ireland, so that now at one and the same time he was both Justice and Chancellor of Ireland, as also Bishop of Bangor and Prior of Lanthorn, to which also the Cells of Colp and Duleek in Meath did belong: when he had enjoyed these Honours for almost nine months he was recalled by the King for England, as shall hereafter appear. In the mean time on the 26th. of April the King continued William Ratcliffe Vice-Treasurer of Ireland, and the next day he made John Pimpe Treasurer of the Army there.

In the Month of July Octavianus Archbishop of Armagh celebrated a Synod at Droghedagh in St. Peters Church, where the Indulgences of George Bishop of Dromore were confirmed, of the Indulgences to the Hos-

An. Reg.
XI.

He sails for Ireland.

How Perkin was received in Scotland, and of his Marriage.

The Reasons why the King of Scotland married his Kinswoman to Perkin,

Perkin hoped for aid out of Ireland, but failed therein.

Poynings, ruling Ireland, at his return was made Knight of the Garter.

The Bishop of Bangor Justice
of Ireland.

An Hospital for the Order of the Holy Ghost to be in Ireland,

pital

An. Dom.

1495.

Georg. Brannus
Procurator bujus Hospitalis.

Odo O Donnell his return from Scotland, and what ensued after.

Gasper Duke of Bedford Lord
Lieutenant of Ireland died
this year.

Kildare in England endeavoring to purge himself.

This year his Countess died.

Oliver Cantwell
Bishop of Offery confirmed by K. H. 7.

John Fitz Gerard made Bishop of Ard-fert.

James Ware de Presulibus Hibernica 237.

The Bishop of Dromore translated to Elphin.
fol. 259.

Ja. Ware de Presulibus Hi-
bernica.

pital of the Holy Ghost in Saxony (or in the Town of the Saxons,) of the City granted to the Benefactors, of the Minister thereof; and also to build a new Hospital of the Holy Ghost, viz. a member of the Proctor of the said Hospital in Ireland.

I have seen, as I suppose, a Seal of this George, which he used before he took on him his Episcopal Habit, with this Inscription, SIGIL. GEORGII BRANNI VICARII GENERALIS SANCTI SPIRITUS; he was a Grecian born, and an Athenian by his Country. Of the rest of the Acts of this Synod there are none extant that I know of.

In August following Odo or Hugh Rufus O Donnell being lately returned from Scotland, he overthrew the O Connors in a Battel near Sligoe, he also beleaguer'd, though in vain, the Castle of Sligoe, which Maurice the Son of Gerald had built in the year 1252. for at the approach of Ulick Bourk Earl of Clanriccard with a potent Army, being terrified therewith, he immediately withdrew his Army into Tyrconnell. Ulick in the mean time burnt up and destroyed in the bordering County the Possessions and Tenements of all his Abettors. This was the Son of that Ulick whom we have mentioned to have deceased in the first year of this Kings Reign.

It may not seem here to be altogether besides the purpose to mention in a word or two, that this year was the last of Gasper de Hatfield Duke of Bedford, some time (as we have said before) Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, who being aged and unmarried deceased on the 21st. of December, and was buried at Keinsham in Summersetshire in England: also this year Kildare remained in England, endeavouring to purge himself of the Crimes objected against him (but whether he were till this time kept in Prison I know not;) Alison his Wife, Daughter to Rowland Eustace Baron of Portlester, died in Ireland with grief (as is thought) which she contracted by reason of the afflictions and dangers of her Husband, and was buried in the Abbey of the Friars Minors near Kilcullen Bridge, which his Father had built.

Oliver Cantwell was not confirmed in the Bishoprick of Offery till this year of our Lord 1495. Henry Dean being Justice of this Kingdom, Innocent the 8th. nominated him to be the Man that should succeed John O Hedian in that See, anno 1488. but it was not confirmed till this said year by King Henry the 7th.

John Fitz Gerald, descended of the *Fitz Gerald*s the Earls of Kildare, formerly a Canon of Ardfert, was this year 1495. by Pope Alexander the sixth provided and consecrated Bishop thereof on the 12th. Kalends of December aforesaid.

This year of our Lord 1495. in the Synod held at Droghedah by Octavianus de Palatio aforesaid, was George Brann, then Bishop of Dromore, translated to the See of Elphin, being in the Month of July, anno aforesaid.

Anno Domini 1496. Et Anno Regni XII.

C H A P. XII.

THe Earl of Kildare was this year admitted in the Kings presence to defend his Cause, and to answer to the Crimes which were objected against him, in which affairs he so behaved himself, that his business being fully understood, he was received into favour. The last Article produced against him concluded with this sharp and nipping expression, That all Ireland was not able to Rule him; and that thereupon the King should reply, saying; Is it so? then he shall therefore Rule all Ireland: And indeed soon after he was by His Majesty restored to all his Rights, and on the 6th. of August after he was by the Kings Letters Patents made Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. Thus Stainhurst with some little alteration has it; nor did he betray the Trust reposed in him by the King; for after his return to his native Country, he shewed himself both valiant and faithful to his Prince: some do mention that he left his eldest Son Gerald at that time in England, there to remain as a Pledge for his future Fidelity.

While matters were a doing in England on the 25th. of June by an Order of the Kings Council at Dublin, Dean then Justice ordained Richard Nugent Baron of Delphin to be General of all the Forces; or Commissary, (for so are the words of the publick Records) Commander in chief for the Defence of the Counties of Dublin, Kildare, Meath and Vriell.

The Earl of Kildare returned for Ireland in the Month of August, with his second Wife Elizabeth Saint Johns, whom he had lately married, and as soon as he had received the Sword, according to the custom, from his Predecessor the Bishop of Bangor, he gathered together his Forces, and undertook an Expedition against O Brian, and passing through Limerick into Thomond, he took by Assault, and dismantled Feyback, a Castle belonging to Finin mac ne Marra, and soon after Ballynice Castle, and other fortified places: also after his return, (that the Kings Officers might proceed) he and Octavianus Arch-Bishop of Armagh, who had lived long in debate and contention, were reconciled to each other, from which time forward the Arch-Bishop passed the remainder of his days in great tranquility.

During these transactions Dean Bishop of Bangor was recalled for England, and Walter Arch-Bishop of Dublin succeeded in the Chancellorship, who at this mutation was but a little before returned out of England, he was of a comely presence, a grave and learned man, and able to strike a Reverence.

The Earl of Kildare came off, and afterwards made Lord Lieutenant of Ireland

The Lord of Delvin made General and chief Commander.

The Earl of Kildare received the Sword, and immediately went against O Brian and others.

Deane the Chancellor recall'd, and Walter Fitz Symons placed in his stead.

Gratior est Pulchro veniens è Corpore virtus.

An. Dom.

1496.

Virtue the more esteemed is That from a lovely Feature Springs.

What Walter Fitz Symons did to encourage Learning.

An Oration being made before K. H. 7. he asked Walt. Fitz Symons his opinion therein.

Walters answer.

King Henry's reply.

Flattery too much used at Court at present, but down-right dealing were better.

A relation of Deanes Preferences after he had left Ireland.

Rowland Eustace Baron of Portlester died this year.

See Sir James Ware's Antiquities, fol. 174.

A relation of Rowland Lord Baron of Portlester, and whose Son he was.

Thomas dieth and Gilduff his Brother succeeded.

King Henry's mercies in pardoning Desmond and others.

Nor must we pass over in silence, at a Provincial Council held in Christ Church in Dublin, he assigned certain Stipends to the Lecturers of the University at Dublin, payable yearly by himself and his Suffragans. It is likewise said, that when he was in England a certain Orator made a learned Oration, His Majesty being then present; and that when it was ended, the King turning about to the Archbishop (who was present at it) should demand of him what is opinion thereof might be, and that the Archbishop (who knew that Flattery was the perpetual evil of Kings) should freely return an answer in these words, My Liege, I find no fault but Flattery in this Oration: and that then the King should smilingly conclude, As God is my help, my Lord of Dublin, even We our selves took notice of that fault. And thus the Ingenuity of the Archbishop was worthily approved of by a most excellent Prince.

As for Dean, having been four years in England, after his return, for his many excellent Parts and faithful Services performed to the King, he was first made Bishop of Salisbury, and a year or two after he was translated to the See of Canterbury, where he ruled but a short time: for on the 15th. day of February English stile, 1502. he deceased at Lambeth; from thence his Corps was carried to Canterbury, and was there buried in the Cathedral Church, viz. in the midst of the place called the Martyr-dome, under a Marble Stone, adorned with Brass Plates, with an Epitaph expressing particularly his Ecclesiastical Promotions.

Now to proceed, on the 19th. day of December Rowland Fitz Eustace Baron of Portlester, being very aged, departed this life, (whom Edward the 4th. advanced to that Dignity on the 4th. of May 1462. and was buried in the Abbey of the Friars Minors, of the Observance, near to Kilcullen Bridge, in the County of Kildare, which he himself raised from the Foundation. Notwithstanding he built a goodly Monument for himself and his deceased Wife Margaret Feincks at Dublin, anno 1455. in St. Andrews Church, viz. in St. Marys Chappel, founded likewise by himself, as by the Tombs Inscription appears.

He had tryal of the various changes and chances of Fortune, he was for a time Deputy under George Duke of Clarence Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, he then being Chancellor of Ireland, and for 38 years and more High Treasurer of the same; in which Employments, whilst he held the same, he very much enriched himself. But mark the vicissitude of humane affairs; a few years before his death he was discharged of his Treasurership, and suffered other troubles, and those none of the least, as we have already spoken: he was Son to Sir Edward Fitz Eustace, whom Henry the 6th. had ordained Deputy under Richard Duke of York, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland in the year 1454.

Neither is it to be omitted, that Cornelius O Bren, the Son of Tirlagh, dyed before the said Portlester, being Lord of Thomond, to whom succeeded his Brother Gilduff, by a popular Election. These things changed about the end of the year.

On the 26th. of August King Henry having an inkling of certain clandestine contrivances and endeavours of Perkins Abettors, the easier to break break them, and to keep those of Munster in their duty, he pardoned Maurice Earl of Desmond for all his Offences, and some others of the great ones of Munster: he extended the like to David Archbishop of Cashell, and to some of his Suffragans, viz. the Bishops of Corke and Waterford: also about this time he confirmed to the Townsmen of Toughall their antient Liberties, adding new ones thereunto.

ORATE pro Anima Rolandi Fitz Eustace de Portlester, qui hunc locum sive Capellam, dedit in honorem beatae Mariae Virginis; etiam pro Anima Margaretæ Uxoris suæ, & pro Animis omnium fidelium defunctorum. Anno Dom. 1455.

John Payne Bishop of Meath was this year, on the third of October, made Keeper of the Rolls of the Chancery of Ireland.

An. Reg.
XIII.

The Inscription of the Baron of Portlesters Monument.

Animalibus.

Episcopus Mendensis Cuscos Rotulorum. Canc.

Anno Domini 1497. Et Anno Regni XIII.

CHAP. XIII.

ABOUT this time a Treaty of Peace was set on foot between our King Henry and James the 4th. King of Scotland; King Henry among other things urged by Letters, that Perkin might be delivered up into his hands; because he was an Impostor, and by the Law of Nations not to be protected; but King James refused to do it; saying, that he was no competent Judge, to question his Title whom he had received as a banished Prince: however, being desirous of a League, if it might be done on equal terms, and withal perceiving that Perkin was the greatest impediment to the Peace, he at last desired him to pass over into some other Kingdom, because he had resolved to renew the League with the King of England; notwithstanding he promised to supply him with Monies, and all other things necessary for his Voyage.

Perkin left no stone unturned to deliort the King from his purpose, but finding a deaf ear to be given him, and seeing no ways to prevail, he soon after suppressing his inward Grief prepared himself for his new Voyage, and shipping himself with his Wife and Family; he sailed towards Ireland, and his late Felicity vanished like a dream. He again arrived at Corke on the 26th. of July, where some out of Affection, others for desire of Change, flocked unto him; among whom, as some do report, was Maurice Earl of Desmond: soon after the Mayor and Citizens of Waterford did both by Letters and a Messenger signify unto King Henry the arrival of this mock Prince, with a Discovery of the Conspirators; and as heretofore they manfully and wisely behaved themselves against Lambert, so now they did the same against Perkin; by which act they deservedly flourished in the Kings Favour, and received many benefits

How James the 4th King of Scotland refused to send Perkin Warbeck although King H. 7. sent to him.

Perkin Warbeck flies from Scotland into Ireland.

The City of Waterford give King H. 7. notice and do as they did to Lambert Simnell.

An. Dom.

1497.

Perkin is invited by Rebels to turn back into England.

of him: Nor did it at that time misbecome them to have this Motto, Waterford remains untainted. But to return to Perkin, he after a month or two received Letters by Messengers, advertising him, that although the Cornish-men had received a great defeat the June afore by the Kings Forces in a Battel at Black Heath in Kent, yet notwithstanding they were again resolved to hazard the Die of War, and in case he were not wanting to himself, and that he would repair unto them, they would furnish him with Auxiliary Forces to recover his Right. This business he instantly communicated to his Friends, and by their advise, with all possible speed, in the Month of September, he with his Wife and a few Souldiers, not exceeding 120 Men, passed over for Cornwall, the Citizens of Waterford chasing him with four Ships, but Fortune favouring not their Attempts. He that is desirous to be further informed of Perkin, that Prince of Knaves (as King Henry was wont to call him) may read the English Chronicles, where he is spoken of at large. It may seem sufficient here to mention, that after the Relief of Exeter, by the approach of the Kings Army, which Perkin by the assistance of the Cornish-men had straightly beleaguered, he fled, and took sanctuary in the Abbey of Bellew in Hampshire; he came out from thence and submitted himself to the Kings Mercy; he was afterwards brought Prisoner to London, and after a second flight was retaken, and in some scorn led through the City, publicly reading over the whole course of his Life and his Confession, such as it was, which he had subscribed with his own hand. But at length, after he had obtained his Pardon, he fell to plotting new devices, which cost him his Head, as we shall mention in its due place: the King commanded the said Confession to be printed; but not the least mention was made therein of the Dutches of Burgundy, which is to be admired at, especially, it being a thing well known to the King, that these Troubles were stirred up by the Villainies and Forgeries of the Dutches: but this is attributed to the Kings Wisdom, who by that means hoped to oblige the Dutches, or at least to avert her from raising of new troubles: nor was he altogether deceived in his hopes; for the Dutches was so far appeased herewith, that she enterprized nothing against him afterwards.

K. H. 7. sends a Venetian to discover unknown Lands.

In those days Sebastian Cabbot a Venetian, and famous Cosmographer, and one well vers'd in Nautick affairs, was, by the Kings Authority and Letters Pattents, sent to discover unknown Countries, and to annex them to the Crown of England; in which Navigation he first discovered that Island which now we call Newfound Land, and the Sea-coast of the North Continent of America, a high Attempt indeed, and not to be passed over in silence.

Concerning a Discord which hapned this year between the Butlers Family.

But to proceed in our purpose, a great Discord hapned about this time between Peter Butler (afterwards Earl of Ormond) and James Ormond, of whom we have spoken in Anno 1492, and 1493. which at last was destructive to Ormond: for he on the 16th. Calends of August, being only attended with six Horse, was smitten through with a Dart by the said Peter Butler (having a certain Cruelty with him) in the way between Donmore and Kilkenny.

On the 17th. day of March, which is dedicated to St. Patrick, Purgatory in Lough-derg was pulled down by the Guardian of the Convent of Downegall, together with others who were sent by the Bishop of Clogher from the Deanery of Lough-ern, by the Authority of Pope Alexander the 6th. as the Author of the Annals of Ulster mentions it, who then lived; it being a countefeit business, which he affirmed to be known to the Natives out of the Knights History, and other authentique Books: by the Knights History he understands (as I suppose) the History of Owen, an Irish Knight mentioned in the year 1152. by Gilbert a Cistercian Monk of the Abbey of the Blessed Virgin Mary of Luden in Lincolnshire: of which matter he that desires to know more may peruse Henry the Monk of Salterey, who published a little Book of that Owens Entrance into St. Patricks Purgatory, out of the said Gilberts Relation, or Matthew Paris in the History of King Stephen.

of

This year (to return to our purpose) on the last of May Friar Dionisius White, who had long demeaned himself as Bishop of Glendelach, being now eighty years old, and quite spent with old age, he in the Chapter-House of St. Patricks in Dublin surrendered his Right, such as it was, being troubled in Conscience (as he confessed) because that See of Glendelach from King Johns time had been joyned to that of Dublin. Notwithstanding there were others also, who about this time enjoyed the same Title; for by the Death of one John, called also Bishop of Glendelach, Luke Wadding of Waterford in his 7th. Tome of the Annals of the Friars Minors (to whose learned labours that Order is much indebted to) sheweth that Ivo Russi a Minorite was promoted to the same Bishoprick in the year 1494. who deceasing soon after, another John of the same Order also was ordained on the 21th. of August 1495. (or as it is elsewhere in the year 1501.)

But to hasten to the end of this year; on the 28th. of January English stile Walter Champflowr Abbot of St. Mary Abbey near Dublin, one of the Visitors of the Cistercian Order in Ireland, a prudent and learned man, paid Nature her debt, being very aged, there being a great miss and loss of him, having ruled almost 30 years, and was for a while made Keeper of the Great Seal: He in the year 1486. among other benefits done to his Monastery purchased for 450 Marks, that is 1000 French Crowns, from Thomas Prior of the Benedictine Abbey of S. Egidius the less in Malvern in Worcestershire in England, all the Possessions belonging at that time to the said Priory in Ireland, John Alcock Bishop of Worcester, with the assent of the Prior and Chapter of the Cathedral Church, confirming the Sale thereof: John Orum a Monk of the same House, and afterwards Prior thereof, succeeded him in the Government of the said Abbey.

Lastly, so great a Dearth of Corn did this year afflict almost all Ireland, that many perished by Famine, especially in Ulster: but in some parts of Leinster the Scarcity was not so much; For at Dublin a Peck of Wheat, a measure there used, containing two medinni, being almost 4 English Bushels, was then sold at Ten shillings, and the like measure of wetted Barley, which the Greeks call Bynen, and we Malt, for Eight shillings; Prices indeed dear enough, according to these times. In Meath a Peck of Wheat was worth 5 lesser Ounces of Silver, and a Gallon of Ale Six pence, or the 12th. part of a Golden French Crown. But in Ulster a Bert of Oats was worth a Cow, and a Milch Cow, two Cows with

An. Reg.
XIII.

Denis.

The Chair or Archbishop-rick of Dublin;The death of the Abbot of St. Mary Abby
by Dublin.John Orum succeeded Abbot of this Abbey.Corn scarce
this year.

An. Dom.
1498.

In his Treatise of Monies.

with Calf and Two shillings. It is observable, that in Ireland almost each County had heretofore a distinct and different Measure from the rest, not without evident detriment to the Common-Wealth.

Budellius de Monetis thus expresseth the great Profit, that by a fixed Rule might accrew to Monies and Measures.

*Una fides, pondus, mensura, moneta sit una,
Et status illæsus totius orbis erit.*

One Faith, one Weight, one Measure, and one Coin Would soon unite this Worlds Fabrick into one.

Thus much by the way, and now to return.

Anno Domini 1498. Et Anno Regni XIV.

C H A P. XIV.

Henry O Neal slain by the Sons of Con, whom Henry had formerly killed.

IN Ulster on the tenth Calend of August Henry O Neal, who slew his Brother Con, as abovesaid, was slain himself by Con and Tirlagh, the Sons of Con, Vengeance though slowly following the Murther at the heels. The Earl of Kildare mustering up his Forces to suppress the Insolency of Neal Mac Art O Neal, marched this year into that Province, where, with the joint Forces of O Donnell, Maguire, Tirlagh O Neal, Cons Son, and others of the Family of the O Neals, he by assault won the Fort of Dungannon, and set free the Prisoners, who were shut up there by O Neal; he marched afterwards to Omey, and took that Castle also; and a few days after he reduced Neal Mac Art to obedience, and took Pledges of him.

Soon after his return in October he undertook an Expedition into Munster, and went to Corke, where, by reason of the Cities former Defect, and to prevent the like, he placed a Garrison; and then on the 15th. day of the same Month he caused the principal Citizens of Corke and the Townsmen of Kinsale to take the Oath of Allegiance to the King in his and the Councils presence, which to observe he made them both enter into Bonds and put in Pledges. These things being done according to his mind, and Winter approaching, he went home. On the 1st. of March after he summoned a Parliament at Dublin, as Deputy to Henry the Kings second Son, and Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. But what Laws were then made appear not upon Record, nor of other Acts which were passed, except some Amerciaments, or small pecuniary Fines, imposed on some of the Nobles and others that were summoned who were absent. Some do report, that the Roll of the Laws then established was heretofore surreptitiously taken away, and that afterwards one Nangle and Skegan were were accused of this Crime in England; especially Nangle, who was therefore committed to Prison, and there detained all the days of his life.

At this time Richard Talbot being displaced, who for a year or two had the Government and Custody of the Priory of St. Johns of Jerusalem in Ireland, Robert Evers an English man, descended of the Noble Family of the Evers, was made Prior thereof by the great Master of the Isle of Rhodes. Also on the 12th. Calend of January Alexander the sixth confirmed Innocent the eighths Bull, of which mention is made in the year 1486. The said Bull of Confirmation is to be had in Sir Thomas Cottons Library, under Cleopatra E. 3.

And now let us mention the Death of certain learned men. On the 11th. of January David of Winchester Prior of Christchurch in Dublin deceased; he was a grave and learned man, and was buried in the same Church, when he had worthily ruled the Priory for nine years and ten months. They say, he was a great Benefactor to this Church; but I cannot particularly set down what he did. We find indeed by the Charter of the Foundation thereof, dated the 28th. of August, 1493. that he erected and endowed the same with one Master and four Choristers. Richard Skerret succeeded him in the Priory, who ruled there for twenty years. Also on the 10th. Calend of April Charles Macguire, Canon of the Church of Adrmagh, paid Nature her debt; he was a Divine, a Philosopher, and an Historian: he was taken away by a kind of Wheals, or Pushes, which the Physicians call the Small Pox, in the sixtieth year of his age.

An. Reg.
XV.

Talbot displaced, and Rob. Evers made Prior of Saint Johns of Jerusalem, now called Kilmaham, a mile from Dublin.

This year fatal to learned men.

Anno Domini 1499. Et Anno Regni XV.

CHAP. XV.

AT this time the Affairs were very troublesome in Connaght: and therefore the Earl of Kildare led his Army this year into that Province, where he took and Garrisoned four Castles, viz. Athleagh, Roscommon, Tuilske and Castlereagh: whilst these things were doing in Connaght, a Battel was fought in Munster between Peter Butler (of whom we have above spoken) and Tirlagh O Brian, who the year before had been elected Earl of Thomond, by the death of Gilduff; at first they fought stoutly on both sides, but at last Butler and his Men were put to the flight, and many were slain, of whom the Sovereign of Kilkenny was one, for so at that time the City Magistrate was called: what may be the cause of the Fight I cannot for certain affirm: some do avouch this Dissention to have taken its first rise about certain Lands and Limits, which each of them claimed to himself.

A Rising of the Irish in Connaght.

A Battel between the Buters and the O Brians in Munster.

On

An. Dom.

1499.

A Parliament
held at Castle-
Dermot. . . .
Or Desart.The Acts that passed in this Parliament.Perkin and John Water
found guilty of Treason, and hanged at Ty- burn.Perkins Confession displeasing to his Abettors.

On the 26th. of August a Parliament was held at Tristle-Dermot, (or as it was commonly called Castle-Dermot) in the County of Kildare. The Town was thus called from Dermotius, who at the beginning of Christian Religion in Ireland lived there with singular Piety; in whose time and long after it was called the Wilderness of Dermotius. In this Parliament a Law was made for the Punishment of Frauds and Cheats committed by Customers and other Toll-gatherers: also another Law was enacted for Setting an Excise on all Wares, as well imported as exported, except Wines and Oyl, with some Cautions notwithstanding expressed in the same Statute. Moreover at the same time two other Laws were made, which contained some Punishments against certain of the Nobles: the first was against those, who when they rode used not Saddles, after the English manner: the latter against those who in Parliament wore not their Parliament-Robes. A Subsidy was likewise granted to the King, as well by the Clergy as the Layety.

Not long after, in England, in the month of November, Perkin and John Water (already spoken of) late Mayor of the City of Corke in Munster, who was numbred among Perkins chief Abettors in his Treasons and Councils, were by a Jury of Twelve men at Westminster found Guilty of High-Treason, and were hanged at Tyburn (the publick Gallows so called;) their Heads were taken off their Carcasses, and set on London Bridge, which is an unusual thing at the committal of great Crimes. Perkin being led to the place of Execution, and there ascending the Scaffold, he again publicly read over his Confession, and the Course of his Life a little before his Death, and acknowledged it to be true; many of his Abettors bewailing his condition, and secretly whispering, that he did it in hope of a Pardon. And thus was the end of Perkin; and so at last King Henry was rid of these kind of Fanaticks. As for Philip, John Waters Son, of whom we have already spoken, he was afterwards pardoned by the Kings Clemency. About this time, they say, that another Conspiracy of some Irish men was discovered; who were so devoted to the House of Torke, that they entred into a private Consultation, how to free a Base Son of Richard the 3d. out of Prison, where he had been detained Prisoner for a long time, with an Intention to bring him for Ireland, and promote him to the Kingdom: this hastned the Base Sons Destruction. The Names of the Conspirators I find not, nor what afterwards became of them. This year the Islands of Fearsy and Guernsy (called Cæsaria and Sarina by Antonius) who always faithfully adhered to the Crown of England since the Norman Conquest; but as to the affairs Ecclesiastick they were subordinate to the See of Constance in Normandy, from whence they were taken and added to the Diocess of Winchester in England: also this year James Courcey Baron of Kinsale, abovementioned, departed this life: this English Family flourished a long time in great Power and Lands, but those ample Possessions vanished away by degrees.

Anno

An. Reg.
XVI.

Anno Domini 1500. Et Anno Regni XVI.

CHAP. XVI.

NOW we are come to the year of our Lord 1500. which was a year of Jubile. Boniface the eighth did first institute the Jubile to be celebrated every hundredth year; but afterwards Clement the sixth, because that time seemed too long, to reduced it to the fiftieth year; and at length Sixtus the 4th. brought it to the five and twentieth; this year Alexander the sixth impowred Jasper Pow, or Poo, a Spaniard, who was Protonotary and Doctor of Divinity, and one William Butts to hold forth this Jubiles Indulgence to all the English, Irish, and others of the Kings Subjects, who by reason of the Wars, and the difficulties of the Journeys were hindred from going to Rome, in case they raised a Subsidy in Monies to be imployed against the Turk, according to the Rules set down in a certain Instrument; and prolonged the time until the last Vespers within eight days after Easter following. The Copy of the Instrument translated into English is extant in Sir Thomas Cottons Library under Cleopatra E. 3. The fruitless Success of the Mony collected for this use, you may see out of Polydor Virgil, in the same year.

This year a year of Jubile with the Romans.

Scarce was the Flame of the former years Sedition in Connaght quenched, when lo another no less violent broke forth in Ulster, which occasioned the Earl of Kildare to make another Journey this year into that Province; where among others he won the Castle of Kinard, and gave the Command thereof to Tirlagh O Neal, Cons Son, (by whose assistance he had two years afore taken the Fort of Dungannon) and put a new Garrison therein. About that time (by an Act of Grace) the Citizens of Corke were received into the Kings Favour, he being oftner appeased by Repentance than Punishment; on the first of August he confirmed and enlarged the Immunities and Priviledges of the City; true is that of Ovid, lib. 2. de Ponto, Eleg. 9.

Ulster riseth in Rebellion this year.The City of Cork received into favour, although their Mayor was hanged.*Regia (crede mihi) res est succurrere lapsis.A Kingly thing it is, that Merits praise,
The weak to help, the succourless to raise.*

In the mean of these affairs David Barry, Archdeacon as well of Corke as Cloyne, suddenly slew his Brother the Lord Barry (expecting nothing less;) a person commendable for his Fortitude and Liberality: but I know not the cause that moved him to do it; but the Fratricide was immediately apprehended, and put to Death, by Thomas Barry; and twenty days after his Body was digged up and publickly burnt, by

The Lord Barry slain by his Brother.

An. Dom.

1500.

the Command of Maurice Earl of Derry. Oh the various Chances of mortals!

— En quo discordia fratres Perduxit miseros!

*See here what mischief discord wrought,
And to what end the Brother's brought!*

The death of the Bishop of Derry.

Most part of Galloway burnt.

K. H. 7. made Protector of the Order of St. Johns of Jerusalem.

Learned men, or to the time of learned etc.

About this very time Donnall O Fallon, a Friar Minor of the Order of Observance, and Bishop of Derry, when he had ruled that See about fifteen years, departed the world, a man of great account in his time, by reason of his Learning and constant Preaching throughout Ireland for thirty years together. Perhaps it will not be amiss to mention here that a great part of the City of Galloway (which is as it were the Eye of Connaght) was by chance consumed by Fire. This City (which I here observe by the way) had first a Provost, then a Sovereign and Bailiffs, and afterwards, by a Concession from Richard the third, a Mayor and Bailiffs, and lastly (if we may here make any mention of latter times) a Mayor and two Sheriffs.

In these days King Henry, as he was highly accounted of by his neighbouring Princes for his great Wisdom (being esteemed the Solomon of England;) so also this added to his worth, that by the far distant Knights of Rhodes he was this year made Protector of that Order.

Now we come to the age of Wits, where a great number of learned men in all parts of Europe excelling in divers Sciences did appear. But to end the year, of the latter part whereof we have hitherto treated, I conceive it not to be omitted, that the most learned men of Ireland, who flourished in this age, Mauritius de Portu, alias O Fihely a Minorite may worthily be ranked, being an Ornament to his Country, who after some years was by Pope Julius the second ordained Archbishop of Tuam, whom we have already mentioned at large: but none has better celebrated his memory than John Camers, Doctor of Arts and Divinity, a Minorite also, in his Animadversions or Comment on the 35th, Chapter of Solinus; whom, as he entirely loved and respected, so also he was beloved of him again. Nor is it to be passed by, that Walter Fitz Symons Archbishop of Dublin, and born at Dublin, of whom often mention is already made, for his knowledge in good Arts, especially in Divinity and Philosophy, was celebrated by Richard Stainburst. But it is not necessary in this place to specify every one of them, among Foreigners there of the best account, who then had Preferment in Ireland; Octavianus de Palatio a Florentine, Doctor of the Canon Law and Archbishop of Ardmagh, is for his Learning worthy to be numbred: he was by Sixtus the fourth substituted in the stead of Edmund Connesburg, his Predecessor, who had resigned his Place: he was consecrated in the latter end of March 1480. after he had for three years, or thereabouts, ruled the See of Ardmagh under Connesburg; he deceased, being very aged, in June 1513. thirty three years and three months after his Consecration: he is commendable in this also, because in the time when Henry the 7th. was forsaken of many Great Men in Ireland, he could never be withdrawn from from his Allegiance, nor joyn with the adverse party; although he suffered much sorrow and affliction on that account. Those common Rhimes made on the barbarous Manners of the vulgar people of Ardmagh were done by him.

An. Reg.
XVII.

Civitas Armachana,

Civitas vana,

Absque bonis moribus:

Mulieres nudæ,

Carnes crudæ,

Paupertas in ædibus.

He lived for the most part at Droghedagh, or at his Mannor of Termon-Fechan in the County of Lowth; but seldom or never at Ardmagh: for albeit the City of Ardmagh was in times past preferable to most Cities of Ireland, by reason of its Antiquity, the famous University, and the Greatness thereof: yet it is not to be wondred at, if by the long contiuanee of War (in Ulster) it were at that time reduced to extream poverty, and in a manner ruined, and who among the learned knoweth not, that far more renowned Cities perished by War? But to proceed; this year, from the middle of September till the end of Winter, Ireland endured continual Rains and many Tempests.

Anno Domini 1501. Et Anno Regni XVII.

CHAP. XVII.

Linster and Munster were very peaceable all this year: but in Connaght and Ulster affairs were turbulent; the Fort of Sligo in Connaght was besieged, and taken with Scaling Ladders, by the Sept of Rory O Connor, Son to Tirlagh Carragh (id est Scald;) also in Ulster, through the often Dissentions of the Nobles, many Murthers were committed: also the O Neals and certan Scotch-men, or Albani (as they are termed by the Irish Historiographer,) fought together, in which Battel the Scots lost a Son of the Laird of Aig, of the Family of the Mac Don- nells; the three Sons of Colli Mac Alexander, viz. Tirlagh, Donatus and Ludarus, and about sixty common Souldiers: this Battel was fought on St. Patricks day.

In Connaght
Sligo taken by Rory O Connor.

In Ulster the O
neals and the Scots against each other.

On the the 28th. of December William Shyog, alias Seog, Archbishop of Tuam, departed this life, having ruled that See about twenty years, and was buried (if I mistake not) in St. Nicholas Church at Gallway, where his Predecessor Donnogh Immurry, alias Imirdle, had founded a Colledge of Vicars and their Guardian.

The death of the Archbishop of Tuam.

Moreover, this year was remarkable by two Marriages in England, from

An. Dom.
1502.

Two Marriages remarkable this year.

Supra etatem maximam.

Deputies of the King, by what Title soever called, yet generally the same Power.

This year fatal to Cattel in Ireland.

from the 14th. of November, (being dedicated to St. Erkenwalde Bishop of London) the Nuptials between Arthur the Kings eldest Son and Prince of Wales and the Lady Catharine, Daughter to Ferdinand King of Spain, were consummated; he being fifteen years of age, and she eighteen: also on the 25th. of January following the Match between James the 4th. King of Scotland with the Lady Margaret, King Henrys eldest Daughter, contracted first by proxy, was likewise published at Pauls Cross in London, the Hymns of St. Augustine and St. Ambrose being solemnly sung there at that time. And as these things were done with great pomp, so they were received with the joyful applause of all sorts: but according to that of Solomon after joy comes sorrow; for not long after the said Arthur, a Prince of great hopes, who (by the help of his Master Bernard Andreas) by his great forwardness made a progress in good Letter, above his years: as also Elizabeth his Queen Mother, a discreet, chaste, and most vertuous Woman, being the Ornament both of her Age and Sex, deceased, to the great sorrow and grief both of King and People; he on the second of April, 1502. and she on the eleventh of February following, being delivered of a Girl in Child-bed.

But to go on with our Irish affairs; Holinshed (from what Author I know not) affirms, that this year the King ordained Henry, the said Arthurs younger Brother, to be Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. However it was, certain it is, that the Records do mention this Title to be granted him by the King on the 12th. of September 1494. the day before the Lord Poynings (already spoken of) was ordained Lord Deputy, Henry being then but four years of age. That Title of Lord Lieutenant of Ireland was accounted very powerful and honourable; and (to note thus much by the way) it was in times past conferred not only on those who were sent for Ireland to govern the Common-Wealth, but sometimes on those also who, being detained in England, enjoyed indeed that Title: but the Administration thereof was conferred on their Deputies. Moreover, as they were sometimes made Deputies of the Lord Lieutenants, so at times, at the Princes Will, the Kings Deputies, sometimes Justices, and in old times Keepers: but for the most part they had one and the same Power, which indeed was large and Kingly, not unlike that of the Pro-Prætors and Pro-Consuls among the antient Romans.

Anno Domini 1502. Et Anno Regni XVIII.

CHAP. XVIII.

THIS year a great Murrain was in all parts of Ireland, which destroyed a world of Cattel. This year affordeth little of publick Affairs, that I may know: notwithstanding it must not be omitted, that Ulster was at that time full of Slaughters and Murders, whilst some were slain by their own Countrymen of the adverse party, ty, and others killed by their Enemies of the Neighbouring Counties.

Upon the translation of Edmund Courcey, sometime Bishop of Clogher, unto the Bishoprick of Ross, Nehemias Clonine was by Pope Alexander the sixth (upon the twenty fourth of January this year) made Bishop of Clogher.

An. Reg.
XIX.

Addition.
Nehemias Clonine made Bishop of Clogher, vid. Ja. Ware
de Praesulibus.
Hibernia p. 49.

Anno Domini 1503. Et Anno Regni XIX.

CHAP. XIX.

ABout the latter end of April the Earl of Kildare, being sent for by the King, left Dublin and went for England: but before his departure, he left (in his absence) Wal. Fitz Symons Archbishop of Dublin to act in his stead; the principal causes of his Journey were as well to give an account of his Office, as to receive His Majesties Commands in certain affairs of great consequence: and after he had tarried three months at the English Court, having done what he came for according to his hearts desire, he was sent back for Ireland as Deputy from the King, with great Honour and new Instructions: he arrived at Dublin in August with his eldest Son Gerald and Elizabeth his Wife, the Lord Zouch of Codners Daughter; his return being joyfully entertained by the Common people.

Before the end of Autumn the Earl of Kildare went for Ulster, where he took and demolished the Castle of Belfast; he afterward made his entrance into the Town of Knock Fergus, alias Carrick-Fergus, or Fergusius his Rock, constituting one Stanton as Governour and Constable of the Castle there, for the security of the place; which being done he returned home.

Whilst matters went thus in Ulster, Theobald Bourk Lord of Muskerry-cuire in Munster was killed by Donatus O Carroll and Cornelius O Duir in a certain skirmish (if I mistake not). But in Connaght about the same time Ulick Bourk overthrew Malachi O Kelly, assisted by some of the Family of the Bourks.

On the 18th. of February following Henry Duke of Tork, his Brother Arthur being dead, (as we have already said) was created, according to the usual custom, Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester. Ten days after Gerald the Earl of Kildares Son was made High Treasurer of Ireland, and took the Oath the same day at Dublin, in the presence of the Deputy and the Kings Council, well and faithfully to discharge that place.

This year Sir Alexander Plunket late Lord Chancellor of Ireland, and a person of great account, died in Autumn; David Creagh Archbishop of Cashell followed him the same year, being a Doctor of Divinity, and Kildare sent for, and the Archbishop of Dublin in his stead.

The causes of the Earls journey.

The Earls return.

The Earls journey into Ulster.

The Lord Muskerry slain.

King H. the 8. now Duke of Tork created Prince of Wales.

Sir Alexander Plunket Lord Chancellor of Ireland died, and also the Archbishop of Cashell.

vers'd

An. Dom.

1503.

Capas Chorules.

The Bishop of Fernes his death.The first Lord of Gormanstown departed this life.Philip Pinson made Archbishop of Tuam.

vers'd in the Laws, he died on the 5th. of September, being above twenty years Archbishop, one Richard succeeding him. In David's Government the Earl of Kildare (a thing not to be omitted) being offended with him, burnt the Cathedral Church of St. Patricks at Cashell; of which the Archbishop made a great Complaint to the King in the year 1496. But it availed him nothing; a thing indeed to be wondred at: although the Earl himself openly confessed the Fact, the matter depending before the King and Council, and (which aggravated the Crime) being interrogated the reason of so hainous an attempt, made answer, that he would never have done it, had he not thought that the Bishop was then in the Church. And thus was the Archbishop worsted in this contest; who, when he found he had stroven in vain, suppressing his Grief, he returned to his Country, where he this year exchanged Life for Death. In the mean time the Earl of Kildare being received into the Kings Favour, (and as we have already mentioned) sent back with Honour for Ireland, he with great trust and care managed the publick Affairs; many in the interim not without cause commiserating the Archbishops misfortune. What the Earl of Kildare did afterwards in compensation of this injury I find not; likely it is that he, who besides Vestments for the Quire of great price, and the Ornaments given to Christchurh, endowed the same also with a Village called the Great Caparaw, (if it be true what the vulgar give out) being touched with remorse of Conscience, did lay out Mony for Reparation of the Church of Cashell, which he had burnt. But to proceed.

Also this year Lawrence Nevill Bishop of Fernes departed this life, when he had governed that See about 23 years; he was come of a good Family in the County of Wexford. Edmund Comerford Dean of Kilkenny succeeded him, and was consecrated the next year at Kilkenny, in the Cathedral Church of St. Canicks. In the mean time on the 5th. Ides of April 1503. the Lord Robert Preston the first Viscount of Gormanstowne departed the world, of whom we have formerly often made mention. He left this Dignity to his Son William. And lastly, this year on the 11th. of December Philip Pinson an English man, and a Friar Minor, Professor of Divinity, was, at the desire of Henry the 7th. promoted at Rome to the See of Tuam, and deceased of the Plague three days after; as we find by the Letters of Hadrian de Castello Cardinal of St. Cryfogonus, and written to Henry the 7th. bearing date the 4th. of January, which is to be seen in Sir Thomas Cottons Library: it appeareth also by the same Letters, that Pinson, before his Promotion to the same Archbishoprick, was Suffragan to the said Hadrian, then Bishop of Hereford, and afterwards Bishop of Bath and Wells in England. The See of Tuam was vacant afterwards for two years and six months.

Anno

Anno Domini 1504. Et Anno Regni XX.

C H A P. XX.

ABout this time Ulick Bourk Lord of Clanriccard, commonly called Mac William, and others of the same Family, made a League with Tirlagh O Brian Lord of Thomond, Michael Malrony O Caroll and others of the prime men of Leigh-mor, which in times past was called the South middle part of Ireland. Of their particular drifts and intentions I can give no certain account. However it was, the Earl of Kildare being advertised of their Councils, he mustered up his Forces, and about the beginning of August advanced his Colours against them; many of the Nobility of Leinster, of English Extraction, joyned themselves to him, viz. the Lord Viscount Gormanstown, and the Barons of Slane, Delvin, Kilkeny, Houth, Trimlestone and Dunsany, also John Blake the Mayor of Dublin with a Band of armed men, besides the Townsmen of Droghedagh, as also O Donell, O Reley, William Ferall Bishop of Ardagh, sometimes Lord of the Annally, even after his Consecration, and some others of the chief men of Legh-con, or Legh cuin, so they called the middle North of Ireland, with their Auxiliary Forces. Mac William on the other side assembled his Army too, being very numerous. The Earl of Kildare encountred his Forces on the 19th. of August, in a place called Knock to, alias Knock-tuagh, or the Mount of Axes, distant a few miles from Gallway: the Fight was sharply continued for some hours with equal loss on both sides; but at last the Victory fell on Kildares side, the Enemies being put to flight, In this Battel and Chase on Ulick Bourks side there fell about 2000 men. but the Book of Houth says that a greater number were slain, viz. 9000. but without doubt it is a mistake: many were also taken Prisoners at the same time, among whom were the two Sons of Ulick: on the Deputys side there were some lost, but the number of them were uncertain; a wonderful and almost incredible thing it is which was set down in the White Book of the Exchequer in Dublin, that in that same bloody Battel there was not one English man hurt, (on the Earl of Kildares side, for so I understand it): the original was burnt by chance in the year of our Lord 1610. But I have some historical Notes taken out of it long since. When the Conqueror had laid waste the neighbouring County, and taken Gallway and Athenry by Surrender, they returned home with rich Spoils: the Deputy brought away the two Sons of Ulick with him, and, as some say, his two Daughters also; but Ulick himself escaped by flight. He was indeed a man of great account among his Relations, valiant in War, and good to advise with; although in this Battel he was surmounted by the chance of War. He derived his Pedigree from William the Son of Andelm Seiver to Henry the second King of England, and for a time Governour of Ireland under him. Kildare after his return distributed thirty

Tuns

Clanriccard and Thomond make a league and combine against the English.

The Earl of Kildares preparations against them, joyning with the English Lords.

2000 men of Clanriccards killed.

Not an English man hurt in this battel.

Kildare brought up Clanriccards two Sons Prisoners.

An. Dom.

1504.

Kildare made Knight of the Garter.

The Archbishop of Dublin sent to King Henry and how he disposed of his Crosier in his absence, and how he behaved himself in England.

Hen. 6. canonized for a Saint by Julius.

The Translation of the original Bull, being in Latin, and in Sir Thomas Cottons Library.

Tuns of Wine among well deserving persons. Some do not stick to report (how true I know not) that all this business took its first rise from a private Grudge between Kildare and Ulick, which at last broke out into that open War.

In the Month of July the Earl of Kildare (as some say) was made Knight of the most noble Order of the Garter: yet others say, that he received that Honour as the Reward of his Valour somewhat later, viz. after his return.

Soon after Walter Fitz Symons Archbishop of Dublin was by the Earl of Kildare and the Kings Council sent for England to the King, to give him an account of these and other publick Affairs. On the 20th. of September he took shipping at Houth, first delivering his Crosier, according to custom, to Richard Skeret Prior of Christchurch in Dublin, as Keeper thereof. The next day, having a fair gale of Wind, he arrived in England; and a few days after coming to Court, he did there so discreetly and with such prudence manage and execute the Imployment laid upon him, that the King made a very great account of him, and not long after sent him into his own Country, with Letters and Thanks testifying his Good will.

At this time the King dealt with Pope Julius the second about the Canonization of Henry the sixth, the last King before him of the House of Lancaster; and to forward this business, he caused a little Book to be written, of his Virtues, and the Miracles done by him, which at this day is extant. The Pope by his Bull committed the Examination of this business to the Archbishop of Canterbury, as also to the Bishops of London, Winchester and Durham: which I thought not amiss wholly for the Reader (it being not published heretofore as I know of) out of the original, which is now to be seen at Westminster in the famous Library of that honourable Gentleman Sir Thomas Cotton Baronet, under the Head of Cleopatra, E. 3.

Julius Bishop Servant of the Servants of God, to the Venerable Brothers the Archbishop of Canterbury, and the Bishops of Winchester, Durham and London Health and Apostolical Benediction, the height of Divine Providence not to be shut up by limits, nor limited by any bounds, whose Power is inscrutable, and whose Ways are past finding out, for the strengthening and Exaltation of the Catholick Faith, besides which no other Foundation can be laid to Salvation: and that he may, according to the Prophet, be praised in his Holy ones, beautifying more apparently by the Infusion of his Grace, some of the Sons of men, whom he hath made after his own similitude, preventing and adorning them with his particular Benedictions, that even by those Beams of his Grace, being more fully surrounded, and born up by a singular kind of prerogative of Virtues and Merits, shewing thereby the Power of his Majesty; and by the Eye of Faith which he hath firmly fortified in them, his Goodness being known, the faithful may be thereby the more earnestly induced to praise and magnifie him, and by the Prayers and Merits of the Saints, in whom he is blessed and praised, they may happily be led on to a Glory of eternal and incorruptible Manshon. We are given to understand by Letters from our dearly beloved Son in Christ Henry the seventh the Illustrious King of England; as also by more than common report, that Henry the sixth of Glorious memory King of England, during his abode in this world, did by his Holiness of life, his Honesty, his fervent Charity towards his Neighbours, and all kind of Virtue and Sanctity, grow famous and renowned, being continually given to Fasting and Alms-deeds; and having erected, founded and endowed two great and famous Colledges for the Relief of poor Scholars, to the Honour of Almighty God and his most glorious Mother the Blessed Virgin Mary; and that as well in his life time as after his death, the Lord did by his Merits and Intercessions shew forth and declare (and likewise daily manifesting) many and most evident Miracles: for when the blind with due Devotion approach to his Tomb they are said to see, the deaf to hear, the lame to walk, and those that are troubled with any kind of infirmity, are said to recover their Health by the Intercession of Henry the sixth, sometime King by the Power of the Almighty; the Report whereof being not only wonderfully divulged throughout the said Kingdom; but also made known to other neighbouring places; whereby the frequent concourse of men from divers parts joyned with a singular devotion drawing them thither, being still more and more increased; so that the constant opinion of all the people of those parts is, that the said sometime K. Henry deserves to be canonized to the Catalogue of Saints. Wherefore the said now reigning King Henry humbly besought Us, that We would vouchsafe, out of our Apostolical Goodness, to imploy some Prelates of those parts, who should make a diligent and prudent enquiry of his Life, Merits, Miracles, and other things abovementioned, and by their Letters give us a faithful account of these affairs, and of what else they can find; and also seasonably to provide for other matters in and about the premisses, that may be effectual for the Canonization of the said King Henry. We therefore, although we are desirous to assent to the Request of the now King Henry, yet having an Eye more to a divine consideration than a humane respect; and therefore according to the Greatness of an affair of such consequence, intending to proceed therein gravely, maturely and accurately; being forward as to this matter, to the Request of the now King Henry; treading also in the steps of Innocent the eighth, and Alexander the sixth, Popes of Rome, our Predecessors of happy memory, who in like manner drew up a Commission: wherefore by our Apostolical Letters we commit to your Fraternity, whom in these, as also in other great and weighty occasions, We have especial trust and confidence in the Lord, commanding you, or any three or two of you as far as in you lieth, to make enquiry, by our Authority, of the like Manners, Sanctity, Charity, Devotion towards God and pious Works of the said sometime King Henry; and likewise of the Miracles wrought by him as well in his life time as after his death, and of such like other things which are necessary and expedient for a matter of such weight; and that diligently, carefully, prudently, exactly, warily and and maturely in any or every place and places, as may seem most meet and expedient for you to come to the knowledge of the premisses: and likewise that you receive lawful Witnesses, first tending an Oath to them, and strictly examining them of the Place, Time, Month, Day, Names, Surnames, the Cause of their Knowledge, with other circumstances, making a diligent enquiry into such necessary and requisite affairs: and also diligently to examine the Records and other Writings, together with all other kind of Proofs and Essays making for and conducing to this matter, and to cite without Appeal, by Excommunication and other lawful remedies, the persons in whose custody they are, to be shewn unto you. And whatsoever you shall find in the premisses,

of

An. Dom.

1504.

How this Canonization came to nothing.

The Pestilence this year, and whom it swept away.

This year was the Synod translated (by reason the Pestilence) to Lowth.

Though a Pestilence, yet blessed be God for Peace.

that you take care to transmit the same to Us and the See Apostolick in your Letters, sealed with your Seals, and sent by a faithful Messenger; that so we seeing and diligently perusing the same, and communicating them to our venerable Brothers, may be able to proceed in this affair, as the Greatness thereof requireth, by Gods permission, to his Praise and Glory, and the Advancement of the Orthodox Faith; and so to go on further and to more peculiar matters, if it shall so seem meet to Us and the said Brothers. Given at Rome at St. Peters, in the year of the Incarnation of our Lord 1504. the Kalend of June, and in the first year of our Popedome. Thus far the Bull it self.

Notwithstanding all this the business of this Commission did by degrees come to nothing. As for Henry the sixth himself, as he commonly was esteemed, by reason of his Piety and Christian Patience, a most holy man; so also by reason of his Sloth he was by some numbered among the worst of Kings, as one that basely lost the Kingdom of France, which his Father had conquered, and was afterwards also put by that of England. I must not omit here (of which I find mention to be made) that Henry the sixth, whilst he on a time washed his Hands, in the heat of the Civil Wars of England, is said to have foretold that our King Henry, then a Youth, and standing by him, should at length take upon him the Kingly Government; and that soon after he privately sent him beyond Sea, to shun thereby with more ease the imminent storm. With admiration of this Prediction, and other holy Virtues of Henry the sixth, it is said, that Henry the seventh was afterwards induced to promote and forward the aforesaid Canonization, although without success.

This year the Pestilence swept away many people, almost every where, but especially in Ulster; and among others Patrick Conally Abbot of Cluanois, being then lately returned from Rome, where he was ordained Bishop of Clogher, by the resignation of Nehemias Clonine of the Order of the Hermits of St. Augustine, who the foregoing year, on the 29th. of August, is said to have resigned that Bishoprick, at the instance of the said Conally, reserving a small Pension of some Ducats to be paid himself per annum out of the Camera, during his natural life. The See of Clogher was afterwards vacant until the year 1508. at which time Eugenius mac Camail Dean of Clogher was consecrated Bishop thereof, by Octavianus Archbishop of Ardmagh, being assisted by Thomas Bishop of Kilmore, and Tiberius Bishop of Down and Conner. But in the mean time, in the Month of July this year 1504. the Provincial Synod which Octavianus Archbishop of Ardmagh had summoned to Droghedagh, by reason of the Pestilence, which was very rife there, was translated to Lowth, to the Church of the blessed Virgin Mary of Atherdy, and there also (as near as I can guess) was suddenly broke up by reason of the Contagion.

We come now to a time more peaceable indeed, yet not so memorable as the former with signal passages, and divers occurrences: For Peace, golden Peace, does not afford such plentiful matter to write, as Wars doth: but (which is far more glorious) it blesteth and adorneth Kingdoms with the fruits of Civility, Riches, Learning, and wholsom Laws.

Pax una triumphis Innumeris potior.

*Peace is preferrable
To Triumphs innumerable.*

But never so desirable as after the Calamities of War.

Volaterran in the third Book of his Geography observes, (a thing not here to be passed by) that a Question being started in these days, about Priority of place in sitting, between the Embassadors of our King Henry the 7th. and the King of Spain, that Pope Julius the second should ad- judge the upper hand place to the English, and yet this Priviledge was no new thing: for in the General Councils of Pisa, Constance, and others, the Kings of England peaceably enjoyed the same place, and now at last let us pass on to the subsequent year.

Anno Domini 1505. Et Anno Regni XXI.

CHAP. XXI.

THe Plague not yet ceasing (of which we have already spoken) did even this year also grievously afflict Ireland, a great Dearth of Corn following it, by reason of the continual Rains that fell in Summer and Harvest. The same year was the last to John Allen Dean of St. Patricks in Dublin, a very courteous and learned man, who died at Dublin January the 2^d. English stile, 1505. being about 40 years Dean, viz. from the death of Philip Norris Doctor of Divinity, his last Predecessor, and was there buried in the Nave of the same St. Patricks, to which Church he had fairly contributed. Not long afore his death he founded an Hospital in St. Kevins-street at Dublin, for poor and sick folk, principally to be chosen out of the Allens, Bärrets, Beggs, Hills, Dillons and Rodiers, to whom he assigned Lands for their maintenance. On the 8th. of June 1504. Walter Fitz Symons Archbishop of Dublin gave the Ground to the said Hospital, before Allen, Patrick O Fihely, of the Order of the Friars Minors of the Observance, departed this life, being famed for his Learning, and was buried at Corke, in the Abbey of his Order of Temolag.

Edmond Comerford Dean of Kilkenny was consecrated Bishop of Fernes in St. Kennys Church in the Town of Kilkenny, that See being vacant from the year 1503. until this year 1505. Vide Ja. Ware de Præsuli- bus Hiberniæ, p. 136.

This Pestilence causeth dearth of Corn

This year *Jo.
Allen* then Dean of St. Patricks in Dublin died.

John Allens
Hospital in *St.
Kevens-street*
in Dublin ought to be enquired into.

Addition.

The Dean of Kilke de Bish, Allen
this year

An. Dom.
1506.

Thomas Clerk
the Bishop of Kilalla resigns his Bishoprick and who succeeded him.

Thomas Clerk resigned up his Bishoprick of Kilalla, and afterwards succeeded Malachias O Clowan, alias O Cluan, who was preferred thereunto by Pope Julius the second, upon the 12th. of February 1505. but not consecrated until 1508.

Anno Domini 1506. Et Anno Regni XXII.

CHAP. XXII.

The Town of Trimme burnt.

A blazing Star.

The Bishop of Meath died, a further description of this Bishop.

THis year a great part of Trimme (the chief Town in the County of Meath) is said to be fired by Lightning. In the Month of August a Blazing Star shone, but it vanished a few days after.

On the 6th of March John Payne Doctor of Divinity, a Friar Preacher, and Bishop of Meath deceased, when he had sat above twenty three years, and was for a time made Master of the Rolls: a man famous for his Charity and Hospitality. He was by Sixtus the 4th. ordained Bishop of Meath, and was installed by the Clergy of Meath in St. Patricks Church at Trimme, on the Feast of St. Dominicks (on the 4th. of August) 1483. as it is set down by George Cogley, publick Notary and Register of the Bishop of Meaths Court. They say he was buried at Dublin, in the Abbey of his Order. Notwithstanding he built heretofore a Marble Tombe in St. Patricks Church in Dublin for himself and his Successors, adorned with Brass plates, and scituate near the West door; which a rude Epitaph with an imperfect Verse engraven thereon does even to this day testifie.

Maurice a Por-tu preferred to the See of Tu-
am.

The same year, on the 26th. of June (as Luke Wadding mentions out of the Consistorial Books) Mauritius à Portu, alias O Fibely, a Minorite, and a very learned man, was promoted to the See of Tuam; of whom we have already spoken, but more fully in our Book De Scriptoribus Hiberniæ.

Anno Domini 1507. Et Anno Regni XXIII.

CHAP. XXIII.

The King falls into Diseases.

ABout these days King Henry began to be troubled with the Gout in the Foot, and afterwards with a Defluxion of Rheum which fell on his Lungs; whereby, after a year or two, he fell into a deep Consumption. In the mean time perceiving his Death to approach, he began to prepare for it: wherefore he bestowed much Alms on the Poor, Poor, and laid out much Mony on other pious uses; and a little before his death he commanded in his Will, that if his Exchequer had unjustly taken ought from any person, the same should be restored to the person injured: but the issue made it apparent, that it is much better for every one to order such things with their own hands and eyes, than to leave it to the disposal of others after his decease.

This year William Rokeby Doctor of the Canon Law, and a Yorkshire-man, was consecrated Bishop of Meath, and soon after was made one of the Kings Privy Council of Ireland. He was afterwards translated to the See of Dublin, after the Death of Walter Fitz Symons Archbishop of Dublin, who died at Finglace, two miles from Dublin, on the 14th. day of May 1511. he celebrated a Provincial Synod in the year 1518. whose Canons are extant in the Red Book of the Bishop of Offory. But this by the way.

An. Reg.
XXIV.

William Rokeby
made Bishop of Meath.

Anno Domini 1508. Et Anno Regni XXIV.

C H A P. XXIV.

IN the Month of October the Earl of Kildare, by the Kings Assent, summoned a Parliament at Dublin, wherein a Subsidy was granted, as well by the Clergy as the Laity. But of other Laws there established, there are none extant, besides those usual ones of confirming the Liberties and Priviledges of the Church and Land of Ireland. That Subsidy or Tribute was laid only on Lands, and that after the rate of thirteen shillings and four pence out of every hundred and twenty acres of profitable Land. For these Impositions were not laid but by Act of Parliament: nor were they always imposed on Lands only, but sometimes also either according to the value of the Lands or Goods; especially in later times, according to the Rules and Cautions prescribed in each Statute.

This year took away Walter Blake Bishop of Clone, or Clonmacnoise, when he had ruled that See about twenty years: also this year died Thomas Congalan Bishop of Elphin, a man famous for his Wisdom and Liberality towards the Poor. Also took away John Orum the 35th. Abbot of Mary Abbey near Dublin, who deceased on the 5th. Ides of December, and was buried in the Church of this Abbey, near Richard Grace, sometime a Reclusum. Richard Begg, or Little, succeeded him, who scarce lived two years and six months after.

A Parliament
summoned at Dublin, and what proceeded.

The death of the Bishop of Clonmacnoise.

Anno

An. Dom.

1509.

Anno Domini 1509. Et Anno Regni XXV.

CHAP. XXV.

The Earl of Kildare still
Lord Deputy.
Vid. pag. 87.

Kildares designs against
O Caroll.
Vide plura in
Anno 1513.

Where Kildare was buried, and a Character of this Nobleman.

Clanriccard when he died and where buried.

King Henry the seventh's death and burial.

And now there remains only the latter part of the last year of Henry the 7th. about which time the Earl of Kildare, by the persuasion of some of the Family of the O Neals, mustered up his Forces and went from Dublin to Tyrone, to recover the Forts of Omey and Dungannon: but Dungannon being surrendred before his arrival, he proceeded farther, and won the Castle of Omey by Assault, which he razed to the ground, after he had released Arthur, Cons Son, who was kept Prisoner there. And thus we see the Earl of Kildare to be Lord Deputy of Ireland both in the beginning and ending of King Henrys Reign; who although he for a long time had struggled with great Difficulties; yet he passed over his later age with great tranquility of mind, Affairs almost continually falling out according to his own desires. But see the brittleness of humane affairs. He a little afore his death had undertaken an Expedition against O Caroll; but he fell sick at Athy, in his journey (in the very midst as it were of his Course): and withdrawing to Kildare, he after a few days deceased there, viz. on the 3^d. Nones of September, 1513. his Body being brought to Dublin, was there buried in Christchurch, near the Chappel built by himself on the North side of the high Altar. Thus much by the way. He was a valiant man, tall, and of a goodly presence, and famous withal, by reason of his many Victories; but withal rigid and severe, he fortified some of the English Borders with Forts, whereby he afforded them both safety and security.

About the beginning of this year died Ulick Bourk (called also Mac William) Lord of Clanriccard, of whom we have formerly made some mention, and was buried at Athenry, in the Abbey of the Friars Preachers. But let us now lay aside the Nobles, being about to speak of the King, the Fountain of Nobility.

And now come we to the period of Henry the seventh's Reign, who departed this life on the 22th. of April, in his Palace of Richmond, which he had built a new, in the 53th. year of his Age, and of his Reign the 24th. his Body was intombed at Westminster on the 11th. of May following after a Kingly manner, in the midst of that Chappel of exquisite workmanship, (Leland calls it the Worlds Wonder) which he had built from the very Foundation, on the East end of St. Peters Church, the Charges thereof amounting to 14000 pounds sterl. where the Executor of his last Will and Testament did afterwards erect a most stately Tomb of solid Brass gilded over, beautified with his and his Queens Statues. He was a valiant and fortunate Prince, wise also, and of admirable dexterity in appeasing the Troubles of his time, he was frugal too, by which word

(as

(as Cicero of Dejotarus) I know Kings are not wont to be praised: and for some years before his Death (that we may conceal nothing from the Reader) he seemed burthensom to the people, by reason of the Fines of penal Laws executed by his Authority. Among the Delators were Richard Empson and Edmond Dudley, both English Lawyers, who about the beginning of Henry the eighths Reign were condemned to dye, and were beheaded, as a Sacrifice to appease the peoples wrath. Polydor Virgil, Archdeacon of Wells, and Sub-Collector to Hadrian de Castello Cardinal and Bishop of Bath and Wells in England, shall declare the rest of King Henry for me in his own words: He was a spare and slender Body, but strong and well set; his Stature being somewhat taller than ordinary; his Presence comely, his Countenance (especially when he spoke) cheerful, his Eyes grey, his Teeth few, and so was the Hair of his Head; he was of great and piercing Wit, and learned withal; he was very valiant and courageous in greatest dangers; and by a habitual custome of Nature he was almost of a Divine Temper; he managed his Affairs both wisely and gravely; whereby the Opinion of his Wisdom did the easier take place in the Minds of men. And a little after. He was also moderate, honest, thrifty and courteous, and so great a hater of Pride and Arrogancy, that he was rigid and severe to those that were addicted to such faults. To proceed, the Marriage between him and Elizabeth, Daughter and Heir to King Edward the 4th. being happily consummated, that Title so long disputed between the two Families of Tork and Lancaster was ended; and so the Roses were united; the White being the Arms of the House of Tork, and the Red that of Lancaster: of which Bernardus Andreas of Tholouse, a Poet of his time, Glaucis.

*Ecce nunc omnes posuere venti
Murmures, præter Zephyrum tepentem:
Hic Rosas nutrit, nitidosque flores Veris amæni.*

*Quando teu longus tenuit colonos Imber, & nubes resoluta fluxit,
Et diu pendens aratrum reliquit
Tristis arator.*

And not long after Sir Thomas Moore,

*Purpureæ vicina fuit Rosa candida, utramque
Utraque dum certant sic prior ultra, premit.
Utraque sed florem Rosa jam coalescit in unum,
Quoque potest uno lis cadit illa modo.
Nunc Rosa se pandit, nunc se explicat una, sed omnes
Una habet hæc dotes, quas habuere duæ.
Scilicet huic uni species, odor atque voluptas,
Et color & virtus est utriusque Rosæ:
Alterutram ergo Rosam, vel solam quisquis amavit,
Hanc in qua nunc est quicquid amavit amet.
At qui tam ferus est, ut non amet, ille timebit:
Nempe etiam spinas flos habet iste suas.*

And

An. Dom.

1509.

And thus at last a firm Peace, so often wished for by our Ancestors, was confirmed, which put an end to that civil and bloody War, which had for many years most grievously afflicted England: so that King Henry's Enemies did afterwards but labour in vain, to disturb the Peace of the Kingdom, as sufficiently appears by what hath already been said.

His Son Henry the 8th. of that Name, succeeded him, being scarce eighteen years of age, who reigned afterwards thirty seven years nine months and six days; and then being spent rather with Delights and Pleasures than Years or Labour, he departed this mortal life.

ANNALS

T H E
A N N A L S
O F
I R E L A N D

During the REIGN of
KING HENRY
THE EIGHTH,

Anno Domini 1509. Et Anno Regni I.

C H A P. I.

HENRY the only surviving Son of Henry the 7th. a Youth not not fully eighteen years of age, begun his Reign on the 22th. of April. On the 21th. of May he performed his Fathers Funeral Rites, and on the 24th. of June (being St. John Baptists day) he and Catherine his Wife, who a little before he had married, were (by the hands of William Warham Archbishop of Canterbury) with the usual Solemnities crowned and anointed in St. Peters Church at Westminster; and as these things were performed with very great pomp, so were they received with no less applause and acclamations of persons of all Qualities.

But let us now proceed to the Affairs of Ireland transacted this year. Gerald Earl of Kildare was at this time Lord Deputy of Ireland, him the King by new Letters Patents did constitute Lord Justice of the same, and intimated unto him by Letters both his Fathers Decease and his own Succession to his Fathers Kingdoms: moreover he confirmed Counsellors, Judges, and other Officers in their former places: the Earl receiving these Letters at Dublin, immediately summoned the Council, communicating the Letters unto them; which being read, the whole Council

I did

An. Reg.
I.

King H. 8. intimating to Kildare the death of H. 7. and his own Succession, and so proclaimed King, and Lord of Ireland.

An. Dom.

1510.

Kildare goes into Ulster to recover Dungannon.

The Bishop of Fernes death; who succeeded him.

did unanimously own and acknowledge Henry as true and lawful King. Then the Mayor and Aldermen, together with the Nobility and best of the City (as many as could be got together) were summoned, all of them passing through the chief streets of the City, where (with the sound of Trumpet) Henry was proclaimed King of England and France, and Lord of Ireland. The City it self by joyful acclamations of the people, ringing of Bells and kindling of Bonfires in the streets, according to custom, did testifie a publick Joy. This Edict was soon after proclaimed and received with like approbation in the other Cities and prime Towns. These things were done in the Month of May.

Soon after the Earl of Kildare collecting his Forces, made an Invaade into Ulster, at the instigation of some of the Family of O Neals, with an intention to recover the Forts of Dungannon and Omey; but the Castle of Dungannon being surrendred up before his coming, he proceeded further, and won the Castle of Omey by assault, and there released Arthur the Son of Con O Neal, who was there detained prisoner.

Edmond Comerford Bishop of Fernes, sometime Dean of St. Canicks Church in Kilkenny, of whom we have elsewhere made mention, departed this life on Easter day. Nicholas Commin was designed to succeed him, born at Limerick, as I take it, who on the 20th. of January following was consecrated in the Cathedral Church of St. Paul at London: also David de Burgo (or Bourk) departed this world in the first year of his Consecration, to whom succeeded Dionysius (or Denis) a Friar Minor, ordained by Pope Julius the second November the 7th.

Anno Domini 1510. Et Anno Regni II.

CHAP. II.

King H. 8th. continues Kildare Lord Deputy. He goes into Munster.

Kildare encountered as he returned, and a great fight on both sides with loss.

THe Earl of Kildare being again made Deputy of Ireland, made an Expedition this year into Munster, being furnished with great Forces out of the Counties of Dublin, Meath, Kildare and Lowth, unto whom Odo or Hugh O Donnel did joyne himself, these entring the Enemies Territories, bordering upon one Desmond (where not long after they took certain Forts) depopulated the whole Country, scarce meeting with or being resisted by any. But at their return being laden with spoils, they were encountered by the Enemy in the County of Limerick, at a place called Monetrarr. The Enemies Army were at that time very numerous, and amongst them James eldest Son of Maurice Earl of Desmond, Tirlagh O Brian Lord of Tuomond and Mac William, a Nobleman descended of the Bourks, were men of chief account: both parties resolved on a Battel, and begun a sore Fight, with great loss on either side; but on the Earls side fell the greatest loss, his Army being laden with spoils, and spent with long marchings. Night ended the Battel. The next day the Deputy, by by the advice of his Officers, (the Armies keeping their Ranks) withdrew, and without any other loss returned home.

This year in the month of April did happen great inundations of Waters, which overturned Trees, Houses and Bridges.

An. Reg.
III.

Great floods
in Ireland.

Anno Domini 1511. Et Anno Regni III.

CHAP. III.

Robert Evers, who for the space of thirteen years had the charge of the most noble Priory of St. Johns of Jerusalem in Ireland, was this year discharged of that most honourable Employment by the great Master of the Isle of Rhodes, the Preceptory of Slebich in Pembrokeshire in Wales being only assigned him for his support and maintenance during his natural life. I have not found out what may be the crime that was alledged against him. John Rawson (an English man) did succeed him in the Priory, who by reason of indisposition of body landed not in Ireland till the following year, when by the Kings Command he was sworn one of his Majesties Privy Council. In the mean time, May the 14th. Walter Fitz Symons Archbishop of Dublin departed this life, at Finglas, two miles from Dublin, his Body was brought from thence to the Cathedral Church of St. Patricks, scituate in the South Soburbs of the City of Dublin, where with great Funeral solemnities his Body was buried in the body of his Church, neer to the Image of St. Patrick. Then Richard Skerrett Prior of Christchurch carried away the Archiepiscopal Cross to his Priory, according to custom, as Custos Natus thereof, there to be kept for the use of the succeeding Archbishop of this Prelate (famous for his Learning and other Episcopal virtues), of whom there is often mention made in our Annals of Ireland during the Reign of Henry the seventh.

William Rookeby an English man (and a Doctor of the Cannon Law) succeeded him, being by Pope Julius the second translated from the See of Meath to this Archbishoprick: Hugh Ingy an English man also, and a Doctor of Divinity, was ordained to succeed Rokeby in the Bishoprick of Meath, both of them the next year, and on the very same day, to wit, the 22th. of June, obtained of the King a Restitution of their Temporalities. In the mean time Thomas Bradey (otherwise called Andrews Son) Bishop of Kildare died this year, to whose See one Dermitius (or Der-mott) was preferred, a man well vers'd in good Letters. This man (by reason of the growing troubles in Ulster) retired to Swords in the County of Dublin, being a person of a mild and peaceable disposition, where for a long season he discharged the part or Office of a Vicar. In these days Charles or Cahir O'Connor Lord of Osaly was slain by his own Countrymen, Robert Evers expelled from his Priorship of St. Johns of Jerusalem, and John Rawson put in.

Rawson made a Privy Counsellor.

The Archbishop of Dublin died.

William Rokeby succeeded in the See of Dublin.

The death of the Bishop of Kilmore, and who succeeded him.

Cahir O'Connor slain,

An. Dom.

1512.

Q. Catharine bore a Son to K. H. 8th.

near the Abbey of the Friars Minors of Monaster-Feoris. These things were done in Ireland. This very year the fifth general Council of Lateran was begun under Pope Julius the second, and ended in the year 1518. in the Papacy of Leo the tenth. In the beginning of this year Queen Catherine bore the King a Son at Richmond in England, named Henry. But behold,

Ostendent terris hunc tantum fata, nec ultra Esse sinent.

*This Prince the Fates to Earth did shew,
And so from thence they him withdrew.*

The young Prince dies within a month.

Within less than a month after this Prince, to the great grief of his Parents, and sorrow of all persons, was snatched away by Death; and, to heighten their grief, the Queen did afterwards often miscarry: yet she afterwards left a surviving Daughter behind her, named Mary. As for the Queen her self, as she was descended of most Illustrious Parents, so she far exceeded in her most noble qualities of Mind, the which not only they which have written of her do publish as it were with a general assent, but even the King himself, when afterwards he prosecuted a Divorce, (in the year 1528.) did in a Speech to the people ingenuously profess.

Anno Domini 1512. Et Anno Regni IV.

C H A P. IV.

The Castle of Belfast demolished and Ul- ster made waste.

The death and burial of the Bishop of Leghlin.

Who succeeded this Bishop.

THE Earle of Kildare marched with an Army this year into Ulster, and there took and demolished the Castle of Belfast, which had been lately repaired, and which about nine years before he had defaced. Besides this he destroyed the Country on all sides, and at length returned back with the preys of the Country. The greatest part of the Cash was afterwards distributed among the Souldiers. About the same time Nicholas Mac Guire Bishop of Leghlin deceased. He was born in Idrone, but brought up in the University of Oxford; he was an industrious and learned man, and by reason of his manifold Endowments worthy of that Charge. He was Bishop of that See about 22 years, and was buried in his own Church. Thomas Brown (a Chaplain of his) wrote his Life. Thomas Halsay, an English man and Doctor of the Laws (who was at Rome at the same time) was ordained to be his Successor, by the means and endeavours of Christopher Bambridge Cardinal of Tork (then residing at Rome as Legate from Henry the 8th.) This Halsay was afterwards present at the Lateran Council in the years 1515, and 1516. In his absence he constituted Charles or Cahir Cavenagh, Abbot of the Abbey of Duisk, his Vicar General, whom Richard Staniburst by a mistake calleth Bishop of Leghlin.

Anno

An. Reg.

V.

Anno Domini 1513. Et Anno Regni V.

CHAP. V.

THe Earl of Kildare (the Spring approaching) did resolve with sufficient Forces to prosecute the War in Ely O'Caroll, at length in the month of August collecting his Forces he begun his March: but in his journey he fell sick at Athy, (in the midst as it were of his course) where he kept his bed a few days, and deceased the 30th. Nones of September. His Body was brought to Dublin, and was honourably buried in Christchurch (unto which he had been a great Benefactor) in a Chappel there built by himself on the North side of the high Altar. His Army in the mean time being disheartned by this unexpected accident, did suddenly disband. The Earl being dead the Government of Ireland was immediately (by the Assent of the Privy Council) conferred on his Son Gerald (at that time High Treasurer of the Kingdom) by the Name of Lord Justice, whom the King did afterwards (by new Letters Patents) constitute Lord Deputy of Ireland. On the sixth of November Sir Will. Crompton Knight was made Lord Chancellor of Ireland and on the 13th. day of January following Christopher Flemming (alias Flanders) Lord Baron of Slane was made High Treasurer of the said Kingdom. On the 25th. of May Maurice de Portu, alias O Fihely, of the Order of the Friars Minors Archbishop of Tuam, scarce fifty years of age, departed this life at Gallway, and was buried there in a Church of his own Order. He was held by some in such estimation, by reason of his Learning and other excellent Endowments, that he was termed by them the Flower of the world. I have written elsewhere more at large of him. Thomas Laley succeeded him, who was likewise of the same Order a Minorite. In the month of June (for this year is memorable by the Death of famous men) Octavianus de Palatio, a Florentine born, Doctor of the Canon Law, and Archbishop of Ardmagh, having ruled that See 33 years and 3 months, exchanged life for death; but of him I have treated at large elsewhere, it being needless here to repeat it. Octavianus being dead, John Kyte (born in London) was ordained his Successor: he was sometimes King Henry's Legate in Spain, on the 20th. of May following he received the restitution of his Temporalities. This same year Donald Mac Guislin took the Fort of Dunluse in Ulster by assault.

Nor is it to be omitted here, seeing it is a thing tending to the Honour of the English Nation, that this year Maximilian the Emperor disdained not to fight under the Colours of our Henry the Eighth, then making War against the French, and did then wear St. Georges red Cross and a party coloured Rose, the usual cognifance of the English Warfare; as also took for pay a hundred Crowns a day, besides what was paid to his Souldiers.

Kildare his designs against O'Caroll, how he fell sick and died.

This Earl built that Chappel which is by the North side of Christchurch Altar.

This Earls Son succeeded in the Government.

Crompton Lord Chancellor.

The Lord of Slane High Treasurer.

Archbishop of Tuam died.

Who succeeded this Archbishop, a Minorite. The death of the Archbishop of Ardmagh.

One Kyte his Successor.

The Emperor fought under the Command of K. H. 8th. against the French.

An. Dom.
1514, 1515.

Anno Domini 1514. Et Anno Regni VI.

CHAP. VI.

Kildare goes against O Moore and O Rely.

THe Earl of Kildare marched with his Army into Leix, where he vanquished O Moore, who rebelled, in a Battel, forcing him to fly to the Woods. The Earl upon his return took his way towards the Breny against O Rely, who had lately preyed and harassed the neighbouring English territories, where having won and razed the Castle of Cavan, Hugh O Rely and many others being slain, the rest were dispersed in the Woods and Glynns, and then firing the adjacent Villages, with a great drove of Cattel returned home. Some do give out that a great Sedition arose this year in Ireland; but seeing they give us no account of the prime Authors thereof, nor of the Province where it brake out, nor yet of the manner of its suppression; I cannot, I confess, by that Sedition conceive or imagine it to be any other than the aforesaid Insurrection of O Moore and O Rely, which for that cause the Earl (as we have said) did dispute and compel to their Fastnesses.

Anno Domini 1515. Et Anno Regni VII.

CHAP. VII.

A Parliament at Dublin.

ON the 25th. of January a Parliament was begun in Dublin by the Kings Command, the Earl of Kildare being Deputy; where (besides the usual Laws in confirming to the Church and Irish Nation its Liberties and Priviledges) a Subsidy was granted to the King: Also a Remedy was prescribed in the Court of Chancery in Ireland, to restrain malicious Sutes among private persons, (that is against those who procured a Summons under the Privy Seal, or Signet); of matters relating to the Courts of Judicature in Ireland.

The Archbishop of Dublin made Lord Chancellor. Gormanstown made Lord Justice of Ireland. Tho. Earl of Ormond died, a further description of this noble Lord.

About the beginning of Spring William Rokeby Archbishop of Dublin, then residing in England, was by the Kings Letters Patents made Lord Chancellor of Ireland, which Dignity (after his return into Ireland) he enjoyed the remainder of his days. June the 13th. William Preston Viscount Gormanstown was made Lord Justice of Ireland, which long he enjoyed not (as I take it). August the 3^d. Thomas Butler Earl of Ormond deceased at London; England at that time saw not a richer Subject, if what was related of him betruce: for they report him to have left behind him forty forty thousand pounds sterl. in his coffers, besides Silver Coins and Jewels. He was buried in the Abbey of St. Thomas of Acres in London. He left Issue two Daughters behind him, Anne, who was married to James St. Leger, and Margaret, who was married to William Bolen Knight of the Bath. He was in such favour with Henry the 7th. and Henry the 8th. that he only of all the Irish Nobility (or Peers) had the freedom to sit and vote in the Parliaments of England, taking place of all the English Barons. Sir Peter (or Pierce) Butler of Carrig took his Honour upon him, being lineally descended of the same Progeny. The same year Eugenius (or Owen) Camel Bishop of Clogher, departed this life, having ruled that See about ten years, and was buried in his own Church, of which he was sometime Dean. The See of Clogher was void for the space of four years after, and then Patrick Cullen (of the Order of the Hermits of St. Augustine) was advanced to that Bishoprick; a man commendable for his skill in Antiquities and Divine Poems.

An. Reg.
VIII.

The great favour K. H. 7th. and K. H. 8th. shewed to this Earl of Ormond

The Bishop of Clogher died. ...

Who succeeded him in that See.

Anno Domini 1516. Et Anno Regni VIII.

CHAP. VIII.

THe Earl of Kildare made an inrode this year into Imaly, where in a skirmish he slew Shane O-Toole whose Head he sent to the Mayor of Dublin. Afterwards he took his journey through Ely O-Carroll, against O-Carroll; in which Expedition not a few of the Nobility of Leinster and Munster, of English descent, did side with him, among which were Peter Butler Earl of Ormond, and James eldest Son of the Earl of Desmond. From thence he fell into the Enemies Country, and surrounded the Castle of Lemewan, which after a weeks siege he took, the Garrison deserting by night; and soon after he razed it. Thence he marched with all possible speed to the fenced Town of Clonmell, (situate on the Sure) that he might anticipate the fame of his coming. Not long after the Town was yielded up unto him by the Inhabitants, upon what Conditions I know not; and thence he returned home with certain Hostages and Prisoners, and was received of his Friends with great joy: the rest betook themselves in safety to their own homes.

On the 28th. of June Elizabeth St. John, Widow of Gerald late Earl of Kildare, departed this life. And before her, to wit, on the 7th. of May Menelaus (or Melaghin) Cormican Bishop of Rapho, sometimes Dean of the said Church and of Donnegall, was (according to his desires) buried in the Abbey of the Friars Minors of the Observance: Cornelius Cahan succeeded him. This same year William Ferall Bishop of Ardagh, being well stricken in years, departed the world.

I know not whether it be here worth the while to mention an old Prophecy, wherein it was given out, that the Irish Nation being at the lowest ebb, should this year become a most potent and warlike People.

The

Kildare made an inrode into Imaly, he slew Shane O Toole.

Who joyned with him in this journey.

7 nempe Idus May the Bishop of Rapho buried.

The Bishop of Ardagh died.

A Prophecy touching Ireland.

An. Dom.

1517.

De Salute Populi.
Pandari Hibernia.

The Author of a Book intituled The Peoples Welfare gives a touch of this Prophecy, it is extant under the borrowed Name of Irelands Pandar; but the Event did sufficiently discover the Contrivers Vanity: which Horace excellently points at, in his third Book of Verses and 29th. Ode.

Prudens futuri temporis exitum Caliginosa nocte premit Deus, &c.

Anno Domini 1517. Et Anno Regni IX.

CHAP. IX.

Kildare journeyeth into Ulster and taketh Dundrom.

His fight against Magenis.

The Fort of Dungannon burnt by Kildare.

The death of Kildares Countess, and where she lies buried.

The Citizens of Dublin went into Imaly, Christop. Usher was then Mayor.

The death of Slane.

The Sub-Prior of Christchurch died.

The Bishop of Waterford died and who succeeded.
A hard Winter this year.

THis year the Earl of Kildare gathered his Forces together to prosecute the War in Ulster, and entering first into Lecale, he took by Storm the garrisoned Fort or Castle of Dundrom, out of which the Irish had expelled the English. Thence he advanced his Colours against Phelim Magenis, whom in a skirmish he easily vanquished. Magenis was taken at the same time, and many of his men lost. The Earl (after he had preyed and burnt up the Villages of Magenises Abettors) marched to Tyrone, which he likewise depopulated, where he took and burnt the Fort of Dungannon. These things being accomplished, he returned with a great Prey to Dublin.

It hapned, not long after his return from these Victories, that on the 9th. of October his Wife, the Lady Elizabeth Zouch was by sudden death taken away (to his great grief;) a Woman every way commendable for her excellent qualities; she lieth buried in the New Abbey of the Friars Minors hard by Kilcullen, in the County of Kildare, near Alison Eustace her Husbands Mother, where her obsequies were performed with great solemnity.

Not long afore a small handful of the Citizens of Dublin were sent into Imaly against O Toole; but missing their Armies, some of them being slain, and the rest terrified, they soon returned home.

On the 7th. of August Christopher Flemming Baron of Slane, and High Treasurer of Ireland, deceased at London, leaving behind him James his Heir, a Child of nine years of age.

The same year took away Thomas Fich Sub-Prior of Christchurch in Dublin, to whose learned Labours that Church is much indebted. This year, or the next, Thomas Purcel Bishop of Waterford and Lismore bade adieu to this life, to whom succeeded Nicholas Comin Bishop of Fernes. In this year was a very hard Winter, so that the Ice of the Rivers did not only for a long season bear up Men upon it, but also loaden Carts or Cars. These things were done in Ireland. On the 11th. of February Queen Catherine Catharine bore the King a Daughter, named Mary, at Greenwich in England, who was afterwards Queen of England, after the decease of her Brother King Edward.

An. Reg.
X.

Q. Mary born.

Anno Domini 1518. Et Anno Regni X.

CHAP. X.

ALL this year Ireland was peaceable. Also in England, in September, the Peace was concluded with the French, which was afterwards also publickly proclaimed at Dublin, and mutual Commerce restored. The chief Heads of the Conditions were these; That Francis the Dauphin of France should marry the Lady Mary our Kings Daughter, not yet two years old, as soon as she should be of age fit for Marriage: that John Stuart Duke of Albany should be recalled out of Scotland: that the City of Tournay, possessed by ours should be restored to the French: and lastly, that the French should pay to King Henry six hundred thousand Crowns for the City, and for the Cittadel four hundred thousand, besides three and twenty thousand pounds Tournois, which the City of Tournay owed the King, and besides a yearly pension of one thousand Marks assigned to Cardinal Woolsey, for his resignation of the Bishoprick of Tournay; for payment of which Sums the French gave eight Noblemen for Hostages.

Ireland pretty quiet this year and Peace between France and England also the Conditions and Proposals.

During these transactions, the adversaries of the Earl of Kildare made a diligent search into his actions in Ireland, and by their Letters and Messengers framed all things to his disadvantage in the English Court. Nor was Kildare wanting to himself; for as soon as he understood their designs, by his Letters to the King he earnestly implored him to give no credit to their Calumnies, affirming their Accusations to be grounded upon malice, and professed that he always persisted firm and faithful to his Prince, and would so continue for ever. He also instructed his Messengers and Friends in England with Answers to those things which he conceived might be objected against him. The sequel of this will appear in the year following.

Kildare had many adversaries this year.

A Provincial Synod was this year held at Dublin by William Rokeby Archbishop of Dublin, whose Canons are extant in the Red Book of the Bishop of Offory. But to insert them here may be too long, and peradventure superfluous. He called another Provincial Synod likewise at Christchurch in Dublin, in September 1512. But the Statutes then ordained (if I be not mistaken) are lost. On the 10th. of March died Edmond Courcey of the Order of Friars Minors, and Professor of Divinity, who was at first Bishop of Clogher, in the year 1484. and ten years after Bishop of Rofs. He was buried in the Church of the Monastery of his Order, to which he had been a great Benefactor. Touching his singular

A Synod held at Dublin.

The death of the Bishop of Rofs sometime Bishop of Clogher.

An. Dom.
1519.

The Successor of this Bishop.

The Prior of Christchurch in Dublin his death.

His Successor.

lar and firm Fidelity to King Henry the 7th. I have spoken elsewhere. To him succeeded John Imurily at first a Cistercian of the Monastery of St. Mary de Fonte vivo, afterwards Abbot of the same place. Also on the 5th. of March died Richard Skerrett Prior of the Cathedral Church of the Holy Trinity, commonly called Christchurch, at Dublin, a prudent man. To whom succeeded William Hassard, a Canon Regular of the said Church.

Anno Domini 1519. Et Anno Regni XI.

CHAP. XI.

How Kildares enemies combined against him.

THE Enemies to the Family of the Geraldines (or *Fitz Gerald*s) being mightily afraid, lest the Earl of Kildare, being now irritated, should continue Deputy of Ireland, and that he would sit on their skirts more than ever, left no stone unturned to have him sent into England, there to be detained till he should purge himself of the Crimes objected against him. This they effected by the means of Cardinal Woolsey, who was now in great favour with the King. And now we come to the times wherein Woolsey bore so great a sway with the King, that scarce any Affairs of consequence in England or Ireland were treated of without his Advice. And thus Kildare was at last called over, to answer the Crimes objected by his Adversaries, of the male Administration of the Affairs of Ireland: and particularly, that by his unjust Seizure of His Majesties Revenues and Crown Lands, he both enriched himself and his, and that he had won many of the Irish Natives to him and his Heirs. Before his departure out of Ireland (with the Kings leave) he substituted in his stead Maurice the Son of Thomas de Lackagh, a Knight, and one of his own Family, by the Title of Justice of Ireland. He was afterwards admitted to Court, to defend his Cause in the Kings Presence, which for a season being sifted and canvassed to and again, he soon perceived a candid and favourable construction to be set on his Actions. To be short he was at last quit, and received into former favour; and the year following, among other Noblemen, he waited on His Majesty to a Parley, or Conference, which was long afore appointed by him and the French King, between Andres and Guines. The Counsels of Princes are hard to be founded. This year Inis Oen, a Peninsule in Tir-Connell, was miserably wasted by the O Neals.

King Hen. 8. gave Kildare leave to nominate a Gover-nour in his stead.

How the King received Kildare at Court.

Kildare came off.

The King prepares to send aid into Ireland.

It was the Opinion of wise men, that the King did hitherto neglect too much his Irish Affairs: whereupon a serious debate was had in England to rectifie this error, and to send some fit person, of the chief of the Nobility, with Forces into Ireland, to suppress the Rebels, and reduce them to their Allegiance. Thomas Howard Earl of Surrey did seem to be the fittest person of all the Council for this Expedition, who for his former warlike Achievements was highly prized by the King.

About

About the later end of this year he was declared Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and an Army appointed him to be transported for Ireland the next Spring, with Monies, Arms and other necessaries for his dispatch and expedition. Polydor Virgil affirms this Province to be committed to Surrey chiefly, by the means of Woolsey, and more out of hatred to Kildare than love to the Earl of Surrey. This year James Mahonides, or Mahon, departed this life, a little before Christmas; he was Bishop of Derby, and Prior Commendatory of the Abbey of St. Peter and St. Paul de Knock (or of the Knock) near Lowth. On the 9th. of January following John Imurily Bishop of Ross, already mentioned, gave up the Ghost, in the Habit of a Franciscan Friar, and lies buried in the Abbey of the Friars Minors of Temolagy. A certain person called Bonaventure succeeded him, and unto James, Roderick, or Rory, O-Donell, who was Dean of Rapho (if I mistake not) enjoyed the Bishoprick until the 8 Ides of October 1551. where he also deceased in the Habit of a Franciscan, and was interred at Donnegall in an Abbey of the same Order. Nor is it to be omitted, that this very same year Arthur O Neal, the Son of Con, or Cuin, Lord of Tir Oen, paid Nature his last debt. His Brother Con, surnamed Bacca, that is, Lame, succeeded him by a popular Election; of whom more hereafter. This year Nicholas Comin Bishop of Fernes was translated to the Bishoprick of Waterford and Lismore. John Purcel succeeded him in the Bishoprick of Fernes, who was consecrated at Rome on the 6th. of May, 1551.

An. Reg.
XII.

The Earl of Surrey Lord
Lieutenant of Ireland.

The late Bishop of Ross died.

This Bishops
successor.

The death of Arthur O Neal.

The Bishop of Fernes translated to Water- ford, and who succeeded Fernes.

Anno Domini 1520. Et Anno Regni XII.

C H A P. XII.

THE Wednesday before Whitsontide Thomas Howard Earl of Surrey, Lord High Admiral of England, Wales and Ireland, and Knight of the Garter (being sent by the King Lord Lieutenant of Ireland) landed at Dublin, together with his Wife, Daughter to Edward Duke of Buckingham. As soon as he took the Government upon him, on Whitsunday he had notice of the approach of Con O Neal Lord of Tir Oen, hoping by his unexpected arrival to destroy the County of Meath, wholly unprovided of Defence. The Lord Lieutenant did resolutely intend to meet him with a gallant Courage, knowing it available to heighten the esteem of his first undertakings. He had then with him one hundred of the Kings Guard, (which he brought with him out of England) besides one thousand Horse and Foot. With these and the choice Flower of the Citizens of Dublin (and perhaps with some others gathered up in haste out of the neighbouring County) he marched against O Neal. But at his arrival at Slane in Meath, he had intelligence that O Neal, hearing him to be in Arms, became Crest-fallen, being fled with his men to the Fastnesses of Ulster; Surrey supposing it not safe at that

The Earl of Surrey landed at Dublin.

He was not 3 days landed when O Neal begun with the English to molest Meath.

O Neal crestfallen at Sur- reys preparations.

An. Dom.

1520.

O Neal craves the Earls pardon.

The number of O Neals men when he thus submitted

Maurice Fitz
Thomas murthered.

The Earl of Desmond. died.

The Earl of Surrey routed
the O Birnes.

Leinster pretty quiet.

The Earl of Kildare aforesaid marrieth
the Lady Elizabeth Grey, by which he strengtheneth himself.

time to proceed any further against the Enemy, (who fled into the Woods and Boggs,) chiefly because his Victuals grew scant; wherefore by the advice of a Council of War he returned to Dublin. O Neal despairing, and distrusting his Men, and doubting the event of these things, he soon after (by Letters) in a submissive manner craved Pardon of the new Lord Lieutenant, promising for the future to do His Majesty faithful Service, if he might be received into favour, or on condition to be received into favour. The Earl of Surrey granted his Request, deeming it to be for the good of the Common-wealth, as the case stood then. Paulus Jovius (following I know not what uncertain report) relates, that Con or Conatius O Neal (whom he terms Prince of Ulster) had four thousand Horse and thrice as many Foot in his Army, and that he was at last by the Gifts and Industry of Howard reduced to Friendship, demeaning himself peaceably to King Henry. But I follow our own Writers, who frankly affirm, that O Neal distrusting his Forces, and hoping for Pardon, did humbly submit himself.

In those days Maurice the Son of Thomas (of whom I have already spoken) was cruelly murdered by the O Moores, in Leix; but the cause thereof I know not. About the same time, another of the same Name, that O Neal to wit, the Earl of Desmond, departed this life, his Son James assuming his Honour.

A few days after, by Surreys endeavours, the Earls of Ormond and Desmond were reconciled together at Waterford, where they both met, giving their Bonds and Pledges to perform Conditions. In the month of October the Lord Lieutenant roundly charged the O Birnes, being near Neighbours unto Dublin, and rebelling at that time: he routed this pillaging crew, and drove them into their Glynnes. In other parts of Leinster all was quiet: but Corn and Provisions began to grow dear, by reason of the wet Summer. At this time the Lord Lieutenant disbanded fifty Horse, under the Command of Sir John Bulmer Knight, being no way serviceable for the Wars. Bulmer himself (by reason of sickness) had leave to go for England. In the interim of these affairs, the Earl of Kildare espoused a second Wife in England, Elizabeth Grey, Daughter to Thomas Grey Marquess of Dorset. This Marriage did afterwards very much advance and promote Kildares affairs, acquiring thereby great Friends at Court. The Earl had by this Wife two Sons, besides Daughters, Gerald and Edward, the former, by the Bounty of Queen Mary, succeeded in the Earldom.

An. Reg.
XIII.Anno Domini 1521. Et Anno Regni XIII.

CHAP. XIII.

ON the 4th. of June the Earl of Surrey summoned a Parliament at Dublin, in which it was enacted, that the malicious burning of Corn should be High Treason. Transportation of Wool was likewise prohibited, upon pain of Forfeiture double the value thereof: and other Laws were established fit for the times. On the 22th. of March following this Parliament was dissolved.

We have already spoken of the Death of Maurice the Son of Thomas, who was slain by the O Moores in Leix. To revenge whose Death, the Earl went this year with some Forces into Leix, to whom flocked not a few of the English Nobility and Gentry, and amongst them Thomas Trew, Mayor of the City of Dublin, with an armed Band, or Company, of the Citizens.

In this Expedition, whilst the Earl destroyed Leix with Fire and Sword, a Bullet discharged out of a Musquet hit the Earls Helmet, but by Gods great mercy without any hurt, or detriment. The Gunner, who out of the next Wood shot at him, was immediately taken and slain.

At this time O Connor, O Caroll, and other Irish Natives made a League with joint Forces to invade the English Territories. Surrey having notice of their Consultations, on the 9th. of July he with his Forces advanced his Colours towards Osaly. Many of the Leinster Nobility of English Race sided with him, besides the Citizens of Dublin, the Townsmen of Droghedagh, and some Irish Lords with their Ax-bearing *Galloglas*ses, and Kearns, or light armed Footmen. On the 13th. of July he entered the Enemies Country, where after a day or two, by fitly placing, mounting and discharging three pieces of Ordinance he took the Abbey called Monaster-Feoris, which O Connor had strengthened with a Garrison, which made an escape by night. Then securing the place with a Guard, he destroyed all the adjacent Country with Fire and Sword, until the 23th. of the same month. O Connor, before the Earls arrival, had swept away the Cattel and Flocks. In the interim whilst Surrey thought to return, O Connor, O Caroll, and other Confederates returning out of Meath, which they had depopulated, shewed themselves and their Forces. This proffered occasion made Surrey to face them: But they distrusting their own powers, and willingly declining an unequal conflict, immediately fled; many of them were slain in their flight. However this Victory was unpleasant, by the sad disaster of Edward Plunket Baron of Dunsany, who was killed valiantly fighting in the midst of the Enemy.

Surrey summoned a Parliament, and what was enacted.

Surrey went to revenge the death of Maurice Fitz Thomas.

How the Earl of Surrey escaped in this combat.

O Connor and O Caroll joyned against the English.

Surrey and the English rose against the Irish and how they charged O Connor.

How O Connor and O Caroll thought to surprise Surrey, but all in vain.

About

An. Dom.

1521.

Hugh O Donell
his submission to Surrey.

His submission granted, but behold it was a counterfeit one.

The broil between Des- mond and Cor- mac mac Carty reagh.

Desmond put to flight.

Monies not coming to supply the wants of the English,
Surrey desires to be recalled into England, and how he was at Court received.

Surrey employed against France.

Ormond substituted in Sur- reys stead.

About the same time Hugh or Odo O Donnell Lord of Tir-Connell, lately returning from his Roman Pilgrimage, interceded by Letters and Messengers, with the Lord Lieutenant in order to his Submission, promising most faithfully to adhere to his Lordship, having once plighted his Faith to him, if he might be received into favour. Besides, he promised to bring Auxiliaries out of Tir-Connell, and to hire a great number of Scotish Highlanders, or Isle-landers, and Redshanks, to be employed against the Kings Enemies.

His Petition was readily granted by the Lord Lieutenant, who received him into favour. But the event shewed all this to be counterfeited by O Donell: For the Earl of Surrey being not long after about to undertake an Expedition against Conell Mac-Melagblin, he demanded his promised Succours and Assistance. O Donell having intelligence of O Neal's sending of Auxiliary Bands to that Expedition, viz. four thousand Horse, four thousand Galloglassies, and eight thousand Kearnes, he took that occasion to fall on the Territories of O Neal, and the former Magennis. In this Incurſion he burnt up seventeen Villages, and drove away a great flock of Sheep, or many head of Cattel.

This compelled O Neal (in his own defence) to recal his Forces. And thus the Expedition against Mac-Melagblin fell to the ground.

In the mean time, the overtures of Peace proposed at Waterford in Munster, by William Rokeby Archbishop of Dublin, and other Delegates, or persons therunto authorized, betwixt James Earl of Desmond and Cormac Mac-Carty reagh the younger, vanished into smoke. For Desmond began to burn and prey upon the Country of Cormac. Cormac was not wanting to himself: For, clapping up a Peace (or making a League) with Sir Thomas Desmond, a known enemy to the Earl, he advanced his Colours against him. In the month of September a Battel was fought betwixt them, where the Earl and his Men were overthrown with a great slaughter. The Earl escaped by flight, but his Uncles, John and Gerald (among others) were taken prisoners, and above a thousand slain.

Winter now approaching, Surrey having in vain for a long time expected the promised supplies of Monies out of England, in order to the carrying on of the War, and wearied with delays, he dealt with Cardinal Woolsey and his Friends in England, that he might be recalled. The King granted his request, and the rather, because he wanted Monies, his Treasury being exhausted. Surrey having leave to depart, being welcomed by all Estates, by reason of his Gentle Disposition. About Christmas following, attended by his English Forces, he and his Lady sailed into England. On the 25th. of January following he came to Court, and had there a favourable Reception, according to his Deserts. Wars being proclaimed with France, he was sent with His Majesties Fleet into Aremorica, or Bretaign the less.

Of his taking and burning the Town of Morley, an other Actions of his in France, he that desireth may read the English Writers. But to proceed, Peter Butler Earl of Ormond, and intimate Friend to Surrey, was substituted in his stead, by the Title of Lord Deputy of Ireland. The Earl of Surrey, whilst he governed Ireland, did in matters of greatest consequence principally rely on his Advice.

The

The same year, to make some mention of Bishops and learned Men, John Kyte Archbishop of Ardmagh (famed for his Hospitality) resigned his Archbishoprick, and was afterwards made Archbishop of Thebes in Greece, and Bishop of Carlisle in England. He lived afterwards until the 9th. of June 1537. on which day, being very aged, he deceased at Stepney near London, and was there buried, almost in the middle of the Chancel, towards the North, under a Marble Stone, whereon is engraven an imperfect English Epitaph. George Cromer, a grave and learned man, (who was consecrated in England the April after the said Resignation) succeeded him in the Primacy, or Archbishoprick, of Ardmagh.

This year on the 29th. of November William Rokeby Archbishop of Dublin, Doctor of the Canon Law, and a Torkshire man, deceased at Dublin, and was honourably buried in his Cathedral Church of St. Patricks: his Heart was sent to England, and there intombed in his Ancestors Monument. Hugh Ingey, Doctor of Divinity and Bishop of Meath, succeeded him, whom Polydor Virgil terms an Honest man, being familiarly acquainted with Kildare, between whom passed many good Offices.

Two years after Richard Wilson, an English man, Prior Commendatory for a time of St. Bartholomews Hospital in London, succeeded Ingey, by the Popes Ordination, in the See of Meath. Much about this time Thomas Halsay, an English man too, Doctor of the Laws, and Bishop of Leghlin, departed this life before he saw his See, being lately arrived in England from Rome, where for some years he lived in St. Peters Church, as Penitentiary to the English Nation: and was buried in Westminster, in the Savoy Chappel. Maurice Deoran, of the Order of the Friars Minors (as Douling hath it) or of the Friars Preachers, as Wadding writes, to whose opinion I rather encline, succeeded him in the Bishoprick; a man highly esteemed for his excellent Qualities, and eloquent Preaching. About the beginning of his Prelacy being perswaded by some to lay a double Imposition on his Clergy, thereby to recompence the Charges of his Election; he, being free from all dissimulation, replied, according to the old phrase, that It was enough for his Flock to be shorn, and not to be flead. John Folan Bishop of Limerick shall be last of all spoken of, who left this world on the 30th. day of January. After his death the King laboured to substitute Walter Wellesley, Prior of the Abbey of Conalley, (afterwards Bishop of Derry.) But he being afterwards, for I know not what, rejected; one John Coyn, or Quin, a Dominican Friar obtained the Bishoprick of Limerick, which he afterwards held till the 9th. of April 1551. on which day he resigned it.

And now we think it not amiss to mention, that this year Pope Leo the Tenth, by his Bull dated the 5th. Ides of October, decreed that King Henry the Eighth, for the Book he wrote against Luther, should be stiled by the honourable Title of Defender of the Faith; which I thought not amiss to transcribe from the Original, which is now extant in Sir Thomas Cottans famous Library.

An. Reg.
XIII.

Ardmagh resigned up his Archbishoprick to be an Archbishop in Greece. Vide plura in Fa. Ware in libro de Presulibus Hibernia. p. 24.

The death of the Archbishop of Dublin.

Hugh Bishop of Meath succeeded him.

Who succeeded in the See of Meath.

The Bishop of Leghlin died, and who succeeded him:

The death of the Bishop of Limerick. Walter Wellesley rejected, and John Coyn alias Quin succeeded in the See of Limerick. Pope Leo the tenth gave K. H. 8. the Title of the Defender of the Faith.

Leo

An. Dom.

1521.

The Translation of Pope Leo's Bull for this Title.

Leo Bishop, Servant of the Servants of God, to our most dearly beloved Son in Christ, Henry King of England, Defender of the Faith, Health and Apostolical Benediction.

WE, by Divine permission, the chief Overseer for the Government of the universal Church, though insufficient for so great a work, do pour forth the Cogitations of our heart, that the Catholick Faith, without which no man can attain to Salvation, may receive continual increase, and that those good Laws and Constitutions decreed, by the Wisdom and Learning of such as are in Authority, especially the faithful in Christ, for restraining the attempts of all that labour to oppress the same, or by wicked lies and fictions seek to pervert and obscure it, may prosper with perpetual increase, do bestow our pains and utmost endeavour in our Office and Ministry. And like as the Roman Bishops our Predecessors were wont to shew especiall favour to the Catholique Princes (according as the quality of matters and times required) especially to them that in troublesom times, when the madness and perfidious dealings of Schismatics and Hereticks most of all abound, did abide constant and immoveable not only in soundness of Faith, and pure devotion to the holy Roman Church, but also as the most legitimate Sons and valiant Champions of the same opposed themselves both with Mind and Body against the furious madness of Schismatics and Hereticks. So also do we desire to extol your Majesty with worthy and immortal praises, for your high and immortal deserts and labour toward Us and this holy See, wherein by Gods permission we sit, to grant unto it those things for which it ought to watch, and drive away the Wolves from the Lords Flock, and to cut off with the material Sword rotten Members which infect the mystical Body of Christ, and to confirm the Hearts of the faithful in soundness of Belief. Now where of late our beloved Son John Clerk your Majesties Orator with Us, being in our Consistory before our venerable Brethren of the holy Roman Church, the Cardinals and many other Prelates of the same, exhibited a Book unto Us to be examined and allowed of Us, which Book your Majesty, (who doth all things with diligence and nothing amiss) enflamed with Charity and Zeal to the Catholick Faith, and with ardent Devotion towards Us and this holy See, hath composed, as a most worthy and soveraign Antidote against the Errors of divers Hereticks, often condemned by this holy See, and of late stirred up and brought in by Martin Luther: and your said Orator hath also largely declared unto Us, that Your Majesty is ready and purposeth, like as you have confuted the notorious Errors of the said Martin, by true Reason and invincible Authority of Sacred Scripture and antient Fathers; so you will punish to the uttermost of your power all those of your whole Kingdom, that shall presume to follow or defend them: And we have diligently and exactly perused and viewed the admirable Doctrine of your said Book, watered with the Dew of heavenly Grace, and do heartily thank Almighty God, from whom every Good and perfect Gift doth come, who hath vouchsafed to inspire your noble Mind, inclined to every good thing, and to endue you with so great Grace from Heaven, as to write those things, whereby you are able to defend his holy Faith, Faith against such a new Innovator of damned Errors : and also incite by your example all other Christian Kings and Princes to be willing to favour and to further, with all their best aids, the Orthodoxal Faith, and Evangelical Truth, whensoever it be brought into danger or doubt. And We think it also meet, that they who have undertaken such godly labours for the Defence of the Faith of Christ should have all Praise and Honour of Us : And We are desirous that not only the things themselves which Your Majesty hath written, being both of most sound Doctrine, and no less Eloquence, should be extolled and magnified with condign Commendations, and allowed and confirmed by our Authority ; but also that Your Majesty should be graced with such an Honour, and such a Title, as that both for our time and ever hereafter all men may perceive how grateful and acceptable this Gift of Your Majesties hath been unto Us, especially offered unto Us at this time. We who be the true Successors of Peter, whom Christ at his Ascension into Heaven left his Vicar on Earth, and to whom he committed the Care of his Flock : We, I say, who sit in this holy Seat, from which all Dignities and Titles do flow, upon mature deliberation had with our said Brethren about these things, have by the general agreement and consent of them decreed to bestow upon Your Majesty this Title, namely The Defender of the Faith. And accordingly by these presents do instile you with such a Title ; commanding all faithful Christians that they name Your Majesty with this Title ; and when they write to you, that after the word King, they adjoyn Defender of the Faith. And truly, We diligently considering and weighing your singular Merits, were not able to be-think Us of a Name more worthy and convenient for your Majesty, than the Excellency and Dignity of this Title ; which so often as you shall hear and read, so often you may call to mind this your singular Virtue and great Desert : nor may you by this Title puff up your self with Pride ; but according to your wonted prudence become more humble, and be more valiant and constant in the Faith of Christ, and in devotion to this holy See, by which you have been exalted, rejoicing in the Lord the Giver of all good things, leaving this as a perpetual and immortal Monument of your Glory to your Children, shewing them the way unto the like ; that if they shall desire to be graced also with such a Title, they must labour to do such Works, and to follow the excellent steps of Your Majesty, whom, accordingly as you have well deserved of Us and this said See, together with your Wife and all your Children that shall be born of you or of them, We bless with your Benediction with a large and liberal hand, in the Name of him from whom the Power of granting this Blessing is given unto Us, praying and beseeching that Almighty one, who saith, By me Kings reign and Princes rule, and in whose hand are the Hearts of Kings, that he will confirm Your Majesty in your holy purpose, and increase your Devotion, and by your worthy Endeavours for the sacred Faith ; so to illustrate your Renown, and make you glorious through all the world, that this our Testimony which We have given of you, adorning you with so excellent a Title may never be judged by any to be false or vain. Lastly, We desire God, that after this life ended he would make you partakers of his eternal Glory. Given at Rome at St. Peters, in the year of the Incarnation of our Lord God, 1521. the fifth Ides of October, the ninth year of our Papacy.

Ego Leo X. Catholicæ Ecclesiæ Episcopus SS.

L

Ego

An. Dom.

1521.

The names of the subscribers to this Bull.

Ego B. Episc. Ostien. Car. ff.

Ego N. Car. de Flisco, Episco. Albanus ff.

Ego A. Episc. Tuscul. d. Farnesius, ff.

Ego A. Episc. Alban: ff.

Ego P. tit. S. Eusebii Presbyt. Car. ff.

Ego A. tit. S. Mariæ Transiberin. Presbyt. Car. Bonon.

Ego Lau. tit. S. quatuor Coronatorum, Presbyt. Car. prop. manu, ff.

Ego Jo. Do. tit. S. Jo. an. Por. Lat. Presb. Car. Racanaten. manu propria ff.

Ego A. tit. S. Priscæ, Presbyt. Car. de valle, manu propria ff.

Ego Jo. Bap. tit. S. Apollinaris, Presbyt. Car. Cavallicen. ff.

Ego S. tit. S. Cyriaci in Thermis Presb. Car. Comen. ff.

Ego D. tit. S. Clementis Presbyt. Car. Jacobinus. ff.

Ego L. tit. S. Anastasiæ Presbyt. Car. Campegius. ff.

Ego F. Ponzettus tit. S. Pancratii, Presbyt. Car. ff.

Ego G. tit. S. Marcelli, Car. Presb. de Vic. ff.

Ego F. Armellinus Medices, tit. S. Calisti, Presb. Car.

Ego Tho. tit. S. Xisti, Car. Presb.

Ego E. tit. S. Matthæi Presb. Car.

Ego Ch. tit. S. Mariæ Aræ cœli, Presb. Car, ff.

Ego F. S. Mariæ in Cosmedin, Diacon. Car. Ursinus, manu prop. ff.

Ego P. S. Eustachii Diaconus Car. manu propria ff.

Ego Alex. S. Sergii & Bacchi Diacon, Car. Cæsoninus, manu propria ff.

Ego Jo. S. Cosmæ & Dam. Diacon. Car. de Salviatis, manu propria ff.

* Al. Viti & Modesti in Ma-cello,

Ego N. * S. Viti ::: Diacon. Car. Rodolphus, manu propia ff.

Ego Her. S. Agathæ Diac. Cat. de Rangon. manu propria ff.

Ego Aug. S. Hadriani Diac. Car. Trivultius, manu propria ff.

Ego F. S. Mariæ in Porticu, Car. Pisanus, manu propria ff.

P. de Comitibus.

This Pope Leo death, and who succeeded in the Papacy.

The said Leo the Tenth deceased at Rome the 4th. Nones of December following; to whom succeeded Hadrian the Sixth, a Hollander, and sometime Tutor to the Emperor Charles the Fifth: he was elected by the Cardinals when he was Vice-Roy in Spain, before the arrival of Richard Pacey Dean of St. Pauls in London, who was then sent as a Messenger to Rome by Cardinal Woolsey, then aspiring to the Papacy. But to return to our Irish affairs.

Anno

Anno Domini 1522. Et Anno Regni XIV.

CHAP. XIV.

I*reland* was at this time quiet enough. But without doubt the Kings Army was much lessened by reason of the Forces that Surrey carried over with him for England. Ormond therefore on the one side fearing the sudden defection of many of the Irish Nobility, and on the other side the Rapines and Pyracies of the Scottish Isle-landers, or Redshanks, the Spring now approaching, he by Letters to Cardinal Woolsey, who as yet bore all the sway with the King, signed by the Privy Council in Ireland, desired five or six of the Kings Ships to scour the Channel betwixt Scotland and Ireland, to be a terror both to Scots and Irish. I find no mention made of the success of these Letters. It is likely that the King granted his request by sending the demanded Ships.

This year the Enmities between O Neal and O Donell, broke out into open War. They both took Arms: but O Neal, after a few slight skirmishes, giving out a departure for Tir-Oen, hastened for Tir-Connell, where he burnt and spoiled the Villages, and especially Belashanin, O Donell's chief Seat (or Castle) situate near the mouth of Loghbearn. In the mean time O Donell was not wanting to himself; for making an Expedition into Tir-Oen, he burnt and destroyed the Country, brought away many Prisoners, and returned home without opposition. And thus both of them in a short time paid for their Ambition.

The City of Limerick was sadly visited with the Plague, which took away (among others) David Comin Mayor thereof, in whose stead Nicholas Arthur was elected.

About the end of this year Edmond Lane Bishop of Kildare departed this life, very aged, having sat above forty years in that See, and was buried in his own Church. He erected a Colledge at Kildare, where the Dean and Chapter should live collegiately. Felim Corcran Doctor of the Canon Law and a famous Poet died this year, in his return from Droghedah, and was buried at Lowth. Neither may it seem to be beside the purpose in a word or two to mention, that Edward Poyning Knight of the Garter, a valiant and prudent man, and for a time Deputy of Ireland under Henry the Seventh, departed the world about this time, being well stricken in years.

And finally, this year the Isle of Rhodes was gallantly defended for some months against the Assaults of the Turks, by the Knights Hospitallers of St. Johns of Jerusalem, and was surrendered on Christmas day to Solyman the 11th. Emperor of the Turks, to the great loss of Christendom.

Quietness in Ireland between English and Irish by the Earl of Ormonds means, by procuring Shipping to scour these coasts.

O Neal and O Donell fall out with each other this year.

The Plague in Limerick.

The Bishop of Kildare died.

Poyning sometime Deputy of this Nation died.

The Isle of Rhodes taken by the Turks.

An. Dom.

1523.

Anno Domini 1523. Et Anno Regni XV.

CHAP. XV.

The Earl of Kildare with leave from the Earl of Ormond Lord Deputy falls on the Irish.

The House of Ormond and Kildare begun to quarrel.

A dearth of Corn this year

Gerald Cavenagh died, and who succeeded him:

The Archbishop of Cashell died.

Kildare (who in the beginning of January returned out of England into Ireland) getting leave from the Earl of Ormond the Deputy, made an inrode with his Forces, into Leix, being attended by John Fitz Simon Mayor of Dublin and some of the Citizens. But after he had fired a few Cottages there, he fell into an Ambuscade of the enemy, and losing many of his Men, he was easily induced to hasten his return.

In these days the variance between Kildare and Ormond (who married Kildares Sister) increasing, James Fitz Gerald added fuel to it: for he in the month of September slew Robert Talbot of Belgard, near Ballimore, in his passage towards Kilkenny, where he purposed to keep his Christmas, as if he were Ormonds Spy on Kildares actions: Ormond being nettled with this deed, he writ Letters for England and charged Kildare himself with many Crimes. What became of this business the next year will discover. Hence it may easily appear how little Affinity is to be trusted, where other ties are wanting. There was great scarcity of Corn this year in Ireland, by reason of the continual Rains in Summer.

Gerald Cavenagh, a man of great esteem among the Irish in Leinster, dyed in the month of January; Maurice (being of the same Blood succeeded him by a popular Election, who afterwards lived till the year 1531. and then dyed, together with his two Sons, Dermot and Donagh. Charles Cavenagh succeeded him the year after, in the Lordship, by a popular Election. Nor is it to be omitted, that Maurice Archbishop of Cashell is said to have deceased this year. I cannot but imagine Maurice Gerald, chosen Archbishop of Cashell in the year 1504. to be one and the same person with this man.

Anno

Anno Domini 1524. Et Anno Regni XVI.

C H A P. XVI.

THis year the King sent out of England into Ireland (by the means, as some say, of the Marquess of Dorset) Sir Ralph Egerton, a Cheshire Knight, Anthony Fitz Herbert second Justice of the Common Pleas, and James Denton Dean of Lichfield, with an ample Authority, or Commission, to end certain Controversies among his Subjects, especially those of greater moment between Kildare and Ormond. They arrived at Dublin about Midsummer day, and the Accusations and Defences of both Earls being soon after heard by them, in the Priors House of Christchurch (where they then abode,) Ormond was immediately removed from the Government, and Gerald Earl of Kildare invested with the Deputyship; who after he had taken the Oath faithfully to discharge that place, Con O Neal carrying the Sword of State before him, he went on to the Abbey of St. Thomas, situate in the West suburbs of the City, where he entertained the Nobles and Commissioners with a costly Feast. Matters being thus ordered, to pass by affairs of less consequence, the Commissioners returned into England, and carried along with them James Gitz Gerald a prisoner, of whom we have formerly spoken. When they came to London they delivered him into the hands of Cardinal Woolsey, a known enemy to the whole Family of the Geraldines; who presently caused him to be led through the principal streets of the City, with a Halter about his Neck, for the greater Ignominy, and afterwards to be cast into Prison till he were brought to his Tryal. But a while after Fitz Gerald, by Dentons Intercession, was pardoned and dismissed by the King, against the Cardinals will. Hitherto Kildare was attended with a gentle calm: But that Serenity at first was converted into a Cloud, and at last into a horrible Tempest, as shall appear in its due place.

About the same time (or, as others have it, in the year 1523.) James Earl of Desmond was discovered to plot new Designs. He was one that bore a great sway in Munster, and wealthy besides; but not content with this, he by his Letters and Messenger Anthony d' Oily earnestly implored Francis King of France (then an Enemy and in Wars against our Henry) to send him Auxiliary Forces into Ireland, thereby to subject it to himself; although soon after a Peace was clapped up between both Kings, but without success. About the same time the King sent Letters to Kildare, commanding him to apprehend Desmond, being charged with High Treason. He, drawing his Forces together, went for Munster: but Desmond always declined the Fight, being (as it was thought) privily advertised thereof by the Earl of Kildare: whereupon nothing of consequence was then done. We may not here omit a wonderful Priviledge which Commissioners ordered to appease Quarrels in Ireland.

The quarrel of Ormond and Kildare ended.

Kildare made Lord Deputy.

The Commissioners return into England.

Woolsey no friend to the House of Kildare.

Desmond discovered to be in a Plot, and how he craves aid of France.

K. Hen. 8th's Order to apprehend Desmond.

An. Dom.

1525.

The great Priviledges that Desmond assumed.

Trimlestone made Vice-Treasurer.

Kildare and Con O'Neal join against O'Donnell, and how Hugh O'Neal was slain.

The Duke of Norfolk died.

which the Earls of Desmond assumed to themselves in these days, viz. to absent themselves from Parliament and walled Towns according to their pleasure.

On the 30th. of September John Barnall Baron of Trimlestone was made Vice-Treasurer of Ireland. About the same time Kildare and Con O'Neal with joint Forces marched into Tir-Connel, against O'Donnell: But scarcely had they entred the Enemies Country, when they were advertised that Hugh O'Neal, Cons Competitor, had raised troubles in Tir-Oen; whereupon they made a Truce for a time with O'Donnell, and returned for Tir-Oen, where in a Battel they vanquished and slew Hugh. This year deceased Thomas Howard Duke of Norfolk, to whom succeeded his Son Thomas, a wife and warlike man, of whose Actions whilst he was Lord Lieutenant of Ireland we have already made mention.

Anno Domini 1525. Et Anno Regni XVII.

CHAP. XVII.

The cruel murther committed by Maurice Cavenagh, and how he was afterwards hanged.

ABout the end of this year a cruel Murther was committed by Maurice Cavenagh Archdeacon of Leghlin: His Kinsman Friar Maurice Deoran Bishop of that place, for his insolent stubbornness, and I know not what other Crimes, did threaten to correct him for the same; wherewith the Archdeacon being irritated, and fraught with Rancour, accompanied by I know not what Crew, he most wickedly slew him in the way near Glen-reynold. He was afterwards taken, and by Kildares Command he was hanged on a Gallows, in the very same place where he had committed that Villany, and his Bowels were afterwards burt. His Copartners suffered the same punishment. Matthew Saunders succeeded Deoran; he was born near Droghedagh, and ordained by Clement the Seventh on the 11th. of April 1527.

The death of the Bishop of Killalaw.

This year Terence or Tirlagh O'Brien Bishop of Killalaw departed this life, being descended of a Noble Irish Progeny, highly commended for his Liberality and Hospitality; but more addicted to Warfare than became his Episcopal Robes. The Pestilence was rise all this Autumn, especially at Dublin.

Anno

Anno Domini 1526. Et Anno Regni XVIII.

C H A P. XVIII.

ABout the beginning of Spring Con O Neal and Manus eldest Son of Hugh O Donell, Lord of Ter-Connell, went to Kildare, that an Accord might be made between them, if it might be commodiously brought about : but after much debate and contention they returned without concluding any thing.

Kildare was soon after recalled by the King into England, to answer the Crimes objected against him : he left in his stead Thomas the Son of Fitz Gerald of Leixlip. These were the Heads of his Accusation ;

That he had neglected the Kings Command, by the not apprehending of James Earl of Desmond, accused of High Treason.

That he had contracted Affinity with Irish Enemies.

That he had caused certain good Subjects to be hanged, for no other reason, but that they were Friends and Favourites to the Family of the Butlers. And lastly, that he had held private Intelligence and Counsels with O Neal, O Connor, and other Irish Lords, to make an inroad into Ormonds Territories, then Lord Deputy.

Among the Earls Adversaries in England Cardinal Woolsey and the Earl of Ormond are chiefly to be named, by whose endeavours he was soon after committed to the Tower of London, and was at last condemned to Death, which (by report) he had undergone, especially by the Malice of Woolsey, had not the Lieutenant of the Tower (who entirely loved him, after he had received the Cardinals Command to execute the Sentence of Death) gone at midnight to the King to know his Pleasure about the execution of the said Command. But as soon as the King understood the matter he was much moved ; saying, that all this was wholly done without his knowledge ; and immediately prohibited any further proceedings against the Earl ; and for an assurance thereof, he took his Ring off his Finger and gave it the Lieutenant, to shew to the Cardinal. Soon after the Earl by the endeavours of his Friends was freed from his Imprisonment, giving Security to appear before the King and Council when he should be called upon. His Sureties were the Marchioness Dowager of Dorset, the Marquess of Dorset, the Viscount Fitz-Walter, the Baron of Mountjoy, Henry Standish Bishop of St. Asaph, Richard Lord Grey, John Lord Grey, Leonard Lord Grey, Sir Henry Gifford Knight, John Abbot of the Royal Vale, and Sir John Zouch Knight.

Soon after the King pardoning his Crimes received him into the number of his Friends, and after some years restored him to his former Honour, Con O Neal and Manus O Donell desires Kildare to reconcile them, but it came to nothing.

K. H. 8. sends for Kildare, and he constitutes Thomas Son of Fitz Gerald of Leixlip his Deputy.
Kildare's crimes:

This Earl condemned by Woolsey but freed by K. H. 8.

Kildare's furies.

Kildare again restored to his Honor and Deputyship in spite of Woolsey.

An. Dom.

1527.

How Kildare retained the former grudge between him and Ormond still.

Thomas of Leinslip removed, and Delvin in his stead. The death of the Lord of Houth.

The Abbot of Thomas Court died, and who succeeded.

The Bishop of Offory died, and who succeeded.

Buda taken by the Turks.

nour, and did again intrust him (as Deputy) with the Government of Ireland. But these things relate to later times. Who would not imagine but that Kildare being freed from this great danger, sprung by Dissentions, should not carry himself more warily for the future? But his hatred against Ormond and the Faction of the Butlers how destructive soon after it was both to himself and his Family the sequel will declare. Histories are full of such examples. In the mean time Thomas the Son of Fitz Gerald was this year removed from the Deputyship, as a Favourer of Kildare, and Richard Nugent Baron of Delvin substituted in his place. And this very year, on the 10th. of July, Nicholas St. Lawrence Lord Baron of Houth (of whom we have made mention elsewhere) deceased, his Son Christopher succeeded him. Soon after on the 12th. of September Thomas Holder Abbot of St. Thomas Abbey near Dublin exchanged life for death; to whom succeeded James Cotterell, a Canon of the same Abbey, elected by the Convent the 22th. of November following.

On the 9th. of January Oliver Cantwell, being very aged, and of the Order of the Friars Preachers and Bishop of Offory, died; to whom Miles Baron, alias Fitz Gerald, was designed Successor: he was Prior of St. Columbs Abbey de Inistiock in the County of Kilkenny; which Priory he held as it were by Dispensation till the Suppression of the Abbeyes, at which time he by his Charter made it over to Henry the Eighth. These things passed at home.

This year Buda, the Metropolitan City of Hungary, was taken by the Turks, and the greatest part of that Kingdom, (to the great loss of Christendom) was reduced to the Turkish Power. The Christian Princes, by their unhappy differences, affording this occasion to the most cruel Enemy to the Christian Religion.

Anno Domini 1527. Et Anno Regni XIX.

CHAP. XIX.

The Earl of Ormond made Earl of Offory, and Tho. Bolen Earl of Ormond and how it afterwards was recalled as formerly.

SIR Peter (or Pierce) Butler, who hitherto enjoyed the Honour and Title of Earl of Ormond, was on the 23th. of February at Windfor, by a new Title of Honour, created Earl of Offory. The King afterwards transferred the former Title of Earl of Ormond on Thomas Bolen Viscount Rockfort, who was soon after his Father in Law, born of Margaret, the other Heir of Thomas Butler late Earl of Ormond. But soon after Bolen, by reason of his Childrens misfortunes, died; and Offory was restored to his antient Honour, viz. on the 22th. of February 1537. (according to the English account, on the 25th. of March, on which the New year begins.) And the same Honour was afterwards by Law confirmed, at the entreaty of James Earl of Ormond, in a Parliament under St. Leger, begun at Dublin on the 13th. of June 1541.

This

This year Edmond Butler, Base Son of the said Peter Earl of Offory, was consecrated Archbishop of Cashell, and soon after was made one of Henry the Eighth's Privy Council in Ireland. He was so great a Friend of Desmonds, (much to be wondered at) that he promoted his Interest even against Offory himself.

An. Reg.
XX.

Edmond Butler Base Son to Peter Earl of Offory was made Archbishop of Cashell, yet some hold a Bastard cannot be a Priest.

Anno Domini 1528. Et Anno Regni XX.

CHAP. XX.

ABout the beginning of Spring O Connor fell on the English Borders and drove away some Preys into Ofaly. As soon as Delvin heard of this, he commanded his annual Pension to be detained, which O Connor affirmed to be due unto him out of certain Plough Lands in Meath. But soon after it was appointed that on the 12th. day of May both should meet to make an accord between them; Sir William Darcy's Castle near Ruthen was the place appointed for a Parley; but Delvin was surprized and detained by O Connors Ambuscade; his Foot were slain, and many of his Horse were wounded, and not a few taken Prisoners. Delvin being thus carried away Prisoner, Peter Earl of Offory was designed by the Kings Council to succeed in the Government. He soon after came to Dublin, being attended by O Caroll, O Moore, O Connor and many more. He took his Oath in the Abbey of the blessed Virgin Mary. A little afore Walter Wellesty Prior of Conally, and Sir Walter de la Hide were sent to O Connor, to expostulate this Injury, and to admonish him to give Delvin his Liberty: but they lost their labour. As for O Connors Pension, a Decree or Order of the Deputy and Council (remaining on record in the Exchequer) is extant, to repay him again, dated the 25th. of February following. Those of the Secular Power that subscribed unto it were the Earl of Offory Lord Deputy, the Lords Barons of Houth, Kilkenny, Trimlestone, and Dunsany, The Judges of both Benches and the Lord Chief Baron; those of the Ecclesiastical Power were John Alan Archbishop of Dublin elect and Chancellor of Ireland, Edmund Abbot of Baltinglass, and James Cotterell Abbot of St. Thomas Abbey near Dublin. I know not whether Delvin was restored his Liberty at that time; however not long after those Irish Impositions paid by the English Colonies were by a Law wholly exterminated.

O Connor falls on the English, and how Delvin was taken prisoner.

Peter Earl of Offory in Delvin's stead, and Messengers sent to O Connor to release Delvin.

For this Decree, see the Records in the Exchequer.

This year a certain grievous pestilential Disease, commonly called the English Sweat, did overspread a great part of Ireland: Hugh Ingey Archbishop of Dublin and Chancellor of Ireland died thereof (among others) at Dublin. He deceased on the 3d. of August, and was buried at St. Patricks. He was a most upright and just man.

The sweating-Sickness came into Ireland this year, of which the Archbishop of Dublin died.

An. Dom.

1529.

John Alan, a learned man and a great friend to Wolsey succeeded the Archbishop.

How Kildare contrived against the Earl of Ossory.

Tirlagh Earl of Thomond his death.

The Emperor and K. H. 8. at variance, and how the Emperor encourageth Desmond to war against King H. 8.

In September following John Alan, Doctor of the Laws, Treasurer of St. Pauls Church in London, and one of Wolseys Chaplains, was designed his Successor, as well in the Archbishoprick as the Chancellorship, by the means of Cardinal Wolsey, partly for the many good Offices done to him by Alan, and partly out of envy to Gerald Earl of Kildare, whom the Cardinal by his means did hope the easier to suppress. But Alan came not to Dublin before the Feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin Mary following, at which time he brought with him his Secretary John Allen, afterwards Secretary of State, then Master of the Rolls, and lastly for some time Chancellor of Ireland. It may not here be omitted, that in these days Wolsey made use of him as the Popes Legate in granting Faculties in Ireland. About the same time Kildare (who had long born a spleen against Ossory, by reason of the abovementioned Accusation, having his Judgment surmounted by his Passion, sent his Daughter Alice, Wife to James Baron of Slane, into Ireland this year, from Newington in Middlesex, where she then lived, that by her power she might privately incite O Neal, O Connor, his Brothers and other Friends to stir up Wars against Ossory the Deputy. His Daughter managed this affair in such wise, that Ossorys and his Friends Territories were wasted far and near. O Wraths foolish madness! In what calamities did Kildare precipitate himself by this, will hereafter be manifested in its due place.

Tirlagh O Brien Lord of Thomond departed the world this year, a man highly valued among his own Countrymen, of whom we have already made mention. His Son Cornelius or Concubar O Brien succeeded him. From him descended Donatus who was afterwards created Earl of Thomond.

About this time Wars were proclaimed by King Henry against the Emperor Charles the Fifth; Gonzago Fernandes, one of the Emperors Privy Council, arrived in Ireland, being sent on a Message to James Earl of Desmond, to make a League and Agreement with him on certain Conditions, in case he would take up Arms against the King. I find no mention of the Contents of the League. But it appeareth that all these endeavours vanished away: yet whether it proceeded from the Earls Death, which soon after happened, or by some other cause, is not known to me.

Anno Domini 1529. Et Anno Regni XXI.

CHAP. XXI.

Things touching K. Henry's Divorce.

THis year, after long delays, in the beginning of April the Cause of the Kings Divorce began to be publickly canvassed in the Dominicans Abbey at London, in the presence of the Cardinals Camporius and Wolsey, Legates to Pope Clement the Seventh. But it was labour in vain: for the Pope at length took cognizance of the Cause himself, himself, and recalled Campegius. The King did afterwards pour forth all his anger against Woolsey, which the year after was his ruine. The King (to sum up all in one) after a year or two, being weary of longer delay, took to Wife Anne Bullen, on whom he had long doted. Soon after his Marriage with Catherine, Daughter to Ferdinand King of Spain, was declared void in a Parliament held at Westminster, the same being afterwards done in a Parliament begun at Dublin the 1st. of May 1536.

But to return to this year: On the 18th. of June James Earl of Desmond deceased at Dingen Icoufe in Kerry, without lawful Issue Male, and was buried at Traley in the Abbey of the Friars Preachers. He left behind him, by his Wife, a Daughter called Joan, married to James eldest Son to Peter Earl of Ormond. His Uncle Thomas, surnamed Moil (that is Bald) succeeded him in the Honour.

Much about that time Wilson Bishop of Meath deceased. Edward Stapley, a Lincolnshire man was by Pope Clement the Seventh ordained to succeed him, who the next year came with the Deputy William Skeffington into Ireland, and was soon after made one of the Kings Privy Council. In the mean time Skeffington being this year commissioned and sent away by the King, arrived in Ireland in the month of August, with Instructions (among others) to find out a means to bridle the Souldiers Exactions; and that the Bishops and Clergies Possessions might be subject to bear the Country burdens. This Employment he discharged with so much care and fidelity, that he made way for himself to those Gifts and Preferments which he soon after enjoyed.

About the beginning of June Edmund Butler Archbishop of Cashell summoned a Provincial Council at Limerick, at which were present Nicholas Comine Bishop of Lismore and Waterford, John Coin Bishop of Limerick, and James O Corrin Bishop of Killalow. In this Synod Power was granted to the Mayor of Limerick, to commit to Prison Ecclesiastical persons that owed Debts, without any prohibition to the contrary, till their Creditors should be satisfied. The Clergy did grievously complain of this Decree, as an injury and violation of their Ecclesiastical Privileges.

An. Reg.
XXII.

The death of the Earl of Desmond, and what Issue he left.

The Bishop of Meath died, Edward Stapley succeeded.

The possessions of the Bishops and Clergy to bear the Country burdens.

A Provincial Council held at Limerick.

The Clergy made to pay their debts, or to be committed prisoners.

Anno Domini 1530. Et Anno Regni XXII.

CHAP. XXII.

SIR William Skeffington, a Leicestershire man, being constituted Deputy, Henry Duke of Richmond Lord Lieutenant of Ireland was sent into Ireland, to curb the Insolencies of O Neal, O Connor and O Moore. He brought with him Gerald Earl of Kildare, being now fully freed from those troubles which he had undergon and suffered. Both of them were received there in a solemn Procession, near St. Mary Abbey, with great applause

Sir Will. Skeffington being Lord Deputy, the Duke of Richmond came into Ireland. How the Duke was received by Dublin.

An. Dom.

1530.

The Dukes Acts against O Moore.

Cardinal Woolsey accused of High Treason in Parliament, and cast out of the Kings favour.

A short relation of two famous men of these days.

The death of the Bishop of Kilmore, and who succeeded him.

The Prior of Tristernagh in West Meath made Bishop of Kilmore, and held that Priory.

Skeffington and Kildare at variance.

applause of the Citizens. The Deputy receiving the Sword according to the custom, and immediately collecting his Forces, he took a journey into Leix against O Moore, whom by slight skirmishes he easily subdued, and driving away a great prey of Cattel, he returned home. and this was the first Atchievement of his new Charge.

In the mean time Cardinal Woolsey, who was King Henry's prime Favorite, thereby enriched himself exceedingly, (by a sudden turn of the wheel) was accused of High Treason in the Parliament of England. But that Contrivance failing, they alledged that he had incurred the penalty of a certain Law punishable by the Loss of all his Goods. Under colour of this he was despoiled of all his Goods. He was afterwards sent away to his Archbishoprick of Tork, and was soon after by the Kings Command apprehended by John Dudley Duke of Northumberland, and was led away Prisoner towards London, to plead to his Charge there. But in his journey (pining away with Grief) he fell into an incurable Disease, whereof he died in Leicester Abbey, the last of November, and was there buried in a Church, in the midst of the Chappel of the Blessed Virgin Mary. This so great and sudden cause of Change is attributed to the Kings Anger, which he had conceived against Woolsey; because the management of the Divorce with Queen Catherine did not succeed according to his desires. For the King perswaded himself, that if it had pleased Woolsey, he might have ordered the business otherwise. Behold the inconstancy and brittleness of humane affairs; but especially how uncertain are those things which do rely on humane Favour.

At the same time flourished Theobaldus Anguilbertus, an Irish man, who left his Country, and went to Paris, where he was made Doctor of Arts and Physick; he fix'd his abode there and practised Physick with great applause; besides he was well seen in Philosophical Studies. I do not find the year of his death. Dermitius Rian, very well versed in both Laws, may be added as a Companion to him, being accounted of in Ireland, with no less fame of Learning. About this time Dermitius Bishop of Kilmore (of whom we have already spoken) paid nature her debt. Edmund Nugent Prior of Tristernagh Abbey succeeded him. But he held the Priory as Commendatory till the Suppression of the Abbeyes, at which time Henry the Eighth passed it away by his Charter. The King did afterwards, on the 20th. of March 1540. grant him during his natural life an annual Pension of 26 pounds 13 shillings 4 pence, to be paid him out of the Possessions of the said Abbey.

About the end of this year private grudges arose between Skeffington and Kildare, which soon after broke out into open Hostility. The sequel will manifest the end of their Dissentions.

Anno

An. Reg.
XXIII.Anno Domini 1531. Et Anno Regni XXIII.

CHAP. XXIII.

Skeffington being accompanied with Kildare, contracting his Forces this year, he made an inrode into Ulster, and having taving taken and demolished the Castle of Kinard, he destroyed the neighbouring Territories, burnt up the Villages and with preys and spoils returned home. By these flight yearly skirmishes, depredations, and small supplies now and then sent out of England, some taste of the Irish affairs of these times may easily be seen: To which may be added the often Clashings of the Grandees, fordidly waving the publick Good for private Interests. On the 6th of May Sir Odo O Donell Lord of Tir-Connel, being then detained by Sickness, did (by his Messengers Conatus O Fraghill Abbot of Derry, and Richard O Grayban of Droghedagh) perform before Skeffington his bounden Fidelity to the King.

The same year, Thomas Dillon Bishop of Kildare being dead, Walter Wellesly Prior of the Abbey of Conall in the County of Kildare succeeded him; he was sometime Master of the Rolls, being ordained by Clement the 7th. at the entreaty of King Henry, being one of his Privy Council in Ireland. Moreover he held his Priory by Dispensation as long as he lived. About Midsummer John Burgess Abbot of St. Mary Abbey near Dublin deceased; to whom succeeded William Laundy, who immediately saving his Order) yielded Obedience to John Alan Archbishop of Dublin. This man was the last Abbot of that place before the Suppression.

And now we come to the time wherein the enmity between Skeffington and Kildare grew to that height, that both of them in all places sought matter of accusation to suppress each other, if it might be possible. Skeffington afterwards, by Letters and Messengers which he sent into England, laid many and hainous Crimes to Kildares charge. Kildare on the other side, lest he should be wanting to himself, did endeavour, by his Letters and Messengers, to prove Skeffingtons Administration to be naught and corrupt, and left no stone unturned to cast him out of his Place and the Kings Favour, that he might obtain his room. The event for the time favoured his proceedings, as it shall appear in the next years History. But how vain and frail this felicity was (if it may be called a happiness,) the unhappy end thereof (which happened a few years after) will inform us in its place; the fall being so much the greater, because from an high standing. What evil doth not Ambition beget it self.

Skeffington and Kildare made an inrode into Ulster.

Tir-Connel performed obedience to the King.

Bishop of Kildare died, and the Prior of Conall succeeded him.

The death of the Abbot of St. Mary Abby near Dublin, and who succeeded. Here begins the enmity between Skeffington and Kildare.

Kildare his endeavours to cast out Skeffington.

Anno

An. Dom.

1532.

Anno Domini 1532. Et Anno Regni XXIV.

C H A P. XXIV.

The policy of Kildare at Court with K. H. 8. and how he put out Skeffington to get in himself.

Alan Archbishop of Dublin being no friend to Kildare was by his means removed from being Chancellor, and Ardmagh put in the place

The Son of the Earl of Ossory made Treasurer.

Kildare disobligheth Ossory this year to get the favour of the Irish, and how he matched his Daughters to them.

How Kildares actions ruined himself.

Three Blazing Stars appeared in two years space.

Kildare, a man of a high spirit, finding himself to be daily baited at by his adversaries, he went for England about Easter, and behaved himself so at Court that he was approved of the King, and caused Skeffington to be recalled out of Ireland, and himself to be placed in his stead. In the month of August he returned for Dublin, where he was received with great acclamations of many. He received the Sword of State from Skeffington, the Oath being tendred unto him according to the usual manner. Hence the Contentions between him and Skeffington (who harboured revenge in his breast) did dayly more and more break out. Also about the same time Alan Archbishop of Dublin being removed from the Chancellorship, George Cromer Archbishop of Ardmagh, by the means of Kildare, succeeded in his place, and the Great Seal of Ireland was delivered unto him, which likewise gave occasion of increasing the Dissentions between Kildare and Alan. On the 5th. of July James Lord Butler, Ossorys eldest Son, was made High Treasurer of Ireland; John Rauson Prior of Kilmainan giving way to it, perhaps so designed to ballance the Geraldine Faction. However it was, Kildare getting now again the Reins into his hands, with precipitate haste, commonly attended by repentance, he with his Army fell into the County of Kilkenny, and brought away many preys belonging to Ossory and his Friends, burning and spoiling all: and to strengthen himself the better by the Friendship of the Irish, he gave one of his Daughters to Wife to O Connor of Osaly, and the other to Fergananim O Caroll. Also about the same time Con O Neal, by Kildares persuasion, being attended by his Brother John Fitz Gerald and a great Company of his own, depopulated the County of Lowth, burnt up the English Villages, drove away their Cattel, scarce any making resistance: But these doings, among others, afforded just cause to Kildares adversaries to charge his Administration of the Government to be corrupted; which in conclusion was almost destructive to him and his whole Family; he being an Example to posterity moderately to manage a granted Power.

Out of what hath been spoken it's plainly apparent how miserably Ireland was in those days distracted into Factions.

Three Blazing Stars shone in the space of these two years, whence many did preface the Calamities of succeeding times. It is a vulgar saying, that a Comet is never seen without wo: according to Suetonius, it is commonly supposed to portend the downfall of the greatest States. And if we consult Tacitus, he says, that it is the messenger of approaching evils. What may be thought of this matter I leave to the Judgment of others.

Anno

An. Reg.
XXV.Anno Domini 1533. Et Anno Regni XXV.

C H A P. XXV.

Kildare summoned a Parliament this year, which was begun at Dublin on the 19th. of May, and after some Prorogations, it ended the Thursday next immediately after the Feast of St. Michael the Archangel. In which (among other Acts then made) a Law was enacted, that the King should resume into his hands the plentiful Fishing of the Ban; all former Concessions thereof being declared void. During the sitting of this Parliament the old Controversie was renewed between John Alan Archbishop of Dublin and George Cromer Archbishop of Ardmagh, (at that time Lord Chancellor of Ireland) about Precedency in the Diocess of Dublin; the which Alan himself confesseth in his own Register, but makes no mention of the success thereof: whence some do imagine him to have received a foil in the Cause.

The Parliament being prorogued, the Earl of Kildare made an inrode with his Army into Ely O Caroll, by the advice of his Son in Law Fergananim (that is, without a Name) O Caroll, (who assumed the Right of that Country to himself,) where, whilst he was destroying and harassing those parts, when he came near the Castle of Bir, which was prepossessed by the Son of the deceased O Caroll, he was wounded in the Thigh with a Bullet, which hastned his return: nor did he ever after fully recover his former health. A Story goes of the Earl, being thus hurt, and groaning with the pain of his Wound, that a Common Souldier standing nigh him should say, My Lord, why do you sigh so, I my self was thrice shot with Bullets, yet I am now whole; and that the Earl should sharply reply in these words; I would you had received the fourth in my stead. But to proceed.

About this time John Allen Master of the Rolls was sent on a Message into England from the Privy Council in Ireland, to inform His Majesty and Council of the state of Ireland, and of many Grievances necessary to be rectified. Allen, besides what publick Instructions he had to communicate, had other matters to certifie, at the instigation of certain of the Council of Ireland, to complain even of Kildare himself, as if he had perfidiously managed the publick Affairs. Moreover Alan Archbishop of Dublin, the Earl of Offory, Skeffington, Thomas Cannon, Skeffingtons Secretary, and Robert Cowley, afterwards Master of the Rolls, sought for matter of Complaint, wherewith they threatned Kildare.

These Accusations prevailing at length with the King, He by his Letters commanded Kildare to hasten for England, to defend his Cause there. So uncertain are the affairs of great ones. Kildare at the receipt of these Letters, greatly fearing what might be the event of this business, he daily deferred his Voyage. In the first place he sent his Wife into England,

A Parliament at Dublin this year.King Henry to resume the Fishing in the Ban.A quarrel for precedency between Dublin and Ardmagh in this Parliament.Kildare goes against O Caroll, and how he was wounded by making this inrode.A short discourse betwixt Kildare and a common Souldier.Allen sent messenger to *K.H.*How Allen had other Instructions from several of the Council.Kildare sent for to come over to the King.

An. Dom.

1534.

How Kildare ordered his business upon the receipt of King Henry's Letters by sending his Wife over first.

How Kildare strengthened his Castles before he went over.

The birth of Q. Elizabeth.

Mary Q. Dowager of France died in England.

England, that by the Intercession of her Friends (if it might be) his Voyage for England by the Kings Command might be revoked, under the specious pretext of the great detriment that might befall the Kings Affairs in his absence: but when he plainly saw that his labour was lost, he at last prepared for his Journey. We may not here pass by how the Earl not long afore his departure out of Ireland) did furnish his Castles with great Guns, Musquets, Powder, Bullets, Pikes and other warlike preparations, taken out of the Castle of Dublin. And that which aggravated his Crime was, that he did it after that Allen Master of the Rolls (in the presence of Stapley Bishop of Meath and Rawson the Prior) did expressly signify unto him the Kings Prohibition to the contrary. Of the success of these Accusations we refer you to the next year.

During these transactions in Ireland, Elizabeth, Daughter to Henry the Eighth by Anne Bullen, was born on the 7th. day of September, at Greenwich near the Thames, and was there baptised in the Church of the Friars Observants. She afterward, by the decease of her Brother Edward and Sister Mary, came to sway the English Scepter. Not long afore, (on the 24th. of June) Mary Queen Dowager of France, and our Kings Sister, departed this life, and was buried in the Abbey of St. Edmonds Bury in Suffolk. She was Wife to Lewis the Twelfth, King of France, who scarcely lived three months after his Marriage. She was espoused to Charles Brandon, whom now King Henry did, for his Sisters sake, create Duke of Suffolk. The Duke lived above twelve years after, until the month of August anno Domini 1545. Now the time requires us to return to our Irish affairs.

Anno Domini 1534. Et Anno Regni XXVI.

CHAP. XXVI.

Kildare goes for England, and leaves his Son and Heir, not 21 years of age, to rule this Land, Vel Regno cum Puer regat.

A young Governor, like to the Youth in Phaetons Chariot.

THe Spring now approaching, Kildare did at last pass into England, where he was immediately by the King recommitted to the Tower, till he should purge himself of the Crimes objected against him. Before his departure from Ireland he received a Command from the King to choose out such a Successor, of whose Fidelity he himself might be confident of: whereupon he in an unlucky hour laid this so great a Charge on the weak shoulders of his eldest Son, scarce 21 years of age (at Droghedagh, where he afterwards took shipping) in the presence of the Kings Council. One may upbraid him with that, which long since was objected to Phaeton, as Ovid hath it.

Magna petis, Phaëton, & quæ non viribus istis Munera conveniunt, nec tam puerilibus annis.

This

This continuance proved destructive to both: For the Enemies to the Family of the Geraldines do now go to work deceitfully: giving out falsly, that no sooner was the Earl cast into prison, but he was beheaded, and that the same Fate threatned Thomas, his two Brothers, and Uncles. This rash Youth suffering himself to be deceived with these Lyes, on the 11th. day of June, being guarded with an hundred and forty well armed Horse, he hastens towards St. Mary Abbey near Dublin, where he resigned up the Sword and Robes of State, the Lord Chancellor Cromer persuading him in vain to the contrary. He now (the Dice being cast) broke out into open Rebellion; and collecting a tumultuous Crew of Souldiers together, he destroyed and spoiled the Lands of those that favoured not his Enterprises: He likewise seized on some of the Nobles, and not a few other prime men, whom he compelled to swear unto him: but others (who absolutely refused to do it) he commanded to be apprehended and clap'd up in Prison at Maynouth, The Mayor and Citizens of Dublin having notice given them of the apprehension of these men, sent a small Band of armed men to way-lay their Leaders, and to take from them their Prey and Prisoners by force; but they found them more numerous than they imagined; so that they lost eighty in the Skirmish, and were compelled to return without doing ought. I find not how many the Geraldines lost. In the mean time many fled for England, being terrified with these Troubles, and among those of chief account were Stapley Bishop of Meath, and Rawson the Prior of St. Johns of Jerusalem in Ireland; also Alan Archbishop of Dublin, together with Finglasse Chief Baron of the Exchequer, withdrew to the Castle of Dublin, which John Fitz Simon, one of the Aldermen of the City had victualled at his own Charges. The Archbishop soon after intending to fly into England, took Ship by night near to Damsgate; but either by contrary Winds, or carelesness of the Mariners, he was cast upon the shore near to Clantarf, from whence he went to Tartain, or Ardtain, a Village not far distant, where he purposed to lurk a while: the which as soon as Thomas heard, being now the more elated by his success against the Citizens of Dublin, he came thither the next morning, a little afore day, being accompanied with his two Uncles, John and Oliver, and divers other Attendants, then without delay John Teling and Nicholas Wafer, two of Kildares Servants, were sent to bring Alan with them. These men breaking into the House did violently dragg the old man out of his Bed, and led him away half naked to their Master, whom Alan did on his bended knees most earnestly beseech to spare his life: but when in vain he had laboured to bend his mind to Compassion, he then betook himself to divine Meditations, and whilst on his knees he poured forth his Prayers unto God, he was villanously slain, having his Brains dashed out in his adversaries fight, and his Fardles were immediately rifled. This Murther was committed on the 28th. of July; but the Author and his Consorts escaped not unpunished. Of Thomas and his Uncles mention shall be made hereafter. The rest perished, being consumed by divers Diseases, particularly Teling died of the Leprosie, and Wafer of the Pox. Nor must we here pass by, that in the same month, a little before Alans death, about five of the clock in the morning, an Earthquake hapned at Dublin, which accident is so rare in

An. Reg.
XXVI.

How this Act of Kildares proved fatal to that honourable House.

The Irish invented a Lie to stir up this Youth, the Earls Son, and how Rebellious-enfued.

The Citizens of Dublin, their care at this time.

The Castle of Dublin victualled by one of the Aldermen of the City of Dublin.

Archbishop Alan flies for England but is driven back, and murdered by the Kildares family.

An. Dom.

1534.

How these proceedings shortened the Fathers death. The Earl of Kildares Son besieged Dublin, and how the Citizens defended it.

Skeffington made Lord Deputy upon this Rebellion.

Cromer removed from the Chancellorship.

Trimlestone made Chancellor.

The chief Baron of the Exchequer made chief Justice of the K. Bench. Tho. Lutterell of the Common Pleas.

Aylmer chief Baron.

Brabazon Vice-Treasurer.

Preparations against Kildares Son, but they were routed.

Skeffington lands at Dublin. The Lord Grey Marshal of Ireland.

How the Citizens of Dublin received Skeffington, and received thanks from the King for their Fidelity.

Ireland, that when it falls out so, it is esteemed of as a Prodigy.

In the mean time Kildare having notice of these proceedings in Prison, was struck through as with a deadly Arrow, giving himself wholly up to sadness, and living a few days after, he died in the month of September, and was buried in the Chappel of the Tower at London.

But I return to his Son, who commonly was called Silken Thomas, he besieged Dublin in the month of August, but in vain: for the City was valiantly defended by the Citizens. But Francis Herbert is chiefly to be mentioned, who was afterwards Knighted for his extraordinary Valour, and was chosen one of his Majesties Privy Council in Ireland. He also lost his labour in his Letters that he writ to the Lord James Butler, eldest Son to the Earl of Offory, wherein he promised him the one half of Ireland, in case he would take up Arms with him against the King. But when he saw himself to sing to a deaf man, being assisted by O Neal and others, he destroyed with Fire and Sword the Lands of Offory and his Friends; the Lord Butler himself being in a Skirmish hurt, and put to flight. He soon after sent Charles Reynolds Archdeacon of Kells to Pope Paul the third, and Dominick Poër to the Emperor Charles the fifth, to demand Succours of them, but all in vain.

As soon as the King had notice of this Rebellion, he again made Sir William Skeffington Lord Deputy of Ireland, an Army being appointed him to quell the Geraldines and their Abettors; for in extremities middle courses are to be laid aside. Cromer Archbishop of Armagh was then remov'd from the Chancellorship, in whose stead John Barnewall Baron of Trimlestone was substituted. About which time also Patrick Finglass, Chief Baron of the Exchequer (the Author of the Book Of the Causes of Irelands Calamities, and the Remedies thereof) was made Lord Chief Justice of the Kings Bench: also Thomas Lutterell was declared Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, Gerald Aylmer Chief Baron of the Exchequer, and William Brabazon, a Leicestershire man, Vice-Treasurer. On the 15th. of October Sir William Brereton, a Cheshire man, being sent afore with 500 Souldiers, arrived at Dublin. Musgrave and the two Mamertons followed Brereton with some small supplies of Men. These arrived at Houth the third day after, and in their way to Dublin were met by Thomas Fitz Gerald and 200 Horse near Clantarf, by whom (being far more numerous) they were slain valiantly fighting, together with nineteen common Souldiers; the rest were carried Prisoners to Maynouth. In this Skirmish, they say, Thomas was hurt in the Forehead by one of the Mamertons. Soon after on the 11th. of October Skeffington himself landed at Dublin, being very well furnished with warlike preparations, bringing with him Leonard Lord Grey (youngest Son to Thomas Marquess of Dorset, the Kings Cousin lately deceased) appointed Marshal of Ireland. The Mayor and Citizens of Dublin received him with great joy, to whom he immediately delivered the Kings Gracious Letters, rendring them thanks for their approved Fidelity. He afterwards receeived the Sword of State from the Lord Baron of Trimlestone, and wholly bent his thoughts to provide all things necessary for the expedition against Thomas Fitz Gerald, who was instantly proclaimed Traytor by publick Proclamation. But soon after falling sick, and having notice withal of *Fitz Gerald*s Supplies and Machinations with O Neal, O Connor and others, expecting also a supply ply of Men and Monies (the sinews of War) out of England, Winter now approaching, he deferred his purpose till the ensuing Spring.

In the mean time a great part of the English Pale, so called as if it were fenced about with Pales, was burnt and destroyed by the Rebels. At the same time Fitz Gerald had six garrisoned Castles, viz Maynouth, Portlester, Rathangan, Catherlagh, Ley and Athy, whereof Maynouth and Ley were the principal places, as being not only better stored than the rest were with Householdstuff and Goods, but also better furnished with Men and Warlike preparations. Some report a Truce to have been made between Skeffington and Fitz Gerald until the 5th. of January.

But let us proceed to other matters. Patrick Cullin Bishop of Clogher deceased this year, to whom that See oweth much for the History of the Bishops and other Antiquities chiefly by his care committed to Writing. Hugh or Odo O Cerbalan succeeded him, whose Ecclesiastical Constitutions are yet extant. This very same year Thomas Earl of Desmond died at Rathkele in the County of Limerick, being of a great age, but he was buried at Toughall in the County of Cork. James, a Youth, his Granchild by his Son Maurice, was by some nominated his Successor; he then lived in England, which opened a great window to his Competitors Ambition. But others laying James wholly aside, do place John the Son of Thomas (commonly termed Mr. John Desmond) to succeed him next in the Earldom: he immediately after the death of Thomas carried himself as Earl, and seized on the Lands belonging to the Earldom, and wholly excluded James of the Possession. Nor must we here pass over, that the same year James, being newly then returned from England, was treacherously slain by Maurice, John's second Son.

During these passages the first Fruits of all Ecclesiastical Promotions were granted to the King in England by Act of Parliament. It was also decreed, that the King should be called Supream Head of the Church of England upon Earth. What the Estates of Ireland being afterwards assembled in Parliament) did do in reference to these Statutes and Ordinances, see the Year 1536.

An. Reg.
XXVII.

Tho. Fitz Gerald had 6 Fortifications well furnished and man'd.

The Bishop of Clogher died.

This Bishops Successor.

The Earl of Desmond died, and how that Family quarrelled about the Earldom.

K. Henry 8th. styled Supream Head of the Church in England.

Anno Domini 1535. Et Anno Regni XXVII.

C H A P. XXVII.

IN the beginning of the Spring Skeffington did resolve to besiege the Castle of Maynouth, Thomas Fitz Gerald's chief Fortress, ten miles distant from Dublin, which Thomas had fortified with a strong Garrison. He therefore took along with him the Flower of the Army, and on the 15th. of March he beleaguered the place. In the beginning reasonable good Conditions were offered to the besieged, which being rejected, the Castle Walls begun to be battered with the Cannon: but Maynouth besieged by Skeffington.

An. Dom.

1535.

Tho. Fitz Gerald's Collector delivered up Maynooth for a certain sum of Money, but made no provision for his Life, and so was hanged.

The Store that was then in the Castle.

Skeffington returns to Dublin.

Tho. Fitz Gerald came out of Connaght with a great aid of Irish men. Maynooth being taken they are all daunted.

Skeffington advanced his Colours against Fitz Gerald, and thereby gained all his Holdings.

A new supply of Men sent out of England.

Fitz Gerald forced to wander and fly.

after a weeks Battery, or thereabout, Christopher Pareis Collector to Thomas, to whose Fidelity and Care the Guard of the Castle was principally committed, being blinded with Avarice, privately agreed with Skeffington, for a certain sum of Mony to be paid him, to deliver up the Castle: he also certified him of the time and manner thereof, but foolishly enough, without mentioning his own future Security. The appointed night being come, he made the Guard drunk, who being then ——— Sommo vinoque sepultis,

Buried in Sleep and Wine,

The Castle was easily won, a little afore day, the scaling Ladders being applied to it, Brereton being one of the first that mounted the Walls, and those few that resisted were slain. In the Castle was found great store of rich Householdstuff, besides Provision and warlike Instruments. On the very same day Pareis, having received the Monies that was promised him, was put to death. Some pitied his misfortune, as he was too rigourously dealt withal, others commended the act as just, according to that ——— Neque enim Lex æquior ulla est,

Quàm nœcis artifices arte perire suâ.

Some others also of the Prisoners suffered the same death that Pareis did, among whom the Dean of Kildare is numbered.

Affairs being thus performed, and a new Garrison being left there, Skeffington in a triumphing manner returned for Dublin. While these things were doing Thomas came back from Connaght, assisted by O Connor and other persons of great power, having (as they report) an Army of Seven thousand Men, with whom he hastned to raise the Siege: But in his journey, having notice of the taking of the Castle, he began to faint; and many of the Souldiers (as it commonly falls out in adversity) slunk away daily and returned home. Notwithstanding all this he continued on his Journey. Skeffington having notice of his approach, he committed the Government of Dublin to Brereton, and advanced with his Colours against him, and drew towards him with his Army near the Naas, in the County of Kildare. But a little afore the Armies joined, two or three Brads Ordnance being discharged, many of the Geraldines were slain, which so terrified the rest, that they fled as soon as they were seen, first a few; and lastly the whole Body, leaving their Ranks, betook themselves to flight, many were slain as they fled, and some taken. Skeffington did soon after compel Rathangan, and other Castles of Fitz Gerald, to surrender themselves. In the mean time a new supply of Men was sent out of England, under the Command of William Sentlo: these he fitly placed in Garrisons to defend the English Pale.

Fitz Gerald was now daily straightned, insomuch that he was oft compelled to shift places, and to sustain himself and his with preys, for the most part taken away by night, nor was ignorant of their wavering Fidelity in these Calamities. He lost also about this time John Burnell,

one

one of his prime Counsellors, who being apprehended by James Lord Butler, was sent into England, there to plead to his Charge, where he suffered Death. Wherefore in these straights he was admitted to a Parley by Leonard Lord Grey, who went forth against him with an Army to the borders of Munster; he acknowledged his Offence, and implored the Lord Greys assistance to beg his Pardon of the King. Some do affirm that Grey did promise him a Pardon. However it was, Thomas rendred himself to Grey, and was brought to Dublin, and from thence (about Autumn) he was sent Prisoner for England, with Letters to the King on his behalf: but in his way to Windsor (where the King then lay) he was apprehended by the Kings Ministers, and committed to the Tower of London, from whence he was afterwards brought out to suffer Death, as shall be declared in its place.

While these things were acted, Skeffington, to distract the Armies of the Rebels, prepares himself for an Expedition into Ulster: but as soon as Con O Neal heard of this, he humbly desired to parley with him, which he granted; and at the appointed day, they both met at Droghedab some prime Men being admitted on each side, Where they treated of an Agreement, which (on the 26th. of July) was on certain Conditions agreed on, and so O Neal, was received into favour.

On the 11th. of May James Lord Butler Treasurer of Ireland was also made Admiral of Ireland, and not long after (his Father yet living) he was made Viscount Thurles, and at the same time Leonard Lord Grey was made Viscount Grane. Also on the 13th. of September Thomas Eustace was made Baron of Kilcullen, and Sir Richard Power Knight Baron le Power and Croghmore; the former of these came afterwards to be Viscount Baltinglass.

The See of Dublin was now for a long time vacant, when at last it seemed good to King Kenry to prefer thereunto George Brown Provincial of the Order of the Hermits of St. Augustine in England, who on the 23th. of March following was restored to the Temporalities of his See.

About the end of December William Skeffington Lord Deputy of Ireland, died in the Priory of Kilmainan, a mile distant from Dublin, where his Body was brought, and was there buried in St. Patricks Church, with a stately Funeral befitting his Quality. A Monument was afterwards erected to him at Skeffington in Leicestershire in England, where he dwelt, and from whence his Family derived their Name. The Irish called him Master Gunner, because he was Master of the Ordnance in England. Leonard Lord Grey was immediately by the Kings Council, for the present, substituted in Skeffingtons place, and was soon after approved of by the King, by the Title of Lord Deputy, Henry Duke of Richmond and Summerset being Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. This year also John Courcey Baron of Kinsale exchanged life for death; he was of a good and antient Family, which yet underwent the trials of good and bad Fortunes. His Son Fitz Gerald succeeded him. And, to conclude the year, a raging Pestilence did this year sweep away many, especially in Ulster.

W. H. G.
XXVII

Fitz Gerald makes application to the Lord Grey for Pardon.

Thomas Fitz Gerald rendred himself, and is sent over.

Skeffington prepares for Ulster

Con O Neal desires to parley.

James Lord Butler made Admiral of Ireland
The Lord Grey made Viscount Grane, and several Knights made Lords.

George Browne made Archbishop of Dublin.

The Lord Deputy Skeffington died, and where he was buried.

Leonard Lord Grey substituted Deputy.

The Baron of Kinsale died,

A Pestilence in Ulster this year.

An. Dom.

1536.

Anno Domini 1536. Et Anno Regni XXVIII.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Fitz Gerald's Uncles submit to Grey.

The Sum that this Rebellion of Fitz Gerald's stood the King then in

How an old Prophecy was fulfilled by carrying these Geraldines in the Ship called the Cow.

These Gerald-ines condemned and suffer death.

How a young Geraldine was preserved, whereby his Posterity hold still the Honour.

A Parliament at Dublin, in which several were found guilty of High Treason.

ABOUT the beginnig of this year Thomas Fitz Gerald's five Uncles surrendred themselves to Grey, viz. James, Oliver, Richard, John and Walter, who sent them Prisoners for England. And thus at length this Geraldinian Rebellion was ended, in which the King had spent out of his Treasury in England Twenty thousand, or (as others have it) Forty thousand Pounds sterling. The Report went, that three of the Uncles, to wit, James, Richard, and Walter, did at the first give good and wholsome Council to their Nephew, earnestly labouring to dissuade him from so unhappy and detestable a design: yet at last they also fell off, and sided with the rest. They always had good hope of themselves, till in their passage they learned of the Owner of the Vessel wherein they were carried, that the Ships Name was called the Cow, then their Courage fell, occasioned by a Prophecie that they had heard, which said, That an Earls five Sons should in time to come be waisted for England in a Cows Belly, but should never return. However it was they were all in England, as well Nephew as Uncles, found guilty of High Treason, and condemned and on the the third day of February following they suffered the Punishment due to Traytors. Thus Blood commonly calls for Blood.

About the same time Jacob De la Hide, one of Thomas Fitz Gerald's prime Counsellors fled into Scotland, and there ended his Life.

In the mean time Gerald, Thomas his young Brother, a Boy of thirteen years of age, was stole away by his careful Nurse, and committed to the charge of Thomas Levereus, afterwards Bishop of Kildare, by whom he at length procured means to escape, first into France, thence into the Low Countries, and lastly into Italy, to Cardinal Poole, with whom he sojourned, being honourably treated by him. But at length, on the 25th. of April 1552. he was by Edward the Sixth restored to his prime Possessions, and two years after he was by Queen Mary, in the month of May 1554. re-instated in his former Honour. Of his wonderful escape in Italy out of a deep pit, wherein he fell when he was hunting, see Staniburst.

But to return to this year, a Parliament was begun at Dublin under Grey, wherein Gerald Earl of Kildare (deceased) was proclaimed Traytor; and at the same time Sir John Fitz Gerald and Oliver Fitz Gerald, Uncles to Thomas, James, John and Edward, Sons to Sir Walter De la Hide of Mayclure, and John Burnell, Richard Walsh Rector of Lough-seudy, Charles Reynolds Archdeacon of Kells, and some others were condemned of High Treason, and all their Estates confiscated.

Also

Also at that time the Kings Matrimony with Queen Catherine was by Law nullified, and his Marriage with Queen Anne Bullen adjudged valid. Also in the same Parliament all the Possessions in Ireland which the Duke of Norfolk, the Lord Berkley, the Earl of Waterford and Shropshire and the Heirs general of the Earl of Ormond had were confiscated to the King, by reason of their absence, and carelesness in defending their rights; for they all kept their residence in England. Moreover all the Abbots and Priors in England, who had Lands in Ireland underwent the same fate; viz. the Abbot of Furnes, the Abbot of St. Augustines Abbey at Bristol, the Prior of Christchurch in Canterbury, the Prior of Lanthorn, the Prior of Cartmell, the Abbot of Keinsbam, the Abbot or Prior of Osney, the Abbot or Prior of Bathon, and the Master of Saint Thomas of Acres, with certain Cautions notwithstanding expressed in the Statute of Absentees.

At that time it was ordained that King Henry should be called Supream Head of the Church of Ireland upon Earth. The first Fruits, or Annates, as they call it, of all Ecclesiastical Promotions, and the twentieth parts were granted him. Also a Law was made, that none, upon a penalty, should upon any pretence or cause whatsoever appeal to Rome. Another Law was made too, whereby the Popes Authority was abrogated in Ireland. Also at the same time an Act did pass whereby the Abbeyes of Bestif, St. Peters near Trim, Dousk, Duleek, Holm-Patrick, Baltinglass, Grane, Tagh-Moling, Dunbroody, Tintern, Ballybogan, Hoggis and Fernes were suppressed, and granted to the King. And by another Special Statute the Priory of St. Wolfstons in the County of Kildare. And lastly, to pass by other Acts established in the same Parliament, the Tributes, Impositions and Exactions, at that time claimed by the Irish out of the English Colonies, under colour of Protection, were wholly exterminated. Also all those that acknowledged themselves to be the Kings Subjects were commanded to speak English, and to be clothed after the English fashion. We learn out of Tacitus, that Julius Agricola made use of the like Counsel, thereby the easier to mollifie the Manners of the ancient Britains, when as he did introduce the Honour of the Roman Tongue and Habit.

About this O Connor being backed, by a great company of his followers out of Osaly, made an inrode into Carbry, a Territory in the County of Kildare, where he preyed and burned all afore him. But in the mean time Trimlestone the Chancellor, and Brabazon the Vice-Treasurer, collecting a few Souldiers together, they hastned for Osaly, where they burnt up many Villages, and carried away the Preys. As soon as O Connor heard of this, he with all possible speed returned for Osaly. In the mean time Brereton was by the Deputy and Kings Council sent to the Borders of Ulster, to parley with O Connor, where the Articles of Peace first concluded on by Skeffington were again confirmed. For O Neal complained that Skeffington had broken the Peace.

This year it pleased King Henry to send Mr. William Wiseman to the Mayor and Citizens of Waterford with Gracious Letters, and a Cap of Maintenance as an honourable Gift, to be always born before the Mayor of the City. He had before sent unto them by the same Messenger a Guilt Sword, for their renowned Fidelity, to be carried afore the Mayor.

An. Reg.
XXVIII.

In this Parliament Queen Catharine Matrimony nullified; Anne Bullens valid. Several Lords Possessions confiscated to the King for being absent in this Parliament.

The Abbots and Priors in England lost their Holdings here.

Enacted that K.H. 8. should be Supream Head of the Church in Ireland.

No Appeals to Rome, and the Popes Authority abrogated in Ireland.

A list of those Abbeyes in Ireland at this time granted to the King. Irish Impositions on the English put down.

The English Tongue and English Apparel to be observed.

O Connor and his followers fall on the English Holdings.

The Chancellor and Vice-Treasurer appear against O Connor.

Brereton sent to parley with Con O Neal.

Waterford this year received a Cap of Maintenance.

John

An. Dom.

1536.

John Earl of Desmond died, and his Son James raiseth troubles.

James Lord Thurles sent to curb James of Desmond, James Earl of Desmond submits for a while.

How Ormond marched with his forces.

The Archbishop of Tuam died.

Who succeeded him.

The Bishop of Cork died, and who succeeded him.

The Lieutenantcy of Richmond this year ceaseth by his death, and how H. 8. bewailed his death.

John Earl of Desmond deceased this year at Traley in Kerry, when he had enjoyed that Honour for a very little season, leaving his Son James his Successor, whose Ambition could not contain it self; for he instantly began to stir up new Troubles in Munster. James Viscount Thurles was seasonably sent to curb his Insolencies, who with his Army, in the beginning of August, did destroy his Territories in the County of Limerick, and repaired his ruinous Castle of Lough-gir, strengthening it with a Garrison against him. Desmond, who lived at that time in Kerry, had notice of these misfortunes, and fearing worse, he began to be crest-fallen, he saw his Error, and bethought himself of sending Letters of Submission to Grey, that he might obtain some tolerable Conditions of Peace. But for a time he deferred his purpose. How he behaved himself in this affair the next year will declare.

Ormond in the mean season and his Son Thurles marched on to O-Briens Bridge, and beleaguered the Castle; but the Garrison enduring for a day or two the brunt of the Siege, and terrified with the Shot of the Ordnance, quitted the Fort and fled. Afterwards the Castle and Bridge were razed, and Ormond and Thurles returned to Limerick.

A little before, on the fourth Kalends of May, Thomas Laley Archbishop of Tuam, of the Order of the Friars Minors, departed this world, when he had fate almost 22 years, and was buried at Gallway in the Abbey Church of the Minorites, in the same Tomb that his Predecessor Mauritius de Portu was laid. Christopher Bodekin Bishop of Kilmackough, a Gallway man, succeeded, who did as Commendatory govern the Church of Kilmackough.

Nor must it be passed by, that this year took away John Bennet, alias Ferret, Bishop of Cork and Cloin. Dominick Tirrey Rector of Shandon Church succeeded him, being consecrated by Edm. Archbishop of Cashell, assisted by the Bishops of Ross, Limerick and Emely.

This year was the last to Henry Duke of Richmond and Somerset, Base Son to King Henry (by Elizabeth Blount,) commonly called Henry Fitz Roy, a Youth endowed with many excellent Qualities both of Body and mind, whom the King had some years before appointed Lord Lieutenant of Ireland; albeit the Administration was conferred on his Deputies, first on Skeffington, then on Kildare, and lastly on Grey (as we have already mentioned.) He deceased at St. James's near Westminster on the 22th. of July without Issue. The King bewailed his Death a long time after.

Anno

Anno Domini 1537. Et Anno Regni XXIX.

CHAP. XXIX.

ON the 23th. of April Grey, with his Army, undertook an expedition into Osaly, against Charles O Connor, and about the end of this month he entred the Enemies Country, but effected nothing; being hindred by continual Rains. He afterwards advanced his Colours first against the Cavenaghs, afterwards against O Caroll and other Neighbours: he after that, upon their submission, taking pledges, received them to protection. During these transactions James Earl of Desmond did supplicate Grey, by his Letters, that by his means he might be received into the Kings Favour, acknowledging his Offence, and by an Oath under his hand writing he promised to confirm his Submission: but he deceived him so long with promises, that for lack of Provision, without doing ought, he was forced with his Army to return for Dublin. However he left Commissioners behind him, impowering them to conclude with Desmond. These persons went to Clonmell, where the Earl should come to parley; but he refused to come, saying, that he would not enter a walled Town; whereupon the Commissioners, that this might be no impediment to his Submission, assented (how wisely I mention not) to give him a meeting in the same place where he had pitched his Tents, and there he at last, in their presence, took the Oath of Fidelity to the King, which to keep, he sent his Base Son Thomas (surnamed the Red) as a Pledge for England. The Earl obtained a Pardon afterwards for all his Offences, and was received into favour.

About this time the animosity between Grey and Ormond broke out into open action; the event whereof was thus; that Grey being a man of a high spirit, and herewith incensed, sent out certain Forces, which spoiled and destroyed Ormonds Territories and his Friends. This grudge took its first rise from an Indignation which Ormond conceived against Grey, as if he were more indulgent to the Family of the Geraldines. But these Dissentions, with other Differences between Grey and Browne Archbishop of Dublin, Allen Master of the Rolls and others, were at last destructive to Grey.

Now Ulster calls me back; O Neal (now breaking his Promise) had resolved to send some Forces for Lecale, under the Conduct of his Son, to seize on the Kings Castle of Ardglass: as soon as Grey had intelligence of this, he assembled his Men; but before he advanced his Colours for Ulster, by the advice of the Kings Council, he sent Trimlestone the Chancellor, Stapely Bishop of Meath, and Aylmer Chief Justice, as Commissioners, to treat with O Neal on the Borders of Ulster. They met at the set time, and after many words passed on each side, and ob-

Grey marched into Osaly, and how he steered his course after.

The Earl of Desmond desires the Kings Favour in his Letters to Grey, but deceives him with promises. Upon the Earls promises the Lord Grey left Commissioners to parley with him, and the Commissioners offers.

Grey and Ormond now begin to clash for destroying of Ormonds Territories. How this quarrel took its rise.

O Neal breaks his promises.

Grey's preparations against O Neal and the Commissioners that were sent to O Neal.

An. Dom.
1538.

Four Commissioners sent to settle this Kingdom out of England, and how they ordered the affairs thereof.

jected Grievances, at last O Neal submitted himself, and both Armies were a few days after disbanded.

The Winter approaching, four Commissioners sent by the King to settle the Commonwealth arrived at Dublin, viz. Anthony Sentleger a Kentish man (soon after Knighted, a man of great Fame,) George Powlet, Thomas Moyle, and William Barnes. These men being backed by the Kings Authority made enquiry of the prime Abettors of the late Treason, in which affair they moderately demeaned themselves. Soon after the rest had an Act of Pardon and Oblivion granted them. Moreover those persons, with an additional number of the Kings Council, by Commission from the King, to augment His Majesties annual Revenues, did farm for one and twenty years those Possessions that were long since annexed to the Crown, reserving the yearly Rents payable into the Exchequer. Lastly, by their means Grey and Ormond were reconciled to each other. Yet after the death of the Earl of Ormond, those spoils that were committed in his Territories, (whereof we have already made mention) were, among other Crimes, objected to the Lord Grey, which was at last his Destruction. But more of this in its due place.

Hugh O Donell
died, and who succeeded
him.

This year about the Month of July Sir Hugh or Sir Odo O Donell deceased, he was Lord of Tirconnell, unto whom his Son Manus, by a popular Election, succeeded; he was inaugurated by the Stone near the Church of Kilmacrenan, with the usual Ceremonies.

The Birth of Prince Edward afterwards called King Edward the sixth.

On the 12th. of October (being the Eve of the Translation of St. Edward) Queen Jane a most virtuous and excellent Lady, being as well adorned with Beauty as exquisite Manners, long struggling with the pangs of Childbirth, bore Edward at Hampton Court, who was cut out of his Mothers Womb. The Queen lived but two days after, and then deceased, and was honourably buried at Windsor. You may see out of Theophilus Raymundus, in his Book of the Production of Children against Nature by Incision, the various Opinions of learned men, of the Causes whereby a Section may be lawful. On the eighteenth day of the same Month, the said Edward was created Prince of Wales, Duke of Cornwall, and Earl of Chester.

Anno Domini 1538. Et Anno Regni XXX.

CHAP. XXX.

The death of Trimlestone, and who succeeded in his place.

ON the 25th. of July John Barnewall Baron of Trimlestone and Chancellor of Ireland died on the last day of the same Month, John Allen Master of the Rolls was summoned before the Kings Council in the Priory of Kilmaynam, and was (by another Name) designed his Successor; for he was at that time made Keeper of the Great Seal; and on the eighteenth of October following he was by the Kings Command made Lord Chancellor of Ireland.

on

This year about the beginning of May the Lord Deputy Grey made an inrode into Lecale, a great part whereof he burnt up and destroyed. It is said that he prophaned the Cathedral Church of St. Patricks in Downe, and set it on fire. They say, that at that time the Tombs of St. Patrick, Columb, and Brigid were there demolished at that time by a certain Commander. However it was, the Prophanation and Burning of this Church was afterwards in England, among other Crimes objected to the Lord Grey, who was hurried to Judgment, condemned to dye, and beheaded, of which more hereafter. Also about the same time, among other famous Images whereunto Pilgrimages were designed, the Statue of the Blessed Virgin Mary was burnt, then kept at Trim in the Abbey of the Canons Regular, and the Gifts of the Pilgrims were taken away from thence. The Image of Christ crucified in the Abbey of Ballibogan, and St. Patricks Staff in the Cathedral Church of the Holy Trinity at Dublin, which William the Son of Aldeline brought from Ardmagh, and gave it as a Gift to that Church, in the year 1180. underwent the like fate. The same was done in many other places, according to the example of England.

About this time Quintinus Bishop of Clonmacnois, of the Order of the Friars Minors, departed this life, when he had fate about two and twenty years. Nor may we pass over in silence, that Richard Nugent Baron of Delvin, an aged man, died this year, of whom we have already spoken. From this mans Issue male Richard, by the Favour of King James, was created Earl of West-Meath.

Anno Domini 1539. Et Anno Regni XXXI.

C H A P. XXXI.

IN the beginning of May the Lord Grey undertook an expedition for Ulster against Con O Neal, in which he spared Ardmagh, where he lay two days; but he burnt, pillaged and depopulated the Neighbouring Counties, scarce any making resistance: and so with rich spoils he returned home.

In August following O Neal (to repair to his loss) and O Donell, by his perswasion, with joint Forces invade the English Borders, and, among manifold other mischiefs, they burnt Atherdee in the County of Louth, and Navan in Meath. As soon as the Lord Grey had notice of this, he with all expedition mustering his Army, and with some other Forces gathered out of the Counties of Dublin, Meath and Kildare, he marched against them, and at last, joyning Battel, he overthrew them at the Foord of Belaho. Of the Irish four hundred men were slain, and the rest fled.

An. Reg.
XXXI.

Greys Inrode into Lecale. This Journey of the L. Greys lost him his Life for Prophanation.

How these Relicks thus taken were disposed of.

The death of the Bishop of Clonmacnois, and of the Baron of Delvin.

Grey goes against Con O Neal into Ulster.

O Neal and O Donell invade the English Pale, and Greys preparations against them;

An. Dom.

1539.

The Mayors of Dublin and Droghedah Knighted for their valour herein.

A great drought and sickness this year.

The Abbays
in Ireland sur-rendred.

The Names of the Abbays and Monasteries this year surrendred.

The Battel being ended, James Fitz Simon Mayor of Dublin, Michael Courcey Mayor of Droghedah, Gerald Aylmer Lord Chief Justice of the Kings Bench, and Thomas Talbot of Malabide were by the Lord Deputy dubbed Knights. In this Fight James Flemming Lord Baron of Slane behaved himself most valiantly. The Lord Grey being busied in this War, O Connor of Osaly on the one hand, and O Toole on the other, laid immediate hold on this occasion, to invade the English Borders, and there destroyed the Lands, and burnt and spoiled not a few Houses and Farms.

This Summer so great a Drought was in Ireland, that many Rivers were almost dried up. The Autumn also was very sickly; Feavers and Bloody Fluxes being rife every where, wherof many died. An extream hard Winter followed, infomuch that store of Cattel perished in many places.

At this time many Abbots and Priors, with their Fraternities in Ireland, treading in the steps of their Brethren in England, they surrendred by Charters their Abbays and all their Goods to the King. Afterwards Pensions were assigned them out of the Revenues which the King had reserved to himself, to be paid to them yearly during their lives. And lastly, a Law was enacted by the Parliament, confirming the Disposall of all the Abbays in Ireland to the King. But this was done in the year 1541.

A Catalogue now follows of the Abbots, who before the time of the Suppression had their Places and Suffrages among the Peers in the Assemblies of Parliament.

The Abbots of

Mellifont,
St. Thomas near Dublin,
Blessed Virgin Mary near Dublin.
Baltinglas,
Feripont,
Tintern,
Douk,
Tracton,
Donbrody,
Magie, al. Nenaw.
Wony,
Rosglasse, al. Mon. S. Evin, Bedliff,
Rathto.

The Priors of

St. Johns of Jerusalem,
Holy Trinity of Dublin,
St. Peter of Newtown near Trim,
Conall,
Kenlis in Offery,
St. Patricks of Downe,
All Saints near Dublin,
St. Edmund of Athassel,
Killagh,
Blessed Virgin Mary of Louth.

Of these the first three Abbots, and the Prior of St. Johns of Jerusalem, were constantly summoned; the rest, especially they that were far distant, were seldom called upon.

There died of Bishops this year Walter Wellesley Bishop of Kildare, John Purcell Bishop of Fernes, and Richard Hogain a Friar Minor, first he was Bishop of Killalow, afterwards, a little afore his death, Bishop of Clonmacnois, William Miagh succeeded Wellesley, who was soon after made one of the Kings Privy Council: Alexander Devereux Abbot of Donbrody succeeded Purcell, and Florence (alias. Flane) Gerawan, a Minorite, ordained this year, on the fifth day of December by Pope Paul, the Fifth, succeeded Hogaine, and was restored to his Temporalities, or the Profits of his Episcopals Revenues, doing homage first to the King, according to the custom, on the three and twentieth of September, 1541.

Also Peter Butler Earl of Ormond and Offory departed the world on the twenty sixth day of August, being well stricken in years, and was buried in the Quire of the Cathedral Church of St. Canicks Church in Kilkenny, he left behind him his Wife Margaret Fitz Gerald (besides six Daughters), his eldest Son James, who succeeded him in the Honour, and Richard, whom Edward the Sixth, on the twenty third of October, 1550. created Viscount of Mountgarret. A few years after his said Countess followed him; she was a Woman endowed with Wisdom and Courage almost above her Sex. Among other Testimonies of her Bounty, she founded a School at Kilkenny, near the Churchyard of the Cathedral Church, out of which, as from a Trojan Horse, many learned men afterwards proceeded. Besides this, her Husband by her advice, hired and placed the Polymitary, and other skilful Artifices, out of Flanders, and other Countries beyond Seas.

But to proceed, this year was also the last to Cornelius or Concobare O Brien Lord of Thomond, to whom succeeded his younger Brother Maurice, of whom more hereafter.

About the beginning of Spring two Ships and one Gally were by the Citizens of Waterford committed to the charge of Captain Woodlock, four hundred Souldiers being sent under his Command, by whom he might punish the perfidiousness of Finin O Driscole, and repair the loss sustained by him. For the Winter afore O Driscole surprized a Ship of Waterford laden with a hundred Tun of Wines in its return from Portugal, being tossed to and fro, by distress of Weather, and at last by much ado reached the Haven of Baltimore; the Merchants, under colour of Friendship, being inticed to come ashore; he took them, contrary to the Treaty, detained the Merchants and Portuguez Prisoners, and distributed the greatest part of her Lading to his Friends and himself. Soon after the Citizens intercepted, and recovered the Ship itself and the Prisoners therein found, together with the fourth part of the Merchandise under the Command of Dobbin. But now to revenge this Slaughter, they rigged forth this Company, who, arriving first at the Island of Inishircan in Baltimore Bay, they took the Fort thereof without any resistance. Woodlock stayed here five days, and destroyed and burnt the Houses on all sides, and lastly demolished the Fort it self. From thence he sailed to the next Island of Inchepite, where he pulled down the principal Castle of O Driscole. He afterwards,

An. Reg.
XXXI.

What Bishops
died this year.

What Abbot succeeded Purcell of Donbrody.

Peter Earl of Ormond and Offory died.

The Earl of Thomond died, and who succeeded

An. Dom.
1540.

The Law called the Six Articles established this year in England.

Margaret Q. of Scots deceased.

afterwards, among other Feats, destroyed Baltimore and the adjacent Country with Fire and Sword, and then with rich spoils, and O Drifcoles prime Gally, he on Good Friday arrived at Waterford. These things were done at home.

This year King Henry in England, fearing he might seem to depart from the Religion of his Ancestors, he was a means in Parliament to establish a Law, called the Six Articles, against those who impugned the Real Presence of Christs Body in the Sacrament, the Eucharist to be administered under one kind, the Non-marriage of Priests, Vows of Chastity undergone after mature deliberation, private Mass and Auricular Confession. The same year Margaret Queen of Scots, Sister to King Henry, deceased in Scotland, and was buried in the Carthusians Church in St. Johnston.

Anno Domini 1540. Et Anno Regni XXXII.

CHAP. XXXII.

The L. Grey sails for England, and Brereton Justice.

Greys Enemies follow him.

How Grey was at first receiv'd kindly, but it lasted not long.

The Irish Nobility combine against the English.

Sir W. Brereton makes himself ready, but the Irish decline fighting.

Sir Anth. Sentleger succeeded Brereton in the Government.

About the beginning of Spring Leonard Lord Grey, Lord Deputy of Ireland, being recalled out of Ireland, sailed for England, and left Sir William Brereton behind him as Justice. James Earl of Ormond High Treasurer of Ireland, John Allen the Chancellor, William Brabazon Vice-Treasurer, and Sir John Travers one of the Kings Council, being for the most part known Enemies to the Lord Grey, followed him. The Lord Grey at his first arrival was graciously received by the King, and on Whitsunday carried the Sword afore him (according to the custom used by the Kings); but soon after, by the Plots of his Adversaries, he began to go down the wind, was committed to the Tower of London, and a Charge of High Treason was drawn up against him. Of the chief Crimes objected against him, and the Success thereof, we shall hereafter mention in its due place.

In the mean time O Brien, O Neal, O Donell and O Connor, being of the powerfullst Lords of the Irish Descent, made a League, and with common consent appointed the meeting place at Fowre, about the beginning of July, as Maintainers of their Liberties; and at that time with united Forces to fall on the English. Brereton having intelligence of these Agreements, mustered up his Forces, amounting (as they say) to eight thousand Men, and marched against them; but to little purpose: For the Irish, distrusting their own Strength, declined the Fight, and went away without seeing the Enemy: However Brereton, laying hold on this occasion, burnt and harrassed the neighbouring Counties of the Irish; and thus was the Tempest dispelled, which threatned so much.

Brereton being soon after removed, Sir Anthony Sentleger succeeded him; he was one of his Majesties Bed-Chamber, and a Kentish man, on the seventh of July he was by the King made Lord Deputy, and was soon soon after sent into Ireland; and on the five and twentieth of the same Month, being St. James's day, he took the Oath of his Place in Christchurch Dublin, before the Kings Council; which Oath in these words were tendred unto him.

YE shall swear, that ye shall faithfully and truly to your power, serve our Sovereign Lord the King, in the Room and Authority of Deputy and Governour of this His Graces Land and Dominion of Ireland: and especially Te shall maintain and defend the Laws of God and the Christian Faith; and, as far as the Kings Laws do or shall permit, the Usages, Rites, Ceremonies and Liberties of Holy Church. And Te shall likewise, to your power, not only keep the Kings Peace amongst his People; but also maintain the Kings Officers and Minsters in the Execution and Administration of Justice; and defend the Kings Garrisons, Castles, Dominions, People, and Subjects of this same Land; and repress the Kings Rebels and Enemies. Te shall not consent to the Damage or Disherison of the King, his Heirs, nor Successors: neither Te shall not suffer the Rights of the Crown to be destroyed by any way; but Te shall let it to your power: And if ye cannot let the same, Te shall certifie the King clearly and exprestly thereof. Further, Te shall give your true and faithful Council for the Kings Profit; and the Kings Council Te shall conceal and keep, and all other things for the Preservation of this his Dominion of Ireland. And the Peace among his People, and Execution of Justice, according to His Graces Laws, Usages and Customs of this Land, Te shall perform and do to your power. So God you help, all Saints and holy Evangelists. Thus far the Oath.

But to proceed, Sentleger brought with him into Ireland three industrious Commissioners, viz. Thomas Walshe one of the Barons of the Exchequer in England, John Myn and William Cavendish Auditors, by whose endeavours exact Rolls of the Crown Lands were afterwards made into Surveys.

Two other Commissions were a little afore transmitted for Ireland, one was directed to George Browne Archbishop of Dublin, and the other to Robert Cowley Master of the Rolls, to make an estimate of the Goods which the Lord Grey had left in Ireland to be delivered to Sentleger, and to be disposed of at His Majesties Pleasure; the other was directed to Allen the Chancellor, Brabazon the Vice-Treasurer, and the said Cowley, to grant Annual Stipends to the Monks of the suppressed Abbeys. Both Commissions took effect.

Brereton in the mean time was constituted Marshal of Ireland, and was sent into Munster by the Lord Deputy, to receive the reiterated Submission of James Earl of Desmond, and to bring him along with him to Dublin. But he fell into a desperate Disease at Kilkenny, in his way towards Limerick, and deceased a few days after, whose Corps was there buried in St. Canicks Church. As for the Earl himself, after his Submission, and acknowledged Fidelity to the King, he was received into Favour at Cahir on the Sure, on the sixteenth day of January following, in the presence of the Lord Deputy and Council. He afterwards delivered up his Son Gerald, to remain a Pledge for his future Fidelity. Besides all this he renounced, under his Hand-writing, that wonderful

An. Reg.
XXXII.

The Oath that
Sir Anthony
Sentleger took in Christchurch, when he was sworn Lord
Deputy.

Three industrious men came over with Sent-leger.

An Order for Greys Goods to be given to Sentleger.

An Order for Stipends to the Monks of suppressed Abbeys.

Sir Will. Brereton Marshal of Ireland.

Sir Will. Brereton dieth at Kilkenny, and is there buried.

E. of Desmond received into favour.

Desmonds
pledge.
Desmond renounced his priviledge.

Privi-

An. Dom.

1541.

Monies coined in Ireland this year.

Transporting of Mony out of Ireland forbid by Parliament.

Sir Will. Darcey
deceased.

K. Henrys two Marriages this year unfortunate.

Priviledge which the Earls of Desmond assumed to themselves, to absent from Parliaments and Walled Towns at their pleasure.

In these days new Irish Monies were coyned by the Kings Command, as well Four-pences (which we call Groats) as Two-pences and Pence, each whereof had on the reverse an Irish Harp stamped.

In November following it was forbid by Proclamation to transport any of the said Monies into England, that not only under pain of forfeiting treble the value of the Monies so exported, but also to be fined and imprisoned.

The same year Sir William Darcey, born in Meath, being now aged, deceased in his Native Soil: he was a while Vice-Treasurer of Ireland, a wise and learned man he was, and one that deserved well at the hands of the English. He writ a Treatise, in English, of *Ireland*s Ruin, and the Causes thereof.

This year King *Henry*s two Marriages were very unfortunate unto him. At the Feast of the Epiphany he (principally by Cromwells Advice) took to Wife Anne, Sister to William Duke of Clare, who six months after was divorced from him by reason of Impotency; which Marriage was nullified by Act of Parliament. The King did soon after, in an evil hour, marry his fifth Wife, viz. Catherine Howard, Niece to Thomas Duke of Norfolk by his Brother Edmund. But she, within less than eighteen months after her Marriage, was by Act of Parliament condemned to Death for Adultery, and was beheaded on Tower-hill in London: Jane Lady Rochford suffered the same death with her, as an Abettress.

Anno Domini 1541. Et Anno Regni XXXIII.

CHAP. XXXIII.

Several Noble men created this year.

MAny of the Gentry this year were created Viscounts and Barons; Mr. Edmund Butler was on the eleventh of June made Baron of Dunboyne, at the same time Bernard or Brien Fitz-Patrick was created Baron of Upper Ossory; also Sir Oliver Plunket was on the fifteenth of June made Lord Baron of Louth; and likewise Sir William Birmingham on the seventeenth of June was made Baron of Carbry in the County of Kildare. Moreover Sir John Raufon, late Prior of the Hospital of St. Johns of Jerusalem, was on the twentieth of June for term of life made Viscount of Clantarf, in Ireland, and Thomas Eustace Baron of Kilcullen, was on the twenty ninth of June advanced to the Honour of Viscount Baltinglass.

A Parliament
at Dublin.

On the thirteenth of June a Parliament was begun at Dublin, under Sentleger (who was lately returned from Limerick, where he had proposed certain Conditions at O Briens request, fit for that time,) where Hen- ry was declared King of Ireland, and Ireland made a Kingdom; whereas before our Kings stiled themselves Lords of Ireland, without the Title of King. Notwithstanding under the former Name the said Kings (as they are the words of the Statute then set forth) had all manner of Regal Jurisdiction, Power, Preheminence, and legal Authority belonging and appertaining to the Regal State and Majesty of a King. Forasmuch as the Kings most Excellent Majesty, and his most Noble Progenitors, justly and rightly were, and of right ought to be Kings of Ireland, and so to be reputed, accepted, named and called. So the Statute. The Contents of this Statute was proclaimed the Sunday following in St. Patricks Church near Dublin, and at London in England on the three and twentieth of January following. There were present at the publishing of this Proclamation in St. Patricks the Lord Deputy Sentleger, James Earl of Ormond, James Earl of Desmond, and the rest of the Peers, clad in their Parliament Robes, and many other principal persons, as well Ecclesiastick as Secular; on which day by a publick Proclamation some Prisoners were pardoned, who were guilty of certain Crimes. It is needless to mention the Feasts, Comedies and Sports which followed. In the same Parliament the full and free disposal of all the Abbeyes in Ireland, in the Statute expressed, was confirmed to the King, who soon after disposed of their Lands and Possessions to his Nobles, Courtiers and others, reserving to himself certain annual Rents: at that time as a way was prescribed of electing Knights, Citizens and Burgesses to sit in the House of Commons; so also a means was contrived for the Choosing of a Justice of Ireland after the Death, Resignation, &c. of every preceding Governour; and then also (to pass by things of lesser note) the County of Meath, being too large for one Sheriff to manage, was divided into two parts, the East part whereof was called Meath, and the Western Division West-Meath.

ry

It must not be here omitted that the Earl of Desmond came up to Dublin before the beginning of this Parliament, shewing himself to be very penitent, tendering his Submission in Writing, and promising also to do the same to the King himself in England, which the next year he faithfully performed, and craved Pardon, and was by the King received into favour, and was at last courteously dismissed.

On the twenty eighth of July, in England, Leonard Lord Grey being accused and condemned of High Treason, was led to Tower-hill, and there publicly beheaded; he took his Death with admirable constancy; the chief Heads of his Crimes were, That whilst he was Lord Deputy of Ireland he suffered Gerald youngest Son to Gerald late Earl of Kildare, his Sisters Son, to make an escape, being declared an Enemy; that he had prophaned the Church of St. Patricks of Downe; that he cherished Fergananim O Caroll and other known Rebels; and that he had spoiled and destroyed the Lands of very many faithful Subjects in the County of Kilkenny and elsewhere, whom he supposed to be Friends to the Earl of Ormond, out of hatred to the Earl. Thus was the end of the Lord Grey, of whose Assistance and Counsel the King had made so long use of in the Affairs of Ireland. Claudian rightly notes.

Desinat elatis quisquam considerare rebus.

An. Reg.
XXXIII.

K. Henry and his Heirs proclaimed to be Kings, and not Lords, of Ireland.

The names of those who were present at this Proclamation.

Mercy shewn to Traytors at the proclaiming thereof. An Act to dispose of Abbies and Priors.

An Act in case a Deputy died to elect another. Meath divided into 2 Counties.

The Earl of Desmond came to this Parliament, and was very submissive.

The Lord Grey beheaded at Tower-hill.

The chief heads of his Crimes.

An. Dom.

1541.

How Con O
Neal submitted himself to Sentleger.

The whole Race of the Irish begin to submit at this time.

Several Edicts prepared for Ireland.

A Reason for these Edicts.

Where these Edicts are yet to be seen, and the Chief Seals thereof.

Let each one leave off to be Elated in prosperity.

But to proceed,

About the end of December or beginning of January following Con O Neal, whose Power was suspected by the King, being deprived of his old Friend the Earl of Kildare, came to Maynouth, where the Lord Deputy Sentleger was at that time, to whom in most humble wise he submitted himself, and promised him besides to go soon after for England, and to surrender himself and all that he had into the Kings hands: nor did he fail of his promise, as in the next year shall appear in its place.

About this time almost all the great ones of the Irish Extraction did likewise submit themselves to the Lord Deputy, and took the Oath of Allegiance, as O Caroll, O Moore, O Mulloy, O Connor, O Doyn, Mac Mahon, Magenise, O Donell, O Rourke, O Flagerty, O Rely, O Melagblin, Mac Carty, O Sullivan, and others; and of the Nobles of English Descent that took it, were Barry, Rock, Birmingham, and Mac Guillin, who alledged, that himself and his Ancestors were descended of an English Offspring: their Agreements and Submissions are to be had in the Red Book of the Privy Council of Ireland.

Matters being thus stated, the Lord Deputy and Council prepared certain Edicts not altogether consonant to the Rules of the Laws of England, but fitted for the temporary Government of the Irish Natives in Thamond and Connaght; the reason whereof is thus set down in the Preface; Quia nondum sic sapiunt Leges est fura ut secundum ea jam immediate vivere aut Regi possint. The chief Points or Articles of which Orders (registered in the Council Book) are these; That King Henry the Eighth should be accepted, reputed and named King of Ireland by all the Inhabitants of the Kingdom; that all Archbishops and Bishops should be permitted to exercise their Jurisdiction in every Diocese throughout the Land; that Tythes should be duely let out and paid; that Children should not be admitted to Bonfires; that for every Manslaughter, and Theft above Fourteen Pence, committed in the Irish Countries, the Offenders should pay a Fine of Forty Pounds, Twenty Pounds to the King, and Twenty Pounds to the Captain of the Country; and for every Theft under Fourteen Pence a Fine of Five Marks should be paid, Forty Shillings and Eight Pence to the Captain, and Twenty Shillings to the Tanister; that Horsemen and Kearns should not be imposed upon, the Common People to be fed and maintained by them; that the Master should answer for his Servants, and the Father for his Children; that Cuttings should not be made by the Lord upon his Tenants, to maintain War with his Neighbours, but only to bear his necessary Expences. These Ordinances of State being made and published, there were nominated and appointed in every Province, certain Orderers, or Arbitrators, who in stead of these Irish Brehons should hear and determine all their Controversies; in Connaght the Archbishop of Tuam, the Bishop of Clonsfert, Captain Wakeley and Captain Ovington: in Munster the Bishop of Waterford, the Bishop of Cork and Ross, the Mayor of Cork, the Mayor of Toughball: in Ulster the Archbishop of Ardmagh, and the Lord of Louth: and if any Difference did arise, which they could not end, either for the difficulty of the Cause, or for the obstinacy of the Parties, they were to certify the Lord Deputy and Council, who would decide the matter by their Authority. That of Leland, in his Cygnean Song, speaking of Henry the Eighth, may relate to these affairs, and the Submission of the Irish.

or

*Fractos undique pœnitudo Iberos
Sylvestres domuit, suave Legis
Ferre & perdocuit jugum Britaniæ:
Quæ Victoria comparanda magnis.*

*Repentance made the Irish yield
On all sides, the Kearns were tam'd,
And the Laws and British Toke
It inured them to brooke.
And thus this Act may vie
With the greatest Victorie.*

Now we shall give a touch of the Bishops; and first we will mention Owen Magenise (of some called Urban by a mistake,) ordained Bishop of Downe and Connor by Pope Paul the third, who after his Oath of Allegiance to the King, was on the four and twentieth of October restored to his Temporalities; on which day Rowland de Burgo (or Bargh) was also by the Pope made Bishop of Clonsfert, and after the like Submission he obtained the Kings assent. A little afore (on the fourteenth of July) Richard Ferrall Bishop of Ardagh, before that Abbot of Granard, obtained the Restitution of the Temporalities of his See.

Also this year was the last to Roderick Cassidy Archdeacon of Clogher, who was a Divine, a Physitian, a Canonist, and an industrious Historian, who heretofore assisted Patrick Cullin Bishop of Clogher to collect the Antiquities of that See, and afterwards set forth certain brief Annals of Ulster of his time.

Finally, this year King Henry converted the Prior and Convent of the Cathedral Church of the Holy Trinity in Dublin into a Dean and Chapter, and made Robert Castle (alias Painswick) the first Dean of that place, who was the last Prior thereof. Unto these he confirmed the former Possessions and Immunities.

An. Reg.
XXXIII.

The names of those Bishops made by the Popes Order, that took the Oath of Allegiance.

Roderick Cassidy a great Scholar died.

Christchurch turned from a Priory into a Deanary.

An. Dom.

1542.

Anno Domini 1542. Et Anno Regni XXXIV.

C H A P. XXXIV.

Con O Neal fails for England, and receives Honour from King Henry, also how he became Tenant to the King.

The heads of O Neals Conditions, to which he subscribed his hand.

Con O Neal made a Privy Counsellor to K. H. 8.

James Earl of Desmond fails for England, and submits to the King, and is made a Privy Counsellor.

The O Birnes desire their Country may be made a County.

G. Archbishop of Ardmagh died, and who succeeded.

CON O Neal Lord of Tir-Oen set sail for England this year, being accompanied by Hugh O Cervalan Bishop of Clogher and others, where, at Greenwich, on the twenty fourth of September, he in most humble manner acknowledged his Fault, and disclaimed the Name of O Neal, and also with it the Title of Prince, surrendering all that he had into the Kings hands. But he soon received them again (as a Tenant) by Letters Patents under the Great Seal of England, bearing date at Greenwich the first of October, together with the Title of Earl of Tir-Oen, and at the same time Matthew, (falsly supposed to be his Son) was created Baron of Dungannon, and two of his consorts, viz. Dionysius Mac Gennis and Arthur Mac Gennis were dubbed Knights; at that time the Bishop of Clogher was confirmed by the Kings Patent, and all of them are honoured with Gifts. These were the Heads of the Conditions which O Neal subscribed; That he shall renounce the Name and Stile of O Neal, that he and his Followers should wear English Habits, that their Children should learn the English Tongue, that they should build and plow according to the English way, and that they should submit themselves to the Laws of England. These things being done, he was favourably dismissed by the King; and after his return for Ireland, viz. on the seventh day of May following, he was by the Kings Command admitted into the number of his Majesties Privy Council.

In the mean time James Earl of Desmond came to Dublin, according to his promise, and procuring Letters of Recommendation from the Deputy, he went to Houth, and from thence he passed over for England to the King, of whom, in the Month of August, after his Submission, he was received into Favour, and honoured with Gifts, and was soon after taken into the number of His Majesties most Honourable Privy Council of Ireland; whom afterwards Edward the Sixth made High Treasurer of Ireland.

This year the O Birnes, who bordered on the County of Dublin, humbly desired that their Country might be made a County, but without their expected success; but for what cause I know not.

And now to commemorate some Prelates, this same year George Cromer Archbishop of Ardmagh departed the world on the sixteenth day of March, to whom George Dowdall, at the entreaty of Sentleger, succeeded; he was both a grave and learned man, and a constant Preacher, he was consecrated about the beginning of December 1543. by Edward Stapley Bishop of Meath and other Bishops; his Ecclesiastical Constitutions are are yet extant, being published in the year 1553. in the Provincial Council of Droghedah, celebrated in St. Peters Church.

Nor must it be omitted that this year Thomas Hurley Bishop of Emely ended his days, being well stricken in years; a Canonist he was of great account, and was buried in his own Church, where he had erected a Colledge to the Secular Priests. Aeneas O Hernan, alias Hesernan, succeeded him; he was sometime Master of the Hospital of Aney at Limerick. On the nineteenth of November Sir Thomas Butler, of the Family of the Earles of Ormond, was created Lord Baron of Cahir.

Anno Domini 1543. Et Anno Regni XXXV.

C H A P. XXXV.

IN the beginning of Summer two Noblemen of great power, viz. Maurice O Brien, descended of the antient Kings of Limerick, and Ulick Bourke, called also Mac William, after they had submitted themselves to the Lord Deputy, they, by his advice, set sail for England, and transferred all that they enjoyed to His Majesty, which notwithstanding soon after (on the first of July, at Greenwich, where the King then lay) they by Letters Patents were received as Tenants, together with the Title of Earls; for Maurice was at that time by a solemn Rite created Earl of Thomond, and Ulick Earl of Clanrickard. Maurice returned for Ireland about the beginning of the next month, and was by the Kings Command made one of the Privy Council. We may not omit here that the Title of Earl was conferred on him during his Life only: but he procured for himself and Heirs the Title of Baron of Inchequin. Also at the same time the King gave unto Donagh O Brien, Son to the abovementioned Concobarius (by Honora Bourke) the same Title and Honour of Thomond to be enjoyed by him for term of life, immediately after the death of the said Maurice, together with the Dignity of Baron of Ibrackan, to him and his Heirs males. The Earls Expences were born by the King. But Donagh (to sum up all at once) afterwards procured for himself and his Heirs males the same Title of Earl from Edward the Sixth, on the seventh of January 1551. which Honour his Posterity now enjoy. Nor must we doubt but that by their Submissions honorary Titles and Grants of Land, which they held by Service or Homage, the Kings Authority was somewhat confirmed thereby.

The same year Francis King of France having notice of the War that was denounced against him by Henry King of England, and likewise of his Agreement with the Emperor; in opposition to him, he dispatched away for Ireland Theobald de Bois, with a Message to proffer Mony and Arms to O Donell, in case he would make war against the English there. This endeavour came to nothing: but I find no mention of the cause thereof.

An. Reg.
XXXV.

Tho. Bishop of Emely died, and who succeeded him.

Maur. O Brien and Ulick Bourke sail for England, and submit to K. H. 8. and were created Earls.
Maurice made Earl of Thomond, and U-lick Earl of Clanrickard, and Privy Counsellors.

Further descriptions of the Honour of the House of Thomond.

Wars between France and England, and how that King would have Ireland to rise.

On

An. Dom.

1544.

The Parliament dissolved and Sentleger went for England, Brabazon Lord Justice. K. H. married Cath. Parr, his sixth wife. New Seals for the Courts sent over.

On the nineteenth of November the Parliament was dissolved, which lasted two years and five months, being prorogued from time to time. On the tenth of February following the Lord Deputy Sentleger went for England, and left behind him William Brabazon as Lord Justice of the Kingdom.

At this time, on the twelfth day of July, the King married his sixth Wife, Catharine Parr, at Hampton Court in England; she was Widow to John Nevill Lord Latimer: she afterwards survived the King.

In these days, two new Seals for the Chancery and the Exchequer were first transmitted into Ireland, by reason of the change of the Kings Title in Ireland; and soon after two others were sent for the use of both the Benches: moreover the former Seals were broken in England, being according to the custom laid aside.

Anno Domini 1544. Et Anno Regni XXXVI.

CHAP. XXXVI.

Forces recalled out of Ireland, to go against France.

Irish and English Forces join and land at Calice, and how they proceeded

King Henry (as we have already mentioned) proclaimed War against France. Whereupon the Lord Justice Brabazon was commanded to send Forces out of Ireland for the French Expedition. As soon as he received the Kings Command, he sent away seven hundred Irish Foot with all expedition under the Command of Poer, Finglass and Scurlock. These men, when they came to London, were added to the English Army then in a readiness. The whole Army arrived at Calice about the beginning of July: at first they besieged Montreal, but in vain: afterwards, by the Kings Command, who landed at Calice on the fourteenth of July, they beleaguered Boloign, and took it by surrender, after two months streight Siege. Then the King, on the five and twentieth of September, made his entrance into it in a triumphant manner. Then he hastened his return, conferring the Government of the Town on John Dudley Viscount Lisle, and thence with a prosperous gale he arrived at Dover, from whence he went up to London, and was there received with great Applause.

At this time Sir Anthony Sentleger was made Knight of the Garter, and being again made Lord Deputy of Ireland, he landed at Dublin on the eleventh of August, where he was splendidly entertained by the Council and Common people, and received the Sword according to the custom. He found the State of the Kingdom peaceable enough, and carefully endeavoured to preserve it so. Some, whom he suspected, he caused to give in their Bonds, and deliver up Pledges, thereby to oblige them to be faithful to their Prince; and commanded one or two turbulent Spirits to be apprehended, and kept in safe custody, lest they should break out into Rebellion.

In

In the same year Ulick Bourk, the first Earl of Clanrickard, deceased in his own House at Loughbreagh, surnamed Ni-gan by the Irish, because he made a Mount of dead mens Sculls, covered with Earth, who were slain in a Battel. As soon as he was dead a tumult immediately arose in Clanrickard among the Competitors, the which to appease, the Earl of Ormond and others were sent by the Lord Deputy and Council, by whom a timely Remedy was found out.

To Ulick succeeded his Son Richard in the Earldom; he was surnamed Anglicus, or the English, because he had lived long in England; he deceased in Queen Elizabeths Reign, being of great years; he was disquieted with divers troubles, by reason of the Offences of his younger Son.

An. Reg.
XXXVII.

The death of the first Earl of Clanrickard, tumults rose thereon.

VVho was Ulicks Successor.

Anno Domini 1545. Et Anno Regni XXXVII.

C H A P. XXXVII.

M Attnew Steward Earl of Lenox fled out of Scotland the year before to K. Henry, of whom he had a most honorable Reception. And soon after he gave him to Wife his Neece Margaret a Maid, Daughter to Margaret his eldest Sister: She was in the flower of her age, being a beautiful and modest Lady. At this time the King dispatched him with Letters for Ireland, to the Lord Deputy Sentleger, that an Army should be raised for him there, to be sent for Scotland, in order to the Recovery of his antient Patrimony. He landed at Dublin on St. Michaels day, and from thence he went to the Priory of Kilmaynam, a mile distant from Dublin, where at that time the Lord Deputy lay, to whom he delivered the Kings Letters, and was honourably entertained by him. The Deputy used such expedition therein, that before the midst of November he collected fifteen hundred Souldiers out of the Neighbouring Counties about Dublin, under the Command of Sir John Travers Master of the Ordnance, to which James Earl of Ormond added the like number, being for the most part his own followers, and was made General of all these Forces. This Army being soon after shipped in eight and twenty Vessels, he set sail for Scotland; but either the levity of certain Scotch men, or the repression thereof by Hamiltons Faction, rendred the endeavours of this Preparation fruitless, promising to deliver up the Castle of Dun-Britton to the Earl of Lenox: For whilst he endeavoured to land his Party in the Haven near to Dun-Britton Castle, he found no Friends, but so vast an Army to fight him, that it was not safe for him to cope with them. Whereupon by consent of all he declined this Expedition, and returned without delay for Ireland.

About the same time Contentions daily increased between Charles (or Cahir Mac Art) Cavenagh of Polmonty, and Gerald Mac Cahir of Garochil, men of great renown in those parts, each of them assuming to themselves the King Henry's Neece married to the Earl of Lenox, and how he sent Lenox into Ireland to raise Forces against Scotland.

Charles al. Cahir Mac Art contends with Gerald Mac Cahir.

An. Dom.

1546.

A Relation of a certain Bishops Body found in a tomb in Christchurch in Dublin untainted, and buried many years before.

the Lordship of the Country. At length both of them collected their Forces, and resolved to try it out by Battel: also the time and place was appointed to fight. They fought with equal loss: for (as they say) Charles lost about an hundred Men, and Gerald as many. However, Charles at that time obtained the Lordship alone, whether by an Agreement or no I know not. He was afterwards by Queen Mary created Baron of Balian during his Life, on the eighth of February 1553. English stile; but he lived only a year after, and deceased.

I suppose it will not be amiss here to mention, out of a nameless Chronographer of that time, that in a certain Tomb in the Church of the Holy Trinity of Dublin, which at that time was opened and demolished, the Body of a Bishop was found, buried there some hundreds of years afore, being whole and uncorrupted, besides Rings, a Golden Chalice, and Episcopal Vestments; let others mention what were the Oyntments and Spices of the antient Europeans, wherewith they were wont to embalm their dead Bodies, to preserve them from Corruption. Concerning the manner of Burials among the old Egyptians, their Bodies being wrapt up with Unguents, and sweet Spices, out of which Mummy is gotten, see Augustine Kircher in his Egyptian Oedipus, tom. I. pag. 123, & 124. and among the Antients, Herodotus in his Euterpe. This occasion puts me in mind of incerting the like accident, which befel the Body of Thomas Grey Marquess of Dorset, who died on the tenth of October, in the year 1530. and was buried in the Collegiate Church of Astley in Warwickshire. But in the seventy eighth year after his decease the same Church fell down, and whilst the Parishioners were laying the Foundation of the new Chancel, the Vault wherein the Corps of the Marquess lay was opened, the Coffin broken, and his embalmed Body taken out of the Winding Sheet, was found uncorrupted, seeming to the lookers as if it had been lately intombed.

But of these things enough, and too much: we hasten now to matters of more consequence.

Anno Domini 1546. Et Anno Regni XXXVIII.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

How the Earl of Ormond opposed the Lord
Deputy for imposing Tributes upon the Irish Subjects, and how the same ended.

Sentleger accuseth Ormond of the like crime.

ABOUT the beginning of this year the Lord Deputy Sentleger resolved to impose certain Tributes on the Irish Subjects; because the Exchequer yielded but little. Which the Earl of Ormond did so vehemently oppose, that at last he sent against the Deputy himself a Charge of High Treason to King Henry. Nor was the Lord Deputy in the mean time wanting to himself; for he framed the like Accusation against Ormond: whereupon they were both summoned for England. Moreover the Lord Chancellor Allen was called into England, who in all all places sought for matter of Complaint against the Deputy.

Sentleger did again substitute in his place, during his absence, Sir William Brabazon as Lord Justice of Ireland, who on the first of April took the Oath of his Place in the Cathedral Church of the Holy Trinity in Dublin: Sir Thomas Cusack then Master of the Rolls succeeded Allen, as Keeper of the Great Seal. Their Accusations being heard in the presence of the King and Council in England, and their Crimes, after examination, found to be of no great consequence, Sentleger and Ormond, by the endeavours of the Council, were reconciled. And not long after Sentleger was again sent Lord Deputy for Ireland: but Allen, being found an ambidexter, was committed to the Fleet, and discharged of the Chancellorship. At that time Sir Richard Read was ordained to succeed Allen. On the sixteenth of December the Deputy and he landed at Dublin.

About the same time a Commission was directed by His Majesty to these persons, and others joyned with them, about the Resignation of the Opulent Church of St. Patricks near Dublin (being one of the Cathedral Churches of the Diocess of Dublin) with all the Lands and Possessions thereof, to be taken from the Dean and Chapter. At first the Chapter refused to do it, yet soon after they yielded; and on the eighth day of January following the Resignation thereof was made by the Dean (Edward Bafnet) and Chapter. But these Possessions, which were converted to the Exchequer, Queen Mary did afterwards restore them to the Church in the year 1554, and made Thomas Leveret Dean of the place, who soon after was consecrated Bishop of Kildare.

Now to proceed: This year (during the Lord Deputies stay in England) Brien Baron of Upper Ossory sent his Son Thady for some Crime committed by him) as a Prisoner to the City of Dublin, where he was heard, and condemned to die, and suffered death. Summer approaching, James Corrin Bishop of Killaloe quitted his Bishoprick to live a retired life. Upon his Surrender Cornelius O Dea, Chaplain to Maurice Earl of Thomond, was by the King appointed to succeed him.

About the same time Patrick O Moore and Brien O Connor, joyning their Forces together, drew out of Leixe and Osaly, and fell into the County of Kildare, where, among other mischiefs, they set fire on a great part of Athy; whereupon Sir William Brabazon marched with an Army against them; and in the way, leaving a Garrison in the Castle of Athy, he by a publick Edict proclaimed them both Traytors, and then he fell into their Territories, and destroyed them with Fire and Sword. Besides all this he built a Fort at the Dingen, now called Philipstown, and forced O Connor, by the assistance of the Neighbours, to flie into Connaght. These two Territories, Leixe and Osaly, with other adjacent places, called Slewemarg, Irry and Glenmalery were afterwards forfeited to the Exchequer, in a Parliament held at Dublin by Thomas Radcliffe Earl of Suffex, Lord Deputy of Ireland, in the year 1557. under the Reign of Philip and Mary King and Queen of England. But this by the by, Now I proceed.

About this time King Henry, to maintain his Charges in Ireland, being now hard put to it for lack of Monies, by reason of the vast treasure he had wasted in his Expeditions into France and Scotland, and compelled by necessity, he gave Directions to coyn Brass Mony, and commanded it to pass by Proclamation for currant and lawful Mony in all parts of Ireland.

An. Dom.
1546.

During these passages, on the twenty eighth of October, James Butler, Earl of Ormond and Offory, High Treasurer of Ireland, died in the flower of his age, in Holborne, in the Suburbs of the City of London; some say he died of Poison which was mixed with his Meat, in a Feast made to him by his Servants. James White Steward of his Household and sixteen more of his Servants perished at that time of the same kind of death. The Earl was buried at London, among his Ancestors, in the Hospital Church of St. Thomas of Acres. But his Heart, according to his command, was carried to Kilkenny in Ireland, and there laid up in the Cathedral Church of St. Canicks. He was a person of untainted Fidelity towards his Prince. His Son Thomas, being scarce twelve years of age, succeeded him in the Honour; he was afterwards by Queen Elizabeth (after the death of James Earl of Desmond) made High Treasurer of Ireland in the first year of her Reign, which Employment he held during his life, and maintained the Place committed unto him by his Ancestors with great Splendor and much Faithfulness.

But now to hasten to the end of these Annals: About the beginning of December King Henry for a long time abounding with Fatness, and troubled with sore Feet, occasioned by the obstructed passage of his impostumated Thigh, he fell into a Fever, which, increasing by degrees, did at last bring him to his end, at Westminster on the 28th. of January following, when he had reigned thirty seven years, nine months and six days, having lived fifty five years, seven months and six days. His Body (after the Funeral Solemnities were past) was on the 15th. of February intombed at Windsor in a Monument of solid Brass, not fully finished, which Cardinal Wolfey had ordained for him. He was a magnanimous and munificent Prince, and a great Favourer of Learned men, he was tall of Sature, and of a goodly Majestick Presence, in whose excellent Understanding (saith Camden) great Virtues and no less Vices were in a confused kind of measure imprinted. His Son Edward, the Sixth of that Name, scarce ten years of age, succeeded him, who on the twentieth of February following was solemnly anointed and crowned at Westminster, after the manner of his Ancestors. We leave the History of succeeding times to the care of others, and a more copious Stile.

THE ANNALS
OF IRELAND

During the REIGN of
KING EDWARD
THE SIXTH.

Anno Domini 1547. Et Anno Regni I.

CHAP. I.

HENRY the Eighth being dead, his only Son Edward, the Sixth of that Name, remained of the Norman Extraction, who in the tenth year of his age, being as it were Inheritor of his Fathers Soul, immediately succeeded him in his Kingdom, England not admitting of an Inter-Reign. He was born, or rather cut out of his Mother Jane Seimers Womb, at Hampton Court, on the twelfth of October 1537. his Mother outliving his Excision not above two days. Among the antient Romans they who had such a passage as this into the world were called Cæsones, and afterwards Cæsares, and were esteemed sacred to Apollo. He began his Reign the twenty eighth of January 1547. if we compute the beginning of the year from the Calends of January, or if from the twenty fifth of March, (according to the English Computation) in the year 1546. Edward Seimer (otherwise à Sancto Mauro) Earl of Hartford, afterwards Duke of Sommerfet, the Kings Uncle, and one of the last sixteen Executors (which also he assigned as Tutors to his Son) the first of the ensuing February proclaimed Governour of the Kings person, and Protector of his Kingdoms: the fifteenth of the same month the Funeral

An. Re
I.

An. Dom.

1547.

Obsequies of the late King were performed at Windsor; and the twentieth day after Edward was solemnly, according to the custom of his Predecessors, anointed and crowned at Westminster.

During these transactions in England, Anthony Sentleger Knight of the Garter, first under the Name of Justice, then of a Vice-Roy or Deputy, governed Ireland. And on the twenty sixth of February proclaimed Edward the Sixth King; as he afterwards caused to be done in the Cities and chief Towns of the Kingdom. On the twenty ninth of March James Earl of Desmond was made Treasurer of Ireland. Afterwards on the seventh of April, besides the Lord Deputy, these nine were made Privy Councillors; viz. Sir Richard Read Chancellor of Ireland, George Browne Bishop of Dublin, Edward Stapley Bishop of Meath, Sir William Brabazon Vice Treasurer, Sir Gerald Aylmer Chief Justice of the Kings Bench, Sir Thomas Lutterell Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, James Bath Chief Baron of the Exchequer, Sir Thomas Cusack Master of the Rolls, and Thomas Houth one of the Judges in the Kings Bench; to which afterwards more were added. About the same time, by the Kings Letters directed to the Vice-Roy, the Chancellor, the Vice-Treasurer, to the Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, the Chief Baron of the Exchequer, and the Master of the Rolls, there were Pensions granted to the Canons or Prebends of the Cathedral Church of St. Patricks, then lately suppressed, and all the Jewels, the carved Plate, and Ornaments of that Church were given to the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral Church of the Blessed Trinity; to which Cathedral there were also added six Priests and two Singing Boys, to which the King assigned the yearly Pension of Forty five pounds six shillings and eight pence, to be paid durante bene placito out of the Exchequer, but afterwards Queen Mary established and confirmed this Pension for ever.

In the month of May the Vice-Roy severely chastised the rebellious O Birnes, and drove them to the Woods, killing soon after their Leader, afterwards two Noblemen of the Family of the *Fitz Gerald*s were outlawed for adhering to the O Birnes and the O Tooles, and thrice at several skirmishes beaten, and with many more Captives taken, and brought to the City of Dublin, where they received their last punishment; then he intercepted the O Moores and the O Connors, as they were returning home from the County of Kildare loaden with Prey, put them to flight, and killed two hundred of them; but their chief Leaders, Patrick O Moore and Brien O Connor escaped by flight.

About Midsummer the Protector and Privy Council of England sent over Edward Bellingham one of the Nobles of the Kings Privy Chamber, a man of great Courage and Conduct, under the Title of Captain General, and together with him, and under his Command, an Army of six hundred Horse, and four hundred Foot, which landed at Waterford; to which the Vice-Roy joyned his Army: and so with united Forces they marched to Leixe and Osaly, where O Moore and O Connor being declared Traytors, their Followers were dissipated. Then they repaired the two Forts wit, Dingen in Osaly, and Campaw, lately called Protector, in Leixe. While after O Moore and O Connor finding themselves deserted by their Followers, and being in a great streight, they humbly and penitently submitted themselves to the Vice-Roy.

Bellingham

Bellingham at length for his good Service was Knighted, and made Marshal of Ireland.

Concerning the Souldiers Pay, (for this may not be unworthy the taking notice of) the Horse had monthly Seven hundred seventy pounds, and the Foot Four hundred fifty six pounds out of the Exchequer; but these small beginnings were but the forerunners of the English Colonies in these parts: for this work was not thoroughly compleated before Thomas Earl of Suffex's time, Vice-Roy of Ireland under Philip and Mary. But concerning this affair more hereafter.

During these transactions in Ireland, on the nineteenth of June at London in St. Pauls Church, according to the Fashion used among Kings, the Funèral Rites of Francis the late deceased French King were celebrated in answer to the like Complement performed by him at Paris in France, to our late Sovereign Henry the Eighth.

About the latter end of this year the Privy Council (the Vice-Treasurer Brabazon moving them thereto) ordered that the Kings Fort at Athlone (in the very midst of the Kingdom) should be repaired, fortified and strengthened with a Garrison; which was done, maugre all the opposition of O Kelly and other petty Kings of Connaght.

How great a Victory King Edwards Forces under the Duke of Somerset had over the Scots at Masselburgh, killing thirteen thousand, and taking one thousand five hundred of them Prisoners; the English Chronicles, I suppose does recount. But we hasten to our own affairs.

Anno Domini 1548. Et Anno Regni II.

CHAP. II.

THE Spring now drawing on, the Vice-Roy, accompanied by Bellingham and Brabazon, marched against Richard and Alexander, the two younger Sons of Thomas Lord Visc. Baltinglass, then moving Sedition in Kildare, where, accepting the Submission of the Incendiaries, and suppressing that Plot in its very Contrivance, he appeased the Country, and returned home; the Viscount also, as if he were guilty of the same Crime, posted over for England, and implored the Kings Mercy, which at last, by Bellingham's means, together with the Pardon of the other Delinquents, was granted him. Within a month after this time Bellingham was sent back Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and about Easter landed at Dublin, and two days after received the Sword according to the custom, at the Cathedral Church of the Blessed Trinity. Immediately after which he marched down and pacified the Country of Osaly and Leixe: but proclaimed Cahir O Connor (then moving Sedition) Traytor. Then he went to the lower Delvin against Mac Coghlan, and destroyed that that whole Country. In the mean time Sentleger, being recalled, brought for England to the King along with him Patrick O Moore and Brien O Connor, formerly petty Kings of Leix and Ofaly, that he might do with them according to his Pleasure. But His Majesty receiving their humble Submission, granted to each of them a yearly Pension of a hundred pounds out of the Exchequer. But O Moore enjoyed not his Pension long: for before this year was ended he died suddenly at London.

An. Dom.

1548.

We are not to forget that Bellingham, after his return, by the Kings Mandate, caused a Mint-house to be erected in the Castle of Dublin. But after a while, for want of Bulloign, the Work by little and little decayed. Give me leave to digress a little, in telling you, that formerly in this City of Dublin Money was stamped, as appears.

Neither is it to be denied, that there was a Mint-house in this City even in the time of the Danes; as I have elsewhere more largely declared.

This noble City, for her Antiquity, the Residence of the Vice-Roy, the Archiepiscopal See, the Courts of Justice for the whole Kingdom, her great Commerce, University, and her two stately Cathedral Churches, is almost without parallel famous; and if we believe William Neubrigenfis (who flourished under King John), this City was in Trade and Commerce very near equalling our London. Also long before this, in a certain Charter of King Edgar, dated at Glocester in the year 964, it is called Nobilissima Civitas Dublinia, the most Noble City Dublin. But this by the by. It will be enough to subjoyn here, that in this year King Edgar, on the twentieth of April, by a new Charter (Thadeus Duff being Mayor) changed John Ryan and Thomas Fining, the last Bailiffs, into Viscounts, or, as they are commonly called, Sheriffs.

April the twenty second Sir John Allen of Northfolk, formerly Chancellor of Ireland, in the Reign of Henry the Eighth, was again raised to the same Office by the Kings Letters Patents, and Read deprived of that Dignity, who soon after returned for England.

In the mean time Sir Francis Brian Knight Baneret succeeded Bellingham in the Marshalsey of Ireland, who a little before was married to Joanna the Countess Dowager of Ormond, and made President of the Counties of Kilkenny and Tipperary. between this person and the Vice-Roy there rise great Contention, while the one would not admit of a Superior, nor the other of an Equal. This Dissention at last broke out into open Enmity; and Brian consulting his own affairs (and being said to be gracious with the King) sent over Letters and a Messenger to him, accusing Bellinghams Government; which at last prevailed so with the King and Council, that Bellingham was recalled back for England, there to plead his own Cause; but none will be innocent, if to accuse him be enough to make him guilty. His Success I will give you an account of in the year following.

In the mean time One-eyed Thadeus O Carroll, petty King of Ely, burned and destroyed all the Village of Nenagh in the County of Tipperary, except the Castle, which strongly he besieged defended against him; and afterwards he routed the English Force out of his Country,

William Birmingham, first Baron of Carbry in the County of Kildare, died died the seventeenth of July, leaving Edward an Infant of two years of age, his Son and Heir. About the Calends of February there hapned such a strange violent Tempest, or rather Hurricane in the most part of Ireland, that by the force of it Trees were rooted up, and Churches and other Edifices quite blown down.

In Ulster there were great Commotions, but chiefly in that part of it called Tir-Conell; for the Dissention that was between O Donell the Great and his Son Calvacus or Calvatius broke this year into open War, both took up Arms, and on the seventh of February a most bloody Fight hapned between them, the Victory at last falling to O Donell's lot, Fitz Donagh O Cohan and many more persons of note being slain of Calvatius's party, and Calvatius with the rest put to flight. Another no less cruel outrage hapned a little after in the Lower Delvin, where almost Mac Coghlan's whole Country was destroyed by Teig Roe O Melaglin's and Edmond Fay's Forces. About this time King Edward waged War with the Scots; wherefore, by the Lord Lieutenant and Councils Order, Irish Forces led by Donatus O Connor (O Connor of Ofaly's Son) were transported over to the King, that he might use them in his War against the Scots. But the Success of this Expedition read in the English Writers.

On Sunday the eighteenth of November Charles Roe O Connor (the great Incendiary in Ofaly) humbly submitted himself to the Vice-Roy and Council in Trinity Church, begging publicly upon his knees, and with tears, that he might have his Pardon granted him; which was seen so submissively and heartily requested, that it was accordingly confirmed him: but the man being of an unquiet and troublesome Head, soon after rebelled, and was taken by the Earl of Clanrickard, and sent up to Dublin, where he received his last punishment.

About the middle of Winter, the Vice-Roy writ to the Earl of Desmond about some urgent business (which I could not come to the knowledge of,) desiring him to come up to Dublin, which the Earl denied; and the Vice-Roy, taking it very ill, with a small Band of Souldiers hastened to Munster, and about the Christmas Holidays apprehended the Earl (not expecting or fearing any Warlike Force, but sitting securely by his own fireside,) and brought him up to Dublin. But a few days after, by Bellinghams means, the Earl was pardoned and received into Favour. Hooker adds, that Desmond being before rude and slovenly in dress, became, by the Vice-Roy's advice and persuasions, grave, quiet, well carried, and decent in his apparel; and he failed not daily to pray for the Good Bellingham, as he called him; and, what is stranger than all this, became faithful to his Prince. Thus far Hooker; and, as he seems to me, much mistaken in what he says about the Earls rude Manners.

This year on the fifteenth of December died William Miagh Bishop of Kildare, after that he had presided over that See about eight years. After his death that See was vacant for thirteen months; and then Thomas of Lancaster was made Bishop of it.

In England about September, Queen Catharine Parr, Wife to Thomas Lord Seimer High Admiral of England, and Uncle to the King, died in Childbed. Neither did her Husband long survive her: for the Court being divided into Factions, and he accused of High Treason, was publicly likly beheaded on the twentieth day of the following March. His Death was variously talked of, according to mens several inclinations.

An. Dom.

1549.

Anno Domini 1549. Et Anno Regni III.

CHAP. III.

IN this year Con O Neal Earl of Tir.Oën, Philem Roe O Neal, Maguire, and other petty Kings of Ulster, quarrelling among themselves, came up to Dublin, that a Peace (if possibly it might be) should be made between them by the Lord Lieutenant and Council.

At length, about the twentieth of June, after many Complaints heard from both sides, upon certain Conditions they were reconciled one to another. But concerning Maguire the Lord Lieutenant and Council ordered, That he should be free from all Subjection or Homage to the said Earl or his Heirs; that he should be immediately subject and obedient to his Lord the King; and that under his Peace and Protection he should for ever remain; and that he should pay to his Excellency from time to time, as oft as he is thereto required by the Council, all the Homage, Debts, and what ever else of the like nature other Subjects use to pay. On the eighteenth of July, after much wrangling, a Peace was concluded between O Donell the Great and his Neighbours of Tir-Conell, and the formerly unlimited Power of O Donell restrained, and they obliged themselves to the performance of this Peace under the penalty of the Loss of all their Lands, Houses, and Tenements; or, at least, according to the greatness of the Crime, as to the Lord Lieutenant and Council should seem convenient. These are the words of their Covenant.

In the mean time the Scots sent Forces into Ulster, that the Irish might use them in their Wars against the English; but two hundred of these Andrew Brereton, with no more than thirty five Horse, assaulted, and with a great slaughter destroyed them. Furthermore, by his Industry those rebelling parts of Ulster were appeased. For these and other Tokens of his good Courage and Conduct he was made General of Ulster. In those days died Thomas Eustace Viscount Baltinglass, who was succeeded in his Title and Estate by his Son Rowland.

During these transactions, the Quarrel between Magnus O Donell petty King of Tir-Conell and his two Sons was appeased, and agreement made between them, in disposing the Forts of Fin and Liffer, and other pretended Grievances, by the the Lord Lieutenant and Council, on the eighteenth of July. Somewhat before this (to wit) on the fifteenth of July the Lord Lieutenant received the Submission of Mac Mahon, made to him in a set Form, and accepted him as a true Subject, after swearing Allegiance Allegiance to the King in the Priory or great Hall of Kilmainham, and granted Pardon to the other Delinquents.

This year Bellingham, by the undermining of his Adversaries, was recalled from the Government, and took shipping at Houth the 16th of December, and thence hoised sail for England. Immediately after his departure Chancellor Allen by the Kings Writ summoned the Noblemen and the Privy Council, that they should vote (according to their custom) for a new Governour; and they accordingly met at the Cathedral Church of the Blessed Trinity the twenty seventh of December, and chose for their Governour, durante Regis bene placito, Francis Brian, and this Election was confirmed by the Votes and Subscription of Ienicus Preston Viscount Gormanstown, Rowland Eustace Viscount Baltinglass, Edward Staple Bishop of Meath, Richard Nugent Baron of Delvin, John Plunket Baron of Kilenny, Patrick Barnewall Baron of Trimlestone, Robert Plunket Baron of Dunsany, Oliver Plunket Baron of Louth, and Brien Fitz Patrick Baron of Upper Ossory. Two days after this Election Francis Brian in the same Church took Oath of performing the Office committed to his Charge faithfully. But it was but for a small time that he administred this Justiciary Office. For, going down to quiet Tipperary, and defend it against the Incurfions of O Caroll, he was taken sick at Clonmell and the second of the ensuing Februrary died, whence his Body was carried to Waterford, and with great Pomp and Solemnity buried in the Cathedral Church of the Blessed Trinity. After his death the Government of Ireland was committed to Sir William Brabazon, under the Title of Justice of Ireland, and the Overseeing of Ormond committed to Edmund Butler Lord Archbishop of Cashell.

While affairs went thus in Ireland, Bellingham (whom Envy that cruel Fury had almost destroyed) prepared himself for his Defence in England, and rejects the Intercession of some of the Kings Privy Council for him; saying, that If his Innocence was not enough to protect him, he would be contented, that he believed the Resurrection of the Dead; for his Adversaries might kill, but not overcome, him. Whatever his Innocence was, immediately after Briens Death his Accusers and Accusations vanished, and there was no more heard of them. Nay some say, that his Innocence was thereby so much cleared, that the Privy Council once decreed that he should be sent back for Ireland with his former Dignity and Honour; but he excused himself from so hazardous a task: and being tossed with the Tempest of a Factious Court, he at last met with a peaceable quiet Haven in which he expected to live without disturbance. But the year after he died of Grief (as it is thought) rather than any Bodily disease. Sir Thomas Chaloner writ his Funeral Praises. He was a smart man, and full of spirit, learned besides, and famous for his Hospitality; for the Pension allowed him by the King he altogether spent in House-keeping; saying always, That the Meat and Drink he kept in his House was not his, but his Dear Masters.

A few days after this Brabazon went to Limerick, where O Caroll humbly begging Pardon, submitted himself to him. And having his Pardon granted him, he subscribed to some Articles, by which he was bound not to assume to himself the Title of President of Ormond; but to pay to the Exchequer an yearly Rent, and to maintain at his own Charges

An. Reg.
III.

An. Dom.

1550.

a certain number of Horse and Foot for the Kings Service. Then by O Carolls Intercession Letters of Protection were granted to Mac Murrough, O Kelly, and O Melaghlin. Then also it was that Brabazon composed the Quarrels between the Earls of Desmond and Thomond about their Bounds, which before by their continual Fighting much disturbed the Peace of Munster.

About this same time Dermot O Sulivane, a petty King of Ireland, was in his own Castle in the County of Cork burnt, by a casual firing of some Powder which he had in his Castle. And his Brother Amiasus succeeded him, who also was soon after killed.

The twenty fourth of December Matthew Sanders Bishop of Leghlin died, and was buried in his own Church, the Choire of which he built a little before, and has a Monument over him. One Robert Travers succeeded him, who is called Thadeus Dowling Chancellor of that place, a cruel, covetous Oppressor of his Clergy. England in the mean time was much disturbed with the continual Jars and Dissentions of the Nobility, the Insurrections of the Commonalty, and the robbing and spoiling of Churches.

Anno Domini 1550. Et Anno Regni IV.

C H A P. IV.

THE twenty fifth of April, Bolonia (six years before taken by Henry the Eighth) was restored to the French, and out of the first Payment made to the King for it there were eight thousand pounds of English Mony sent into Ireland, besides a number of four hundred Souldiers.

In the month of August Brabazon declared Charles Cavenagh Mac Art (then again rebelling) Traytor, and with indefatigable labour prosecuted him killing vast numbers of the Rebels, putting the rest to flight, and burning the greatest part of his Territories, returned to Dublin.

May the tenth, Arthur Magenise was by the Pope made Bishop of Dromore, and his Loyalty being known to the King, he was confirmed in that See by the Kings Letters. In the month of July also Thomas Lancaster was consecrated at Dublin Bishop of Kildare, and the third day of the following September got Faculties for the keeping, together with his Deanary of Kilkenny. But because he was married he was deprived of both of them by Queen Mary.

This year King Edward sent Men and Provision to the North of England, neer the Borders of Scotland, whether to prevent the Incursions of the Scots, or to invade them is not known. But hereby King Henry of France was much moved, as if King Edward had broke the Peace between them: and therefore, to help the Scots he prepared an hundred and sixty

Sail

Sail of Ships with Provision, Powder, and great Guns : but meeting, on their Voyage to Scotland, with a dangerous Tempest, sixteen of the greatest burthen were cast away on the Irish shoars, the rest, miserably shattered and scattered, were driven back to the Coasts of France. This Accident being certified to the King, to prevent the like design upon Ireland, he sent four Men of War, well manned and ammunitioned, four Pinaces, and twelve Barges under the Conduct of the Lord Cobham. This Fleet guarded three Ports, two of which were in the South of Ireland towards France, and the third in the North towards Scotland.

Chancellor Allen being recalled out of Ireland, was succeeded by Sir Thomas Cusack of Coffinstone in Meath, formerly Master of the Rolls, and now confirmed in the Chancellorship by the Kings Letters August the fourth.

September the tenth, Sir Anthony Sentleger was again made Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and immediately upon his arrival at Dublin, and getting the Sword from Brabazon, Mac Carty humbly submitted himself to him, and having obtained pardon for all his Faults, he was received into Favour. But before his departure out of England, he was commanded at Windfor, by the Assent of the Council, to call a Parliament.

October the twenty third, Richard Butler, youngest Son of Peter Earl of Ormond, was made Viscount of Mountgarret; he was a Youth of seemly Stature, a gallant Presence, and of a great Soul.

November the fourth, Charles Cavenagh Mac Art, in a great Council held at Dublin before the Lord Lieutenant, the Earls of Desmond, Tir-Oen, Thomond and Clanrickard, the Viscounts of Mountgarret and Dunboyne, the Barons of Cahir and Ibrackane, submitted himself, and publicly renounced the Title of Mac Murrrough, which his Ancestors usurped. Then also was his Power limited, and large Possessions taken away from him. Somewhat after this, Brown Archbishop of Dublin accused the Lord Lieutenant of Treason, (what the Article against him was I cannot tell.) But he was recalled, and in all probability cleared himself : For in the Reign of Queen Mary he was again preferred to this Government.

This year Milo Fitz Gerald Bishop of Offory died, being frightned (a thing very dangerous to aged people,) and was buried in the Priory of Inistiock (of which he was formerly Prior) among his Ancestors. His Father was Baron of Burnchurch; but yet was not reckoned among the Nobility. There were several of this sort of Barons in Ireland, an account of which I cannot give : but they that lived in our memory were the Barons of Navan, Scrine, Galtrim, Rheban, Norragh, Sleumarg, Brownsford, Thomastown, Ardmail, and Loughmo.

This year also died Fergallus Wardeus, famous all over Ireland for his great skill in Poetry, his Hospitality, and for being Master of the Revels, which Office he with great diligence administred, for the perfecting in Ireland the Youth of Ireland.

An. Dom.

1551.

Anno Domini 1551. Et Anno Regni V.

C H A P. V.

THE twenty ninth of April Sir James Crofts, a Herefordshire man and one of the Kings Bedchamber, was made Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and immediatly sent into Ireland, and having notice that Sentleger was in Munster, he steared his Course towards Cork, where Sentleger was, and there on the twenty third of May received the Sword of him. About that time a petty King of Ireland, of the Family of the O Murrroughs, was executed for Treason. Hence the Vice-Roy marched against the Rebelling Irish in Ulster, and their Abettors the Scotch Islanders.

From thence, to wit, from the Town of Knockfergus; he sent some of his Forces to the Island Raghlina (by Ptolomy, called Ricina) where they had very ill success, not a few of them being slain by the Scots, and one of his Ships suffering Wrack, he himself being taken Prisoner by the Mac Donells (James and Collus) and their Leader Bagnall, and not set at liberty till their Brother, then a Captive in Dublin, had Freedom granted him of coming home to his own Country; but before he departed Ulster, he accepted the Submission of some petty Kings, and others he drove into the Woods and Boggs, burning and destroying their Country. Being returned to Dublin, a great Complaint was made to him by Matthew (or Ferdorach) Baron of Dungannon against Tyroen the Father, and with that success that the Earl was imprisoned: which so much incensed his Sons, that gathering together what Forces they were able invaded that part of Ulster which belonged to Matthew: but he being strengthened with English Forces, defended his Country against them, till in a pitched Battel two hundred of his party were slain, and he with the rest put to flight.

April the ninth, John Coyn, blind, though otherwise in good health, gave up the Bishoprick of Limerick; to whom, by the Kings appointment, William Casey, succeeded, who (the See of Cashel being vacant) was consecrated by George Archbishop of Dublin, the Bishop of Kildare, Fernes and Leghlin assisting him.

King Edward this year changed the Title of King at Arms from that of Ireland (which formerly was the denomination) to that of Ulster: and Nicholas Narbon was the first King at Arms under the name of Ulster. He was formerly one of the English Heralds, and called Richmond. But he did not hold this place long; for we find that on the twenty fifth of June 1552. Bartholomew Butler performed that Office.

In this year also the Liturgy was read to the People in English; it was printed in Dublin by Humph. Powell, by the Command of the Lord Lieutenant tenant Sentleger and the Council, with Rules annexed concerning the Vestments permitted them to wear at Church, as well the Bishops as the other Clergy. About the same time O Connor of Osaly being detained Prisoner in London endeavoured to make his escape; but was taken, and again cast into Prison. What afterward happened to him shall be told you.

October the twentieth, George Brown obtained a Charter of the King, confirming to him and his Successors the Primacy of all Ireland, which was in his life time, upon Archbishop Dowdalls request, made void by Queen Mary. In the same month Nicholas Comin being very old gave up his Bishopricks of Waterford and Lismore; and was succeeded by Patrick Walsh Dean of Waterford. He was consecrated in the month of August, and retained his Deanery for a time, but his Bishoprick during his life. In this year Rodericus O Donell Bishop of Derry, and formerly, if I mistake not, Dean of Rapho, was buried in the Habit of the Friars Minors, in a Monastery of the same order at Dunagall, and was succeeded by Eugenius Magenise. Neither is Edmond Butler Lord Archbishop of Cashel to be forgotten, who on the third of March died, and was interr'd neer the Archbishops Throne, under a Marble Monument, adorned with his Arms and his Portraiture. After his Death the See was void two years and nine months. In this year also died Maurus O Brien Earl of Thomond, to whom succeeded his Brothers Son, the Baron of Ibracken, who a while after was slain; as will further be declared.

November the eighth, the Lord Lieutenant, fearing lest Tir-Oen would again rebel, commanded him not as yet to begin his Journey for Ulster, and prohibited him going further than the English Pale. He lay under this restraint three months, and at last, giving Hostages, he obtained leave to return to his own Country.

In the same month Archiva Regia were, by Order of the Lord Lieutenant and Council, transferred from Birmingham's Tower in the Castle of Dublin to St. Patricks Church's Library. In this year it was that Mac Coghlan came to Athlone, where (after his Submission) he was received into Favour by the Vice-Roy, and upon some Conditions restored to his former Territories of Delvin.

These transactions hapned at home. But abroad, to wit, at Paris, on the tenth of December in a Meeting of the Jesuits there died Robert Waucop (or Venantius) an Irish man, who though blind from his Childhood, yet was so studious, and made such proficiency in Learning, that he was made Doctor of Divinity in Paris; at length he was made Archbishop of Ardmagh even in the life time of the Incumbent George Dowdall. He was present at the Council of Trent from the first Session in the year 1445. to the eleventh in the year 1547. They say that he was sent Legat à Latere from the Pope into Germany, whence did arise that Proverb, Legatus cæcus ad oculos Germanos, that is, A blind Legat to the seeing Germans. By his means it was that the Jesuits came first into this Kingdom.

The sixteenth of October, the Duke of Sommerfet, who (for two years before was deprived of the Protectorship) was committed to the Tower in London, and on the first of December accused of High Treason, and of contriving the Duke of Northumberlands Death: He was quitted of Treason;

An. Dom.
1552.

Treason; but by the Law which he promulged himself he was condemned, and on the twenty second of January publickly beheaded.

Anno Domini 1552. Et Anno Regni VI.

CHAP. VI.

J Anuary the seventh 1552. (or in the English account 1551.) Donagh O'Brien obtained for himself, and for the Heirs Males of his Body, the Earldom of Thomond, and had it confirmed to him by the Kings Patent; whereas before he was only Earl during his own life, it being not to descend to his Posterity.

April the twenty fifth, Gerald (Son to that Gerald Earl of Kildare, who in the Reign of Hen. the eighth by Act of Parliament was declared Traytor) was received into Favour, and by the Kings Letters was restored to Maynouth, and other his Mannor Houses in Ireland, and two years afterwards by Q. Mary was honoured with the Titles of his Ancestors. The ninth of May the Feuds between Donagh Earl of Thomond and Donald his Uncle (laying claim, by virtue of the Law of Tanistry, to the Dominion of that Country) were for that time appeased by the Lord Lieutenant and many of the Council; but the Succession, as shall appear, about the year 1558. was broke off.

About this time Nicholas Bagnall Knight was made Leader of some Forces against Hugo Mac Murrough. They fought eagerly, not without the damage of both parties; men of chief account slain of Bagnall's party were John Morton and John Bellingham; but a considerable, though uncertain, number of the Irish were slain. Clonmacnois (formerly the Seat of St. Kieran the younger) was by the Souldiers that inhabited Athlone spoiled and robbed, carrying thence what ever was of any value, not sparing so much as the Books that belonged to the Cathedral Church. A while after the Vice-Roy marched into Ulster, and repaired the Castle of Belfast, leaving a strong Garrison there. The Baron of Dungannon endeavoured to joyn his Forces with the Vice-Roys; but had ill luck: For, being not far from the Vice-Roys Army, Shane the Brother suddenly assaulted him by night, broke into his Camp (not expecting an Enemy,) put him to flight, and killed and took many of his party. The Vice-Roy at last, after he had destroyed all about him, returned home.

The King being certified this year, that Mary Queen of Scots (James the fifth's Widow) sent O Connors Son (whose Father was then Prisoner in England) into Ireland, to move the Natives to war against the Lord Lieutenant, commanded Sir Henry Knolles immediately into Ireland, that he might prevent the Vice-Roy Crofts his Voyage into England, which just then he was beginning. But when a while after the Queens endeavours deavours in this enterprize failed, Crofts having obtained the Kings leave, sail'd from Houth on the fourth of December into England, and along with him Andrew Wise Vice-Treasurer. Two days after their departure the Privy Council and Nobility chose, in the Cathedral Church of the Blessed Trinity in Dublin, for Justices, Thomas Cusack Lord Chancellor, and Gerald Aylmer Chief Justice of the Kings Bench, both of them being Knights. For in those days the Order of Knighthood (which I observe by the by) was conferred as well on Gown-men as Sword-men, as at this day it is used as a Reward of Virtue.

About the same time one of the Tir-Oens was committed to the Tower in London, for falsely accusing and spreading slanderous Rumors of the Lord Lieutenant: What afterwards became of him I have not heard. In this year also Ulster was miserably impoverished by the Differences between Tir-Oen and Shane the Son.

In this year there was such scarcity of Corn in Ireland, that a Peck of Wheat (which contains four Bushels of English measure) was sold in Dublin for twenty four Shillings, and a Peck of Malt for eighteen Shillings, a Price considering those times extraordinary: but the following year carried such plenty with it, that a Peck of pure Wheat was sold for five shillings, and a Peck of Meal for two Shillings. What is to be thought of the Lord Viscount St. Albans Conjectures, to wit, that Predictions may be made of the Plenty or Scarcity of Fruit, of Comets, Earth-quakes, Pestilences, and of all Natural and Civil Motions or Innovations in Government, I'll not, but leave others to, determine.

The King this year, at the request of the Council of Ireland, by Proclamation commanded, that the Irish Groats which had too much Brass Alloy should pass only for Two pence in value, which conduced very much to the good of the people.

'Tis said, that Thaddeus O Caroll in those days was created Baron of Ely; but this I do not find recorded; though it be certain, that he was Chief Lord of Ely at that time.

The seventh of July Sir William Brabazon Vice-Treasurer, who was twice Justice of Ireland, died in Ulster; his Body being carried to Dublin, and buried in Trinity Church; but his Heart for England, where in his Ancestors Monument it is said to be interr'd.

This year also died Dermot Mac Domnuil Bishop of Ross: the See being vacant for several years after. But at last Thomas Herlihy a learned man, and educated in Italy; (who was at the Council of Trent, together with Donagh Bishop of Rapho, and Eugenius Bishop of Ardagh) succeeded him.

About this time the King intended to raise a Fort well Garrisoned at Baltimore in the County of Cork, to receive Custom for Licence to fish of strangers, who came to fish in those adjacent Shoars. But this Design was crossed by the Death of the King, which a while afterwards hapned. Concerning the Custom to be taken for Licence given to every Fishing Ship, see the Irish Statute, Anno. 5. Edw. 6. Ch. 4.

An. Dom.

1553.

Anno Domini 1553. Et Anno Regni VII.

C H A P. VII.

ABout this time Feuds and Strife were renewed between Donagh O'Brien Earl of Thomond, and Donell and Tirlagh his Brothers; insomuch that these having collected a Band of Tories, invaded by night Clanrickard, and burned all the Town save the Castle, in which the Earl defended himself; but he could not defend himself long: For about the beginning of April his Brother Donell slew him; yet the Fra-tricide (which is strange) was not punished. Such was the liberty of those times. Cornelius, notwithstanding Donaghs Son by Helen Daughter to Peter Earl of Ormond, succeeded his Father in the Earldom.

About this time also Thadeus Roe O Melaghtlin slew Neil Mac Phelim
(of the same Family) upon his return from Mollengare. He was much lamented, being of great esteem among his Kindred. But his Murtherer was a while after overcame in Battel, and deprived of his Territory by the Baron of Delvin, and the English of Athlone. The affairs of Connaght were also much disturbed by the Difference between Richard de Burgh, and the Sons of Thomas de Burgh. At last they fought, and Richard was taken Prisoner, and an hundred and five of his Men slain. Neither was the Quarrel less between Richard Earl of Clanrickard and John de Burgh: For the Earl, rushing into his Confines, besieged a Castle of his; but Daniel O'Brien coming to his aid, the Earl did not think it safe to fight, and therefore withdrew his Forces.

The seventeenth of March died Catherine Butler Countess of Desmond, and Wife to James Fitz Gerald Earl of Desmond.

The second of February 1553. (or according to the English computation 1552.) Hugh Goodacre Bachelor of Divinity (together with John Bale Bishop of Offory) was consecrated at Dublin in Trinity Church, by George Archbishop of Dublin, Thomas Bishop of Kildare, and Eugenius Bishop of Downe. Goodacre died at Dublin the first of the following May, and Bale about October, of his own accord, left his See, and fled to Ger- many, where he stayed five years, till Elizabeth was raised to the Crown, at which time he returned to England, and there contented himself with a Prebendary not minding again his own See.

This I think also worthy to be recorded, that in this year King Ed- ward was persuaded by Sebastian Cabot, a Venetian and a famous Cosmographer, to send 3 Ships under the Conduct of Sir Hugh Willoughby to find out a short Passage to the East Indies by the Frozen Sea. Willough- by himself under the Latitude of seventy four degrees was cast on a Desert shoar; where, together with all those that were in the same Ship with him, he was frozen to death. But Richard Cancellarius his Lieutenant had had better success; for he found a passage into Russia, before unknown to the English. But the third Ship, being much shattered with Tempests, and separated from the other, suspecting her inability to perform the designed Voyage, turned Sail back for England.

It remains only now that we conclude the Reign of Edward the Sixth, who before his time died at Greenwich, (not without the suspicion of being poisoned,) being sixteen years of Age, and having reigned six years, five months and nine days. I had almost forgot to mention, that there is in Sir Robert Cottons Library at Westminster (where I remember I have seen it) a Diary, written by his own hand, of the most memorable Transactions of his Kingdom in his own Reign; which is writ with so much Judgment above his years; that Posterity might expect extraordinary Performances from him if God would have permitted him longer to live. So wonderful Learning and Knowledge in the Languages in such tender years is much celebrated by Cardan, in his Book De Genituris, in which, lamenting this Princes untimely Death, he concludes, O quam bene dixerat ille.

Immodicis brevis est ætas, & rara senectus.

It cannot be denied, that through his whole Reign Factions of great Men were so prevalent, that they were not only dangerous to themselves, but proved (as it is thought by most and as I before mentioned) mortal to the King. Neither am I to omit, that King Edward, but a little before his Death, being grievously sick, was wrought and prevailed upon by the cunning and deceitful Circumventions of John Dudley Duke of Northumberland, to exclude, by his Will, both his Sisters, Mary and Elizabeth, from their lawful Succession to the Crown, and all others whosoever, save the Duke of Suffolks Daughters: Jane the eldest of which (the rest being already match'd) was then lately married to Gilford Dudley, Northumberlands fourth Son. But this Plot did not raise Jane nor her Husband to the Crown, though it did to the Scaffold: for it being injuriously contrived, had a wicked end; such like designs seldom prospering. The ninth of August the Kings Body was buried at Westminster, near his Grandfather Henry the Seventh, under the Brass Altar gilt with Gold.

T H E
A N N A L S
O F
I R E L A N D
During the REIGN of
QUEEN MARY.

Anno Domini 1553. Et Anno Reginae I.

C H A P. I.

An. Dom.
1553.

The Lords and Justices of Peace of England acquaint the Lords Justices of Ireland with the clashes that hapned by K. Edwards death, betwixt the Lady Jane Grey and Mary K. Edwards Sister, who was proclaimed Queen.

JANE (as we have said before) in King Edwards last Will was declared Heir of the Kingdom; and soon after his death, viz. on the tenth of July, with a great many Peers and Justices, at London was publickly proclaimed Queen. In the mean while Mary for her own security retired into Suffolk, where notwithstanding she took the Name of Queen. While these things were in agitation, the Justices of the Kingdom with their Letters acquainted the Justices of Ireland with those proceedings. Forthwith Jane being brought to Subjection, when bearing the Name of a Queen nine days only; and in like manner, Mary the true Heir being publickly proclaimed Queen at London the nineteenth day of the same month: the second day following the Justices of England sent Letters to the Justices and Privy Council of Ireland, in which they signified that Queen Mary had got the upper hand; together with which they sent an Edict to be published throughout the Kingdom of Ireland, to which the thirteen enquiring persons subscribed;

*Thomas Archbishop of Canterbury,
Thomas Bishop of Ely,
Henry Grey Duke of Suffolk,
Francis Talbot Earl of Shropshire.
John Russell Earl of Bedford, Thomas Lord Darcy.*

Sir

Sir Richard Cotton,
 Sir William Peter,
 Sir John Baker,
 Sir John Mason,
 Sir William Cecil,
 Sir John Cheek,
 Sir Robert Bowes.

An. Reg.

I.

The Justices and Privy Council having received and read these Letters, took care, as it is their custome, to see the Proclamation first published at Dublin, and afterwards in all other chief Cities and Towns, in which it was received with general shouts and acclamations. Moreover Patents soon after, by the Queens Command, were renewed to the Justices and other chief Magistrates.

Mary proclaimed Queen of England, France and Ireland at Dublin, by the Justices of Ireland.

In the month of August, Donagh O Connor and his private Confederates conspired with other Rebels of invading Osaly: but the Relicks of this Rebellion, through the Wisdom of the Justices, were soon scattered.

O Connor conspired against Q. Mary.

In those days there issued a Proclamation, wherein it was lawful for all to hear Mass, yet that none should be compelled; for there was nothing done as yet concerning Religion. In the mean while in England, on the tenth of August, the Funeral Rites of King Edward at Westminster were publickly performed. And on the first of October Queen Mary with great pomp (after the custom of her Ancestors, in the same place) was anointed and crowned in St. Peters Church by Stephen Gardiner Bishop of Winchester. And then Pardons being given to some guilty persons. The like Favour soon after, by the Queens Command, was proclaimed in Ireland.

How Q. Mary begun to bring in Mass in Dublin by degrees.

In the month of September the Justices received word, that O Neale on a sudden rushed into the County of Lowth, and with Fire and Sword destroyed and plundered several Country Villages. The Justices therefore, that in the beginning they might suppress O Neale's haughtiness, having mustered an Army, especially out of the City of Dublin, without any delay marched towards Dundalk, neer which having slain a great many, they routed O Neale.

O Neale's Insurrection against Q. Mary's Government.

On the eleventh of November, the Lord Anthony Sentleger, who by the Queen was made Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, landed at Dalky in the County of Dublin, and from thence coming to Dublin, there, upon the nineteenth of the same month, after having taken the usual Oath in Christchurch, he received the Kings Sword from his Predecessors Cusack and Aylmer. The same month Cormack Mac Coghlan and the Race of O Ferralls begged assistance of Richard Baron of Delvin, against Mac Coghlan Baron of Lower Delvin, the which he granted: and having gathered his Forces, he marched to Delvin; yet there was no memorable exploit done, only that some few Villages were burnt. Yet out of this Expedition there arose so cruel a War betwixt Mac Coghlan and the Race of the Ferralls, that all the Country (I mean Delvin) was almost wasted.

Lord Sentleger landed, and the Sword delivered to him, and how the Country of Delvin became waste.

About the latter end of November, Rowland Baron, otherwise called Fitz Gerald, by the Dean and Chapter of St. Patricks Church of Cashel, by the Queens Command, was elected Archbishop (in stead of Richard Rowland Baron consecrated Archbishop of Cashel.

An. Dom.

1554.

John Thonor consecrated Bishop of Offo-ry.

The Bishop of Ardagh's death and who succeeded.

Magenise made Governour of his own Country.

A Synod called by George Dowdall.

Creagh, that refused that See being offered him by the Queen) and on the following December was consecrated.

At the expiration of that month John Thonor, a native of Kilkenny, Bachelour of Divinity, by the Queens Favour, was elected Bishop of Offory, in the runnagate Bales place, was consecrated at Kilkenny in the Convent of St. Columb of Inistiock.

About the same time Richard Ferall Bishop of Ardagh, that enjoyed the Government of Annaly during his life, died: Patrick Mahon succeeded him in the Bishoprick, in the Government Connor Ferall.

December the sixth, Owen Magenise, by my Lord Lieutenant and Council, was made Governour of his own Country, having first subscribed to certain Articles of his Loyalty towards the Queen. That year being spent Dowdall Primate of Ardmagh called a Provincial Assembly at Droghedagh in St. Peters Church, in which several Decrees were made of receiving the Rites that were formerly in use into the Church again, and some Decrees past against Ecclesiastick Debauches. About the same time, or a little before, Mass begun to be celebrated in all the Churches of Ireland.

In the mean while in England, on the twenty second of August, Northomer, as a disturber of his Country, being impeached of High Treason, was beheaded; and on the twelfth of the following February Gilford the fourth Son of Northomer underwent the same Fate, together with his Wife Jane Grey, who, being brought to the place of Execution, in a speech to the people confessed her Fault, Not she coveted the Kingdom, but that being offered it, she did not refuse it.

This Jane above her Sex and Age was versed in Greek and Latin.

Anno Domini 1554. Et Anno Reginae II.

CHAP. II.

The Title of Primate of all Ireland restored to Dowdall as formerly.

About the beginning of the Spring, (that is, on the twelfth of May) George Dowdall Archbishop of Ardmagh, that lived in exile during King Edward the Sixth's Reign, but is recalled by Queen Mary, anno 1553. and called Primate of all Ireland, which Title before was given by the aforesaid King Edward to George Browne Archbishop of Dublin; and so returned to the Archbishoprick, and to the Title annexed to it, as it were again by stealth. And then the Priorship, commonly called the Priorship of St. John the Baptist of the Hall of God, in the County of Lowth, was given him as a Maintenance, being elected Bishop of Meath.

This Dowdall, and William Walsb Doctor of Divinity, and others were authorized in April to deprive & divest the conjugated Bishops & Priests.

The

The twenty ninth of June (being the day of St. Peter and St. Paul) Edward Stapley Bishop of Meath was put out of Authority by the afore-said persons.

About the latter end of that year, or about the beginning of the subsequent, 'tis dealt in like manner with Browne Archbishop of Dublin, with Lancaster Bishop of Kildare, and with Travers Bishop of Leghlin.

All the other Bishops, except Bale Bishop of Offory, that fled beyond Seas, and Cassey Bishop of Limerick, of whom hereafter, kept their Bishopricks.

The thirteenth of May, Gerald the Son of Gerald Earl of Kildare, whom Edward the Sixth, as we have said before, restored to the chief places of his Estate, was by Queen Mary restored to his former Honour, and in the month of November returned into Ireland, and was received of the people with great joy. The which time Thomas Earl of Ormond landed in Dublin, a hopeful young Man, who in his last Expedition against Wiat in England, shewed manifold tokens of his Courage. Together with Thomas Brien Fitz Patrick returned to his Country, being the eldest Son of the Barony of Upper Offory, whom King Edward the Sixth loved so dearly, that he could scarce be out of his company, he affected him so entirely, and the King was interchangeably loved of Brien, the which their Letters written to and fro (while Brien was in France) do abundantly testifie.

The ninth day of the precedent February, Cahir Mac Art Cavenagh, that was of great esteem among the Leinster Irish, of whom we spoke above, was created, during his Life time, Baron of Balian, which Honour he enjoyed for a short time; for he died before the end of that year. This degree of Honour is esteemed with us among the chief Titles; for the Parliamentary Barons are Peers of the Kingdom, Princes and Justices born, and do enjoy a great many Priviledges and Immunities.

In those days (which is not to be given to oblivion, the Royal Forces in Ireland were by my Lord Lieutenant and Council reduced to six hundred Footmen and four hundred & sixty Horsemen, besides some few Irish Footmen lightly armed, commonly calld Kerns. And although they were commanded by the Queen in her Edicts, that they should reduce the Army to five hundred; yet this was not performed, for several urgent causes conducent to the Peace of the Kingdom. And soon after the Army was augmented, and supplied out of England, for the Suppression of the Hebridian Scots. Of which more hereafter.

And that we might treat something of the English affairs, July the twenty fifth, on St. James's day (the Spanish Patron) the Marriage of Philip the Spanish Prince and Mary Queen of England, at Westminster, were celebrated with great Pomp and Magnificence, and their Titles were written in Latin, French and English, by Garerus Herald at Arms, and so proclaimed; Philip and Mary by the Grace of God King and Queen of England, France, Naples, Jerusalem and Ireland, Defenders of the Faith, Princes of Spain and Sicily, Archdukes of Austria, Dukes of Milan, Burgundy and Brabant, Earls of Hauspurg, Flanders and Tyols.

Hadrian Junius writ a very elegant Nuptial Verse, which was received with great applause. Who would not judge out of this Marriage should

An. Reg.
II.

The Protestant
Bish. of Meath
expulſed.

G. Browne A.B. of Dublin with other Bishops
expulſed.

The Bishop of Offory fled.

The House of Kildare restored to their Honor by Q.
Mary,

The Earl of Ormond's Valour againſt
Wyat.

Charles Mac
Art created a Baron.

How the army were reduced this year in Ireland.

The Celebration of Q. Ma- ry's Marriage.

An. Dom.
1554.

A great quarrel in the House of Thomond, and amongst that Kindred; also other of the Irish Nobles.

Further Broils amongst the Irish Nobles.

Delegates sent from Q. Mary to the Lord Sentleger.

The death of the Bishop of Clonmacnois.

Q. Mary supposed to be with child.

The Spaniard got leave to fish on the Irish coasts.

should be great advantage to both Kingdoms, which notwithstanding soon vanished, being an evident example of the frailty of human affairs.

About this time great Differences rise between Connor O'Brien Earl of Thomond and Daniel his Uncle, who having slain (as we have said before) Donagh, Connors Father, to whom he bore private malice, took on him the Title of O'Brien. But about the end of September, upon certain terms by my Lord Lieutenants and Councils means, they were reconciled. But this infirm Reconciliation broke out again into open Hostility, as it will appear in its place. Soon after Richard Nugent Baron of Delvin marched into Lower Delvin, which they call Mac Coghlan's Country, and wasted it with Fire and Sword, and returned home again with preys and spoils. This year also Cahir O'Carroll Baron of Ely, who slew Teig O'Carroll, was killed by the Sword himself, by one William Odar of the Family of O'Carroll; and soon after his Killer enjoyed the Government. And so one Wickedness is requited by another: For within four years he forfeited the Government.

While these things were in agitation, the Earl of Kildare and Baron of Delvin, at the request of John (Doulenagh) O'Neal the Earl of Tir-Oens Son, went into the North with their Forces against Phelim Roe O'Neal, who was at odds with John. In that expedition there was hardly any remarkable thing done. Truth it is, they drove great preys, and received no small losses, fifty of their Men being slain.

There was a fierce Battel fought soon after betwixt Tir-Oen himself and Hugh, Neal junior's Son, to whom for a long time he bore a private Grudge, touching the Lordship of Claneboy, which he claimed, in which Battel the Earl with great slaughter was routed by Hugh, three hundred of his Men being slain, and a great many taken Prisoners. But of Hugh's party 'tis uncertain how many were lost.

October the twenty ninth, William Fitz Williams and John Allen Knights, landed in Dublin, and were sent by Royal Authority to my Lord Lieutenant as Delegates, to set the Lands that belonged to the Royal Revenues. About this time died Florence Gerawan a Minorite, Bishop of Clanmacnois, Suffragan to the Bishop of Ardmagh. Peter Wale succeeded.

About this time Queen Mary, by the running of Water betwixt her Skin, or, as others will, by a Distemper which Physicians do call Mola, she declared to be with Child by her Husband; but the error was found out the next year, through the assistance of an Irish Doctor, she never feeling any motion of her imaginary Conception. Notwithstanding she never thereafter enjoyed any perfect health.

The same time the Spaniard (as Gerald Malinius has it in his Merchant Law) got leave of Queen Mary, to Fish in the Northern Irish Seas for one and twenty years, and thereby raised the Royal Revenue a thousand pounds yearly in Ireland. But the Records of this time treating of the Kings Revenue being lost, this matter is clearly given to oblivion. This year there was a very sad Winter, especially from the 21. of December to the end of the following Spring, either perpetual Rain, Hail or Tempest. The sixth of March Walter Hussey, Clerk of the Pipe Office in the Exchequer, well known for his long days, died. He lived an hundred and and seven years, having entire Senses of both Body and Mind. Histories are full of such examples of long aged men, who in our own Age lived above a hundred years also in a high degree.

About the end of that year Brien O Connor of Osaly obtained the Favour of the Queen, through the Intercession of his Daughter Margaret, that he should be allowed to returne to Ireland, retaining his annual Pension.

But after his landing, lest he should make new Factions, he was committed to the Castle of Dublin; but from thence he was soon after restored, having given his Heir Roderick and others as Pledges.

While these things in Ireland were in agitation, in the mean while in England, in the month of April, James Crofts Knight, sometime Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, in the Reign of Edward the Sixth, of whom we have made mention before, was impeached of High Treason, for being concious of the Wiatan Plot. But on the eighteenth of January following, through the Benignity of the King and Queen, he was dismissed from the Tower of London, and restored to his Liberty; with a great many other Prisoners, by Stephen Gardiner Bishop of Winchester then Lord Chancellor of England. He was for a long time after that in favour with Queen Elizabeth, to whom he was a Privy Councillor: Besides he was made Governour of Barwick, and Steward of Whitehall.

This year also, in the month of December, Reynold Pole Cardinal came to England, being made Embassador of England and Ireland, by Pope Julius the third.

Notwithstanding he, being kept in England, never visited Ireland, he died the third hour of the ensuing night after the death of Queen Mary, in the year 1558. having lived four years only in England.

Robert Traver, consecrated Bishop of Leghlin, anno 1550. was this year expelled by Authority from Queen Mary, because he was married, George Dowdall giving Order for the said Expulsion. George Dowdall caused a day of Jubile to be observed in all Ireland, for the Restoration of the Romish Religion into these Territories; as appears by an old Register of the Diocess of Rapho.

This year several of the Protestants of England fled over into Ireland, by reason Queen Mary begun to prosecute them for their Religion, viz. John Harvey, Abel Ellis, John Edmonds and Henry Haugh, all Cheshire men, who, bringing over their Goods and Chattels, lived in Dublin, and became Citizens of this City; it not being known wherefore they came hither until Queen Maries death. These Families having one Thomas Jones a Welshman, a Protestant Priest, privately amongst them, who read Service and the Scripture to them upon Sundays and other days secretly; all this not being discovered until Queen Maries death. Then the Lord Fitz Walters Earl of Suffex took him, the said Thomas Jones, for one of his Chaplains, to read to his Servants.

An. Reg.
II.

O Connor of O.
saly restored,
and pledges taken for his fidelity.

Cardinal Pole
Legate of England and Ireland.

Addition.
The Bishop of Leghlin expelled.

Several Protestants fled into Ireland secretly from England for fear of persecution.

Anno

An. Dom.

1555.

Anno Domini 1555. Et Anno Reginae III.

C H A P. III.

St. Patrick's Church restored again as formerly.

Lever succeeded Lancaster in Kildare.

Mutations of Bishops.

Ireland made a Kingdom by the Popes Bull.
How Ireland was a Kingdom before Pope Paul 4th's
Bull, see Ushers
Epistle concerning the anti-ent Irish Religion, p. 95.

THE Cathedral Church of St. Patrick's in Dublin, which the same month that Henry the eighth died, was suppressed, this year, by a Royal Patent, from the twenty fifth of March, was restored, and Thomas Lever made the first Dean of the place.

Afterwards, on the twentieth of the next ensuing May, there were Prebendaries installed in the same place.

This Lever, being a learned man, is afterwards provided for by the Pope, being made Bishop of Kildare, was consecrated before the end of this year, who together with the Bishoprick, by a dispensation kept, the Deanery.

About the same time Thomas Field, or O Fihel, a Minorite, a Munster man, is provided by the Pope with the Bishoprick of Leghlin, and shortly after Terence O Brien, is promoted to the Bishoprick of Clonmacnoise.

The seventh of the Ides of June, the Title of the Kingdom of Ireland is confirmed by a Brief or a Bull of Pope Paul the fourth.

That Ireland was remarkable and well known by the Name of a Kingdom, with general Irish Circuits in the year of our Lord 1541. is a thing most certain, of which we have spoken already.

And although that our Kings used the Titles of Lords of Ireland, and not Kings; notwithstanding from the time of King Henry the Second they exercised all manner of Rites and Offices belonging to supream Kings.

It is well known by the Titles that the Cæsars used, in what veneration the old Romans held the word LORD.

The Gold of Constantine the Great doth testify this, which may be seen with this Inscription; FELICITAS PERPETUA AUGEAT REM DOMINI NOSTRI. Item nummus æreus Magnentii ita inscriptus D. N. MAGNENTIUS P. F. AUC. Atque hoc confirmat Lucani illud Lib. V.

Namque omnes voces, per quas jam tempore tanto Mentimur DOMINIS, hæc prima reperit ætas.

Augustum quidem acerbè increpuisse eos qui ipsum Dominum dixerant, è Tacito discimus. Unde Ovidius de eo, ad Romulum.

Tu Domini nomen, Principis ille tenet.

This Name LORD is not much used in this sence with the English. Roger Hoveden, Matthew Paris and John Brompton, Authors that were not

Henry 2. called King and Lord
of Ireland.

not of the inferior sort, to the year 1171, and 1172. do give the Title of King and Lord of Ireland to our Henry the Second, under whom Ireland is joyned to England. Touching which thing, see moreover what the same Hoveden has in the years 1171, 1185, & 1187. This sacred Appellation, as it is commonly taken, is proper to God alone. But let's return to our business.

July the third, Cusack the Chancellor delivered the Great Seal of Ireland to the Lord Anthony Sentleger then Lord Lieutenant, by the King and Queens Command, who kept it till the seventh of the ensuing August, on which day the Custody of it was given to William Fitz Williams Knight.

Whilst these things were in agitation, the Hebridian Scots attempted to take the Town of Knockfergus; but that attempt being opportunely detected, they were frustrated of their intent.

Brown the Archbishop of Dublin being (as is aforesaid) deprived, Hugh Corren, or Curwine, a Westmorland man, Doctor of the Civil Law, Archdeacon of Oxford and Dean of Hereford, he was consecrated at London in St. Pauls, together with James Turbervil Bishop of Exeter, and William Glinn Bishop of Bangor, on the eighth day of September; and the fifth day following he was by Queen Mary (whose Chaplain he was) made Chancellor of Ireland. The twentieth day of the next ensuing October he came to his own See, and within two days was sworn before the Lord Lieutenant and Council. He held a Provincial Assembly the same year, in which there were many things instituted touching Ecclesiastical Rites.

This same year, the Peace being very weakly made up between Manus O Donell, the Earl of Tir-Conell, and Calaugh his Son, they broke out into open Enmity, in such wise, that Calaugh went over into Scotland, to beg aid from Gilaspeck Mac Allen. In the month of November he entred Tir-Conell with these Forces, and took his Father at Rasfach, that was already weakned, and quite spent with Age, and always kept him in Prison till he ended his days.

Moreover, he took the new Fortress of InisOen, and the Tower of Enagh, and levelled them to the ground: neither did he dismiss the Scots, till about the middle of the subsequent May. In the mean while that these things were a stirring, Hugh the Son of Neal junior, Governor of the Claneboys, a man of great esteem among his own Kindred, in the Skirmish with the Scots, being shot through with a Bullet, he died. September the fifteenth Claneboy was divided, by the Lord Lieutenant and Council, betwixt Phelim O Neal and the Sons of Phelim Bachach.

October the twenty fifth, the Emperor Charles the Fifth (being a Prince of very great Fame) gave up his Interest voluntarily to his Son Philip, the Husband of our Queen Mary, of the Low Countries, at Bruxells in Brabant; and also in the following days, gave up to him all his Hereditary Kingdoms and Titles. Thereafter the Empire being resigned to Electors, he went for Spain, and the Emperor himself went into the Convent of St. Justus; he being only given to his divine Meditations forsook the World. He that is desirous to know any more of him, let him see the History of V. C. Jacobi Augusti Thuani, being the Livius of our Age.

An. Reg.
III.

Chancellor Cusack delivered up the Great Seal.

Knockfergus attempted by the Scots.

Hugh Curwine put in Archbishop Brown's place.

The O Donells quarrel among themselves.

An. Dom.

1555.

How the Lord Deputies Enemies ordered affairs to have him revoked.

Addition.

In those days Sentlegers Adversaries endeavoured by all means to turn him out of all his Dignity, and Favour with the Queen. And seeing that all other devices were succesless, they urged at last, (as Campion has it) that in the Reign of King Edward the Sixth, accommodating himself to the time, he composed certain Rhymes against the Existence of Christs Body in the Eucharist. However it hapned, (whether it be for this cause or for some other) 'tis certain that he was called from Ireland. What became of him afterwards shall be declared in the ensuing year.

George Browne Archbishop of Dublin being expulsed, Queen Mary wrote to the Dean and Chapter of Christchurch in Dublin, to receive Hugh Curwin for their Archbishop, as follows;

To our Trusty and Well beloved the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral of Christchurch in Dublin, within our Realm of Ireland.

MARY Queen.

Queen Maries
Letter to the Dean of Christ- church, to receive Hugh Curwine.

TRusty and Well beloved, We greet you well; and forasmuch as the Right Reverend Father in God our right trusty and well beloved Councillor the Archbishop of Dublin, being lately chosen for that See, repaireth speedily to that our Realm of Ireland, as well to reside upon the Cure of his Bishoprick, which now of long hath been destitute of a Catholick Bishop: as also to occupy the Office of our High Chancellor of that our Realm. Albeit We have good hopes, ye will in things of your selves carry your selves towards him as becometh you: yet to the intent, he might govern the Charge committed unto him, to the Honour of Almighty God, and for the Remain of our Service, We have thought fit to require and charge you, that for your part ye reverently receive him, honour and humbly obey him in all things, as appertaineth to the Duties tending to Gods Glory, Our Honour, and the Common Weal of that our Realm; whereby ye shall please God, and do Vs acceptable Service.

Given under our Signet, at our Mannor of Greenwich, the ffteenth day of September, in the third year of our Reign.

Anno

Anno Domini 1556. Et Anno Reginae IV.

C H A P. IV.

IN the month of March there appeared a Comet in the twentieth degree of Libra, for twelve days together. In the beginning of May the Cavenaghs and others having made up a spoiling and waisting Army, and having rushed into the South part of the County of Dublin, made havock of their Goods. But shortly after, for to stop their progress, the Dublinians besieged them, and routed them, having slain many of them, in such wise, that there were one hundred and forty of them sent into Powerscourt Fortrefe, where the Rebels declared openly, that they would run the last hazard of the Encounter. But by the approach of Sir George Stanley, and of the Marshals Company, and of other aids out of Dublin, they were affrighted, and gave themselves up to their mercy; and on the day of Pentecost, or Whitsunday, they were carried to Dublin, and seventy four of them were hanged, and the rest pardoned.

A little before, on the twenty seventh of April, by Royal Command, Thomas Radcliffe Viscount Fitz Walters, at Westminster, was made Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and on the Feast of Pentecost, or Whitsunday, landed in Dublin. Within two days after, in Christchurch before the great Altar, he took the accustomed Oath (Sentleger giving up his Place.) He brought over with him out of England, amongst others, Henry Sidney Treasurer, and William Fitz Symons Knights, men afterwards of great Authority. Before the Lord Lieutenants departure from Whitehall, the aforesaid William received of the Kings Revenue twenty five thousand pounds, to be delivered to the Treasurer in Ireland, towards the Charge of the Expedition against the Scotch Islanders, that invaded the Northern part of Ulster, and some few Irish Rebels. May the twenty seventh, Dermot Cavenagh was created Baron of Balian during life.

In the beginning of July, the Lord Lieutenant having mustered his Forces, marched directly towards the North, against the Islanders, and on the eighteenth of the same month, in a Battel fought with them, he got the Victory. Of the Scots more than two hundred were slain, a great many taken Prisoners, and the rest put to flight. In this Battel Thomas Earl of Ormond, and Stanley Marshal, behaved themselves manfully. And having decreed something to the advantage of the publick Peace in the City of Knockfergus, and Stanley Marshal left Lieutenant General of Ulster, the Lord Lieutenant returned in safety to the Court of Kilmainam. Afterwards he went to Munster, where he gave Protection to severall, as well English as Irish.

The Cavenaghs and other Irish assault the County of Dublin, but were routed.

Thomas Radcliffe Viscount Fitz Walters made L. Lieutenant, and what men of fame he brought over with him.

This L. Lieutenants preparations against the Rebels.

An. Dom.

1556.

Sentleger examined, and how he answered to the matter alledg'd against him.

A further description of this Sentleger.

Tir-Oens Son's Submission to the Lord Lieutenant.

Other submissions to the L. Lieutenant.

A pretended King Edward or a second Perkin Warbeck sets up for the Crown.

The occasion of O Neals Son and others to submit to the L. Lieutenant.

In the mean while Sentleger was called into England, and there being admitted to defend his own Cause, he answered so exactly to those Crimes that were objected, that there remained some hopes of his being restored to his former Favour. But being prevented by the Drifts of his Adversaries, he withdrew from Court; and he survived for a long time after. He was buried in Kent, where he was born, among his Predecessors, on the twelfth day of March 1559. the fourth day after his Wifes death.

He was a man very well versed in Irish Affairs, and very desirous of pleasing three Princes (Henry, Edward and Mary.) under whom he ruled in Ireland, and was partaker as well of their Proportions, as adverse Fortune. He was a real Image of human Affairs in this world.

September the thirteenth, John O Neal, Tir-Oens Son, having received Letters of Protection, and being doubtful what to do, submitted himself most humbly to my Lord Lieutenant, in the Court of Kilmaynam. How dissemblingly this Submission hath been done, the following times will declare. The end doth prove the Acts. Some grave people thought this use of granting Protections to the Nobles to be very hurtful to the Common Wealth, and that these Protections were sometimes obtained by the Money they got by Stealth and Robbery.

The fourth of October, Roderick and Donagh O Connor submitted themselves to my Lord Lieutenant and Council, at Dingen in Osaly; but not long after, taking Arms again, they suffered for their ingrateful Minds, and after being proclaimed Rebels, were destroyed by the Royal Army. Afterwards Osaly was wasted, and the O Connors expelled. In December many Church Ornaments that were unjustly taken, especially from Dublin and Droghedagh, were restored by the Industry of certain persons that were thought fit and chosen for that purpose.

About the end of the year, John O Madden being killed by Brasfil Dubh O Madden, the Barony of Silanchia was divided betwixt Mac Loghlin Modbar and the Killer.

These things being done at home. In the mean while in England, in the month of March, a certain feigned Edward, a young man eighteen years old, by name William Fetherstone, who for King Edward the Sixth (whose Face and Lineaments he resembled, and his Age agreeing) took his Name; but the following year being thrice whipt through London, he was now also found again guilty of the same Crime, very deservedly he received a fit reward at Tyburn Gallows. The Histories are full of such examples. Let's pass on to the following matters.

This year the Irish hearing of the Magnificence and Courage of this new Lord Lieutenant, and how Gracious he was at Court, and how John Challoner Mayor of the City of Dublin (together with the Sheriffs and Citizens of this City) had offered their Service to assist his Lordship against the Rebels, they were dashed; and so upon these Preparations several of them submitted unto Her Majesties Powers here authorized: For this Mayor having a Ship this Summer arrived from Spain, brought over several Pieces of Ordnance, an hundred and fifty Fire Arms, with which he armed the Citizens for the Queens Service. The Lord Lieutenant would have Knighted John Challoner; but he replied, No, my Lord, it will be more to my Credit and my Posterities, to have it said, that monly called St. Munchin's, now the Parochial, but heretofore the Cathedral, founded by St. Munchin, first Bp. of Limerick, and rebuilt by the Danes. Of this let others enquire. But who this Munchin was, is no small question. Some think him to be that Manchenus whom Jocelin calls A Religious Man, and well read in the Scriptures, and whom he affirms St. Patrick set over the People of Amalgaid, King of Conaght, then newly converted to the faith. Some tho' with less probability, confound him with that Manchenus whom the Ulster Annals call Abbot of Mene-drochit, who they say died in the year 651 or 652. The memory of the death of this Manchenus is design'd under the name of Manicheus the wise Irish Man, in the Books de Mirabilibus Scripturæ, by some falsely ascrib'd to St. Augustin. The Name doth not much disagree, and the time agrees well. The Festival of St. Munchin of Limerick is on the first of January. After Munchin, the most famous among the Bishops of this See, was Gille or Gilbert the Popes Legate in Ireland, of whom we have a little book extant de Statu Ecclesiæ, writ about the year 1130. But I return to the Cathedral of Limerick, to which about the beginning of the 13th. Century, Donagh O Brian Bishop of the place, was a great Benefactor. Among other things, he assign'd Prebends to the Dean and Chapter, and made some Constitutions concerning the Liturgy of this Church, and the Privileges of the Canons. And he it was likewise (if I mistake not) who erected the Deanery and Chapter. And as he was illustrious by birth, so was he more by his Prudence, Liberality and Learning. King John imploy'd him much in his affairs in Ireland, and he discharg'd the trust reposed in him with so much care and fidelity, that he wrought himself greatly into the King's favour. The number of the Prebends was afterward augmented by Hubert de Burgo Bishop of Limerick, who died 14 Septemb. 1250. His next successor Robert de Imelac appropriated to the Deanrey, the Ecclesiastick Benefices of Carnarthy and Rathsiward, as I find in the Register of the Church of Limerick. About the beginning of the 12th. Century, the Churches of Limerick and Cathay, or of the Island Gatha, were united. The City it self, the fairest of all Munster, is now commonly called Limerick, but heretofore Lumniacum, and in Irish Lumneach, from whence the Bishops of the place were called Lumnicenses and Lumniani. To this belongs the Charter granted by the foresaid Donald. About the year 1194, to Briticus Bishop of Limerick, Domnald King of Lumneach to all the faithful of God, both present and to come, Greeting, Know all, that I have given to Briticus Bishop of Lumneach and his Successors, and to the Clergy of St. Marys of Lumneach, in free and perpetual Alms the land of Imurgran and the land of Ivamnacham, from the Arch of Imurgran to the land of Imalin, and from the ford of Ceinu, to the River Sinan, with all its Appurtenances: And in Confirmation hereof I set my Seal, Witness Mathew Arch-Bishop of Cashel, and Ruadri ua Gradei. The greatest part of the City is surrounded by the Shenon in a divided stream, the chief River of Ireland, by Ptolomy called Senus, of which Alexander Nechamus,

Cap. 59.

Vide lib. 2.
cap. 4. Tom. 3. operum S. Augustin.

*Fluminibus magnis letatur Hibernia, Sineus,
Inter Connatiam Momoniamque fluit:
Transit per muros Limerici, Knock-Patric illum Oceani clausum sub ditione videt.*

The City is defended with a Castle fortify'd with great Guns, and a strong Wall, especially where it is not defended by the River. Some interpret Lumneach a place bare by the feeding of horses. How true I know not.

Trinity Church in Waterford.

The Danes of Waterford having embraced Christianity, thought fit to have a Bishop in their City, and therefore made choice of one Malchus, an honest man, some time a Benedictine Monk of Winchester in England, and sent him to receive his Consecration from Anselm Arch-Bishop of Canterbury in the year 1096. A Copy of the Letters writ in his behalf is extant in Eadmerus. Malchus after his Consecration returning to Waterford, the Danes and he together built this Cathedral. It was afterward indowed by King John, about the beginning of the 13th Century, at which time likewise (I think) the Church of Waterford had its first Dean. The Possessions of the Dean and Canons particularly express'd, were confirm'd by Pope Innocent III. as we find in his Epistles Published by Franc. Bosquetus in 1635. The Choir was arch'd by Nicholas Comin Bishop, and Robert Lombard Dean, in 1522. The Dean and Chapter of this Church in the year 1463, obtain'd from King Edw. IV for the Augmentation of divine worship there (are the words of the Charter) a power of purchasing lands to the Value of 100. Marks per ann. Hitherto of the Cathedral, which as it owes its original to the Danes, so the City of Waterford it self, situate on the South side of the most noble River Suire, is deservedly to be esteem'd the most eminent in Ireland, for Wealth and Trade, and the Conveniency of the Harbour. The Original of the name is exotick, and denotes a passage of a River by the Irish it is called Portlargi.

The Church of S. Carthag in Lismore.

S. Carthag commonly called Mochudu, born in Munster, was at first Abbot of the famous Abby of Ratheny, where he govern'd 40 years, and being driven from thence by King Blathmac, he was made the first Bishop of Lismore. He built the Cathedral there, and a famous School, where many of old, profess'd the true Philosophy. He died after many testimonys of his sanctity, 14 May 638. and was buried in his Church at Lismore, which signifies a great Inclosure. The School of Lismore was for a time govern'd by St. Catald, afterward Bishop of Tarentum in Italy, and men flock'd thither in great numbers from far and near, says Barthol. Moron in his life, and the same we find likewise in the office of Catald. But from hence we may collect, that Catald flourished not in the year 170, as Moron says, nor in the beginning of the sixth Century, as Alexander ab Alexandria

Alexandro and Anthonius Caracciolus think, but about the middle of the seventh, after St. Carthag founder of the School of Lismore. This opinion is confirm'd by the multitude of believers in Ireland, mention'd by Moron, in the age of Catald, which cannot refer to the second Century; for Ireland then and long after was over-spread with Heathenism. But this by the way. The Cathedral was rebuilt by Cormac (Son of Murch) King of Munster about the year 1130. The Vicars Chorals were first instituted and indow'd by Griffin Christopher Bishop of Lismore about the year 1230. Of the time of the Erection of the Dean and Chapter I find nothing certain. This Church had a most choice book of her Rights and the Donations of her Benefactors, compos'd by Thomas Purjel Bishop of Lismore and Waterford in the year 1487. But to the great loss of the Church, that book was burnt about the year 1612. These two Sees of Lismore and Waterford were really united by Pope Innocent VI, in the year 1363. The first Bishop of both Sees after the Union, was one Thomas, who of a Canon of Lismore was made Bishop of Lismore in 1358. And Roger Cradock Bishop of Waterford being translated to the See of Landaff in Wales in the year 1362. obtain'd not long after an Union of both Sees from Pope Innocent VI. Of the antient fame of the City of Lismore, hear an antient writer of the life of St. Carthagus, Lefmor (says he) is a renowned and holy City, half whereof is a Sanctuary, where no woman dare enter, but is full of Cells, and holy Monasterys, and a great multitude of holy men dwell there, and many religious men not only from Ireland, but from England and Britain come thither, desiring there to go to Christ. And the City it self is situate upon the banks of a River once called Nem, but now Aban more, that is the great River, in the Country of Nan-Desi. This River Ptolomy calls Daurona, Nechamus Avenmor. Of which thus he.

Urbem Lismor pertransit flumen Avenmor,

Ardmor. Vernis ubi concitus equor adit.

It is now among the English called Broad Water, and in some places Black Water: Ardmor it self so call'd from its elevated situation was heretofore an Episcopal See, Constituted by St. Declan first Bishop of the place, in the very Infancy of the Irish Church, but after the Coming of the English into Ireland, United to the See of Lismor.

The Church of St. Barr or Finbar in Cork.

Next is Cork, where St. Barr or Finbar, or Bar the white, called also Lochan, born in Gonaught, was first Bishop. He founded the Cathedral there in the beginning of the 7th. Century, and having sat 17 years, or as others, but 7, at Cloin about 15 Miles from Cork, he died a quiet death, surrounded with his Friends, 7 Kal. Octob. but what year is not certain. His body was convey'd to Cork and there honourably buried in his Church: and his bones, I know not how long after, were put into a silver chest. That Epistle of the Ceremonys of Baptism, ascrib'd to Alcuinus, was his, if we believe Dempster. In the Cemetery is a steeple which some think was a work of the Danes of Cork, and used by them at first for a Watch-tower. Among the chief Benefactors of that Church are reckoned Gilla Edo
O Mu

O Mugin Bishop of Cork, who died very old, in 1173, and his next Successors Gregory and Regina'd. In these parts in the time of Pto- lomy, the Coriondi inhabited, and some footsteps of their name seem to remain in the word Cork, which was heretofore called Great Cork, unless we may rather derive it from the Irish word Cofcac, which signifys a Fennish place. We are to note that the antient Irish chang'd the Letter C into an Aspiration in the end of a word, and some time in the beginning.

The Church of St. Colman in Cloin.

That Colman, Son of Lenin, a Disciple of St. Finbarr, a learned and pious man, was Founder and first Bishop of Cloin. Mention is made of the Building of it in the life of St. Brendan, Abbot of Clonfert, in these words: This Colman, Son of Lenin, was for Learning and a good Life, chief among the Saints. He Founded the Church of Cloin, which is at this day the Cathedral, and famous in those parts of Munster. He flourish'd in the 6th Century, and died in the year 604. This See being vacant by the death of Adam Pay or Py, in the year 1430, Pope Martin V gave it to Jordan, Chancellor of Limerick; and this Jordan not long after, namely, after the death of Milo, Bishop of Cork, obtain'd a real Union of both Sees. Clon signifies in Irish a hiding place. This See in the antient Roman Provincial called Cluain-vanian, and by the Irish Historians Cluain-vama, is situate in the County of Cork, not far from the Vergivian Sea. The interpretation of the latter part of the word, viz. Vama, I leave to others. Of the Antient Records of this See, there is now none remaining (that I know) but the Roll called Colman's Pipe, began in the year 1364, in the time of John Swaffam then Bishop of Cloin, afterward of Bangor in Wales.

The Church of St. Fachnan in Ros, or Ros-ailithri.

St. Fachnan a wise and honest man (as the writer of the life of St. Mo-coemog calls him) flourished in the beginning of the 6th. Century. Of him and his Abby and the noble School of Ros, we have already spoken, but when the Cathedral was there erected, or who was the first Bishop doth not appear. Yet I cannot but think that Fachnan was the first Bishop and Founder; for in an antient Martyrology, at the 14 of Aug. his Festival, I find him expressly called Bishop. Of the antient libertys of this See, the Sea Wrecks, &c. See the Inquisition in the Records of the Court of the King's-Bench in Dublin, an. 29 Edw. I. m. 21, in the Case of Laurence Bishop of Ros. Ros signifys a Green Plain, and Ailithri a Pilgrimage, that place being heretofore frequented with such.

The Church of St. Flannan in Killaloe.

Killaloe, situate on the Western Bank of the River Shenon (not far from the Fall) has its name from the Abbot St. Molua, who some time lived there, about the end of the 6th Century. But his Disciple St. Flannan, Son of King Theodorick, was the first Bishop of this See, and Consecrated at Rome by John IV. While he sat, his Father that John Challoner served his Queen upon occasion, than that Sir John did it. This was one of the Cities Memorials; given to Sir James Ware by Sir Nathaniel Catline, sometime Recorder of this City of Dublin.

Theodo-

An. Reg.
V.

Anno Domini 1557. Et Anno Reginae V.

CHAP. V.

ABout the beginning of the year Hugh Lees, aliàs Lacy, Canon of the Church of Limerick, at the Request of Queen Mary, is made Bishop of Limerick by Pope Paul the Fourth, (Casy being put out of Authority) and is restored to all the Temporalities of the See, having taken this Oath, as is to be seen in the Royal Rolls. I Hugh, elected and consecrated Bishop of Limerick, do declare my self to have and to hold all the temporal Possessions of the said Bishoprick from your Hands, and from your Successors the Kings of England, as by the right of your Crown to the Kingdom of Ireland; and that I will be faithful to you, and to your Successors the Kings of England. So help me God, and Gods holy Gospels. Shortly after, Roger Skiddy Dean (if I be not mistaken) of Limerick was consecrated Bishop of Cork. About the same time also William O Carol (of whom we spake before) by Royal Patent was made Governor of the Carols Ely, that is to say, after he had subscribed to certain Conditions, viz. to fight for the King and Queen of England, and for their Successors, and to send the Queen a certain number of Horse and Foot on any necessary Expedition or Voyage. But the Fruit of this Power was mighty brief, as will appear in the next year.

A new Bishop of Limerick.

June the first, the Parliament (which we call the chief Assembly of the Kingdom) by the King and Queens Authority was kept at Dublin, under Thomas the Earl of Suffex his Father, in which Parliament by Law it was established, that the Queen was legitimately begotten, and all Laws and Sentences published to the contrary were disannulled, and also all Decrees made against her from the twenty eighth year of King Henry the eighth were abrogated.

A Parliament assembled, and what passed in this Assembly.

And in the same Parliament it was also decreed, that the First Fruits and the Twentieth Parts of the Churches concerns, given in the year 1536. to the Kings advancement, should be restored again to the Church. A Subsidy was after granted. The which Taxes are never imposed, without the Consent of both Houses in Parliament, Then also Leixe and Ofaly, with other neighbouring Baronys, to wit, Slew marg, Irry and Glenmalery, were confiscated to the King; and besides Power was given to the Lord Lieutenant, of planting Colonies in the Baronies. A new Fort was also erected in Leixe, which under Edward the Sixth obtain'd the 1557.

An. Dom.

The Parliament prorogued, the Lord Lieutenant makes ready against O Madden, for protecting O Connor.

The Earl of Ormond joyns with the Earl of Suffex.

the name of Protector, and afterwards called Mary-Borough; and another Fort in Osaly, before called Dingen, afterwards Philipstown. Then also Leixe Slewmargin, Irry, and that part of Glenmallary that lies by the River Io, joyning to Mary-Borough, in Honour to the Queen, was called the Queens County; and Osaly, which is another part of the Glenmallery, in Honour to the King, was called the Kings County. And also the Lord Chancellor of Ireland was impowered of establishing the Law against Murther, Robbery, &c. likewise Commissions under the Broad Seal were given to fit persons (to be named by the Lord Lieutenant) for measuring and reducing all the Territories into Counties. Also (which I had almost forgotten) for the constant Incurfions of the Scotch Pyrates into the North, there was a Law made, that the coming of any armed Scots into Ireland, or the Reception of them should be High Treason; and also that any Intermarriage with the Scots, without my Lord Lieutenants assent, in Ireland should be Felony, for so they call all capital Crimes, except Treason.

In the month of July, the Parliament being prorogued, the Lord Lieutenant marched against O Madden, because he protected Donagh O Connor a declared Rebel, and besieged his Castle Melick, upon the Bank of the River Shannon; the Garrison being amazed at the shooting of the great Guns, forsook the Castle, and betook themselves to their heels. The Castle being taken, and a Garrison left in it, the Lord Lieutenant returned to Dublin.

August the tenth, the Lord Lieutenant having mustered his Forces (being accompanied with the Earls of Kildare and Ormond, Viscount Baltin-glass, the Barons of Delvin, Dunboyn and Dunsany) marched from the Hall of Kilmainam (being the Lord Lieutenants place of Retire) towards the North, against James Mac Donell a Scot. There he drove away Preys, the Scots every where shunning the Battel, and hiding themselves in the Woods. He received also several into Protection, and among them Donald Mac Donell, whom he created Knight of the Garter, and adorned with a Golden and Silver gilded Spurs; also Richard Mac Guillin, whom the Scots banished from house and home, neither did he return till the expiration of six Weeks in this expedition.

In the mean while these things were passing in the North, the Victory that King Philip obtained of the French King, at St. Quintins in Picardy, was received with great applause by my Lord Lieutenant, the Peers, and all the Army, and the Hymn Te Deum was solemnly sung.

In the month of October, the Lord Lieutenant undertook another Journey into the North, where he wasted the Rebels Lands, as far as Ardmagh; yet he touched not the Chathedral Church, nor any of its Ornaments.

In these days, the Lord Lieutenant, being concerned for his Queen in England, that he might leave the Kingdom more peaceable, he caused some suspected persons to swear Allegiance, and give Pledges, to wit, O Carroll, O Mulloy, Mac Geoghegan, O Doyn, Mac Coghlan, and the two O Maddens (Brasil and Mac Laghlin) and Phelim, called Dubher, that is Black, from the colour of his Hair, and commanded those Pledges that were given to be detained in custody.

The nineteenth of September, by a publick Edict in England, that those Pence, called the Rose Pence, coyned under King Henry the Eighth and Edward the Sixth (for they were mixt with Brasse) should be currant no where but in Ireland only.

December the fourth, the Lord Lieutenant was recalled from Ireland, who, together with his Lady, went to Houth, seven miles from Dublin, and from thence into England. Upon this Transportation of my Lord Lieutenant, and his delay in England, after the first day of the ensuing March the Parliament, that was adjourned at Droghedagh, was dissolved. The second day after my Lord Lieutenants departure, Curwine Chancellor, and Sidney Treasurer of the Army were made Justices, after they had taken the Oath in Dublin, at Christchurch, before the great Altar, having first heard Mass, they received the Royal Sword from Stanley the Marshal (with whom Suffex had left the Sword to be delivered to them.) They enjoyed the Place till the sixth of February, on which day Sidney, by the Queens Command, alone was constituted Justice, and received the Sword in the same Church, after the accustomed manner. And soon afterwards, he directed his Colours against Arthur O Mulloy Lord of Fercally, who harboured Rebels, and begun new Factions; and a great part of that Country being burned and plundered, he conferred the Lordship on Theobald Mulloy, Arthurs Brother, who gave his Son as a Pledge, that he should be faithful to the Queen. Afterwards he supplied the Garrisons of Leix and Osaly with Victuals, out of the Pension which is called Ceas, collected to that end in the Country called the English Pale. This year it was also publickly proclaimed, that no Victuals should be carried out of the English District, to any other possessed by the Irish. About the same time Maurice Cavenagh and Conall O Moore, as stubborn Rebels, were sentenced to death, and likewise executed at Leghlin Bridge.

In the mean while that these things were in agitation in Leinster, John O Neal with great Forces entred Tir-Conell, in the North, which he intended to bring into his Subjection; but Calvagh O Donell, instructing his own people, and fearing to run the hazard of Battel, used such an Expedition, that by night, without any resistance, he broke into the Enemies Camp, who suspecting no danger, as if they were safe from hostile Incursions, were so unprepared, that when they saw themselves assaulted by the Enemy, without making the least resistance, they immediately fled, and among the rest John himself, being a great Example of overthrown Ambition. In this conflict a great many were slain, and not a few taken Prisoners, but the number of them is uncertain.

During the Reign of Queen Mary, as is manifest by the Royall Rolls, several Monastries remained as Lay Fee Farms. But about the end of this year Cardinal Pole, the Popes immediate Legate, came to King Philip and Queen Mary, and upon their request, as he had power, gave the former possessors the Priorship of St. Johns of Jerusalem, commonly called Kilmainam, Mr. Oswald Messingberd being made Prior of it. This Institution was confirmed by the Queens Patent on the eighth day of the ensuing month. But Messingberd in the year 1559. being the first year of Queen Elizabeths Reign, fled over Seas, where at length he died.

An. Reg.
V.

An Order that the Mixt. Coyns of H. 8. and E. 6. should go no where but in Ireland currant. The L. Lieutenant recalled.

Curwine and Sidney made Lords Justices.

Sidney alone made Lord Justice.

John O Neal's entrance into the North.

Several of the Monastries that were in Fee Farm were now restored by Cardinal Poles means.

An. Dom.
1558.

died. And the Priorship it self, before the expiration of a year, by Law, in a Parliament held at Dublin before the Earl of Suffex, was again suppressed, and the whole disposing of it was left to the Crown. This year being spent, in a Provincial Assembly held at Droghedagh, by Dowdall Archbishop of Ardmagh, power of working was given to Tillers of the Ground, and other Labourers, upon several Festival days specified in the Assembly.

Anne of Clive
died,

In the mean while, on the fifteenth of July, Anne of Clive died at Chelsey in England, sometime Wife to Henry the Eighth, but rejected for (I know not what) feminine Weakness, in the year 1540. for which slander she was so much ashamed, that she lead a single life for many years in England, and could not endure to return to her own Country. She is buried at Westminster, on the South side of the Church, on the third of the following August.

This year the Irish in Ulster were up in Arms, which caused the Lord Deputy to go in person, to fight those Irish then in Rebellion; for his further Aid, he (according to the usual custom) took the Mayor of Dublin with him, who was attended with a Troop of Horse and a Foot Company of the Citizens of Dublin, containing in number two hundred and twenty men in Arms, besides fourscore Archers, with Bows and Arrows, who attended on Jo. Demsy the Sheriff. The Mayor of Droghedagh met the Lord Deputy, and so made great expedition into that Province, where the Ultaghs fled, and several of them were slain.

Anno Domini 1558. Et Anno Regine VI.

CHAP. VI.

The Earl of Suffex's return
into Ireland.

APril the twenty seventh, Thomas Earl of Suffex Lord Lieutenant returned out of England into Dublin, with five hundred armed Souldiers, as well for the suppressing of the Rebels, as also of the Roberies and Pyracies of the Islanders.

The first of May, on the Sabbath day, he received the Sword again, and the Badges of Government. Two days before his landing, O Rely Lord of Breny, in the Priory of Kilmainam, exhibited himself very humbly to Justice Sidney, and he shewed due Fidelity to the King and Queen, and afterwards he subscribed to certain conditions demanded at that time.

Copper Mony coyned.

In those very days they caused Brass Mony to be coyned, and that through necessity, and to be received as current and lawful, towards the Maintenance of the War in Ireland.

Suffex takes his Progress thro Leinster.

In the month of June, Suffex with all his Forces marched through Limerick, towards Thomond, against Donald O'Brien, Uncle to Cahir the Earl of Thomond, who begun a new Rebellion. There he drove the Rebels Rébels every where to the Woods and Groves, and restored to the Ear the Castles and Possessions, which Donald unjustly usurped.

Before his return, he went to Gallway, where he was received by the Mayor and Citizens with wonderful great joy, and especially by the Clergy, the Archbishop of Tuam, Bishop of Clonsfert, the Bishop of Clanmacnois, being present in their Robes with a great Procession. On the Ides of August in the evening, a Comet appeared under the Seven Stars, its Tail bent towards Spain, which by degrees declining towards the East, (as Thuanus observes) upon the Nones of September it vanished.

September the fifteenth, Suffex with his Forces, as well those that were brought out of England, as those that came out of the City of Dublin, and other neighbouring places, taking shipping at Dalk, sailed unto the Isle Raghlín, against the Scots, having left Sir Henry Sidney Knight, who within three days took the Oath. In that while that my Lord Lieutenant was a landing, one of his Vessels by force of the Tempest was split near the shoar, whereby some of the Citizens of Dublin were swallowed up by the Waves, and perished. However the Lord Lieutenant himself with the rest landed, and having killed those that resisted, they wasted the Island. And leading his Forces from thence to Cantire, there he made a vast destruction. So he did at Arran and Comber. It was his resolution to make a violent assault into the Island: yet a great Tempest arising, he was forced to turn back; and soon after he landed and Knockfergus. Before his return out of the North, he plundered and burned several Villages inhabited by the Scots.

These and several other things being done conducive to the Peace in them parts, he returned safe to Dublin the eighth of November, and two days afterwards in Christchurch he took the accustomed Oath. Afterwards going into the Council Chamber (which was then adjacent to the Churh) there he delivered to Curwine the Chancellor, before the Privy Council, the new Broad Seal of Ireland, sent out of England. The same time the Chief Justices of both Benches received new Seals, and so did the Chief Baron of the Exchequer. Afterwards the first Seals, as it is the custom, were soon broken. In the mean while the Islanders were called out of the North, into Connaght, by some Families of the Bourks, as an assistance against Richard Earl of Clanrickard; but they were routed with great slaughter by him in a Battel. About this time John O Neale the Son of Con Earl of Tir-Oen, being a publick terrour to his Country, being netled that himself was despised by his Fathers means, and that his Brother Matthew, being a Bastard, was created Baron of Dungannon and Heir to the Country, he was incensed against Matthew, that he put him out of the way; and having violated the bonds of Nature, he so afflicted his Father, that he being an old man died with Grief, being a manifest token of the falseness of Fortune. John being examined by Justice Sidney about this matter, and other Tyrannies that he exercised against the inferior Irish Barons in the North, he answered, that he was the Son and Heir of Con and Alice his Wife, and that Matthew was the Son of a Smith in Dundalk, born after his Fathers Marriage with his Mother Alice; and that he claimed his Fathers Estate justly, and that the Surrender which his Father made to King Henry the Eighth, and the Restoration which the King made to his Father again, were of no force, that his

An. Greg.
VI.

Sir Henry Sidney left Deputy whilst Suffex pursued the Scots into Scotland, into the Isle of Raghlín.

Suffex landed at Knockfergus, and after came to Dublin.

A new Broad Seal for Ireland, and new Seals for the Judges Courts.

An. Dom.

1558.

The Death of
George Dowdall
Primate of Ardmagh.

The Death of the Earl of Desmond.

Queen Maries
Death.

his Father had no right to the Lands that he surrendred to the King, but during his own life; and that he himself in the County by the Law of Tanistry, and by a popular Election, was created O Neal, and that he assumed to himself no Superiority over the Peers of the North, but what was used by his Ancestors. Yet he obtained that Government but few years; for in the year 1567. in his own Tent he was stabbed by the Islanders, in vindication of their Cousins that he killed. And this was his Reward, who by Lust, Drunkenness, and Cruelty purchased the ill will of many.

In the mean while in England, August the fifteenth, George Dowdall the Archbishop of Ardmagh died at London, whither he went about some affairs of his Church. That man, in the Reign of Edward the Sixth being banished, for a while lived over Seas with the Abbot of Centre in Brabant; but understanding Edwards Death, and Maries Succession, he came into England, and from thence (as is said before) he returned into Ireland, where he received his Archbishoprick again by way of Restitution. In Ireland, a little after, to wit, the fourteenth of October, died James Fitz Gerald Earl of Desmond, High Treasurer of Ireland, at Asketine, with the people of Limerick, having left behind him Gerald his Son and Heir, and that was the last Earl of this Family. Of whose unhappy end, after he violated and betrayed his Princes Trust, he that hath a mind to know, let him look for it in the Histories of the ensuing times. In him the Family of Desmond suffered wreck just as on a Rock, and their vast Estate to the Crown for High Treason is confiscated.

About the same time, William Odar O Carroll Baron of Ely was overcome in a Skirmish that he had with the English, and made his escape by the lightness of his heels. Afterwards Teig O Carroll is put in his place by my Lord Lieutenant and Council.

November the seventeenth, Q Mary died at St. James's neer Westminster, in the forty second year of her Age, and the sixth year of her Reign, by Grief (as is reported) as well for the loss of Calice in France, as also for the absence of her Husband, and the Death of her Father in Law the Emperor Charles the fifth, that died in Spain the twenty first of September, on St. Matthews day, after having forsaken and given up his Kingdom and Empire for to lead a private life, a rare example among the Cæsars. The said Queen Mary is buried at Westminster, on the North side of the great and Royal Chappel of King Henry the Seventh. And so I conclude the times of Queen Mary.

Elizabeth, the other Daughter of Henry the Eighth, succeeded; a Woman of a manly Mind and Prudence (as Thuanus saith) above her Sex, who some hours after her Sisters death, by the Peers of the Realm, (that perhaps were then gathered together in Parliament) was proclaimed Queen, and ruled the Kingdom afterwards for forty five years.

The End of the Reign of Queen MARY.

The ANNALS of IRELAND, to the end of Queen Mary, and beginning with the Reign of King Henry the Seventh, was by my Father (Sir James Ware Knight) published in Latin, in his life time, all which ANNALS I have here faithfully translated and published in English, for the benefit of such as do not understand the Latin tongue, and for the publick too; for that the said Book is out of Print, and not easily to be obtained. And because it may not be said, any thing is published under the Name of Sir James Ware which is not his, care has been taken that nothing should be mix'd with or added to any of the said ANNALS, other than what is obvious, by [Addition] being set in the Margine to such Additions. And therefore I have here added [The Life and Death of George Browne sometime Lord Archbishop of Dublin, and one of the first of the Clergy of Ireland that adhered to the Reformation of the Protestant Church of England;] although it belongs to (and might well have been added in) the two last Reigns, viz. Edward the Sixth and Queen Mary, as to series of time; yet for the reasons before-mentioned I here add it. And this being published by me in three Sheets about two years since, I have inserted it as then was published; although there may be a Letter or two therein, which was published in the ANNALS; yet I have not omitted them here, they relating particularly to his Life.

The Reformation of the Church of Ireland, in the Life and Death of George Browne sometime Archbishop of Dublin, being the first of the Romish Clergy that adhered, here in Ireland, to the Reformation of the Protestant Church of England; being then reformed within this Realm of Ireland. Anno 1551.

George Browne, by Birth an Englishman, and of the Order of St. Augustine in London, who by space of time became Provincial of the Fryars of the same Order in England, being a man of a meek and peaceable Spirit, upon the sad accident that befell John Allen his Predecessor, who had been Archbishop of Dublin, a Description of whom may at large be read not only in the Chronicle called The Second

George Browne his first Function, and when he was consecrated Archbishop of Dublin.

*Vid. Jo. Ware de Præsulibus Hiberniæ, pag.
119.*

Primate Usher
his description of this George Browne.

Addition to Giralduſ Cambrenſis of Ireland, but alſo in Sir James Ware's Book titled De Præſulibus Hiberniæ, pag 118, & 119. to whom we refer the Reader, where he may find that this George was preferred to the Archiepiſcopal See of Dublin by King Henry the Eighth, and conſecrated before his arrival into Ireland, by Thomas Archbiſhop of Canterbury, two other Biſhops aſſiſting him, viz. John then Biſhop of Rocheſter and Nicholas then Biſhop of ſariſbury, on the 19th of March, Anno 1535. Styl. Angl.

The Reverend James Uſher late Primate of Ardmagh, amongſt his Memorials of Ireland, gives this holy Father this Deſcription; George Browne a man of a cheerful Countenance, in his Acts and Deeds plain down right, to the Poor merciful and compaſſionate, pitying the ſtate and condition of the Souls of the people, adviſing them, when he was Provincial of the Auguſtine Order in England, to make their applications ſolely to Chriſt, which Advice coming to the ears of Henry the Eighth, he became a Favourite, who upon the deceaſe of John Allen late Archbiſhop of Dublin became his Succeſſor; within five years after that he had enjoyed that See, he (much about the time that King Henry the Eighth began to demolish the Priories, Abbies and Monaſtries formerly built by the Romiſh Clergy within theſe His Majeſties Dominions of England and Ireland) cauſed all Superſtitious Reliques and Images to be removed out of the two Cathedrals in Dublin, and out of the reſt of the Churches within his Dioceſs, he cauſed the Ten Commandments, the Lords Prayer and the Creed to be placed, being gilded and in Frames about the Altar in the Cathedral of Chriſtchurch in Dublin, he was the firſt that turned from the Romiſh Religion of the Clergy here in Ireland, to embrace the Reformation of the Church of England; for which Fact he was by Queen Mary laid aſide, and his Temporality taken from him, yet he patiently endured Affliction for the Truth to the end.

Upon the Reformation of King Henry the Eighth in England, and at his Renouncing the Papal Power or Supremacy of Rome, his Chief the Lord Thomas Cromwell, then Lord Privy Seal, wrote unto George Browne then Archbiſhop of Dublin, ſignifying from His Highneſs the King, (then terming the King by that Title,) he was fallen abſolutely from Rome in Spiritual matters within his Dominion of England, and how it was his Royal Will and Pleaſure to have his Subjects there in Ireland to obey his Commands as in England, nominating the ſaid George Browne Archbiſhop one of his Commiſſioners for the Execution thereof, who in a ſhort ſpace of time wrote to the Lord Privy Seal, as follows:

My moſt Honour'd Lord,

Your moſt humble Servant receiving your Mandate, as one of His Highneſs's Commiſſioners, hath endeavour'd almoſt to the danger and hazard of this temporal Life, to procure the Nobility and Gentry of this Nation to due Obedience, in owning of His Highneſs their Supream Head as well Spiritual as Temporal, and do find much oppugning therein, eſpecially by my Brother Ardmagh, who hath been the main oppugner; and ſo hath withdrawn moſt of his Suffragans and Clergy within his See and Jurisdiction; he made a Speech to them, laying a Curſe on the people whoſoever ſhould own His Highneſs's Supremacy; ſaying, that this Iſle, as it is in their Irish

George Cromer
then Archbiſhop of Ardmagh againſt the Supremacy of K. H. 8.

Chronicles,

Chronicles, Insula sacra, belongs to none but to the Bishop of Rome, and that it was the Bishop of Romes Predecessors gave it to the Kings Ancestors. There be two Messengers by the Priests of Ardmagh, and by that Archbishop, now lately sent to the Bishop of Rome. Your Lordship may inform His Highness, that it is convenient to call a Parliament in this Nation, to pass the Supremacy by Act; for they do not much matter His Highness's Commission which your Lordship sent us over. This Island hath been for a long time held in Ignorance by the Romish Orders; and as for their Secular Orders, they be in a manner as ignorant as the people, being not able to say Mass, or pronounce the Words, they not knowing what they themselves say in the Roman Tongue: the Common people of this Isle are more zealous in their Blindness than the Saints and Martyrs were in the Truth at the beginning of the Gospel. I send to you my very good Lord these things, that your Lordship and His Highness may consult what is to be done. It is feared O Neal will be ordered by the Bishop of Rome to oppose your Lordships Order from the Kings Highness; for the Natives are much in Numbers within his Powers. I do pray the Lord Christ to defend your Lordship from your Enemies. Dublin 4. Kalend. Septembris, 1535.

George Browne desires a Parliament to be in Ireland to confirm the Kings Supremacy.

George Brown's complaint of the Irish Clergys Ignorance. The zeal of the Commonalty of Ireland.

O Neal of the Irish Papists a great Stickler for the Pope against the King.

The year following a Parliament was called in Ireland, the Lord Leonard Grey being then King Henry's Vice-Roy of that Nation, in which George Browne, then being not many Months above a Year in his Archiepiscopal Chair in Dublin, stood up and made this short Speech following:

My Lords and Gentry of this His Majesties Realm of Ireland.

BEhold, your Obedience to your King is the Observing of your God and Saviour Christ; for He, that High Priest of our Souls, paid Tribute to Cesar (though no Christian;) greater Honour then surely is due to your Prince His Highness the King, and a Christian one: Rome and her Bishops in the Fathers days acknowledged Emperors, Kings and Princes to be Supream over their Dominions, nay Christs own Vicars: And it is much to the Bishop of Romes shame, to deny what their precedent Bishops owned; therefore His Highness claims but what he can justifie: The Bishop Euthe-rius gave to St. Lucius the first Christian King of the Britains; so that I shall without scrupling vote His Highness King Henry my Supream over Ecclesiastick matters as well as Temporal, and Head thereof, even of both Isles England and Ireland, and that without Guilt of Conscience or Sin to God; and he who will not pass this Act, as I do, is no true Subject to His Highness.

G. Browne the Archbishop of Dublin his Speech.

This Speech of George Browne startled the other Bishops and Lords so, that at last through great difficulty it passed, upon which Speech Justice Brabazon seconded him, as appears by his Letter to the Lord Thomas Cromwell then Lord Privy Seal of England, which original is in that famous Library of Sir Robert Cotton, out of which Sir James Ware, that learned Antiquary, transcribed the same.

Justice Brabazon seconded George Browne.

Within few years after that the Act of Supremacy had past in Ireland, we do find by a Letter written by George Browne to the Lord Cromwell,

Cromwell,

Cromwell, complaining of the Clergy, and how they fell off from what had past, and how the Bishop of Rome and Ireland had contrived matters against the then Reformation: Collected by Sir James Ware, out of an old Registry sometime in the custody of Adam Loftus, Hugh Curwins Successor, and also Archbishop of Dublin.

Geo. Browne his complaint to the Lord Privy Seal of the unsteadfastness of the then Irish Clergy.

Right Honourable and my singular good Lord,
I Acknowledge my bounden Duty to your Lordships Good will to me, next to my Saviour Christs, for the Place I now possess; I pray God give me his Grace to execute the same to his Glory and His Highness's Honour, with your Lordships Instructions. The people of this Nation be zealous, yet blind and unknowing; most of the Clergy, as your Lordship hath had from me before, being ignorant, and not able to speak right words in the Mass or Liturgie, as being not skilled in the Latin Grammar; so that a Bird may be taught to speak with as much sense as several of them do in this Country. These sorts, though not Scholars, yet crafty to cozen the poor common people, and to dissuade them from following His Highness's Orders: George my Brother of Ardmagh doth underhand occasion Quarrels, and is not active to execute His Highness's Orders in his Diocess.

His complaint of Images and Reliques.

I have observed your Lordships Letter of Commission, and do find several of my Pupils leave me for so doing. I will not put others in their Livings till I do know your Lordships Pleasure; for it is meet I acquaint you first. The Romish Reliques and Images of both my Cathedrals in Dublin, of the Holy Trinity and of St. Patricks, took off the common people from the true Worship, but the Prior and the Dean find them so sweet for their Gain, that they heed not my Words: therefore send in your Lordships next to me an Order more full, and a Chide to them and their Canons, that they might be removed. Let the Order be, that the Chief Governours may assist me in it. The Prior and Dean have written to Rome to be encouraged, and if it be not hindred before they have a Mandate from the Bishop of Rome, the people will be bold, and then tugg long before His Highness can submit them to His Graces Orders. The Country Folk here much hate your Lordship, and despitefully call you in their Irish Tongue the Blacksmiths Son.

His complaint of the Prior of the Holy Trinity and Dean of St. Patricks in Dublin, and how the Irish hate the Lord Privy Seal.

The Duke of Norfolk and the Irish combine together.

The Duke of Norfolk is by Ardmagh and that Clergy desired to assist them not to suffer His Highness to alter Church Rules here in Ireland; as a Friend I desire your Lordship to look to your Noble Person; for Rome hath a great kindness for that Duke (for it is so talked here,) and will reward him and his Children. Rome hath great Favours for this Nation, purposely to oppose His Highness; and so have got, since the Act passed, great Indulgences for Rebellion, therefore my hopes is lost; yet my Zeal is to do according to your Lordships Orders. God keep your Lordship from your Enemies here and in England. Dublin the third Kalends of April. 1538.

Romes Indulgence to rebel in Ireland.

To the Lord Privy Seal
 his Honourable good Lordships
 Ex Antographo.

Tour Lordships at Commandment,

George Browne.

Soon

Soon after this Letter had been written, News came to the Castle of Dublin, that the Bishop of Rome had sent over a Bull of Excommunication of all those who had or shall own the Kings Supremacy within the Irish Nation; which caused the Archbishop to write accordingly.

A Bull from Rome, excommunicating those who own'd the Kings Supremacy.

Right Honourable,

M^T Duty premised, it may please your Lordship to be advertised, sithence my last there has come to Ardmagh and his Clergy a private Commission from the Bishop of Rome, prohibiting His Gracious Highness's people here in this Nation to own his Royal Supremacy, and joyning a Curse to all them and theirs who shall not within forty days confess to their Confessors, (after the publishing of it to them) that they have done amiss in so doing: the substance, as our Secretary hath translated the same into English, is thus.

I A. B. from this present hour forward in the presence of the holy Trinity of the Blessed Virgin Mother of God, of Saint Peter, of the holy Apostles, Archangels, Angels, Saints, and of all the holy Host of Heaven, shall and will be always obedient to the holy See of St. Peter of Rome, and to my holy Lord the Pope of Rome and his Successors, in all things as well spiritual as temporal, not consenting in the least that his Holiness shall lose the least Title or Dignity belonging to the Papacy of our Mother Church of Rome, or to the Regality of St. Peter.

The form of their Confession to their Popish Priest;

I do vow and swear to maintain, help and assist the just Laws, Liberties and Rights of the Mother Church of Rome.

I do likewise promise to confer, defend and promote, if not personally, yet willingly, as in ability able, either by Advice, Skill, Estate, Mony or otherwise, the Church of Rome and her Laws against all whatsoever resisting the same.

I further vow to oppugn all Hereticks, either in making or setting forth Edicts or Commands contrary to the Mother Church of Rome, and in case any such to be moved or composed, to resist it to the uttermost of my power, with the first convenience and opportunity I can possible.

I count and value all Acts made or to be made by Heretical Powers of no force or worth, or to be practised or obeyed obeyed by my self, or by any other Son of the Mother Church of Rome.

I do further declare him or her, Father or Mother, Brother or Sister, Son or Daughter, Husband or Wife, Uncle or Aunt, Nephew or Neece, Kinsman or Kinswoman, Master or Mistress and all others, nearest or dearest Relations, Friend or Acquaintance whatsoever accursed, that either do or shall hold for the time to come, any Ecclesiastical or Civil, above the Authority of the Mother Church, or that do or shall obey, for the time to come, any of her the Mother Churches Opposers or Enemies, or contrary to the same, of which I have here sworn unto: so God, the Blessed Virgin, St. Peter, St. Paul, and the holy Evangelists help; &c.

The condition of Ireland in An. 1538. how the Natives begged foreign powers against King Henry.

His Highness's Vice-Roy of this Nation is of little or no Power with the old Natives, therefore your Lordship will expect of me no more than I am able: This Nation is poor in Wealth, and not sufficient now at present to oppose them: It is observed, that ever since His Highness's Ancestors had this Nation in possession, the old Natives have been craving Foreign Powers to assist and rule them; and now both English Race and Irish begin to oppose your Lordships Orders, and do lay aside their National old Quarrels, which I fear, if any thing will cause a Foreigner to invade this Nation, that will: I pray God I may be a false Prophet, yet your good Lordship must pardon mine opinion, for I write it to your Lordship as a Warning.

Dublin May 1538.

Your humble and true Servant

To the Lord Privy Seal with speed.

GEORGE BROWNE.

A Letter found in a Friars Pocket.

Upon the Feast of St. John Baptist following the said George Browne seized on one Thady O Birne, one of the Order of St. Francis, who had Papers from Rome, as follows, being sent to the Lord Privy Seal by a special Messenger:

The Bishop of Metz's Letter to stir up O Neal.

My Son O Neal,

THou and thy Fathers were all along faithful to the Mother Church of Rome, His Holiness Paul now Pope, and the Council of the holy Fathers there, have lately found out a Prophecy, there remaining, of one St. Lasserianus an Irish Bishop of Cashell; wherein he saith, That the Mother Church of Rome falleth when in Ireland the Catholick Faith is overcome: Therefore for the Glory of the Mother Church, the Honour of Saint Peter, and your own Secureness, suppress Hereſie and his Holiness's Enemies; for when the Roman Faith there perisheth, the See of Rome falleth also: therefore the Council of Cardinals have thought fit to encourage your Country of Ireland, (as a sacred Island) being certified, whilst the Mother Church

Church hath a Son of worth as your self, and of those that shall succour you, and join therein, that she will never fall, but have more or less a holding in Britain, in spite of Fate. Thus having obeyed the order of the most sacred Council we recommend your Princely Person to the Holy Trinity of the Blessed Virgin, of St. Peter, St. Paul, and of all the heavenly Host of Heaven. Amen.

As much as to say, England not safe whilst Popery is admitted in Ireland.

Romæ 4 Kalend.
May 1538.

Episcopus Metensis.

Upon further Examinations and searches made, this Thady O Birne Was pillar'd, and confined a Prisoner until His Highness's further Order for his Tryal; but News coming over that he must be hanged, he made himself away in the Castle of Dublin, on the Eve of the Feast of St. James; yet his dead Corps was carried to the Gallows Green and hanged up, and after there buried: but it was said by the Register of St. Francis Monastery of Dublin, that they brought him from thence and buried him in that Monastery.

The Frier his punishment, and how he died before his execution.

George Browne having enjoyed the See of Dublin Seven years or thereabouts, King Henry the Eighth, upon the dissolution of the Abbeyes, Priories and Monasteries here in Ireland, changed the Priory of the Blessed Trinity of Dublin into a Deanery and Chapters, since which Mutation, it hath generally bore the name of Christchurch.

Anno 1541. K. Hen. 8. turneth the Priory of the Blessed Trinity into a Deanery.

Upon this alteration, as it appears upon Record, this Cathedral consisted of a Dean and Chapters, a Chanter, a Treasurer, six Vicars, Chorals, and two Singing Boys, allowing to them 45*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* English, (durante bene placito) which Sum his Daughter Queen Mary confirmed for ever, having confirmed the Deanery, yet with Alterations, as she was a Romanist.

The alterations upon this mutation of K. H. 8. vid. James Ware de Antiquitatibus et de Præful. Hibern.

This Cathedral continued after this said form (though not in Popery) even until King James his days, who then altered all what King Henry and his Daughter had done, and upon this second Alteration he constituted a Dean, a Chanter, a Chancellor, a Treasurer, three Prebends, six Vicars, Chorals, and four Singing Boys, ordering likewise that the Archdeacon of Dublin should have a Place in the Quire, and a Vote in the Chapters. As for a further Description of this Cathedral, we shall omit it; having reserved the same for a large Narrative of the said Cathedral, in a Book which is ready for the Press, entituled, The Antiquities of the City of Dublin, which wanteth only the Liberality of Lovers of Antiquities and Learning to contribute to the Cuts which are intended for the same.

What alterations K. James made in this Cathedral.

King Henry the Eighth deceasing, and his hopeful Offspring King Edward the Sixth succeeding within a short space after his Royal Fathers Death, that hopeful Prince (by the Advice of his Privy Council) began to consider what good Effects the Translation of the Holy Bible had done, also how much it had enlightned the Understanding of his Subjects, they altered the Liturgy Book from what King Henry had formerly printed and established, causing the same to be printed in English, commanding the same to be read and sung in the several Cathedrals and Parish Churches of England, for the common benefit of the Nobility,

When the Liturgy of the Church of England was first read in Dublin.

Gentry and Commonalty; and that his Subjects of Ireland might likewise participate of the same sweetness, he sent over Orders to his Vice-Roy Sir Anthony St. Leger, then being Lord Deputy of that Nation, that the same be forthwith there in Ireland observed within their several Bishopricks, Cathedrals and Parish Churches; which was first observed in Christ Church at Dublin, on the Feast of Easter 1551. before the said Sir Anthony, George Browne, and before the Mayor and Bayliffs of Dublin, John Lockwood being then Dean of the said Cathedral.

The Translation of the Copy of the Order for the Liturgie of the Church of England to be read in Ireland runs as follows.

EDWARD by the Grace of God, &c.

K. Edwards Order for the Liturgy of the Church of England to be read in Ireland

WHEREAS our Gracious Father, King Henry the 8th. of happy memory, taking into consideration the Bondage and heavy Yoak that his true and faithful Subjects sustained under the Jurisdiction of the Bishop of Rome, as also the Ignorance the Commonalty were in, how several fabulous Stories and lying Wonders misled our Subjects in both our Realms of England and Ireland, grasping thereby the means thereof into their hands, also dispensing with the Sins of our Nations by their Indulgences and Pardons for Gain, purposely to cherish all evil Vices, as Robberies, Rebellions, Thefts, Whoredoms, Blasphemy, Idolatry, &c. He, our Gracious Father King Henry of happy memory, hereupon dissolved all Priories, Monastries, Abbies, and other pretended Religious Houses, as being but Nurseries for Vice and Luxury, more than for sacred Learning: He therefore, that it might more plainly appear to the World, that those Orders had kept the light of the Gospel from his People, he thought it most fit and convenient for the Preservation of their Souls and Bodies, that the Holy Scriptures should be Translated, Printed and placed in all Parish Churches within his Dominions for his Faithful Subjects to encrease their Knowledge of God and of our Saviour Jesus Christ. We therefore, for the general Benefit of our well-beloved Subjects Understandings, when ever assembled or met together in the said several Parish Churches, either to pray or to hear Prayers read, that they may the better join therein, in Unity, Hearts and Voice, have caused the Liturgy and Prayers of the Church

Church to be translated into our Mother Tongue of this Realm of England, according to the Assembly of Divines lately met within the same for that purpose. We therefore Will and Command, as also Authorise you Sir Anthony St. Leger Knight, our Vice-Roy of that our Kingdom of Ireland, to give special notice to all our Clergy, as well Archbishops, Bishops, Deans, Archdeacons, as other our Secular Parish Priests within that our said Kingdom of Ireland, to perfect, execute, and obey this our Royal Will and Pleasure accordingly.

Given at our Mannor of Greenwich the 6th. of February in the Fifth Year of our Reign,

E. R.

To our trusty & well-beloved Sir Anth. St. Leger Knt.
our Chief Governour of our Kingdom of Ireland.

Several Collections from Anthony Martin, formerly Bishop of Meath.

BEfore Proclamations were issued out, Sir Anthony St. Leger, upon his Order, called an Assembly of the Archbishops and Bishops, together with other of the then Clergy of Ireland, in which Assembly he signified unto them as well His Majesties Order aforefaid, as also the Opinions of those Bishops and Clergy of England, who had adhered unto the Order, saying, that it was His Majesties Will and Pleasure, consenting unto their serious Considerations and Opinions, then acted and agreed on in England as to Ecclesiastical matters, that the same be in Ireland so likewise celebrated and performed.

Sir Anthony St. Leger having spoken to this effect, George Dowdall, who succeeded George Cromer in the Primacy of Ardmagh, stood up, who (through his Romish Zeal to the Pope) laboured with all his power and force to oppose the Liturgy of the Church, that it might not be read or sung in the Church; saying, then shall every illiterate Fellow read Service (or Mass) as he in those days termed the word Service.

To this Saying of the Archbishops, Sir Anthony replied, No, your Grace is mistaken, for we have too many illiterate Priests amongst us already, who neither can pronounce the Latine, nor know what it means, no more than the Common people that hear them; but when the people hear the Liturgy in English, they and the Priest will then understand what they pray for.

Upon this Reply, George Dowdall bad Sir Anthony beware of the Clergies Curse.

An Assembly called on this Order of King Edwards.

Sir Anthony St. Leger his Arguments with Geo. Dowdall, Armanus.

Sir Anthony his Reply to Geo. Dowdall.

Geo. Dowdall to Sir Anthony.

Sir Anthony to
George Dowdall

Sir Anthony made answer, I fear no strange Curse, so long as I have the Blessing of that Church which I believe to be the true one.

George Dowdall's
Reply.

The Archbishop again said, Can there be a truer Church than the Church of St. Peter, the Mother Church of Rome.

Sir Anthony's Return.

Sir Anthony returned this answer, I thought we had been all of the Church of Christ; for he calls all true Believers in him his Church, and himself the Head thereof.

George Dowdall

The Archbishop replied, and is not St. Peters the Church of Christ.

Sir Anthony.

Sir Anthony returned this Answer, St. Peter was a Member of Christs Church, but the Church was not St. Peters, neither was St. Peter, but Christ the Head thereof.

George Dowdall
leaves the Assembly.

Then George Dowdall the Primate of Ardmagh rose up, and several of the Suffragan Bishops under his Jurisdiction, saving only Edward Staples then Bishop of Meath, who tarried with the rest of the Clergy then assembled, on the Kalends of March according to the old stile, 1551. but if we reason as from the Annunciation of our Lady, which was the 25th. of March, it was 1550.

George Browne
his Speech upon King Edw.
Order.

Sir Anthony then took up the Order, and held it forth to George Browne Archbishop of Dublin, who (standing up) received it, saying; This Order, good Brethren, is from our gracious King, and from the rest of our Brethren, the Fathers and Clergy of England, who have consulted herein, and compared the Holy Scriptures with what they have done; unto whom I submit, as Jesus did to Cæsar, in all things just and lawful, making no question why or wherefore, as We own Him our true and lawful King.

Geo. Browne's
Speech wrought on several of the Irish Bishops and Clergy to adhere to Protestantism. Vid.
Plur'a cum Ja-Warao in Prasul. Hib.

After this several of the meeker or most moderate of the Bishops and Clergy of Ireland cohered with George Browne the Archbishop of Dublin, amongst whom Edward Staples Bishop of Meath, who was put out from his Bishoprick, for so doing, in Queen Mary's days, on the twenty ninth of June 1554. John Bale, who on the second of February 1552. was Consecrated Bishop of Offory for his Fidelity, and afterwards by Queen Mary expelled. Also Thomas Lancaster Bishop of Kildare, who was at the same time put from his Bishoprick, with several others of the Clergy, being all expelled upon Queen Mary's coming to the Crown.

Sir Anthony recalled, and Sir James Crofts made Lord
Deputy of Ireland.

When these passages had passed, Sir Anthony was in a short time after recalled for England, and Sir James Crofts of Herefordshire Knight, placed Chief in his stead; who began his Government from the twenty ninth of April 1551,

George Dowdall
deprived of the Title of Primacy of all Ireland, and
Geo. Browne, though Archbishop of Dublin enjoying that Title.

Sir James Crofts, upon his coming over, endeavoured much for the perswading of George Dowdall to adhere to the Order aforesaid; but Dowdall being obstinate, his Majesty and the Learned Privy Council then of England, (for his perverseness) upon the twentieth of October following, took away the Title of Primate of all Ireland from him, and conferred the same on George Browne then Archbishop of Dublin, and to his Successors, by reason that he was the first of the Irish Bishops who embraced the Order for Establishing of the English Liturgy and Reformation in Ireland; which place he enjoyed during the remainder of King Edward's Reign; and for a certain time after; as you shall know further in its due course and place.

Alterations following one after another, (even upon this Reformation of the Church of England) and the Title of Primacy being disposed of, as we have already mentioned, unto George Browne aforesaid; some Writers saying that George Dowdall was banished, others that he was not, but went voluntary of his own will; yet, not to dispute the case, another Archbishop was consecrated in lieu of him, though then living; by which it was then held lawful: as also that constituting of Archbishops and Bishops was in the power of Kings, and not in the power of Popes, or of the Bishop of Rome, which would be much to the Abasement of the Powers of the Crown of England ever to resign, or to acknowledge to the contrary.

Hugh Goodacre Bachelour of Divinity was consecrated Archbishop of Ardmagh by the said George Browne, together with John Bale Bishop of Offory, (already mentioned) in Christchurch in Dublin, on the second of February, Anno 1552. Thomas Bishop of Kildare and Eugenius Bishop of Down and Connor assisting him; yet notwithstanding Hugh Goodacres Consecration, George Browne then held the Title of Primacy of all Ireland.

This Reformation and Alteration having not time to settle, or to take root, it was soon quashed and pulled down, by that lamentable loss of that hopeful Prince King Edward the Sixth, who died at Greenwich the sixth of June, 1553.

Upon King Edwards Decease, the Council having met to consult together upon the affairs of these Dominions, as also how they might confirm and establish what they had already ordered and enacted, as well in Ecclesiastical matters as Temporal, a Division soon sprung up, some being for the Choice of the Lady Jane Grey, others for Queen Mary, at last upon conclusion Mary the Kings Sister was voted Queen, upon the Proposals and Promises which she made to the Council, to confirm all that had been perfected by her Father King Henry the Eighth, and her Brother King Edward and his Honoured Council.

After she was crowned and enthroned, she for the space of three or four months seemed moderate to the Protestant Reformers, yet all that while combining with Rome and her Emiffaries; but having accomplished her designs, she revoked her fair Promises, (which with Papists is a Rule) esteeming it no sin to break Contracts or Covenants with Heretics and Protestants, numbred with such sort of people, especially with Papists, these promises vanished; and then began the Romish Church not only to undo what King Henry and his Son King Edward had reformed, but to prosecute the Reformers and Reformed with Fire and Faggot.

But to our purpose, upon the eleventh of November anno 1553. she recalled Sir James Crofts, and sent over Sir Anthony St. Leger Lord Deputy into Ireland. This Sir Anthony had not been half a year Chief Governour of Ireland, before Queen Mary revoked the Title of Primacy from George Browne, expulsiug Hugh Goodacre out of the Archbishoprick of Ardmagh, and recalling George Dowdall to his See, and restoring him to the Primacy of all Ireland, as formerly, which Title hath ever since stood firm in Ardmagh, without any Revocation, either by Queen Elizabeth, or by any of her Successors.

A president shewing how it lies in Kings to expulse and to constitute Archbishops or Bishops.

Hugh Goodacre consecrated Archbishop of Ardmagh, though George Dowdall was living.

K. Edwards Death alters what hath been done before.

The Lady Jane Grey and Q. Mary contend for the Crown.

Q. Mary recalls what K. Hen. and K. E. had done.

Sir James Crofts recalled and G. Dowdall restored.

George Browne
by George Dowdall expulsed.

George Browne, upon this Revocation, was by George Dowdall expulsed, and not thought fit to continue in his See of Dublin, as being a married man, and it is thought, had he not been married he had been expulsed, having appeared so much for the Reformation, in both these former Kings days, upon the expulsing of this George Browne, all the Temporalities belonging to the Archbishoprick were disposed of unto Thomas Lockwood then Dean of Christchurch in Dublin. It having been an antient Custom ever upon the Translation or Death of any of those Archbishops, to deposite the Temporalities into the hands of the Priors formerly of that Cathedral, when it was a Priory, and called by the name of the Cathedral of the Blessed Trinity. And it is observable, the last Prior became the first Dean upon the alteration as aforesaid.

Hugh Curwine succeeded G.
Browne in the Archbishop-
rick of Dublin.

The See of Dublin after this Expulsion lay vacant for two years or thereabouts, until Hugh Corrin, alias Curwine, was placed therein: This Hugh was born in Westmorland, a Doctor of the Law, being formerly Archdeacon of Oxford and Dean of Hereford, he was consecrated Archbishop of Dublin in the Cathedral of St. Pauls in London on the eighth of September, Anno 1555. He after, upon the thirteenth of the same Month, was by Queen Mary made Chancellor of Ireland, and upon the twenty fifth of the said September, he received this Letter from the Queen, directed to Thomas Lockwood the Dean of Christchurch, it being an antient custom formerly to recommend the Archbishop, whensoever constituted for that See, to the Prior of that said Cathedral.

Queen Maries Letter to the Dean and Chapter of Christchurch in Dublin, to receive the Archbishop of Dublin honourably, and with due respect.
Copia vera, ex Libro nigro Sanctæ Trinitatis Dublinii.

MARY Queen.

TRusty and Well beloved, We greet you well; and forasmuch as the Right Reverend Father in God our right trusty and well beloved Councillor the Archbishop of Dublin, being lately chosen for that See, repaireth speedily to that our Realm of Ireland, as well to reside upon the Cure of his Bishoprick, which now of long hath been destitute of a Catholic Bishop: as also to occupy the Office of our High Chancellor of that our Realm. Albeit We have good hopes, ye will in things of your selves carry your selves towards him as becometh you: yet to the intent, he might govern the Charge committed unto him, to the Honour of Almighty God, and for the Remain of our Service, We have thought fit to require and charge you, that for your part ye reverently receive him, honour and humbly obey him in all things, as appertaineth to the Duties tending to Gods Glory, Our Honour, and the Common Weal of that our Realm; whereby ye shall please God, and do Us acceptable Service.

Given under our Signet, at our Mannor of Greenwich, the twenty fifth day of September, in the third year of our Reign.

To our trusty and well beloved the Dean and Chapter of the Chathedral of Christchurch within our Realm of Ireland.

I have

I have here inserted this Letter upon two accounts, first as being a Record remaining in the Cathedral; secondly, because there hath been some discourse of late, whether the Archbishop of Dublin had power herein, or whether it was upon King Henries Mutation made a Deanery, as Whitehall Chappel is, and no Cathedral, but by this Letter it shews it is both still a Cathedral, and subject to the Archbishop of Dublin.

George Browne lived not long after the Consecration of this Hugh Curwine, yet I have amongst my Manuscripts a Writing of a Papist, who would fain have persuaded the world, that this George Browne dyed through Joy, having had a Bull from the Pope to be restored to his See of Dublin, which must needs be false, upon this account of Sir James Wares, who writeth these very words of him in his Book titled De Praesulibus Hiberniae, pag. 120. 1554. Circa id tempus Georgius Brownus (quod conjugatus esset) per Dowdallum Archiepiscopum Armachanum & alios Delegatos ex Authoritatus est: otherwise the Pope, if he had granted such a Bull, must likewise have dispensed with his Marriage, it being contrary to the Romish Tenents for Bishops to marry. Having related thus much of George Browne, and of Ecclesiastical matters during his life, we shall proceed a little further concerning a short Sermon of his, preached unto the people in Christchurch, upon the first Sunday after Easter, anno 1551. being a Copy of the same given to Sir James Ware Knight, by Anthony Martin late Bishop of Meath, who formerly was Tutor to the said Sir James Ware, when he was a Student in Trinity Colledge Dublin.

This decides the Controversie between the Dean and the Archbishop lately set on foot.

Geo. Browne's Death, and a Popish aspersi- on wiped off.

The TEXT, Psal. 119. Ver. 18.

Open mine eyes that I may see the wonders of thy Law.

THE Wonders of the Lord have for a long been time hid from the Children of Men, which hath hapned by Rome's not permitting the common people to read the holy Scriptures, for to prevent you, that you might not know the comfort of your Salvation, but to depend wholly on the Church of Rome, they will not permit it to be in any tongue but in the Latin; saying, that Latin was the Roman tongue: But the wonderful God inspired the holy Apostles with the knowledge of all Languages, that they might teach all people in their proper Tongue and Language, which caused our wise King Henry, before his death, to have the holy Scriptures transcribed into the English Tongue, for the good of his Subjects that their eyes may be opened to behold the wondrous things out of the Law of the Lord. But there are false Prophets at this instant, Let the Reader consider the old manner of Preaching, and compare it to these days. Geo. Browne sheweth how Rome hath absconded the truth of the holy Gospel from the people.

How Rome will have false Teachers to delude us. This Prophecy is fulfilled by the Sectaries that are now in the Church amongst us.

instant, and will be to the end of the World, that shall deceive you with false Doctrines, expounding this Text, or that purposely to confound your understandings, and to lead you captive into a Wilderness of Confusion, whom you shall take as your Friends, but they shall be your greatest Enemies; speaking against the Tenents of Rome, and yet be set on by Rome; these shall be a rigid people full of Fury and Envy.

K. Henry 8. his providence to provide for his Son Edw. before his death.

But to prevent these things that are to come, observe Christ and his Apostles; Let all things be done with decency, with mildness, and in order, fervently crying unto God, Open thou mine Eyes, that I may behold the wondrous things out of thy Law, then should ye rightly keep the Law and the Prophets. It is the part of a Prince to be Wise, for he hath a great Charge to Rule and Govern a Nation: Your late King foreseeing Rome and her Pope's intentions, how that he intended to enslave his Subjects, and to keep them in the state of Ignorance, consulted with the Learned of his Realm, knowing that Youth might quickly be wrought on, therefore he prepared before his death a Wise and Learned sort of Counsellors for his Sons Overseers, not trusting to one or two, but to several, that he might the better Rule his people, whose Eyes the Lord God Almighty hath opened betimes to behold his wondrous works.

By the word Eyes, is meant our Understanding.

Though the words of my Text be plainly thus (Open thou mine eyes) the meanest of you that hear me have Eyes, but the true meaning of the words is, Endue us with Understanding; For a Fool hath Eyes, and sees Men, Women, Beasts, Birds, and other things, but yet wants Understanding: So when we say, Open thou our eyes, we desire the Lord God to instruct and teach us the knowledge of his Laws.

How the Papists Eyes be blinded in worshipping Images,

When you were lately led in blindness, your Eyes beheld the Images that then stood in several of the Monasteries and Churches until they were removed; yet all this while were your Understandings blinded, because ye believed in them, and placed your trust in them.

Suppose

Suppose an Artist or Workman make an Image either of Man or Woman, and at last a Clergy-man of Rome give it such a name, calling it St. Peter, or St. Paul, or St. Mary, or St. Anne; must not that man, though he behold his own handy-work, and knows in his heart that it was his own work, be blind, and void of reason and understanding of the Law of God, and of the wondrous things that are contained in the Law of the Lord; Yes, surely he must be blind, and void of Reason, and of the true Faith, that would worship the same.

The Workman carved the Eyes, but these Eyes see not; he likewise carved the Ears. but they hear not; the Nose, and it smells not; the Mouth, and it neither breaths or speaks; the Hands, they feel not; the Feet, but they stand stock still.

How therefore can your Prayers be acceptable unto this Image that sees you not approaching towards it, that hears you not when you pray to it, that smells not the sweet smells, be they of Myrrhe or Frankincense burning before it? How can it absolve you, when the mouth is not able to say, Thy sins are forgiven thee? And if you place a certain sum of Money in the palm of the hand of that Image; come you again to morrow, the Money it is true, shall find a customer, but the Image never the wiser, who took it; and if you desire to have it come unto you, it cannot without help; therefore the Workman that made this Image, is as blind, as deaf, as dumb, and as void of sense as the Image it self, and so be ye all that do put your trusts in them.

Therefore of late new Artificers, by springs have made artificial ones, which for a certain time shall move, and ye shall believe it to be real and certain: But beware good people, for they be but lying wonders, purposely that ye may break the Law of God. And thus hath the Devil devised a lying wonder, that ye may be deluded to break the Law of the Lord, which is, Thou shalt not make unto thy self any Graven Image. O Lord open thou our Eyes, our Ears, and our Understanding, that we may behold the wondrous things that are in thy Law. The Law of God is an undefiled Law. Oh! why should we be so wicked

The follies of such as put confidence in them.

A good Argument to confute Image-worshippers.

Another good Argument.

Pretty cheats to delude poor Souls. viz. the Image of our Lady Lauretta.

Y then

A Prophecy of the Jesuits, how all Schisms shall come from,
and by their means.
This Prophecy is fulfilled in the story of Heib, and Faithful Com-mine.

then as to defile that Law, which the Almighty God hath made so pure without blemish. Jesus came to fulfil the Law, and not to abolish the Law. But there are a new fraternity of late sprung up, who call themselves Jesuits, which will deceive many, who are much after the Scribes and Pharisees manner: Amongst the Jews they shall strive to abolish the truth, and shall come very near to do it; for these sorts will turn themselves into several forms, with the Heathen, an Heathenist; with Atheists, an Atheist; with the Jews, a Jew; and with the Reformers a Reformade, purposely to know your intentions, your minds, your hearts, and your inclinations, and thereby bring you at last to be like the Fool that said in his heart there was no God. These shall spread over the whole World, shall be admitted into the Council of Princes, and they never the wiser; Charming of them, yea, making your Princes reveal their hearts, and the secrets therein unto them, and yet they not perceive it, which will happen from falling from the Law of God, by neglect of fulfilling of the Law of God, and by winking at their sins; yet, in the end, God to justify his Law, shall suddenly cut off this Society even by the hands of those who have most succoured them, and made use of them; so that at the end they shall become odious to all Nations; They shall be worse than Jews, having no resting place upon the Earth, and then shall a Jew have more favour then a Jesuite. Now to arm you all, good Christians, against these things that are to come, lest ye be led into temptation; Cry unto the Lord your God, and heartily pray that he would be so merciful unto you as to open the eyes of your Understanding, that you may behold the wonders and pleasantness that is in his Law. Which God of his mercy grant that you may all do.

Thus concluding with the Acts and Deeds of this Reverend Father, we shall end with Queen Maries Designs, how she intended to have persecuted the Protestants in Ireland; but by Providence prevented; as you shall further know by this following Relation, being averred by several sufficient persons, as well Ecclesiastical as Civil.

Queen

Queen Mary, towards the end of her Reign, this year granted a Commission for to call the Protestants in question here in Ireland, as well as they had done in England; and to execute the same with greater force, the nominated Doctor Cole, sometime Dean of St. Pauls in London, one of the Commissioners; and so sent the Commission by this said Doctor; and in his journey coming to Chester, the Mayor of that City, hearing that Her Majesty was sending Commissioners into Ireland, and he being a Church-man, waited on the Doctor, who in discourse with the Mayor took out of his Cloak-bag a Lether Box, and said unto him, Here is a Commission that shall lash the Hereticks of Ireland, calling the Protestants by that Title. The Good Woman of the House being well affected to the Protestants and to that Religion, and also having a Brother, named John Edmonds, a Protestant and a Citizen in Dublin, was much troubled at the Doctors words: but she waiting her convenient time, whilst the Mayor took his leave of the Doctor, and the Doctor complementing him down the stairs, she opened the Box, and took the Commission out, and placed in lieu thereof a Pack of Cards, with the Knave of Clubs faced uppermost, and wrapt them up. The Doctor coming up to his Chamber, suspecting nothing of what had been done, put up his Box as formerly: the next day, going to the Water side, Wind and Weather serving him, he sailed towards Ireland, and landed on the seventeenth of October 1558. at Dublin; then coming to the Castle, the Lord Fitz Walters being at this time Lord Deputy, sent for the Doctor to come before him and the Privy Council, who coming in, after he had made a Speech relating upon what account he came over, presented the Box to the Lord Deputy, who causing it to be opened, that the Secretary might read the Commission, there appeared nothing save a Pack of Cards, with the Knave of Clubs uppermost; which not only startled the Lord Deputy and the Council, but the Doctor, who assured them he had a Commission, but knew not how it was gone. Then the Lord Deputy made answer, Let us have another Commission, and we will shuffle the Cards in the mean while. The Doctor, being troubled in his mind, went away, and returned into England, and coming to the Court, obtained another Commission: but staying for a Wind at the Water side, News came to him, that the Queen was dead. Thus God preserved the Protestants in Ireland from the Persecution intended.

How miraculously God preserved the Protestants in Ireland from Persecution in her days.

This being a Copy of Richard Earl of Cork his Memorials, as also of Henry Usher sometime Lord Primate of Ardmagh, being also entred amongst Sir James Wares Manuscripts, who hath often heard the late James Usher, Nephew to the said Henry, and also Primate of Ardmagh, averr the same, and wondred that Mr. Fox had not inserted it in his Acts and Monuments: there was lately living a Reverend Father of the Church, viz. Henry late Lord Bishop of Meath, who did affirm he had this Relation from the said James Usher late Lord Primate of all Ireland.

Upon the recalling the Lord Fitz Walters into England, Queen Elizabeth by the Grace of God &c. succeeding, discoursing with the said Lord concerning several passages here in Ireland, amongst other so discourses he related the aforesaid passage that happened in Ireland, which so delighted the Queen, that Her Majesty sent for the good Woman, named Elizabeth Edmonds, by her Husband named Mattershed, and gave her a Pension of Forty Pounds per ann. durante vita, for saving her Protestant Subjects of Ireland.

ADVERTISEMENT.

I shall hereto add the ANNALS of Queen Elizabeth, being Transcripts out of the Papers and Records of my said Father Sir James Ware, and some of them by him written, and fitted (upon a Review) to be published.

THE

1

THE ANNALS
OF IRELAND,

During the REIGN of Queen ELIZABETH.

Anno Domini, 1558. Et Anno Reginae, I.

C H A P. I.

UPON the Death of Queen MARY, the Parliament being Met, Proclaimed the Lady ELIZABETH, Queen of England, France, and Ireland; Sir Henry Sidney being Lord Justice of Ireland, when the News came. Queen Elizabeth was Proclaimed at Dublin; the very same Month, with the usual Ceremonies, John Spencefield being then Mayor of Dublin, waiting on the Lord Justice to Christs-Church.

The Privy Council of England, having sent Notice to the Lord Justice and Council, that two days were appointed to be kept here, at the same time, as in England, (viz.) the Twelfth of January for Queen Mary's Funeral, and the Fourteenth for Queen Elizabeth's Coronation; were accordingly Observed and Celebrated, pursuant to the Letter, they bearing Date the 29th of December; 1558.

In all this time, the Publick Service had not been read in English, since the Decease of King Edward, till the Second coming of Thomas Earl of Sussex, as will appear hereafter.

A *

Anno

Anno Reg.
I.

November the 17th, 1558.

Anno Dom.
1559.

Anno Domini, 1559. Et Anno Reginae, II.

CHAP. II.

Thomas E. of Sussex comes over a Second time.

August the 27th, Thomas Earl of Sussex, together with Sir William Fitz-Williams, Landed at Dalkey, and lay that Night at Mounstown at Sir John Travars's House: On the Morrow being Sunday, he came to Dublin, the Mayor and Aldermen meeting him on St. Stephens-Green, where the Lord Deputy took the Mayor by the hand, and asked the Aldermen how they did, said, You be all happy, my Masters, in a Gracious Queen. That Night he lay at one Mr. Peter Forth's House, because the House of Killmainham had been damaged by a great Tempest the Year before, and was not yet Repaired.

The Litany Sung in English.

The next Morning he rode to St. Patricks, and then to St. Sepulchers where he kept his Court. On the 30th day he came to Christ's-Church, where Sir Nicholas Dardy Sang the Litany in English, after which the Lord Deputy took his Oath, and then they began to sing [We Praise thee O God, &c.] at which the Trumpets Sounded: At the same time was the Earl of Ormond Sworn one of Her Majesty's Privy Council, and made Lord Treasurer of Ireland.

These Ceremonies being ended, the Lord Deputy rode back to St. Sepulchers, inviting the Mayor and Aldermen to Dine with him.

Soon after, a Proclamation was sent over the whole Kingdom, to cry down the Mass, as you'll find in the Year following.

A Parliament
held at Dublin.

January the 12th, began the Parliament to Sit in Christ's-Church, which also ended in the beginning of February following, having Enacted, the Act of Uniformity, and several other Laws. On the 15th of February the Earl of Sussex went for England, leaving Sir William Fitz-Williams Lord Justice in his place.

Why so soon dissolved.

At the very beginning of this Parliament, Her Majesties well-wishers found, that most of the Nobility and Commons, were divided in Opinion about the Ecclesiastical Government, which caused the E. of Sussex to dissolve them, and to go over to England, to Consult Her Majesty about the Affairs of this Kingdom: These Differences were Occasioned by the several alterations, which had happened in Ecclesiastical Matters, within the compass of Twelve Years.

1st. King Henry the Eighth, held the Ecclesiastical Supremacy, with the First Fruits and Tithes; Maintaining the Seven Sacraments, with Obits, and Mass for the Living, and the Dead. Then,

2d. King Edward abolished the Mass, Authorizing the Book of Common-Prayer, and the Consecration of the Bread and Wine, in the English Tongue, and Establishing only two Sacraments, 3d. Queen Mary (after King Edwards Decease) brought all back again to the Church of Rome, and to the Papal Obedience.

4th. The

4th. Queen Elizabeth, in Her First Parliament in England, took away the Pope's Supremacy, Reserving the Tenth, and First Fruits, to Her Heirs and Successors: She put down the Mass; and for a General Uniformity of Worship in Her Dominions, as well in England as Ireland, she Established the Book of Common-Prayer, and forbade the use of Popish Ceremonies.

Queen Elizabeth had sent 500 Men into Ireland this Year, on two accounts, partly to tame the Rebels here, and partly out of regard to the French King, Henry the Second; who on the behalf of the Dauphin his Son, and Mary Queen of the Scots, did (instead of withdrawing his Soldiers out of Scotland as he had promised) secretly send over more Forces thither, intending to join with the Pope, in pronouncing Queen Elizabeth an Heretick, and Illegitimate; in which Design the Emperor and King of Spain were Confederate: But not obtaining his End according to his desires, he caused the Arms of England and Ireland to be Quartered with the Arms of Scotland, and in all Patents to Francis and Mary, King and Queen of Scotland, England, and Ireland; of which the English Ambassador complained, but Henry's dying suddenly, put an end to these Matters.

This Year Orders were sent to Thomas Lockwood Dean of Christ's-Church; to remove out of his Church all Popish Relicks, and Images, and to Paint and Whiten it a new, putting Sentences of Scripture upon the Walls, in lieu of Pictures or other the like Fancies; which Orders were Observed, and Men set to Work accordingly on the 25th of May, 1559.

Doctor Heath Arch Bishop of York, sent to the two Deans and Chapters of Dublin, viz. of Christ's-Church and St. Patrick, a large Bible to each, to be placed in the middle of their Quiers; which two Bibles, at their first setting up to the Publick view, caused a great Resort of People thither, on purpose to Read therein, for the small Bibles were not common then, as now; and it appears by the Account of John Dale a Bookfeller, that he Sold Seven thousand Bibles in Two Years time, for the Bookfellers of London, when they were first Printed, and brought over into Ireland, in the Year, 1566.

Anno Reg.
III.

See the Life of Mary Q. of Scots. by William Udal,
Anno 1559.

7000 Bibles
Sold in Two Years.

Anno Domini, 1560. Et Anno Reginæ, III.

C H A P. III.

THE Earl of Sussex having been in England some Months, returned again, and took his Oath as Lord Lieutenant of Ireland: Within three Weeks, after which, came Letters from Her Majesty to him, signifying Her Pleasure, for a General Meeting of the Clergy of Ireland, and the Establishment of the Protestant Religion through the several Dioceses of this Kingdom.

Among the Bishops, William Walsh, then Bishop of Meath, was very Zealous for the Romish Church; not content with what Offers Her Majesty

Earl of Sussex
Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

Anno Dom.
1560.

Majesty had proposed, but very much enraged, (after the assembly had dispersed themselves) he fell to Preach against the Common-Prayer (in his Diocese at Trim) which was newly come over, and ordered to be Observed; for which the Lord Lieutenant confined him, till he Acquainted Her Majesty with it, who sent over Her orders to clap him up in Prison: Within a few Months after, Persisting in the same mind, he was Deposed, and the Bishoprick of Meath, was about two Years vacant, till by Her Majesty's Provision, Hugh Brady became Walsh's Successor; who was Consecrated Anno 1563. and enjoyed that place for the space of Twenty Years, dying February the 13th, 1583.

* Ex Regist.
San. Patritii.

Soon after the Assembly of the Irish Clergy had dispersed themselves; Queen Elizabeth by Her special Letters; ordered, Alexander Craike, then Dean of St. Patricks, to succeed Thomas Leverons in the Bishoprick of Kildare: * He was consecrated in St. Patrick's Church, by Hugh Curwin Arch Bishop of Dublin, in the Month of August; and became the Bishoprick was but small, and insufficient to support the Episcopal Dignity; he was permitted by Her Majesty's Favour, to enjoy with it, the Deanry of St. Patricks, which two Places he did not long possess, for he dyed in the Year, 1564.

These alterations in Church and State, so affected the Roman Catholics in Ireland; especially the Natives, that (being encouraged by the Pope, and the King of Spain, who promised to send them some assistance) they rose up in a great Body, under Shane O Neal, and Rebelled against Her Majesty, consuming all before them with Fire and Sword, where ever they came, within the English Pale: So that Queen Elizabeth had now a hard Task upon Her Hands; what with Francis the French King, and Mary Queen of the Scots; what with Philip King of Spain, and the Pope with his Excommunications, besides Her Enemies and Rebels, in England and Ireland: Her Difficulties were so various and great, that 'tis to be wondred at, how She waded thro' the Depth of them; but being a Prudent Princess, and having a wise Council, God Prospered Her undertakings greatly.

November.
1560.

Winter now approaching, and Shane O Neal having destroyed and burnt up the Corn (which made a great Scarcity of Food) he was Necessitated to withdraw from the English Pale, into his own Territories till the next Spring: In the mean time, the Earl of Suffex made great Preparations; and in the Month of January following, Her Majesty sent over Two hundred Men, with an Hundred and Twenty Gun-men, and Eighty Archers, with Four Cannon, One Morter-piece, and Sixty Barrels of Powder, with other Ammunition; all which on the Fifth day of the same Month, were landed at the Key of Dublin (now called the Old-Crane.)

This Year, the Coyn, which had been much debased, thro' the great Expences of King Henry the Eighth, was raised near to its intrinick value: A sort of Coyn was Stamp'd for this Kingdom, with Her Majesty's Effigies on the one side, and three Harps on the other, which was twelve pence here, but was valued at Nine pence only, in England.

Clocks set up in Dublin.

This same Year, the Queen caused the Castle of Dublin to be Repaired and Enlarged for Her Lieutenants, or Deputies to Dwell in, at which time, the Castle Clock was put up, also the City Clock, and St. Patrick's, tricks, which being a Novelty, was very pleasing to the common People: And hereupon an Old Poet of those days, made the following Ballad, or Song, which, tho' bald enough, was in great esteem then, both in England and Ireland, with the common People; which I here insert.

Anno Reg.
IV.

Triumphant Joys may Ireland sing,
Of Henry the Eighth our gallant King:
For He has left us an Off-spring,
To be the Good Queen of Ireland.

This Song was made for England, but the People of Dublin changed, and fitted it to Ireland.

Let Bonfires shine in every place,
Sing, and Ring the Bells apace;
And pray that long may live Her Grace,
To be the Good Queen of Ireland.

The Gold and Silver, which was so base,
That no man could endure it scarce;
Is now New Coynd with Her own Face,
And made go currant in Ireland.

She is the Nurse, that still doth rock
The Cradle of Her loving Flock;
She held the Diall and the Clock,
Throughout the whole Realm of Ireland.

Anno Domini, 1561. Et Anno Reginae, IV.

C H A P. IV.

Thomas Earl of Suffex, having been Four Months and odd days absent in England, Landed again at Dublin, June the 25th; was immediately Sworn Lord Lieutenant, and had the Sword delivered up to him: He might have Landed at mid-night, but chose rather to stay till the next day, that he might Receive the Sword, the same day of his Landing.

E. of Suffex Returns.

After he had taken the Oath in Christ's-Church, Thomas Fitz-Simmons, then Mayor of Dublin, invited the Lord Lieutenant and Council to Dinner: After Dinner he Entertained Them with a Play, in which the Nine Worthies were Acted; at Evening, he gave Them a Rich Banquet; after which the Mayor and his Brethren, with the City Musick, attended the Lord Lieutenant and Council, to Thomas-Court, by Torch-light.

All this while great Preparations were making against Shane O Neal, against whom the Lord Lieutenant Marches, with an Army of Five hundred Men, and Six Weeks Provision: And the City of Dublin to shew their Fidelity to Her Majesty, sent John Bedlow their Sheriff, with Fourscore Men (and Provision for Six Weeks also) to attend the Lord

Anno Dom.
1562.

Lieutenant. These Marched from Dublin, on the First day of July; and on the last day of August following, Mr. Gough the other Sheriff, was sent by the Mayor of Dublin; to assist the Lord Lieutenant with Forty Archers, and as many Gun-men, having with them One and twenty days Provision; all which was at the Cities own Cost.

*See the Register of the Mayors of Dublin.

The Irish hearing of these great Preparations, and new Supplies against them, disperked themselves; and for the Present there was no great Action on either side. * But Shane O Neal began soon after, to make Proposals to the Lord Lieutenant, which he accepted of; and on the Twenty third of November he came to Dublin, went to the Castle, and submitted himself to the Lord Lieutenant, who received him Honourably: But suspecting the Lord Lieutenant would send him over to the Queen under a Guard (which was whispered among some) he resolved to prevent him; and on the Third of December took Ship, and went over to Her Majesty. Soon after which, She sent for the Earl of Sussex to consult with him; and by Her Letters, Patents, dated the Tenth of January, and the Third Year of Her Reign, She Nominated Sir William Fitz-Williams Lord Justice, a Second time: The Earl of Sussex went away the Twenty second of January; and Sir William Fitz-Williams was Sworn February the Second, in Christ's-Church.

Anno Domini, 1562. Et Anno Reginae, V.

CHAP. V.

Strongbow's Tomb broken.

ON the Third day of April, the Roof, and part of the Body of Christ's-Church fell, and brake the Ancient Monument of Richard Earl of Chepstow, commonly call'd Strongbow: On the 25th of June following, the Masons began to repair the Church, as appears by the Records belonging to the said Church.

On the 25th of May, Shane O Neal having been in England, landed at Hoath, boasting of the Favour the Queen had shown to him; but it will appear by what follows, how ill he requited it; when he Rebelled again after he had been Pardoned.

May, 1562.

In the same Month was George Elcock, the Mayor of Drogheda brought before Sir William Fitz-Williams, upon suspicion of his keeping correspondence with the Rebels, and committed to the Tower of Dublin.

On the 24th of July, Thomas Earl of Sussex was again Sworn Lord Lieutenant of Ireland; and because Christ's-Church, which had been the usual place formerly, for Swearing the Governours, was fallen: He was Sworn in St. Patrick's, and during the Repairation of Christ's-Church, he went to that Cathedral, on Sundays and Festivals.

At his coming into Ireland this time, he reduced it into Shires, tho' we call them Counties: Thus he caused Annaly in Leinster to be called by the Name of the County of Longford; the First Baron whereof, was Sir Francis Aungier, Anno Domini, 1621.

Likewise

The Reign of Queen ELIZABETH.

Likewise the Province of Connaught, He divided into six Counties, viz. Clare (which contains all Thomond) Galloway, Sligo, Mayo, Roscommon, and Leitrim.

The See of Ardmagh having lain vacant about Eight Years (ever since the Death of Hugh Goodrack, who died in Dublin, and was Buried in St. Patrick's-Church, Anno Domini, 1554.) was now Conferred on Adam Loftus, a Yorkshire Man, Chaplain to the Queen; who was Consecrated Arch-Bishop of Ardmagh this Year, in the Month of March; by Hugh Curwin, Arch-Bishop of Dublin; concerning whose Translation, more shall be said hereafter.

Anno Reg.
VI.

Anno Domini, 1563. Et Anno Reginae, VI.

C H A P. VI.

THIS Year, Hugh Brady (as was said before) was Consecrated Bishop of Meath, in the place of Doctor William Walsh, who was after other Troubles banished, and died in Spain, Anno Dom. 1477.

About this time was Established a Form of Declaration, which every Arch-Bishop and Bishop was to make at the time of his Consecration, which was as follows; Allowing for the change of the Name and Place.

Ego Dubliniensis Archiepiscopus, Electus, & Consecratus, profiteor me habere & tenere, Omnes Temporales, & possessiones dicti Episcopatus de manibus Elizabethæ Reginae, Angliæ, &c & de Successoribus ejus, Angliæ Regibus, ut in Jure Coronæ, Regni sui Hiberniæ; Ei & Successoribus suis, Angliæ Regibus, Fidelis Ero: Ita me Deus adjuvet & Sancta Evangelia.

A Form of Declaration for the Bishops.

At this time the Lord Lieutenant received some Intimation that Shane O Neal, was contriving New Conspiracies: A Kinsman of his, Named Hugh O Neal, Drinking in Company with the Collector of the Arch-Bishop of Ardmagh's Revenues at Drogheda, was heard to Swear, by his Soul, that his Cousin was a patient Fool, and so were his Ancestors; in taking an Earldom from the Kings of England, when, by Right themselves were Kings: He further added by way of Question to the Bishop's Servant [Is it not so?] The man was glad to comply, and to say, It was so, seeing Six of the Irish in the Room, with their Skeans by them; but as soon as he came to his Master Adam Loftus, he cried out, Pardon me Master; the Arch-Bishop asking him Why! What hast thou done? he told him the whole Story; whereupon he Wrote to the Lord Lieutenant of it; and this Created a Suspicion of what afterwards came to pass, for he was presently up in Rebellion again; against whom the Earl of Sussex Marched, and had some Advantages, killing several of the Rebels, and taking a good Booty of Cattel.

Hereupon, O Neal was perswaded by Melchior Hufsey (who was sent to him for that End, by Gerald Earl of Kildare) to Submit; and having made his Submission to the Lord Lieutenant, he went over to Eng- gland, and did the like to the Queen, before the Embassadors of Sweden and Savoy; and by fair Promises of Amendment for the future, he Obtained Her Majesty's Favour, who gave him some Presents, and he returned home. After which he Expelled the Scots out of Ulster, where they intended to make a Conquest; James Mac-Connel their Chief, he wounded and took Prisoner; and he Ordered the North so well, that if any Subject cou'd prove the loss of any Money or Goods, he wou'd either force the Robber to Restitution, or make up the Loss himself.

Anno Dom.
1564.

The mixt Money of England, not passing there any longer, great Store of it came over hither: The Bungalls (as called by the Irish) went for six pence, and the broad Pieces for twelve pence at first; but because the Coyn had been lately Amended, the six-pences went here for two pence, and the shillings for a Groat, for a while; and since that, they continued to pass in Connaught, the Former for a penny, and the latter for two pence.

A Penalty on every House-keeper that came not to Church every Sunday.

The Lord Lieutenant set forth a Proclamation this Year, against the Meetings of the Fryers and Popish Priests in Dublin; Ordering that none of them shou'd lye within the Gates of the City; also a Tax was laid on every House-keeper, who Omitted coming to Church on Sundays, and it was Collected exactly; so that many came to Church rather than they wou'd pay that Tax: At first they went to Mass in the Morning, and to Church in the Afternoon; but to prevent that, a Roul of the House-keepers Names was called over by the Church-Wardens in every Parish, as appears by an Old Registry belonging to St. Warborough's-Church, which was given to Sir James Ware, by Dr. Sibbald, Anno Dom. 1646.

Anno Domini, 1564. Et Anno Regina, VII.

C. H. A. P. VII.

SHANE O Neal, having had such Favour shown him from the Queen, pretended now great Affection to the Earl of Sussex, and Invited him to his House, as he passed through Munster, in his Progress this Year; But he went another way: Most of the Irish Nobility were displeased with Shane; who under a Pretence of keeping all Quiet within his own Territories, Domineered greatly over them: The Lord Lieutenant informed the Queen of this, and that he feared some Mischief was Brewing; in Answer to which, Her Majesty Wrote as follows.

As touching your Suspition of Shane O Neal, be not Dismayed, nor let any of My Men be Daunted; but tell 'em, that if he arise, it will be for their Advantage, for there will be Estates for them who want; nor must he ever expect any more Favour from Me.

O Neal being asked what he intended, by Raising Men; Answered, that it was to Defend his Territories from the Scots; thinking thereby, to delude the English: But the Lord Lieutenant Issued out a Proclamation; that whosoever served under any Officer, not having a Commission mission from Her Majesty, or under the said Lord Lieutenant only, his Permission shou'd be Esteem'd a Traytor; Commanding Them to lay down their Arms, and to come in by a certain Day, upon pain of Forfeiture of their Lives, and Estates, which greatly moved O Neal and his Party.

The Lord Lieutenant took great Care to Encourage the Soldiers that were to Guard the English Pale, and Quartered on the Borders; by appointing them Greater Pay, than the Ordinary, which was Four pence a Day, to each of them who were so Posted; which Assess was laid upon the Country.

On the First of February, there was a Bloody Battel, between the Earls of Ormond and Desmond, at Athmeach, or Affane, in the County of Waterford, where the latter lost near Three hundred Men.

Anno Domini, 1565. Et Anno Regine, VIII.

CHAP. VIII.

THE Earl of Suffex was now Recalled, and Returned no more into this Kingdom, but was made Lord President of the North of England; his Government was much lik'd here; and Campion gives him a great Character. At his Departure, Sir Nicholas Arnold was Sworn Lord Justice on the 25th day of May; from which Post he was Recalled in the January following; several Complaints being sent to England against him; who was Observed to have much Correspondence with the Earl of Kildare. He brought over with him a New Supply, of 1596 Men.

On the 20th of January Sir Henry Sidney was Sworn Lord Deputy, when the whole Kingdom was in a Miserable State. The Pale was overrun with Robbers; the Country-man was Poor, and the Soldier Beggary and Insolent: Leinster, Munster, and Connaught, were almost Waste, and Ruined with intestine Dissentions; and Ulster which for some time had been Enriched with Plunder gotten out of the other Provinces, was in open Rebellion under O Neal, who Stiled himself the Chief Monarch of this Realm.

This Year Mac-Carthy-More, the Chief of that Name, and a Great Lord in Munster, went over to the Queen, and Surrendred his Estate to Her, which She Reconveyed to him by Her Letters, Patents, and made him Earl of Glencar; at which Honour Conferred on Mac-Carthy, O Neal was so Enraged, that he Spake with great contempt of the English Titles of Honour; telling the Commissioners, sent to Parly with him, that the Queen had made a Wise Earl of Mac-Carthy-More; but that he kept a Servant as good as he, that his Ancestors had been Kings of Ulster, and he wou'd keep it by the Sword; as for a while he did.

Anno Reg. VIII.

See the Council Book for that Year.

Hooker Chro. p. 110.
Campion 126

Mac-Carthy-More Surrenders to the Queen.

Anno Dom.
1566.

Anno Domini, 1566. Et Anno Reginae, IX.

CHAP. IX.

Campion.

THE Lord Deputy being for a while absent in England, the Town of Drogheda was in Danger to be Taken by the Rebels; but at the Request of the Lady Sidney, then residing in Drogheda, Mr. Sarsfield, then Mayor of Dublin, Marching with a chosen Band of Citizens, Relieved it; for which the Lord Deputy Returning, Knighted him.

Among the Officers, who came over with the Supplies of Men and Ammunition, sent by the Queen this Year, came over Captain William Pierse, a Man of Valour and Courage, whose Posterity Remains in this Kingdom to this Day.

O Neal Rebels and Burns the Cathedral of Armagh.

Upon the Complaint of the Nobility, the Lord Deputy Raised a great Army, both of English and Irish, in Order to Root out Shane O Neal; who presently ruined Mac-Guire, who was one of the Irish Lords, which Complained on him: He likewise about this time burned the Metropolitan Church of Armagh; saying, he did it lest the English should Lodge therein: For which Fact, the Sentence of Excommunication was Pronounced against him by Adam Loftus, then Lord Primate of Ireland, and all the Clergy of his Diocese.

O Neal Consults about Submission, but persists in his Rebellion.

O Neal having vanquished the Scots, and taken Mac-Connell their Chief, being Nevertheless afraid of the Forces levied against him; consulted with his Secretary Neal Mac-Connor, whither he should Present himself in Cognito to the Lord Deputy, with an Halter about his Neck, who possibly might Pardon him on such Submission: But Mac-Connor telling him it wou'd be time enough to make his Submission, after he had tryed the Extremity; Perswaded him in the mean while to join with the Scots, whom he had lately Subdued: Which Advice he hearkened unto; and issued Letters to Promote a General Rebellion; which being Intercepted and brought to the Lord Deputy, a Proclamation came forth, Proclaiming O Neal a Traytor, and all his Adherents, if they came not in by a certain day therein limited.

Anno Domini, 1567. Et Anno Reginae, X.

CHAP. X.

Presidents of Munster and Cannought Established.

ABOUT this time Sir Henry Sidney Established Warham St. Leger, President of Munster; he also Ordered a President for Cannought.

Shane O Neal, hoping to Engage the Scots on his side, came to Clandeboy, where Alexander Oge (Brother to Mac-Connell, before Spoken of)

of) lay encamped with 600 Scots; and the more to Ingratiate himself with them, he released Alexander's Brother, whom he had for some time kept Prisoner : Great Cheer was prepared for him; but in the midst of the Entertainment, a Nephew of the said Mac-Connells, challenging O Neals Secretary, as being the Author of a dishonourable Report; that Mac-Connell's Wife did Offer to forsake her Country and Friends to Marry Shane O Neal, who was her Husbands Destruction; to which the Secretary answered, if his Aunt had been Queen of Scotland, it might beseem her full-well to seek such a Marriage : And Shane O Neal maintaining his Secretaries discourse, it bred a Fray between their Soldiers; in fine, the Scots rushed into the Tent, and with their Skeans killed the Secretary, and Mangled Shane-O Neal; and afterwards wrapt him up in an Old Shirt, and cast him into a Pit; where, about Four days after Captain Pierse before spoken of, cut off his Head, and brought it to the Lord Deputy; who Ordered it to be Set on a Pole, on top of the Castle of Dublin : And Captain Pierse Received a 1000 Marks, which was the reward promised by Proclamation, to him who should bring up his Head.

Anno Reg.
XI.

Shane O Neal, Betrayed and Slain.

Vid. Proclam.
Numb. 234.
Anno 1566.

About this time, Indentures were Drawn between the Lord Deputy and Council, and O Donnell; in which there is one Article for the owning the Queens Supremacy.

Council Book
for this year.
Numb. 250.

After this, Sir Henry Sidney returned into England, leaving behind him the then Lord Chancellor, Doctor Weston, and Sir William Fitz-Williams, Lords Justices, who were Sworn on the 14th of October, 1567. and continued till October following; when the Lord Deputy returned.

Anno Domini, 1568. Et Anno Reginae, XI.

C H A P. XI.

DURING the Government of these Lords Justices, great contentions happen'd about the Succession to Shane O Neal: At length one Turlough Lynogh Assumed the Title of O Neal; but for fear of the Children of Shane, promised Obedience to the Queen; yet he made War upon O Donnell, and the Scots, amongst whom he killed Alexander Oge, who Destroyed Shane O Neal.

This Year it appears there was a general Hosting; and that the Mayor of Dublin was Fined in the Sum of 100 l. Irish, for Disobeying the Deputies Commands, and committed to the Castle of Dublin; and after Two days, enlarged.

Numb. 312.

An Accompt was returned to the Queen, what it Cost Her Majesty, during the Rebellion of Shane O Neal; and it amounted unto 1474⁰7 l. 3 s. 9 d. over and above the Cesses laid on the Country, and the Damages sustained by the Subject : And there were no less then 3500 of Her Majesty's Soldiers slain by Shane and his Party, during that time, besides what they slew of the Scots and Irish.

Ex Libro
Scaccar.

Anno Dom.
1569.

Fitz-Morris and others Rebel.

Sir Peter Carew sent to suppress them.

About this time Edmond, Edward, and Pierce Buttler, James Fitz-Morris or Desmond, Mac-Carty-More, Mac-Donogh, together with the Seneschal of Imokilly, and others of the Gentry of Munster conspired against Her Majesty, and Wrote Letters to the Pope, and the King of Spain, imploring their Assistance for the rescue of their Religion and Country, from the Oppressions of the Queen. The Messengers they sent on these Errands, were the Titular Bishops of Cashell and Emly, and the youngest Brother of the Earl of Desmond.

But the Lord Deputy having Notice hereof, Proclaimed them all Traytors; and Ordered Sir Peter Carew to make War upon Sir Edmond Butler, which he did, taking his Castle of Cloghgriman, and giving all the Spoil thereof to the Soldiers; for their Encouragement.

From thence Sir Peter Marched to Kilkenny, near which Place were about 2000 of the Rebels, whom he attack'd so Successfully, that 400 Gallowglasses were slain, without the loss of one English-man, except only a Servant of Captain Malby; who with the Captains, Gilbert Davells and Basnet, had the best share in this Action.

After this, James Fitz-Morris besieged Kilkenny, but was so well received by the Governour and Citizens, that in revenge, he spoiled all the open Country most unmercifully. Another Party over-run the Counties of Wexford, Waterford, and particularly the Lord Powers Estate; and committed unheard of Insolencies; Ravishing, Killing, and Imprisoning every where; nor did the Queens-County, and Offory escape this Desolation, which reached even the County of Dublin.

This Year by Authority of Parliament, was the Bishoprick of Clonmacnoise annexed to the Bishoprick of Meath.

Anno Domini, 1569. Et Anno Reginae, XII.

C H A P. XII.

The Earl of Ormonds
Fidelity.

THE Earl of Ormond at this time in England, was not so much Troubled for the spoiling of his Territories, and the Damages he thereby sustained, as for the Disloyalty of his Brethren; against whom he offered his Service, and Engaged to Reclaim them by Force, if he could not Prevail by fair Means: And accordingly, the Queen being assured of his Fidelity, sent him over to Ireland. He arrived at Waterford the 14th of August; from whence, having first sent the Lord Deputy Notice of his Arrival; made all speed to wait upon him in Person, in or near Limerick: He had not been long there, when, by his Perswasion his Brother Edmond came, and in sight of the whole Camp, Submitted himself to the Lord Deputy, craving Her Majesty's Pardon; and was thereupon set at liberty, upon his own and his Brothers Recognizance, for his Appearance before the Lord Deputy, at his coming to Dublin; and accordingly he did appear there with his other two Brothers on the 16th of October following: When the Lord Deputy Demanding manding of them, why they took such courses as they had done; Sir Edmond attributed all to the Lord Deputies Partiality, and refusing to do him Justice, and his threatening to kill all the Butlers in Ireland; for which bitter Reflections, he not producing any Proof, he was not admitted to Bail as his Brother Pierce was, but committed close Prisoner to the Castle of Dublin; out of which he shortly after made his escape. Nevertheless the Earl brought him again with his other Brothers to appear before the Lord Deputy and Council at Dublin, the last Day of February following; where after a short Confinement and humble Submission, they were by the Earl's Mediation with the Queen, all Pardoned.

The Lord Deputy hearing that Sir Warham St. Leger, the President of Munsters Lady, was in her Husbands Absence much distressed in Cork; resolved to March that way to her Relief, and came to Clonmell, and from thence sent to Waterford for assistance of Men, only for three days; but the Mayor very Arrogantly answered, they would send none, insisting on a Privilege granted unto that City by King Henry the Seventh, for their holding out against Gerald Earl of Kildare, who had Proclaimed Lambert Simnel King: The Tenour of which Privilege, among others, not granted them by any former King, is thus;

Item, They shall not at any time be compelled to go and serve in any 'Hosting, except the King or Kings Son be there in Person, &c. Nevertheless, the Deputy was well Treated by the Sovereign and his Brethren in Clonmell; to whom he made an Excellent Speech, in commendation of Obedience, and thence Marched to Cork, where he found 400 Soldiers, which he had formerly desired, newly arrived from England.

Her Majesty about this time, in consideration of the Loyalty of the Earl of Ormond, and the Damages he had Sustained by the Rebels; sent Her Gracious Letter to the Lord Deputy and Council, to free the said Earl's Lands from Cess, which was accordingly Performed.

This Year the Parliament began to Sit on the Seventeenth of January, in the Eleventh Year of Her Majesty's Reign.

The Acts that passed from the Seventeenth of January, till the Twenty first of February, were as followeth.

- 1st. An Act for Subsidy, granted to the Queens Majesty.
- 2d. An Act for Limitation of Places, for Tanning of Leather.
- 3d. An Act for Confirming the Queens Title, and the Interests of Patentees in the Lands, of late, belonging to Christopher Eustace and others.
- 4th, An Act, that Five Persons of the best, and Eldest of every Nation among the Irish, shall bring in all the idle Persons of their Surname, to be justified by Law.

5th. An Act for Reviving the Statute against Grey Merchants; the Statute for Servants Wages; and the Statute of Jeofayles.

On the Twenty third of February, the Parliament Met again, and made the following Acts.

- 1st. For the Attainder of Shane O Neal, and Extinguishing the Name of O Neal, and Entituling the Queen to the County of Tyrone, &c.
- 2d. For making of Trinity Term shorter.
- 3d. To Entitle Her Majesty to the Estate of Thomas Fitz-Gerald, Knight of the Glin.

Anno Reg.
XIII.

Waterford refuseth to assist the Lord Deputy, insisting on their Privilege.

Rot. Parl. c. 6

Rot. Parl. 7.

Anno Dom.
1570.

- 4th. For the Preservation of Salmon, and Eel Fry.
- 5th. Against laying Hemp, Flax, or limed Hides in any fresh River.
- 6th. For giving the Chief Governour of Ireland the Nomination of all Deans, Arch-Deacons, Chantors, Chancellors and Treasurers of all Cathedrals in Munster and Connaught, for the space of Ten Years to come, those of Waterford, Cork, Limerick and Cashell excepted; and that no Man shall be presented, unless of full Age, and in Orders, and can Read and speak English, and will reside.
- 7th. That no Man take upon him to be Captain of a Territory, without a Patent for it, or use any sort of Irish Exactions.
- 8th. Against certifying any Bill to repeal Poynings Act into England, until first it be agreed upon by the Majority of the Parliament of Ireland.
- 9th. For the dividing the rest of the Kingdom into Shires.
- 10th. Against Transporting Wooll, Flocks, Yarn, unwrought Skins, Beef, Tallow, Wax, or Butter till it pay the Custom; as also the petty Duties to Corporations, in the Act mentioned.
- 11th. For the Impost on Wines.
- 12th. For restoring the Earl of Kildare's Brothers and Sisters in Bloud: After which the Parliament was Adjourned to May the Twelfth, when they Sat again, and Enacted.
- 1st. That Schools be Erected in the Shire-Town of every Diocese, whereof the School-Masters shall be English.
- 2d. That Exemplifications under the Four Seals, shall be as Effectual in all Courts, as the Original Record.
- 3d. For the Standard of Measures for Corn.
- 4th. For Impowring the Chief Governor and Council, to Grant Patents to such of the Irish as the Queen shall Direct.

Anno Domini, 1570. Et Anno Regine, XII.

CH A P. XII.

Strongbow's Monument Repaired.

THE Lord Deputy began to Repair that Ancient Monument of Richard Strongbow, Earl of Chepstow, which had been broken by the fall of the Roof of the Cathedral of Christ's-Church in Dublin, as appears by the Inscription upon the Wall over the said Monument. The Marbles of the two Effigies are of different colours; that which is commonly reputed to be the Fathers being Black, the Sons Grey; The Effigies which was first put up for the Father, being broken all to pieces by the fall of the Church, as aforesaid: The Lord Deputy caused a Monument of the Earl of Desmond, which was at Drogheda, to be removed and placed instead of that of Strongbow; so that the Sons is the Ancienter of the two: The Sons Effigies being but from the Thighs upwards, Occasioned a false Story, that his Father cut him off in the middle with a Sword; but it is a mistake, for it was the fall of the Church that that brake the other parts of the Effigies to pieces; and Strongbow did no more then run his Son through the belly, as appears by the Monument, and the Chronicle.

This Year died the Lord Chief Baron Bath, and was succeeded by Luke Dillon, Esq;

The Lord Deputy sent Captain William Pierce against the Irish, who were got together, in and about Knockfergus: He soon quashed the Rebellion; for which Service he was by the Queens Orders, liberally Rewarded. This Capt. Pierce was the Man that once conveyed Queen Elizabeth away, in the Reign of Queen Mary her Sister, when she had a Design against her.

Sir John Perrott, was now made Lord President of Munster, when James Fitz-Morris with his Followers (by the Instigation of Pope Pius his Bull of Excommunication against Queen Elizabeth) began to Rebel; but the President soon forced him to beg for Mercy: He also reduced that Province to a Peaceable condition; so that, Whereas, before none hardly durst turn his Cattle into the Fields, now Men might safely Travel through the Province without any Guard or Arms: He likewise brought the Irish to abandon several of their Barbarous Customs, and to use the English habit, and to contribute towards the Charge of the War.

George Bouchier, Third Son to the Earl of Bath, and George Walsh a Lawyer, assisted the President in the aforesaid Affairs, they being in Commission with him, the former for Martial, the latter for Civil Matters.

Anno Domini, 1571. Et Anno Regine, XIII.

C H A P. XIII.

THE Lord Deputy went into Connaght, to make an End of the Rebellion which they had Raised against the Lord President there; which having soon accomplish'd, he took his Course to the North, and afterwards to Munster, where he was pleased to see all Things in good Posture, by the Care of the Lord President, whom he promised to Represent to Her Majesty, as one, that had not only Reform'd the Irish of his Province in their Habit, but likewise in Manners and into Civility.

Upon the Request of the Lord Deputy, Her Majesty by Her Letters of the 13th of December, gave him leave to Return to England, and to Substitute his Brother Sir William Fitz-Williams in his Place.

This Year the Irish Characters for Printing were first brought into this Kingdom, by Nicholas Walsh, Chancellor of St. Patrick's in Dublin, and John Kerne, then Treasurer of the same; and it was Ordered that the Prayers of the Church should be Printed in that Character and Language, and a Church set apart in the chief Town of every Diocese, where they were to be Read, and a Sermon Preached to the common People, which was Instrumental to Convert many of the Ignorant sort in those Days.

William Pierce
Killed.

Capt. Pierces Actions.

Sir John Per-
rott made Ld.
President of Munster, who Sett'd that Province.

Also has many other actions.

The Lord Deputies Progress.

Sir Wm. Fitz-
Williams Ld.
Justice.

The first Printing in Irish Characters.

Anno Dom.

1572.

Anno Domini, 1572. Et Anno Reginae, XIV.

C H A P. XIV.

SIR William Fitz-Williams Lord Justice, Received a Commission to be Lord Deputy.

This Year Brian Mac-Cahir committed many Outrages, and killed Robert Brown of Malrenkam, but about two Years after was Pardoned, and became a Faithful follower of Sir Peter Carew, soon after whose Death, he died also: This Brian was a Cavenagh, and a Son of Cahir Mac-Art, whom King Henry the Eighth made a Baron for Life.

Almost all Connaught was in Rebellion, which was headed by the Sons of the Earl of Clanrickard; assisted by a Thousand Scots: The Earl himself then a Prisoner, was set at liberty, upon his Promise to suppress the Rebellion; but he soon forgot his Promise, and performed nothing at all. Nevertheless, a most wonderful Victory was obtained by Captain Collier, who with one Foot Company, killed and dispersed the Thousand Scots which were hired to assist the Rebels. This Rebellion was seconded by the O Mores, and the O Connors, who burnt Athlone, and Wasted and Destroyed whatsoever came in their way: Nor was Ulster quiet, for Carrickfergus was Taken and Burnt by Bryan Mac Felimy.

About this Time died the Lord Chancellor Weston, whose Excellent Qualities were such, as that his Death was Lookt upon, not to be the least Misfortune which then happened.

The Council Settling the Laws of the Nation, made an Act against the Brehon Law.

Anno Domini, 1573. Et Anno Reginae, XV.

C H A P. XV.

Walter Devereux Earl of Essex, having Obtained a Grant of the Moyety of certain Signiories in Ulster, in Order to Settle an English Plantation therein; and being made Earl Marshal of Ireland, came over Accompanied with several Persons of Quality, with great hopes of Success in the Undertaking; but Notwithstanding all their Trouble and vast Expence, the Event not answering the Expectation, Returned the next Year to England.

The Money which the Queen had sent to Ireland since Her Accession to the Crown to this time, being Computed, came to 490779 l. 7 s. 6 d. half penny, whereas the whole Produce of the Revenue of Ireland, during all that Time, amounted but to 120000 l.

This

A Rebellion in Connaught and other parts.

E. of Essex
Arrives.

This Year the Earl of Desmond having promis'd upon his Oath to be faithful to Her Majesty, and not make any Escape, was by the Lord Deputy put into the Hands of the then Mayor of Dublin, with Orders to provide him good Accommodation, and to permit him to go abroad, upon his Parole to return at Noon and Night; which having kept for about a fortnight, one day he told the Mayor, that he desired to divert himself a hunting, but that he would see him at Night; but as soon as the Earl had got as far as Grange-Gorman, he changed his course, and so Escaped, and Retired to his own Territories. Whereupon he was Proclaimed a Traytor, with a promise of a 1000 l. Sterl. and 40 l. Pension, to any who should bring him in alive, and 500 l. Sterl. and 20 l. Pension to him that should bring in his head.

Anno Reg.
XVI.

The E. of Desmond makes his Escape.

Anno Domini, 1574. Et Anno Reginae, XVI.

C H A P. XVI.

THE Earl of Kildare, who at this time Commanded the Forces which were for the Guard of the Pale, had the Allowance of One hundred Horsemen in Pay; he Commanded also the Rising out of the Pale, being 500 Horse.

This Summer the Plague Raged in Dublin for several Months, and did not cease till the latter end of October, during which time the Council stay'd not in the City.

The Irish still persisting in their Rebellion, some Letters and Advices from Rome (encouraging them to Persevere therein, by promises of Money and Assistance, together with a general Pardon of all Sins, not only for themselves, but for their Posterity, to the Third Generation) were Intercepted, and by the Lord Fitz-Williams sent unto Her Majesty.

The Pestilence in Dublin.

Anno Domini, 1575. Et Anno Reginae, XVII.

C H A P. XVII.

THE English were in a most lamentable condition, for the Plague increased again in the Spring, not only in the City and County of Dublin, but also all over the English Pale, whilst the Irish Rebelled all the rest of the Kingdom over. Her Majesty considering the Calamities of Her faithful Subjects in Ireland, not only sent over new Supplies of Men and Ammunition, but also granted a Discharge to Sir William Fitz-Williams of the Deputyship which he had long desired of Her Majesty to be eased of, and sent over Sir Henry Sidney in his place.

The Kingdom in a deplorable condition.

Anno Dom
1575.

Sir Henry
Sidney Lord
Deputy.

His Progress

(than whom no Man was better vers'd in the Affairs of this Kingdom, having been several times Justice and Deputy of the same) and promised him a Remittance of Twenty Thousand Pounds per Annum, out of England.

Sir Henry Sidney Landed at Skyrries, on the 12th of September, from whence he went to Tredagh, where he was Sworn on the Eighteenth; the Plague then Raging in Dublin: But upon advice, that Surleboy had immediately after his Landing assaulted Knockfergus, in which Encounter Captain Baker and above Forty Men were Slain; Nevertheless the Prey was Rescued, and the Scots Repelled by the valour of the Defendants; Sir Henry Sidney March'd with 600 Horse and Foot, and speedily brought Surleboy to terms of Agreement and Submission, as also Mac-Mahon, O Donell, and the chief of the Mac-Guires; and soon after Turlogh Lynough himself, came and Submitted, and was permitted to return Home.

This being perform'd, the Lord Deputy March'd into Leinster, where he found the County of Kildare almost ruined, as was also the Barony of Carbery, by the O Mores, and the King and Queen's Counties, by the O Connors; but Rory Oge, the Principal amongst them, was perswaded by the Earl of Ormond to come to Kilkenny, and Submit himself to the Lord Deputy, which he accordingly performed.

At Kilkenny the Lord Deputy heard of Sir Peter Carew's Death, which he much lamented, and honoured his Funeral at Waterford, with his Presence.

During the Lord Deputies stay at Waterford, he was Nobly Entertained by the Mayor and Aldermen, for which he returned them Thanks, after he had given the City a check for their former behaviour in insisting on their Privileges, when the publick requir'd their assistance.

From Waterford he proceeded to Cork, where the Earls of Desmond, Thomond, and Glencar, with others of the Nobility, and Prime Gentry of Munster waited on him, and kept their Christmas: After which, he began his Sessions there; and many Complaints coming before him of great Out-rages, Murthers, Spoils and Thefts, committed in that Province; Twenty three of the most notorious Offenders were executed. And the better to prevent the mischiefs usually done by Tories, every Nobleman and Gentleman were oblig'd to give in the names of all their Servants and Followers, to be Registred in a Book; and if any of them were found not Registred, he was to be accounted and used as a Felon wheresoever he should be taken, and their Lords and Masters were to answer for all such as were Registred; which at that time they seemed chearfully to comply with; and order thereunto, a Proclamation was Published all over Munster.

After his departure from Cork, the Lord Deputy March'd to Limerick, where he was magnificently receiv'd; and having kept his Sessions there a few Days, hearing the complaints of the Poor, and Ordering the Idlers and Vagabonds to be Registred, as he had done at Cork, he went towards Thomond; where being arrived, he banished some, and executed others, for the Thefts, Rapes, Murthers, and other Out-rages by them committed.

He

He staid not long there, but having Appointed Commissioners to hear and Determine the rest of their Complaints, he continued his Progress to Galway; which together with the Adjacent Country, was then almost desolate; for most of the inhabitants had forsaken it, by reason of the great Ravage made by the two Sons of the Earl of Clanrickard, against whom all the People made sad complaints, which the Lord Deputy promis'd to redress. But the said Earls Sons coming unexpectedly into the Church of Galway, in time of Divine Service; upon their knees humbly submitted themselves, and Supplicated for a pardon, which after a short confinement, and a severe Reprimand, was by Advice of the Privy-Council granted them.

From Galway, the Lord Deputy returned towards Dublin, where he Arrived the 13th Day of April, 1576. having kept Sessions in every County, and placed Garrisons in all most convenient places through which he March'd.

Anno Domini, 1576. Et Anno Reginae, XVIII.

C H A P. XVIII.

AT his Arrival at Dublin, the City and the English Pale were pretty well cleared of the Plague, which had raged all the Summer before; but the State of the Kingdom both as to Civil and Ecclesiastical Affairs was in a very Ruinous Condition, which he very lively represented by his Letters to Her Majesty, who by Advice of Her Council; Commissioned the Arch-Bishops and Bishops, together with others, to take care of Matters Ecclesiastical, and sent over William Gerald, Esq; to be Lord Chancellor, and Sir William Drury, to be President of Munster, who both Arrived in Dublin, in the Month of June.

The Chancellor was settled presently; and the Lord Deputy intending to go to Waterford, to settle the Lord President, he received Letters from the Mayor of Waterford, that the Sons of Clanrickard, who but about two Months before, had submitted to the Queens Mercy, which was extended unto them, were again in open Rebellion; and by the Assistance of the Scots and others, had set the new Gates of Athenry on Fire, Defaced the Queen's Arms, Pillaged the Inhabitants again, and destroyed their Habitations, which they then newly had Rebuilt or Repair'd, killed some of the Masons that were building, and drove away the rest. The Lord Deputy hereupon altered his Resolution, and march'd with such Expedition into Connaught, that within Three Days he was there; the News whereof so startled the Rebels, that they all betook themselves to the Mountains, and soon after the Earl of Clanrickard's Castles were taken, and himself sent to the Castle of Dublin, Prisoner. The Lord Deputy having no regard to his excuses, promises, or Oaths, which he had so often violated. After this the Deputy went to Galway, to encourage the Towns Men;

Anno Reg.
XVIII.

Clanrickards
Sons Submit.

William Gerald
Chancellor,
Sir William
Drury Lord
President of Munster.

Clanrickards
Sons Rebels
again.

The Earl of Clanrickard imprisoned.

Anno Dom.
1576.

The Lord
Presidents proceedings in Munster.

Men; where having stayed some days, he went to Limerick, where he settled the Lord President Drury, (who had accompanied him in all his Journey) and from thence they both together accompanied by the Nobility and Gentry, went to Cork.

The Lord President by a due execution of the Law, wrought a Wonderful Reformation throughout the whole Province, except only in Kerry, which the Earl of Desmond pretended to be Privileged, from being Amenable to Law; So that County became a Harbour for Thieves and Rebels. Notwithstanding the Lord President resolv'd to take his Progress into that County also, to settle good Order there: The Earl of Desmond endeavoured by all means to dissuade him, but all in vain; which as soon as he perceived, he then offered his utmost Assistance to Sir William Drury, and invited him to his House at Tralee, which the President accepted of; and accordingly, after keeping Sessions, and executing the Laws in all places in his way, came thither, whereafter some compliments past between the Earl and him, he was like to have been murdered unawares, with all his followers: For Desmond had Assembled Seven or Eight Hundred of his Stoutest Men for that Purpose. But the President Apprehending the Danger he was in, encouraged his followers to charge the Earl's Men, which they performed with such bravery, that though they were Seven to One, they all fled in great Amazement and Confusion, together with the Earl himself (who had just before gone out from the Lord President, on purpose to head his Men) and betook themselves to the Bogs and Woods for their safety.

The Countess of Desmond, hereupon endeavoured to persuade the Lord President; that the Earl Her Husband had no design against his Lordship, but that those Men had been assembled for a general hunting, only to welcome his Lordship; but being astonished to see his Lordship's Men advance towards them in an hostile manner, they took themselves to flight. With this excuse though he seemed at present to be satisfied, he nevertheless used his Authority, and executed the Laws during his stay in Kerry, over all that County. Hereupon, Desmond exclaimed against Sir William, and afterwards Articled against him to the Lord Deputy, especially for taking Cess.

Clanrickards
Sons again in Rebellion.

The Earl of Clanrickards Sons Rebelled again in Connaught, and with the Assistance of 2000 Scots besieged Ballyriagh, a Seat of their Fathers; then confiscated for his Treasons, but were forced to raise the Siege with loss, by the valiant defence made by Thomas L'Estrange, and Captain Collier, who with 100 Foot and 50 Horse lay there in Garrison. The Lord Deputy march'd his Forces to suppress this Rebellion; and in his way, he was joyned by Mac William Oughter, whose Country was laid waste by the Rebels; and by his help and advice, dividing his Forces, he routed several of their Parties, executed some, and killed many more. The Scots upon his approach dispers'd, themselves, and fled to the Routs and Glinns: So that the Rebels no longer appearing any where in a body, the Lord Deputy, after he had restored Mac William Oughter to many of his Castles, and left Sir Nicholas Malby Governour of Connaught, returned to Dublin.

During this Progress Walter Earl of Essex, who had made a Second Expedition into Ulster with good success, but was forced to resign his Command Command by the Artifices of his Enemies at Court, dyed of a Dysentery. About three days before he Expired, he sent a Letter to the Lord-Deputy, returning him Thanks for his manifold Favours, and Recommending his Son to his care; as also the Ordering of his Funeral, and Presented him with his little George, as a Memorial of his Friendship and Affection to him.

Anno Reg.
XIX.

Earl of Essex's
Death.

Anno Domini, 1577. Et Anno Reginae, XIX.

C H A P. XIX.

THE Gentry of the Pale repined at the Cefs that was laid on them, and some Lords Petitioned against it, as Arbitrary and Illegal; whereupon the Chiefest of them were committed, but upon their Submission and Acknowledgment under their Hands, that the Cefs was due by the Prerogative, were enlarged; and the Cefs was moderated to Five Marks per Plow'd-land.

Rory Oge, O Moore, surprized and burnt the Naas; he also burnt and destroyed the Towns of Catherlogh, Leighlin-Bridge, Rathcoill, Balimore, and many more in Leinster.

Rory Oge his Cruelties.

This Year the Lord-Deputy and Council, Ordered the Office of the Master of the Rolls to be Sequestred; for that Nicholas White, Esq; then Master of the Rolls, had not returned the Estreat's of the Chancery into the Exchequer.

Anno Domini, 1578. Et Anno Reginae, XX.

C H A P. XX.

RORT Oge, hearing that Sir Bernard Fitz-Patrick, Lord of Upper-Ossory, had Submitted himself to the Government; sent a Messenger to him, who pretending himself to be an Enemy to Rory Oge, inform'd him, that a great number of Cattle and Household Goods had been taken by Rory Oge, in the County of Kilkenny, which might easily be retaken, Nay, Rory himself with all his Crew, which he pretended was then very small, might be made Prisoners, provided his Lordship would Adventure to do it. Fitz-Patrick, though he suspected this Message to be a Trap laid for him; having a strong Party, both of Horse and Foot with him, March'd to the place, and sent Thirty of his Men into the Woods, to search for Rory Oge; himself with all the Rest remaining on the Plain. Rory Oge presently appeared at the Head of Thirty Men, but was so stoutly attacked by Fitz-Patrick's Kerns, that his party were routed, and he himself slain on the spot. F* Soon

Rory Oge
Slain.

Anno Dom.

1579.

Desmond Submits.Sir Henry Sidney returns for England, and leaves
Sir William
Drury Lord
Deputy.The Lord
Deputy's
Progress.James Fitz-Morris, with the Jesuits
Allen and Sanders, lands in Kerry.

Soon after this, the Earl of Desmond, who had refused to come to the Lord President, came to the Deputy at Kilkenny; and submitted himself, promising upon his return to disperse his Men, and obey the Lord President; and indeed for a while he pretended great Loyalty in Discovering some Plots, but this proved in the end to be but a cover for his Traiterous Designs.

This Year Connaught being reduced to peace and good order; Her Majesties Revenues there, increased to the Sum of 1800*l.* per Ann.

The Lord-Deputy made humble suit to Her Majesty, that he might return into England, which was granted; but before he returned, advice was sent to him and the Council, that Thomas Stukely, whom Pope Gregory the 13th had created his General, with the addition of many Titles was Arrived in Spain from Italy, and was preparing to invade Ireland, with great numbers of Italians and Spaniards: Against whom the Lord-Deputy having put the Kingdom in a Posture of Defence, and all things being for the present quiet, he delivered up the Sword by Her Majesties Order, unto Sir William Drury, then Lord President of Munster, upon the 26th of May, 1578. and returned into England, (as Hooker, who wrote when those Transactions were fresh in Memory, and Papers easy to be come by, relates.)

This Sir Henry Sidney, was Son of Sir William Sidney, Godson to King Henry the 8th, Companion and Bedfellow to King Edward the Sixth, who dyed in his Arms; several times Embassador for Queen Elizabeth, Lord President of Wales, Treasurer of War in England, Knight of the most Noble Order of the Garter, and had been Four times Lord Justice of Ireland, and Thrice Lord-Deputy, in which places he most Honourably acquitted himself.

Sir William Drury, being Sworn Lord Deputy, aimed in all matters of Government, to follow as much as possible the steps of his Noble Predecessor; and on the 29th of September took his journey into Munster; where having redressed fundry abuses, and received the Submissions of several great Men, he returned to Dublin.

Anno Domini, 1579. Et Anno Reginae, XXI.

C H A P. XXI.

THAT Arch-Rebel, James Fitz-Morris, though formerly upon his humble Submission, and taking the Oath of Allegiance, he had obtain'd Her Majesties Pardon, nevertheless retired into France; where for two Years he in vain solicited the Assistance of that Court, to begin a new Rebellion; but afterwards he addressed the Pope and King of Spain, who furnished him with Three Ships, some Men and Money; with whom about the latter end of July, he Landed at Smerwick, (Alias St. Mary-wick) in the County of Kerry, together with the Jesuits Allen and Sanders, who was the Popes Legate. The Legate Hallowed Hallowed the place, where they built a Fort, and promised them all safety and success; but notwithstanding all his Benedictions, Captain Courtney, Commander of one of Her Majesties Ships, made bold to take and carry away their whole Fleet.

Upon the First Advice of their Landing, Sir John and Sir James of Desmond, made all speed to attend James Fitz-Morris; but Sir John finding he was something jealous of him, by reason of the Friendship betwixt him and Henry Davells, who had been his Old Friend, to remove this suspicion, he made no Scruple to Murder Davells, and one Carter at Tralee; which villanous Action the Legate Sanders applauded, as a pleasing sacrifice in the sight of God.

In the mean time, the Earl of Desmond, though he durst not at first appear openly to encourage this Invasion, yet suffered as many of his followers as would to go and join the Spaniards: but the Spaniards expected far greater Assistance pursuant to the promises made them, which they not finding, began to despair of Success, and talk'd of returning Home; but James Fitz-Morris perswaded them to have a little patience, and he would speedily procure sufficient aids. In order to which he designed to go into Connaught; and coming into Bucks Country, ordered his Men to take the first Horse they met with, for his use, which they did, out of a Plough belonging to Sir William Burk, the Ploughmen hereupon set up the Hue and Cry; Sir William hearing the Cry, he and his Four Sons, together with some Kerns followed the Tract, and at last overtook his Cousin Fitz-Morris in a Wood, who seeing Sir William's Eldest Son, addressed himself to him, saying, Cousin Theobald, the taking of Garrons between you and me shall be no breach; if you knew the cause we now have in hand you would assist us, and then related to him all his designs, and the assistance he had from the Pope and King of Spain. To which Theobald Burk, replied, That he and his Father and Brethren had too much meddled that way already, and had cause to curse the day when they first opposed the Queens Authority; and that having sworn fidelity, they were resolved never more to break it. Which answer being not at all agreeable to Fitz-Morris, he refused to part with the Garrons he had taken, and thereupon happened an encounter; wherein Theobald and his Younger Brother were killed, and on the other side James Fitz-Morris, and most of his followers had the same fortune, Fitz-Morris his Quarters were set upon the Gates of Kilmallock; and Sir William Burk was not only gratified with a gift, but was afterwards created Baron of Castle-Connell, and had an Annual Pension of 100 Marks out of the Exchequer.

Sir John of Desmond, who supplied Fitz-Morris his place, did all he could to Reanimate the Spaniards, who were much daunted at this News. Against who the Lord-Deputy March'd with Four hundred Foot, and Two hundred Horse, Accompanied with his best Officers, and were joined by the Lords of Kildare, Upper-Ossory and Dunboyne, who brought in with them Two hundred Horse, and Encamped hard by Kilmallock; whither he summoned the Earl of Desmond and other chief Men of those parts. Desmond was unwilling to come to him, but at last attended upon the Deputy, who committed him to the custody of the Knight-Marshal, until he had humbled himself, and again Sworn

Anno Reg.
XXI.

An execrable Murder.

James Fitz-
Morris killed.

The Loyalty of Sir William Burk and his Sons.

Desmond committed and set again at Liberty.

Anno Dom.
1579.

New Succors,
Arrive to the Deputy.

Sir John of Desmond
Routed, and Doctor Allen
Slain.

Earl of Des-monds Falshood.

Sir William
Drury's Death.

Sir William
Pelham, Lord
Justice.

Allegiance to Her Majesty, and then set him at liberty : And so much the rather, because he had advice, that Sir John Desmond with a great number of Rebels, was encamped on the borders of Slevelogher. The Lord-Deputy March'd towards him, but could not overtake him, tho' by the Earl of Desmond's advice he had divided his Army into two parts, the more easily to accomplish his Design; so that no Action happened for some time, only the two Captains Price and Herbert; with a hundred Men, advancing into a Wood called Blackwood, met with, and Killed several of Sir John of Desmonds Men; but returning towards the Camp, fell into an Ambush, and were themselves and most of their Men cut off, with little loss to the Irish.

The loss of these brave Men much troubled the Deputy; however, he soon after had his Army Re-inforced with Six hundred Men, whom Her Majesty had sent to Waterford, under the Command of the Captains Bourchier, Dowdal, and two of the Carews who were Brothers. Sir John Perrott also arrived at Cork, with Six Ships for the guard of the Coast. The Deputy was resolved to prosecute the Rebels with all vigour, but they still avoided him; so that at last, through the Fatigue he had undergone, he fell Sick, and retired to Waterford, having first for the encouragement of his Officers, Knighted Bourchier, Stanly, Carew, Moore, and others in the Field; and left the Command of the Army during his Absence with Sir Nicholas Malby.

During the Lord-Deputy's Sickness, the Marshal Malby with about Six hundred Foot, and a hundred Horse, Marched into Conilo; and at Monaster-Neva, had the Fortune to meet with Sir John of Desmond and Two thousand Rebels : And Sir John finding it hardly possible to avoid coming to a Battel, by the encouragement of Doctor Allen, who caused the Pope's Banner to be display'd, and assured him of success, disposed all things for his best advantage, and gave Battel. The Fight was fierce and obstinate during the First and Second charges, which the Irish sustained with more than usual valour; but at the third they betook themselves to Flight, Sir John of Desmond leading them the way, and left Two hundred and Sixty of their Army, together with the famous Doctor Allen, dead on the spot.

The Earl of Desmond who pretended to continue Loyal, and had sent his only Son to the Deputy as a Pledge of his Fidelity; together with the Lord of Kerry, from a Hill within a Quarter of a Mile of the place of Battel, was a sorrowful Spectator thereof : Nevertheless, he sent the next day a Congratulatory Message unto Malby, who two or three Days after removed to Rakele, where he beat a Party of the Earl of Desmonds, who came too near his Camp, and took several Prisoners, who discovered the Earls Designs. The very Night after, the Earl of Desmond made an Assault upon the English Camp, but was beaten off with shame and loss.

About this time Malby receiving advice, that the Deputy died at Waterford, on the last Day of September; having placed Garrisons at Rakele and Adare, he put the Army into Quarters.

Upon notice of the Lord-Deputy's Death, the Privy-Council Met, and Chose Sir William Pelham Lord Justice, who was the 11th of October Sworn in Christ's-Church, Dublin; where he Knighted the Lord-Chancellor Gerard.

The

The same day the Council ordered a Patent to make the Earl of Ormond Governour of Munster, and Sir Warham, St. Leger, Provost-Marshal thereof; and Signed a Warrant for conveying the Earl of Desmond's Son, to be secured in the Castle of Dublin.

The Lord Chancellor was sent to England, to acquaint Her Majesty with the State of Affairs in Ireland, and Adam Loftus Arch-Bishop of Dublin, made Custos Sigilli in his Absence: The Earl of Kildare, was Appointed by the Lord-Justice, for the Defence of the Borders of the Pale, Northwards. Matters being thus settled, the Lord-Justice taking with him the Three Bands lately come from Berwick; made his Progress towards Munster; coming to Kilkenny, he kept Sessions, and Ordered Edmond Mac-Neil an Arch-Traytor, and other Malefactors to be executed; after which he reconciled the Earl of Ormond, and the Lord of Upper-Ossory, each of them giving Bonds for the restitution of Preys taken from each other.

After two Days stay at Kilkenny, the Lord-Justice came to Cashel on the 22d of October, where the Earl of Ormond met him with 200 Men from whence he wrote to Desmond, to repair to him in order to a Reconciliation between him and Malby; from thence he proceeded to Limerick, where he was welcom'd by Sir Nicholas Malby, and the Army, as also by the Mayor of Limerick, who presented him with a Thousand Men of that City well Arm'd. After one Nights stay there, he went to a village call'd Fannings, where the Countess of Desmond presented him with Letters from her Husband, to excuse himself for not coming to the Lord-Justice, according to his Orders. His excuses did not satisfy the Lord-Justice, who therefore sent the Earl of Ormond to him, to know his Resolution; but Desmond instead thereof, returned only trifling Evasions, which were seconded with other Letters full of Protestations of Loyalty, though at the very same time the Lord-Justice was in danger of being surprized by his Party, which alarm'd the Camp; and some of them being kill'd, Desmonds Butler was found amongst them; nor was the Earl himself far off at that time. Which vile practises so incensed the Lord Justice, that he caused the Earl of Desmond to be Proclaimed Traytor, if he surrendered not himself within Twenty Days, and Ordered the Army to enter his Country with Fire and Sword. In their March towards Cork, they took a Prey of 1500 Cows: At Cork most of the Army being divided to go into several Garrisons, the Remainder went to Cashell; having by the way hang'd the Mayor of Toughall at his own door; for that having formerly refused a Garrison, and pretended to Defend the Town to the last: Yet upon Desmonds appearance before it, he basely caused it to be surrendered to him without a Blow. Orders were given for the rebuilding the Walls, and a Garrison of Three Hundred Men, under the Command of the Captains, Pierce and Morgan, were left in Toughall, the better to encourage the old Inhabitants to return.

After this the Lord-Justice went to Galway, where he renewed their Charter, and from thence to Athlone, from whence he continued his Journey to Dublin, where he continued till about the middle of January following.

Anno Reg.
XXI.

His Progress into Munster.

Desmonds perfidious practises.

The Mayor of Toughall hang'd.

See Hooker,
fol. 163.

Anna Dom.
1580.

Another Progress of the Lord-Justice.

Rebels defeated.

Carrigifoyl taken.

On the 18th of January, the Lord-Justice left Dublin, and came to Wexford, and thence to Waterford; at which places he was honourably received, and kept Sessions: From Waterford he went to Clonmelt, and so to Limerick; where the Chancellor of that Diocese was committed, for Treasonable correspondence with Desmond; and the Bishop himself (who was also suspected to be guilty of the same) confin'd to his house for speaking of some words.

On the 10th of March at Rakele, the Lord-Justice and the Earl of Ormond, having consulted how to prosecute the War; soon after divided their Forces: Ormond Preyed and burnt the Country as far as Slevelogher, where he defeated a Body of the Rebels, killing above 400 on the spot: Which so terrified the Lord Lixnaw, that he came in the next Day and Submitted. The Lord-Justice marched to Carrigifoyl, which was Desmond's strongest hold, and laid siege to it; and having Batter'd the Castle till a Breach was made, Captain Mackworth assaulted it, and took it with Sword in hand; the Garrison consisting of 50 Irish, and 19 Spaniards, under one Julio an Italian Engineer, were every one was either kill'd in the storm, or taken, and afterwards executed.

Anno Domini, 1580. Et Anno Reginae, XXII.

C H A P. XXII.

Ballyloghlane taken.

The Castle of Askeaton deserted.

ON the 3d of April, three Companies under the Command of Captain George Carew, came before Ballyloghlane, another Castle belonging to the Earl of Desmond; the Garrison no sooner perceived them, but they quitted the Castle and fled, but many of them were Slain in the flight, being hotly pursued by Captain Carew, and his party.

The same day the rest of the Army came before Askeaton, which was extream difficult of access, being built upon Rocks; but the Garrison fearing to be used as those of Carrigifoyl were, saved the Army a labour; for taking the advantage of the darkness of the Night following, they stole out of the Castle, leaving a train of Gun-Powder, which taking Fire, burnt some buildings in the Castle, but did not prejudice the Principal Towers, which were the next day taken and possessed by the English, so that the Earl of Desmond had not one Castle now left in Munster.

On the 15th of May, Sir William Pelham received a Patent under the Great-Seal of England, to be Lord-Justice of Ireland; he having hitherto executed that Office, by vertue of the Election of the Council.

The 15th of June he passed through Mac-Aulies's Country, Destroying all with Fire as he went; and going over the boggy Mountain of Slevelogher into Kerry, took a Prey of Two thousand Cows, besides Garrons and Sheep; the Earl of Desmond and his Lady, with Doctor Sanders, narrowly Escaped, being gone but a little before the Prey.

About

About this time James of Desmond took a Prey from Cormock Mac-Teige; whereupon his Brother Donnell Mac-Teige, gathering together all the Force he could, and endeavouring to rescue the Prey, a smart conflict ensued, betwixt him and Sir James of Desmond, but at last Donnell Mac-Teige prevailed, and Sir James Desmond's party consisting of about One hundred and Fifty Men were all Slain, and himself made Prisoner, and sent to Cork, where he was hanged and quartered.

Cormack Mac-Teige was hereupon Knighted, and made High-Sheriff of the County of Cork.

Upon Report of Sir James Desmond's Execution, the Earl himself was in great Apprehensions of Danger; and wandred up and down, fearing he should be taken also: Mean while the Countess, his Lady, made humble Intercession with many Tears for him, but all in vain; for without an intire Submission, which the Earl would not hear of, the Lord-Justice was resolved not to pardon him.

Sir John of Desmond, and Doctor Sanders were in a like desperate condition, flying from place to place for shelter; and as they endeavour'd to go to the Lord Baltinglass, who was then in the County of Kildare for Refuge, were like to have been both taken, as their Servants were; so that they were forced to return into Kerry.

Arthur Lord Grey, Baron of Wilton, Knight of the Garter, Lord-Deputy, Landed at Dublin the 12th of August, while the Lord-Justice was at Limerick; where he settled Sir George Bouchier Governour of Munster, and gave him instructions for the Government of that Province, and left all the Forces with him, consisting of Two thousand Eight hundred and Twenty Foot, and Three hundred and Ninety five Horse.

Before the Lord-Justice returned to Dublin, the Lord Grey being inform'd, that the Lord Baltinglass being joined by Fitz-Gerrald, Pheagh Mac-Hugh and other Rebels, lay in the Glinns in the County of Wicklow, Marched with a good Force to attack them, and ordered his Foot to enter into the Woods, whilst he with the Horse remained on the Mountains hard by: The Foot being entred about half a Mile or more into the Woods, were so surrounded by the Rebels, who had planted Ambushes under Covert on every side; that the English unable, either to annoy the Enemy, or defend themselves, whilst they stuck fast in the Boggs, were killed by the Enemies Shot, with their brave Officers Sir Peter Carew, Colonel Moore, and the Captains Cosby and Audly, a few only escaping who were rescued by the Horse.

The Lord-Justice came to Dublin the Sixth of September, and surrendered the Sword to the Lord-Deputy, who soon after receiving Advice that Seven hundred Spaniards and Italians were Landed at Smerwick, with Money, Arms, and Ammunition for Five thousand Men; hoping to make amends for his former Misfortune, Marched with about Eight hundred Men, with the Captains Raleigh, Denny, Mac-Worth and others, as far as Rakele, whither the Earl of Ormond retired, after he had caused the Spaniards to desert a Fort which they built at their Landing, and to repair to a Fastness call'd Glanigall (where perceiving that the Earl's Party was not near so strong as they at first believed, they detached Three hundred of their Men, who took possession of the Fort again, which Ormond did not think fit at that time to attack, for that he wanted Ammunition and other Necessaries.

Anno Reg.
XXII.

Sir James of Desmond taken and executed.

The Lord
Grey Lands.

His unfortunate expedition into the County of Wicklow.

Ormond joins the Deputy.

Anno Dom.
1579.

The Spaniard's Fort Summoned.

When the Deputy decamped from Rakele, Captain Walter Raleigh stayed some Hours behind in Ambush, when several of the Irish according to their Custom came to the Camp, to take whatsoever might be left therein, who were all surprized and taken by Raleigh, who treated them as they deserved. Among the rest, there was one who was loaden with Withs, and being asked for what use they were, he answer'd, They were to hang up English Churls, but the Captain told him, they should serve an Irish Kerne, and so Ordered him to be hanged.

Sir William Winter coming with a Fleet from England into Semrwick-Bay, besieged the Fort by Sea, as did the Lord-Deputy by Land. To the Summons they sent in, they received an answer, that some of them were sent by the Holy Father Pope Gregory, the rest by the King of Spain, on whom the Pope had bestowed the Kingdom of Ireland, and for them they were resolv'd to hold it.

The Fort Surrenders at discretion.

That night some Culverin and other Ordinance being Landed from the Fleet, a Battery was raised, and a second Summons was sent them, offering them mercy, if they would surrender; but they resolutely answer'd, they would keep what they had gotten: Hereupon the Fort was batter'd both from Land and Sea. The next day the besieged Sallied out, but very faintly. On the Fourth day, being close pressed and despairing of Relief, either from Spain, or from the Earl of Desmond, with whom they had deposited their Treasure, they proposed to Surrender on certain Conditions; which being all refused them, they all upon a sudden cried out, Misericordia, Misericordia, and yielded up the Fort without any Conditions at all. The Garrison was all put to the Sword, excepting the Commanders only; the cause of which extreme severity, was the great Numbers who were then in Rebellion, and the smallness of the English Army.

The Deputy
returns to Dublin.

The Deputy having Disposed of the Arms, Ammunition, and Provisions, which were found in the Fort, and set at liberty Sir John Fitz-Gerrald, whom the Earl of Desmond had left a Prisoner; Razed the Fort, and put the Army into Garrisons; made Captain Zouch Governour of Kerry and Desmond: He sent over to Her Majesty an Account of this whole Affair, and returned to Limerick; and leaving Ormond Governour of Munster, returned to Dublin.

A New Rebellion in Connaught &c.

New succors out of England.

In the mean time, he received Advice that the Earl of Desmond was gone into Connaught with Two hundred Men, where the two Sons of Clanrickard began to raise new Commotions; and that Baltinglass, the Birns, O Mores, Cavenaghs and Keatings, were all joined in a Body together; so that besides what was in Munster, all Connaught, and a great part of Leinster was in Rebellion at the same time: But the Arrival of 150 Horse, which the Clergy of England had sent at their own Charges, under the Command of William Russel, Son to the Earl of Bedford, besides Six Companies of Foot which came to his assistance before he left Munster, did greatly encourage the Deputy in these perplexities.

The Earl of Kildare, confined and sent to England.

Before his Lordship left Dublin, the Earl of Kildare, and Lord Delvin, were committed to the custody of the Master of the Ordinance, upon suspicion of a correspondence with the Rebels of Leinster: Hereupon the said Earl's Followers, perswaded his Son the Lord Henry Fitz-Gerrald to fly into Ophalia, whereof he was Lord-Baron, where he was taken taken by the O Connors, and kept against his Will for his Safety, until they heard what became of his Father the Earl. But the Earl of Ormond being sent by the Deputy to demand him; though at first they refused; yet afterwards, for fear his Detainer might be prejudicial to his Father, they sent the young Lord to Ormond, who brought him up to Dublin; from whence, together with his Father and the Lord Delvin, he was sent to England, where they were secured in the Tower.

This Year dyed Rolandus de Burgo, who was Bishop both of Clonfert and Elphin; he was made Bishop of Elphin by King Edward the Sixth, when the Assembly of Divines Sat to Establish the Affairs of the Church, in the Year, 1552. He dyed an old Man, and had been Bishop Thirty nine Years, or thereabouts.

Anno Reg.
XXIII.

Rolandus de Burgo.

Anno Domini, 1581. Et Anno Reginae, XXIII.

C H A P. XXIII.

HER Majesty being informed of several Miscarriages of Nicholas Nugent, Chief Justice of the Common-Pleas; she wrote to the Lords of the Council to Displace him, and to put Sir Robert Dillon in his place.

*Vida Council
Book, fol. 240.
241.*

This Year Orders were given for putting the Horse into Garrisons for ease of the Country, and the proportion of Horse-Meat and Mans-Meat, with the Prices fixed.

*Ibid fol. 241.
242.*

In August the Lord-Deputy took his Progress into Munster, where he Establish'd Captain Zouch to be Governour-General and General at Arms; after which, taking his way through Connaught, he returned to Dublin.

New was brought to Zouch, who with the Captains Raleigh and Dowdall, then kept his head Quarters at Cork; that a great Quarrel had hapned between David Lord Barry, and the Seneschal of Imokilly, which the Earl of Desmond and John his Brother, who lay on the other side of the River in Patrick Condon's Country, laboured to reconcile; Captain Dowdall sent an Irish Man as a Spy to Dunfrinnen, where Barry and the Seneschal had their Camp; to whom a Messenger of the Earl of Desmond discovered, that Sir John Desmond would be there the next Morning to make them Friends. The Spy prevailed with the said Messenger to go with him to Cork; where Zouch and Dowdall being satisfied of the Matter, by his Examination, they dismissed the Messenger with a Reward; bidding him Report, that the Governour designed for Limerick the next Morning: So leaving the Garrison to the Care of Captain Raleigh, Zouch and Dowdall with their Party, came to a Wood not far from Castlelyons, early in the Morning; and placing some Shot between the said Wood and a Bogg, they perceived two Horsemen, who proved to be Sir John of Desmond, and James Fitz-John of Stroncully, whom they enclosed between their Horse and Foot, and took them both, and 1582.

Anno Dom.

David Lord
Barry Submits.

The Army
reduced.

The Baron of Lixnaw Rebels.

carried them to Cork; Sir John being wounded before he was made Prisoner, dyed by the Way; but his Body was hang'd by the heels on a Gibbet by the North-Gate of Cork, and his Head sent to Dublin to be placed on a Pole upon the Castle; but James Fitz-John was Hanged and Quartered.

After this Zouch fell upon David Barry in his Camp, and put most of his Men to the Sword; which Defeate so disabled him, that he was forc'd to Submit, and beg Pardon, which was Granted him.

The Rebellion in Munster being thus quash'd, and Desmond not daring to appear publickly; the Lord-Deputy Disbanded the Army in Munster (except Four hundred Foot and Fifty Horse) to save Charges: But this course was no sooner taken, but the Lord Lixnaw and his Son flew into open Rebellion, and made themselves Masters of Adare, killing Captain Achin and the Garrison; they took also the Castle of Lisconnell, and Burnt and Plunder'd the Counties of Ormond, Tipperary, and Waterford, at their Pleasure.

Anno Domini, 1582. Et Anno Regine, XXIV.

C H A P. XXIV.

Baron of Lixnaw totally defeated.

The Earl of Ormond's
Generosity.

Desmond Rebels again.

The Lord Deputy recall'd.

The miserable End of Doctor San- ders.

ZOUCH incensed hereat, Marches with Four hundred Men into Kerry, where he found Adare forsaken by the Enemy: Thence had advanced towards Lisconnell, near which place he defeated Seven hundred of the Baron of Lixnaw's Men, and took a great Prey of Goods and Cattle. Afterwards he came to Limerick, whence he detached Captain Dowdall to pursue the Baron, whom he overtook and Routed, with the slaughter of One hundred and Fifty of the Rebels, taking Eight hundred Cows, and Five hundred Horses, besides Sheep, Goats, Money, Cloaths and Victuals. The Baron after this Defeat, was utterly Disabled; and finding himself in a desperate Condition, and forsaken by all his Friends, threw himself on the Earl of Ormond's Mercy, to whom he of all Men, had done the greatest Injuries; humbly intreating him to intercede for his Pardon, which the Generous Earl did accordingly procure for him.

This Insurrection was scarce over, but the Earl of Desmond, whom some reported to be Dead, others to be fled beyond the Seas; appeared again in the head of a great Party, and Encountred the Garrison of Adare so fiercely, that with the loss of many of their Men and two Officers, they were glad to retreat to their Fortrefs.

The Lord-Deputy was upon his earnest Request recalled into England; and Adam Loftus Arch-Bishop of Dublin, and Sir Henry Walop Treasurer at Wars, Nominated by Her Majesty to be Lord-Justices, to whom he delivered the Sword the last Day of August.

In the beginning of the Government of these Lords-Justices, Doctor Sanders the Pope's Nuntio, died of Famine and the Bloody-Flux in a Wood, where his Carcass was most part devoured by Wolves.

The

The Lords-Justices being desirous to put an End to the Troubles, which had so long vexed the Kingdom; Resolv'd once more to try whether they could reclaim the Earl of Desmond to his Allegiance, by fresh Offers of Grace and Pardon to himself and his followers; but all in vain: For Desmond Obstinately persisted in his Rebellion, and continued wasting and spoiling the Country all about him.

About the latter end of January, the Earl of Ormond Arrived at Waterford, with a new Supply of Four hundred Men from England; whom he put under the Command of Sir George Boucher, Sir William Stanley, Captain Edward Barkley, and Captain Roberts: He brought also with him a Commission, Constituting him Lord-General of Munster; He Obtained likewise of Her Majesty Two pence a Day, additional Pay to every Soldier; which, together with his permitting the Soldiers to enjoy whatsoever Spoil they took from the Enemy, procur'd him the general love of the Army.

Ormond upon Information that the Earl of Desmond was Encamped at Harlow-Wood, March'd thither to attack him, which he did with that Success, that a great number of the Rebels were Slain, and the rest forsook Desmond; so that ever after, the Force he appeared with, was very Inconsiderable.

This Year in the midst of Winter, Robert Daily Bishop of Kildare; was driven out of his House, and strip'd naked by the Rebels, who Rifled and took all his Goods: They had served him so twice before; but this third Out-rage was the cause (as 'twas thought) of his Death.

Before the Lord-Deputy had delivered up the Sword, he Received Instructions from Her Majesty, to Set to Farm the Impost upon Wines in Ireland, and to Remove the Courts (for hitherto the Terms had been kept in the Castle of Dublin) to the Inns, called the King's-Inns in Dublin, which place was formerly a Monastery belonging to the Dominican Order.

Anno Reg.
XXV.

Desmond
flees the Offers of Pardon.

E. of Ormond arrives from England.

Desmond forsaken by his Friends.

Cruelty of the Rebels to the Bishop of Kildare.

Anno Domini, 1583. Et Anno Reginae, XXV.

C H A P. XXV.

D*esmond* still persisted in his Rebellion, and was joined by some of the Gallowglasses, who, together with the Earl, Harboured in and about Harlow-Wood; of which Captain Dowdall received Intelligence, and March'd from Kilmallock, with that speed and Secrecy, that he came upon them unawares, and put them all to the Sword, but Desmond himself escaped. About a Month after, Desmond Accompanied by two or three Horsemen and a Priest, was met by some of the Lord Roche's Men, who took the Priest; but Desmond and the Horsemen being well Mounted, got off clear. The Priest being Examined, Confess'd, that Desmond was in the utmost Distress, and was forc'd to lurk up and down amongst poor mean People, to avoid Suspicion. Cap-

Anno Dom.
1581.

Goron Mac-Swiny killed.

The E. of Desmond slain.

The Kingdom quieted.

Sir John Perrott made
Lord-Deputy.

tain Dowdall was hereupon dispatched to Dingle, whilst Desmond, with what followers he could get, applied himself to one Goron Mac-Swiny, who with his Brother Morrogh Mac-Swiny promis'd to Assist him to the utmost of their power. In Order hereunto, Goron Mac-Swiny, made an Incurſion into Carbery, whence he return'd with a great Prey of Cattle, but by Reason of the length of the way, was forc'd to ſtay for one night at a place three or four Miles ſhort of the Earl's abode; where ſuſpecting nothing, he walk'd a little way out of his Lodgment with one Servant, without Arms; which three Irishmen (from whom ſome of the Cattle had been taken, and who followed at a diſtance in hopes to ſteal ſome of the Prey) perceiving on a ſudden, ruſh'd in upon them, and cut off their Heads, and fled away. After they had thus revenged themſelves, Goron's Servants a while after wondring why their Maſter ſtaid ſo long, went out to look for him, and tell him, that his Supper was ready, but to their great Surprize found him lying headleſs. This accident cauſed his Party to make all ſpeed to Join the Earl of Desmond, and acquaint him therewith, who was exceedingly troubled when he heard it; but in hopes to repair this loſs, by Preying upon ſuch of his Followers as had forſaken him, and taken Protection, he March'd into Kerry, and ſent ſome of his Servants to take a Prey near Tralee, which they did; but among the Prey they took, were ſome Cows of a Poor Womans, which were all ſhe had: She complain'd hereof to a Brother of hers; who with three other of his Brethren, went to the Governour of Caſtle-Mange to deſire his Aſſiſtance, in Order to Recover the Prey; who complied with their Requeſt, and gave them ſeven Shot, and twelve Kern to aſſiſt them; who following the Tract of the Cattle, came to a Wood where they reſolved to ſtay that night: But one of them in the Night eſpying a Light, inform'd the Reſt of it, who all made towards the Place, where they found only an Old Man ſitting by the Fire in a Cabbin; one Kolly or Kelly an Irishman who headed the Party, ſtruck him with his Sword on the Arm, and afterwards on the ſide of the head, which Wounds bled ſo abundantly, that, though the Old Man cryed out, Save me, for I am the Earl of Desmond; Kolly finding he could not live, bid him prepare to dye, and cut off his Head, which was afterwards ſent to England, and placed on a Pole on London-Bridge.

The Earl of Desmond's Death put an end for the preſent to the Rebelions in almoſt all parts of the Kingdom (moſt of the Irish now Sueing for Protections, and deſiring to live peaceably) and drove that Arch-Rebel Baltinglaſſ to ſuch deſpair, that he quitted the Kingdom, and Embark'd for Spain, where he dyed for Grief, not long after his Arrival.

Anno Domini, 1584. Et Anno Reginae, XXVI.

C H A P. XXVI.

SIR John Perrott Landed the 21st of June, but was not Sworn Lord-Deputy till the 26th, by reaſon of the Abſence of the Lords-Juſtices from Dublin at that time of his Landing.

The

The Kingdom being now quiet; Her Majesty sent over Orders to Survey the Estates of such as had been obstinate in their Rebellion, in order to distribute the same among the Officers and Soldiers, who had best deserved.

A Commission also passed the Great-Seal, with instructions for Musters in every County.

John Norris Lord-President of Munster, Thomas L'Estrange, and John Long Primate of Ardmagh, were this Year Sworn Privy-Councillors.

A Pardon was granted to the Earl of Clanrickard by Her Majesties Order.

The Deputy being to take His Progress into Connaught, Five Counties were obliged to provide for his Carriages at their charges.

The Pay of such Soldiers as lay in the Fields, was ordered to be Six pence per diem sterl.

Anno Reg.
XXVII.

Council Book
fol. 261.

Anno Domini, 1585. Et Anno Reginae, XXVII.

C H A P. XXVII.

THIS Year Her Majesty sent for the President of Munster over, to Employ him in the Netherlands, and made his Brother Thomas Norris Vice-President.

President of Munster recalled.

Her Majesty sent to the Lord-Deputy and Council complaining, that though She had sent them many Orders and Instructions, yet few of them had been put in Execution as they ought to be, to which the Lord-Deputy and Council answer'd; that they could not so well Execute them, as was expected from them, by reason of the perpetual Troubles, and frequent Changes of the Chief Governours in the Kingdom of Ireland; so that the succeeding Governours were Strangers to what instructions had been given to their Predecessors; besides the multiplicity of business they had always on their hands.

Lord-Deputies answer, to the Queens Letter.

Hereupon Secretary Fenton, who solicited all Affairs in England for the Lord-Deputy and Council; and had an Allowance of Twenty Shillings per diem over and above his Salary as Secretary during his stay there, came over with fresh instructions; which among other things ordered, That for the future all Instructions and Establishments sent from England should be publickly Read at the Council-Table by the Secretary once every Quarter of a Year at the least, except only, that in especial Matters, which for Secrecy were not fit to be Read openly: The Lord-Deputy had a discretionary power to direct the Secretary to communicate them only to such of the English Council; as for the most part were attendant on the State. It was also Ordered, that the Secretary should keep the Privy-Signet. Instructions were likewise given for quieting the North and the Province of Munster, forbidding all suspicious Persons, who had been formerly in Rebellion, though now Pardon'd, especially of the Commonalty to carry any offensive Weapons. I * A-

New Instructions from England.

Anno Dom.
1586.

Parliament
held at Dublin.

Statute of Baltinglass.

Sir Richard
Binghams,
Good Government in Connaught.

Thomas Roe
Burk.

Roe Burk killed.

About this time Breny was divided into Baronies, and hath ever-since been called by the name of the County of Cavan.

This Year the Parliament Met at Dublin, April the 26th, where appeared besides the Lords-Spiritual, these Temporal Lords, viz. The Earl's of Ormond, Kildare, Tyrone, Thomond, Clanrickard, Clancarty; the Viscount's Buttivant, Gormanstown, Fermoy, and Mount-Garrett; and the Baron's Antherry, Kinsale, Slane, Delvin, Kileen, Houth, Trimlestown, Dunsany, Upper-Ossory, Louth, Curraghmore, Inchiquin, Bourk, Castle-Connell, and Cahir.

Among many other good Laws, passed this Session the famous Statute, commonly call'd, The Statute of Baltinglass, was one, whereby James Eustace late Viscount Baltinglass was attainted, and any kind of Inheritance, made forfeitable for Treason.

Sir Richard Bingham, by due Execution of Justice in his Government of Connaught, had brought the Commonalty of that Province not only to a peaceable behaviour, but also to a liking of the English Government, and an aversion to such great Persons as they were wont headlong to follow into Rebellion: But several of the Gentry and chief Men were much discontented thereat; and disdaining to be subject to the Laws as others were, began to contrive among themselves how they might draw back the common People to their party; Nevertheless, most of the Gentry appeared at the Sessions held by Sir Richard Bingham in the Month of September at Donemony, in the County of Mayo, for the perfecting of the last Composition made in that Province; only Thomas Roe Burk during the said Sessions kept himself in one of his Castles, which stood in an Island on Lough-Mask, within sight of the Governour and the rest of the Commissioners, and refused to come, though sent for by them. Sir Richard was resolved to punish this his contempt, and to prevent further mischief, was resolv'd to cut off, or apprehend such as he thought most inclined to kindle new Combustions: Wherefore, soon after he gave Order to the Sheriff of the County of Mayo to apprehend the said Thomas Roe Burk, who sent his Sub-Sheriff to put it in Execution. The Sub-Sheriff was wounded as he endeavoured to apprehend him; but Roe Bourk received an Wound of which he dyed, and even his own Relations were not sorry for it, for he oppressed them all to the utmost of his power: There were two others of the Burks hang'd at this time for sowing sedition among the People, and for conspiring with the said Thomas Roe Bourk to Murther Sir Richard Bingham, as some of their own name inform'd him, and caution'd him to take care of himself.

Anno Domini, 1586. Et Anno Reginae, XXVII.

C H A P. XXVII.

Sir Richard
Binghams impartiality.

SIR Richard Bingham, as he was severe in the Execution of Justice, so he was Impartial; for he would not connive at the Crimes committed by the English under his Government; and in one of his Sessions punished punished Six of them very severely; which as on the one hand gained him Repute; so on the other, gave occasion to some malicious persons to deal underhand with divers of the Burks, who were too apt of themselves to relapse into their former practises, to be upon their keeping till their pardons should be sent them by the Lord-Deputy; insinuating that the Governour was a cruel man, and not fit to be trusted: By these instigations the Burks soon began a new Rebellion, and fortified the Castle of Lough-Mask, otherwise call'd the Castle of Necally, and Thomas Roe's Castle.

When this Insurrection began; Sir Richard Bingham with only 100 English Soldiers and a few Kern, was besieging the Castle of Clan Owen in Thomond, which was defended by Mahowne O Bryan, a great Champion of the Popes; but the valour of the Assailants was such, as that in Seven days time they took the Castle, which they Razed, and slew O Bryan. This done, he march'd towards Castle Necally, and sent a Message to the Defendants, admonishing them to submit; and offer'd them pardon upon that condition: To which they answer'd, that they kept that Castle only for their own safety, and that they durst not trust to the promise of an English man. Sir Richard hereupon attack'd the Castle, which was very difficult of access, being seated far within the Lough, in an Island, and the Walls thereof built so near the brink of the Water, as that there was hardly any space where he could Land his Men; Nevertheless, putting his Men in Boats he attempted it; but his party being but small, and much Fatigued at the Siege of Clan Owen, and the weather altering, on a sudden he was forc'd to retire with the loss of his Boats, and several of his Men; which the Enemy perceiving and fearing to be attacked again with a greater force, they Imbark'd themselves in their own Boats; and such of Sir Richards as fell into their hands, and so Escaped into the Woods, where they were joined by many more of their Accomplices. In the mean time, Richard Burk one of the Principal of them came in to Sir Richard Bingham, and submitted himself, promising to do him great service, but under that pretence intended to betray him and all his Company; which being discovered, and made out by many apparent Proofs, he was deservedly Executed by Martial-Law. After his Execution, the party being almost in despair, might have been easily subdued; the Gentry of the Country offering to pursue them at their own charges, without abating a penny of their Composition-Rents, with which offer Sir Richard was mightily pleased, reckoning it the best Policy to set them one against another; but unexpectedly he received from the Lord-Deputy a strict Order to receive them into Protection; which Protection was sent him, Signed by the Lord-Deputies own hand. This order did not a little grieve Sir Richard; however, he managed the matter to the best advantage he could, causing them first to sue to him for Protections; which when they did, he Signed them with his own hand, under the Seal of the Province, as was formerly accustomed.

The Burks soon had intelligence from their well-wishers in Dublin, of the favour the Lord-Deputy intended them; which, notwithstanding Sir Richard Bingham's prudent Management, was an Encouragement to them, to attempt greater matters than before. For soon after Sir

Anno Reg.
XXVII.

The Burks
begin a new Commotion.

Castle of *Clan-
Owen* taken.

Richard Burk Executed.

Anno Dom.
1587.

The Burks abuse the Lord-Deputies favour.

Richard coming to Dublin, was blamed by the Lord-Deputy for Signing the Protections with his own hand, and Sealing them with the Seal of the Province; to which Sir Richard reply'd, that when Her Majesty should know what a Condition the Burks had been reduced; and how after that, his Lordship had granted them such ample Protections, he doubted not, but he should have Thanks for his Proceedings, and his Lordship would receive a check for his. The Lord-Deputy herewith offended, wrote Letters to be sent to the Lords of the Council in England against Sir Richard: But the next day Sir Richard had advice from Connaught, that the Burks were up again as high as ever; upon Receipt of which, he went to his Lordship and Council, and flung his Lordship the Letter, saying, Now let your Lordship behold the fruits of your Protections. The Lord-Deputy gave it Adam Loftus Lord Chancellor to read it; which he had no sooner done, but he and Sir Richard were made friends again, and the Letters which he had written against Sir Richard were burnt. Sir Richard hearing that the Burks had joined their Forces with the Clandonells and Clangibbons, sent the Arch-Bishop of Tuam, the Lord Bermingham, the Chief Justice, and the Attorney of the Province of Connaught, with others as Commissioners to Parley with the Burks, and to know the reason of their insolent Attempts; and offer them Peace and Pardon, upon such Terms as were consistent with the Credit of the State: But their demands were not only unreasonable, but their insolence was such, as that they Burnt and Destroyed the Country while the Commissioners were with them. Nevertheless, the Lord-Deputy sent such Directions to Sir Richard and the Commissioners, that Articles of Agreement were made; and the Burks promised to perform them Punctually: But the Commissioners were no sooner departed, but these Perfidious Traytors began to Burn and Demolish the Towns and Castles in the open Country, and Proclaimed their Intentions in the most Opprobrious and Seditious Speeches, saying, What have we to do with that Calliagh? meaning the Queen, how unwise are we, being so mighty a Nation, to be subject to a Woman so long? have we not the Pope and the King of Spain to Rule over us? we will acknowledge no other supremacy but theirs.

The Burks
Sollicit the Scots for Aid.

Notwithstanding all these Provocations, Sir Richard did forbear to Raise Forces against them; for the Lord-Deputy had frequently caution'd him against begining a new War. But this forbearance gave the Rebels Opportunity to Augment their Strength and Numbers; so that in a short time they had between Seven and Eight Hundred Men in a Body: They also invited the Scots to come to their Assistance; assuring them, that they never could expect the like Opportunity to Conquer Connaught; for the Queen had sent so many Soldiers into the Low-Countries, that she had very few left in Ireland.

The Lord-Deputy received intelligence of all these proceedings, and was at last convinc'd that 'twas high time to Quench the Flame of this Rebellion, which every day spread it self more and more; and therefore by advice of the Council, commanded Sir Richard Bingham to prosecute the Rebels with all the Forces he had, or could levy.

Sir Richard pursued these directions speedily and effectually; and having taken care to secure the Country behind him, on the 12th of

July

July, March'd with One hundred Foot and Fifty Horse of his own Garrison towards Ballinrobe, where he Arrived on the 14th, and spent Six or Seven Days in Parleying with the Burks, whilst he Assembled his whole Force together; and was joined by the Earl of Clanrickard, the Lord Bermingham, Baron of Athenry, Sir Hubert Mac-Dany, Teige O Kelly and others. Having gathered all his Forces into a Body, he sent the Earl of Clanrickard and others to confer with the Burks, and to try whether they could bring them to Reason by fair means; but all in vain. When he had received their final Resolutions; he was resolved to take other measures; and in the first place Executed several of their Hostages, which they had formerly given him as Pledges for their Loyalty and good behaviour: For he had found by experience, that the sparing of their Hostages did encourage them to Rebel again; trusting still to the mercy and good nature of the English Government. After this, he immediately March'd to the Abbey of Ballintubber, from whence he sent his Foot and Kerns into the Mountains and Woods, under the Command of Captain John Bingham, to attack the Rebels in their fastnesses; which he performed with that Success, that in Six or Seven Weeks time they all submitted to the State: Sir Richard with the Horse all the while kept the Campaign-Country, as well for the Defence of the good Subjects in those parts, as to hinder the escape of the Rebels, who had taken to the Bogs and Fastnesses.

Ann. 1581.
XXIX.

Sir Richard Bingham's care to suppress them.

He Executes some of their Hostages.

About this time came into the Camp a Person, who to encourage the Rebels, and animate others to join with them; reported, that the Earl of Leicester was slain, and most of the English in the Low-Countries cut off; that two great Armies of Spaniards were Landed in England; and a great Spanish Navy was come to Baltimore; that the King of Scots was in Arms against Her Majesty; and that Her Majesty was dangerously sick, for which false Stories Sir Richard caused him to be hanged in view of the whole Camp.

A spreader of false news hanged.

During the time in which Captain John Bingham hunted the Rebels from one Fastness to another, he had taken from them Four or Five thousand head of Cattle, a Thousand of which were reserved towards the defraying the extraordinary Charges of the Expedition; and the rest were by Sir Richard distributed as booty among the Officers and Soldiers, or given to the Kerns in consideration of their Entertainment, who were thereupon Discharged and Dismissed.

A great Prey taken, and how disposed of.

This Broil was hardly over, when Two thousand Scots Landed in the County of Sligo, with Edmond Kerragh Burk and others, who went to crave their Assistance; they were also aided by Sir Arthur O Neal and Hugh Mac-Guire, so that in all they amounted to Three thousand Men and upwards: They daily expected more Scots to come out of Scotland to join them; but 'twas not long before Sir Richard Bingham gave them Battle, and totally routed them, with the slaughter of above Two thousand upon the Spot.

The Scots routed.

Anno

174
174
174

Anno Dom.
1587.

Anno Domini, 1587. Et Anno Regina, XXX.

C H A P. XXX.

Hugh O Neal
Petitions to be Earl of Tyrone, &c.Condition of Tyrone's Grant.Acts of State.
Vid. Council-
Book, fol. 304.
and 311.Lilies Grammars only ordered to be Taught.

HUGH O Neal, who in the Service against the Earl of Desmond had the Command of a Troop of Horse in Her Majesty's Pay; Petitioned the Parliament of Ireland, That by Vertue of Letters-Patents, Granted to his Ancestors, he might have the Place and Title of Earl of Tyrone; and be admitted to the Inheritance heretofore annexed to the Earldom: The Parliament Granted him the Title and Place, but told him, The Inheritance (which was Vested in the Crown by the Attainder of Shane O Neal) must be referred to the Queen's Pleasure. Hereupon Hugh O Neal got the Lord-Deputy's Letters of Recommendation to Her Majesty, upon his promise of a great Rent to be reserved to the Crown; which Letters and his own Addresses at the Court of England procured him a Grant under the Great-Seal of England, of the Earldom of Tyrone, without any Retervation of Rent. The Lord-Deputy out of respect to the Great Lords, who had procured this Grant, forbore to Oppose it, tho' he was much offended at Hugh O Neal's Breach of Promise: The Conditions of this Grant were, That the Bounds of Tyrone should be limited, That one or two Places should be reserv'd for building of Forts, and keeping Garrisons; That the Sons of Shane and Turlogh should be provided for, That the Earl of Tyrone should challenge no Authority over the Lord's bordering upon that County: Upon this and certain Conditions for his Maintenance, Turlogh Lynagh was induced to surrender the County to him.

This Hugh O Neale's Father was Mathew O Kelly, who was Bastard to Con O Neal, by a Smith's Wife of Dandak, who never confess'd it till her Death. Con O Neal appointed the said Mathew to succeed him; whom also the King Created Baron of Danganon; but Shane the Legitimate Son of Con O Neal, killed him in his Father's Life-time.

This Year an Act of State Passed, for the continuance and levying the Composition for another Year; in regard of the Charges Her Majesty was at in quashing the late Troubles: As also for ordering the Five Counties of the Pale to bear their Proportions for the Lord-Deputy's House. A Commission also issued for a General Muster throughout the Realm.

About this time, it was Ordered that no Grammar but Lilies should be Taught in this Kingdom; for, that whilst other Grammars were Taught in some Schools, the Youth who had used no other but Lilies, upon their Removal to such Schools, were put back in their Learning, being forc'd to begin to learn a new Grammar.

The 15th of May, very angry words passed between the Lord-Deputy and Sir Nicholas Bagnal Marshall, in the presence of the Chief Justice, the Master of the Rolls, and the Secretary of State, upon Occasion, caſion, that one Patrick Cullan (who uſed to go into England in the name of O Neal, with Complaints to Her Maſteſty againſt the Lord-Deputy) was Ordered to be Examin'd before the Council. The Maſhal required, that the Lord-Deputy ſhould not be preſent at the Examination; upon which the Lord-Deputy taking it ill, to be directed by him, told him. That though he would not be preſent at it, yet he would do what he thought fit : The Maſhal reply'd, he miſtruſted falſe meaſure wou'd be uſed; the Deputy ſaid, He deſyed him or any man who ſhou'd think any falſe meaſure ſhould come by him; the Maſhal told him, He deſyed him alſo : Hereupon the Deputy with the flat of his Hand touch'd his Cheek once or twice, and laying his other hand on his right ſhoulder, ſaid, Well, well Maſhal, if you deſyed a man in my place in another Country, he would have hanged you. The Maſhal hereat, held up his ſtaff as if he would have ſtruck the Deputy; but Mr. Fenton the Secretary, and Sir Nicholas White Maſter of the Rolls interpoſing themſelves, the Maſhal fell back, and riſing up ſaid; It will be prov'd you have done ill in this Matter; the Lord-Deputy answer'd, You lye; if you ſay I have done ill in this Matter; ſaid the Maſhal You lye, and correcting himſelf, If you were not Lord-Deputy, I would ſay you lye; but becauſe you are Deputy, I will not ſay you lye; but I care not for Sir John Perrott; the Deputy ſaid, If I were but Sir John Perrott, I would teach you to uſe me thus; and if you did not dote, I would commit you to Priſon : If you do, answer'd the Maſhal, I wou'd come out whether you wou'd or no : The Lord-Deputy ſaid; Get you hence, for 'tis not reaſon to talk with you; for a Man would think you are drunk : You are drunk, replyed the Maſhal. What was the end of this Diſcourſe is not known, nor the cauſe of it, only 'tis believed, that the Maſhal was a great Friend to Cullan.

The Queen ſuppoſing all things to be in a ſettled Condition in Ireland; recalled many of Her Officers and Soldiers, and ſent them into the Low-Countries. Hereupon the Northern Lords began to create new ſtirs; The Forces which uſed to keep them in awe being now withdrawn, Mac-Mahon accuſed the Earl of Tyrone for Ceſſing and wronging the Country, which the Government ordered to be redreſſed. Mac-Guire complained of Mac-Mahon and Tyrone's having done him innumerable Injuries; and he himſelf was Commanded by the Deputy to perform ſome things which he had neglected; or elſe to appear before his Lordſhip, to answer his Contempt. Mac-Guire deſired to be excuſed from coming, by reaſon he was Sickly, and troubled with the Gout; but offer'd to double the Pledges he had given, if there were any doubt of his good diſpoſition towards the State.

About Chriſtmas, Sir John Perrott finding he had many Enemies, who repreſented him to the Queen to his Diſadvantage, wrote to Her Maſteſty to recall him; but moſt of the Gentry with many of the Nobility, Signed a Letter, and ſent it to Her Maſteſty; deſiring Her to continue him in the Government, as being a very Good Governour, and acceptable to the Natives and Commonalty in general.

Anno Reg.
XXX.

Council Book
fol. 261.

The Northern Lords accuſe one another.

Anno Dom.
1588.

Anno Domini, 1588. Et Anno Reginae, XXXI.

C H A P. XXXI.

THE Lord-Deputy and Council now began to perceive the Mischiefs, which were like to proceed from withdrawing the Northern Garrisons, and from Tyron's aspiring Ambition : They therefore certified Her Majesty of his daily Seditious Practises, which they look'd upon to be fore-runners of Rebellion.

Tyron's disloyal Practises.

How he sent to Mac-Connell (who was a Chief among the Island-Scots) many of his Men; upon Condition to receive Supplies from him upon any Occasion whatsoever he required. How he Claimed the Chief Men of Ulster to depend on him as his Vassals. How he had sent his Son to be Fostered among the O Cahans, to whom he had been formerly a great Enemy, which shewed a great Combination to make way for his further Greatness; Fostering being accounted the Greatest bond of amity among the Irish : They also desired that the Hostages of Munster, who were then in the Castle of Dublin for prevention of their Escape, might be removed into England. They concluded with an earnest request, That some Treasure might be sent over to supply the Soldiers Wants.

O Donell hires Men of the Scots.

Her Majesty had hardly received these Advertisements, but the Council had Intelligence, that O Donell had practised with the Island-Scots for hired Men to assist him in some Undertaking, which he had resolv'd on. The Lord-Deputy hereupon desiring the advice of the Council, how he should deal with O Donell : After they had severally deliver'd their Opinions, against all which he gave Satisfactory Reasons; and at length told them, If they would leave the Matter to his Management, he doubted not, but that he should be able to bring in either O Donell, himself, or his Son, without any extraordinary Charge to Her Majesty, hazarding of Her Subjects, annoyance to the Country, or interruption of the Peace; the Council were herewith so Satisfy'd, that they all consented to leave it to the Lord-Deputy, to do herein whatsoever he should think Convenient.

O Donell's Son taken.

The Deputy was resolv'd to lose no time, but speedily put his Project in Execution; and therefore ordered a Merchant in Dublin, who had a Ship Laden with Spanish Wine, to Sail up by Donegal, as far as he could into O Donell's Country, and pretending to come directly from Spain, to offer to sell his Wines at a cheap Rare; and be very liberal in giving Wine to such as should come on board him; but if O Donell or his Son should come on board, to treat them so plentifully as to make them forget themselves, and then clap them under hatches, and bring them away for Dublin : Nor did the Project miscarry; for by this means was O Donell's Son surprized, and brought away, and kept as a Pledge for his Fathers good behaviour. Nevertheless, in the ensuing Troubles there were some, who thinking to please O Donell, and and by that means to persuade him to return to his Obedience; much blamed the Deputy, as if he had done a very injurious Act, and thereby interrupted the Peace of the Country; not considering that O Donell was by Foreign Practice quite alienated from Loyalty; and by his Marriage with Tyrone's Daughter, wholly devoted to his Faction and Service.

Anno Reg.
XXXI.

And indeed the Deputy had many Enemies, who not only put sinister constructions on his Actions, but stuck at nothing which might do him a mischief; for this Year a Letter was written in Turlogh Lynogh's Name, to the Queen's Majesty, highly reflecting on the Deputy; which, when he was certified of, he was much troubled, because one of his greatest Services had been to oblige Turlogh, to be a faithful Servant to the State. But Turlogh himself hearing of it, sent his Secretary into England, to disavow the said Letter; and to desire the Author of the Forgery might be punished; declaring, That the Deputy was so far from having done him any injury, that on the contrary, he had done him many Kindnesses, and bestowed many Favours on him.

A Letter forged against the Lord-Deputy.

Sir John Perrott finding that many of the English were much alienated by the O Neals, Burks, and O Donells's Marrying their Sons into their Families; On the 22d of April wrote unto Her Majesty, that, He desired to be Re-called, because he could please and pacifie Her Majesty's Irish Subjects better than Her English; and that he feared Her English Subjects would shortly learn the Irish Customs, sooner than the Jews did the Heathens; and concludes in these words: My Soul is a Witness to my Saviour JESUS, this is Truth, which Your true and faithful Subject speaketh; I am weary of my Place, but never to serve Your Highness. Her Majesty did at last return him an Answer, wherein She promised shortly to provide him a Successor.

The Deputy desires to be re-called.

Before the Lord-Deputy divulged the Contents of this Answer, or signified his Intention of leaving the Kingdom speedily, he sent for all the Chiefs among the Irish, who might be any ways suspected of corresponding with a foreign Enemy, in case of an Invasion, which was then feared of this Kingdom; and by fair Speeches, persuaded them to give in Pledges for their Fidelity, and the good behaviour of their People and Followers; telling them, the doing of it would not be more for the quiet of the Kingdom in General, than for their own Good; and that by this Testimony of their Loyalty, at such a time, when the Deputy declared, He had rather himself be bound, than be at liberty under suspicion; they would not only procure a speedy release of their Pledges, but Trust and Esteem with Her Majesty for the future. By this means he prevailed with them to deliver in their Pledges into the Castle of Dublin; and having provided the best he could for the preservation of this Kingdom, for he was not ignorant of the Preparations of the Spaniards, and their pretended Invincible Armada; he Obtained his Discharge, and was Succeeded by Sir William Fitz-Williams in the Government.

He takes Pledges of the Irish.

Before he delivered the Sword, he sent for the Mayor and Citizens of Dublin to the Castle; where he presented the City with a large Silver Cup Gilt, with a Cover, and a Spire over the Cover with this Motto, IN PACE RELINQUO, meaning that he had left the City and Kingdom in Peace.

Sir William Fitz-Williams Succeeds him

Anno Dom.
1588.

Sir John Perrott's
Speech.

As soon as Sir William Fitz-Williams was Sworn, Sir John Perrott made the following Speech in hearing of all who were present at the Ceremony, which was Perform'd in Christ's-Church.

Now my Lord, since that by Her Majesty's Directions I have given up the Government of this Kingdom into your hands; I must give your Lordship to understand (and I thank GOD I may say so) that I leave it in perfect Peace and Tranquility, which I hope your Lordship will Certifie unto Her Majesty, and the Lords of Her Council: I must add thus much; If there be any Man in this Kingdom suspected to be evil-minded to the State, who is able to draw but six Sword-Men after him into the Field, (if he hath not already put in Pledges for his Fidelity) so your Lordship shall think it Necessary, I will undertake (tho' now but a Private Man) to send for him, and if he come not in within twenty Days, I will forfeit the Credit and Reputation of my Government.

The Lord-Deputy replied, that, All was well, and that it needed not; wishing that he might leave the Kingdom no worse than his Lordship had done. After this they parted, and the new Lord-Deputy went to his House, but most of the Nobility and Gentry stayed to attend on Sir John Perrott, who that Day was Invited to Dine with the Mayor of Dublin; and when he returned to his Lodging, they went all to take their leave of him: As he came from his Lodging to the Key of Dublin to take Boat, the Throng of the People coming to Salute him, (some with Cries of Applause, and some with Tears, bemoaning his departure) was so great, that he was almost two hours before he could pass the Streets, and was forced twice or thrice to take House to avoid the press; Turlogh Lynogh accompanied him to the Boat, and standing on the River-side, whilst he saw the Ship under Sail, with many Tears lamented his Departure; and the City of Dublin, as a Testimony of their Love and Affection to him, sent some of their young Men with Shot, who waited on him as his Guard, till he arrived at his Seat, called Carew-Castle in Pembroke-shire.

His Actions during his Government, are thus Expressed by Sir Nicholas White:

His Character.

*Pacificavit Conaciam, Relaxavit Mediam, Ligavit Momoniam;
Extirpavit Scotos,
Refrenavit Anglos:
Et his omnibus per æque rectigal acquisibit Regina.*

Tyrone Plots
with the Spaniards.

Sir William Fitz-Williams had not long received the Sword, when he was informed by several of the better sort of the Irish, that Tyrone was Plotting with the Spaniards, who were daily expected by him; and that he made great Preparation for their Reception: And indeed this Year their Navy, which they deem'd Invincible, being by the Special Providence of the Almighty, dispersed by Storms; many of them were forced on the Northern Coasts of Ireland, and no less than Seventeen Ships, and Five thousand Three hundred and Ninety four Ship-wreck'd; the Earl of Tyrone did not only relieve and cherish the Spaniards in their Distress, and harboured the rest of their Ships; But new Combinations were made betwixt them to the prejudice of the State.

Anno

Anno Reg.
XXXII.Anno Domini, 1589. Et Anno Reginae, XXXII.

C H A P. XXXII.

THIS Year the Lord Viscount Gormonstown, Complained to the Lord-Deputy and Council against Tyrone, Turlogh Lynogh, and Mac-Mahon, how they had spoiled his Tenants; Whereupon the Lord-Deputy and Council Granted him an Order against them.

An Order also was made for delivering all the Warrants of Sir Edward Barkley, Deceas'd, to the Lord-Deputy; for that he dyed Indebted to Her Majesty.

The Lord-Deputy received Information, that the Spaniards, who the last Year were wreck'd on the Coasts of Ulster and Connaught, had left much Treasure behind them, which the Irish in those parts had Possessed themselves of: He therefore issued a Commission to enquire after it, and to Seize it for Her Majesty's Service; which turning to no account, he himself in Person took a Journey into Ulster, after Allhallontia, to the great Charges both of the Queen and Country, in hopes to Finger some of it; but to no purpose: But being Disappointed of his Hopes, he brought away Sir Owen Mac-Toole, and Sir John O'Dogherty, Prisoners; who of all the Irish were the two best Affected to the State, and kept the first in Confinement during the time of his Government; and the other for two Years, when he was forced to Purchase his Liberty. This his hard usage of two such Persons, caused a General Disaffection among the Gentlemen in Ulster.

Richard Meredith, Bishop of Loghlin, who had been a great Friend to Sir John Perrott, endured many Troubles for his sake, and was this Year committed to the Tower.

Vid. Orders of Council.
fol. 326.

Ibid. fol. 328.

The Deputy goes into Ulster, in hopes to gain Treasure, but find none.He Imprisons Mac Toole and O'Dogherty.Bp. of Loghlin committed to the Tower.Anno Domini, 1590. Et Anno Reginae, XXXIII.

C H A P. XXXIII.

IN Easter Holy-days, Adam Loftus, Lord Arch-Bishop of Dublin, and Lord-Chancellor of Ireland, with others of the Clergy, Met the Mayor, and Aldermen, and Commons of the City, at the Tholsel, where he made a Speech to them; setting forth, How advantageous it wou'd be to have a Nursery of Learning founded here; and how kindly Her Majesty wou'd take it, if they would bestow that Old decay'd Monastery of Allhallows (which Her Father King Henry the Eighth had at the Dissolution of the Abbey's given them) for the Erecting such a Structure;

The City of Dublin gives the Monastery of Allhallows, for the foundation of an University.

Anno Dom.
1589.

whereupon the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, Unanimously Granted his Request.

Within a Week after, Henry Usher, Arch-Deacon of Dublin, went over into England to the Queen, to procure a License for the said Foundation; which being obtained, the Arch-Bishop went a Second time to the Tholsel, and returned them Thanks, not only from the Clergy, but also from Her Majesty, whose Letter he shewed them for their Satisfaction; and immediately Labourers were set at work, to pull down the Old ruinous Building, which they quite demolish'd save only the Steeple.

Tyrone goes for England
without leave

In the Month of May, 1590. the Earl of Tyrone went over to the Court of England, where he was put under an easy Confinement, because he went without the Lord-Deputy's leave; but upon his Submission he was freed of his Restraint: During his stay in England, he entered into Bonds for the security of the Pale; and that he and his Neighbours, particularly Turlogh Lynogh, shou'd live in Peace; with this Proviso, That the Pledges should not be confined in the Castle of Dublin, but should live with some Gentlemen of the Pale, or Merchants of Dublin; and be exchanged every three Months.

How Tyrone
Evaded
Mac-Shane's
Accusation.

In the Month of July, Con Mac-Shane, the Son of Shane O Neal, accused the Earl of Tyrone of many unlawful Practises, to make himself great in the North; and of making a League with the King of Spain, to Aid him against Her Majesty. Tyrone Endeavoured by all means, that this Accusation should not find Credit; not only by denying the Truth of it, but by affirming, that Con Mac-Shane did it out of Malice, because Her Majesty had raised him to the Earldom of Tyrone; and that he had laboured to extinguish the Name of O Neal, which Con did still aim to Usurp, as his Father had done before him: By which crafty Allegations, and by causing Con Mac-Shane, whom he found means to get into his hands, to be hang'd; he for the present stifled the Information; but the Event at last demonstrated, that all this was meer Dissimulation; for when Turlogh Lynogh dyed, he made no scruple to Assume the Title of O Neal to himself, tho' it was made Treason by Act of Parliament, so to do.

Tyrone's Falshood and Subtilty.

On the last of August, Tyrone appeared before the Lord-Deputy and Council; where he promised, not only by word of Mouth, but also under his Hand, punctually to Perform the Articles which he made with the Council of England: But when the time came, which required, that these his Promises shou'd be turned into Performances; the better to gain time, to defer what he was utterly averse from doing, he cunningly wrote Letters, as well to the Lords of England, as to the Lord-Deputy and Council in Ireland; desiring that equal Security might be also taken of Sir Turlogh Lynogh, and all the Lords which then Bordered upon him, which he knew would be a most difficult thing to Effect.

The Death of Mac-Mahon.

About this time dyed Mac-Mahon, who was the Chief of the County of Monaghan in his time: He formerly Surrendered his Country, which he held by Tanistry, according to the Irish Custom, into Her Majesty's Hands; and received a Grant thereof under the Great-Seal of England, to him and his Heirs-Males; and for default of such, to his Brother Hugh Roe Mac-Mahon, with other Remainders.

Anno

Anno Reg.
XXXIV.

Anno Domini, 1591. Et Anno Reginae, XXXIV.

C H A P. XXXIV.

THIS Year Complaint was made to the Lord-Deputy, that Turlogh Lynough was wounded by Tyrone, who not only received a severe Check from the Lord-Deputy, for it, but was also informed, that the Council of England were made acquainted with it : But Tyrone in a Letter to the Lords of England, to Excuse himself, pretended that Turlogh Lynough was hurt by his Men, whilst he Prey'd his Territories.

Tyrone wounds Turlogh Lynough.

About the same time, Tyrone permitted his Country of Tyrone, by Commissioners appointed for that purpose, to be bounded on every side, and to be made Shire Ground, and divided into several Baronies; and Dungannon was made the County-Town, where the Gaol was ordered to be kept.

Tyrone first made a County.

Complaint was made to the Lords of England, by Sir Henry Bagnal, that Tyrone, though Married to another Woman, had forcibly taken away his Sister, and kept her as his Wife : But Tyrone wrote a Letter to Them, in which, with many Oaths and Asseverations, he denies that he did steal away the Marshal's Sister, but that she willingly went away with him, and was Married to him; and that before that time his first Wife had been lawfully Divorced from him.

Tyrone carries away Marshal Bagnal's Sister, and Marries her.

O Rourk, who for his Treasons had fled into Scotland, was by Order of the King of Scots taken and sent to London to Her Majesty, who Ordered him to be Arraigned for High-Treason; of which being found Guilty, he was Executed at Tyburne, the 3d of November, 1591.

O Rourk executed.

This Year also, Arthur Cavenagh, with seven of his Associates were taken at Monely, and hang'd at Catherlogh.

On the 13th of March, 1591. according to the Computation of the Church of England, Thomas Smith, then Mayor of Dublin, laid the first Stone of Trinity-College.

The Foundation of the University of Dublin.

Anno Domini, 1592. Et Anno Reginae, XXXV.

C H A P. XXXV.

HER Majesty's Charter, for the Foundation of this University, beareth date the 30th of March, 1592. And Sir William Cecil, Lord-Baron of Burleigh, Lord High-Treasurer of England, Knight of the Most Noble Order of the Garter, and one of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy-Council, was the First Chancellor thereof; Adam

The First Chancellor, Provost, Fellows & Scholars thereof.

M *

Loftus

Anno Dom.
1593.

Eleven Priests and Jesuits seized for stirring up Rebellion.

Loftus, Arch-Bishop of Dublin, the First Provost; Lucas Challoner, William Daniel, James Fullerton, and James Hamilton the First Fellows; Able Walsh, James Usher, and James Lee the First Scholars of the same.

About Michaelmas Term, Eleven Priests and Jesuits were seized in Connaught and Munster, and brought up to Dublin, where they were Examined before the Lord-Deputy. Several Witnesses at their Examination testified, That these Priests sowed Sedition and Rebellion in the Kingdom; and among the Witnesses, there was one James Raily, who made Oath, that Michael Fitz-Simons, one of the said Priests, stirred up above a Hundred Persons, amongst whom he himself was one, who otherwise would have lived peaceably, to assist Baltinglass in his Rebellion against the Queen; He further said, Sir Richard Bingham hath my Name entred in his Register; and can testifie I have not took part with any against the Queen, ever since, but have been several times urg'd so to do, by this Michael Fitz-Simons: I am sure I shall be Murdered by my own Relations for giving this true Evidence, if ever I return to Connaught; so that I know not now what Course to take. The Lord-Deputy hearing the Poor Man speak so concernedly, asked him, if he would go to Church, and serve Her Majesty against the Rebels? he asked the Deputy, whether his Lordship were in earnest? who answering that, he was; the Poor Man said, Then truly I will forsake the Devil, and serve GOD and the Queen: Whereupon the Lord-Deputy Cloathed him, and made him turn-Key of the Prison of the Castle of Dublin. This Fitz-Simons, was the Son of Fitz-Simons an Alderman of Dublin; and was Executed in the Corn-Market there, for having a hand in Baltinglass's Rebellion.

Fitz-Simons a Priest executed.

Anno Domini, 1593. Et Anno Reginae, XXXVI.

CHAP. XXXVI.

Mac-Guire begins to be troublesome.

ABOUT the beginning of this Year, Mac-Guire Chief of Fermanagh, upon pretence, That though he had given the Deputy Three hundred Cows to free his Country of a Sheriff during the Lord-Deputy's Government, yet one Captain Willis was made Sheriff of Fermanagh; who with Two hundred Men, Women and Boys, liv'd upon the Spoil of his Country; took his advantage, and set upon the Sheriff and his Followers, and drove them into a Church, where he would have Killed them all, had not Tyrone interposed, and made Composition for their Lives, on condition they should leave the Country.

Hereupon the Lord-Deputy sent Forces into Fermanagh, who took Mac-Guire's Castle of Enniskillen; he also Proclaimed Mac-Guire a Traytor; and let fall some threatening words against Tyrone, reflecting on him as a Traytor: These words Tyrone afterwards pretended were the first cause of his Combination with O Donell, and other Lords of the North; But certain it is, that about this time he plotted the Rebellion, which after-

Tyrone provides for his Rebellion.

afterwards broke out; and in order thereunto, by frequent changing the Men of Six Companies, which he had allowed him at the Queen's Pay, he caused almost his whole Country to be Trained to the perfect use of Arms; and getting a License to Transport a great quantity of Lead to Dungannon, under pretence it was to cover a Great House, which he designed to Build there; he made use of it to provide himself with Bullets for the War.

Anno Reg.
XXXVII.

Anno Domini, 1594. Et Anno Reginae, XXXVII.

C H A P. XXXVII.

EArly this Year, Mac-Guire broke into open Rebellion, and invaded Connaught by persuation of one Gauran, whom the Pope had made Titular Primate of all Ireland; but Sir Henry Bingham soon made him retire with the Slaughter of many of his Men, and the pretended Primate with them.

Mac-Guire
routed.

Though Tyrone had serv'd against Mac-Guire, and received a Wound in the Service; yet his refusal to deliver the Sons of Shane O Neale after their Escape out of the Castle of Dublin, when required so to do; together with his frequent Complaints against the Lord-Deputy, the Marshal, and the Garrison Soldiers, gave sufficient ground to believe, that he only cover'd his Treacherous Intentions, till he might be ready to put them in Execution.

About the Month of August Sir William Fitz-Williams being re-called into England, Sir William Russell, youngest Son of Francis Earl of Bedford took the Sword. In the First Month of his Government, Tyrone voluntarily appeared before the new Lord-Deputy, at Dublin; where both by Words and Writing he made the greatest Protestations and Promises of his Loyalty to the Queen, and the Respect he had for his Lordship, and how ready he was to serve him; pretending, all his Distaste was, at the former Deputy; Nay, he called GOD to Witness, that his greatest Grief was, the displeasure of Her Majesty, whom he owned to have been as Gracious to him, as any Prince in the World ever was to a Subject; and that he renounced GOD, if he should ever lift his Hand against Her Majesty. Nevertheless, Marshal Bagnall, at that very time offered to prove several Articles of High-Treason against him; and to avow, That he kept Correspondence with the Traitors Mac-Guire, and O Donell; that he had sent the former with his Primate into Connaught, and aided the Rebels in wasting of Monaghan, and Besieging Enniskillen by his Brother Cormack Mac-Baron, and by Con his own base Son; and that by threats he had withdrawn several Captains from the Service of the Queen. The Lord-Deputy was hereupon of Opinion, that he should be presently secured, but most of the Council thought it best to let him go for that time; whose advice, as being long Experienced in Irish Affairs, was followed by the Lord-Deputy; though when the Queen heard

Sir William
Russel Lord-
Deputy.

Tyrone in Person Submits himself.

Anno Dom.

1595.

Enniskillen
Relieved.

of it, She was much displeased. The Lord-Deputy shortly after took the Field, and March'd the Forces into Fermanagh, in order to relieve Enniskillen, which he perform'd, tho' not without some loss, and return'd to Dublin on the 9th of September.

Walter Riagh
Executed.

In January following, Pheagh Mac-Hugh, Walter Riagh, and Girald his Brother, with many others in Leinster, began to commit Acts of Hostility against the English; which the caused Lord-Deputy to March to Ballynecor, in which expedition he Destroyed Girald and James, two of Walter Riagh's Brothers, with some of their Followers; and shortly after Walter himself was Taken, and hanged in Chains.

Anno Domini, 1595. Et Anno Regina, XXXVIII.

C H A P. XXXVIII.

Tyrone assaults and Takes the Fort at Blackwater.

ABOUT the beginning of this Year, Tyrone hearing that General Norris was coming Lord-General into Ireland, with Two thousand Veterane Soldiers, besides One thousand, which were newly raised in England; and that Garrisons were to be planted at the Castles of Ballishannon and Relike, lying upon the Lake Earne, drew his Forces together, and by sudden Assaults took the Fort of Blackwater, built upon the Passage into Tyrone on the South-side, and then Razed it, and Burnt down the Bridge, and March'd into the Brenny, and besieged Monaghan: Nevertheless, this perfidious Rebel wrote Letters to the Earl of Ormond and Sir Henry Wallop, to procure Pardon for him and his Followers; and that they might have free Exercise of Religion (which as yet never had been punished, or so much as inquir'd into) together with the Redress of some other pretended Grievances; and on these Terms, promised to behave himself as a good Subject for the future. The like addresses were made by O Donell, and Shane Mac-Bryan, Mac-Phelim O Neal, Hugh Mac-Guire, Bryan Mac-Hugh Oge, Mac-Mahon, and Ever Mac-Cooly, complaining of several Wrongs and Grievances, especially of placing Sheriffs in their Countries.

Tyrone Sues
for Pardon.A Treaty with them broken off.

Sir Henry Wallop, and Sir Robert Gardner Chief-Justices of Ireland, were by Commission appointed to confer with Tyrone and his Confederate Rebels. These Commissioners having heard their Demands, judg'd some of them ought to be redress'd, others to be refer'd to Her Majesty's Pleasure: But when on the Queen's part, they propounded to the Rebels some Articles to be perform'd by them; they insolently refused them, and so the Conference was broken off; and Her Majesty's Intentions of giving them any reasonable Conditions to prevent the Effusion of Blood, were wholly frustrate.

The Truce, which was granted for holding the said Conference, was no sooner ended, but the Lord-Deputy and Lord-General advanc'd with their Forces to Ardmagh, with such Terrour to the Rebels, that Tyrone quitted the Fort of Blackwater, Burnt the Town of Dungannon, pull'd down down his own House there, Destroyed all Villages, and Retired into the Woods : After which the Lord-Deputy and the General returned to Dublin; and Tyrone, who in this last Expedition had been Proclaimed Traytor in his own Country, Hugh O Donnell, Bryan O Rourke, Hugh Mac-Guire, Bryan Mac-Mabon, Sir Arthur O Neal, Art Mac-Baron, Henry Oge O Neal, Turlough Mac-Henry O Neal, Cormack Mac-Baron, Con O Neal, Bryan Art Mac-Bryan, and one Francis Mounford were Indicted and Condemned (tho' absent) of High-Treason.

About this time the Leinster Rebels, Pheagh Mac-Hugh of the O Byrns, and Donell Spaniagh of the Cavenaghs, who when in a Declining Condition, and in want of Ammunition, upon a feigned Submission, had been received into Protection, and thereby got an Opportunity to recruit and provide for their Forces, began to oppress the Subjects, and Spoil the Country, from the Gates almost of Dublin, to the County of Wexford : The O Connors did the like in Ophalia; Con-naught also was in a bad Condition; for the Irish Rebels there, being joined by the Scots, were so numerous, as not only to Besiege Abbey-Boyle, but also to pass the Shannon in a great body; which being met with, as they were Burning the Country, by a Party which the Lord-Deputy sent against them, were put to flight, having lost Seventy of their Number. After which the Lord-Deputy March'd, and Summoned the Castle of Lofmage, belonging to O Madden; but being answer'd that, They would not Surrender, though his whole Army were Deputies; he attacked, and Took it with the Slaughter of Forty six of the Defendants.

Anno Reg
XXXIX.

Tyrone proclaimed Traytor, and with his accomplices Indicted and found Guilty of High Treason.

New Insurrections in Leinster and Connaught.

A new Rebellion in Connaught.

Anno Domini, 1596. Et Anno Regine, XXXIX.

CHAP. XXXIX.

ON the 19th of April, Sir John Norris Lord-General, and Sir Geffery Fenton Secretary of State, (having Receiv'd a Commission from Her Majesty, Authorizing them to offer Pardon and Restitution of Lands and Goods to such of the Irish Lords as should with due humility submit themselves, and seek Her Royal Mercy) began their Journey towards Dundalk, whither Tyrone came; and on his Knees craved Her Majesty's Pardon, which was Granted him on certain Conditions. Soon after, O Donell, Mac-Guire, and most of his Associates, by a Submission too honest to be truly intended by them, Obtained the like Favour : So, that whilst their Pledges were expected, and Pardons drawn, they were freed from the Prosecution of the Queen's Forces this Summer.

In the latter end of May following, Tyrone sent a Letter, which he had Received from the King of Spain, to the Lord-Deputy, thinking thereby to perswade him, that he was clear of all Forreign Correspondence, tho' at the same time he Solicited Aid in Spain; and depended on their promis'd Succours. He also, together with O Donell, and the rest of Tyrone and his Associates, submit themselves again.

Tyrone's Treacherous dealing.

Anno Dom.
1596.

the Ulster Lords, intended nothing less than to perform the Conditions, upon which Peace and Pardon had been Granted them : For he not only declined taking his Pardon till the latter end of July (by absenting himself on purpose from those places, where he that was sent with it thought to find him) and even then refused to Renounce forreign Aid upon Oath; but also stirred up Pheagh Mac-Hugh, and other Rebels in Leinster, to create new Troubles; and with others of his Associates, Signed a Letter, to be dispersed in Munster for the like Seditious purpose.

Pheagh Mac-Hugh Rebels again.

In August, Pheagh Mac-Hugh broke his Protection, and began Acts of Hostility; and surprized the Fort of Balline-Cor : The O Mores, O Connors, O Byrns, O Tooles, the Cavenaghs, and Butlers, and the Chief Names of Connaught combined together, Demanding their barbarous Titles, and the Lands they Claimed, to be Restored to them; and Spoiled the Country on all sides.

The Lord-Deputy March'd against Pheagh Mac-Hugh; took many Preys from him, Killed many of his Followers, and Executed two of the Pledges which he had formerly given for his Loyalty. The Butlers were Prosecuted by the Earl of Ormonde; the O Mores and O Connors, by Sir Anthony St. Leger; the Burks and O Rourks, by Sir Richard Bingham.

Tyrone Rebels again.

In the mean time, Tyrone endeavoured to Surprize the Garrison of Ardmagh; killed Five and Thirty Soldiers belonging to it, besides Eight, whom he caused to be Murdered as they went out for Wood, and Opposed the Convoy of Provisions thither; as likewise all Relief to the Fort of Blackwater; he also attempted by surprize to Possess himself of Carlingford Castle; and by his Son-in-Law Henry Oge, made inrodes into the Pale as far as the Boyn : For all which Proceedings, so contrary to his repeated Agreements, Protestations, and Oaths, when question'd by a Letter from the Lord-Deputy and Council; all that this Impudent Rebel Alledged for his Justification was, That his Confederate Pheagh Mac-Hugh (who never was comprehended in any of the Articles made with Tyrone) was Prosecuted by the State.

Sir Richard Bingham Recalled from his Government.

In the Month of January, Sir Richard Bingham being upon Complaints of the Irish by some of the English States-Men, thought too severe, was called into England from his Government of Connaught, and was Succeeded by Sir Conyers Clifford.

A new Treaty with Tyrone.

Soon after, General Norris, together with Sir George Bourcher, and Sir Geffry Fenton, being by Commission directed to Treat again with Tyrone, were met by him as they went to Re-victual Ardmagh : When he made use of his accustomed Artifices, pretending great Remorse for his Relapse from his Duty since his last Pardon; and Promising to Redeem all his past Faults by his future Services, provided they would procure a new Commission, Impowring them to receive him as a Subject : Whereupon, such a Commission was soon Granted them; whereof they gave him Notice, that he should meet them on the Second of April; but in his Letter to them, he alledged some trivial Reasons to delay the time; and though by theirs of the Tenth of April, they assured him of all reasonable Satisfaction; on the Seventeenth of the same Month he sent an Answer, containing the like frivolous Excuses, as before fore; together with his doubts, whether the Lord-General had Power to make good what he should promise to him; without the Lord-Deputy's consent; and his desire of Meeting them on a farther Day at Dundalk: But his appointment of the Day and Place being contrary to the final Resolution of the Commissioners, and Her Majesty's Directions; an End was put to this Treaty.

Anno Reg.
XL.

Anno Domini, 1597. Et Anno Reginae, XL.

C H A P. XL.

IN May, This Year the Deputy March'd against Pheagh Mac-Hugh, whom on the Eighth he Killed, and Took a great Prey of Cattle, which he divided among the Soldiers. In the mean time, Her Majesty complied with the Lord Deputy's earnest Request, to Revoke him into England; and accordingly Thomas Lord Burrough was sent over Lord-Deputy in his Room, who had the Sword delivered him on the Twenty Second of the same Month.

Pheagh Mac-Hugh killed.

This new Lord-Deputy coming over with Supreme Authority, as well in Martial, as in Civil Causes; Commanded General Norris to his Government of Munster, and not to stir thence without leave: Which, together with the many Baffles and Abuses put upon him by Tyrone, so wrought upon his high Spirit, as that he soon after dyed of Grief.

Lord Burrough made Deputy.

General Norris dyed.

When the Deputy entred on his Government, all Connaught, and the Earl of Ormonde's Nephews the Butlers in Munster; and all the North, except Seven Castles, viz. Newry, Knockfergus, Carlingford, Green-Castle, Ardmagh, Dundrum, and Olderfleet, were in open Rebellion.

But Tyrone soon after his Arrival, according to his usual flights; thinking to abuse his Credulity by Letters, requested a Truce or Cessation for a Month, which was for the Conveniency of Her Majesty's present Affairs, granted by the Deputy, who was Resolv'd not to Slack the pursuit of him and his Confederates, and to hearken to no more of their Submissions.

A truce for a Month.

Accordingly, as soon as the Month was expired, the Deputy drew the Forces towards Tyrone, and having with Sword in Hand forced his way through a Pass near Ardmagh, where the Irish had Interlaced the low Boughs of the Woods, and cast the bodies of Trees across the Way; he March'd towards the Fort of Blackwater, which he assaulted, and soon was Master of; and having put a Garrison therein, as with the whole Army he was rendring Thanks to GOD for this good Success, the Rebels advanced out of the Woods towards them: The English Army perceiving it, soon Engag'd them, and forc'd them to retire to their Dens again. In this conflict were Slain Francis Vaughan, Brother-in-Law to the Lord-Deputy, and two Foster Brethren to the Earl of Kildare, who for Grief thereof shortly after dyed.

The Lord-Deputy, prosecutes Tyrone.

Anno Dom.
1598.

A brave Retreat,

Tyrone lays Siege to the Fort of Blackwater, but is forc'd to Raise it.

The Lord-Deputy dies.

Adam Loftus, and Robert Gardner Lords Justices.

The Earl of Ormond, Lord Lieutenant of the Army.

Vid. Morrison, Part 2. p. 22. 23. 24.

Sir Conyers Clifford Governour of Connaught, with Six or Seven Hundred Men endeavour'd, as he was Order'd, to Join the Lord-Deputy at Blackwater, but was hindered by a Body of Two thousand Rebels, who attack'd him; nevertheless he made good his Retreat for above Thirty Miles in view of them.

The Lord-Deputy was no sooner on his return towards the Pale, but Tyrone attempted to Recover the Fort of Blackwater: Upon advice whereof the Deputy March'd back to raise the Siege; at whose approach Tyrone quitted his Enterprize. The Lord-Deputy pass'd the Blackwater, purposing to March to Dunannon, Tyrone's Chief Seat; when suddenly falling sick he was carry'd back to Dublin, but dyed by the way.

After whose Death, Sir Thomas Norris Lord-President of Munster was under the Great-Seal of Ireland Provisionally made Lord-Justice; but in a Months time he was weary of the Office; and upon his request, Her Majesty Order'd Adam Loftus the Lord-Chancellor, and the Chief Justice Robert Gardner, to be Lord's-Justices for the Civil Government; and the Earl of Ormonde with the Title of Lord-Lieutenant of the Army, to Command in Martial Affairs.

Tyrone immediately applies to the Earl of Ormonde, to procure a Commission to Treat with him, which being obtain'd, Tyrone met him and the other Commissioners at Dundalk; where upon certain Articles, a Cessation was concluded for Eight Weeks.

O'Rourke also made his Submission to Her Majesty, in the most ample manner that could be desired: But this goodly Submission had the same Issue, with those of the Perfidious Tyrone.

Anno Domini, 1598. Et Anno Regine, XLI.

C H A P. XLI

Tyrone after his Pardon, as disloyal as ever.

He sends aid to the Leinster Rebels, and besieges the Fort of Blackwater.

AT the Instance of the Lord-Lieutenant, a General Pardon pass'd the Great-Seal of Ireland for Tyrone, bearing date the Eleventh Day of April, in the Fourtieth Year of Her Majesty's Reign, and of Our Lord, 1598. Which tho' Tyrone received, yet being resolv'd to continue his Disloyal Courses, he never Plead'd: So that in the Year, 1600, he was Out-law'd upon an Indictment brought against him in September, 1595.

In pursuance of his usual Practise, Tyrone sends Aid to Phelim Mac-Pheagh, the Son of Pheagh Mac-Hugh (killed in Sir William Russell's Time) to begin a new Rebellion in Leinster; and in the meantime, with the main of his Forces, laid Siege to the Fort of Blackwater, but met with so vigorous a Resistance; that despairing to take it by assault, he designed to reduce it by Famine. The Lord-Lieutenant hearing that the Garrison was in great extremity, in August, Order'd Marshal Bagnal with the flower of the English Army to March to their Relief; but as he advanc'd into the thick Woods beyond Ardamagh, Tyrone fell upon them them with his whole Force, and after an obstinate Fight, over-powered and totally routed them; killing the Marshal with Thirteen Captains, and One thousand Five hundred private Soldiers on the Spot. After this defeat, which was the greatest, which the English ever received since their first Arrival in Ireland, that Garrison of Blackwater, being sent to by the English which retired to Ardmagh, Surrendered the Fort, and March'd to re-inforce the Army.

Her Majesty, upon the News of this Defeat, sent over Sir Richard Bingham, who had been unworthily removed from his Government of Connaught, to Succeed Bagnal in the Marshalship of Ireland; and Two Thousand Foot and One hundred Horse, under the Command of Sir Samuel Bagnal, who were intended for Loughfoyle, were Countermanded to strengthen the Forces in the heart of the Kingdom.

This Victory furnish'd the Rebels with Arms and Provisions; and Encouraged them to that degree, that not only all Ulster was in Arms, but the Rebels of Leinster immediately swarmed in the English Pale, and all Connaught revolted. Tyrone also sent Owen Mac-Rory-Oge, and one Tyrrell, an unnatural Enemy to the English Race, from which he was descended, with some Thousands of Men into Munster to kindle a Rebellion there; which in one Month brake out with such violence, that the Lord-President, who endeavoured to put a stop to it, was obliged to retreat to Cork, with the Forces under his Command. In the mean time, the Munsterians having joined the Forces sent by Tyrone, spoiled the Country, burnt the Houses, murdered and stript all the English they could light on; and committed most abominable out-rages on the Female Sex. This great Destruction of the English was in part owing to their own Negligence; for, whereas they should have built Castles, and brought over English Colonies, and have admitted no Irish Tenant, as the Undertakers were oblig'd by Covenant; on the contrary, some of them never came over; others brought no more English with them but their own Families; and all, to make the greater Profit of their Lands, entertained Irish Tenants and Servants, which were now the first to betray them.

Whilst these barbarities were Acted; Tyrone, who was among the Irish celebrated as the Deliverer of their Country, and in his Letters to the King of Spain, magnified his Victories; and assur'd him, that he would never seek, or accept of any Terms of Peace from the English, but remain steadfast in his Fidelity to him, did nevertheless at the same time Entertain the Lord-Lieutenant with frequent Offers of Submission, tho' he insisted on higher terms than before.

Anno Domini, 1599. Et Anno Reginae, XLII.

C H A P. XLII.

THE Earl of Essex, whom the Queen had pitched upon as the most proper Person to put an end to this Great Rebellion, Landded the 15th of April at Dublin, and received the Sword as Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland.

O *

His

Anno Reg.
XLII.

He routs Marshal Bagnal.

The Fort of Blackwater Surrendered to him.

Sir Henry
Bingham made Marshal of Ireland.

Connaught
revolts.

A great Rebellion in Munster.

Tyrone's fal-
shood.

The Earl of Essex Lord-
Lieutenant.

Anno Dom.

1599.

His ample Commission.The Charges of this Year.The Number of the Army, and of the Rebels.The Lord-Lieutenant's unfortunate Expedition.A severe punishment.The O Mores and Connors subdued.Sir Conyers Clifford and his Party defeated.

His Commission was larger than any of his Predecessors; for it Impowered him; not only to Pardon all Treasons, and grant many great Offices, but also to displace all Officers that had no Patents, and suspend those who had; to make Martial-Laws; to Command all Ships in the Absence of the Lord High-Admiral of England; to dispose of the Forfeited Lands of the Rebels, with the Reservation of a small Yearly Rent to the Crown; and to issue Money out of the Treasury at pleasure, within the bounds of the Establishment: The Charges on the Establishment for this Year, amounted unto Two hundred Ninety nine Thousand One hundred and Eleven pounds, Three shillings, and Seven pence half penny, besides, at least Fifty thousand pounds more for Contingencies. The Army at his coming over, consisted of Seventeen thousand Three hundred Horse and Foot; and was afterwards Augmented to Twenty thousand Men: The Rebels at the same time, in all parts of the Kingdom, if computed together, were upwards of Twenty thousand.

The Lord-Lieutenant, instead of attacking Tyrone and the Ulster Rebels, with his principal Force, and planting Garrisons at Loughboyle and Ballyshannon, as Her Majesty's Instructions directed him pursuant to his own Advice whilst in England, by some sinister Counsel advanc'd with his Forces towards Munster, from whence, after the taking the Castle of Cahir, and obliging some Lords to submit; and some other Actions not at all worthy of his Reputation, or the Forces which he Commanded, towards the End of July he return'd to Dublin; his Army being much diminished in Number, and fatigu'd, and in a sickly Condition.

Whilst the Lord-Lieutenant was Engaged in this Expedition, Six Hundred Men, which were left in the Glinns, under the Command of Sir Henry Harrington, and some Young unskilful Captains, were defeated by the O Byrns; which disgrace the Lord-Lieutenant severely punished, by disarming the Soldiers, and Executing every Tenth Man; and by Sentence of a Court-Martial, Cashiring the Captains, and causing an Irish Lieutenant, who had Parlied with the Rebels, to be Shot to Death.

The Lord-Lieutenant soon after, had certain Advice, that Her Majesty was not pleased with his Atchievements in Munster: But to Excuse himself, he laid all the blame on the Council of Ireland; and promised Her Majesty, that he would forthwith March into Ulster against Tyrone himself; yet he soon altered his Resolution; and with Two thousand Five hundred Men turned into Leix and Ophalia, where he easily subdued the O Mores and O Connors; and thence returned to Dublin; but his Army was so weakned, that by Letters from himself and the Council, he desired a Re-inforcement of One thousand Foot out of England; to Enable him for his Ulster Expedition. In order to which, he Commanded Sir Conyers Clifford, Governour of Connaught, to draw to Belick; to divert Tyrone on that side, whilst himself attacked him on the other:
Clifford with One thousand Five hundred Men March'd accordingly, but was met by O Rourk on a Pass, and Encountred; where at first, O Rourk and his Party were Repulsed; but the Rebels perceiving the En- glish had spent their Ammunition, renewed the Charge with so much fury, fury, that they forc'd them to retire with the loss of their Commander, and Sir Alexander Ratcliff, and about One hundred and Twenty private Soldiers killed, and as many more wounded.

In the mean time, the Earl of Essex received the Supply of Foot, which he desired; but all he did this Year, after their arrival, was only to March to the Borders of Ulster with One thousand Three hundred Foot, and Three hundred Horse, where he Parlied with Tyrone, and made a Cessation for six Weeks, and so from six Weeks to six Weeks, until the First of May, with this Proviso, That either side might renew the War on Fourteen Days notice given.

Upon his return to Dublin, the Lord-Lieutenant and Council received a sharp Reprimand from the Queen, for disobeying Her Orders, and their ill Conduct; which so galled the Earl, that leaving Adam Loftus Lord Chancellor, and Sir George Cary, Treasurer of War, Lords-Justices, He went for England, and arrived at Court the Twenty eighth of September.

Fryar Matthew d'Oviedo, Titular Arch-Bishop of Dublin, and Don Martin de la Cerda; having brought over Indulgences from the Pope, for all such as would take Arms against the English; together with a Crown of Phænix's Feathers for Tyrone; and from the King of Spain a Sum of Money and promises of more: He was resolved to renew the War; and accordingly taking upon him the Title of O Neal; after Fourteen Days notice given, in the Month of December, he commenced Acts of Hostility: And in January he went into Munster to consult with James Fitz-Thomas (who had taken upon him the Title of Earl of Desmond, and was by a Nick-name called the Sugan Earl;) Florence Mac-Carty, and others; and during his stay there, burning and spoiling all such as refused to join him; and taking Pledges of all such as he doubted; he mightily Encouraged the Rebels in that Province, and increased their Numbers. The Death of the Lord-President, Sir Thomas Norris, and of Sir Warham St. Leger, one of the Commissioners of Munster, (the former of which dyed of a Wound he had receiv'd in an Engagement with the Burks; and the latter, as he was taking the Air near Cork, was killed by Mac-Guire) did not only dishearten the Subjects, but also animated the Rebels in those parts. Her Majesty, as well to supply the defect of a Governour for that Province, as to provide for the safety of the whole Kingdom; made choice of two Excellent Persons, (viz.) Charles Lord Mountjoy, and Sir George Carew; the former, to be Lord-Deputy, and the latter, Lord-President of Munster, who Landed both together at Hoath, the 24th of February.

Mun. Reg.
XII.

September the Sth, 1599.

A Truce.

The Lord-
Lieutenant returns to England.

Tyrone
assumes the Title of O Neal, and renews the War.

The Death of the President and one of the Commissioners of Munster.

Lord Mountjoy made De puty; and Sir
George Carew,
Lord-President of Munster.

Anno Dom.
1600.

Anno Domini, 1600. Et Anno Reginae, XLIII.

C H A P. XLIII.

ON the 7th of April, the Lord-President left Dublin to repair towards his Charge; and coming to Kilkenny on the 10th, at the desire of the Earl of Ormonde, went with him Eight long Miles, to Parley with Owen-Mac-Rory O More, where the Earl of Ormonde was made Prisoner by the Rebels; and the President himself, by the assistance of the Earl of Twomond, and the swiftness of his Horse, narrowly Escaped.

E. of Ormonde made Prisoner.

After this, the Lord-President proceeded on his Journey, and came to Waterford on the 16th; where he received the Submissions of some of the Fitz-Gerralds, of the Decies, and some of the Powers; and on the 21st to Youghall, Accompanied with Nine hundred Foot, and a Hundred Horse; and from thence to Cork, on the 24th of the same Month. Hearing that Florence Mac-Carty, and others in Carbry were in Rebellion; he sent thither One thousand Two hundred Foot, and a Hundred Horse under the Command of Captain Flower, who, tho' they fell into an Ambush of Two thousand of the Rebels; nevertheless defeated them, and killed Carbry O Connor, with a Hundred more, without the loss of any Person of Note of the English. In a short time after, the White Knight and Florence Mac-Carty, and many others submitted themselves; and Desmond O Connor for a Reward, promised to Surrender on the Sugan Earl of Desmond, and the Governour of Loghguir Castle, for the Sum of Sixty pounds; delivered it up to the Lord-President; John and Theobald Burk, were forced to submit upon the President's entering into Clan-William with Fire and Sword: After which, Ballytrasney Castle was Deserted by the Enemy, who left a great quantity of Corn therein; and the Oweny being O Mulrians's Country, was destroyed by the Army: The Sugan Earl was Taken, and Rescued again by a strong Party of the Rebels; and the Earl of Twomond, with part of the President's Army, beat O Donnell, who had Invaded his Country quite out of it. All this was done before the End of June, in the Province of Munster.

The Lord
President's great Success.The Lord-Deputy's
way of managing the War against the Rebels.

In the mean time, the Lord-Deputy placed Garrisons in Dundalk, Atherdee, Kells, Newry, and Carlingford; and sent One thousand Foot, and a Hundred Horse under Sir Oliver Lambert, to observe the Rebels of Leinster, and put a Convoy of Provisions into Phillipstown; which he performed with much Conduct and Bravery. A Garrison was likewise planted at Loughfoyle, by Sir Henry Dockwra; a Fortification was also made at Derry: Which Proceedings of the Lord-Deputy, amazed and disanimated the Rebels to the utmost Degree; for they were at the same time attacked by a flying Army, and surrounded with Garrisons on every side: So that many of them submitted themselves.

On

On the 23d of April, the Lord-Deputy kept St. Georges's-Feast in the Castle of Dublin, and the Rebels were Invited, whom his Lordship had upon their Submission received to Mercy, viz. Turlogh Mac-Henry, Captain of the Fewes, Ever Mac-Cooly, Chief of the Fearny, O Hanlan, a Lord of Ulster, Phelim Mac-Pheagh, who was Chief of the O Byrns, and Spaniagh of the Cavenaghs : They were nobly Entertained; and the Magnificence of the Feast (the Captains bringing up the Meat, and several Colonels attending his Lordship at the Table) together with his Lordship's assuring them, that, as he would be a Scourge to such as persisted in their Rebellion; so he would be a Friend and Protector to such as had returned to their Obedience, so wrought upon them, as it did not only Retain them in their Duty, but prevailed with others, to whom they related it, to make their Submissions. Accordingly Mac-Carty Reough, Chieftain of Carbry O Sullivan Beare, O Sullivan Bantry, John O Doyre of Tipperary, James Fitz-Gerrald, Teige Mac-Moreretagh O Bryan with others followed their Example, and received their Pardons, which included their Menial-Servants, Tenants, and all their known Followers, except such as were already in custody, or upon Bail.

Anno Reg.
XLIV.

Many of the Rebels submit.

Anno Domini, 1601. Et Anno Reginae, XLIV.

G H A P. XLIV.

ABOUT the 10th of May, the Lord-Deputy Granted a Pardon to Phelim Mac-Pheagh O Toole, and a Protection to Ross Mac-Mahone, till he might Sue out his Pardon. At the same time Sir Henry Dockwra, Governour of Loughfoyle, had taken in O Doghertie's Country; and Employed Shane Mac-Mannus Oge O Donnell, who Commanded certain Islands in the Sea, to waste Hugh Mac-Hugh Duffes's Country, who suddenly entring into it, took away above a Thousand Cows, with great numbers of Garrons, Sheep and Goats : He also made use of Neal Garve, who had the keeping of the Country of Tirconnell committed to him, but was a most rude insolent barbarous Fellow, against Owen Mac-Oge Swinedoe, Mac-Swine Bane, and O Boyle, who were forced to submit and Sue for Her Majesty's Mercy.

Sir Henry
Dockwra employs the Irish one against another.

This Month was published a Proclamation, to make a new Standard of mixed Money, to be only currant in this Kingdom, all other Coynes being to be brought into the Treasury, which was a great Loss to the Soldiers, who ventred their Blood in Her Majesty's Service; and enriched the Pay-Masters, who sat idle at home.

Mixed Money made currant.

The Lord-President of Munster having pretty well quieted that Province, obtained leave to grant a General Pardon to his Province, with very few Exceptions; and accordingly, above Four thousand Persons had the benefit thereof.

A General
Pardon in Munster.

P *

About

Anno Reg.
XLIV.

The Deputy Marches towards Ulster.

His Success.

Ardmagh Garrison'd by the English.

A new Fort built at Blackwater.

About the same time, Sir Henry Dockwra took the Submission of Hugh Boy; from whom he received perfect Intelligence of the practises of Florence Mac-Carty, and the certainty of the intended Invasion of Munster, by the Spaniards.

Munster being reduced, and Leinster also (saving that the O Mores and O Connors, who were dispers'd, and could not obtain Her Majesty's Pardon, were yet on their Keeping) and the borders of Ulster well assured, and Garrisons Planted at Loughfoyle and Carrickfergus: The Lord-Deputy March'd from Dublin to the Moyry, where he arrived on the 13th of June; and built a Fort at Three-Mile-Water. On the 16th he proceeded toward Dundrum, which was surrendred to him by Phelim Mac-Ever; the next Day two Castles at Ardglass were delivered up; and a third Castle which one Jordan had Maintained for the Queen, against the Rebels for three Years past, was relieved; and the Governour bountifully rewarded. After this Submission of Phelim Mac-Evre, Mac-Cartane, and Mac-Rory, Captain of Kilwarden submitted likewise, and were received to the Queen's Mercy. The English about the same time Took Balinsbore, a strong Castle, with a good Booty in it. On the 22d Sir Henry Davers endeavoured to possess himself of the Abbey and Town of Ardmagh; but not being able to effect his Design, March'd to Mount-Norris, where he met the Lord-Deputy, by whose assistance he soon planted a Garrison of Seven hundred and Fifty Foot, and a Hundred Horse at the Abbey of Ardmagh. On the 28th Sir Henry Davers with the Garrison of Ardmagh, entred the Fastness; where Bry Mac-Art had secured himself, and killed several of his Men, destroyed his Baggage, and took from him many Horses, and Three Hundred Cows, which he had taken from Mac-Genis. Not long after, the same Garrison took several good Horses from Tyrone's Camp; and Preyed the Country of Mac-Cartane.

About the middle of July, the Lord-Deputy advanced near the Blackwater, on the other-side of which, Tyrone appeared with his Forces; but upon the discharge of two small Pieces of Artillery, retired into the Woods, whither they were followed by the English; who after some small Skirmishes they passed the River, and possessed themselves of the Old ruined Fort at Blackwater; and immediately began to Build and Fortifie a new one not far from it. On the 23d Captain Williams and his Company, who had valiantly defended the Old Fort, were left to Garrison the new One. The Army Decamped, and (after a Proclamation had been made, wherein Two thousand Pounds was promised to any who should bring in Tyrone alive, and a Thousand to whosoever should bring in his Head; Her Majesty being resolved never more to Pardon him) for several Days together, were employed in cutting down and destroying all the Corn they could meet with in the Rebels's Country. The Lord-Deputy sent dispatches to Sir Henry Dockwra, and Sir Arthur Chichester, who were at Loaghfoyle and Carrickfergus, about their concurring in the present Service. At the latter end of the Month, his Lordship received advice of the Defeat of Three hundred of the Leinster Rebels, and that O Connor Mac-Lyer and most of his Men were Slain.

In the beginning of August, his Lordship March'd North-wards, beyond Blackwater, towards Dungannon, and in order thereunto cut a Passage through the Woods; and the Rebels now and then appearing, several Skirmishes happened, wherein they were worsted, and forced to retreat to their Fastnesses: On the 3d his Lordship drew back towards Ardmagh, for the better conveniency of Forrage, and on the 4th repulsed the Rebels; who appear'd again, and with great Cries, found of Drums and Bag-pipes, poured two or three Thousand Shot into his Camp, which only hurt two or three Men: After which, having Visited the Abbey of Ardmagh, and the Fort of Blackwater, and put most of the Forces into the Garrisons, in the latter End of the Month he came back to the Newry. During his Lordship's Northern Expedition, the President of Munster sent a Thousand Foot under Serjeant Major Flower, to assist Sir John Beikely, who then Commanded in Connaught, against Redmond Burk, Hugh Mostian, Teigh Burk, Donough Mac-Cormock, John Fitz-Thomas, and Pierce Lacy, who with One Thousand Five hundred Ulster and Connaught Men, designed to March through Connaught, and Invaded Munster: Flower effectually performed what he was sent to do; and in several Encounters routed divers of the Rebels Parties, killed some of their Leaders, and dispersed the rest. In the latter End of May, the Sugan Earl of Desmond was brought Prisoner by the White Knight to the Lord-President at Cork, who sent him, together with Florence Mac-Carty into England, where they both afterwards dyed in the Tower of London. The President also caused Mac-Donogh Teigh, Mac-Dermot Carty, and Moyle O More, O Mahon of Kilmalecky, to be Seized and secured, all of which had dispensations from the Priests to temporize until the Spaniards, who were daily expected to come, and with whom they had engaged to join, should Land in Ireland. Much about the same time the Earl of Ormonde had good success against the Rebels near Kilkenny, and in the County of Tipperary.

Ann. Dom.
1601.

The Lord-Deputy purs his Forces into Garrison.

The Connaught Rebels scattered.

Sugan Earl Taken.

Ormonde's success:

The Lord Dunsany, who had a Company of Irish in Her Majesty's Pay, took away One thousand Six hundred Cows from Mac-Mahon, but was followed by a Party of One hundred and Forty Men, who Engaged them and rescued the Prey, about Fifty of each side were killed in this Conflict, but not one good Subject lost.

Sir Henry Dockwra was very active and successful in Ulster, where he regained the Castle of Derry, which his Irish Soldiers had betrayed to the Rebels; he also surprized Donegal; Ballyshannon was soon after surprized and Taken by two Companies, under the Command of Edward Digges.

Donegal and Ballyshannon Taken.

In the latter End of August, the Lord-Deputy upon advice from the Lord-President of Munster, that Tyrrell with the Munster Fugitives and some aids of Northern Men out of Connaught, designed to Invade his Province, held Consultations how he might best prevent Tyrrell's Project, and at the same time make head against the Spaniards at their Landing, who, as he was advertised, were now at Sea: And in September, the Lord-President having Two Thousand Soldiers newly Landed at Cork and Waterford from England, met the Lord-Deputy at Leighlin on the 19th, to Concert Matters with him.

Tyrrell designs to Invade Munster.

On the 22d of the same Month, the Lord-Deputy and Lord-President being at Kilkenny, received Intelligence, that the Spaniards were seen off the Old-Head of Kingsale; and on the 23d Sir Charles Wilmott whom

The Spaniards Land at Kingsale,

Anna Dom.
1601.

The Lord-
Deputy goes to Munster.

The number of the Spaniards at King-sale.

The number of the Lord-Deputy's
Army.

The Spanish
Out-guards beaten.

The Spaniards beaten out of their Trenches.

A Prey of 300 Cattle taken from the Spaniards.

Rincorran
Fort Surren-dred.

The Lord-
President
Detach'd to observe Tyrone.

whom the Lord-President had left to Command at Cork, sent them word, that they were actually Landed at Kingsale.

Hereupon Orders were immediately issued for the Assembling of the Forces of the Pale, and providing Necessaries for the supply of the Army; the Garrisons also of Ardmagh and Navan were Ordered to March.

The Lord-Deputy and President made haste to Cork, where they arrived on the 27th. The Lord-Deputy was glad to find a good Magazine of Provision laid up there, by the Provident care of the Lord-President.

Whilst the Deputy staid at Cork, he was Informed that the number of the Spaniards at Kingsale amounted unto Four thousand effective Men, under the Command of Don John del Aguila, one of the greatest Soldiers the King of Spain had.

The Lord-Deputy continued at Cork till the arrival of Sir Benjamin Berry, Sir Richard Wingfield, Sir John Barkley, and Sir Henry Davers, with the Forces they had drawn from Leinster, Connaught, and the Northern Garrisons, which in Conjunction with those of Munster, Composed an Army of about Seven thousand Six hundred Men.

On the 17th of October the Army Encamped within half a Mile of Kingsale; and on the 19th Sir John Barkley Alarm'd the Town, and beat the Spanish Out-guards into their Trenches. The next Day, Cormock Mac-Dermot Chief of Muskery, with the Irish under his Command, Skirmish'd hotly with the Spaniards, being well supported by the English Horse. The 23d, Captain Button arrived with one of Her Majesty's store Ships from Dublin under his Convoy, and was by the Lord-Deputy Ordered to keep the Harbour of Kingsale, to hinder any relief from coming by Water, either to the Town or Castle of Rincorran. On the 25th Sir John Barkley with about Three hundred Foot, so furiously assaulted the Spaniards in their Trenches, as forc'd them to fly into the Town. The day following the English Army Entrench'd themselves strongly on Spittle-Hill, about a Musket Shot from Kingsale, from whence they discover'd a Prey of Three hundred Cows and Sheep, which the Spaniards were driving under Castleny-Park, whereupon Captain Taaf was detached with a Party of Horse and Foot, who (tho' they were forc'd to take a Compass of about eight Miles to a neck of Land, which was the only way they could come at them) after a smart Encounter brought away the Prey that Night. Two or Three Days after, Rincorran Castle was batter'd, and after the Spaniards with Five hundred Men had in vain attempted to Relieve it, was obliged to Surrender on the First day of November.

The Lord-Deputy received advice, that Tyrone was advancing with a great Army to join the Spaniards; whereupon the Lord-Deputy fortified his Camp with a strong line of Contravallation; and on the 7th, the President with Two thousand One hundred Foot, and Three hundred and Twenty Five Horse, was sent to the borders of the Province to observe Tyrone and impede his March: On his way the President met with S. Lawrence's Regiment, which he took with him, hoping to engage with Tyrone's Forces, but by a Prodigious March of Thirty Two Miles in one Day, Tyrone avoided coming to a Battle.

The

The Spaniards hearing, that by the Detachment under the Lord-President, the Army before the Town was so lessen'd; as that they were inferiour in number to the besieged, made a vigorous Sally, but were beaten back with great slaughter.

On the Fourteenth the Lord-Deputy being reinforc'd with some Thousands of Men from England, gave Orders for attacking Castle-ny-Park, which on the Twentieth was surrendred. After which the Artillery, both from the Camp, and the Men of War which brought the Forces out of England, plaid upon the Town; and a new Camp was planted on the West-side of the Town by the Forces, which returned with the Lord-President. On the Second of December, the besieged made a very resolute Sally on the new Camp, with Two thousand Men, but were repulsed with the loss of Two hundred of their number.

The next day the Lord-Deputy had Intelligence, that Two thousand Spaniards more were Landed at Castlehaven; whereupon, it was resolv'd in Council more strongly to fortify the Camp, and to draw all the Horse in it: And that the Men of War in the Harbour, should go in quest of the Spanish Fleet, which Landed the Forces at Castlehaven. Accordingly Sir Richard Levison Sailed with Four Men of War (which the Wind being contrary, he was forc'd to tow out of the Harbour) and on the Sixth came to Castlehaven, where he sunk one of the Spanish Ships, forc'd their Admiral on the Rocks, and the Vice-Admiral with two others, were driven likewise on Ground. The next day a Scotch Vessel with Eighty Spaniards on board, which designed with the rest for Castlehaven, but in a Storm separated from them, put into Kingsale, where the Spaniards were made Prisoners.

Upon the Landing of the Spaniards at Castlehaven, the whole Province of Munster joined them; as also did O'Donnell's Army: And soon after, Tyrone with his Forces appeared in view of the Camp.

Many Messengers pass'd between Tyrone and Don John del Aguila, the latter of whom, perswaded the other to attack the Camp of the Lord-Deputy, whilst he would Assault that of the President at the same time; assuring him, that the English were so much diminished in their numbers, as they had not Men enough to maintain so much Ground as they had taken for their Camps: And indeed the hardships of a Winter Siege were such, as that by Sickness, and Desertion, notwithstanding a reinforcement of Four thousand Foot, the Army was as weak, as when they first sat down before the Town.

On the Twenty Fourth, the Lord-Deputy being advertised, That Tyrone and O'Donnell, with the Spaniards who had joined them, were advancing towards his Camp; about break of day, leaving a strong Guard in his Camp, with about a Thousand Two hundred Foot and Four hundred Horse Engaged the Enemy, and totally routed them: Of the Rebels One thousand Two hundred were left Dead in the Field, besides what

Anno Reg.
XLIV.

The Spaniards Sally out but are repulsed.

2000 Spaniards arrive at Castlehaven.

The Spanish Ships destroyed.

Tyrone is discovered to approach the Camp.

Tyrone's Army defeated.

Anno Dom.
1602.

were Killed in two Miles pursuit, and above Eight hundred Wounded; nine Colours, all their Drums and Powder, and Two thousand Arms were taken. One Cornet and Five or Six Soldiers were all the English lost in this Battle. After the Fight, the Lord-Deputy caused Thanks to be given to the Almighty, in the Field of Battle, and before Noon, returned to his Camp; where Commanding Volleys of Shot to be discharged for Joy of the Victory, the Spaniards mistaking the cause, and thinking it to be upon the approach of Tyrone's Army, Sallied out, but were soon beaten into the Town.

Don John Capitulates.

This Defeat caused the Spanish General to think of Capitulating; and accordingly on the last of December he offer'd a Parley, which after several Debates, concluded in certain Articles, whereby the Spaniards were obliged to quit, not only King'sale, but Castlehaven, Baltimore, Bearehaven, and what ever else they held in Ireland; and for their Money, to be furnish'd with Ships and Provisions for their Transportation into Spain.

More Spaniards
arriv'd, but return'd
again.

In the mean time, advice came to the Lord-Deputy, That one Syriago, arriving with more Spaniards at Castlehaven, no sooner heard of the defeat of Tyrone, but he immediately Sailed back for Spain, and carried the great Rebel Hugh O'Donnell with him.

Tyrone after his Rout, flying with more haste than good speed, lost many of his Men and Carriages in his Passage over the Blackwater, and at other places.

Soon after the Spaniards Evacuated all the places in their possession, but the Irish surprized Dunboy. The Lord-Deputy put his Army into Quarters, and on the Twenty eighth of March came to Dublin.

Anno Domini, 1602. Et Anno Reginae, XLV.

C H A P. XLV.

The Deputy marches against Tyrone.

IN the beginning of June, the Lord-Deputy having gathered his Forces together, took the Field, and March'd to the Blackwater, and built a Bridge over it, and a Fort to guard it, which, after his own Christian Name, he called Charlemont; from thence he sent a Regiment to possess themselves of Dungannon, which was on their approach set on Fire and Deserted; the Deputy with the rest rest of the Army followed, and Tyrone fled to Castle-Roe on the Ban. Whereupon the English Army wasted the Country wherever they came : And Sir Henry Dockwra, who had lately placed a Garrison at Ony, was Ordered to prosecute Tyrone from thence, whilst Sir Arthur Chichester was to do the same by the way of Toome, and the Lord-Deputy from another Quarter. On the Nineteenth of August, a strong Castle, wherein Tyrone had secured his Plate and Richest Moveables, was surrendered to Sir Arthur Chichester, and the Garrison made Prisoners.

The Lord-Deputy hearing that Tyrone was in Fermanagh, on the Twentieth of August, march'd after him, wasting the Country as he went; but Tyrone retreated into an inaccessible Fastness near Lough-erne. Soon after the Lord-Deputy returned to Newry, and from thence to Dublin : O Cane and Mac-Guire had submitted themselves before; and in November, Rory O Donnell, and the O Releys followed their Example.

From Dublin the Deputy took a Journey into Connaught, where all the principal Rebels, except only O Rourk submitted themselves: During his stay there, he ordered the Fort at Galway to be finished; and three small Armies to prosecute O Rourk. After his return to Dublin, he sent more Forces to Sir Arthur Chichester, to Enable him to expel Bryan Mac-Art, who had entred Kilultagh with Five hundred Men.

On the Eighth of March, One thousand Six hundred and One, Don John and his Spaniards Embarked, and Sailed on the Sixteenth with a fair wind for Spain.

In the mean time, O Sullivan fortified Dunboy, but the Lord-President in the latter End of April took the Field; and after the taking several Castles, and wasting and Destroying the Rebels Country, on the Eighteenth of June he assaulted the Castle of Dunboy, and took it by Storm, after a most obstinate Defence made by the Garrison, who were every Man either put to the Sword, or Executed.

The Fourth of the same Month, a Spanish Ship arrived and brought some Money and Ammunition to be distributed amongst the Rebels; together with large promises of Assistance from Spain, which were Published among them by Owen Mac-Egan, who was sent by the Pope as an Apostolical Vicar:

The Rebels were after the taking of Dunboy, rather more obstinate than before; and many who had submitted relapsed into Rebellion : But the arrival of Sir Edward Wingfield, with One thousand Recruits in Munster, which were followed by Two thousand Men more out of England, enabled the Lord-President to prosecute them so effectually, That Tyrrell, Hugh Bark, O Connor Kerry, and O Sullivan were glad to quit the Province of Munster, and to fly for shelter into O Bourk's Country.

And Owen Mac-Egan, the Apostolick Vicar (who caused every Irish-man who served the Queen, and fell into his Hands, after he was Confess'd and Absolv'd, immediately to be Executed) was himself Slain in the Month of January, by Captain Taaf.

Annus Reg.
XLV.

The Deputy goes into Connaught.

Dunboy taken by storm.

A new Combustion in Munster.

Anno Dom.
1602.

The Rebellion entirely quash'd

Tyrone submits himself to mercy.

Soon after Munster was entirely reduced to Obedience; and Tyrone himself, his Party being almost Destroyed by Famine, not knowing that the QUEEN Dyed Six days before, came to Mellifont, and in the most humble manner before the Lord-Deputy, Submitted himself to Her Mercy.

The End of Q. Elizabeth's Reign.

Gesta Hibernorum :

O R,

A Brief CHRONOLOGY of the Actions and most Signal Events, which have happened in the Kingdom of Ireland, from the Year, 1603. or from the beginning of the Reign of King JAMES the First, unto this present Year, 1704.

April 5 15	Anno. 1603. K ING JAMES Proclaimed in Dublin . O Rourk submits to him.	--He submitted and abjur'd, tho' he privately denied all again.	Dec. 22
May.	Rebellious Insurrections in Cork , and several places in Munster .	Anno, 1607. A Conspiracy of the Irish in Ulster , to surprize the Castle of Dublin , and to destroy the Lord-Deputy, discovered.	May 7
11	Cork Surrendred to the Lord-Deputy. Charles Lord Mount-Joy , made Lord Lieutenant.	Anno, 1608. S IR Cahir O Doharty rebels, he surprizes and burns Derry , with the Governor and Protestants.	May 1
June 1	Sir George Cary Sworn Lord-Deputy, who appointed the first Sheriffs for the County of Tyrone .	He also surprizes the Castle of Culmore , by Stratagem. --- 511465 Acres forfeited to the Crown, in the Northern Countries.
Feb. 3.	Anno, 1604. S IR Arthur Chichester Sworn Lord-Deputy, and soon after Establishes a Circuit for Judges of Assize, for Connaught and Munster .	Anno, 1609. T HE Cities of Dublin , Waterford , Cork , Limerick , Tredagh , Galway , Ross , Wexford , Youghall , Kinsale , and Knockfergus , had their Charters renewed by the Lord-Deputy.
July 4	Anno, 1605. A Proclamation published, commanding the popish Clergy to depart the Kingdom. The Customs of Tanistry and Gavelkind this year abolished by Judgment in the Kings-Bench.	The Lords of the Council in His Majesty's behalf, entred into Articles with the City of London , about the Plantation of Ulster .	Jan. 8.
Nov.	Anno, 1606. R Obert Lalor , Vicar-General of Dublin , &c. was Indicted on the Statute of 2 Eliz. Cap. 1.	Anno, 1611. T He Ld. Carew came over Commissioner, to inspect the affairs of Ireland .	June 24

- The Order of Baronets was Instituted.
- May 18 Anno, 1613. A Parliament called which had not been in 27 Years before.
The Papists refuse to attend the House, upon a difference between them and the Protestants in the choice of a Speaker.
Doctor Thomas Jones Chancellor, and Sir Richard Wingfield Marshal, were Sworn Lords-Justices.
- Mar. 4. Doctor Thomas Jones Chancellor, and Sir Richard Wingfield Marshal, were Sworn Lords-Justices.
- Octob. 11. Anno, 1614. The Parliament Met again --
-- The Lord of Kerry, and Lord of Slane, dispute Precedency, which was adjudged to the former.
A Convocation was this Year held at Dublin, which Established Articles of Religion.
- Octob. Anno, 1615. The Parliament was dissolved after several Acts passed.
Dec. Sir Oliver Lambert was sent to the Island of Ila, to reduce some seditious Scots.
Febru. 23. Sir Arthur Chichester Lord-Deputy, was created Baron of Belfast, and made Lord High-Treasurer.
Doctor Thomas Jones Archbishop of Dublin, and Sir John Denham Lord Chief-Justice of the King's-Bench, were Sworn Lords-Justices.
- Aug. 30. Anno, 1616. Sir Oliver St. John (afterwards Viscount Grandison) was Sworn Lord-Deputy.
- Octob. 13. Anno, 1617. A Proclamation issued for banishing the Popish Regular Clergy.
- The City of Waterford's Liberties, Revenues, and Ensigns of Authority seized by Order, under the Great Seal, for several Crimes.
- Anno, 1620. THE famous Dr. Usher, made Bishop of Meath.
- Anno, 1621. THE Congregation de propaganda fide, which has had so much Influence on Ireland, was this Year erected at Rome.
Thomas Viscount Thurles, Father to the first Duke of Ormond, drown'd.
Sir Dudly Digs, Sir Thomas Crew, Sir Nathaniel Rich, Sir James Perrot, &c. came over Commissioners, to inquire into the Estate of this Kingdom, upon some Complaints of the Irish.
- Anno, 1622. The Lord Deputy removed (tho' soon after created Viscount Grandison) and Adam Loftus Viscount Ely, Lord Chancellor; with Rich. Wingfield Viscount Powers-Court, Sworn Lord's-Justices.
They allow (by the King's Order) the new Lord-Deputy, viz. the Lord Falkland, all the profits, abating only at the Rate of 2000 l. per Annum, till he shou'd come and receive the Sword.
Lord Falkland comes over Deputy and Sworn; Bishop Usher Preaches before him, and the Papists take exception at his Sermon, as provoking the Government to destroy them; so that he Preach'd an Explanatory Sermon to appease them.
A Fire in Cork consumes the most part of the City.

Nov. 22. Several Popish Magistrates who had refused the Oath of Supremacy, contrary to the Statute of 2 Eliz. Cap. 1. were censured in the Star-Chamber, when Ep. Usher made a Speech about the lawfulness of that Oath.

Jan. 21. Anno, 1623. Issued out a Proclamation, requiring the Popish Clergy, Regular and Secular to depart the Kingdom in 40 Days, and forbidding all converse with them after that time.

Mar. 21. Anno, 1624. Doctor Usher, made Archbishop of Armagh.

Mar. 27. Anno, 1625. King James dyes at Theobalds. -- In his Reign were created several of the Irish Nobility, as follows;

February 23d, 1603. Rory O Donnel, Earl of Tyrconnel.

February 23d, 1615. Sir Arthur Chichester, Baron of Belfast, since Earl of Donegal.

July 14th, 1616. Brabazon, Baron of Ardee, since Earl of Meath.

-- September 29th, Sir Richard Boyle, Baron of Toughall, since Earl of Cork.

May 25th, 1617. Ridgeway, Baron of Galen Ridgeway, since Earl of Londonderry.

July 20th, Moor, Baron of Melefont, since Earl of Drogheda.

September 6th, 1617. Touchet, Earl of Castlehaven.

February 17th, Lambert, Baron of Cavan, since E. of Cavan.

Ibid. Bourk, Bar. of Brittas.

May 8th, 1618. Hamilton, Baron of Strabane.

January 31. Blount, Baron Mountjoy.

June, 29th, 1619. MacDonald Viscount Dunluce, since Earl of Antrim and Marquess.

February 19th, Sir Richard Wingfield Viscount Powerscourt.

July, 1620. Preston, Earl of Desmond.

May, 1621. Dockwray, Baron of Culmore.

Ibid. Blany, Baron of Monaghan.

March 1st, 1621. Henry Power, Viscount Valentia.

Theobald Butler, Viscount Tullagh.

Anno, 1625. Charles the only Son of K. James, was Crowned at Westminster.

Anno, 1626. The King Orders the Lord Deputy to make a Lord High-Steward, &c. for the Tryal of the Lord of Dunboyn by his Peers, for killing a man in the County of Tipperary.

Pope Urban the 8th, by his Bull to the English Catholics, forbidding them to take the Oath of Allegiance, occasions the Irish to become Insolent at home.

The Army of Ireland encreased to the number of 5000 Foot, and 500 Horse; the charge of which amounted to 64240l.

The Bishops protest against a Proposal from Court, for the Toleration of Popery.

Anno, 1627. The King Orders that Nathaniel Catlin, His second Serjeant at Law, shou'd have Precedency of the Attorney-General, and the Solicitor-General.

A second Examinator was first added to the Court of Chancery.

June 23.

May.

30

Nov. 26.

July 24.

- April*
1. Anno, 1629. A Proclamation issued against the Popish regular Clergy.
- Octob.*
26. Adam Loftus Viscount Ely, Lord-Chancellor, and Richard Earl of Cork, Lord High-Treasurer, were Sworn Lords-Justices, and were allowed each 100 l. per Month.
- Anno, 1630. THE Lords-Justices caused St. Patrick's Purgatory a small Island in the County of Donegal to be digged up, to the disgrace and loss of the Popish Clergy.
- Anno, 1631. THE Earl of Castlehaven, Condemned and beheaded in England for beastly Crimes.
- July*
25. Anno, 1633. THO. Viscount Wentworth, Sworn Lord-Deputy.
- July*
14. Anno, 1634. A Parliament Met at Dublin, which granted Six Subsidies, in all 240000 l. also a Convocation of the Clergy; the King having before determined the Precedency of the Arch-Bishop of Armagh to that of Dublin. A new Book of Canons was Compiled.
- April*
18. Anno, 1635. THE Parliament was dissolv'd.
The Lord-Deputy and Council made a progress into Connaught, to inquire into His Majesty's Title to several Lands in that Province, by which the King's Title was found to most part of that great Province; tho' afterwards quitted by His Majesty.
- Anno, 1636. THE Lord-Deputy going over into England, Adam Loftus Viscount Ely, and Sir Christopher Wandesford, Master of the Rolls, were Sworn Lords-Justices.
The Lord-Deputy Returns.
John Atherton made Bishop of Waterford and Lismore, whose Tragical end (for scandalous Crimes) by the common Executioner, was about Four Years after.
- Anno, 1638. DOCTOR Redell Bishop of Killmore, held a Synod in his Diocese, which made excellent Constitutions.
- Anno, 1639. RObert Lord Dillon of Kilkenny-West, and Sir Christopher Wandesford left Lords-Justices.
Soon after a Parliament is called, which Met on the 16th of March.
The Earl of Strafford returns Lord-Lieutenant.
The Revenue Emproved to above 80000 l. per Annum.
The Lord-Lieutenant raises 8000 Foot, and 1000 Horse additional to the Veterane Forces; but most of 'em Papists, who were hereby Trained to the use of Arms.
Archbald Adair, Bishop of Killalla was depriv'd, on suspicion of being too favourable to the Scotch Covenanters, tho' afterwards made Bishop of Waterford.
- Anno, 1640. SIR Christopher Wandesford left Lord-Deputy.

July 3.

Nov.
23.

Sept.

Mar.
18April
3.

A

	A Committee from the House of Commons goes over to England , to impeach the Earl of Strafford .	Old English Papists, who by a General Massacre, attempted to Extirpate the whole race of Protestants , and in the first Three Months, destroyed 154000 Protestants with great cruelty; the Design not Discovered till the Night before.
Nov. 12.	The Parliament was Prorogued.
Dec. 3.	The Lord-Deputy dies suddenly.
30.	Robert Lord Dillon , and Sir Will. Parsons , are Sworn Lords-Justices.	A Proclamation from the Lords-Justices, to take off the Rebels pretence of a Commission from the King.	30.
Feb. 10.	The Lord Dillon removed, and Sir William Parsons and Sir John Morlace , Sworn Lords-Justices.	The Parliament Meet, where the Papists of the Pale discover their disaffection to the Government.	Nov. 16.
	The Irish Parliament send over two Petitions (containing their Grievances) to England , one to the King, the other to the Parliament.	The Parliament of England Voted a Supply of 50000 l. for the relief of Ireland ; and that a Pardon be Offer'd to the Irish Rebels, which was Printed in Dublin .
Mar. 4.	An Impeachment from the Commons was brought to the House of Lords, against Sir Rich. Bolton , Lord-Chancellor, John Lord Bishop of Derry , &c. for introducing Arbitrary Government, and giving unjust Decrees, &c.	-- The County of Wicklow , Letrim , Westmeath , Longford , Louth , Wexford , Catherlogh , and Kildare , appear disaffected.
16.	By His Majesty's Command, Secretary Vane sends the Lords-Justices notice, of an intended Rebellion in Ireland , which his Majesty had been advised of from Spain .	The King sends some Arms from Scotland , to Sir Robert Steward and others in Ulster , with Commissions to raise Forces.	18.
		Sir Phelemy O Neal having taken Dundalk , Marches with 4000 Men to Lisnegarvy , and is Repulsed.	22.
May 11.	Anno, 1641. The Parliament Sits again.	Six hundred Foot and a Troop of Horse sent to Reinforce the Garrison at Tredagh , were met by the Irish and routed.	29.
July 10.	The new Army raised by the Lord Strafford is Disbanded.	The same Day Sir Charles Coot , beat Luke Toole and a Thousand Rebels in the County of Wicklow .
Aug. 7.	The Parliament is Adjourn'd to the 9th of November .	Tredagh besieged by Fourteen thousand Rebels.	30.
	The Irish Committee returns, having obtained many Privileges.	Sir Simon Harcourt Lands at Dublin with One thousand Two hundred Foot, and soon after is made Governor of that City.	Dec. 31.
Oct. 23.	On Saturday, October the 23d (a Day Dedicated to St. Ignatius) broke out the dreadful Rebellion, and General defection of the Irish , and even of most of the

Jan. 1.	The King by Proclamation declares the Irish to be Rebels.	The Battel of Ballintobber was fought, and near Two thousand Irish Slain.
24.	The Lord-Lieutenant's Regiment of Foot under Lieutenant-Colonel Monk ; as also Sir Michael Earnly's and Colonel Cromwell's Regiments of Foot, with others of Horse, landed at Dublin .	General Lesly comes over with the rest of the Scotch Forces.	Aug. 6
Feb.	The Parliament in England accept the Proposals of the Adventurers, about the Forfeited Estates in Ireland .	A General Assembly of the Lords-Spiritual, and Temporal, and other Representatives of the Confederate Irish , meet at Kilkenny , where they Ordain a Supreme Council for Government, and are dissolved on the Ninth of January following, leaving the Supreme Council to Govern all.	Octob. 24.
Mar.	The Siege of Tredagh raised.
26.	Anno, 1642. D undalk Taken by the English .	The Lords-Justices and Council Write to the King, to prevent a Cessation of Arms, or a Peace with the Irish .	Mar. 16.
April 15.	Was Fought the Battel of Killrush .
May 12.	Lord Lambert made Governor of Dublin .	Anno, 1643. S IR John Borlace and Sir Henry Tichburn Sworn Lords-Justices.	May 12.
Jun. 21.	The Irish Parliament Sate.	The Pope sent over his Bull of Indulgence, which was Published by the Irish .	25.
Aug. 19.	They revoke all Protections given to the Irish .	Sir Robert Meredith , Sir William Parsons , Sir John Temple , and Sir Adam Loftus are committed, by His Majesty's Orders, to the Castle; being averse to the Cessation of Arms, with the Irish .	July 2.
Octob. 9.	Mr. Robert Godwin , and Mr. Robert Reynolds arrive at Dublin , with Money and Orders to inquire into the State of the Army and Kingdom, from the Parliament in England ; who procured a Subscription of most of the Officers in the Army to take Debentures on the forfeited Lands, for part of their pay.	Galway Surrenders to the Irish .	Aug. 15.
Dec.	Was the Battel of Tymachoo .	The Marquis of Ormond concludes a Cessation of Arms, by the King's Order, which is declared against by the Parliament of England , and the Estates of Scotland .	Sept. 15.
Jan. 20.	The Battel of Raconnell .	-- The Parliament of England order the solemn League and Covenant to be taken in Ireland .	Nov.
Mar. 18.	By the Lords-Justices Order, the Citizens of Dublin brought in their Plate to be Coyned, for a supply in Extremity, to the Value of Twelve hundred Pounds.	Several Regiments sent out of Ireland , to the assistance of the King in England .	Jan.
June 23.	Was fought the Battel of Ros .	JAMES Marquis of Ormond is Sworn Lord Lieutenant of Ireland .	21.
July 1.	The Castle of Limerick Surrendred to the Irish .
	-- The Scots gain a Victory at the Battel of Rapho .
	The Town of Sligo taken by Sir Frederick Hamilton .		Anno.

Apr. 7.	Anno, 1644. A Parliament was held at Dublin , which prohibits the Officers of the Army, to take the Solemn League and Covenant.	So that new Hostilities are begun, and Dublin threatened by the Irish Armies.
July 26.	The Lord Lieutenant receives a Commission from the King to make peace with the Irish , with Orders to continue the Cessation for another Year.	The Lord Lieutenant and Council apply to the Parliament of England for Succour.	Sept. 26.
	The Marquis of Antrim sends over Two thousand Five hundred Irish to join Montross in Scotland , to hinder more Recruits from thence into Ireland .	Commissioners arrive from that Parliament with One thousand Four hundred Foot, for the preservation of Dublin . But the Lord Lieutenant refuses to resign to them; so that they carried their Supplies to Ulster .	Nov. 14.
Aug. 8	The Citizens of Dublin were numbred, and found to be of Protestants, Two thousand Five hundred Sixty Five Men, and Two thousand Nine hundred Eighty Six Women; of Papiſts, One thousand Two hundred and Two Men, and One Thousand Four hundred and Six Women.	A new Reconciliation made with the Irish , which the Nuncio defeats and Opposes.
		The Marquis of Ormond agrees to Surrender Dublin ; and the Government to the Parliaments Commissioners.	Feb.
		The Irish Parliament made an Address of Gratitude to the Marquis of Ormond .	Mar. 17.
Aug. 25.	Anno, 1645. S ECRET Articles of Peace, concluded between the Irish , and the Earl of Glamorgan in the King's Name, which took no effect.	Anno, 1647. C OL. Castle's Regiment arrives.	30.
		Colonel Hungerfords & Longs Regiments also.	April 30.
Octob. 22.	The Pope's Nuncio arrives, who presides in the general Assembly of the Irish soon after.	The Commissioners from the Parliament of England , land with One thousand Four hundred Foot, and Six hundred Horse; and the Marquis of Ormond Surrenders Dublin and Tredagh , and his other Garrisons to them.	June 7.
June 5	Anno, 1646. O WEN Roe obtains a great Victory over the Scots and English at Bemburb .	The Common-Prayer Prohibited by Proclamation.	20.
11.	The King prohibits the Marquis of Ormond , by his Letter, to Treat any further with the Irish .	He delivers up the Ensigns of Authority, and goes for England .	July 25.
July 30.	-- By other Orders from His Majesty, a Peace is Concluded with them.	Colonel Michael Jones , Governor of Dublin , gains a great Victory at the Battel of Dungan-Hill , slaying Six thousand Irish , with the loss of only Twenty English .	Aug. 8.
Aug. 12.	The Romish Clergy Assembled by the Nuncio , reject the Peace, and censure all that yield to it.	Owen Roe burns the Country about Dublin ; so that Two hundred Fires were seen from a Steeple there.	Nov. 24.

	This Month the Ld. Insiquin overthrows the Irish at the Battel of Knockinoss .	He make an Agreement with Sir Charles Coot , and obliges the Lord of Ardes to raise the Siege of Derry in August following; the Parliament in England disapprove both these Agreements.	22.
April 14.	Anno, 1648. T He Ld. Insiquin declaring for the King, is Voted a Traytor, by the Parliament of England .	The Kings Army under Ormond , Encamps at Finglass , near Dublin .	June 18.
May 20. 27.	He concludes a Cessation of Arms with the Irish . The Pope's Nuncio issues an Excommunication against all that adhere to the Cessation .	Tredagh Surrenders to the Ld. Insiquin ; who having soon after taken Dundalk and other Garri- sons, returns to the Camp at Finglass .	30.
June.	War was Proclaimed between Owen Roe , and the Supreme Council.	Ormond Marches to Rathmines , on the South of Dublin .	July 25.
Sept.	Colonel Monk surprizes Monroe , and takes Carrickfergus and Belfast for the Parliament.	-- On the same Day Land the Colonels Reynolds , Venables , and Hunks , with Six hundred Horse, and One thousand Five hundred Foot, with other Supplies for the City.
Jan. 17.	Articles of Peace ratify'd between the Marquis of Ormond , on the Kings behalf, and the General Assembly of the Papists at Kilkenny .	Colonel Jones , sallying out of the City, totally routs the King's Forces at Rathmines , killing Four thousand, taking prisoners Two thousand Five hundred and Seventeen, with all the Artillery, and Baggage.	Aug. 2
Feb.	Charles the Second Proclaimed King, by the Lord Lieut. at Toughall .	Oliver Cromwell Lands at Dublin , and with him Nine thousand Foot, and Four thousand Horse.	14.
10.	Prince Rupert comes to Kinsale with Sixteen Frigats, and raises some Forces for Scilly , and is block'd up all the Summer by the Parliaments Navy.	-- He Marches out with Ten thousand Men, to besiege Tredagh .	30.
23.	The Nuncio departs the Kingdom.	Cromwell began his Battery, and the very next Day Storm'd the Town, and after two repulses, carry'd it the third time, and put the Garrison to the Sword.	Sept. 9.
Mar. 9.	The King from the Hague confirms the late Peace.	-- Dundalk immediately submits, with some other places.
28.	Anno. 1649. O liver Cromwell Voted General of all the Parliaments forces in Ireland .	-- Colonel Hewson , Governor of Dublin .
April.	The British Army, under the Lord of Ardes , join with the Kings Party; and soon after besiege Londonderry .	Cromwell comes before Wexford and summons the Town, which he takes three Days after, by Storm, slaying Two thousand.	Oct. 1.
May 8.	Owen Roe enters into Articles with Colonel Monk , for three Months Cessation, and mutual assistance.		Owen

	Owen Roe and Ormond come to an Agreement.	The Duke of Lorrain's Agent arrives with some small Supplies for the Irish , and promises of assistance from his Master.	Feb.
Nov.	After the taking of Ross , Cromwell besieges Waterford , but draws off again.
Dec. 6.	The Garrisons in the County of Cork revolt to Cromwell.	Anno, 1651. Articles were Signed by the Duke of Lorrain , and the Irish Agents that were sent over to him to treat; which the Lord-Deputy disowns, because they had not acted in the Kings Name, but that of the People of Ireland .	July 12.
Feb.	The Parliaments Forces in the North beat the Scots near Lisnegarvy .	The last Battel fought in this War, at Knocknaclashy ; where the Irish are utterly overthrown by the Parliaments Forces.
Mar. 28.	Cromwell Marches out of Winter-quarters, and takes many small places in Munster .	Limerick is Surrendred to Ireton .	Oct. 29.
Apr.	Anno, 1650. Kilkenny Surrenders to him.	Ireton dyes at Limerick , and Lieutenant-General Ludlow is made Commander in Chief of the Army, by the Commissioners at Dublin .	Nov. 26.
May 10.	Clonmell besieged, and Surrendred after a Vigorous defence, which cost Cromwell Two thousand Men.	Anno, 1652. Galway Surrenders which was the last Town of Importance.	May 12.
29.	The Battel at Macroon fought, where the Irish are routed.	Ross in the County of Kerry , [a Castle in an Island] is yielded up to Ludlow , after he had caused a small Ship to be carried over the Mountains and set afloat in the Lough, which terrified the Enemy.	June 27.
June 21.	Ormond sends to treat with Cromwell about the Terms, on which the Protestants of his party might be relieved.	Colonel Charles Fleetwood , comes over Commander in Chief.	Aug.
Aug. 10.	Cromwell Embarks for England at Toughall ; and leaves his Command to Ireton his Son-in-Law.	An Act passes in England , for the Settling of Ireland ; in which Ormond , Inchiquin , and Bishop of Derry are excepted from Pardon.
12.	Was fought the Battel of Skirifolas , and the Irish routed, by Sir Charles Coot .	At Kilkenny was held the first High Court of Justice, for Tryal of such as were accused of barbarous Murders in the Rebellion.	Oct. 4.
16.	Waterford Surrendred.	Afterwards another was held at Dublin ; where Sir Phelim O Neal , was Condemn'd, and Executed.
Dec.	The Assembly of the Irish Clergy at James-Town , Issue forth a Declaration, and Excommunication against the Ld. Lieutenant Ormond , and all his adherents.
	The Scots prevail with the King, to Declare against the Peace that had been made with the Irish Confederates.
	The Marquis of Ormond goes for France ; leaving the Marquis of Clanrickard Lord-Deputy.

Jan. 15.	The Lord of Mayo was Condemned in Connaught , and shot to Death.	The Officers of the Army, in favour to the Kings Restoration, surprize the Castle of Dublin , and Jones in it : And Declare for a free Parliament.	Janu. 29.
	Anno, 1653. T HE Government Managed by Commissioners of the Parliament, viz. Fleetwood , Lieutenant-General of the Army; Ludlow , Lieutenant-General of the Horse; Miles Corbet , John Jones , and John Weaver .	The Convention Met; Sir James Barry their Chair-Man.	Feb. 7.
Sept. 26.	-- It's declared that the Rebellion is ended.	Anno, 1660. T HEY accept His Majesty's Declaration from Breda , and concur to His Restoration.	May 14.
Nov.	The Commissioners of Delinquency, Sit at Athlone , to determine the qualifications of the Irish , for Transplantation into Connaught .	Sir Maurice Eustace , Lord-Chancellor, and Charles Earl of Montrath Sworn Lords-Justices.	Dec. 31.
	Anno, 1654. F leetwood is made Lord-Deputy.	The Earl of Orery Sworn also.	Jan. 17.
	Anno, 1655. H enry Cromwell is made Commander in Chief : but in the Civil Government, others were joined in Commission with him.	Doctor Michael Boyle and Eleven more were Consecrated Bishops in St. Patrick's Church in Dublin .	27.
	In this Year the City and County of Londonderry was restored to the Society, who had been deprived of it by a Decree in the Star-Chamber , Anno, 1636.	This Year (Robert Deey being Mayor) King Charles gave a Collar of S. S. to the City of Dublin ; and a Foot Company to the Mayor.
	Doctor James Usher , Arch-Bishop of Armagh dyes.	Anno, 1661. A Parliament was Summoned, Sir Audley Mervin Speaker; which gave the Duke of Ormond 3000 l .	May 8
	Anno, 1658. A fter Oliver's Death, the new Protector Richard made his Brother Henry Cromwell , Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland .	The Duke of Ormond Appointed Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland , by the King.	Oct. 4.
	Anno, 1659. A fter Richard's Resignation, the Parliament sent over Jones , Thomlinson , Corbet , and Berry , to Govern Ireland .	The Earl of Montrath Dies.	18.
May 7.		Anno, 1662. A N Indulgence to Dissenters, Publish'd by the Lords-Justices.	April 30.
		The D. of Ormond was Sworn Lord-Lieutenant.	July 28.
		The Bill of Settlement passed into an Act in the Parliament of Ireland .	Sept. 15.
		A Court of Claims was Erected, to adjudge the qualifications of Nocent and Innocent .

The Commissioners were, Sir Edward Dering, Sir Richard Rainsford, Sir Thomas Beverly, Sir Ed. Smith, Will. Coventry, Esq; (in whose stead came Sir Allan Brodrick) Sir Winston Churchill, and Colonel Cook.

Feb. 13. They Sat at the Kings-Inns, and heard Causes in this Month and afterwards.

May Anno, 1663. The Plot of Jepson, Thompsons Blood, &c. to seize on the Castle of Dublin, was discovered, and prevented; and Four Persons Executed.

July. The Lord-Lieutenant and Council receive a Letter from the King, in favour of the Lord of Antrim. which they Answer.

April. Anno, 1664. His Excellency went for England, leaving his Son the Earl of Offory Lord-Deputy.

Sept. Anno, 1665. The Lord-Lieutenant returns to Ireland, and raises a Protestant Militia.

Octob. 26. The Parliament, after many Prorogations, Sat again.

Dec. 15. The Act of Explanation passes into a Statute.

In this Year Pope Alexander the Seventh, absolv'd the Irish from the Excommunication of the Nuncio, upon their doing Penance.

This Year the Magistracy of the City of Dublin was honoured with the Title of Lord-Mayor; Sir Daniel Bellingham being the First that bore that Character; 500*l.* per Ann. being allow'd by the Crown to support the Honour.

May. Anno, 1666. A Mutiny of the Soldiers at Carrickfergus, they seizing on the Kings Money in the Receivers Hands: Upon the Surrender, Ten of 'em were Executed.

The Popish Clergy met in a national Synod, at Dublin.

The Parliament was dissolved.

Edmond Riley, Titular Archbishop of Armagh, is sent Prisoner to England.

The Second Court of Claims Sat at Dublin; disposing Lands by Lot, to the Officers of Forty nine.

The Lord-Lieutenant and Council consider about sending One hundred Five thousand Bullocks for the relief of London, lately Burnt.

The Tory Colonel Cestilo, was killed.

Anno, 1667. The Militia is raised in all parts, on frequent Alarms of an Invasion by the French.

Anno, 1668. The Ld-Lieutenant Embarks for England, and leaves the Earl of Offory Lord-Deputy.

The high Spire of St. Andoens Steeple in Dublin, blown down with a Storm, brake the roof of the Church.

Anno, 1669. The Sword is Surrendred to John Lord Roberts of Truro.

Anno, 1670. John Ld. Berkly, is Sworn Lord-Lieutenant; who soon returns for new Instructions.

The Hospital for poor Children (commonly called the Blue-Coat Boys) built this Year by the City of Dublin, by Contributions.

Also the Wooden-Bridge, commonly call'd, the Bloody-Bridge.

C c *

June

11.

Aug. 7

Sept.

27.

Octob.

Mar.

Febr.

Sept.

18.

May 21.

Anno,

- June* 12. Anno, 1671. THE Lord-Chancellor, and Sir Arthur Forbus, Sworn Lords-Justices.
- July* A Company of Apprentices, &c. gathered together to break down the said bridge; Twenty of whom were seized, and committed to the Castle, but afterwards, as they were carrying to Bridewell, under a Guard of four Files of Soldiers, they were rescued by the way, on the Merchants-Key, by a body of their Companions, tho', four of their Company were killed: Hence 'tis call'd the Bloody-Bridge.
- Sep.* 23. His Excellency returns.
- Dec.* On St. Stephens-Day the Play-House in Smock-Alley, Dublin, fell, killing several, besides divers bruised, and hurt.
- Aug.* 5. Anno, 1672. A Rthur Earl of Essex Sworn Lord-Lieutenant.
- Jan.* 17. A Commission is given to Prince Rupert, E. of Shaftsbury, &c. to inspect the Affairs of Ireland; the Execution of the Acts of Settlement and Explanation, and the disposing of the forfeited Lands, &c.
- Mar.* 9. The Parliament of England, Addressed his Majesty, that he would recall that Commission of Inspections.
- July* 2. Anno, 1673. THat Commission was superseded.
- Anno, 1675. THE Ld.-Lieutenant leaves the Lord-Chancellor, and the Lord Granard Lords-Justices; till his return from England.
- This Year Peter Fox, and five more, pretending to be Passengers in a rich Ship in Holland, bound for France, Murdered the Master and some of the Crew, and brought her to Ireland; Five of the Malafactors were taken and Executed here.
- Anno, 1676. This Year was Essex-Bridge begun to be built, by Sir Humphry Jervis.
- Anno, 1677. JAMES Duke of ORMOND, is Sworn Lord-Lieutenant.
- Aug.* Anno, 1678. UPon the news of the Papish Plot in England, Peter Talbot, Titular Arch-Bishop of Dublin, is Imprisoned at Dublin-Castle.
- Sept.* The Wife of William Peters, at the Bunch of Keys in High-Street, was brought to Bed of four Sons, and all liv'd to be Christen'd.
- Oct.* 16. By Proclamation, all Titular Arch-Bishops, Bishops, &c. and all that Exercise Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction under the Pope, and all Jesuits and other regular Priests, are required to depart the Kingdom by the Twentieth of November.
- Nov.* 20. By another Proclamation the Papists are forbidden to come into the Castle of Dublin, and the Markets of Drogheda, Cork, Waterford, Limerick, Wexford, Toughall, and Galway, order'd to be kept without the Walls.
- Dec.* A Letter being found in the Streets of Dublin, intimating a Conspiracy against the life of the Lord-Lieutenant; a reward of Two hundred Pounds was promised, by Proclamation, to the Discoverer; and one Jepson and two Priests were imprisoned for the Fact.

- Mar. 26. Anno, 1679. A Proclamation issues for seizing the near Relations of Tories, and Imprisoning 'em, till such Tories be killed, or taken; also for apprehending the Parish Priest where a Robbery is committed; that the Criminals be taken or discovered.
- July. 1. Anno, 1681. O Liver Plunket Titular Primate of Ireland, was Executed at Tyburn.
- May. Anno, 1682. HIS Excellency, went for England, leaving the E. of Arran Lord-Deputy, till his return in August, 1684.
Ormond-Market in Dublin first opened.
- July 28. Anno, 1683. PRINCESS Anne (Our present Gracious Queen) Married to P. George of Denmark.
--- This Year the Tholsel of Dublin was built at the Cities Charge; a fair and handsome building for the publick uses of the City; under which the Merchants keep their Exchange.
- Mar. 14. There issued a Commission of Grace, to the Chief Governor, the Chancellor, the Chief Judges, &c. to grant His Majesty's Title to those that were in Possession; and to grant Manors, and other Privileges, for a reasonable Fine, &c. This Court of Grace, Sat at the King's-Inns, and was dissolved by the King's Death.
- Feb. 11. Anno, 1684. UPON the Death of Charles the Second, On the 6th instant, King James was Proclaimed at Dublin.
- The D. of Ormond delivered up the Sword to the Primate, and Lord Granard, as Lords-Justices; but the Earl of Tyrconnell was Lieutenant-General of the Army.
- A great part of the Castle of Dublin was consumed by a dangerous Fire, that began about two in the Morning; His Excellency the Earl of Arron narrowly escaping: The Great Magazine of Powder (as also the Tower, in which the Ancient Records of the Kingdom were kept) was happily preserv'd from the approaching Flames, which else had laid the City in rubbish and ruins.
- This Year Ormond-Bridge, and Arran-Bridge, were built by the City; the former having been built of Timber two Years before, by Sir Humphry Fervis.
- This Year the Royal Hospital of Kilmainham, at the West End of Dublin, was built at the charge of the Army; being a very specious, stately, and Commodious Building, for Aged and Maimed Soldiers, who are here well Maintained, to the number of about 400.
- Anno, 1685. THE Earl of Clarendon is made Lord-Lieutenant, and Sir Charles Porter, Lord-Chancellor.
- Jan. 9. Anno, 1686. THE Earl of Tyrconnell was Sworn Lord-Deputy.
- Feb. 12. He issues Quo Warrantos against all the Charters.
- Appoints Papish Judges in every Court.
- April 16. Sir Charles Porter Sworn Lord-Chancellor of Ireland.

Aug.

Anno, 1687. THE Lord Tyrconnell, Lord Deputy of Ireland, went for Chester to meet the King, in his progress into those parts.

Dec.

4, 5.

By excessive Rains, and a violent Storm, the Wind at E. and S. E. there happened a great Inundation in Dublin, which put the lower parts of that City under water, up to the first floor, and in some Houses higher; so that Boats plyed in the Streets, and great quantity of Goods was damag'd, and carried away with the stream: At which time, Essex-Bridge was broken down, when a Coach and Horses passing over it, fell into the River, where the Coach-Man and one Horse perished.

Anno, 1688. THree thousand of the choicest Irish Soldiers are sent over into England, which disquiets and alarms that Kingdom.

James Duke of Ormond died at Kingston-Hall, in Dorsetshire, in England, in the 79th Year of his Age.

Dec.

7.

The Gates of Londonderry were shut against the Earl of Antrim's Regiment, who were sent to Garrison it.

21.

The Lord Mountjoy, upon Articles, was permitted to put five Companies of Protestants into that City, under Colonel Lundy.

Jan.

Tyrconnell sends the Lord Mountjoy, and Baron Rice, on a pretended Embassy to King James, in France; to beg leave to surrender the Kingdom, since it was impossible to keep it: Where Mountjoy is treacherously thrown into the Bastile.

The Protestants were disarmed through the Kingdom, except in the North.

The People of Bandon disarm the Garrison, but soon surrender, and purchase their Pardon for One thousand pounds.

King James Lands at Kinsale, and Marches to Dublin the 24th; and next Day, March 25th, calls a Parliament.

Lieutenant-General Hambleton routs the undisciplined Protestants of the North, at Dromore, many of whom flee to Derry.

Anno, 1689. Captain James Hambleton brought Arms and Ammunition to them in Derry.

Colonel Richards, and Colonel Cunningham, were sent to their relief, with two Regiments, but returned without relieving them; and were broke at their return.

King James's Parliament Sat till the Twentieth of July, and passes an Act of Repeal, of the Act of Settlement; and by an Act of Attainder, attaint near Three thousand Protestants.

Brass-Money made current by King James's Proclamation.

The Siege of Derry raised; after that, the Dartmouth Frigate forced her way up to the Town: Major-General Kirk, with his own, Sir John Hammers, and Brigadier Stuarts Regiments, having lain two Months at Anchor in the Lough, while the besieged suffered great hardships.

Two thousand Inniskilliners, did the day before that Siege was raised, meet Major-General McCarty with Six thousand Men, whom they took Prisoner, routing his Army, and destroying Febru.

24.

25.

Mar.

12.

14.

25.

April

13.

May 7

June

18.

July

31.

near

	near Three thousand Men, with the loss of about Twenty Men on their side.	Colonel Lutterel , the Governor of Dublin , issues an Order; forbidding more than five Protestants to meet together, on pain of Death.	18.
Aug. 13.	D. Schomberg Lands at Bangor , with about Ten thousand Men.	King William in viewing the Irish Army by the Boyne , narrowly escapes; being wounded on the right Shoulder, by a Great Shot.	30.
27.	Carrickfergus is surrendered upon Articles.	On Tuesday happened the memorable Battel of the Boyne , in which the Irish Army were routed, by K. William ; where Duke Schomberg was slain, much lamented.	July 1.
31.	The Army Musters at Belfast .	Drogheda surrenders to the Victorious King William .	2.
Sept. 7.	The Army came to Dundalk ; and the Irish Army retreats to Drogheda .	K. James flees to Waterford , and thence to France .
	A Thousand Inniskilliners under Colonel Lloyd , rout Five Thousand Irish going to Sligo , killing Seven hundred.	The Irish quit Dublin .
Octob.	A great Sickness in the Army, where many died; and among them Sir Edward Dering , Col. Wharton , Sir Thomas Gower , C. Hungerford , &c.	Athlone began to be besieged by Lieutenant-General Douglas .	17.
	Richard Lord Coot , Baron of Colloony , created E. of Bellamont .	The Siege is raised.	25.
Nov.	Both Armies decamp.	Limerick is besieged.	Aug. 11.
24.	A party of the Irish repulsed at Newry , by a few.	Sarsfield surprizes, and destroys the Great Guns, with Tin-Boats, Ammunition, and Provisions, at Ballynedy , within Seven Miles of the Besiegers Camp; to which they were coming.
Dec.	The Brass Coin raised, by calling in the half-Crowns, and stamping 'em a new for Crowns, at Dublin .	The Town attack'd, but not carried.	27.
Feb. 2.	The Irish beaten at the Battel of Cavan , near Belturbet .	The Siege is raised.	31.
Mar.	Six-thousand Deans Land in the North , under the Duke of Wertenberg .	Henry Lord-Viscount Sidney , Sir Charles Porter , and Thomas Conningsby , Esq; were Sworn Lords-Justices, King William being returned to England .	Sept. 15.
14.	Five thousand French on the other side, Landed at Kinsale to assist King James ; for whom some Irish were sent back in exchange, with Mackarty .	Count Solms going for England , Lieut.-General Ginckle is Commander in Chief of the Army.
Apr. 18.	Anno, 1690. SIR Cloudesly Shovel takes a Frigate out of the Harbour of Dublin , in sight of the Irish .	The Earl of Marleborough arrives with several Regiments at Cork .	22.
May 14.	Charlemont is surrendered by the Irish .	The Duke of Grafton is mortally wounded.
June 14.	King William Lands at Carrickfergus .

28.	Cork surrenders.	A Proclamation issued out by their Majesties Order, offering a Pardon and Restoration of Estates, to such of the Enemy as shou'd submit.	July 7.
Oct. 7.	An Earthquake in Dublin , at Seven a Clock in the Morning; but did no harm.	Was fought the sharp and decisive Battel of Aghrim , in which St. Ruth the General was slain, with near Seven thousand Irish , and about Seven hundred on the other side.	12.
15.	Kinsale surrenders on Articles.	Galway surrendred upon Articles, for their Religion and Estates; confirmed afterwards by their Majesties.	26.
Dec.	The Lord Sidney Embarks for England .	General Ginckel , by a new Declaration, extends the favour of the former Proclamation, of July the Seventh, Ten days longer.	Aug. 11.
15.	Sir Charles Porter is Sworn Lord-Chancellor.	The Lord Tyrconnell died at Limerick , a Day before Our Army approach'd to it.	14.
29.	The Lord Tyrconnell , Sir Richard Neagle , Sir Stephen Rice , arrives at Galway , from France , with Eight thousand Pounds in Money.	One hundred and Forty Commission-Officers taken at Athlone , Aghrim , &c. were sent from Dublin to Chester as Prisoners.	17.
Jan.	Sir Richard Reynold , made Lord Chief-Justice of the Kings-Bench; and Sir Richard Pyne , of the Common-Pleas.	The Island of Buffin surrenders; Mac-Cabe , and Four of his Men hanged at the Naas .	19.
Febru.	The Irish burnt Edenderry .	Sir Albert Cunningham was killed by a party of Irish at Colloony , near Sligo , upon a surprize.	Sep. 14.
13.	The Judges were appointed for the Circuits of Munster , Leinster , and Ulster .	My Lord Lisburn was shot in the Trenches before Limerick , much lamented.	15.
17.	The Duke of Berwick , and other great Officers went from Limerick to France .	--- Part of the English Army pass over the Shannon , where the Irish Army was Encamped, who presently retreat.	16.
26.	The Irish defeated at the Mote of Greenoge .	Sligo is surrendred to the Lord Granard .	22.
Mar.	Anno, 1691. M ark Baggot taken at Dublin as a Spy, in Womens Cloaths; was Condemned, and hanged in May after.	Most of the rest of our Army pass over the Shannon , and approach the Town of Limerick on that side.
28.	Count Shcomberg , (Second Son of the late Duke) was Created Duke of Leinster .
April.	Monfieur St. Ruth Lands, being sent to Command the Irish Army.
May	General Ginckel goes to the Camp at Mullingar .
30.	Ballymore surrendred.
June 8	Athlone attacked, and the English Town taken.
20.	Major-General Mackay and Talmash , passing through the Shannon , with a party, the Irish Town was taken by Storm; and the Irish Army Decamped.
30.

23.	The Besieged beat a Parley, and a Cessation is Concluded for three days.	of the Irish , that went thither, which made several Regiments Desert, who were not yet Ship'd off.
24.	Galloping Hogan , with his Party of Rapparees set upon some Carrs, coming to the Camp, and took away 70 Horses nigh to Culken .	The Lord Lucan , and the rest of the Irish Officers, went off at Cork .	22.
28.	Articles are agreed on for Limerick , and all the other Forts, then in the Possession of the Irish .	The Irish Soldiers that came over, are all ordered to be discharged, but 1400 choice Men.	Jan.
Octob. 1.	The Lords-Justices come to the Camp.	Began a great Frost, which held till the middle of February .	19.
3.	The Articles abovesaid were Signed by the Lords-Justices, and General Genckel , which afterwards were Ratified, by their Majesties Letters Patents.	Lieutenant-General Genckel is made Baron of Aghrim , and Earl of Athlone .
4.	The English take Possession of the Irish -Town.	Orders are given out for raising 500 Irish for the Emperor's Service, to be Commanded by the Lord Iveagh .	Mar. 3.
14.	A Proclamation of Pardon is Published, for such Rapparees as should come in and Submit within a Month.	Lieutenant-General Rovigny , Landed in Ireland , being made Commander in Chief of the Army, and Lord Viscount Gahway .	17.
19.	Hogan and his Crew, take the benefit of the Proclamation. He is afterward Murdered by Rapparees .	A Proclamation is Publish'd Declaring the War of Ireland to be at an end, Dated Mar. 3.	23.
	The French Fleet arrived in the Shannon , being 18 Men of War, 4 Fire ships, and 20 Ships of Burthen, with Ammunition and Provision for the Relief of Limerick ; In a day or two after Articles were Signed, there was News of their being come to Dingle-Bay .	Anno, 1692. T HE Lord Sydney arrives, and is Sworn Lord Lieutenant; Sir Cyril Wyche and Mr. Poulney , Secretaries.	Aug. 25.
Nov. 1.	The last of the Irish March out of the English -Town. Many of whom were Shipp'd off for France ; 120 of 'em were cast away on a Rock in the Shannon . Their Horse are Shipp'd off at Cork afterwards.	The Parliament meet; Sir Richard Leving is chosen Speaker, being then His Majesties Solicitor-General.	Oct. 5.
	General Genckel departs for England , with great applause.	They Adjourn to April 6th .	Nov. 3.
Dec. 5.	The Transport-Ships return from France , and bring an account of the Mean Reception	Anno, 1693. T HE Parliament Pro-rogued to September 5th .	Apr. 6.
6.		Commissioners appointed by the King for Enquiry into Forfeited Lands and Goods, &c.
		The Lord Lieutenant goes for England , and leaves Sir Charles Porter , and Sir Cyril Wyche , Lords-Justices.	July 3.
		The Parliament Dissolved. The Lord Capel , Sir Cyril Wyche	28.
		E e *

	Wyche, and Will. Duncomb, Esq; Sworn Lords-Justices: Mr. Aldworth and Mr. May, Secretaries.	The Parliament Adjourn three Weeks.	28.
		They Adjourn to March 28, and then to June 27.	Dec. 14.
Feb 1 2.	The Tower of Limerick (being old) fell Suddenly, in which were 218 Barrels of Powder, which by the striking of the Stones, took Fire, and blew up; it greatly shattered the Town, killing about 100 Persons, besides the wounded.	This year the Four Courts for Justice, were New Built, in Christ-Church Lane, Dublin , at the charge of the Crown, during which the Courts Sat under the Tholsell , where the Merchants keep their Exchange.
May 23.	Anno, 1694. A Proclamation Issued, requiring thole within the Articles of Galway , and Limerick , to make out their Claims.	About this time his Excellency the Lord Capel and the Council, on the Account of a late Conspiracy to Assassinate His Majesty (having Issued a Proclamation for Discovering and Taking the Conspirators) Signed an Association in the Council Books, there to remain on Record, as a Testimony of their Zealous Affection to King William .	March.
Dec. 28.	Died Mary Qu. of England , &c. of the Small-Pox; a Princess of Illustrious and Peerless Vertue.
May 27.	Anno, 1695. T He Ld. Capell Sworn Lord Deputy.	Anno, 1696. T HE Lord Blessington , and Brigadier Woolsey , Lords Justices, in the Lord Capell's Sicknefs.	May 18
29.	The Coin was raised by Proclamation; A Luisd'or 21 sh. a Ducat to 6 s. 8 d. &c.
June.	Capt, Welsh , a Subject of this Crown, but Commanding a French Privateer on these coasts, was taken, and hanged, April 15th following.	His Excellency the Lord Capel Died at Chappel-Izod , much lamented; and the Lord Chancellor, Sir Charles Porter , was by the Council chosen Governor, till his Majesty's pleasure should be known, according to an Act of 33 of Henry VIII .	30:
Aug. 27.	The Parliament meet, Robt. Rochford is chosen Speaker. They Vote a supply of 163325l.	The Parliament meet, and Mr. Robert Sanderfon (for the County of Cavan) is Expelled the House, for not Signing the Association. They Adjourn from time to time, till July 1697.	June 27
Oct. 2.	Pursuant to an Act of Parliament, the Rolls, Records, Papers, &c. relating to the Acts of Attainder, and other Acts, in the late K. James's time, were Cancelled, and publickly burnt.	The Lord Chancellor Porter , Earl of Montrath , and Earl of Drogheda , are Sworn Lords Justices, Mr. Dering and Mr. Palmer Secretaries.	July 29.
8.	Was kept a day of Thanksgiving, in Dublin , for the preservation of His Majesty's Person, and the taking of Namur , in the fight of the French Army, tho' 100000 strong.	A Proclamation for Apprehending Henry Every the Pirate, and	Aug. 4.

and his Crew, several of whom were taken.

No. 10. The William Pacquet-boat with two Mails, and about 80 Passengers (among whom was Brigadier Fitz-Patrick, and Mr. O Neal, &c.) was cast away in a violent Storm, in Dublin-Bay, near Sutton; only the Master and a Boy sav'd.

Dec. 8. The Lord Chancellor Porter, one of the Lords Justices, died most suddenly in his Chamber.

Feb. 6. The Earl of Galway is made Lord Justice, and John Methuen, Esq; Lord Chancellor.

May 29 Anno, 1697. Charles, Marquis of Winchester, Henry E. of Galway, and the E. of Jersey, Lords Justices, the last came not over.

July 27 The Parliament sits. About this time several Persons in Dublin, and other Corporation Towns, Associated, for promoting Reformation of Manners, by bringing Swearers, and leud Persons to publick punishment.

Sept. 15 The Parliament adjourns to Octob. 20. and then to the 26. then to Nov. 8.

Oct. 27 The Magazine of Athlone fired by Light'ning, blew up the Castle, and divers Houses, and 14 Persons were killed.

No. 4. The Peace which was concluded with France, at Reswick, Sept. 10th, was now proclaimed at Dublin.

The old Parish of St. Michans, Dublin (including all that part on the North side of the River) was by Act of Parliament divided into Three Parishes, viz. The New St. Michans, St. Paul's, and St. Mary's, Churches, to be Erected in each of the two latter by a Tax on the Parish.

Upon the Commons Address, his Majesty King William gave 3000*l.* to Trinity-Colledge, Dublin, Enlarging it by some new Additional Buildings, which are since Erected.

The Parliament is Porogued to the 10th of May, and after that Adjourned from time to time, till Sept. following.

This year Barthol. Van-Homrigh, Esq; one of the Commissioners of the Revenue, was Ld. Mayor of the City of Dublin, and being a Person very Serviceable to the Crown, and City, he obtained a Collar of S.S. a Royal Donative, for the chief Magistrate of that City, to the value of near a 1000*l.* The former Collar having been lost in K. James's time.

Abram le Grove was Executed, and hung in Irons below Rings-end, for an horrid Murder of a Dutch Skipper, whose Body was cut into Joints, and cast into the River, but most of it was found.

Anno, 1698. THE Parliament Sits, and soon after gives a Tax of 120000*l.*

They Adjourn to the 20th, then to the 27th.

The Parliament Prorogued to May 30th, and afterwards dissolved.

Anno, 1699. DR. Narcissus Marsh, Arch-Bishop of Dublin, and the Earl of Galway, Lord-Justices.

Charles Duke of Bolton, the Earl of Berkely, and the Earl of Galway, Lords-Justices.

The Parliament of England having

Dec. 3.

Feb.

Sept. 27

Dec. 3.

Jan. 26.

May 18

Aug. 22

Dec. 15

having the preceding year, appointed 7 Commissioners for Inquiry into the Forfeited Estates of Ireland, viz. The Earl of Drogheda, Sir Richard Leving, Sir Francis Brewster, Francis Annesly, James Hamilton, John Trenchard, and Henry Langford, Esquires; they Deliver'd in their first Report, Signed by the four last only.

Part of which Report the Parliament of Ireland, Anno 1703, Voted to be a Malicious and False Misrepresentation, &c. And Expelled Mr. Annesly.

The Parliament of England Vest the Forfeited Estates in Thirteen Trustees, to be Sold for the Publick use, Notwithstanding several Grants already made; allowing the Purchasers under the Grantees a third Part of their Money, and afterwards another third Part.

The Trustees Sat in Chichester House (Where the Commons use to Sit) to Execute their Trust, which ended July 1702.

July 30. Anno, 1700. Died the D. of Glocester at Windſor, in the 12th year of his Age. A Prince of early hopes, and the only remaining blossom of the present Royal Family.

April 4. Anno, 1701. THe Arch-Bishop of Dublin, the E. of Drogheda, and E. of Mount-Alexander, Lords-Justices. The Coin reduced by Proclamation to its current Rate.

July 1. The City of Dublin in grateful Commemoration of their late Deliverance, by the Conduct and Valour of K. William III. Erected his Statue on Horſeback in Braſs, in the College-Green, with this Inſcription on the Marble work.

G U L I E L M O Tertio ;

Magnæ Britannia, Francia, & Hiberniæ Regi.

Ob Religionem Conſervatam,

Reſtitutas Leges,

Libertatem Aſſertam,

Cives Dublinienſes hanc Statuam poſuere.

It was begun, Anno MDCC, Sir Anthony Peirce being Lord-Mayor.

Charles Forrest, and James Barlow. Esqrs. } Sheriffs.

Finished Anno MDCCI, Sir Mark Ransford Lord-Mayor. John Eccles, and Ralph Gore. Esqrs. } Sheriffs.

Which was opened this day, with great Solemnity; being the Anniverſary of the Victory at the Boyn.

His Excellency Laurence E. of Rocheſter, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, arrived at Dublin.

Dr. Marſh Archbiſhop of Dublin; the Earl of Drogheda, and Tho. Keighly, Esq; Lords Juſtices.

At Eight in the Morning Died the Renowned K. William III. at Kenſington, worthy of a Life as Immortal as his Fame.

Her preſent Maſteſty Q. Anne proclaimed at Dublin.

Anno, 1702. THe Earl of Mount-Alexander, Lieutenant General Erie, and Tho. Keighly, Esq; Lords Juſtices.

Died

Sept. 18

Jan. 4

Mar. 8.

17.

June.

Xth 10.

Died Doctor Michael Boyle Arch Bishop of Armagh, and Primate of all Ireland, in the 93d. year of his Age, who gave 200 pound towards the Breecting the Front Gate of the College at Dublin, and was Succeeded by Dr. Narcissus March.

my, at Benner's-Bridge, near Kilkenny, where some are Detached for Portugal, to Assist Charles the 3d. King of Spain, against the D. of Anjou.

The Castler Market in Dames-street, built by Alderman William Fownes, and Thomas Pooley Esqs, was opened by the Lord Mayor, with Proclamation and beat of Drum.

26.

June 4.

Anno, 1703. HIS Grace James D. of Ormond, arrived, and was Sworn Lord Lieutenant.

This year the City Marshal-sea, began to be kept in a separate place (from the Marshall-sea of the Four Courts) in Bridge-street, Dublin.

Aug. 12.

The City of Dublin gave a Splendid Entertainment to the Duke and Dutcheis at the Tholsel, at which time the Corporations Marched thro' the City with their several Pageants.

This day was kept, for a Publick Thanksgiving, for the famous Victory of the Confederate Forces, under the Command of the D. of Marlborough over the French and Bavarians, at the memorable Battle of Hochstet, where the latter being an Army of 75000, were entirely defeated, 13000 were taken Prisoners, with the French General Monf. Tallard, and most of the rest slain or scattered.

Sept. 7.

Sept. 21.

The Parliament meet, and Sit; Allan Broderick Esq; (then Her Majesty's Solliciter-General) is chosen Speaker: they make a Representation of Grievances to Her Majesty.

No. 27.

They Adjourn to January 11th.

Jan. 11.

The Convocation of Bishops and Clergy, meet and sit at St. Patrick's Church, and afterward Adjourned to St. Mary's Chapel in Christ Church, Dublin.

March 4.

The Parliament Prorogued to October 3d.

The Number of the Popish Clergy in each County of this Kingdom, lately returned to the Clerk of the Council, Pursuant to an Act of Parliament for Registring the Popish Clergy, is as followeth, viz.

In the County of 24.

Upon the Lord Lieutenant's going for England, Sir Richard Cox, Lord Chancellor, the Earl of Mount-Alexander, and Lieutenant General Erle, are Sworn Lords-Justices. Joshua Dawson Esq; Secretary.

Armagh	19	Londonderry	14
Antrim	18	Longford	16
Cork	58	Limerick	47
City of Cork	4	City of Limerick	12
Catherlogh	14	Leytrim	25
Cavan	30	Monaghan	17
Clare	45	Mayo	51
Dublin	36	Meath	55
City of Dublin	34	Queen's County	15
Town of Drogheda	2	Roscommon	49
Down	30	Sligo	39
Donegall	21	Tipperary	45
Fermanagh	13	Tyrone	27
Galway	87	Wexford	34
Town of Galway	8	Waterford	21
Kerry	36	City of Waterford	6
Kilkenny	26	Wicklow	13
City of Kilkenny	4	West-Meath	35
Kildare	30	Town of roughall	1
King's County	20
Louth	14
		Total,	1080

May 21

Anno, 1704. MR. Rockfort, Her Majesty's Attorney-General, was publicly stabb'd (but not Mortally) with a Knife, at St. Andrew's Church, Dublin, by one Mr. Creswick.

July

An Encampment of the Ar-

F f

THE 1704.

THE Streets of the City of Dublin, for several years past, swarm'd with crowds of miserable Objects, whose wants and Infirmities have been shamefully exposed to publick view, to the great reproach of Human Nature, and dishonour of Religion, thro' want of a due Provision for the Reception and Employment of Common Beggars, and other Parish Poor of the City.

Whereupon the Lord Mayor, Sheriffs, Commons, and Citizens of Dublin, in the year 1703. purchased Lands of Inheritance, to the value of one hundred pounds per Ann. besides a spacious convenient piece of Ground at the West end of St. James's-street, for Erecting a Work-House; And thereupon applied to the present Parliament in Ireland, to have the same settled for ever for the use of the Poor: Which Application was kindly received by the Parliament, and several Additional Funds were given and settled by Act of Parliament, not only for Employing the labour of such Common Beggars as are fit for Service, but also for Relief of those who thro' Age or Infirmary are disabled from work. But in regard little or no Provision was made in the said Act for the building of the said Work-House, this Charitable and Pious Design will necessarily fall unless enlivened by the Liberal Contributions of well-disposed Persons: And therefore it is hoped that the Crying Wants and Miseries of the Poor will prevail for a suitable Encouragement to this design, from the Bounty of all good Christians, especially when incited by so Bright and Eminent a Pattern, as is her Grace Mary, Dutches of Ormond, who has been pleased, in a very particular manner, to promote this design, not only by a Liberal Contribution, but by a singular and unwearied Application in procuring the Act for Erecting of the Work-House, and in getting Subscriptions from several of the Nobility, and other Persons of Quality in this Kingdom.

That her Graces Generous Endeavours herein, and Exemplary Benefaction, together with the Subscribers Charity, be amply rewarded in another world, will be the hearty Prayer of a multitude of Poor, who shall at once be Relieved by their Bounty from all the miseries both of Poverty and Idleness.

On Thursday the 12th of October, 1704. the Lord Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, and Sheriffs, waited on her Grace to the Ground Enclosed at the West End of St. James's-street, where her Grace laid the Foundation Stone of the City Work-House; And the Lord Mayor, Francis Stoyt, Esq; Invited her Grace to a splendid Entertainment prepared by him upon this occasion.

Tho. Wilkinson, } Then
Rob. Cheatham, } Sheriffs.

The Lord Lieutenant (his Grace James Duke of Ormond) returned this day from England, and was receiv'd with great Solemnity and Joy, by the City of Dublin, &c.

Octo. 12

No. 16.

F I N I S.

A COMMENTARY
OF THE PRELATES
OF IRELAND,

From the
First Conversion
OF THE IRISH NATION
TO THE
CHRISTIAN FAITH
Down to our Times.

By Sir JAMES WARE, Knight.

DUBLIN :

Printed by Andrew Crook, for Matthew Gunne in Essex-street, and Eliphal Dobson at the Stationers Arms in Castle-street, MDCCIV.

THE AUTHOR TO THE READER.

I Have here undertaken to give a true, free, candid and brief Account of the most memorable Actions of the Bishops of this Island, in a continued Series from the first Birth of Christianity among us to this Day : Some parts, indeed, of this Work I Published heretofore, to which I have now made some Additions ; To the publishing thereof I have been encouraged by some persons of Note and Eminence for their Prudence and Fidelity to their Prince ; and particularly by the most Reverend Doctor James Margetson, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, and Primate of all Ireland. It was not difficult, indeed, to perswade me to undertake the VVork, remembring that Non nobis solum nati sumus, and I the rather engag'd in it, not only to preserve to Posterity the Memory of the Prelates of Ireland, many whereof were eminently Virtuous, but likewise to invite others, who with greater advantages of Learning, might trace the dark Footsteps of our Irish Antiquities, and discover to the publick Eye of the World many other things of this nature, which have hitherto layn hid and retir'd behind a Cloud ; that not only we our selves at home, but others also abroad, may be acquainted with our Affaires.

'Tis true, indeed, that the Revenues of the Church (among other sad examples of the misery of those times, known to all the VVorld) were distracted and alienated by the Tyranny of Cromwell and his Faction : But here it will appear, that by the care of our most Glorious King Charles II. by the Divine Providence happily restored to the Throne of his Ancestors, those Revenues (the temporal Rewards of Learning) which those Destroyers of their Country, the Cromwellians, with a Sacrilegious Avarice, under the pretended name of Reformation, had Invaded, are again restor'd.

Some, I know, may object, that I have omitted some Bishops of those elder Ages, and have said little of others; but this ought not to be imputed as a fault to me : If I speak but succinctly of those eminent Bishops who in the first Ages of the Church, taught Christianity in Ireland, it is the Method I design'd in undertaking this VVork; and those who desire to know more of them, I refer to our VVriters of Lives as to the rest. Truly I have not been wanting in any Industry (as far as in me lay) to redeem their Memory from Oblivion, but it is sufficiently known, how many publick Records, how many Registers of our Churches, how many Charters, Annals and other venerable Monuments of Antiquity, either by the negligence of their Keepers, or the rage of VVvar, are lost ; which well consider'd, even thus much as I here produce, may possibly be more than could be justly expected. Such as it is, I refer it to the Judgment of the Learned and Indifferent Reader, and thus much I thought fit to say to him.

Dublin, June the 15th, 1665.

On

On the Renovation of the Bishops of Ireland, happily effected by the Piety and Ingenuity of the most Learned Sir James Ware, Knight.

KInd Muses now at length adieu,
Thus far's enough to trouble you;
A Mitred Muse can't wish to dye,
Pardon the Word, more Heavenly,
Than praising, Sir, your worthy Deeds,
Who Crowns so many Mitred Heads.
Whilst you the Bishops Lives restore,
(Too long opprest with Night before)
You take the most ingenious Course,
Learn'd Ware, thus to illustrate yours.
Believe me, Sir, more worthily
You can't oblige Posterity.
"Writers long Lives to others give,
"By which Themselves do mean to live.
Thus you the Bishops Years renew,
And Bishops Years you number too;
When yours are gone inherit ours:
Which far surpassing Earthly Powers,
May vye with long Eternity;
Learn'd Men make Gods thus easily.

G. Limerick

OF THE BISHOPS OF ARMAGH.

St. Patrick.

SAINTE Patrick a Britain, was at his Baptism named Succoth, i. e. Valiant in War; but the Name of Patrick was given him long after as a Badg of Honour by Pope Celestin, who sent him into Ireland to Preach the Gospel, Anno Christi, 432. Of the Dignity and Privileges of the Patricij among the ancient Romans; See Dionys. Halicarn. Rom. Antiq. Lib. 2. Ch. 2. And so the Kings of France by a Decree of Pope Stephen, in the Reign of King Pepin, were stiled Romanorum Patricij. Patrick was born in Tabernia, a little British Country now part of Scotland, near the Castle of Dunbri-tain; his Father was Calpornius, a Deacon, his Grandfather Potitus, a Presbyter, as he says, speaking of his Family in his Confessions. At 16 Years of Age he was taken by Pyrates, and brought Captive into Ireland; where he lived Six years tending an Herd of Cattle, near the Mountain Mis; in that part of Ulster, now called the County of Antrim: Being set at liberty he returned Home; but this did not put a Period to his Troubles, for about Two years after he was again carried Captive into Ireland; but continued so only Sixty days. After his return home, he undertook a Pilgrimage to Rome, and in his Journey thither, made some short stay with St. German, and afterward with St. Martin Bishop of Tours, his Uncle; by whom being Instructed in the Scriptures, he was Ordained Presbyter. From thence he went streight to Rome, where he was made a Regular Canon in the Church of the Lateran, and applied himself to the Reading of Holy Scripture, to Diligent Studies, and the Exercises of a Devout Life; as we read in the Office of the Regular Canons, approved by Pius V. He spent Thirty years partly at Rome, partly in the Isles of the Mediterranean, and partly with St. German and St. Martin; after which upon the Death of Paladius, whom Pope Celestin (tho' with small success) had sent to propagate Christianity in Ireland, he was Consecrated Bishop, and appointed to Succeed him in that great Work, of the Conversion of the Irish, A. D. 432. Wherein his great and assiduous Labours have so well deserved of the Church of Ireland, that he is commonly called the Apostle of the Irish. He fixed his See at Armagh, by the Concession of one Dair a certain rich man, A. D. 455, near the River Calin, a place sometimes called Drumsfailech, from the abundance of Sallow Trees growing thereabouts; and since from the Eminency of its Scituation named Armagh; or the High place. Of this See 432.

An. Dom.

455.

An. Dom.

465.

482.

492.

there Founded by St. Patrick, thus Jocelin the Lancashire Monk in his Life, Cap. 165. "He placed his Arch-Bishop-See in the same City, designing it for the Primacy, Metropolis, and Mistriss of all Ireland. And Cap. 166. He Built the Metropolitan Church at Armagh for the good of Souls, and for the good of that City and the whole Kingdom. The care of which Ten years after he committed to his Scholar Benignus, A. D. 465; who immediately resigned to Iarlath, who dying A. D. 482. was Succeeded by Cormac: So that Patrick saw Three of his Successors in his See of Armagh. And not being unmindful of his Duty, he spent the remainder of his Life partly in private Studies and Contemplations, partly in Preaching and the publick Affairs of his Church. What to add further of his Acts, truly I am at a loss; Inopem me Copia fecit. A larger account may be had from those Authors, who in several Books have written his Life; mean while it may suffice to add, that according to the most received opinion, he dyed the 17. Mar. 492. in the Abby of Saul Built by himself, and was Buried Two Miles off, at Down.

St. Benignus.

* Vid. Usher de Primord. Eccl.
Brit. p. 874.

Concerning the immediate Successors of St. Patrick, opinions vary, some will have it, that * Senanus (once a Soldier) next Succeeded him; and in his Life written in Metre, St. Patrick is introduced Prophecying of him thus:

To you an Infant shall be Born,		His Name Senanus, shall adorn
A future Minister of God;		This place of my Abode.
And by the grace of God, he'll be Succeeding Bishop after me.

Vid. Usher, p.
275, 276.

And in the same Life he is afterward called Arch-Bishop Senanus, but doubtless he was Bishop of Iniscatty, not of Armagh. In the Psalter of Cassel, Secundinus or Sechnallus, St. Patrick's Nephew by his Sister, is said to have next Succeeded him; and Patricius Senior, otherwise called Sen-Patricius, or old Patrick, a Domestick Servant of our St. Patrick, is said to have Succeeded Secundinus; but this Secundinus was Bishop of Dunshaghlin in Meath, where he also dyed, 27 Nov. 448. Aged 75 years; and that Sen-Patrick, commonly mistaken for our great St. Patrick, dyed Ten years after. Others, who in my opinion are rather to be credited, make the next Successor of St. Patrick, to have been Benignus, called by our Irish Benin, a Scholar of St. Patrick (of whom before) as appears in Probus and Tirechan, of which see Jocelin, Ch. 39. He resigned his Bishoprick in 465, and Three years after his Life at Armagh, or as others, at Farlingmer in England, 9 Novemb. from whence his Relicks are said to have been Translated to Glastenbury, A. D. 1091. but the Annals of Inisfallis observe, that he dyed at Rome.

Iarlathus.

By the appointment of St. Patrick, Benignus was Succeeded by his dearest Friend Iarlathus, Son of Trena or Trien, born in Ulster and Educated under St. Patrick. He dyed 11 Feb. 482. The Ulster Annals refer his death to 481, thus; "The death of Iarlath Son of Trena Bishop of Armagh: Or as it is in another Copy; "The death of Iarlath Son of Trena, the Third Bishop of "Armagh."

Cormac.

St. Patrick now Aged and wholly employed in Divine Contemplations, appointed Cormac the next Successor to Iarlath, He was Bishop of Trim and Nephew of King Leogarius, by his Brother Endeus. In the Ulster Annals he is called called Heir to St. Patrick, because he Survived him. He died 17 Feb. 497, An. Dom. and lyes Buried at Trim.

497.

Dubtachus, I.

Dubtachus or Duachus Succeeded and fat 16 years, he dyed in 513. In the 513.
Life of St. Tigernachus, he his called "The Venerable Duachus, the famous Arch-Bishop of St. Patrick's Sec.

Ailildus, I.

Ailildus or Ailil alias Helias, Son of Trichenius Prince of the East part of 526.
Ulster, fate 13 years, and dyed 13 January, 526.

Ailildus, II.

Ailildus the second of that Name, descended of the same Royal House, fate 536.
10 years and dyed 1 July, 536.

Dubtachus, II.

Dubtachus or Duachus the second, descended of the Family of Colla-Huais, 548. fate 12 years and dyed in 548, of whom I find little else Recorded.

David.

Next after Duachus the Second, the Ulster Annals reckon David the Son of 551.
Guarius, whom they call Legat of all Ireland, and say that he dyed in 550, in our account, 551. Colgan thinks this to be the same, who in the Pfalter of Cassel, is called Fiachrius or O Fiachra.

Feidlimid.

Feidlimid-Fin, i. e. White, descended from Hy-Niellan, Succeeded and dyed 578. in 578. The Ulster Annals according to the old stile, call him Abbot of Armagh; who in the Pfalter of Cassel, and in the Martyrologies, is reckoned among the Primates.

Cairlan.

Cairlan or Cairlan, descended of Hy-Niellan, an Abbot in the Diocess of 588.
Armagh, Succeeded Feidlimid in 578, and dyed 24 March, 588.

Eochaid.

Eochaid Son of Dermot, called Abbot of Armagh, dyed in January, 598. 598.

Senach.

Senach, also called Abbot of Armagh, dyed in 610. 610.

Mac Laisre.

Mac Laisre, or the Son of Laisre, whose proper name we do not find, Succeeded Senach; perhaps the same whom John Tinmouth in the Life of St. Laurence A. B. of Canterbury (and out of him Capgrave) calls St. Terenan, Arch-Bishop

An. Dom.

623.

Bishop of Ireland; "Who hearing (says he) the Discourses of St. Laurence, "concerning the Observation of Easter, and other Apostolical Institutions, Embraced the Truth and took care for the future to Reform his People. The times agree well enough, for as Mac Laifre began to Sit in 610, and dyed 2 September, 623, so Laurence was Ordained Arch-Bishop of Canterbury in 611, and dyed 3 February, 619.

Thomian.

639.

661.

Thomian or Tomian Son of Ronan, nobly descended, for his Learning and other Vertues was Ordained Successor to Mac Laifre. To him and the rest of the Bishops, Presbyters and Abbots of Ireland, was written that Epistle of the Roman Clergy, during the Vacancy of the Roman See, in 639, concerning the due time of observing Easter; part whereof is extant in Venerable Bede, Hist. Eccles. Lib. 2. Cap. 19. He died 10 January, 661.

Segen.

670.
687, 688.

Segen having fate 27 years, died 24 May 688. In his time Armagh was twice burnt, namely in 670 and 687.

Flan=Febla.

695.
715.

Flan Surnamed Febla, Son of Scanlan, fate likewise 27 years. He dyed 24 April 715, under him a Synod was held in 695.

Suibney.

730.

Suibney Son of Cronumail, Succeeded and dyed in June, 730.

Congusa.

750.

Congusa or Congusius, descended of Kinel Aumire, having fate 20 years, dyed in 750. "He writ (says Colgan) a certain Poem, wherein he Exhorted Aid (or Edan) Allan King of Ireland (whose Confessor he was) to Revenge the "Sacrilidge of Aid-Rone King of Ulster, in Pillaging certain Churches in the "Diocess of Armagh.

Cele Peter.

758.

Cele Peter descended of Hy-Bressail, called Comorban (i.e. Successor) of St. Patrick, Succeeded Congusa and dyed in 758.

Ferdachrey.

768.

Ferdachrey Son of Suibney, Nephew of Ronan, Succeeded Cele Peter, fate about 10 years, and dyed in May, 768. The Ulster Annals call him Abbot of Armagh, but in the Psalter of Cassel he is more rightly reckoned among the Arch-Bishops of Armagh. Observe here, that the names of Abbot and Arch-Bishop are promiscuously used in those Annals.

Foendelach.

794.

Foendelach Son of Moenach Succeeded Ferdachrey, and fate Three years; between him and Dubdaleth, was great contention for the Bishoprick. Foendelach they say dyed in 794, whence I gather, that he either Resign'd. or was Depos'd.

Dubdalethy.

Dubdalethy.

Dubdalethy Son of Sinac, fate according to the Pfalter of Cassel 15 years. He dyed in 793.

An. Dom.

793.

Affiatus or Arectacus.

In the Ulster Annals at 793, in our Account 794, Affiatus Bishop of Armagh and Airesachus (or Arectachus) Abbot of Armagh, are said to have dyed in one and the same night. On the contrary in the Pfalter of Cassel, without any mention of Affiatus, Arectachus is said to be Successor in the See of Armagh; and to have fate one year.

794.

Cudiniscus.

Cudiniscus Son of Conasuich, in the Pfalter of Cassel is said to have succeeded, and to have fate 4 years. But in the Ulster Annals his death is referred to 790, or 791; and he is called Abbot of Armagh; by which name notwithstanding, is to be understood Bishop or Primate.

790.

Connmach.

Connmach Son of Dubdalethy, dyed suddenly in 807.

807.

Torbach.

Torbach Son of Gorman, called The Scribe, Reader, and Abbot of Armagh, having fate only one year, dyed July 16, 808. Scribes among the Jews were Lecturers, and Doctors or Interpreters of the Law, and so among the Greeks. As to the Irish Scribes, some understand by that name a Writer: But Quere, Whether it does not rather signify a Divinity Lecturer.

808.

Nuad.

Nuad Son of Segen, Abbot of a Monastery near the Lough of Brefini, called Logh-Uamba, succeeded in 810. He took a Progress to Conaught, where he is said to have Reformed some Abuses in the Churches. He dyed February, 19 812 or 811: At which year thus the Ulster Annals, "Nuada Loc-huama, Bishop, "Anchoret, and Abbot of Armagh slept.

810.

812.

Mac Loingle.

Mac Loingle or Mac Longsec succeeded and fate 13 years. But the time of his continuance in the Bishoprick is ill assigned, for his Successor Artrige fate in 822.

822.

Artrige.

Artrige (or Artry Son of Cornelius) fate as we have said in 822, and the same year visited the whole Province of Munster. "At that time the Law of "St. Patrick was propagated throughout Munster, by Fethlim Son of Crimthan "(King of Munster) and Artrige Bishop of Armagh; so the Ulster Annals. Some by that Law of St. Patrick understand his Monastick Rule, others the Metropolitan Jurisdiction in the Provinces. He afterwards visited Conaught in 824, and dyed in 833, but when Consecrated I do not find. His times were much 833.

An. Dom.

much disturbed by the Danish Wars. And the Irish Annals deliver, that Armagh was a Month in possession of the Danes and Normegians in 830.

Eugen.

834.

Eugen or Wogan, called also Abbot of Armagh, dyed in 834.

Faranan.

848.

Faranan succeeded, and was driven from his See by Turgesius the Normegian, together with all the Religious and Scholars of the place. Between him and Dermot o Tigernac, was great Contention for the right to the See, and both Exercised the Function. But in 848 Faranan resigned, and dyed in 852 : The same year also, dyed his Successor Dermot.

Dermot o Tigernac.

852.

Dermot o Tigernac succeeded, who dyed in 852, and in the Ulster Annals is called "The Wisest of all the Doctors in Europe. A little before his Death Armagh was again spoiled by the Heathenish Danes, even on Easter-Sunday, for which he languished away with Grief, as 'tis thought, and before the end of the year dyed.

Factna.

874.

Factna succeeded in the same Church, and sat 22 years. He dyed Octob. 6, 874, and was called "Bishop, Heir to St. Patrick, and Head of the Religion of all Ireland. While he sat, Amlaf, the Normegian Plundered and Burnt Armagh, and Killed One thousand men in it.

Ainmir.

875.

Ainmir succeeded in the Government of the See, which he held only 9 Months and dyed in 875.

Catafach.

883.

Catafach Son of Rabarti, called Prince of Armagh, dyed in 883, according to some 879. By Prince here, I understand Bishop ; so in an ancient Code of Canons, Tit. 66. in the Cotton Library. "The Synod of Ireland says, that "the Legacy of a Bishop or Prince, is Ten Scruples to the Priest who gives him the Sacrament, a Coat to a poor man, Travelling Food to a Widow, and an ordinary Habit to a Servant, and yet let these be Confirmed by the Clergy.

Maelcob.

885.

Maelcob or Malcoba the Son of Crumvail, Succeeded according to the Psalter of Cassel, but in the Ulster Annals Ainmiry is placed before him, who obtained the place by his Resignation. He dyed with old age in 885. This Bishop together with Mochta the Reader of Armagh, were taken by the Danes in 878 or 879, say the Ulster Annals.

Melbrigid.

Melbrigid or Brigidian, Son of Tornan alias Dornan, Descended of the Blood Royal of Ireland, Abbot of the Monastery of Derry, and afterward Arch-Bishop

Bishop of Armagh, dyed Feb. 22, 927. According to others in 926, at which year the Ulster Annals have this Note, "Maolbrigide Mac Dornain Comorban, " or Successor to St. Patrick and Columbkille, dyed in a happy old Age. He was eminent for his Learning and Vertue, and thence called The Ornament of Europe. While he fate, Armagh was thrice spoyled by the Danes, namely in 890, 893, and 919; and once by Fire in 914. It is not beside the purpose here to observe, that the Irish Annalists have another Catalogue of the Bishops of Armagh after Malcob, in this Order;

An. Dom.

927.
890.
893.
914.
919.

Moeta or Moctens, dyed in 889.

Melathgene, dyed in 890.

Kellach Son of Saorguse, dyed in 898, or as others 903.

Mel Ciaran Son of Eogain, dyed in 914 or 915, Aged 70.

But others do not reckon these among the Arch-Bishops of Armagh, but only among the Suffragans of Melbrigid.

Joseph.

Joseph a Learned man, was Consecrated in 927, and dyed in 936 or 935; at which year, thus the Ulster Annals, "Joseph Prince of Armagh, a Bishop, a Wise man, and an Anchorite, died in a good old age.

927.
936.

Mael Patrick.

Mael Patrick Son of Maoltule, called also in the same Annals, Prince of Armagh, dyed in his old age, before the end of the same year, having fate only 5 months.

Catafac, II.

Catafac the Second, Son of Dulgan of Drumtorraig, in the Ulster Annals called Comorban of St. Patrick, dyed in 957, having fate 20 years.

957.

Muredach.

Muredach Son of Ferguse, called also Comorban of St. Patrick, fate 9 years, and was deposed in 966.

966.

Dubdalethy, II.

Dubdalethy the Second, Comorban of the Saints Patrick and Columbe, dyed June 2, 998, in the 83 year of his Age, and of his Consecration the 33.

998.

Murechan.

Murechan succeeded in 998, and 3 years after resigned. Some say that Maelmurry Son of Scanlan succeeded him, but in the Psalter of Cassel he is not reckoned among the Arch-Bishops.

Maelmurry.

Maelmurry or Marian Son of Eocha, succeeded in 1001, and fate 19 years, a man of great Reputation in those times. He dyed June 3, 1021, of Grief as 'tis thought, for the Total destruction of Armagh by Fire, about a month before. While he fate, Brian Boru, or Boruma that famous King of Ireland, was Killed in the Battle of Clontarfe. The Bodies of him and his Son Murchard, were conveyed to Swords, 6 Miles from Dublin, and from thence to Armagh.

1001.
1021.

An. Dom.

Armagh by Melmurry, accompanied by the Clergy, and with great Solemnity Interred there in the Cathedral, to which he had been a Benefactor.

Amalgaid.

1050. Amalgaid succeeded the same year his Predecessor dyed, and sate 29 years. He dyed in 1050, others say in 1049, at which year the Annals of the Priory of the Isle of All Saints, have this Note. "Amalgaid Comorban of St. Patrick, "having passed 29 years in his Principality, dyed in peace with the Lord "Christ. In the Ulster Annals, Maoltule Bishop of Armagh, is said to have dyed in 1032, but he is not reckoned among the Primates, being (as it seems) only Suffragan to Amalgaid.

Dubdalethy, III.

1065. Dubdalethy the Third, Son of Melmary, Senior Lecturer of Divinity in Armagh, succeeded presently upon the Death of Amalgaid, and quitted his Reader's place to Aid or Hugh ó Forrey. He dyed Sept. 1, 1065. He writ certain Annals of the affairs of Ireland, which I have found quoted in the Ulster Annals, at the years 962 and 1021. He writ likewise (says Colgan) of the Arch-Bishops of Armagh, down to his own time.

Cumascacy.

Cumascacy succeeded and sate 3 years, says the Psalter of Cassel. To the contrary in the Ulster Annals, without any mention of Cumascacy, Melissa Son of Amalgaid, is said to be next Successor to Dubdalethy, for there is this Note at the year 1064 (with us 1065) "Dubdalethy Comorban to St. Patrick, dyed in "peace the first of September, and Melissa Son of Amalgaid, took possession of "his See. This Cumascacy seems to be the same with Cumascacy ó Herudun, whom fame call Abbot of Armagh.

Melissa.

1092. Melissa Son of Amalgaid sate 27 years, and dyed at Armagh the 24 Decemb. 1092. He visited Munster in 1068 or 1069. In his time, "Armagh was burnt "on the Tuesday after the first of May, together with all the Church Bells and "Furniture, in 1074, or 1075, say the Ulster Annals.

Donald.

1106. Donald Son of Amalgaid, Brother it seems of the said Melissa, soon after the Death of his Predecessor, was made Arch-Bishop. He went to Dublin, A. D. 1106, to make peace between Moriertac ó Brien King of Ireland, and Donald ó Lechtlin, and in his return towards Armagh, fell sick and dyed at Duleek, the 12 of August, aged 68 years. His Body was carryed to Armagh, and said to be there honourably Interred. In the Ulster Annals at the year 1099, it is said, "Coencomrac ó Boil Ordained Bishop of Armagh on the Feast of Pentecost. But he was only Suffragan to Donald. There is extant an Epistle of Lanfranc, Arch-Bishop of Canterbury to Donald, and another of Anselm Successor to Lanfranc writ to him and others.

Celsus.

Celsus otherwise called Celestine, and in Irish Cellach, Son of Aid, who was Son of Melissa, by Unanimous consent of the Clergy and People, Elected Arch-Bishop, was Consecrated Septemb. 23, 1106, a Man of great Learning. Brian Twin Twin calls him, Antiq. Oxon. Acad. Apolog. L. 2. Sect. 280. "An Universal Scholar; and affirms out of Bale, that he some time flourished at Oxford. In 1112, or according to the Ulster Annals 1111, a Synod was held at the place called Fiad-mac-Engusa, by others Usneach, where were present Cellac, Comorban of St. Patrick, and Melmurry o Dunan, Arch-Presbyter of Ireland (perhaps the same whom the Conaught Annals call Miler o Dunan, Arch-Bishop of Cassel) together with 50 Bishops, 300 Presbyters, and 3000 Ecclesiasticks; to Regulate the Lives and Manners of the Clergy and Laity. At the same time was present likewise Moriertac o Brien King of Ireland, with the Nobility of Legh-moa, or the South part of Ireland. "In the same year mention is made of a great Council of Bishops, and all the Nobility of Ireland, in Henry Marlborough Vicar of Balliscadan, in the Diocese of Dublin. But he unadvisedly says, it was called by Maurice mac Laughlin King of Ireland, for that Maurice did not begin his Reign till 1157. But I return to Celsus, who is said in 1121, by common consent of the Irish and Normans, to be Ordained likewise Bishop of Dublin; for which see John Colgan, Triad. Thaumaturg. pag. 300. The See of Dublin was then Vacant by the Death of Samuel o Haingly, who dyed the 4th of July, 1121, but on the Second of October following, one Gregory was Constituted Bishop of Dublin at Lambeth, by Rodulphus Arch-Bishop of Canterbury. "In the same year (says Colgan) two Streets in Trian Massain, from Port Rath or the Tower, to St. Brigit's Cross in the City of Armagh were Burnt. The said Colgan observes further, "That the City of Armagh was heretofore divided into four parts; the first was called Rath-Ardmagh, i.e. the Tower of Ardmagh, the second Trian-More, or the Third greater Portion; the third Trian-Massain, or the Third Massain Portion; the fourth Trian-Saxon, or the Portion of the Saxons, so called from the Merchants, or (which is more probable) from the English Saxon Students, who there Inhabited. Celsus dyed 6 April, 1129, or as others the First, being scarce 50 years of Age, at Ard-Patrick in the County of Limrick; from whence his Body was conveyed to Lismore, as he had ordered in his Will, and was there honourably Interr'd. St. Bernard in the Life of St. Malachy, affirms that "Celsus being near his Death, was sollicitous, that Malachy Morgair then Bishop of Conner should Succeed him, and sent his Staff to him as his Successor. Nor was he disappointed; for Malachy succeeded him, though not immediately, for "one Maurice Son of Donald, a person of Noble Birth, for Five years (says the same Bernard) by Secular power held that Church in possession, not as a Bishop, but a Tyrant; for the Ambition of some in Power had at that time introduced a Diabolical Custom of pretending to Ecclesiastical Sees by Hereditary Succession; not suffering any Bishops, but the Descendants of their own Family. Nor was this kind of Execrable Succession of short continuance: For, Fifteen Generations (or Successions of Bishops, as Colgan has it) had succeeded in that manner; and so far had that Evil and Adulterate Generation confirm'd the wicked course, that sometimes, though Clerks of their Blood might fail, yet Bishops never fail'd. In fine, Eight Married men and without Orders, though Scholars, were Predecessors to Celsus, from whence proceeded that general Dissolution of Ecclesiastical Discipline (whereof we have spoken largely before) that contempt of Censures and Decay of Religion, throughout Ireland. Thus Bernard. The names of those Eight married men Unordain'd, Colgan delivers in the place above cited. After the Death of Maurice Son of Donald, Nigel Son of Aid his Kinsman, Usurpt the See, but was soon removed: "He took with him, says the same Bernard, certain Ensigns or Ornaments of that House; namely the Text of the Evangelists, which belonged to St. Patrick, and a Staff laid over with Gold, and adorned with precious Stones, which some call the Staff of Jesus. Nigel died in 1139, and some reckon him among the Arch-Bishops.

An. Dom.

1112.

1121.

1129.

An. Dom.

Maurice.

1134.

Maurice, of whom we spoke before. Descended of that noble Family, which now for 208 years as it were by Hereditary Right had succeeded in the Arch-Bishoprick, after the death of Celsus obtained the See of Armagh, which he held three years alone, and two years in contention with Malachy. He dyed in 1134.

Malachy.

1137.

Malachy, called by the Irish Maelmedoic ó Morgair. was Educated first at Armagh under the Abbot Imar, a man of great Austerity, afterwards at Lismore under Malchus Bishop of Lismore: Returning into Ulster he Repaired the Monastery of Bangor, where he was sometime Abbot, being soon after made Bishop of Conner. He was by Celsus Arch-Bishop of Armagh (as we have said) on his Death-bed appointed his Successor, and succeeded him about Five years afterwards. But after, about Three years continuance in the See, he voluntarily resigned to Gelasius in 1137 or 1136, and betook himself to Down, where he Instituted a Monastery of Regular Canons. Two years after, he went to Rome, with design to procure Two Palls from Pope Innocent II. One for the See of Armagh, "which from the beginning, never had the use of the Pall, says St. Bernard, and the other for the new Metropolis Constituted by Celsus. He was there by the Pope made Legat of Ireland, by reason of the decrepid Age of Gillebert Bishop of Limrick; and as to the Palls, he was dismiss'd with this Answer, That a Matter of so great concern, ought to be done with Solemnity, and by the general Approbation of the Council of Ireland. Afterwards in 1148, he made another Journey to Rome, but by the way fell sick of a Fever in the Monastery of Clarevall, and dyed Novemb. 2, in the 54th year of his Age, and was there honourably Interr'd, but his Festival was Transferr'd to the day following, or Novemb. 5, says Andr. Saussai, in his French Martyrology. See the Epitaph made on him in Christopher Henriques, late Historiographer-General of the Cistercians. His Relicks were Translated to Ireland in 1194. And in the Abby of Mellifont, and others of that Order, were receiv'd with great Honour; as we find in the M. S. Annals of St. Mary's Abby near Dublin. Malachy among other things, writ a Prophecy of the Bishops of Rome, which Arnold Wion Published in his Lignum Vitæ, with an Expolition added by Alphonsus Ciaconius a Prædicant, down to Pope Urban the 7th, which others have continued down to our times. If any one desires further Information of this Malachy, let him peruse the History of his Life written by St. Bernard.

1148.

Gelasius.

1152.

Gelasius Son of Roderick succeeded Malachy. He was first an Augustin Canon of the Monastery of Derry, afterwards for 16 years Abbot, and was Consecrated in 1137. Nigel indeed (of whom we have spoken before) by the power of Friends, had again intruded into this See, but he was soon, as before under Malachy, Expell'd, and Gelasius Introduced: Two years after Nigel dyed very Penitent, as they say, for his past Errors. About the same time, viz. January 20, dyed Melbrigid ó Brolcain Suffragan to Gelasius, whom some call Bishop of Armagh, a man endued with many Vertues. In the time of Gelasius, John Paparo Presbyter, who bore the Title of Cardinal of St. Laurence in Demaso, was sent Legat into Ireland by Pope Eugene III, in 1152. and brought with him Four Palls, which in a Synod held in March, he deliver'd to the Four Arch-Bishops, namely of Armagh, Dublin, Cassell and Tuam. Writers differ about the place of this Synod; for some would have it held in Mell, or the Abby of Mellifont; others at Renanuse or Kenliffe in Meath, which we now by contraction call Kells; and indeed most agree that Kells was the place. In that Synod every Arch-

Bishop

Bishop had a certain number of Suffragan Bishops assign'd him to act under him; concerning which, you may if you please see what we have written in the Antiquities of Ireland, Chap. 16. where even the Names of the Bishops, that were present at that Synod, are Recorded. Gelasius lived after that many years, but at length being worn out with Age and Labours, dyed March 27, 1174, aged 87 years; see more of him in Colgan, in his Acts of the Irish Saints, at the 27th of March, where his Life is at large described; from whence we have taken most of what we here deliver of him. But it is not here to be omitted, that Gelasius in 1162 or 1163, called a Synod of 26 Bishops, in a place called Cleonad, where it was Decreed, that none from thence forward should be admitted a public Reader of Divinity, but such as were of the University of Armagh.

An. Dom.

1174.

Cornelius.

Cornelius or Concobar, Son of Concaled, Abbot of the Monastery of St. Peter and St. Paul in Armagh, succeeded Gelasius, and dyed at Rome, 1175 or 1176.

1175.

Gilbert.

Gilbert (or Gilcomge) o' Caran. sometime Bishop of Raphoe, succeeded. He dyed in 1180. A little before his death, in 1179, the Cathedral Church, the the Monastery of St. Peter and Paul, Two Nunneries, and a great part of Armagh were destroyed by Fire. He gave to St. Mary's Abby near Dublin, the Town of Ball-baghal in the County of Dublin, called so a Baculo St. Patricij, from St. Patrick's Staff.

1179.
1180.

Maelissa.

Maelissa o' Carrol Bishop of Clogher, Elect Arch-Bishop of Armagh, dyed on the way to Rome, in 1184. Among other things it is said, he gave to the Monastery of Clogher, a Hood or Priest's Planet, and Mitre.

1184.

Amlave.

Amlave o' Murid his Successor, dyed in 1185. I find nothing else Recorded of him.

1185.

Thomas.

Thomas (or Tomultach) o' Conner succeed after the death of Gilbert. The Author of the Annals of St. Mary's near Dublin, calls him, a Noble and Honest man. He was Bishop scarce Four years when weary of the Employment, (perhaps to avoid Contentions) he resign'd to Maelissa o' Carrol, of whom before. But Maelissa dying in 1184, and likewise his Successor Amlave the year following, he resum'd the See, where he afterwards Govern'd 16 years, and dyed in 1201, and was honourably Interr'd in the Abby of Mellifont.

1201.

Eugenius.

Upon the death of Thomas o' Conner, a difference in the Election of a new Arch-Bishop, between Simon Ro hfort Bishop of Meath, Ralph le Petit, (or Petty) Arch-Deacon of Meath, and Humphrey de Tikhull, every of them pretending to have been Elected. King John gave the Bishoprick to Tikhull, 4 May. 1202, but the Pope Declared for Eugene mac Giltevider, which so Incenied the King against him, that by Letters of 22 May, 1203, he gave warning to all his Suffragans not to acknowledge him: Afterward, towards the end of the year, Tikhull dying, (whether before he had assumed the Mitre, I cannot tell, the King 1202.

1203.

An. Dom.

1216.

King Confirm'd the Election of Ralph Arch-Deacon of Meath, but neither did he obtain the Bishoprick, for Eugene at last recovering the King's Favour, enjoy'd the See of Armagh till 1216, in which year he dyed at Rome, having been present at the General Council of Lateran, which was held there. The Author of the Annals of St. Mary's near Dublin, calls him "A man of great Honesty, and a good Life."

Luke.

1217.

Luke Netterville Arch-Deacon of Armagh, Elected Arch-Bishop by the Chapter of the same Church; in 1217, went over to England, and carryed with him the Decree of the Chapter, but the King refused to Confirm the Election, being made without his Permission. Liberty of Election being at last granted, he was again Chosen and obtained the King's Assent, and was Confirm'd by the Pope and Invested with the Pall, and Consecrated by Stephen Langton, Arch-Bishop of Canterbury: In the mean time Three years were elapsed, so that he returned not to Ireland till October 14, 1220. He dyed April 17, 1227, and according to his Will, was buried in the Abby of Mellifont. He built a House at Tredagh for the Friars Predicants or Dominicans.

1220.

1227.

Donagh.

1237.

Donagh ô Fidabra Bishop of Clogher, was the same year Translated to this See; he obtained the King's Assent September 20, he dyed in England in his return from Rome in October, 1237. Whilst he was Bishop of Clogher, he built the Bishop's House at Clogher near St. Mary's Abby.

The See was Vacant 3 years after the Death of Donagh; King Henry the third endeavouring in the mean time that Robert Archer of the Order of Predicants, might be advanced to it. At last Albert (whom Mathew Paris by mistake, calls Andelm) Coloniensis, was Consecrated at Westminster, by Walter de Cantelupe Bishop of Worcester, in presence of the King, Otho the Pope's Legat and many Bishops, Septemb. 30, 1240. He exchanged with "Hugh de Lacy Earl of Ulster, the "Lands of Conlath in Toscard (which the Earl had forcibly taken) for the Lands "of Machirgallin and Manour of Nobbir; as appears in the Rolls: He presided about 7 years and resigned in 1247, and dyed beyond Seas.

1247.

Reiner.

1256.

Reiner (or Reginald) of the Order of Predicants succeeded the same year, and was Consecrated at Rome, and came to Armagh in June. He dyed at Rome in 1256. The Executors of his Will were, Patrick Scanlin Bishop of Raphoe, Miles de Dunstable Bishop of Ardagh, and Bertram Arch-Deacon of Armagh. Whether this Reiner were of English Extraction or not, I do not find, but think he was a Foreigner. Matthew Paris in his large History affirms, that "a certain "Arch-Bishop of Armagh, who had been some time Dean of the Cathedral of St. Paul, dyed at London in April, 1258: But he is much mistaken in the name of the See; for the person that then dyed there, was Walter de Salern, Arch-Bishop of Tuam, who indeed had been sometime Dean of St. Paul's at London, as may appear both from the Annals of the Abby of Loghlean, and also from the Records (41. Hen. III.) which are kept in the Tower of London. This Reiner Separated the County of Louth from the Diocess of Clogher, and United it to Armagh; for which see the Bishops of Clogher.

Abraham.

Abraham ô Conellan, in the Records called Master Abraham, Arch-Presbyter of the Church of Armagh; being chosen Successor, obtained the King's Assent, October

October 18, 1257, he went afterward to Rome, where he was Confirm'd by the Pope, and Invested with the Pall. At his return home, he was solemnly received at Armagh by the Dean and Chapter, in June, 1258. He presided but a short time, for he dyed on St. Thomas's day Decemb. 21, 1260.

The 27th of February next after the death of Conallan, the King granted to the Chapter of Armagh, power of Electing a Successor, and by consent of the whole Chapter, Patrick d Scaulain of the Order of Predicants, then Bishop of Raphoe, was chosen Arch-Bishop, the Election Confirmed by the King, and highly Commended by the Pope, and Approved of by a Bull of the same Pope Urban, bearing date the Second of Novemb. 1261. The year following he called a Provincial Synod at Drogheda, part of the Decrees whereof are in the Register of Octavian de Pallatio, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, Fol. 282. a. He Repaired and very much adorned the Cathedral of St. Patrick in Armagh, and Founded a House of Minorites in the same City. He dyed at Dundalk in the Monastery of St. Leonard, March 16, 1270, and was buried in the Monastery of Predicants at Drogheda.

An. Dom.
1258.
1260.

1261.

1270.

Nicholas.

Nicholas Son of Moliffa succeeded, being Consecrated in 1272, who having fate about 31 years, dyed May 10, 1303. He was eminent for his Eloquence and Prudence; he, besides Books and rich Ecclesiastical Vestments, and other things given to the Church of Armagh, gave likewise a yearly Pension of 20 Marks towards the Fabrick of the said Church, to be paid out of his Mannor of Termon-Feichan. He appropriated likewise to his See, the Mannour of Dromyskin.

1272.
1303.

John Taaf.

One Michael chosen by the Dean and Chapter, would have succeeded; He was a Minorite, and Reader of the same Order in Armagh, who obtained the Royal Assent October the 8th, 1303. but not being Consecrated, he is not reckoned in the number of the Arch-Bishops of Armagh. After the Death of Nicholas, the See of Armagh was vacant almost Three years, and then John Taaf by provision of the Pope, was Consecrated. He dyed beyond Seas in 1306, and after his Consecration never saw his See.

1306.

Walter.

Walter Jorsey of the Order of Predicants, Brother of Thomas Jorsey, Cardinal of St. Sabina, was Consecrated by Nicholas, Cardinal of Ostium, as appears by a Bull of Clement the Fifth, dated the 6th of August, and the Second year of his Pontificate, extant among the Records of the Tower of London. He resigned the Arch-Bishoprick Novemb. 16, 1311. He had Six Half-Brothers, all of the Order of Predicants; perhaps he was the same Walter an Englishman, whom Volaterran in his Comment. Urban, Lib. 21. affirms, "to have been Conteffer to Edward King of England, and Buried at Genoa in Italy."

1311.

Roland.

Roland Jorsey a Dominican also, own Brother to the said Walter, by provision of the Pope succeeded, and was restored to the Temporals, Septemb. 15, 1313. He likewise resigned the Arch-Bishoprick, March 20, 1321. After him; some place Walter de la Poole, and say that he was in the Battle in 1318, wherein Edward Bruce Brother to the King of Scots, who claimed the Title of King of Ireland, was slain; but I suspect the truth of this; for in the Records I find no mention of that Walter, and besides in the same Records, it appears that Seagrave who succeeded, was restored to the Temporals, by the Resignation of Roland.

1313.
1321.

An. Dom.

Stephen Seagrave.

1322.

1323.

1331.

1333.

Stephen Seagrave Rector of Stepney Church near London, and some time Chancellor of the University of Cambridge, a Man well descended, by provision of Pope John 22. succeeded in 1322, and was Confirmed by King Edward 2, and restored to the Temporals, or Bishop's Lands, 31 July, 1323. King Edward writ to the same Pope in his behalf in 1331, and among other things commends him "for his Noble Extraction, the Integrity of his Manners, his great Knowledge and approved Care in his Pastoral Function. He died in the Year 1333, 27 October, as it would seem.

David.

1334.

1337.

1346.

David ô Hiraghty, or Mac Oreghty, Consecrated at Avignon, was restor'd to the Temporals 16 March, 1334. He was called to the Parliament held in Dublin under Sir John Charleton Lord Chief Justice of Ireland in 1337. "He made Procession in St. Mary's near Dublin, but was hindred by the Arch-Bishop of Dublin and Clergy, because he would have the Cross carried before him, which they would not permit: So Christopher Pembrige in the Annals of Ireland Published by Cambden at the end of his Britannia. He died according to the Annals of Nenagh on the Festival of St. Brendan of Clonfert, viz. 16 May, 1346: but he is there miscalled David ô Ferrall. Pembrige in the aforesaid Annals refers his death to 1337, but is much mistaken therein.

Richard.

* I suppose it should be Vice-Chancellor.

1347.

1356.

1360.

Richard Son of Ralph, or Richard Ralphson, D. D. of Oxford, and * Chancellor of the same University in 1333, was made, first Dean of Lichfield, and after by Pope Clement 6, provided to this See. He was Consecrated at Exeter 13 of July, 1347, by John de Grandison Bishop of Exeter, and three other Bishops. Volaterran calls him "Cardinal of Armagh (Comment. Urban. lib. 3, § 21.) But I think not rightly. 'Tis certain that Alphonsus Ciaconius and Onuphrius Panini in their Catalogue of Cardinals, make no mention of him. He was a Learned Divine, and frequent in Preaching.

I have by me a MS. Book of his Sermons preach'd partly at Lichfield, London, and elsewhere in England, partly at Drogheda, Dundalk, Trim, and other places of his Province, and partly at Avignon in France, which are pregnant Testimonies of his Learning and other Virtues: but of his Works, see what we have delivered in the First Book of the Writers of Ireland. In 1356 he went into England, where in certain Sermons preach'd at London, "He expressly maintain'd nine Conclusions against the Orders of Friars Mendicants, for which the Warden of the Minorites of Armagh, and others of the same Order, and also of the Order of Predicants, Cited him to Avignon, whither he went, and continued there 3 Years; and before those Troubles were appeased died the 14th Novemb. 1360: At which Year, in the Annals of Ireland published by Cambden, we read thus: "In 1360 Master Richard, Son of Ralph, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, died in Haynault 19 December. But more rightly in the M. S. Copy of those Annals in the Court of Avignon, 16 of November; 'tis said, that his Bones were Translated to Dundalk by Stephen de Valle Bishop of Meath, about the Year 1370, where he was born, and known by the name of S. Richard of Dundalk. Such were his Virtues, and so great and many the Miracles ascrib'd to him, that Pope Boniface IX. afterward by Commission to John Colton Arch-Bishop of Armagh, Richard Yong Bishop Elect of Bangor, and the Abbot of Osaey near Oxford, appointed Examination to be taken of them, but the business by degrees was let fall: For which see Luke Wadding's Annals of the Minorites, Tom. 4.

Biles.

Miles.

An. Dom.

Miles Sweetman, Treasurer of Kilkenny, was advanced to this See in 1361: He was a Man of Learning and Prudence. The preceding Year he was chosen Bishop of Ossory, and went to Avignon to receive Confirmation from the Pope, but before his Arrival there Innocent 6. had granted the See to John de Tutenal; but to satisfy Miles, he afterwards advanced him to Armagh: He was Arch-Bishop almost 19 years, and died in his Mannor of Dromyskin, 11 August, 1380.

1361.

1380.

John.

John Colton, born at Terington in the County of Norfolk, Doctor of the Degrees in Cambridge, was first made Master of Gonvill Hall there, in 1348, and afterwards Dean of St. Patrick's, Dublin, and for a time both Chancellor and Justice of Ireland, for upon the death of Edmund Mortimer Earl of March and Ulster, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, he was the next day made Justice, and took the Oath of his Place in the Convent of Predicants at Cork, on St. Stephen's day the 26 December, 1381. Being after by Provision of the Pope made Arch-Bishop of Armagh, he was restored to the Temporals, 9 March, 1382. He was employ'd in the Court of Rome about affairs of King Richard 2. together with John Whitehead B. D. and Richard Moor Vicar of Termon-feichan. He died the first of May, 1404, and was buried in St. Peter's, Drogheda, having a little before his death resigned his See. He transferred the Convent of Benedictine Monks of St. Andrew in the County of Down, commonly called Black-Abby from the Abby of St. Mary de Louley in Normandy, where was a Cell, to his own See. He was eminent for Virtue and Learning. There is yet remaining some part of the Provincial Constitutions published by him.

1381.

1382.

1404.

Nicholas.

Nicholas Fleming a Secular Priest, after the Resignation of Colton, was declared Arch-Bishop by Pope Boniface IX. and Consecrated the first of May, 1404. He died in June, 1416, and was buried in St. Peter's, Drogheda. His Provincial Constitutions are extant, and some part of his Register.

1404.

1416.

John Swayn.

John Swayn Rector of Galtrim in Meath, was Consecrated at Rome about the beginning of February (Old Stile) 1417, and in 1421 was sent into England by the Parliament, together with Sir Christopher Preston, Knight, to inform King Henry V. of the State of Ireland, and to represent the many Grievances requisite to be redressed. But having been Arch-Bishop more than 21 years, Old Age growing upon him, he resigned the See in 1439, and a few years after died, and was buried in St. Peter's, Drogheda, where he had Founded a Chappel and Quire to S. Anne.

1417.

1421.

1439.

John Prene.

John Prene, Batchelor in both Laws, and Arch-Deacon of Armagh, by Provision of Pope Eugene IV. Succeeded: He was Consecrated about the end of November, 1439, and died in his Mannor of Termon-feichan in June, 1443; and was there buried in the Chancel of S. Feichan's Church.

1443.

John Mey.

John Mey, Batchelor in both Laws, and Official of the Court of Meath, advanced by the same Pope Eugene IV. was Consecrated 20 June, 1444. He died 1444.

An. Dom.
1456.

died in 1456, when he had been Arch-Bishop more than 12 years, and was some time Deputy to James Butler Earl of Ormond and Wiltshire, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

John Bole.

1457.

John Bole, Abbot of St. Mary's at Navan in Meath, was Consecrated in June, 1457, and died 18 February, 1470. While he was Abbot of Navan he procured from Pope Nicholas V. certain Indulgences in favour of those that undertook Pilgrimages to the said Abby, or were bountiful in Offerings toward the Fabrick or Ornament of the same. At his request King Edward IV. confirmed 1467.

the Priviledges of the See of Armagh the fifth of April, 1467. There are extant among the Records of the Church of Armagh, in one Volume, the Registers of this John, and of three of his next Predecessors. Some make mention of Humbert of Roan, of the Order of Predicants, as Arch-Bishop of Armagh in 1464, but because it is certain that Bole then presided there, I do not reckon this Humbert (who is not mentioned in our Records) among the Arch-Bishops.

1470.

Upon the death of Bole the Custody of the Temporals was committed to Richard Lang Bishop of Kildare, the fifth of May, 1470, the Fruits whereof, when he had gathered for four years, the Dean (Charles o' Mallon) and Chapter of the Cathedral of Armagh, by Letters earnestly requested of the Pope to advance that Richard to the See: A Copy of this Epistle is to be seen in the Records of the Church of Armagh: but Sixtus IV. rejected the request, and advanced Foxall.

John Foxall.

After the death of Bole the See was vacant almost five years, but at last John Foxall, a Minorite, was Consecrated to it. He died in England the second year after his Consecration, before (as it seems) he had visited his See.

Edmund Conesburg.

1477.

1479.

Edmund Conesburg Consecrated in 1477, resigned in 1479: Under him Ottavian de Palatio (who also succeeded him) Governed the See, and used this Title, "Nuntio of the Apostolick See both in Spirituals and Temporals, by special Deputation, Governour of the Cathedral Metropolitan Church of Armagh, and "Primate of Ireland: As appears by the Register.

Ottavian de Palatio.

1480.

1513.

Ottavian de Palatio, a Florentine, Doctor of the Canon Law, upon the Resignation of Conesburg was advanced to the See by Pope Sixtus IV. and was Consecrated towards the end of March, 1480. In this, not to be remembered without praise, that when King Henry VII. was deserted by many persons of great Power in Ireland, he would never be brought to recede from his Allegiance or adhere to the adverse Party, though his Integrity drew many difficulties and troubles upon him. He died very old in June, 1513, having been Arch-Bishop 33 years and 3 months, in which time he held several Provincial Synods, which are mentioned in his Register. He was buried in St. Peter's, Drogheda, in a Vault built by himself.

John Kite.

John Kite, born in the City of London, sometime Ambassador for King Henry in Spain, a man famous for his Hospitality: By Provision of Leo X. was advanced before the End of the Year 1513, and restored to the Temporals the 20th of May, 1514. He resigned the third of August, 1521, and was made Arch-Bishop of Thebes in Greece, and Bishop of Carlisle in England. He died very old at Stepney near London, 19 June, 1537, and was there buried, almost in the midst of the Chancel Northward, under a Marble, on which is inscribed an English Epitaph in lame Rhyme, unworthy so learned an Age; which you may see in Weaver's Funeral Monuments, pag. 539 and 540.

An. Dom.

1514.
1521.

George Cromer.

George Cromer, an English man, Grave, Learned, and Courteous, was Consecrated in England in April next after the aforesaid Resignation, by means of Gerald. Earl of Kildare: He was made Lord Chancellor of Ireland in July, 1532, upon the Removal of John Allan Arch-Bishop of Dublin, which mightily increased the Animosities between Kildare and Allan, which place he executed for two years; and then being removed, John Barnwell, Baron of Trimblestown, succeeded him. He died the 16th of March, 1542, after the English Computation, but if we begin the Year from the first of January, in 1543.

1532.

1542.

George Dowdall.

George Dowdall, born in the County of Louth, Official to his Predecessor Cromer, at the request of St. Leger, Lord Lieutenant, succeeded. He was a Grave and Learned man, and a constant Preacher; and by Command of Henry VIII. was Consecrated by Edward Staples Bishop of Meath, and other Bishops, about the beginning of December, 1543. In the Reign of Edward VI. he lived an Exile beyond Seas, and the See in the mean time was granted to Hugh Goodacre: but under Queen Mary about the end of the year 1553 he was recalled. On the twelfth of March following he was restored by Letters Patents to the Title of Primate of all Ireland, which the said King Edward had granted to George Brown Arch-Bishop of Dublin, and so he recovered the Arch-Bishoprick and the Title annexed to it. To this Dowdall, as also to William Walsh Elect Bishop of Meath, and others, Power was granted in April following to deprive all married Bishops and Priests, and accordingly they deprived Edward Staples Bishop of Meath, June 29, being St. Peter and Paul's day: and about the end of that year, or beginning of the next, they likewise deprived Brown Arch-Bishop of Dublin, Lancaster Bishop of Kildare, and Travers Bishop of Loghlin: All the other Bishops besides Bale of Offory, who had fled beyond Sea, and Cassey of Limerick, kept their Bishopricks. Afterwards he went to England about affairs of the Church in 1558, and died at London the 15th of August. His Epitaph is in his Register, whither I refer you, for all except these two Lines which I give as a taste of the rest, 1543.

1553.

1558.

Dam Patriæ studio, celebres proficiscor ad Anglos, Londini summum fata dedere Diem.

It is not to be omitted that during the life of George Dowdall, who was in Possession of the See of Armagh by Donation of King Henry VIII. Pope Paul III. conferred the same on Robert Waucop, or Venantius, a Scot, who though he was blind from a Boy had yet applied himself to Learning with so much Assiduity that he proceeded Doctor of Divinity at Paris. He was present at the Council of Trent, from the first Session in 1545, to the eleventh in 1547. He was sent Legate a Latere from the Pope to Germany, from whence came the German Proverb, A blind Legate to the sharp-sighted Germans. By his means the Jesuits came first into Ireland. He died at Paris in a Convent of Jesuits the tenth of November, 1551.

Hugh Goodacre.

Hugh Goodacre, B. D. while Dowdall was living beyond Sea was advanced to this See by King Edward VI. and Consecrated in Christ-Church, Dublin, the second

E

An. Dom.

second of February, 1553, or according to our Stile 1552, together with John Bale Bishop of Ossory, by George Arch-Bishop of Dublin, Thomas Kildare, and Eugene Down. Goodacre died in Dublin the first of May following, and if I mistake not, was buried in St. Patrick's there, before he was scarce acquainted with the See.

Adam Loftus.

1562.

1567.

The See from that time was for some years vacant, but at last Queen Elizabeth advanced Adam Loftus, B. D. Chaplain first to Thomas Earl of Suffex, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and afterwards to Queen Elizabeth. He was born in Yorkshire, and Consecrated by Hugh Curwin Arch-Bishop of Dublin, and other Bishops, about the end of March, 1562, Old Stile, and succeeded the same Hugh in the See of Dublin the eighth of August, 1567, having not long before at Cambridge, where he was Educated, commenced D. D. together with John Whitegift, afterward Arch-Bishop of Canterbury, and others. He was twice made Keeper of the Great Seal, and afterwards Chancellor of Ireland, in which Office he died. He was thrice one of the Justices of Ireland in 1582, 1597, and 1599, and was the first Provost of Trinity-College near Dublin. He died at Dublin very old the fifth of April. 1605, in his Palace at St. Sepulcher's, and was buried in St. Patrick's there, having fate 37 years and almost 8 months, but had been 42 years Consecrated.

Thomas Lancaster.

1568.

Thomas Lancaster, an English man, Treasurer of Salisbury and Chaplain to Queen Elizabeth, was Consecrated in Christ-Church, Dublin, by Adam Arch-Bishop of Dublin, Hugh Meath, and Robert Kildare, the 13th of June, 1568, and 16 years after died, and was buried in St. Peter's, Drogheda, in the Vault of Octavian de Palatio, his Predecessor.

John Long.

1584.

John Long, D. D. born in London, and Educated in King's-College, Cambridge, succeeded in July, 1584; and within five years died at Drogheda, and was there buried just by Lancaster, his Predecessor, in St. Peter's Church.

John Garvey.

1585.

1589.

1594.

John Garvey, an Irish man, first Arch-Deacon of Meath, then in the year 1565 Dean of Christ-Church, Dublin, and Privy Counsellor in Ireland to Queen Elizabeth, having been preferred to the Bishoprick of Kilmore in April, 1585, holding also his Deanery by Dispensation, was translated to Armagh the tenth of May, 1589, notwithstanding he still held the Deanery of Christ-Church in Dublin, as before, by Dispensation. He died the second of March (Old Style) 1594, and was there buried in Christ-Church.

Henry Usher.

1595.

1613.

Henry Usher, a Native of Dublin, Educated partly at Cambridge, and partly at Paris; from the Arch-Deaconry of Dublin was advanced to the Arch-Bishoprick of Armagh, and Consecrated in August, 1595. He died full of days at Termon-fechan the second of April, being Easter day, 1613, and was buried in St. Peter's, Drogheda.

Christopher

Christopher Hampton.

An. Dom.

Christopher Hampton, D. D. a Grave and Learned man, born at Calis, a Member of Christ's College, Cambridge, and Elect Bishop of Derry, was the eighth of May, 1613, Consecrated Arch-Bishop of Armagh in St. Patrick's, Dublin, together with Jonas Bishop of Offory, by Thomas Dublin, assisted by George Meath, William Kildare, and John Killalee. He was also made the King's Almoner, and of his Privy Council. He died a Batchelor at Drogheda the third of January (Old Style) 1624, aged 73 years; and was there buried in St. Peter's. He built from the Foundation a fair House for himself and his Successors at Drogheda, and repaired the Cathedral of St. Patrick in Armagh.

1624.

James Usher.

James Usher, born in the City of Dublin, Doctor of Divinity in the University of Dublin, was first made Chancellor of St. Patrick's, and afterwards consecrated Bishop of Meath at Drogheda in the Year 1621, by Christopher Arch-Bishop of Armagh, Robert Bishop of Kilmore, and Theophilus Bishop of Dromore, and soon taken into the Privy Council of Ireland by King James. He was translated to Armagh the 21st of March (Old Style) 1624, having been a little before made Lord Almoner to the King; a man for his rare Learning, Eloquence, Sanctity of Life, and great Humanity, deservedly famous. He died at Rigate in Surrey the 21st of March, 1655, aged 76 years, on which very day, 31 years before, he was translated from Meath to this See. He was buried in St. Peter's, Westminster, and in St. Paul's Chappel. The See, after his death was vacant almost five years. See his Life collected by Dr. Richard Parr, with an account of his Writings, Printed in London in 1686.

1655.

John Bramhall.

John Bramhall, Doctor of Divinity, born in Yorkshire, and bred in Sidney-College, Cambridge, Chaplain to Thomas Lord Viscount Wentworth, a Learned and Eloquent Man, was Consecrated Bishop of Derry in the Chappel of Dublin Castle May 26, 1634, by James Arch-Bishop of Armagh, Anthony Bishop of Meath, Robert Bishop of Down, and Richard Bishop of Cork: And translated to Armagh the 18th of January, 1660, having been a little before, viz. on the first of that Month admitted of the Privy Council. He died of an Apoplexy in Dublin, June 25, 1663, aged 70 years, and was there buried in Christ-Church. They who would know more of him may read his Funeral Sermon Preached by the Right Reverend Jeremy Lord Bishop of Down and Conner, or the Funeral Oration of Dudley Loftus, LL. D. Published in Latin; or his Life writ by John Vesey Bishop of Limerick, set before his Works, and Published at Dublin.

1660.

1663.

James Margetson.

James Margetson, Doctor of Divinity of the University of Cambridge, Chaplain also of the Earl of Strafford, a Yorkshire man, was Installed Dean of Christ-Church in December, 1639; and Consecrated Arch-Bishop of Dublin, together with eleven other Bishops in St. Patrick's Church, January 27, (according to the English Computation) 1660, by John Arch-Bishop of Armagh, John Bishop of Raphoe, Robert Bishop of Kilmore, and Griffin Bishop of Offory: having been a little before, viz. on the first day of that Month, taken into the Privy Council. About the beginning of September, 1663, for his many Virtues he was by designation of King Charles II. made Arch-Bishop of Armagh; and died died in Dublin the 28th, and was there buried in Christ-Church on the 30th of August, 1678, aged 78 years.

An. Dom.
1678.

Michael Boyle.

Michael Boyle, Arch-Bishop of Dublin, was Translated to Armagh the 27th of February, 1678, and was Inthroned in the Cathedral of Armagh, by his Proxy Roger Bishop of Clogher: He was Lord High Chancellor of Ireland above 20 years, and several times one of the Lords Justices thereof; and is still alive and healthy, though very aged.

OF THE BISHOPS OF MEATH.

1153.

IN Meath (as we have elsewhere said) were many Episcopal Sees, to wit, Duleek, Kells, Trim, Ardbraccan, Donsbaghlin, and Slane, over and above others of less note; all which, except Duleek and Kells, were united together, and their common See was Clonard even before the Year of our Lord 1153: at which time the division of Bishopricks was made in Ireland by Paparo Cardinal of St. Laurence in Damaso, then Legat to the Irish from Pope Eugene III, in a full Synod, the sixth of March. But the two Sees of Duleek and Kells were afterwards Annexed.

S. Finian.

S. Finian, or Finan, Son of Fintan, was the first Bishop of Clonard, and a famous Philosopher and Divine: He was of a noble Family (but much more enobled by his Piety) at St. David's, where he was dearly beloved of the Bishop of that place in Wales, with whom he sometime sojourned. Upon his return home he was made a Bishop, and fixed his See at Clonard in Meath, near the River Boyne, where he also Erected a famous College, which by his great Care and Labours bred many Famous, Holy and Learned men, some of them were the two Kierans, the two Brendans, the two Columbes, to wit, Columbkil and Columb the Son of Crimthan, Lasarian the Son of Nathfrac, Cainec, Movæus, and Ruadan. And as his School was in a manner a Sacred Seat of all manner of Wisdom, as the Writer

Writer of his Life observes, so he obtained for himself the name of Finian the Wise. He died the twelfth of December, 552, or as others, 563, and was buried in his own Church.

There is a short Memorial of his Successors in the See of Clonard, down to the coming of the English into Ireland. These, except Idumannus, are recounted in the Annals of Ireland, as Colgan delivers in his Acts of the Irish Saints, at the 23d of February.

Senac Bishop of Clonard died the 21st of August, 587.

Fulertac Son of Eric.

Fiachre.

Colman died the eighth of February, 651.

Offen the Long died the first of May, 652.

Ultan Son of Huarlung died the first of July, 664, or 665.

Becan died the 16th of April, 687.

Colman & Heir died the ninth of February, 700.

Dubdan & Foelan, Bishop and Abbot of Clonard, died 716.

Aelcha died 726.

Ficnamale, Son of Gerthide, died the 30th of March, 731.

Tola, Son of Dunchad, Bishop of Clonard and Kildare, died the third of March, 732.

Beglatneu.

Colman, Son of Ailid, Abbot of Clonard and Clonmacnoise, a most Learned Bishop and Doctor, died the seventh of February, 924. It was he that built the Cathedral of Clonmacnoise, and was descended from the Conallii Murthemnii.

Ferdomnac, Son of Flanaagan, died 930.

Mortaen died the ninth of September, 940; called The Fountain of all Religion and Wisdom among the Irish.

Melfechin died 942.

Becan Son of Lactnan, called Comorban or Successor of S. Finian of Cluaineraird, died 971.

Faithman, Comorban of Finian, died 1010.

Tuathale & Dunlaing, Bishop of Clonard, died 1028.

Tuathale & Follanmuin, Comorban of Finian, died 1055.

Murchertac, Son of Longfec, called Comorban of Finian of Clonard, died 1092.

Idunan, called Bishop of Meath, flourished in 1096.

Concovar, Comorban of Finian, died 1117.

Fiachre, the most Pious Bishop of Clonard and Meath, died 1135.

O Folloman, Comorban of Finian of Clonard, died at Kells 1150.

Note, that in this Catalogue those who are not called expressly Bishops, Comorbans, or Seniors, were only Abbots of Clonard: And truly it appears that the names of Abbot and Bishop were often among our Writers promiscuously used, as may be observed in the foregoing Catalogue of the Bishops of Armagh.

Eleutherius.

We now come to the time when the English first arrived in this Island, at which time Ethri & Miadachain, whom Hoveden calls Eleutherius, was Bishop of Clonard. He died in 1174.

Eugene.

Eugene succeeded, who sat about 20 years. A little before his death he took the Stile of Bishop of Meath, which his Successors have since constantly used.

Simon Rochfort.

Simon Rochfort, the first of the English preferred to this See, was Consecrated about the year 1194. After some years he founded a Convent of Regular Canons;

An. Dom.

552.

563.

587.

651.

652.

664.

687.

700.

716.

726.

731.

732.

924.

930.

940.

942.

971.

1010.

1028.

1055.

1092.

1096.

1117.

1135.

1150.

1174.

1194.

An. Dom.

1224.

mons, of the Order of St. Augustin, in Newtown near Trim; and forsaking the old Cathedral of Clonard, he erected the Church of the said Convent into a Cathedral, and dedicated it to the Honour of St. Peter and St. Paul. He died in 1224, having exercised his Episcopal Function with so much Fidelity, Vigilance, and Integrity, especially in settling the Clergy of his Diocese with such Probity and Meekness, that he obtained the name of an Excellent Bishop.

Deodate.

1226.

1227 in
Rot. Mid.

Deodate Bishop Elect of Meath, obtained the Royal Assent the 29th of August, 1224: Some say he died before his Consecration, a little before the end of the Year 1226; and therefore they do not reckon him among the Bishops of this See. But in a Charter inserted in the Register of St. Mary's near Dublin, wherein he composed a Difference between the Abbot of the said Monastery and the Prior of Christ-Church, Dublin, the 19th of October, 1226, he is expressly called Bishop of Meath. King Henry III. writ to Primate Netterville the 26th of January following to advance Walter de Brackell to the See of Meath; but Brackell, for what cause I know not, being rejected, Ralph le Petit obtained the See, and soon after the King's Assent also.

Ralph le Petit.

1230.

The King confirmed the Election of Ralph le Petit Arch-Deacon of Meath, a grave and prudent man, the 30th of March following. He died very old about Michaelmas, in 1230, four years after his Consecration. He Founded and Endowed the Priory of Mary's in Mullingar for the Augustin Canons.

Richard de la Comer.

1232.

1250.

Richard de la Comer a Canon of St. Patrick's, Dublin, was confirmed by King Henry III. the eleventh of January, 1230, and Consecrated in St. Peter's, Drogheda in 1232. He gave to the Nunnery Convent of the Blessed Trinity of Lismullen in Meath, built by his Sister Avicia de la Comer, for the use of the Augustin Order, the Mannors of Dunsink and Ballygodman, and was moreover a great Benefactor to his own Church. He died in 1250.

Hugh de Taghmon.

1281.

Hugh de Taghmon succeeded, perhaps born at Taghmon, and from thence (according to the custom of Churchmen of those times) took his Surname. He was made Lord High Treasurer of Ireland by King Henry III. He died in January, 1281, and was buried at Mullingar, having fate about 31 years. The Author of the Annals of St. Mary's near Dublin calls him A Pious Man of a Venerable Life. A Commission was granted by King Edward I. (on the death of his Father) to Maurice Fitz-Maurice Justice of Ireland, this our Hugh and John de Sanford Escheator of Ireland, for one or more of them to administer the Oath of Allegiance to all the Nobility and Commonalty of Ireland, Dated at Westminster the seventh of December, 1272.

Thomas St. Leger.

1282.

1287.

Thomas St. Leger, of an Illustrious Family but of more Illustrious Manners, was Confirmed by the King Novemb. 5, 1282, but not Consecrated till Novemb. 3, 1287: for on that day he received his Consecration at Kilkenny in the Cathedral of St. Kenny, together with Roger of Wexford Bishop of Osory, from John de Sanford Arch-Bishop of Dublin: Four years after he was made one one of the Privy Council to King Edward I. He died a very old Man, being sickly some years before his Death, in December, 1320, Thirty eight years after his first Election.

An. Dom.
1320.

John o Carrol.

John o Carrol, or Mac Carrill, for so he is called in the Royal Archives, first Dean, then Bishop of Cork, was afterwards translated to this See by the Pope in 1321, and from thence to Cashel in 1327. He died at London the beginning of August, 1329, in his return from Avignon.

1321.

William de Paul.

William de Paul of the Order of Carmelites, sometime Provincial thereof in England and Scotland, born in Yorkshire, having been Educated at Oxford, and for a while at Paris, was by the Pope's Provision made Bishop of Meath, Consecrated at Avignon, and restored to the Temporals the 24th of July, 1327. He died in July likewise, 1349, having sate 22 years. Leland calls him William Paganer; and Bale, Pagham, but neither of them rightly; for in the Records he is expressly called William de Paul.

1327.
1349.

William St. Leger.

William St. Leger Arch-Deacon of Meath, Elected by the Clergy of Meath, and also (without any regard to the Election) provided by Pope Clement VI. was Consecrated in England by John Thursbey Bishop of Winchester, and other Bishops, the second of May, 1350, and died on St. Bartholomew's day, 1352.

1350.
1352.

Nicholas Allen.

Nicholas Allen Abbot of St. Thomas near Dublin, succeeded, and was Consecrated about the beginning of the Year 1353. He died the fifth of January, the Rolls say the 15th, (Old Stile) 1366, having sate almost 14 years: He had been in the mean time Treasurer of Ireland, and took the Oath of his Place the tenth of March, 1357.

1353.
1366.

Stephen de Valle.

Stephen de Valle, or Wall, first Dean, and afterwards by the Pope made Bishop of Limerick, was Consecrated in 1360; and having sate there nine years, and been also Treasurer of Ireland, was Translated to Meath by Pope Urban V. in 1369. He died Intestate at Oxford the tenth of November, 1379; and was buried there in the Monastery of Predicants.

1369.
1379.

William Andrew.

William Andrew an English man, of the Order of Predicants, D. D. and in 1374 Consecrated Bishop of Aghado, was by Pope Urban VI. Translated to this See in 1380, and died five years after, on the Eve of St. Michael the Archangel, 1385.

1380.
1385.

Alexander Petit.

Alexander Petit Bishop of Ossory, commonly called de Balsco from the place of his birth in Oxfordshire; at the request of the Clergy of Meath succeeded him. The Bulls of his Translation were published in the Church of the Abby of

of

An. Dom.

1386.

of St. Peter of Newtown near Trim, the 14th of December, 1386. He was from one of the Canons of St. Kenny in Kilkenny promoted to the Bishoprick of Ossory, and had the Temporals of that See the twelfth of May, 1371. Soon after he was for a while made Treasurer of Ireland by King Edward III., and again by King Richard II., first Treasurer then Chancellor; and for sometime whilst he was Bishop of Meath, Lord Justice. He fate in the See of Ossory about 15 years, and then was translated by the Pope to the See of Meath, the Clergy of that Diocess having first requested it should be so. He died at Ardraccan, (a Town where the Bishops of Meath most commonly resided) the tenth of November, 1400, and was buried in St. Mary's at Trim.

1400.

Robert Montain.

Robert Montain Rector of Kildalky, by the Pope's Provision succeeded. It appears in the Records that the Custody of the Temporals of this See, from the death of Alexander, was granted to Robert Mascall a Carmelite, Confessor to Henry IV., who was soon after made Bishop of Hereford in England: for it seems the King had endeavoured, though in vain, to prefer him to this See. Robert Montain fate 10 years, and died the 24th of May, 1412.

1412.

Edward Dantsey.

Edward Dantsey, called William Danesey in the Rolls, Arch-Deacon of Cornwall, by Provision of Pope John XXIII. was admitted by the Clergy of Meath the eighth of May, 1413. He died the fourth of January (Old Stile) 1429, having fate above 16 years, and in the mean time was High Treasurer of Ireland, and afterward Deputy to Sir John Grey, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

1413.

1429.

Thomas Scurlock.

In the same Month that Dantsey died, Thomas Scurlock Prior of the Convent of St. Peter of Newtown near Trim, then likewise Treasurer of Ireland, was Elected Bishop of Meath; upon which he hastened to Rome to obtain Confirmation from the Pope, but was disappointed of his hopes; for it is certain that either he was not Consecrated, or survived but a short time after. Upon his repulse or decease William Hadfor born, if I mistake not, in the County of Louth, was declared Bishop of Meath, and accordingly Consecrated. He died, as appears in the Register, on Ascension-day, 1434.

1434.

William Sill.

William Sill Doctor of the Canon Law, and Official of the Court of Meath, succeeded: and died at Ardraccan the ninth of May, 1450, and was buried in the Church of St. Mary of Killeen. The Custody of the Temporals of that See were three days after committed to Sir William Ouldhal, Chamberlain to Richard Duke of York.

1450.

Edmund Ouldhal.

In the same year succeeded Edmund Ouldhal a Carmelite of Norwich, Brother of the said William Ouldhal: He died at Ardraccan the ninth (some say the 29th) of August, 1459, and in the ninth year of his Consecration by the Rolls; and was buried there in that Church.

1459.

William Shirwood.

William Shirwood by Provision of Pope Pius II. was Consecrated in 1460: He died at Dublin the third of December, 1482, but was buried in the Church of St. Peter 1460.

1482.

St. Peter and St. Paul of Newtown near Trim, before the High Altar, having fate 22 years. He was for a time made Deputy to George Duke of Clarence Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and afterward Chancellor.

An. Dom.

John Payn.

John Payn, D. D. a Dominican, by Provision of Pope Sixtus IV, succeeded the 17th of March next after the decease of Shirwood, and was Inthroned by the Clergy of Meath on St. Dominick's day, viz. the fourth of August, 1483. He died the sixth of March, 1506, and was buried, says George Cogley, in Dublin, in a Monastery of his own Order; yet he Erected a Marble Tomb once adorned with Brass Plates, for himself and his Successors, in St. Patrick's, Dublin, not far from the West-gate, as appears from the rude Epitaph in Rhyme, thereon Inscribed. He fate 23 years, and was made Master of the Rolls the 23d of October, 1496. He was eminent for his Charity and Hospitality. See more of him in the Annals of the Reign of Henry VII.

1483.
1506.

William Rokeby.

William Rokeby Doctor of the Canon Law, born in Yorkshire, was appointed Bishop of Meath by Pope Julius II, in 1507; and Translated to Dublin by the same Pope, the 28th of January, 1511; where he died the 29th of November, 1521. See more of him among the Bishops of that See.

1507.
1511.

Hugh Inge.

Hugh Inge, D. D. an English man, succeeded him by the Pope's Provision, as well to this as to the See of Dublin: He died there of the English Sweat in 1528. See more of him among the Bishops of Dublin.

1528.

Richard Wilson.

Richard Wilson an English man, by the Pope's appointment succeeded in 1523, and fate about six years.

Edward Staple.

Edward Staple Native of Lincolnshire, succeeded by appointment of Pope Clement VII, in 1530: He was sometime Commendatore of the Hospital of St. Bartholomew in London. He was deprived under Queen Mary the 29th of June, 1554; and died soon after, having been sickly some years before his death.

1530.
1554.

William Walsh.

William Walsh, D. D. a Native of Waterford, succeeded Staple, and was restored to the Temporals the 22d of November, 1554; but under Queen Elizabeth he was deprived and Imprisoned, and some years after banished. He died at Alcala de Henares in Spain the third of January, 1577, and was there buried in a College of the Cistercians, of which Order he was a Monk. In his time the See of Clonmacnoise was by Act of Parliament united to this of Meath.

1577.

Hugh Brady.

Hugh Brady succeeded Walsh by appointment of Queen Elizabeth, Consecrated in 1563: who having fate 22 years, died the 13th of February, 1583, at Dunboyne the place of his Birth; where he lies buried in the Parish Church.

1583.

An. Dom.

Thomas Jones.

1584.

1605.

Thomas Jones a Native of Lancashire, first Chancellor and after Dean of St. Patrick's, Dublin, was Consecrated the twelfth of May, 1584, and Translated to Dublin the eighth of November, 1605. See more of him among the Bishops of Dublin.

Roger Dod.

1608.

Roger Dod, D. D. of Cambridge, Dean of Shrewsbury, was Consecrated about the end of the Year 1605, or the beginning of the next; and died at Ardbraccan the 26th of July, 1608; and is buried in that Church.

George Montgomery.

1620.

George Montgomery born in Scotland, of the Illustrious Family of the Earls of Eglinton, chief House of the Montgomery's, Dean of Normich, and Chaplain to King James I. in 1605, was Bishop of Derry, Rapho and Clogher; but in 1611 quitting the two former, he took the See of Meath, and was Bishop of that and Clogher during his life. He died at London the 15th of January (Old Style) 1620. His Body was conveyed into Ireland, and there buried in the Church of Ardbraccan.

James Usher.

1621.

1624.

James Usher, D. D. a Native of Dublin, was Educated in the University there, where he proceeded Doctor of Divinity. He was first, Chancellor of St. Patrick's in Dublin, and from thence promoted to this See, and Consecrated in St. Peter's, Drogheda, in 1621, by Christopher Armagh, Robert Down, Thomas Kilmore, and Theophilus Dromore; and Translated hence to Armagh the 21st of March, 1624. See more of him among the Arch-Bishops of that See.

Anthony Martin.

1625.

1650.

Anthony Martin, D. D. a Native of Dublin, Dean of Waterford, was Consecrated in St. Patrick's, Dublin, the fifth of July, 1625, by Lancelot Arch-Bishop of Dublin, William Arch-Bishop of Tuam, and William Bishop of Kildare. He was born at Gallway, and Educated partly in France, and partly in Emanuel-College in Cambridge. Upon his return home he was made a Fellow of Trinity-College near Dublin, where I was then a young Man, and heard his Lectures of Philosophy, which in Gratitude I thought fit here to mention. He died of the Plague which then raged in Dublin, in July, 1650, in the said College, of which he had been Provost, and was buried there in the Chappel.

Henry Lesley.

1660.

1661.

Henry Lesley, D. D. Born in Scotland, Dean of Down, and Treasurer of St. Patrick's, Dublin. He was Chaplain to King Charles I. and Consecrated in St. Peter's, Drogheda, the fourth of October, 1635, Bishop of Down and Conner, but Translated to this See the 18th of January, 1660. He died in Dublin very old, the seventh, and was there buried in Christ Church the tenth (of April) following, in 1661.

Henry Jones.

Henry Jones, D. D. of the College of Dublin, Dean of Kilmore, and Son of Lewis Jones late Bishop of Killaloe, was Consecrated in Christ-Church, Dublin, Bishop

Bishop of Clogher by Lancelot Arch-Bishop of Dublin, William Bishop of Kildare, and George Bishop of Clayne, the ninth of November, 1645 : thence Translated to Meath the 25th of May, 1661 ; and was soon after made one of the Privy Council. He wrote a Book of St. Patrick's Purgatory, a Funeral Sermon on the Death of James Margetson late Lord Primate of Armagh, a Sermon at the Consecration of Ambrose late Lord Bishop of Derry, and another of Antichrist. He died at Dublin the sixth of January, 1681, and was buried at St. Andrew's the day after ; his Funeral Sermon being Preached by Anthony Lord Bishop of Kildare, his immediate Succeffor.

An. Dom.

1661.

1681.

Anthony Dopping.

Anthony Dopping, Bishop of Kildare, was Translated to Meath the 14th of January, 1681 : He was made Vice-Chancellor of the University of Dublin, and one of His Majesty's most Honourable Privy Council ; he continued one of the Number till all the Protestant Lords were struck out of the Council in the Year 1689. He resided in Ireland during the whole time of the late Revolution, where he saw his Country reduced to the brink of Ruine, and almost intire Distruction, brought both upon Church and State by the Tyrannical Oppression of the Romish Party : but still he supported the sinking Protestant Interest with great Constancy and Resolution ; applying frequently to the Government in its Behalf, and speaking with extraordinary Eloquence, Boldness, and Honesty in the then House of Lords against the unjust Proceedings of King James and his Parliament. He lived to see the distressed Protestant Church of Ireland supported by the Gallant Forces of Derry and Enniskillin, and delivered by King William the Third of ever Glorious Memory, and restored to its Happy, Peaceful and Flourishing Condition, and himself to the enjoyment of the several Dignities he formerly held both in Church and State. He died in Dublin, April the 26th, 1697 ; and was buried in the Vault of his Family in St. Andrew's Church.

1681.

Richard Tennison.

Richard Tennison, D. D. and Vice-Chancellor of the University of Dublin, in which he was Educated, was born at Carrickfergus in Ireland, and was promoted to the Bishopricks of Killala and Achonry, and Consecrated in Christ-Church, Dublin, A. D. 1681 : From them he was Translated to the Bishoprick of Clogher, A. D. 1690 ; and afterward, in the Year 1697, to the See of Meath, and was Inthroned in the Cathedral of that Diocess at Trim ; and made one of His Majesty's most Honourable Privy Council.

1690.

1697.

The Bishops of Clonmacnoife, till it was United to the See of Meath, in 1568.

ST. Kiaran, or Ciaran, the Younger, of the Family of the Ards, but the Son of one Bœtius, or Bognandus, a Carpenter, whence he was nick-named Mac-iteir, or Mechanick's Son, Founded the Abby of Clonmacnoife, called at first Tiprarc, in the middle or heart, as it were, of all Ireland, An. Dom. 548 ; Dermot the Son of Cerval King of Ireland, having assigned him that place.

548.

An. Dom.

549.

place. Here Kiaran was Abbot for one whole year, according to others (I think by mistake) seven years; and died the eighth of September, 549, in the flower of his Age, having lived only thirty three Years. Sometime after, but when I can't precisely tell, the Church of this Convent was made a Cathedral. Some there are who with great assurance say, that S. Kiaran was Bishop of Clonmacnoise: if this be true of the beginning of this Cathedral, we need enquire no further; but be it as it will, in after times it presided over nine other Churches in one Churchyard, as it were; for they sat within less than the compass of two Irish Acres: At the West-end of this Place the succeeding Bishops built their Palace. The Cathedral it self was, without doubt, anciently endowed with great Livings; and the Burying Place of their great Men and Bishops was mighty Famous for Monuments and fine Inscriptions, as well in the Hebrew as Irish Characters; but by degrees it dwindled away, and became reduced to a shameful poverty. In the Synod before mentioned, held in 1152, whilst Cardinal Paparo resided as Legat in this Kingdom, the Canini was reckoned as one of the Sees under the Arch-Bishop of Tuam's Province; yet after many and great Contentions and Bandyings at Rome, it was at length judged in favour of the Province of Armagh, and said to be subject thereunto. This See, because of the nearness of its name, I thought had been Cenanuse or Kenlise; but the longer we live the wiser we grow; I am now satisfied that Canini is corruptly there for Cluana, commonly called Clonmacnoise, as well by reason of its Vicinity to the Province of Tuam, being separate from it by the River Shannon only, as also for that in the said division of the Irish Bishopricks we find mention made of Conan, which is without doubt the same with Cenanusa; for it is not likely that in such a Distribution of Sees, made in a Synod wherein so many Irish Prelates sat, one and the same See should be recounted over and over again, and assigned to two several Provinces. Of the Bishops of this See before the times of the English, there is very little memory remaining.

663. Baitan, called Abbot and Bishop of Clonmacnoise, died the first of March, 663.

839. Joseph de Rosmor died in 839.

886. Maldare died in 886.

899. Corpre the Crooked died the sixth of March, 899.

924. Colman Son of Ailill died in 924. He is said to be the Founder of the Palace of Clonmacnoise.

964. Cormac o Killeen Abbot of Roscommon, and Bishop of Clonmacnoise, died in 964.

969. Tuathale died in 969.

1067. Celecair in 1067.

1103. Christian o Hettigern in 1103.

1136. Domnald o Dubhai in 1136.

Moriertach o Melider: This Moriertach was present at the Synod held under Cardinal Paparo in 1152. He died very old in 1188, or 1187. It seems nevertheless, that long before his death he resigned; for in the Supplement of the Annals of Tigernac o Broin at 1172, we read thus: "Tigernac o Mæbeoin, Comorban of Ciaran, rested at Clonmacnoise."

1172. Tigernac, of whom before, died in 1172. The Annals of Conaught recite that Money was Coined at Clonmacnoise in his time.

1213. His Successor Mureach o Murrechan, a Learned Man, died in 1213: He seems to be the same whom others call Muriertac o Murry, and say he was buried at Clonmacnoise, under a Monument Erected to his Memory, by Slaman his Foster-Brother.

1220. Edan o Maily was drowned in 1220; but where or when I don't find.

1230. Mælröny o Modein died in 1230, having sat ten years.

1236. Hugh o Malone succeeded, who died 1236, and was buried in St. Mary's Abby of Kilbeggan.

1236. Thomas Dean of Clonmacnoise Elected Bishop, was Confirmed by the King the 18th of April, 1236: He was afterward Consecrated, and sat 16 years.

Thomas o Quin, a Minorite, was Confirmed by King Henry III. the 20th of of February (Old Stile) 1252 : He sate 27 years, and died in 1279. After which the See was vacant two years. An. Dom.

Gilbert Dean of this Church, was Consecrated by Nicholas Arch-Bishop of Armagh, in 1281. He resigned in 1288 ; upon whose Resignation the King granted License of Election to the Dean and Chapter, the eighth of July, 1288.

William o Duffy, a Minorite, after two years Vacancy Succeeded, and was restored to the Temporals Octob. 6, 1290. He was killed by a fall from a Horse in 1297.

William o Findan, by others called Muan, Abbot of Killbeggan, succeeded in 1298, and died two years after. The See was afterward vacant for some years.

Donald o Bruin, Guardian of the Minorites of Killeigh, succeeded : After his Election he had the Royal Assent the 14th of April, 1303 ; and was restored to the Temporals the 24th of June following.

Lewis o Daly was designed to Succeed Donall, and died in 1337.

Henry, of the Order of Predicants, Succeeded ; who died about 1367.

Richard, a Monk, of what Order I don't find, succeeded him.

After the said Richard one Philip sate Bishop in this See, and died in 1388.

Miles Cory his Successor, of the Order of Minorites, provided by Pope Boniface IX. the eighth of November, 1390 : was soon after made Lord Justice of Conaught by King Richard II. He sate but a short time.

O Galcher, who succeeded Miles, died in 1397.

Peter a Cistercian Monk, Abbot of Granard, succeeded the next year. He died in 1411.

Philip o Mael succeeded, who died in 1422.

David Brendog a Cistercian Monk, succeeded, provided by Pope Martin V. the 22d of September, 1423. The See was vacant the next year, perhaps by his death, and so continued some years.

Cormac mac Cogblan, Dean of the Cathedral, was Elected by the Chapter, and Consecrated in 1427. He died in 1442.

John O'lais, a Minorite, succeeded the 16th of September, 1444.

John Bishop of Clonmacnoise died in 1486. He was not (I think) the same with John Oldais.

Walter Blake, a Canon of Enaghdone, and Native of Gallway, after the death of John was appointed Successor by Pope Innocent VIII. the 23d of April, 1487 : He sate 21 years, and died in May, 1508. Pope Sixtus IV. had designed him to the See of Tuam ; but the Donation proved invalid, by reason the Arch-Bishop Donat o Murry was still alive.

One Thomas succeeded him, of whom I find nothing more.

Quintin, a Minorite, was provided to this See by the Pope, the tenth of November, 1516. He died in 1538, having sate 22 years.

Richard Hogan, a Minorite, Bishop of Killaloe, was Translated to this See in 1538, and died the same year.

Florence, or Flan Gerawan, a Minorite also, was provided by Pope Paul III. the fifth of December, 1539 ; and after his Oath of Allegiance taken, was Confirmed by King Henry VIII. the 23d of September, 1541. He died about 1554.

Peter Wall succeeded, who died in 1568. After whose death this See was by Act of Parliament united to the Bishoprick of Meath.

OF THE BISHOPS OF CLOGHER.

S. Macartin.

An. Dom.

506.

JOCELINE in the Life of St. Patrick, Cap. 143, says that the Cathedral Church of Clogher was Founded by St. Patrick at first, even before the Church of Armagh was built; and if we'll believe him, the great St. Patrick sate here sometime before he made Macartin Bishop, whom he by mistake calls Kerten: On the contrary, in the Register of Clogher, Macartin is said to have been the first Bishop of that See: This Macartin, or Macarthenn, Son of Caerthen, in Baptism called Aed, or Aid, descended of the Noble Family of the Arads, but more Noble for his Manners, was a Disciple of St. Patrick, and an Indefatigable Fellow-Preacher. He fixed his See at Clogher, and by St. Patrick's Appointment built a Monastery there, in the Street before the Royal Seat of Ergall. Clogher seated on the Black-water, has its name from a Golden Stone, where during the time of Paganism the Devil, like the Oracle of Apollo, gave out deluding Answers, as the Register of Clogher has it. St. Macartin died the 24th of May, 506, and was buried in the Cemetery of his Church. We have taken the greatest part of what we here deliver concerning the Bishops of Clogher down to 1519, at which time Patrick Culin obtained that See, out of Clogher Register abovementioned.

S. Tigernac.

550.

S. Tigernac, in the Register of Clogher called Legate of Ireland, to whom Macartin as far as in him lay, bequeathed the Bishoprick, together with his Blessing, fixed his See at Cluaine, from whence in the Irish Annals he is called Bishop of Cluanois, commonly Clones. That Church of Cluanois is one of the four principal Churches of this Diocess, wherein, as also in the Church of Derimoailain, the Memory of Tigernac is Famous. He died the fifth of April, 550, or 549; on which day in the Martyrology of Molin his death is thus noted: In Scotland (i. e. the Greater, or Ireland) the Birth-day of S. Tigernac Bishop and Confessor. He Founded a Monastery of Augustine Canons at Cluanois. There is extant in the Library of St. Bennet's College, Cambridge, his Office to a Hymn, which begins thus:

Adest dies Celebris Sancti Tigernaci.

Celebrate this Holy-day: 'Tis the Feast of St. Tigernac.

S. Sinell.

S. Sinell.

S. Sinell is said to have succeeded him, to whose Memory the Church of Clarinslochtain is dedicated.

Deodeagha.

Deodeagha, Son of Cairvill, succeeded; to whom was dedicated the Church of Iniscain, in the Diocese of Clogher.

Feidlimid.

Feidlimid succeeded, and was buried in the Church of Cillanais, near to Tigernac.

S. Ultan.

S. Ultan succeeded, descended from Macartin: He is different from Ultan Brother of Fursy, of whom Bede, Hist. Angl. Lib. 3. Cap. 19. He is said to be Intombed at Clogher in the Burying-place of S. Macartin, near his Sepulcher.

Sethne.

Earch.

Eirglean.

Cedach.

Crimir Rodan.

S. Lasarian.

S. Lasarian succeeded, otherwise called Molaisre, Abbot of the Monastery of Devenish, which he Founded: It is situated in Lagh-Erny, called in Irish, Duim-mis, i. e. The Isle of Oxen. He died the twelfth of September, 571; or as some in 563; and others say it was the 18th of April.

Tigerna.

Altigerna.

571.

S. Enna.

S. Enna, or Endeus, Son of Conail, follows next after Altigern in the Register of Clogher, to whom was Consecrated the Island Arnanaon, or Altar of the Saints. But since this Enna indeed flourished while St. Patrick was yet living, he could not be the fifteenth Bishop in this Catalogue.

Ronan.

Ronan Son of Ediduib, or Black Hugh, King of Ergall, to whom was Consecrated the Church of Achadurchair.

S. Aedan.

S. Aedan, or Aidan, to whom was Consecrated the Church of Celnor-Aedan. This is that most Famous Aidan mentioned in Bede, who leaving Ireland in 635, went into Britain, where he was honourably received by King Oswald, and converted the people of Northumberland to the Christian Faith, and was the first Bishop of Lindisfarn. He died the 31st of August, 651, of grief, as 'tis thought, for the death of King Oswald, who by the treachery of his own Subjects was killed 12 days before.

Garlob.

651.

An. Dom.

Maelcob.

640.

Maelcob, or Maelcab, flourished in 640: He was Brother of Donald, and Son of Elan, or Hugh, King of Ireland. To this Maelcob was Consecrated the Church of Druimlais.

S. Adamnanus.

S. Adamnanus, in the Register of Clogher called Legate of Ireland, is reckoned one of the Bishops of this See; whether he be the same Adamnanus Abbot of Hy, whom Bede with great commendation mentions in Lib. 5. Hist. Eccles. Chap. 16, I know not, but the times agree well enough. To him was Consecrated the Burying-place at the upper end of the great Street of the City Clogher, on the North-side.

Dianach.Aligren.

S. Ciaran.

S. Ciaran, Atuderman's Son of Cluamachnoise, follows next in the Register of Clogher, but by his Life and the Annals of Ireland, it appears that he is to be referred to much elder times; for he died the ninth of September, 549, namely, the year next preceding S. Tigernac, aged 33 years; having fate at Clonmacnoise only one year.

Conall.Airmeadac, who is said to have written the Life of St. Patrick.

731.

Feldobar died the 29th of June, 731.Cannacht.Maelmochair.Synach.Artgail Son of Darin.Cairbre I.Mælduin.Dermot.Conaid I.Moraind.Dubroith.

898.

Alil, in the Ulster Annals called Scribe, Bishop, and Abbot of Clogher, died in 898.

Cairbre II.Angus.

929.

Cændjælad, or Cenfail, Son of Lorcan, called Cemorban of Cluainoise and Clogher, died in 929. In the Martyrology of Killeen, at the seventh of April, is noted the Feast of S. Censeolad, Confessor.

Conaid II.Tomultach.Cellagh.Murigach.Odo ô Duigil.Mac-mail-iösa ô Cullean.

Christian o Morgair.

He was succeeded by Christian ô Morgair, only Brother to S. Malachy of Armagh: St. Bernard, in the Life of Malachy, calls Morgair "A good Man, full of Grace and Virtue, inferior indeed to his Brother in Fame, but not in Holiness."

"Holiness of Life, and Love of Righteousness. In the Register of Clogher, I find it noted, that his Brother Malachy obtained from Pope Innocent II: "That a fourth part throughout all Ergall, of the Episcopal Revenue, should be given to the Bishops of Clogher. Anciently the Clergy were maintained by the Offerings of the Altar, which were divided into four parts: 1. To the Relief of the Poor: 2. To the Repair of the Church: 3. To the Priest who served at the Altar: 4. To the Bishop. Of which see Selden, in his Hist. of Tythes. He died the 12th of June, 1138 or 1139, while his Brother Malachy was living; and lies buried in the Monastery of St. Peter and St. Paul, at Armagh.

An. Dom.

1138.

Edan o Kelly.

To this See, upon the death of Christian, Edan or Odo o Kelly, was Elected, and Consecrated by St. Malachy, then Bishop of Down, whose Scholar he had been. Afterward, in 1148, Donogh o Carol, or Mac Carwil, King of Ergall, and this our Edan, Founded a new Abby of Regular Canons at Louth, wherein Edan himself was buried in 1180, or 1182; having enjoyed this See and Louth about 42 years. He likewise endowed Knock-Abby near Louth, otherwise called The Hill of the Apostles, Peter and Paul, which the said Donatus had Founded, and likewise furnished him with Means to endow it withal: according to the Register of Clogher. That place was heretofore called Knock-na-sengan, or the Ant-Hill. This Edan was Confessor to Dermot King of Leinster. Philip Seguin, and after him Christopher Henriques, untruly assert that this Edan was Arch-Bishop of Armagh.

1180.

Maelissa o Carol.

Maelissa o Carol succeeded: He was designed Arch-Bishop of Armagh, and on his Journey to Rome died in 1184.

1184.

Christian o Macturan.

Christian (or Gilla-Christ) o Macturan, Abbot of Cluan-eois, having fate seven years in the See of Clogher, died.

Maelissa.

Maelissa, Son of Bishop Mac-Mail-Ciaran Abbot of Mellifont, succeeded, and presided four years. He by Deed in Writing Remised and Quitted Claim, to John Camin Arch-Bishop of Dublin, and his Successors, the Church of All Saints by Dublin, saving and reserving only to himself the same during Life, to be held of the said Arch-Bishop and Christ-Church; as appears in the Register of the Arch-Bishops of Dublin, which they call Crede mihi.

Tigernac.

Tigernac Son of Gilla-Ronan an Augustin Canon, who was his Successor, died in 1218, and was buried in St. Mary's at Louth, near Edan o Kelly his Predecessor.

1218.

Donogh o Fidabra.

After Tigernac's death Donogh o Fidabra succeeded; and having fate here two years, was designed Arch-Bishop of Armagh, and obtained the Royal Assent the 20th of September, 1227. He built the Bishop's House at Clogher, near the Abby of our Lady. See more of him among the Primates of Armagh.

1227.

An. Dom.

Nehemy o Brogan.

Nehemy o Brogan who succeeded, died, as I conjecture, in 1240 : For by Letters of the Eighth of February following, King Henry III. commanded Maurice Fitz-Gerald Lord Justice of Ireland, " That in consideration of the Poverty of " the two Sees of Clogher and Armagh, he should unite them, and cause good " Livery and Seisin to be made to Albert Arch-Bishop of Armagh, of all the " Lands, &c. belonging to the See of Clogher : as appears in the Records of the Tower of London. But though the design of uniting those two Sees at that time did not take effect, yet within a few years after the Diocese of Clogher was reduced to a much narrower compass, as will appear in the next Bishop's time.

David o Brogan.

David o Brogan, Brother to Nehemy, succeeded. He laboured much in defence of the Jurisdiction and Possessions of his Church, but by the power of German o Cerbalan Bishop of Derry, and his own Country of Kenelsogain, he lost the Church of Ardfrath, with many other Churches of Ofeachra : and by the power of Reiner and Patrick Bishops of Armagh, he lost the Church of Louth, and the three Deanries of Drogheda, Atherdee, and Dundalk : For though those two Sees Louth and Clogher, were originally distinct, yet at last they united, and continued so till the time of this David. Of which an Action of this David is extant, dated at Perusium the 13th of August, 1252, against Reiner Arch-Bishop of Armagh, but in vain. At last, after long and unsuccessful Debates about this matter, he died of the Palsie in 1267 ; and was buried in the Monastery of Mel-lisfont, where he had been Monk.

1267.

Michael mac Antsair.

After the death of David, Reginald Mac-Gilla-Finin, Arch-Deacon of Clogher, was elected Bishop by the Chapter ; but that Election being made void by Patrick o Swanlan, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, Michael mac Antsair, Official of Armagh, was substituted in his place, and Consecrated the ninth of September, 1268. He sate 17 years, or as some say, 19 ; and was buried in Clogher, in the Monastery of Canons of our Blessed Lady. He exchanged with that Convent the Court near it, wherein his Predecessors used to reside, for a place without the City called Disert-na-Cusiac, where he built a new House for himself and Successors.

1268.

Matthew mac Cataisaid.

Matthew mac Cataisaid Chancellor of Armagh, while he was busie in the Court of Rome soliciting Affairs of the Church of Armagh, was chosen Bishop with the unanimous consent of the Dean and Chapter of Clogher : Being returned home he was Confirmed by Nicholas Arch-Bishop of Armagh ; and by his Assent and Precept was consecrated on Sunday the Festival of the Apostles Peter and Paul, in 1287, by Tigernac Dromore, Florence Raphoe, and Maurice Suffragan of Cenana, in the Monastery of St. Mary's at Lisgool, or Lisgabail. His Constitutions are extant, Published in 1298 and 1301. He built an Episcopal Palace both at Rosfoirtir, and in the Isle of St. Macartin at Macnumha : He built likewise a Chappel at the Sepulchre of the same Macartin in Clogher, and a Wall about the Burying-place ; and built anew his Cathedral, to which he gave two Bells, a Chalice, a Pix, a Silver Cross gilt, a Mitre, a Cope, and other Vestments : Afterwards, the sixth of September, 1308, he Translated the Bones of St. Con-stans of Enois, and St. Ferguimith Bishop of Cutmain, hither in Repositories.

1287.

In

In the Catalogue of Illustrious Monks, collected by Hugh Kirksted a Cistercian, the Memory of Constans Monk and Abbot of Ireland is Famous : He was Abbot of Inis-eo, or Eonois, in Logh-Ern, and died the 14th of November, 777. Matthew fate about 28 years, and died in 1316, and was buried in his own Cathedral.

An. Dom.

1316.

Gelasy o Banan.

Gelasy o Banan, Comorban or Successor of St. Tigernac of Cluain-eois, fate three years. He died in 1319.

1319.

Nicholas mac Cataisaid.

Nicholas mac Cataisaid Arch-Deacon of Clogher, was elected his Successor in the Abby of St. Peter and St. Paul of Cluain-eois, on the Eve of St. Matthias the Apostle, in 1319; and was Consecrated the Year following in the Convent of Canons of Lisgabail, by Michael Derry, Thomas Raphoe, and Patrick Triburna. He died in Autumn, 1356, having fate 36 years, and was buried in his Church.

1356.

Bernard mac Camaeil.

Bernard, or Brien mac Camaeil, Arch-Deacon of Clogher, by means of Richard Fitz-Ralph Arch-Bishop of Armagh, was appointed Successor by Pope Innocent VI. He died of the Plague at Clogher which at that time miserably afflicted the whole Kingdom of Ireland, and more particularly the City of Clogher: The same Plague (if I mistake not) which according to our Annals happened in 1361; and yet some say he died in 1358.

1361.

Matthew mac Cataisaid.

Matthew mac Cataisaid, Arch-Deacon likewise of Clogher, Nephew to the former Matthew mac Cataisaid by his Brother; being lawfully chosen of the Dean and Chapter of Clogher, was Consecrated by Miles Armagh, Richard Down, and Owen Ardagh, in the Parish Church of Drunineasglan: He fate but a short time.

Odo o Neal.

Odo o Neal Chancellor of Armagh, succeeded; and died the 27th of July, 1370.

1370.

O Corcroin.

One O Corcroin a Cistercian, Doctor of the Decrees, by the Pope's Provision succeeded.

Arthur mac Camaeil.

Arthur mac Camaeil Arch-Deacon of Clogher, a Grave and Learned Man, was Consecrated in 1389. In his time, namely, the 28th of April, 1395, while he was rebuilding the Chappel of St. Macartin, the Cathedral of Clogher, two Chappels and a Monastery of St. Mary, and the Bishop's Palace, were burnt, together with 32 other Houses, &c. The Church and Palace were afterward repaired by the Care and Industry of this Arthur. His Constitutions made in 1395 and 1430 are extant. He died on St. Lawrence's day, 1432, having governed this Church about 43 years.

1389.

1432.

Peter Macguire.

Peter Macguire, Arch-Deacon likewise of Clogher, at the request of the Chapter, and by the Pope's Appointment, succeeded; and died in 1450, having resigned (it seems) a little before his death.

1450.

Roger

An. Dom.

Roger Macguire.

1483.

Roger, or Ross Macguire, Son of Thomas the younger, Prince of Fermanagh, by the Pope's Appointment was Consecrated at Dreggheda by John Mey Arch-Bishop of Armagh, in 1449 : He sate about 34 years, and died in 1483 ; and is buried in the Church of St. Ronan of Achadurchar.

Edmund Courcy.

1485.

Edmund Courcy a Minorite, descended of the Noble Family of the Courcy's of Munster, Professor of Divinity, was Consecrated Bishop of Clogher in 1485 ; and for his great Fidelity, afterwards very much in favour with King Henry VII. He was the first English Man that was Bishop of this See ; where having sate nine years, he was translated by Pope Alexander VI. to Ross, the 26th of September, 1494.

1494.

Nehemy Clonin.

1502.

Nehemy Clonin a Benedictin, or (as others have it) an Hermit of the Order of St. Augustin, was appointed Bishop of Clogher by Pope Alexander VI, the 24th of January, 1502, on the removal of Courcy. He resigned the 29th of August in the year following, at the Instance of Patrick o Conally (who succeeded him) reserving to himself a yearly Pension of 18 Ducats.

Patrick o Conally.

1504.

Patrick o Conally, Abbot of the Monastery of St. Peter and Paul of Cluain-eois, was appointed by Pope Julius II. the seventh of March, 1504 : The same year he returned home from Rome, leaving his Letters behind him, and a few days after died of the Plague.

Eugene mac Camaeil.

1505.

1515.

Eugene mac Camaeil Dean of Clogher, appointed by the same Pope Julius II, the fourth of April, 1505, was Consecrated by Octavian Arch-Bishop of Armagh, Thomas Killmore, and Tiberius Down and Connor, in 1508 ; and died in 1515.

Patrick Culin.

1519.

1534.

Patrick Culin, an Augustin Hermit succeeded, Elected in 1519. He together with Roderick Cassidy Arch-Deacon of Clogher, compiled the Register of Clogher ; out of which we have taken the greatest part of what concerns his Predecessors. He died in the beginning of the Spring 1534.

Hugh o Cervallan.

1542.

Hugh, or Odo o Cervallan, provided by Pope Paul III : After Homage, according to the custom, done to King Henry VIII, was confirmed in 1542. His Ecclesiastical Constitutions are extant, Published the 29th of October, 1557. I don't find how long he sate.

Miler Magrath.

Miler Magrath a Franciscan, by appointment of Pope Pius V, was made Bishop of Down, and afterward embracing the Protestant Faith, was by Grant of Queen

Queen Elizabeth removed to this See the 18th of September, 1570; and from hence Translated to Cashel the third of February following, where he died very old: See that Archbishoprick.

An. Dom.
1570.

George Montgomery.

At length George Montgomery, D. D. Born in Scotland, was by King James I, after a Vacancy of many years in this See, made Bishop of Derry, Raphoe, and Clogher, in 1605; the two former of which he quitted for Meath, in 1610. While he was Bishop, King James, among many other Donations, gave the Abby of Clogher, and the Revenues thereof, to this See; by which Liberality it is esteemed at this day one of the richest in Ireland. See more in Meath of this Bishop.

1605.
1610.

James Spottiswood.

James Spottiswood, D. D. Born also in Scotland, and Brother of John Spottiswood Arch-Bishop of St. Andrews in Scotland, was Consecrated at Drogheda in 1621. He died at Westminster about the middle of March, 1644.

1621.
1644.

Henry Jones.

Henry Jones, D. D. a Native of Dublin, was Consecrated Bishop of Clogher the ninth of November, 1645; and Translated to Meath the 25th of May, 1661.

1645.
1661.

John Lesley.

John Lesley, D. D. Born in Scotland, and Bishop of Orkney, was Translated to the Bishoprick of Raphoe, June 1, 1633; and the same Year made Privy Counsellor in Ireland to King Charles I. He was Translated to this See in June, 1661. He died at Glashough in September, 1671, where he lies buried.

1671.

Robert Lesley.

Robert Lesley Bishop of Raphoe, was translated to this See the 26th of October, 1671; and died within a year after.

Roger Boyle.

Roger Boyle Bishop of Down and Connor, was Translated to the Bishoprick of Clogher the 20th of September, 1672. He died the 26th of November, 1687, aged 70 years: After which the Revenue of this Diocess was taken into the King's Hands, and the Bishoprick for some time vacant. He wrote several Pieces in Latin, and was an extraordinary Scholar and a good Man. His Memory is still very precious among the People of his Diocess.

1672.
1687.

Richard Tennison.

Richard Tennison Bishop of Killalla, was Translated to Clogher the 26th of February, 1690; and from thence to Meath.

1690.

St. George Ash.

St. George Ash, D. D. born in the County of Roscommon, and educated in Trinity-College, Dublin, where he was chosen Fellow in 1679. During the late Troubles of Ireland, he went Chaplain and Secretary to the Lord Paget, His late Majesty King William's Ambassador at the Emperor's Court in Vienna, where

An. Dom.

1692.

1695.

1697.

he continued till the Reduction of Ireland. September the second, 1692, (in the 34th Year of his Age) he was made Provost of the said College, in the room of Dr. Robert Huntington. March the 17th, 1695, he was nominated Bishop of Cloyne, and Consecrated in July following at Christ-Church, Dublin, by Narcissus Dublin, Anthony Meath, (by whom also he was Ordained Deacon and Priest) and Nathaniel Waterford and Lismore: At the same time also, he was made one of the King's Privy Council in Ireland. He was afterwards translated to the See of Clogher the first of June, 1697.

OF THE
BISHOPS
OF DOWN.

Dunum, or Down, anciently called Aras Cealtair, the Convention-place of the Clergy, (as we have elsewhere observed) takes its name from the Hilly Scituation thereof; for Dunum among the ancient Britains, Gauls, and Saxons, signified a Hill or Steep height: Hence Lugdunum Lions, and Juliodunum Juliers in Gaul; Dunelmum Durham, Camalodunum Maldon, Sorbioldunum Old Sarum, and many other such like in England: The same signification it had also among the Irish; For this See, by C. Camerarius in his Register of Valuations, Entituled, Regist. Censuum Cameralium, is called Dun-da-leglas, which signifies in Irish, An Hill of two half Links. And Joceline, Cap. 28, asserts, that Down had its name from Broken Links. Thus Dun-amaus, Dun-kevan, Dun-gannon, and Dun-garvan in Ireland, are so called from their high Scituation. Many more Examples might be given, but these are sufficient in a matter so well known.

S. Cailan.

The first Bishop of this See is said to be S. Cailan, cotemporary with S. Macnissus Bishop of Connor, but the younger Bishop of the two; who from being Abbot of Nendrum, was advanced to the See of Down, about the end of the fifth Age after Christ.

S. Fergus.

S. Fergus, Son of Engus, one of the Blood Royal of Ireland, as being descended from King Coelbad, who died in 357; was first Abbot (as 'tis said) of Kill-bian, which he Founded, and afterward made Bishop of Down, in the Government of which See he died the 30th of March, 583: At which Year the Ulster Annals have this Note, "The Rest of Fergus Bishop of Dromaethglass, who Founded Kill-bian."

583.

Flaherty.

As for his Successors I have not, I confess, found mention made of any Bishop of Down for many Centuries after, except one called Flaherty, who according to the Annals of the Priory of the Island of All Saints, died in 1043. And it seems probable enough that in almost all that time this See had no particular Bishop, but was comprehended in the Diocese of Connor.

1043.

S. Malachy.

S. Malachy, we have already spoken of among the Arch-Bishops of Armagh, out of his Life written by S. Bernard, it will serve to note here, how that from being Abbot of Banchor, which Convent he had restored, he was at 30 years of Age made Bishop of Connor, and eight years after Arch-Bishop of Armagh, and the third year following, having resigned his Arch-Bishoprick to his Successor Gelasy (says S. Bernard) "He returned to his Parochial Cure, but not that of Connor, and the Cause is worth relating. That Diocese is said anciently to have had two Episcopal Sees, and to have been two Bishopricks, and Malachy thought it best they should be so; wherefore he again divided them which Ambition had united, into two parts; and leaving one part to the Bishop, he retained the other to himself, but went not to Connor, because in that See he had already ordained a Bishop, but retired to Down, assigning the Bounds to each, as anciently they had been: This was in 1137, or as some will have it, in 1136. He died the second of November, 1148, in the Monastery of Clarevall, on his Journey to Rome. See more of him among the Arch-Bishops of Armagh."

1137.

1148.

Malachy II.

Malachy II. or Meliffa mac Juclericuir, succeeded him, who was a Learned Man, and died very old in 1175. He assisted at the Synod held at Kenanuse by Cardinal Paparo, the Pope's Legate in Ireland, in 1152.

1175.

Gelasy.

Gelasy (or Gilladomni, Son of Cormac) was Consecrated the same year, and before the end of it died.

Malachy III.

Malachy III. Succeeded, who in 1177, was taken Prisoner in the Battle where in Roderick Prince of Ulster was overthrown by John Courcy; but at the request of Cardinal Vivian he was set at liberty, and restored to his former Dignity. While he was Bishop, the same John Courcy having subdued Ulster, in the room of the Secular Canons placed Benedictine Monks of the Abby of the Virgin S. Werburg of Chester, in the Cathedral of Down, and made William de Etleshale, one of their own Society, Prior in 1183: And at the same time, by persuasion of the same 1177.

1183.

Courcy,

An. Dom.

Courcy, that Cathedral which was before Consecrated to the Blessed Trinity, was Dedicated to S. Patrick; whereby (says Christopher Pembrige in his Annals) "it was believed that Courcy drew upon himself those many Misfortunes that afterwards attended him. However the place was, doubtless, had in great Veneration for the Sepulchre of S. Patrick; whither afterward the Bones of S. Columbe and S. Bridget were translated. To the Prior and Monks of this Convent Malachy gave great Revenues, reserving to himself the Title of Keeper and Abbot, "as it is in like manner done in the Church of Winchester or Coventry; "reserving also as an Acknowledgement in Honour and Respect of his Bishoprick, "and to its Use, the Moiety of Oblations on those five Feasts in the Year, viz. Christmas-day, Lady-day, S. Patrick's day, Easter-day, and Whit-Sunday. Thus the Charter. He died about the Year 1201.

1201.

Ralph.

Ralph Abbot, first of Kinlosse, afterward in 1194, of Melrosse in Scotland, was at last by means of John de Salerno, Presbiter Cardinal of S. Stephen in Mount-Celio, Legat from Pope Innocent III. advanced to this See in 1202, and sate eleven years.

1202.

Thomas.

One Thomas succeeded, to whom and to his Successors, Hugh de Lacy Earl of Ulster, gave much Revenue in Arte and Oveh, called at this day the Territories of Ardes and Iveagh: He sate in 1237. See more of him in Matthew Paris, in the Life of William XXII. Abbot of St. Albans.

1237.

Randal.

One Randal his Successor, died in 1253: After which the See was for some years vacant.

1253.

Reynold.

Upon the death of Randal, the Monks of the Cathedral of S. Patrick's in Down made choice of Thomas Lidell in 1258, but King Henry III. voided that Election, and advanced Reynold Arch-Deacon of Down; who having sate seven years, was removed to the See of Cloin in 1265. He died in 1273.

1258.

1265.

Thomas Lidell.

Upon the Removal of Reynold, the Monks of Down again Elected Thomas Lidell, who was confirmed by the Pope, and obtained the Royal Assent; and was restored to the Temporals the fifth of November, 1266. He sate about ten years. He gave to St. Paul's Church in London, 40 days Indulgence in 1270.

1266.

1270.

Nicholas.

Upon the death of Lidell, the Monks of Down by the King's permission, made choice of Nicholas Treasurer of Ulster, and Prior, if I mistake not, of the Cathedral of Down, the 20th of February, 1276. He sate about 28 years, and died in 1304.

1276.

1304.

Thomas Kittel.

King Edward I. granted License of Election to the Prior and Convent of S. Pa-

S. Patrick in Down the 28th of March following, who made choice of Thomas Kittel. He was restored to the Temporals the first of July, 1305, and fate eight years. He died in 1313.

An. Dom.

1305.
1313.

Thomas Bright.

The Convent of S. Patrick's in Down having obtained the King's License to Elect, chose Thomas Bright Prior of that Cathedral ; who was consecrated by Roland Arch-Bishop of Armagh, in 1314. He died in 1327, and was buried in his own Church.

1314.
1327.

Ralph de Killmessan.

John de Baliconingham, Rector of Ardwhin, lawfully elected by the Prior and Chapter, and confirmed by the Royal Assent in 1328. After a short Enjoyment of the Bishoprick, was by Pope John XXII, who annulled the Election, preferred to the See of Cork ; and Ralph de Killmessan, a Minorite, by designation of the same Pope was consecrated by Bertran, Cardinal Bishop of Tusculanum : He was restored to the Temporals the first of April, 1329, and fate 24 Years. He died at length in August, 1353. While he fate King Edward III. confirmed to the Church of Down all Possessions belonging to that See, the 24th of August, 1342.

1328.

1329.
1353.

Richard Calf.

Richard Calf, Prior of the Cathedral Church of Down, by Provision of Pope Innocent VI, succeeded about the end of the same Year. He died, and was buried in his own Church the 26th of October, 1365.

1365.

William.

Upon the death of Richard, Robert de Aketon, an Augustin Hermit, who in the Year following was made Bishop of Kildare, was chosen Bishop by the Prior and Monks of Down, the 18th of November, 1365 : But Pope Urban V. voiding that Election, preferred Friar William (of what Order I know not) who fate scarce three years, and died in August, 1368.

1368.

John Logan.

John Logan, Arch-Deacon of Down, by the Pope's permission succeeded ; but died soon after, ere he had well tasted his Bishoprick.

Richard Calf.

Richard Calf, the second of that name, Prior of the Cathedral of Down, succeeded ; and died the 16th of May, 1386, having fate 17 years, and was buried in his own Church.

1386.

John Ross.

John Ross, who was likewise Prior of the same Church, succeeded by the Pope's designation ; and after Homage done, was restored to the Temporals the 14th of March, 1387. He died in 1394.

1387.
1394.

John Dongan.

John Dongan, a Benedictine Monk and Bishop of Derry, was translated to L Down

An. Dom.

1395.
1412.

Down by Pope Boniface IX ; and after Homage performed, was restored to the Temporals the 26th of July, 1395. King Henry IV. made him Seneschal of his Liberties in Ulster in 1401. He died in 1412.

John Cely.

1441.

John Cely, or Sely, a Monk of the same Order, was consecrated in 1413 ; and in 1441 was (for what Crimes I know not) deprived.

Of the Bishops of Connor till the Year 1442 : In which the two Sees of Down and Connor were United.

Ængus Macnisius.

507.

Ængus Macnisius was the first Bishop, and Founder of this Church : He had his Surname from his Mother, which is not usual, and is commonly called S. Macnisa without any other addition ; but his Father was called Fobrec, as appears from the Annals of Tigernac, as well as the old Scholiast, at the third of September in the Ergusian Martyrology. He died a venerable old Man the third of September, 507. or according to some, 514. Of his Successors in the See of Connor we have very slender Remains, till the coming of the English into Ireland. In our Histories there is mention of some, whose names we add.

537.

Lugade Bishop of Connor died in 537.

656.

Dima, or Diman, from his Complexion called Dubh, or Black, the Son of Ængus, descended of the Noble Family of the Dalcassis, and Disciple of S. Colmanell, was promoted to this See ; and died a very old Man, the 16th of January, 656.

725.

Duconna died in 725.

865.

Agedcar, called Abbot of Condere and Lann-ela, died in 865.

Malachy o Morgaire.

1124.

This See was many years without a Bishop ; but at last, in 1124, Malachy o Morgaire was consecrated Bishop thereof by Celsus Arch-Bishop of Armagh, and eight years after he removed to Armagh ; and (as S. Bernard has it) was " Primate and Metropolitan of all Ireland : but fate not long there, for within three years (as we before observed among the Bishops of Down) he resigned to Gelasius, and seated himself at Down.

Patrick o Baman.

1152.

Patrick o Baman was present for certain at the Synod held in 1152, under Cardinal John Paparo, but when he was consecrated I can't find : He died in the Island Jona in 1174. A Man for his great Virtues much celebrated among the Irish Historians.

1174.

Nehemias.

Hoveden in 1172 reckons Nehemias Bishop of Connor among the Suffragan Bishops of Armagh : From hence it seems probable that Patrick, some years before his death resigned the See to enjoy a retired Life in Jona.

Reginald.

1183.

This Reginald was Witness to the Charter of John Courcy Conqueror of Ulster, about the Year 1183.

Christian

Christian o Kerny.

Christian o Kerny, Abbot of the Monastery of S. Columbe in Derry in 1198, was afterward Bishop of Connor. He died in 1210.

An. Dom.

1198.
1210.

Eustachius.

I don't find who was next immediate Successor to Christian; but Eustachius Arch-Deacon of Connor, was elected Bishop, and obtained the Royal Assent in 1225.

1225.

Adam.

Adam Abbot of Wardun in Bedfordshire, in England, by means of King Henry III., was elected Bishop of Connor in 1241, but not consecrated till the end of September, 1242. He never, it seems, came to his See, but residing in England, died soon after, and according to Matthew Paris, the seventh of November, 1244, and was buried in his Abby of Wardun.

1241.
1242.
1244.

Isaac.

Isaac of New-Castle upon Tyne had the Royal Assent the fourth of April following, and sate about 12 years.

William.

William of Port-Royal was consecrated in 1257, and died three years after.

1257.

William de Hay.

The King granted License of Election to the Dean and Chapter of Connor the tenth of August, 1260, who chose William de Hay. He sate but a short time, for he died in 1263.

1260.
1263.

Robert Fleming.

Robert Fleming succeeded in 1264. Having sate ten years, he died in 1274.

1264.
1274.

Peter de Dunath.

Peter de Dunath elected before the end of the same Year, and confirmed by the King, sate almost 18 years, and died in November, 1292.

1292.

John.

One John was consecrated in 1293; but how long he presided I can't find. In the Annals of Pembridge I find that a certain Bishop of Connor in 1315, during the War of Bruce in Ireland, fled to the Castle of Carrigfergus, and was outed of his See: But the Bishop's name is not mentioned, so that I can't tell whether it were this John, or Richard his Successor.

1293.
1315.

Richard.

Richard succeeded, and was Bishop in 1320: But nothing more do I find recorded of him.

1320.

James

An. Dom.

James de Couplith.

1321.

James de Couplith was elected by the Arch-Deacon and Clergy of Connor, and obtained the Royal Assent the 26th of July, 1321. Whether he was consecrated or no I don't find.

John de Egglecliffe.

1322.

1323.

John de Egglecliffe, a Dominican, was consecrated Bishop of Connor in 1322, and translated to Landaff in Wales by Pope John XXII. about Michaelmas, 1323, but was not restored to the Temporals of that See till the 13th of August, Anno Reg. 18 Edward II. An. Dom. 1324; as appears by the Records of the Tower of London. He died, according to D. Godwyn, at Bishton, then called Lancad-wallader, and lies buried at the Dominicans Chappel at Cardiffe.

James o Kerny.

1324.

1351.

James o Kerny, by Provision of Pope John XXII. made Bishop of Enaghduin, was by the same Pope translated to this See, and restored to the Temporals the 22d of December, 1324. He sat 27 years, and died in 1351.

William Mercier.

1353.

1375.

William Mercier, Arch-Deacon of Kildare, consecrated in 1353, or (as some) in 1355. He died in 1375.

Paul.

1376.

One Paul, Rector of the Church of S. Colmanell of Atholrill, elected Bishop of Connor, was restored to the Temporals the tenth of May, 1376. How long he sat is uncertain.

John.

1411.

John was Bishop of this See the twelfth of December, 1411: But I don't find when consecrated or when he died.

Eugene.

1427.

Eugene was present at the Provincial Synod held at Drogheda by John Swayn Arch-Bishop of Armagh, the 13th of October, 1427.

Cornelius.

Cornelius is said to have been his Successor, but I find nothing more recorded of him.

John.

John, by whose means Pope Eugene IV. united the two Sees of Down and Connor, though it was for some time opposed by John Prene Arch-Bishop of Armagh, who by Letters earnestly solicited the Pope to prefer William Bassett, a Benedictine, to the See of Down, then vacant by the deprivation of John Cely. See the following Catalogue of the Bishops of Down and Connor, his Successors to these United Bishopricks.

The Bishops of Down and Connor.

An. Dont.

John.

John Bishop of Connor, by provision of Pope Eugene IV. succeeded, and from the said Eugene obtain'd a real Union of the Two Bishopricks of Down and Connor the Year following; which Union Henry VI, King of England, by his Lettes Patents approved, as appears in the Records of the Tower of London, in the 16th Year of his Reign: Yet he had a great Contention afterward with one Thomas Pollard, about the Right to the See of Down, each of them exercising the Episcopal Function as Bishop; but Pollard was at last overthrown in 1449. John Died in the beginning of the Year 1451.

The Sees of Down and Connor United.

1449.

Robert Rochford.

Robert Rochford, als de Rupe forti, of the Order of Predicants, Professor of Divinity, was Elected Bishop the same Year, and by Letters from John Mey Arch-Bishop of Armagh, was earnestly recommended to Pope Nicholas V.

1451.

Thomas.

Thomas was Consecrated Bishop of Down and Connor, by John Mey Arch-Bishop of Armagh, and was Confirm'd on the last day of May, 1456. He Died about the Year 1468. It appears in the Register of the Church of Armagh, that a certain Prior of the Monastery of Saint Catherines in Waterford, was about this time by the Popes provision made Bishop of Down and Connor, from which I Conjecture, that this Thomas and that Prior were one and the same Person.

1456.
1468.

Thady.

Thady, Provided by Pope Paul II. was Consecrated at Rome, in the Church of St. Mary, supra minervam, Septem. 10, 1469. Returning Home he made profession of Obedience to John Bole, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, in the Mannor of Termonfeichan, November the 29th, 1470, and Died in 1486.

1469.
1486.

Tiberius.

Tiberius succeeded, who much adorn'd his Cathedral of Down. This See was vacant June the 19th, 1526, perhaps by his Death.

1526.

Eugene Magenis.

Eugene Magenis provided by Pope Paul III. after Homage and Fealty Sworn to King Henry VIII, was restored to the Temporalities the 24th of October, 1541. While he was Bishop, the Priory of St. Patrick in Down was suppress'd, and the Monks cast out. He was present in the Parliament begun in Dublin, January the 12th, 1559, the 2d Year of Queen Elizabeth.

1541.
1559.

John Merriman.

John Merriman, an English-Man, Chaplain to Queen Elizabeth, was Consecrated in St. Patrick's, Dublin, the 19th of January, 1568, (or computing the beginning of the Year from the Kalends of January) in 1569, by Thomas 1568.

M

Lancaster

An. Dom.

1572.

Lancaster Arch Bishop of Armagh, Brady Bishop of Meath, Dale Bishop of Kildare, and Gafry Bishop of Ossory, He died in 1572.

Hugh Allen.

1573.

Hugh Allen, Consecrated in 1573, was translated to the See of Fernes, the 24th of May, 1582, after which the See was vacant 9 Years.

Edward Edgeworth.

1593.

1595.

Edward Edgeworth, an English Man, Professor of Divinity in Cambrige, Prebend of Tiperkevin, in the Diocese of Dublin, was Consecrated in 1593. He died in Dublin in 1595, and was there buried in St. Michan's Church, of which he was also Prebend.

John Charden.

1596.

1601.

John Charden, Doctor of Divinity, was Consecrated in St. Patrick's, Dublin, in May, 1596, by Henry Armagh, Thomas Meath, and Richard Leghlin. He died in 1601.

Robert Humpston.

1602.

Robert Humpston, Master of Arts, was Consecrated in 1602, and died four Years after at Kilrout, near Knockfergus.

John Tod.

1611.

John Tod, Doctor of Divinity, Dean of Cassel, sometime a Jesuit, succeeded, and in 1611, being brought to tryal for certain Mildemeanours, resign'd, and not long after died at London in Prison, poison'd by his own hand.

James Dundas.

1612.

James Dundas, Professor of Divinity, and a Chantor in Scotland, was consecrated about the end of July, 1612. and soon after died at Newton in the County of Down.

Robert Echlin.

1613.

Robert Echlin, born in Scotland, succeeded in 1613, and died the 17th of July, 1635, at Arguin in the County of Down.

Henry Lesly.

1635.

1660.

Henry Lesly, a Scotch Man, Doctor of Divinity, and Dean of Down, Chaplain to King Charles I. was consecrated at Droghedagh, in St. Peter's Church, the 4th of October, 1635, and remov'd to the See of Meath the 18th January, 1660.

Jeremy Taylor.

Jeremy Taylor Doctor of Divinity, was born at Cambridge the 8th of August, 1613; and the 13th Year of his age admitted of Cains and Gonvill College, and chosen Fellow there as soon as he was Graduate: Presently after he had commenced Master of Arts he went to London, and was made publick Lecturer of St. Pauls, and by his learned Sermons became known to William Laud Arch Bishop of Canterbury, by whose means he was sent to Oxford, and chosen Fellow of All Souls College; he was Chaplain first to the Arch Bishop, and and afterwards to King Charles I. to whom in the worst of Times he constantly adhered, and suffered much by the times in England and Ireland, after the horrid Paricide of that noble Monarch; but upon the Restoration of King Charles II. he was by him preferred to the Bishoprick of Down and Connor, and consecrated in Dublin the 27th of January, 1660, being not long before made one of the Privy Council; and the following Year, by the King's Grant of the 21st of June, he likewise had the Administration of the Bishoprick of Dromore. He was a most Learned Eloquent Man, of sharp Wit and profound Judgment, a wonderful Preacher, and so very charitable that, saving to his three Daughters their moderate Portions, he distributed all the rest of his substance to the Poor. He fell sick of a Fever at Lisburn the 3d, and died the 13th of August, 1667, and the 21st of the same Month, was buried in the Quire of the Cathedral of Dromore, which Church he had rebuilt at his own proper charge; His Funeral Obsequies were celebrated with great Solemnity the 3d of September following, in the University of Dublin, whereof he had been Vice-Chancellor from the Year 1660, till the time of his death.

1667.

Roger Boyle.

Roger Boyle, Fellow of Trinity College near Dublin, and younger Brother to Richard Boyle Bishop of Laghlín and Fernes, he continued in his Fellowship till the barbarous Massacre in 1641, and then went for England, where he was Tutor to the Lord Pawlet and took care of him in his Travels abroad, during the civil Wars in England, and after his return, was in the same Family till the Restoration, after which he was made Dean of Cork, and continued in that Capacity about 5 Years, and then was made Bishop of Down and Connor, and two Years after was translated to Clogher.

Thomas Hacket.

Thomas Hacket, Doctor of Divinity, design'd by the King's Letters Patents Bishop of Down and Connor, was consecrated in September, 1672, in the Church of the Blessed Trinity in Dublin, by the most Reverend Father in God James Armagh, assisted by Michael Dublin, Henry Meath, Ambrose Cork, and Daniel Killybeg. He was deprived for some Misdemeanors.

1672.

Samuel Foley.

Samuel Foley, Son to Captain Foley, was born at Clonmel, in the County Palatine of Tipperary, the 25th of November, 1655, admitted a Fellow Commoner in Trinity College, Dublin, the 8th of June, 1672, and elected a Fellow the 11th of June, 1677, and commenced Doctor of Divinity, 1691. He was consecrated Bishop of Down and Connor in Christ Church, Dublin, the 2d of September, 1694, by John Tuam, Anthony Meath, and William Derry. He died the 22d of May, 1695.

1694.
1695.

Edward Walkington.

Edward Walkington Doctor of Divinity, and sometime Senior Fellow of Trinity College, Dublin, was first promoted to the Arch-Deaconry of Offory, and was Chaplain to the Honourable the House of Commons, in the first Parliament held at Dublin, in the Reign of King William and Queen Mary. He was consecrated in Christ Church, Dublin, 1695, and died in January, 1698.

1698.

Edward Smyth.

Edward Smyth, Doctor of Divinity, Born at Lisburn in the County of Antrim; was Educated in the College of Dublin, and chosen Fellow of the said College.

An. Dom.

1699.

College. He removed into England in the Troubles of 1689, and was there Recommended to the Levant Company : He was by them sent Abroad, and served as Chaplain to their Factories at Constantinople and Smyrna, for Four Years. He returned to England in the Year 1693, and was made Chaplain to His late Majesty of Glorious Memory, King William III. He Attended His Majesties Person for Four Years in His Wars in Flanders, and was made Dean of St. Patrick's, Dublin, in the Year 1695. He was Promoted to the United Bishopricks of Down and Connor in the Year 1699, and in the Thirty Fourth Year of his Age. He was soon after made a Privy Counsellor, and does at present enjoy the said Bishopricks.

O F T H E
B I S H O P S
O F
D E R R Y .

St. Eugene.

545.

618.

1158.

OF the Monastery of Derry, built at Derry by St. Columbe, Abbot thereof, in 545. We have elsewhere spoken. But the Cathedral Church was a work of a much later Date. For the Bishop of that Diocese had his See first fixed at Ardfrath, on the River or Lough Derg; where St. Eugene (whom some say was a Disciple of St. Patrick's, and by him Consecrated,) presided as first Bishop. But others make him Cotemporary with St. Canic, and St. Congal. The times indeed have but little Coherence, unless we assign to St. Eugene, an excessive term among the long lived Macrobis of that Age; He was a great and industrious Preacher, Born of the Blood Royal of Leinster: Died (as 'tis said) the 23d of August, 618, and lies Buried in his own Church-Yard, over whose Sepulchre was afterwards Built a Chappel. Immediately the See was Translated to Maghera, which is Dedicated to St. Luroch, whose Feast Day is Celebrated the 17th of February: And therefore I suppose the Bishops of this See were called Rathlurienses. But the See of Derry being Establishd, of which we shall speak hereafter, this See of Rathlure was thereunto annexed. Now concerning the first Seating the Cathedral at Derry, our Histories say, that in 1158, by a Decree of the Synod held at Brith-thaig, where Christian Bishop of Lismore, the Popes Legate, and Twenty Five other Bishops were present, the Episcopal See was settled there, and Flathbert ó Brolcan Abbot of Derry, a Learned and Liberal Man, was preferred to it. He, in 1164, with the Assistance of Maurice mac Laughlin King of Ireland, Founded the Cathedral Church there. Yet it is not to be denied, that before Flathbert, some of his Predecessors Abbots of Derry were also called Bishops, among whom were Coencomrach who died in 927, Finacla who Died in 937, and Melfuin who Died in 948; Flathbert Died in 1175, and was buried at Derry, in the Sanctuary of St. Columbe, having some Years before his Death Resign'd; contenting himself with the Government of the Abby. He was before Elected Abbot of Hy, but would not accept of the Election. Gelasý ó Branan succeeded him in the Abby:

An. Dom.

927.

937.

948.

1175.

Maurice ó Coffy.

Maurice, by our Irish, called Muredach ó Coffy, succeeded, a Cannon of the Order of St. Augustin, first made Bishop of Kinel Eogain, or Tir-Oep, a Man greatly esteemed for his Learning, Humility, and Charity. He was present at the Synod held under Cardinal John Paparo, Legate of Pope Eugene III. in 1152. In the Catalogue of Bishops then Assembled, he is called Muiridheach ó Cobthaig, Bishop of Keanla-Eogain. He Lived till the Year 1173 or 1174, and Died the 10th of February, and was Buried in Derry in the Abby of St. Columbe. Hoveden in the Year 1172: In his Enumeration of the Suffragan Bishops of Armagh, calls him Charensis, for Darensis.

1152.

1173.

Amlabe ó Coffy.

Amlabe ó Coffy in the Annals of Conaught, called Bishop of Keanla-Eogain, Died at Duncruini in 1185, whence his Body was brought to Derry, and there Buried in the Abby of St. Columbe, at the Feet of Maurice ó Coffy his Predecessor, next the Wall.

1185.

Florence ó Cherballen.

Florence, by the Irish called Fogertach ó Cherballen, Died in 1230, and in the 86th Year of his Age, and of his Consecration the 46th Year.

1230.

Friar German.

Friar German, or Gervase ó Cherballen, by Force took a great deal from David ó Brogan Bishop of Clogher, and added it to his See, particularly the Church of Ardfrath, with many other Churches of Ofeachra. It is said likewise, that he took some part of the Diocess of Rapho from Carbrac ó Scoba Bishop of Rapho, and added it to his See. While he Sate, namely in 1274, the Monastery of Dominicans at Derry was Built. He Died in 1279.

1279.

Florence ó Cherballen.

Florence ó Cherballen, the Third of that Surname, succeeded, and sate about 14 Years. He Died in July, 1293.

1293.

Henry mac Dreghty.

Henry mac Dreghty a Cistercian, commonly called Henry of Ardagh, from the place of his Birth in the County of Longford, succeeded by due Election of the Dean and Chapter, and obtained the Royal Assent the 3d of March 1294, but sate not long, for he Died in 1297.

1294.

1297.

An. Dom.

Geofrey.

1315.

Geofrey or Godfry, sate about 17 Years, and Died in 1315.Odo o Neal.

1316.

Odo o Neal, a Secular Priest, of the Diocess of Derry, was Elected in 1316, and Died in June 1319, having sate scarce 3 Years; and the 19th of August following the Dean and Chapter had Licence from the King to Elect a Successor.Michael mac Laghlin.

1319.

Michael Mac Laghlin Elected in August 1319, was Confirmed by Dennis Dean of Armagh, in the beginning of October following. Rowland Arch-Bishop of Armagh being then beyond Sea. He sate in 1324, but how long after I don't find.

1324.

Simon.

1367.

One Simon, a Frier (of what Order I know not) Sate in 1367 and 1369, but when Consecrated, or when he Died, I can't determine.John Dongan.

1395.

John Dongan a Benedictine Monk, was Translated from this See to Down in 1395, after which the See was vacant Two Years.John.

1401.

John, Abbot of Moycascain, or of Clarewell, was made Bishop of Derry, by Provision of Pope Boniface IX. the 19th of August, 1401.William Quaplod.William Quaplod*, an English Carmelite, bred at Oxford, the Mecenas of Bertran Fitz-Allen, a Carmelite likewise, and a Learned Man as appears in Leland de Scrip-tor. Brit. which I the rather note to shew the Error of Bale, who calls him Bishop of Kildare, one of the Suffragans of the Arch-Bishop of Dublin.Donald.

1423.

Donald, by some called Donagh, Sate in the Year 1423, and Ten Years after Died.John.

1456.

John succeeded Donald, who Died in 1456.Bartholomew o Flanagan.

1458.

Bartholomew o Flanagan, a Cistercian Monk, was made Bishop of Derry by Provision of Pope Calistus III. the 27th of May, 1458. He sate scarce 5 Years. The See was vacant the 14th of April, 1463, and for 3 Years after.

Nicholas

Nicholas Weston.

Nicholas Weston, Batchelor of the Decrees, and a Canon of the Church of Armagh, was consecrated in the Year 1466. He was present at the Provincial Synod held in St. Peter's at Drogheda, in July, 1480, and died in 1484.

1466.

1484.

Donald o Fallon.

Donald o Fallon, a Minorite of the Observant Order, provided by Pope Innocent VIII. the 17th of May, 1485, sat 15 Years, and died in 1500. A Man very famous in his time, for his Learning and constant Preaching throughout Ireland, for the space of 30 Years.

1485.

1500.

James Mac Mahon.

James Mac Mahon, consecrated in 1507, died in 1517, a little before Christmas. He was Prior in Commendam of the Monastery of St. Peter and St. Paul of Knockfergus, in the County of Louth.

1507.

1517.

Roderick o Donell.

Roderick, (or Rourke) o Donell, sometime Dean of Rapho, was Bishop the 9th of September, 1529, and died the 24th of September, 1551. He was buried in the Habit of a Minorite at Donnegall, in a Monastery of the same Order.

1529.

1551.

Eugene Mageniz.

Eugene Mageniz, succeeded him, but when consecrated or when he died, I find no account.

George Montgomery.

One Dennis Cambell, a Scotch Man, Dean of Limerick, designed Bishop of Derry, Rapho and Cloghor, died at London in July, 1603, before Consecration, and therefore is not reckon'd among the Bishops. But the 13th of June, 1605, George Montgomery, Doctor of Divinity, a Scotch Man likewise, was by King James I. promoted from the Deanry of Norwich, to the Bishopricks of Derry, Rapho and Cloghor, and in 1610, quitted the two former. He took upon him the Administration of Meath: among whose Bishops and those of Cloghor, see more of him.

1603.

1605.

1610.

Brute Babington.

Brute Babington, Doctor of Divinity, a Native of Cheshire, sometime Fellow of Christ College, Cambridge, was consecrated at Drogheda in 1610, and died the next year.

1611.

John Tanner.

John Tanner, a Native of Cornwall, Educated in Cambridge, was by the Intercession of Arthur Lord Chichester, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, first design'd by King James I. Bishop of Dromore, in 1611, and afterwards in May, 1613, consecrated Bishop of Derry in St. Patrick's, Dublin. He died the 4th of October, 1615, at Derry, which place is called London-Derry from a Colony there lately planted from London, and was buried in his own Cathedral.

1613.

1615.

An. Dom.

George Downham.

1616.

George Downham, Doctor of Divinity, Son of William Downham, once Bishop of Chester in England, was Educated in Christ's College, Cambridge, a Learned Man, and Chaplain to King James I., was consecrated the 6th of October, 1616, and died at London-Derry the 17th of April, 1634, and is there buried in the Cathedral.

John Bramhall.

1634.

John Bramhall, Doctor of Divinity of Cambridge, was consecrated Bishop of Derry, in the Chappel of the Castle of Dublin, the 26th of May, 1634, and translated to Armagh, the 18th of January, 1660.

George Wild.

1660.

George Wild, LL. D. of Oxford, was consecrated in St. Patrick's, Dublin, the 27th of January, 1660, according to the Computation of the Church of England, by John Arch-Bishop of Armagh, John Rapho, Griffin Offory and Robert Kilmore. He died at Dublin in about the latter end of 1665.

Robert Mossam.

1666.

Robert Mossam, Doctor of Divinity, Dean of Christ-Church, Dublin, was appointed Bishop of Derry the 26th of March, 1666, and consecrated by James Armagh, assisted by Michael Dublin, Thomas Kildare, and Thomas Killalla, and Achonry, the 1st of April, 1666.

Michael Ward.

1679.

Michael Ward, Bishop of Offory, was translated to this See the 22d of January, 1679.

Ezekiel Hopkins.

1681.

Ezekiel Hopkins, Doctor of Divinity and Bishop of Rapho was translated to this See the 11th of November, 1681. He remov'd with his Family into England, in the troubles of 1689, and took upon him the Cure of the Parish of St. Laurence Jury, in London, where he died the 19th of June, 1690, and lies buried in the said Church.

William King.

1690.

William King, Doctor of Divinity of Trinity College, Dublin, and Dean of St. Patrick's, was advanc'd to this See in 1690, and from thence translated to Dublin.

Charles Hickman.

1702.

Charles Hickman, Doctor of Divinity, was born at Barnaete in Warwickshire, Student of Christ-Church in Oxford, Chaplain in Ordinary to Her Majesty, and Domestick to the Earl of Rocheſter, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, Chaplain to the English Ambassador and Façtory at Constantinople, sometime Preacher at St. James's, Westminster, was made Bishop of Derry by Letters Patents, dated the 19th of March, 1702, and consecrated at Dunboyn, the 11th of June, 1703, by Narcissus Lord Arch-Bishop of Armagh, assisted by Edward Lord Bishop of Kilmore, John Lord Bishop of Offory, and Thomas Lord Bishop of Killaloe.

OF THE BISHOPS OF RAPHO.

St. Eunan.

WHEN the Episcopal See of Rapho, or (as anciently) Rathboe, was founded cannot easily be determined. St. Columbekill founded a Monastery there. He was a Man of Royal Parentage, and born to Virtue and Learning; his first Name was Crimthan, but he was afterward called Columbe for his Innocency, according to Adamnanus, who wrote his Life; or for his pure simplicity, as the ancient Scholiast of the Angusians Martyrology has it, perhaps alluding to that precept of our Saviour, Matth. 10. 16. Be ye wise as Serpents, and simple as Doves. This Fabrick was afterwards restored by Adamnanus, the famous Abbot of Hy, whom Venerable Bede in his Ecclesiastical History of England, l. i. c. 16. mentions with great Honour, calling him, A good Man, a wise Man, and profoundly skilled in the knowledge of the Scriptures. The Church of that Monastery was erected into a Cathedral by St. Eunan, who is thought to have been the first Bishop of this See; but in what time he lived I can by no means find. His bed was not long since to be seen at Rapho. There was also a round Tower on the top of a Hill, wherein the Bishops of Rapho anciently had a Library. Of his Successors there is little memory remaining, till the coming of the English into Ireland, in the Reign of King Henry II. only in our Histories I have met with the names of these two.

An. Dom.

—Maldwin Son of Kinfailade.

Anguse δ Lapain died in 957.

957.

Gilbert o Caran.

Gilbert, or Gilcomge δ Caran, was Bishop of this See in 1172, in which Year Roger Hoveden, in the last part of his Annals, reckons him among the Suffragan Bishops of Armagh. In a Charter of Confirmations of the Possessions of the Abby of Newry, or the Green Wood, by Maurice Mac Loghlin King of Ireland, about the Year 1160, he was among others a subscribing Witness, and is called Bishop of Tirconall, from the Country wherein the Church of Rapho is situated; afterward, in 1175, he was translated to the Archiepiscopal See of Armagh.

1172.

1175.

As to his immediate Successor, I can't determine any thing. It appears that a certain Bishop of Rapho, whose name is not mentioned, resigned in 1198, and that another was elected, concerning which there is extant among the Decretals 1198.

An. Dom.

of Pope Innocent III. an Epistle of the same Pope to the Arch-Bishop of Armagh, dated the 18th of May, wherein that Resignation is disapprov'd, unless he who resign'd, reassuming again his Pastoral Function, should freely resign it into the hands of the Arch-Bishop and the Clergy of the same Church, bring the new Bishop to Election, according to the Canons.

Maelissa o Dorigh.

1203.

Maelissa o Dorigh was Bishop of Rapho in 1203.

Patrick o Scanlain.

1261.

Patrick o Scanlain, of the Order of Predicants, was Bishop of Rapho, and by the Dean and Chapter afterwards elected Arch-Bishop of Armagh, which Election was confirm'd by the Pope's Bull, dated the 5th of November, 1261. See more of him in the Primacy of Armagh.

John de Alneto.

1265.

John de Alneto, a Minorite, succeeded by Provision of Pope Urban IV. He resign'd the 28th of April, 1265, being sickly, and therefore unable to bear that Charge.

Carbrac o Scoba.

1266.

Carbrac o Scoba, of the Order of Predicants, was consecrated at Armagh in 1266, and died at Rome in 1275, whither he was sent and imployed in affairs of the Church. In his time, by the power of German o Cherballen, Bishop of Derry, and his Country of Kinel-Eogain, some part of the Diocess of Rapho was taken away, and added to the Diocess of Derry, as we find in the Registry of Cloghor.

Florence o Ferral.

1299.

Florence, or Fergal o Ferral, died in 1299. He was very eminent for his Charity, Hospitality, and other good Virtues.

Thomas o Nathain.

1306.

Thomas o Nathain, or o Naan, Arch Deacon of Rapho, succeeded, who died in 1306.

Henry Mac-an-Crossain.

1319.

His Successor, Henry Mac-an-Crossain, died in 1319.

Thomas o Donnel.

1319.

Thomas o Donnel, Son of Coumac, Abbot of Ashroe, succeeded. He was consecrated in 1319, and sate 18 Years. He died in 1337; a Man for his Prudence, Liberality, and other Virtues, very famous.

Patrick Magonail.

1360.

Patrick Magonail, or Mac-Moengal, was Bishop of Rapho in 1360; but when consecrated is uncertain. He built a Bishops Palace at three several Manors belonging to that See, and died in 1366.

Richard Mac Crossan.

Richard Mac Crossan is said to have succeeded, but how long he sate is not known.

John.

One John, a Cistercian Monk, according to Gaspar Jongeline, was made Bishop of Rapho by Provision of Pope Boniface IX. the 21st of February, 1397. If any such was Bishop of this Diocess, he must needs have sate a short time, for Cornelius, who follows, enjoy'd the Place the 13th of October, 1397.

1397.

Cornelius Mac Carmic.

Cornelius Mac Carmic died in 1399.

1399.

Anthony.

One Anthony died, it seems, about the Year 1413.

1413.

Robert Mubire.

In the 5th Tome of the Annals of Luke Wadding, I find, that Robert Mubire, a Minorite, succeeded to the Bishoprick of Rapho, upon the death of Anthony, the 19th of May, 1414; but I doubt whether ever he saw his Bishoprick.

1414.

John Mac Carmic.

John Mac Carmic did Obedience to the Arch-Bishop of Armagh, in the Chappel of the Manor of Dromiskin, the 2d of May, 1415, old Stile, and died in 1419.

1415.

Laurence o Galchor.

Laurence, or Loghlin o Galchor, Dean of Rapho, was declared Bishop of this See by Pope Martin V. the 27th of February, 1420, or 1419, according to the English Computation, and died in 1438; after whom the See was vacant above four Years.

1420.

John Mac Gilbride.

John Mac Gilbride seems to have been next immediate Successor to Laurence. How long he sate is uncertain.

Laurence o Galchor.

Laurence, or Loghlin o Galchor, second of that name, died in 1477. He was accused of Incontinency before John Bole Arch-Bishop of Armagh, in 1469, but after Pennance done, was absolved, as appears in Bole's Register.

1477.

Menelaus Mac Carmacan.

Menelaus, or Menma Mac Carmacan, Dean of Rapho, was declared Bishop, and made Profession of Obedience to Ottavian de Palatio, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, the 16th of July, 1484. He died in the Habit of a Franciscan, the 25th of April, 1515, and at his own request, was buried at Donagall, in a Monastery of that Order.

1484.

Cornelius

An. Dom.

1550.

Cornelius o Caban.

Cornelius & Caban succeeded, who Sate till 1550, but how long after I can't tell.

Donagh Magonail.

1589.

Donagh Magonail, or Mac Congail, succeeded, and was present at the Council of Trent in 1563. He Died at Calebeg in 1589.

George Montgomery.

George Montgomery, Doctor of Divinity, of whom we have spoken at large among the Bishops of Meath, and need not here repeat it.

Andrew Knox.

1611.

Andrew Knox, a Scotch-Man, Bishop of Orkney, by Reliquation of his Predecessor was Translated to this See the 26th of June, 1611, and was afterwards made one of the Kings Privy Council in Ireland. He Died the 17th of March, 1632, English Computation, 22 Years after his Translation.

John Lesly.

1633.

John Lesly, Eldest Son of George Lesly of Crichy, Born there Anno 1571, in the North of Scotland beyond Aberdeen, was Bred in that College; where having past his Course, he went into France, and thence Travelled thro' Spain and Italy, in which Kingdoms he remained about 22 Years, and during that time was at the famous Siege of Rochel, and the Expedition of the Isle of Rhee with the Duke of Buckingham. At his return home was made Doctor in Divinity and of the Laws at Oxford, and Bishop of the Isles in Scotland; but cou'd not at first speak one word of the Languages of these Three Kingdoms, tho' he was a great Master of all the other Modern and Antient Tongues, particularly the Latin, which he understood in so great perfection, that he always used to Pen the First Draughts of his Sermons in Latin, which he was to Deliver in English. He was Translated to the Bishoprick of Rapho the First of June 1633, and just before the Rebellion of 41 broke out. Whilst he was yet Unwarried he Built the Castle of Rapho, the fairest and withal, the strongest of any of that sort in this Kingdom, at his own proper Charge, for Himself and his Successors. He also Raised a full Company of Foot, which did many considerable Services against the Rebels, and duly paid them, Officers and Soldiers, all along, till the Execrable Murder of King C. I. A notable Deliverance then happened in his Family of a Youth sent to him for help, who was Infested with Evil Spirits, (commonly called Faries,) and often carried away in the Air over Tops of Houses, who was recovered and brought home by Gods merciful Return to the Prayers put up for him; the whole Story was so full of strange Passages before so many Witnesses, some whereof are yet living, that King C. I. commanded (my Father, says the his Son) the Bishop to send him the whole Account in Writing, which he did; but it was lost when Papers of greatest Concernment and privatest Correspondence could not escape. The Boy was at length Recovered, so as to be no more molested; and Bound Apprentice to a Haberdasher, and I believe still alive. Our Bishop was hence Translated to Clogher in June, 1661, where he Died, Aged an Hundred Years, having been at once Bishop and Privy Councillor in Scotland and Ireland.

1661.

Robert Lesly.

Robert Lesly Doctor in Divinity, a Native of Dublin, Son of Henry Lesly late Bishop of Meath, was Consecrated in the Church of St. Patrick's, Dublin, the 27th of January, 1660. Translated to Rapho in June, 1661, and hence to Clogher.

An. Dom.

1660.

1661.

Ezekiel Hopkins.

Ezekiel Hopkins, a Devonshire Man, Born in Parish, near the City of Exeter; was Bred in Magdalen College, in the University of Oxford. By means of Sir Thomas Vinor he was first made Lecturer in the Parish of Hackney; and after several Years was preferr'd to the Parish of St. Mary Woollmouth in Lombard-street, London; where by reason of the Plague, he continued but a short time; and retiring to his Native Country, was preferr'd by Doctor Ward, then Bishop of Exeter, to the Parish of St. Mary Arches in that City. He came over Chaplain to John Lord Roberts Earl of Radnor, and Lord Lieutenant of Ireland in 1669. He Commenced Doctor of Divinity in the University of Dublin, and was first made Dean of Rapho, and in October, 1671, obtained the Bishoprick of that See, John Lord Barkley being then Lord Lieutenant, which he held about Ten Years, till he was Translated to the See of Derry.

1669.

1671.

William Smith.

William Smith Bishop of Kilalla, was Translated to this See the 17th of February, 1681, and from thence to Kilmore the 5th of April, 1693.

1681.

1693.

Alexander Cairncastle.

Alexander Cairncastle Doctor of Divinity, Arch-Bishop of Glasco in Scotland, was Translated to Rapho the 16th of May, 1693.

Robert Huntington.

Robert Huntington Doctor in Divinity of Oxford, and sometime Provost of Trinity-College, Dublin, was promoted to this See the 4th of July, 1701, and Died soon after.

1701.

John Pooley.

John Pooley Bishop of Cloyne, was Translated to this See the 12th of September, 1702.

1702.

1702.

OF THE BISHOPS OF KILLMORE.

An. Dom.

1454.

THe Bishops of this Diocess were sometime called Bresinientes, from Bresinny a Country so called, and sometimes Triburnenses, from a certain obscure little Village called Triburna, where they had their Residence. At length in the Year 1454, Andrew mac Brady Bishop of Triburna, by Assent of Pope Nicholas V. erected the Parish Church of St. Feidlimid, or Felimy, at Killmore into a Cathedral, and placed therein 13 Canons; which Election was next Year confirmed by Pope Calistus III. About this time (if I mistake not) was Constituted the Deanry of Killmore. As to what concerns St. Feidlimid, he lived in the 6th Century, and was Brother of St. Diarnistius Abbot of Iniscloghra. He Died the 9th of August, and is the same (as I take it) whom the Register of Clogher calls Bishop of Chianoise, seated on long Ern, commonly called Cluines; and says he lies there Interr'd with St. Tigernac, who was first Bishop of that See; but I leave this to others. Now since this new Foundation, the said Andrew and his Successors are Stiled Killmore, and no longer of Bresinny or Triburna, as formerly. And indeed the Bishoprick of Bresinny or Triburna, seems to have been of no antient Date, for by C. Cameractus his Lens Cameral. who was afterwards Pope Honorius III. there is no mention of it in the Decision of Bishopricks made at the Synod held under Cardinal John Paparo in March 1152.

1152.

Florence Canacty.

1232.

The First Bishop of this See that we meet with, is Florence, or Flan ô Canacty, called Bishop of Bresinny. He Died in 1231.

Conoglac mac Eneol.

1250.

Conoglac, or Congall mac Eneol, Sate almost 19 Years, and about the beginning of the Year 1250 Resigned; after which the King granted liberty of Election to the Chapter of Triburna the 27th of May following.

Simon o Ruirk.

1251.
1286.

Simon ô Ruirk Elected Bishop of Triburna, obtained the Royal Assent the 20th of June, 1251, and Died in 1286, having Sate 35 Years.

Maurice.

Maurice.

Maurice, Abbot of the Convent of Canons of our Blessed Lady of Kelles in Meath, succeeded. He Sate 21 Years, and Died in 1307.

1307.

Matthew mac Duibne.

Matthew mac Duibne Son of Tigernac, a Man of Great Esteem in his Country, succeeded, and sate almost Seven Years. He Died in 1314.

1314.

Patrick.

Patrick succeeded, who sate in 1319, but how long after I can't tell.

1319.

Cornelius mac Conoma.

Cornelius mac Conoma, in the Ulster Annals called Bishop of Brefinny, Died in 1355.

1355.

Richard o Rely.

Richard o Rely succeeded, called also Bishop of Brefinny, who Died in 1370. His Sensualities are marked with a Black Character in the Register of Miles Sweetman Arch-Bishop of Armagh.

1370.

Thomas Rushock.

Thomas Rushock, an English-man, Doctor of Divinity, of the Order of Predicants, and Confessor to King Richard II. was Consecrated Bishop of Landaff in Wales the 3d of May, 1383, and Translated to Chichester in England in October, 1385. Three Years after he was Banished the Court by the Barons, as a Fomentor of Sedition; and his Goods by Authority of Parliament were Confiscated. But in the Year following, namely 1389, he was Translated by Pope Urban VI. to the See of Triburna, but he Died not long after in England, 'tis thought of Grief.

1383.

1385.

1389.

John o Rely.

John o Rely, Son of Geoffry his Successor in the See of Triburna, Died in 1393.

1393.

Roderick Brady.

Roderick Brady was appointed his Successor by Pope Boniface IX. in 1396.

1396.

Nicholas Brady.

Nicholas Brady succeeded, and Died in 1421, a Man Eminent for his Charity to the Poor.

1421.

Donagh.

One Donagh succeeded, who sate till 1442.

1442.

An. Dom.

Andrew mac Brady.

1456.

Andrew mac Brady, Arch-Deacon of Triburna, succeeded. He (as we before noted) by the consent of Pope Nicholas V. in 1454, Erected the Parish Church of St. Feidlimid, or Felimy, at Kilmore, into a Cathedral and placed into it 13 Secular Canons; which Erection Pope Calistus III. the Year following confirmed; from whence he and his Successors are now no longer Bishops of Triburna or Bresnyny, as formerly, but Bishops of Kilmore. He Died in 1456.

Thady.

1460.

This Thady was present at the Provincial Synod held in the Church of St. Peter's, Drogheda, under John Bole, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, in June, 1460.

Fursey mac Duibne.

1464.

Fursey mac Duibne succeeded, who sat but a short time, and Died the 26th of December, 1464.

John.

1470.

John Succeeded, who lived the 16th of May, 1470, but how long after I can't tell.

Thomas Brady.

1489.

Thomas Brady, otherwise called the Son of Andrew, succeeded, and was present at the Provincial Synod held in St. Mary's of Atherdee in Louth, the 6th of July, 1489, where he had a great Controversie with one Cormac, for the See of Kilmore, each of them pretending a Right to it; but the matter was at last by joint consent refer'd to the Bishops of Meath, Clogher, and Ardach: What they concluded at that time I don't find, but it appears in the Register of Ottavian de Palatio, then Arch-Bishop of Armagh, that both of them (as well Thomas as Cormac) were for Six Years after called Bishops of Kilmore, and were present (which is strange) at the Provincial Synod then held at Drogheda. Thomas Died in 1511.

1511.

Dermot.

1529.

Dermot, a Learned Man, succeeded him. He sat in the tumultuous and unsettled Times of Ulster: And being a Man of a Quiet Temper, retired to Swords in the County of Dublin, where he long performed the Office of a Vicar, and Died in 1529.

Edmund Nugent.

1540.

Edmund Nugent, (I know not whether the next Successor) was Prior of the Monastery of St. Mary of Tristernagh, and held the Priory in Commendum, till the Dissolution of Monasteries, and then succeeded by Deed of King Henry VIII. after which the King allowed him a Yearly Pension of Twenty Six Pound Thirteen Shillings and Four Pence, out of the Priory Lands during Life, the 26th of March, 1540. He Died in the Reign of Queen Mary.

John Brady.

John Brady succeeded.

John

John Garvey.

John Garvey, Dean of Christ-Church, was by Queen Elizabeth design'd Bishop of Kilmore and Dean of Christ-Church, consecrated in 1585. He was hence translated to Armagh the 10th of May, 1519, after which the See was vacant above 14 Years, by means of the troublesome times.

An. Dom.

1585.
1519.

Robert Draper.

Robert Draper, Rector of the Church of Trim, by Grant of King James I. was made Bishop of this and the See of Ardagh, the 1st of March, 1603. He died in August, 1612, in the 8th Year of his Consecration.

1603.
1612.

Thomas Moigne.

Thomas Moigne, a Native of Lincolnshire, Doctor of Divinity of Cambridge, and Dean of St. Patrick's, Dublin, succeeded in both Sees, and was consecrated at Drogheda the 12th of January, 1612. He held the Deanry for a time in Commendam. He sat almost 16 Years, and died of an Apoplexy at Dublin, and was buried in St. Patrick's there the third of January, 1628, Old Stile, aged 63 Years.

1628.

William Bedell.

William Bedell, Doctor of Divinity, born (saith Sir James) in Suffolk, or according to others, at Black Notley in Essex, and Educated in Emanuel College, Cambridge, a Man learned in the Latin, Greek and Hebrew Languages, was admitted Provost of Trinity College near Dublin in August, 1627, and two Years after preferred to the Bishopricks of Kilmore and Ardagh, and consecrated in St. Peter's, Drogheda, the 13th of September, 1629, by James Arch-Bishop of Armagh, Robert Down and Connor, Theophilus Dromore, and James Cloghor, but in 1633 he Resign'd the See of Ardagh. He died near Kilmore, where he had been some time held a Prisoner by the Rebels (of Grief for those tragical times, and the miseries which he endured) about the middle of March, 1641, and lies in a corner of the Church-yard of the Cathedral of Kilmore. He was truly an Apostolick Bishop. See his Life collected by Dr. Gilbert Burnet, the present Bishop of Sarum, in England, printed at London, 1685.

1629.

1641.

Robert Maxwell.

Robert Maxwell, Doctor of Divinity of Dublin College, Arch-Deacon of Down, Son of George Maxwell, once Dean of Armagh, was consecrated Bishop of Kilmore in St. Patrick's, Dublin, the 24th of March, 1643. Afterward in 1660, by Grant of King Charles II. he had also the See of Ardagh. He died on Saturday the 16th of November, 1672.

1660.

Francis Marsh.

Francis Marsh Bishop of Limerick, was translated to both Sees, the 10th of January, 1672, of whom see more amongst the Arch-Bishops of Dublin.

1672.

William Sheridan.

William Sheridan, Doctor of Divinity, bred in the College of Dublin, and Dean of Down, was presented to both Sees the 15th of February, 1681. He was depriv'd by Act of Parliament, for refusing the Oaths to King William and Queen Mary.

1681.

William

An. Dom.

1693.

William Smith.

William Smith, Doctor of Divinity, Bishop of Rapho, upon the Deprivation of Sheridan, was promoted to both Sees the 5th of April, 1693.

Edward Wetenhall.

1699.

Edward Wetenhall, Doctor of Divinity, Bishop of Cork and Ross, (of whom more amongst the Bishops of those Sees) was translated to the Bishopricks of Kilmore and Ardagh, the 18th of April, 1699. He recovered certain Lands, of which his Predecessor, being over-reached by several Artifices, and made an unstatutable Lease. He built up from the ground the Episcopal House at the West end of the Church of Kilmore, and is now rebuilding the ancient ruin'd Cathedral of St. Patrick's at Ardagh.

OF THE
BISHOPS
OF ARDAGH.

St. Mela.

488.

* Yorelin in vit.
St. Patr. c. 103.
says he got his living by hard labour, as St.
Paul did.

THE Cathedral Church of Ardagh is deservedly reckon'd among the most ancient of all Ireland, being founded by St. Patrick, who prefer'd to it St. Mel the Britain, Nephew to him by his Sister Darerca, * St. Mela died the 6th of February, 488, 4 Years before his Uncle, and was buried in his Church of Ardagh; Ardagh has its name from the eminency of its Situation; and I mention this the rather, because Ard in Irish, generally taken, signified Height, or Lofty situation.

St. Melchuo.

St. Melchuo, Brother of St. Mel, was also Bishop of this See. The time of his death I do not find, but the 6th of February is set apart to his Memory; of his Successors till the coming of the English under our Henry II. there is little remaining.

St.

St. Erard.

St. Erard, an Irish Man, Bishop of Ardagh, together with his Brothers St. Albert and St. Hildulph, and other 19 Associates, leaving their own Country about the middle of the 8th Century, went into Germany, where they labour'd much in the Propagation of Christianity. He died in Ratisbone the 8th of January, and was there buried in a Nunnery; the certain Year I do not find. After some Ages he was Canonized by Pope Leo IX. in 1052. as we find in the Breviary of Ratisbone, but in the Annals of Ireland we find no mention of him: and truly, if we consider this matter as it is related by others, it must be confessed that it is delivered with great obscurity. See John Colgan his Acts of the Saints of Ireland, at the 8th of January.

Cerli, Bishop of Ardagh, died in 1048.

Macruit o Moran died in 1161.

Christian o Heotai, or o Heeraic, died in 1179. Hoveden makes mention of this Christian at the Year 1173.

O Tirilenan died in 1187.

O Hilsenan was killed in 1189.

1048.

1161.

1179.

1187.

1189.

Adam, or Annad o Murredai.

Adam, or Annad o Murredai, died in 1217, and is reckon'd among the Benefactors of St. Mary's Abby of Tristernagh.

1217.

Robert.

One Robert, an English Man, succeeded. He was a Cistercian Monk, and the 11th Abbot of St. Mary, near Dublin. He died the 28th of May, 1224.

1224.

Simon Magraith.

Simon Magraith, who succeeded, died in 1230; in the Ulster Annals he is called Mac-raith Mac-ferrai, and is commended for his great Sanctity.

1230.

Joseph Magodaig.

Joseph Magodaig, Arch-Deacon of Ardagh, was chosen Bishop, and went to Rome, where he was confirmed by the Pope, but in his return died at Florence in Italy, in 1231.

1231.

Jocelin o Tormaing.

Jocelin o Tormaing, consecrated in 1233, and about the end of the same Year, namely the 1st of March, was confirmed, and died in 1237. He granted to the Abby of Glastonbury, in England, 15 Days of Indulgence, and as many to the Abby of St. Albans.

1237.

Brendan Magodaic,

Brendan Magodaic succeeded in 1238, who sate 17 Years, and died in 1255; he was buried in St. Peter's Abby at Derg. He gave on the Feast of Whitsuntide, in 1251, 30 Days of Indulgence to St. Mary's Chappel in the Temple. Some place before him Gelasi Mac-Scelaigi, but by what Authority I know not.

1251.

An. Dom.

Miles de Dunstaple.

Miles de Dunstaple, so called from Dunstaple in Bedfordshire, where it seems he was born, and accordingly surnamed, being chosen Bishop of Ardagh, obtain'd the Royal Assent the 20th of May, 1256, having sat about 20 Years. He died in 1289.

1256.
1282.Matthew o Heothy.

After the death of Miles, the See was vacant a whole Year, but in 1290 Matthew o Heothy was consecrated, and sat 32 Years; he died in 1322. Upon his death one Alexander was design'd his Successor, whether he was consecrated or no, I can't tell; but it appears in the Records of Birmingham's Tower, in Dublin, that the Temporals of this See, from the death of Matthew till 1331, were receiv'd by the King's Escheator.

1322.

1331.

John Mageoi.

John Mageoi succeeded, who died in 1343, after which the See was vacant three Years.

1343.

Owen o Ferrall.

Owen o Ferrall, Arch-Deacon of Ardagh, was lawfully chosen by the Dean and Chapter, before the end of the Year 1343; but for some secret reason not consecrated till 1347. He sat afterwards 20 Years, and died in 1367; famous among the Irish Historians for his Integrity of Life.

1347.

William Mac Casac.

William Mac Casac, a Secular Priest, succeeded; he was kill'd by a fall from a Horse in 1373. In August, the same Year, a great difference arose about the Election of a Successor, for one part of the Chapter Elected Charles o Ferrall who succeeded, the other part chose Richard Ferrall, Dean of Ardagh, and a third part, John Aubry, a Dominican of Trim.

1373.

Charles, or Carbrac o Ferrall.

Charles, or Carbrac o Ferrall, was consecrated in 1373, and died at Rome in 1378.

1378.

John o Fraic.

John o Fraic, a Frier, succeeded, who died in 1394; after which the See was vacant two Years.

1394.

Gilbert Mac Brady.

Gilbert Mac Brady, by Provision of Pope Boniface IX. was consecrated in 1396.

1396.

Adam Lyns.

Adam Lyns, of the Order of Predicants, died in June, 1416.

1416.

Cornelius o Ferrall.

Cornelius o Ferrall succeeded him, who made his Obedience to John Swayn Arch-Bishop of Armagh, in the Manor of Athboy, the 3d of February, 1418, 1418, and died in 1424, and was buried in a Convent of Friars Predicants in Longford. He was a Man famous for his Charity to the Poor. Upon his death, Swayn Arch-Bishop of Armagh (as I find in his Register, fol. 67. a.) claimed his principal Goods, viz. his Horse, Ring and Cup. The like he claimed, as of Right belonging to the See of Armagh, after the death of his Suffragan Arthur Mac Camail Bishop of Cligher, as appears in another Register of his, where he also acknowledges, that he receiv'd the Horse in part of satisfaction: How long this Custom held I don't find.

An. Dom.

1418.

1424.

Richard.

One Richard, died in 1443, but I can't find when he was consecrated.

1443.

Cormac.

Cormac succeeded, who fate till 1470, but when he died I have not found.

1470.

William o Ferrall.

William o Ferrall, Son of Donald, died in 1516. He was Governor of the County Longford, even after he was made Bishop, and I cannot but think that William, who was Bishop of this See the 26th of June, 1486, and this were one and the same Man. This William resign'd long before his death.

1486.

Thomas o Congallan.

Thomas o Congallan died in 1508, a Man very eminent for his Prudence and Charity to the Poor: some call him Bishop of Elphin, but to me it seems clear that he never was in that See.

1508.

Eugene.

One Eugene, of the Order of Predicants, by Provision of Pope Julius II. on the death of Congallan, was made Bishop of Ardagh, the 22d of December, 1508.

Richard Ferrall.

Richard Ferrall, Abbot of Granard, Elected by the Dean and Chapter, was restor'd to the Temporals the 13th of July, 1541, and having fate 12 Years, died in 1553. He was Governor of the County Longford till he died, in which Government Conatus Ferrall succeeded him, and Patrick mac Mahon in the Bishoprick.

1541.

Patrick mac Mahon.

Patrick mac Mahon, a Suffragan Bishop of Dowdall Arch-Bishop of Armagh, succeeded, and died in 1577.

1577.

Lisack Ferrall.

Lisack Ferrall, after a long vacancy, succeeded, by Grant of Queen Elizabeth, in 1577.

Robert Draper.

Robert Draper, was made Bishop of this See the 1st of March, 1603. See more of him among the Bishops of Kilmore.

1603.

R

Thomas

An. Dom.

Thomas Moigne.

1612.

Thomas Moigne, succeeded in this See the 12th of January, 1612. See more of him among the Bishops of Kilmore.

William Bedle.

1633.

William Bedle Resign'd the Bishoprick of Ardagh four Months after he was made Bishop of Kilmore and Ardagh, and then John Richardson, Doctor of Divinity of Dublin and Arch-Deacon of Derry, a Native of Cheshire, upon that Resignation succeeded him in this Bishoprick, and was consecrated at Armagh in Autumn, 1633. He died at London the 11th of August, 1654. The See was from thenceforth vacant till the Restoration of King Charles II. the profits thereof being all that time basely usurped by the Rebels.

Ulysses Burgh.

1692.

Ulysses Burgh, Doctor of Divinity, bred in Dublin College, being Dean of Emly, was promoted to this See the 8th of September, 1692, and consecrated in Christ-Church, Dublin, the 11th following by Francis Arch Bishop of Dublin, (upon Permission from His Grace of Armagh) and Narcissus Arch-Bishop of Cassel, Anthony Bishop of Meath, William Bishop of Kildare, and William Bishop of Killalla. He died the same Year, and from that time the ancient Union of this Bishoprick to Kilmore has been restored.

OF THE
BISHOPS
OF DROMORE.

St. Colman.

THE Church of Dromore owes its Original to St. Colman, descended of the Family of the Ards: He was the first Abbot of Muckmore, in the County of Antrim, and afterwards first Bishop of this See. Jocelin in the Life of St. Patrick, calls him Colmanell; but the ancient Scholiast of the Engusian Martirology, observes that he was also called Mocolmoe.

Mocolmoe. Colman flourished in the 6th Century, for he was born in 516, and died the 7th of June, but in what Year is uncertain: 'tis strange there is no mention of this See in C. Camencini's Book: It may be for some Ages it had no particular Bishop; some think it was all that time included in the Diocess of Arragh, and as the Bishoprick was anciently very small, so there is but a small account of its Bishops, for my own part I must confess that I have found no mention of any Bishop of Dromore after St. Colman, till the coming of the English, except one called Rigan, who is said to have died in 1101.

An. Dom.

516.

1101.

Gerard.

The first of whom I find any mention, after that noted Division of the Bishopricks of Ireland, made in the Synod held under Cardinal Paparon in 1152, is Gerard, a Cistercian of the Abby of Mellifont, who being chosen Bishop of Dromore, obtain'd the Royal Assent the 25th of April, 1227, and sate about Eighteen Years.

1227.

Andrew.

Andrew, Arch-Deacon of Dromore, was elected, and obtained the Royal Assent the 1st of October, 1245, and was consecrated the same Year.

1245.

Tigernac.

Tigernac I. was Bishop of Dromore in 1287.

1287.

Gervase.

Gervase succeeded, preferr'd to this See about 1290.

1290.

Tigernac.

Tigernac II. a Monk, of what Order I know not, died 1309.

1309.

Florence mac Donegan.

Florence mac Donegan, a Canon of the Church of Dromore, was the same Year chosen by the Dean and Chapter, and confirmed by King Edward II. but when consecrated, nor when he died, I can't find.

Christopher.

Christopher was Bishop in 1369.

1369.

Cornelius.

Cornelius, his Successor, died about 1381.

1381.

John o Lannub.

John o Lannub, a Minorite, by Provision of Pope Urban VI. after Fealty sworn to the King, was restored to the Temporals the 10th of November, 1382.

1382.

John

An. Dom.

John Volcan.

1404.

John Volcan, Bishop of Dromore, was by the Pope translated to Ossory; in 1404, whence he fate a short time, and died the next Year on Michaelmas-Day.

Richard Mespín.

1408.

Richard Mespín, a Carmelite, made his Obedience to Colton Arch-Bishop of Armagh, the 11th of November, 1408, and died the next Year, and was buried among the Carmelites of York.

John.

1410.

John, his Successor, made likewise his Profession of Obedience to the same Colton (as appears in the Register) the 4th of January, 1410, and died in 1418.

Nicolas Warter.

1419.

Nicolas Warter, a Minorite, by Provision of Pope Martin V. succeeded the 17th of May, 1419.

David Chirbury.

1431.

David Chirbury succeeded. This See was vacant the 1st of June, 1431, perhaps by his death; 'tis said that he was buried at Ludlow in Shropshire, in a Monastery of his Order.

Thomas Scrope.

1434.

Thomas Scrope, alias Bradly, a Carmelite of Norwich, by Promotion of Pope Eugene III. succeeded about 1434. 'He was very much belov'd (says Leland) by the King of Rhodes, for he was employ'd thither as Embassador. He was likewise much esteem'd at Rome, and was in great Favour with Pope Eugene IV. to whom he dedicated some Historical Books of the Affairs of the Carmelites. He lived to a decrepid Age, and died in England in 1491. His Sepulchre is shewed at Lovetost a Sea-port-Town of Suffolk-Shire. But long before his death he resign'd the Bishoprick. There is extant in the publick Library of Cambrige, a Book of his, of the Institution of the Order of Friars Carmelites, which he dedicated to John Blackney a Black Monk.

Thomas Radcliff.

Thomas Radcliff succeeded him in the Bishoprick; in the time of King Henry VI. He died likewise in England, and as I guess never saw his See. He is called in the Book of the Benefactors of the Church of Durham (of old called, The Book of Life) fol. 57. b. Master Thomas Radcliff Bishop of Dromore, and Suffragan of Durham. This Book is in the famous Cotton Library, Westminster, under the Effigies of Domitian. A. 7.

George.

1489.

One George a Grecian, and Native of Athens, was Bishop of this See in 1489. He had the Procuracion and Administration of Indulgences for the Hospital of the Holy Ghost in Saxia, or the Saxon Street at Rome, and the Benefactors thereof, and also the building a new one of the Holy Ghost in Ireland as a Member of the aforesaid Hospital. I have seen a Seal (I think) of this George, which which he used before he was Bishop, with this Inscription, The Seal of George Brann, Vicar General of the Holy Ghost. He was afterward upon the Resignation of Nicholas, Translated to Elphin the 17th of April, 1499.

An. Dom.
1499.

William.

William, called Bishop of Dromore, and Suffragan of York, is said to have lived at York in 1500.

1500.

Galeatius.

One Galeatius or Galentius, Bishop of Dromore, Died in 1504.

1504.

John Baptist.

John Baptist, on the Death of his Predecessor, succeeded in the Bishoprick of Dromore the 12th of June, 1504. These Three last (I think) never saw Ireland.

1504.

Thady.

One Thady a Minorite, is said to be provided Bishop of Dromore on the last of April, 1511, by the Translation of George.

1511.

Arthur Magenis.

As for the Successors to Thady, I must confess that for One Hundred Years after I do not find mention of any but one Arthur Magenis, who lived in 1550, at which time upon his swearing Fidelity, he was confirmed by King Edward III.

1550.

John Tod.

John Tod, Bishop of Down and Connor, held this Bishoprick also in Commendum. See more of him in Down and Connor.

Theophilus Buckworth.

Theophilus Buckworth, Batchelor in Divinity, of Trinity-College in Cambridge, Born at White-Hall, near Wisbeck in Cambridge-shire, was Consecrated at Dublin in May 1613. But the Rebellion breaking out in 1641, he retired into England, where he Died in the same House wherein he was Born, in 1652. Aged 72 Years.

1613.
1652.

Robert Lesley.

Robert Lesley Doctor in Divinity of Dublin, succeeded him (after along Vacation by reason of the Wars,) and was Consecrated at Dublin the 27th of January, 1660, and Translated to Rapho in June, 1661.

1660.
1661.

Jeremy Taylor.

Jeremy Taylor, Consecrated Bishop of Down and Connor the 27th of January, 1660, by Grant of King Charles II, Dated the 21st of June 1661. Held also the See of Dromore.

George Rust.

George Rust Dean of Connor, was preferr'd to the See of Dromore the 8th of November, 1667, and Consecrated in Christ-Church, Dublin, by James Armagh, assisted by Michael Dublin, Henry Meath.

1667.

An. Dom.

Essex Digby.

1671.

1683.

Essex Digby, Doctor of Divinity, and Lord Bishop of Dromore (Son to Sir Robert Digby, of Coleshall in Warwickshire, England, and the Lady Lettice Fitz-Gerald Baroneſs of Offalia and Heir General to the Earl of Kildare) was born at Coleshall in Warwickshire aforeſaid, Educated in the University of Dublin, made Dean of Caffel upon the Reſtoration of King Charles II. promoted to the Biſhoprick of Dromore the 6th of February, 1671, and conſecrated at Chriſt-Church, Dublin, by James Armagh, aſſiſted by Nicholas Dublin and Henry Meath. He lived to ſee his youngſt Son the preſent Biſhop of Elphin made Biſhop of Limerick and ſeveral Years after.

Capel Wiſeman.

1695.

Capel Wiſeman Doctor in Divinity and Dean of Rapho, was Conſecrated to this See the 10th of December, 1683.

Tobias Pullen.

Tobias Pullen Biſhop of Cloine, was Tranſlated to this See the 7th of May, 1695.

OF THE BISHOPS OF DUBLIN.

Donagh.

Historians take notice of S. Wiron, S. Rumold, S. Sedulius, and of one Cormac, in the See of Dublin before Donagh: But on the contrary; In the ancient Monuments of this Church, from which I can't easily recede, this Donagh, whom some call Dunan, is said to be the first Bishop of this See: whether he was or not I shall not determine, but 'tis most certain he was the first of the Easterling Bishops of Dublin. And for the Cathedral of Christ-Church, it was built by Sitricus (Son of Amlave) and this Donagh, for Regular Canons, in the Year 1038; which Laurence Arch-Bishop of Dublin afterwards changed into Regulars of the Aroacensian Order, about the Year 1163. Of the Foundation of the Church, thus the Black Book thereof: "Sitricus King of Dublin, Son of Ableb Earl of Dublin, gave to the Holy Trinity, and to Donagh first Bishop of Dublin, a place where the Arches or Vaults are founded, to build the Church of the Holy Trinity on, together with the following Lands, viz. Beal-dulek, Rechen, Port-rabern, with their Villains, and Cattel, and Corn; and gave also Gold and Silver enough to build the Church and the whole Court withal. Having built the Church, this Donagh also erected the Bishop's Palace in that place where the Dean's House now stands: He likewise built St. Michael's Chappel, which was many Ages after made into a Parish Church by Richard Talbot. Donagh at length died the sixth of May, 1074, and is buried in his own Cathedral Church, near the High Altar.

An. Dom.

1038.

1074.

Patrick.

The Chronicle of Mann reports, "That Godred, or Gothric Crovan, King of Mann subdued Dublin and great part of Leinster, in 1070. At his request one Patrick, an Easterling also, was by the City of Dublin chosen Successor, and sent into England to be Consecrated by Lanfranc Arch-Bishop of Canterbury, with the following Epistle. "To the Reverend Metropolitan of the Holy Church of Canterbury, LANFRANC. The Clergy and People of Dublin tender their due Obedience. It is known to you, O Father, that the Church of Dublin, which is the Metropolis of the Isle of Ireland, is without a Pastor, and destitute of a Governor; wherefore we have chosen a Presbyter, named Patrick, whom we all know to be of noble Birth and Education, well instructed in Apostolick and Ecclesiastical Learning, of a Catholick Faith, wary in expounding the Scriptures, thoroughly knowing in the Tenets of the Church: Him, we desire, may as soon as possible be ordained our Bishop; that under God he may rule over us orderly, and instruct us: and that under his Government we 1084.

An. Dom.

" may fight securely ; forasmuch as the Uprightness of the Ruler is the Health of the Subject, and where Safety is there is the Form of Doctrine. An Authentick Copy of this Epistle may be seen in an old Code of the Cotton Library under the Effigy of Cleopatra, E. 1. which formerly belonged to the Church of Canterbury. And here I think it is not amiss to transcribe the Form of his Profession out of the same Code. " Whoever is set to preside over others, if he himself be also presided over, ought not to stomach at it, but rather with all Humility, in Gods Name, have the like Obedience in every respect to his Superiors which he would have from those that are under his Care : For which reason I Patrick, chosen Bishop of Dublin the Metropolis of Ireland, do tender this Charter of my Profession to you, most Reverend Father Lanfranc, Primate of the British Isles, and Arch-Bishop of the Holy Church of Canterbury ; and do promise that I will be obedient to you and your Successors in all things that may concern the Christian Religion. There are extant in Cardinal Baronius's Annals, Tom. XI. Copies of the Letters which Lanfranc sent by this Patrick to the said Godred, and to Torlogh o Brien King of Ireland. He late about ten years, and was cast away in the British Sea, the tenth of October, 1084.

Donogh o Haingly.

1085.

Donogh, or Dongus o Haingly, having for some time spent his Studies in Ireland, went afterwards into England, and became a Benedictine Monk at Canterbury. At length he was, with consent of King Torlogh and the Clergy of Dublin, Consecrated Bishop by the aforesaid Lanfranc, in the Cathedral Church of Canterbury, Anno 1085 ; having made this following Profession. " I Donogh, Bishop of the Church of Dublin in Ireland, do promise Canonical Obedience to you, O Lanfranc, Arch-Bishop of the Holy Church of Canterbury, and to your Successors. At his return home he brought with him some Books and Church Ornaments which Lanfranc had bestowed on the Church of the Holy Trinity, Dublin. He died of the Plague in the Year 1095.

1095.

Samuel o Haingly.

1121.

Samuel o Haingly succeeded, who was also a Benedictine Monk, and Nephew to the deceased Donogh. Of him, thus Eadmerus in Hist. Novor. Anno 1095 : " There came to Anselm Arch-Bishop of Canterbury, a certain Monk of the " Abby of St. Albans, who was an Irish Man, and named Samuel : He, upon " the death of Donogh late Bishop of the City of Dublin, of Happy Memory, " was by Moriertach King of Ireland, and the Clergy and People chosen Bishop " of that City, and according to the Ancient Custom, with a General Decree, " sent to Anselm to be Consecrated. Anselm approving the Election, and con- " senting to their Petition, honourably detained the Man with him for a time ; " whom having diligently Instructed how he should behave himself in the House " of God ; and taking his Profession of Canonical Obedience, according to the " Ancient Custom, he Consecrated at Winchester on the Octaves of Easter " following, his four Suffragans assisting at the Ceremony. The new Bishop " strengthened by the Benediction of so great a Prince, and with his Letters to " the aforesaid King and Clergy, and People of Ireland, for a Testimony of his " Consecration, returned home to his Country in Joy, and was honourably re- " ceived into his See, to be a Light to the Land. Not long after, it appears, he expell'd certain Monks for Crimes unknown, and commanded the Cross to be carried before him, and robb'd his Church of the Books and Ornaments given as aforesaid by Lanfranc : For among the Works of S. Anselm, published by Picard in 1612, there is extant an Epistle from that Saint to him concerning these things. He died the fourth day of July, A. D. 1121.

Of the Arch-Bishops of Dublin.

Gregory.

THis Gregory immediately upon his Election went for England to receive his Consecration, according to the Custom, from the Arch-Bishop of Canterbury, and carried with him, over and above the Letters from the King in his favour, other commendatory Letters from the Clergy and People of Dublin. He received Orders first from Roger Bishop of Sarum, the 24th of September, 1121; and on the second of October following, having made the accustomed Profession, was Consecrated Bishop of this Church at Lambeth, by Roger Arch-Bishop of Canterbury. After his return, having sat about 31 Years, Cardinal John Paparo and Christian de Conarchy Bishop of Lismore (both Legats at that time from the Pope, to wit, in 1152) assembled a Synod at Kenanuse, where they delivered the Pall to him; and then was the Archiepiscopal Dignity first granted to this See, as many will have it: But if we give credit to the Archives of this Church, he received the Pall in his own Cathedral the Sunday whereon they sing, Letare Jerusalem. At the same time the Cardinal brought Indulgences "for all those" of either Sex who visited this Church on that Sunday, and the Octaves thereof for ever. Our Gregory died the eighth of October, 1161, having ruled over the Diocese of Dublin forty Years and six Days. Augustin Magraidin, Author of the Chronicle of the Isle of All Saints, in the River Shanon, calls him a Prudent and very Learned Man; but assigns the time of his Death by mistake to the Year 1162.

An. Dom.

1152.

1161.

Laurence o Tool.

Laurence o Tool (to give you in brief what the Author of his Life, published by Purinus, has written at large, adding some things which he has omitted) was the Son of Maurice, or Moriertach o Tool, Prince of Inuly, and, may be, of some other small Territories also: He had his Education at Glandelach, where he took on the Religious Habit, and at 25 years of Age was chosen Abbot at the request of the Clergy and People of that Church. His Charity to the Poor was at that time very eminent, especially during a great Famine which for four years together miserably afflicted those Parts. In the mean time, being elected to the Bishoprick of Glandelach, he refused the Election, as our Author says, "Prudently and Wisely pretending his want of Age. In some time after, Gregory Arch-Bishop of Dublin dying, he was chosen to succeed him, which at first he refused; but being afterwards overcome by earnest Prayers and Entreaties, he consented, and was Consecrated at Dublin in the Cathedral of Christ-Church by Gelasy Arch-Bishop of Armagh, 1162; and presently changed the Secular Canons of his Church into Regulars of the Araacensian Order, whose Habit and way of living he also took upon him. About 11 years after, this Laurence together with Richard surnamed Strongbow Earl of Strigule, Robert Fitz-Stephen, and Raimond le Gros, enlarged Christ-Church, and built the Quire and Belfry, adding three new Chappels to the Cathedral. The Arch-Bishop went to Rome in 1179, to assist at the General Council, where (says the Author of his Life) he was by Pope Alexander III. made Legate of Ireland, and exercised the Legatine Power at his return. But Girald Barry, commonly called Cambrensis, seems to deny that ever he returned to Ireland; for having obtained, against the Royal Authority, some Privileges from the Pope out of a mistaken Zeal for his Country, as 'tis reported, he fell into the King's Displeasure; and having been detained a long time in England and France, at length died, and was buried at Auge in 1162.

1179.

Normandy,

An. Dom.
1180.

Normandy, the 14th of November, 1180, or as some mistake it, 1181. Some of his Reliques (for he was Canonized by Pope Honorius III. in 1225) were translated thence to Christ-Church, Dublin.

John Comin.

1181.

1182.

1184.

1190.

1212.

John Comin an English Man, Learned, Eloquent and Grave, was upon the recommendation of King Henry II. chosen Arch-Bishop at Evesham, the sixth of September, 1181, by the Clergy of Dublin: He was afterward ordained Priest at Velletrum the 13th day of March following; and on the 21st, (being Palm-Sunday, says Hoveden, with whom the Calendar agrees) was there Consecrated Arch-Bishop by Pope Lucius III.; and there likewise obtained a Bull from the Pope dated the 13th of April, Indiction. 15. Ann. 1182: In which, among other Privileges granted to the See of Dublin, this may be read. "In pursuance of the Authority of the Sacred Canons, we appoint that no Arch-Bishop or Bishop shall without the assent of the Arch-Bishop of Dublin presume to hold any Convention, if it be in a Bishoprick within the Diocese of Dublin; or handle any Causes or Ecclesiastical Matters of that Diocese without being thereunto authorized by the Pope of Rome, or his Legate. A Copy of this Bull may be had in the old Register of the Arch-Bishop of Dublin, called Crede mihi, Fol. 80, b. And from this Privilege arose that Controversie, or rather sharp and long Contention, between the Arch-Bishops of Armagh and Dublin, whether he of Armagh had a Right of Primacy, of carrying the Cross, of Appeals, and of Visitation in the Province of Dublin, which lasted afterwards for some Ages. Girald Barry, commonly called Cambrensis, who knew the Arch-Bishop, affirms that he was then also created Cardinal Presbiter at Bellatrum; but because Comin's Charter is yet extant, and Onuphrius and Ciaconius, who have writ a Catalogue of Cardinals, and even the abovementioned Bull of Lucius III., are altogether silent in the matter of any such Title, I cannot but conclude that Girald was mistaken. But to return to Comin: He came first to this See in September, 1184; afterwards about the Year 1190 he built and endowed that fine spacious Church dedicated to St. Patrick, in the South-Suburbs of the City of Dublin, having demolished the old Parish Church that was there, and therein placed 13 Prebends, which number in after times encreased to 22. He partly renewed and somewhat enlarged the Quire of Christ-Church. Moreover he built and endowed the Nunnery of Grace Dieu in the County of Dublin, commonly so called, taking its name from Gratia Dei, or the Grace of God. He died at Dublin the 28th of October, 1212, and lies there buried in Christ Church, where he has a Marble Tomb in the South part of the Quire. Of the Injuries done him by Hamon de Valoniis Lord Justice of Ireland, and by others, you may, if you please, consult Roger Hoveden in the Year 1197: However, it appears by the Register of John Alan, who was long after Arch-Bishop of Dublin, that Hamon in satisfaction did at length give unto Comin twenty Carucats of Land in Ucunil.

Henry de Loundres.

1213.

1215.

1219.

Before the end of the Year 1212 Henry de Loundres, or the Londoner, Arch-Deacon of Stafford, was chosen Arch-Bishop, and consecrated the beginning of the next Year. King John made him Lord Justice of Ireland the 23d of July, 1213, which he managed till the Year 1215; at which time being called to the General Council at Rome, he committed the same to Geofry de Mariscis with the Title of Keeper of Ireland. Two years after he was made Legate of Ireland by Honorius III., and then held a Synod at Dublin "wherein (these are the words of the Annals of S. Mary's Abby, Dublin) he ordained many profitable things concerning the Church of Ireland: The Decrees are extant in the old Register called Crede mihi. Afterwards, in the Year 1219, Geofry being called away away into England, the Bishop took upon him the Government of the Kingdom once more, and faithfully discharged his Trust for five years, causing (as some say, at his own proper Costs) the Castle of Dublin to be then built: The Collegiate Church of St. Patrick he erected into a Cathedral, "united (says John Alan) with the Cathedral of Christ-Church under one Spouse, saving to the other "Church the preheminance in Dignity: He made William Fitz-Guy the first Dean of it; and beside Vicars Chorals, he appointed a Chantor, a Chancellor, and a Treasurer; to whom he assigned Revenues and Rectories. The Church being thus established, he took care to conform it to the Statutes of Sarum Church. He augmented the Revenues of the Nunnery of Grace Dein, and removed the Priory of Holmpatrick from an incommodious place (where before the coming of the English, Sirricus the Son of Murchard had built it for Canons Regular) to one more comodious. Whilst he sate, the See of Glandelagh (about 600 years after the death of S. Coemgen, who was first Bishop thereof) was added and united to this See: The causes of which Union we think well worth a transcribing from the Records of this Church, upon the Testimony of Felix o Ruadar Arch-Bishop of Tuam (who lived at that time) and of his Suffragans. "Master John Papiron, "Legate of the Roman Church, coming into Ireland, found a Bishop living at "Dublin who exercised his Episcopal Function only within the Walls. He found "in the same Diocess another Church in the Mountains, which was also called "a City, and had its Bishop; but the said Legate appointed Dublin, which was "the best City, to be the Metropolis of that Province, giving the Pall to the "Bishop, who at that time governed the Church of Dublin; and ordered that the "Diocess (wherein were two Cities) should be divided, so as one part should be "subject to the Metropolis, and the other part remain to that in the Mountains, "with intent (as we firmly believe) that this part should revert to the Metro- "polis upon the death of its Superior; which he had soon effected, but that "the Insolence of the Irish prevented him, who at that time were very powerful "in the Country: which intention of the said Legate our Lord Henry King "of England, being informed of by many, he granted that Church to the Me- "tropolis, according to the Intention and Will of Master Legate. In like man- "ner our Lord John King of England, that now is, having heard of the matter, "and of the Intent of the said Master Legate, from the ancient great Men of "the Country, granted the same to John the Predecessor of the present Bishop. "Moreover, that Holy Church in the Mountains which was anciently held in great "Veneration for S. Kevin's sake, who had there led an Hermit's Life, is notwith- "standing at this time so wild and desolate, and for almost 40 years past, that of "a Church it is become a Den of Thieves and Robbers; so that more Murders "are committed in that Valley than in any other place of Ireland, because of the "vast and desert Solitude thereof. Notwithstanding these Grants of Henry II. and King John, it seems the Bishoprick of Glandelach was not annexed to the Cathedral of Dublin until the Year 1214, at which time, or soon after, died William Piro the last Bishop of that See. But to return to our Arch-Bishop: He sate 15 years, and died the beginning of July, 1228. He is said to be buried in a Wooden Tomb in the North Wall of Christ-Church, over against Comin; but at this day there is no appearance of his Tomb. The reason why he was nick-named Scorch Villeine, may be found in Camden's Annals of Ireland, at the Year 1212.

1228.

Luke.

Henry dying, Luke Dean of St. Martin's Church, London, and Treasurer of the King's Wardrobe, by the means of Hubert de Burgo Earl of Kent, whose Chaplain he had been, was chosen to this See, and obtained the Royal Assent the 13th of December, 1228, but the Pope rejected the Election: notwithstanding which, upon another Election he was chosen again, and at length confirmed by the Pope, though not till the Year 1230. After his Consecration he sate above 25 years. In the mean time arose a mighty controversie between his Ca-1230.

An. Dom.

1255.

thédral concerning the Election of Arch-Bishops upon a vacancy of the See ; which he so determined that the Election should be made in Christ-Church, and there, as well the Prior and Convent as the Dean and Chapter, should by joyn't Suffrages chuse the new Prelate. He died according to Parisius the 13th, or as others will have it, the 12th of December, 1255, having been blind for some years before his death, and is buried in Christ-Church (on whose Fabrick he had been at some expence) in the same Tomb where Comin his Predecessor lay. There was great contending for the Primacy between him and Reiner Arch-Bishop of Armagh.

Fulk de Saunford.

1256.

1271.

After the death of Luke, both the Churches chose Ralph de Norwich, a Canon of St. Patrick's, and Chancellor of Ireland, for their Arch-Bishop ; but by the Treachery of his own People " being (as Florilegus has it) betrayed in the Court of Rome) he lost his hopes of the See ; and that Election being rejected, Fulk de Saunford, Treasurer of St. Paul's, London, was by the Pope's Bull unexpectedly declared Arch-Bishop the 30th of July, 1256. Parisius miscalls him Fulk Basset. He sat almost 15 years, and departed this Life at his Mannor of Finglass the sixth of May, 1271, and his Corps carried to St. Patrick's, were interred in St. Mary's Chappel (Founded, if I am not mistaken, by himself.) The See was afterwards vacant seven years.

John de Derlington.

1279.

1284.

Next Month after Fulk's death the King granted License of Election, and the 29th of July, William de la Cômér the King's Chaplain, who some years after became Bishop of Sarum, was elected by the Prior and Convent of Christ-Church ; but the same day the Dean and Chapter of St. Patrick's chose Fromund de la Brun the Pope's Chaplain, who was, as I think, at that time Chancellor of Ireland : However, after much Debate, the Pope rejected both the Elections, and declared John de Derlington, D. D. Arch-Bishop, who was a Dominican, and Confessor to Henry III. late King of England, consecrated in the Abby of Waltham the eighth of September, 1279, (or as others will have it, the Sunday after St. Bartholomew's day) by John Arch-Bishop of Canterbury, assisted by Nicholas Bishop of Winchester, Robert Bishop of Bath and Wells, and William Bishop of Norwich. " He was a Man of great Authority (says Parisius) for his Learning and Prudence. 'Tis certain he was the Pope's Treasurer or Collector of the Peter-pence as well in England as Ireland, under John XXI., Nicholas III., and Martin IV. He died suddenly at London the 29th of March, 1284, in the fifth Year of his Consecration, and lies there buried in a Monastery of Predicants. Of his Works by him published, see Leland, and out of him Bale, Cent. 4. Cap. 56.

John de Saunford.

John de Saunford, an English Man, and Brother of the abovementioned Fulk, Dean of St. Patrick's, and sometime Escheator of Ireland ; being duly elected, was confirmed by the King the 20th of July, 1284, and had his Consecration the seventh of April, being Palm-Sunday, at Christ-Church, Dublin, 1286. He flourished in very great favour under King Edward I. by whom he was made Lord Justice of Ireland ; and being called home to his own Country, was sent Ambassador to the Emperor, and with him Anthony Bishop of Durham : which Embassy having happily discharged, soon as ever he returned into England, that is to say, on the second of October : Being seized with a violent Malady (says Westminster) he went the way of all Flesh. His Corps being carried afterwards into Ireland, were deposited in his Brother's Tomb in St. Patrick's Church, Dublin.

Dublin, the 20th of February following. He was a Learned and eminently Prudent Man.

An. Dom.

William de Hothum.

The same Year Thomas de Chadsworth, Dean also of St. Patrick's Church, was elected, but being made against the King's Will, that Election was rejected, and the Pope, the 16th of June, 1297, provided William de Hothum (whom Leland calls Odo) a Dominican, Provincial of the same Order in England, and at that time Embassador to the Pope from King Edward I., and gave him leave to be consecrated at the Hands of any Catholick Bishop he pleased. He was born in England, and bred at Paris, where he commenced Doctor of Divinity. Pitts and others say he was Consecrated at Rome by the Pope himself in 1298, and died on his return: But Walsingham (and I think he is in the right) says he was consecrated the same Year at Gant in Flanders, by Anthony Beak Bishop of Durham: Wherever he was consecrated, 'tis certain that the same Year he died at Dijon in Burgundy (as Leland has it) the 30th of August; his Body being afterwards brought into England, was buried at London in a Monastery of his own Order. See more of him in Caius, de Ant. Cantabr. Lib. 1.

1297.

1298.

Richard de Ferings.

The 21st of January following Adam de Balsam, who was Prior thereof, was chosen by Christ-Church; but St. Patrick's Church chose Thomas de Chadsworth, their Dean, whom we mentioned before, and who was then Chief Justice of the King's Bench; but both Elections were rejected, and Richard de Ferings, Arch-Deacon of Canterbury, was preferred by the Pope, and consecrated about the middle of the Year 1299. He took a great deal of pains to reconcile the differences between the two Cathedrals, the Heads of which Composition are in the Register of Alan, whereof these are the chief. "That the Arch-Bishops of Dublin should be Consecrated and Inthroned in Christ-Church. That each Church should be called Cathedral and Metropolitan. That Christ-Church, as being the Greater, the Mother, and Elder Church, should take place in all Church Rights and Concerns. That the Cross, Miter and Ring of the Arch-Bishop, wherever he should die, be deposited in Christ-Church. And that the Body of every Arch-Bishop that died for the future be buried in either Church by turns, unless he disposed of it otherwise by his Will. This was done in the Year 1300. This Richard (which we must not silently pass over) erected three Prebends in St. Patrick's. He died the 18th of October, in his return from Rome.

1299.

John Lech.

The Election of a new Arch-Bishop was again disputed; for in the Month of January following Nicholas Butler, Brother to Edmund Butler afterwards Earl of Carrick, was chosen Arch-Bishop by the Prior and Convent of Christ-Church; but Richard de Havering, Chantor of St. Patrick's, was chosen by the Dean and Chapter of that Church, being also provided by the Pope, under which pretext he took the Fruits of the Arch-Bishoprick four years without any Consecration: But in 1310, being warned in a Dream, as is reported, he resigned it freely. See the whole Story in the Annals of Ireland published by Camden at the Year 1306: The Author of which Annals says, "That Alexander Bignor was on St. Patrick's Day, 1310, chosen Arch-Bishop by the unanimous consent of the Chapter. But notwithstanding the Election John Lech, alias de Leek, King's Almoner, succeeded in the Arch-Bishoprick, by the Gift of King Edward II. Of the Contention between him and Roland Jorisy Arch-Bishop of Armagh (because Jorisy suffered the Cross to be carried before him in the Province of Dublin.)

1310.

See

An. Dom.

1313.

See the Annals of Ireland published by Camden. He died the 10th of August, 1313, and was buried at Westminster, in the midst of the Chancel, having a little before been made Treasurer of Ireland. At his request Pope Clement V. published a Bull for founding an University of Scholars at Dublin the 13th of July, in the seventh Year of his Papacy, Anno Dom. 1311.

Alexander de Bicknor.

1317.

1318.

1323.

1349.

After the death of John Lech the contention was again set on foot about the Election of a new Arch-Bishop; for one part chose Walter Thornbury, Chantor of St. Patrick's, Chancellor of Ireland; the other chose Alexander de Bicknor, or Bignor, of whom before, Prebendary of Mainouth, and at that time High Treasurer of Ireland. Walter immediately upon his Election took Shipping for France, where the Pope then resided; but the next night following a Storm arose, and he, together with 156 persons more, were all cast away. He being thus drowned, Bicknor was by unanimous consent chosen Arch-Bishop: After his Election he went to Lyons, where (waiving that lawful Election) "he was provided by Pope Clement V. out of the fulness of his Power (says John Alan) becaufe " of his great Learning and noble Descent. He was afterwards consecrated at Avignon the 22d of July, 1317, by Michael de Prato Cardinal of Ostium. The Bulls of his Confirmation were read and published at Dublin, in Christ-Church, on the Feast of the Purification of the Virgin Mary next ensuing. He came first to this See, being now made Justice of Ireland, the 5th of October, 1318, as is reported; on which day he was received by the Clergy and People with great applause, and (if I mistake not) also Inthroned. Two years after he erected a College in Dublin, at St. Patrick's Church, and took care to get it confirmed by Pope John XXII. A noble Undertaking truly, but it fell presently to nothing for want of a due Provision for the Scholars. Of the Rules to be observed in that College, see a Copy of the Record in my Book of the Antiquities of Ireland, Cap. XV. In 1323 he was sent by the Parliament of England Ambassador into France, together with Edmund de Woodstock Earl of Kent, younger Brother of King Edward II. but returned without Success, as appears in Thomas Walsingham's Upodigm. Neustriae. He died on the 14th of July, 1349, having sate almost 32 years; not inferior to any of his Predecessors either for Prudence or Learning, and was buried, I think, in St. Patrick's Church. Not long before his death he had a great Contest with Richard Fitz-Ralph Arch-Bishop of Armagh, who pretending the King's Grant, had the Cross carried before him in Dublin. The Decrees of a Synod held by him, I remember to have read in the White Book of the Church of Offory. He built the Bishop's House at Taulaght.

John de St. Paul,

1362.

John de St. Paul a Canon of Dublin, by the Pope's Provision was made Arch-Bishop the 4th of September, 1349. He mightily enlarged and beautified Christ-Church, for he built the whole Chancel at his own charge. Between him and Richard Fitz-Ralph, that Learned Arch-Bishop of Armagh, of whom we have already spoken, was a great Controversie for the Primacy, which at last under Pope Innocent VI. by approbation of the College of Cardinals, was thus determined. "That each of them should be PRIMATE; but for distinction of Stile the Primate of Armagh should intitule himself Primate of all Ireland, but the Metropolitan of Dublin should inscribe himself Primate of Ireland: Like Canterbury and York in England, the first of which writes himself Primate of all England, the other Primate of England. This, John Allen (who many years after succeeded him) affirms he read in the Pope's own private Library, whilst he was Agent at Rome for William Warham Arch-Bishop of Canterbury. He sate about 13 years, being in the mean time made Chancellor of Ireland by King Edward III. He died the 9th of September, 1362, and is buried ried in Christ-Church, under the Marble laid with Brass Plates, at the second Step before the High Altar (as he had appointed by his Will) where we read these Words inscribed: "Ego, &c. I John de St. Paul, sometime Arch-Bishop of Dublin, do believe that my Redeemer liveth; and at the last day I shall arise from the Earth, and be again cloathed with my Skin, and in my Flesh shall I see God my Saviour."

An. Dom.

Thomas Minot.

Thomas Minot (appointed also by the Pope) succeeded; he was Prebendary of Malaghidert, and Treasurer of Ireland, and some time also Escheator of Ireland: He was consecrated in 1363, on Palm-Sunday, or as others mistake it, the third of November. The Contention about carrying the Cross between this Thomas and Milo Arch-Bishop of Armagh, was revived again. He departed this Life at London the 10th of July, 1375. He repaired part of St. Patrick's Church, which had been accidentally burnt, and built a very high Steeple of hewen Stone about the Year 1370; whence in his Seal he afterwards used the Device of a Bishop holding a Steeple in his Hand.

1363.

1375.

Robert Wikeford.

Robert Wikeford, Arch-Deacon of Winchester, Doctor of both the Laws in Oxford, and some time Fellow of Merton College there, was born at Wikeford-Hall in Essex, and provided by Pope Gregory IX, at Avignon, the 12th of October, 1375, and consecrated before the end of that Year: He was restored to the Temporals in Easter week following. He was Chancellor of Ireland in the Years 1377 and 1385: He died the 29th of August, 1390. I find nothing more of him, only that he released and gave back to Christ-Church a yearly Payment of five Marks which his Predecessors received for Promotions.

1377.

1385.

1390.

Robert Waldby.

Robert Waldby, Bishop of Air in Gascoigne, was by the Pope's Bull translated hither the 14th of November, 1391: 'Tis said he was born in the City of York, but first educated in the Abby of Tickell, where (if I mistake not) he, together with his Brother, the most Learned John Waldby, took the Habit of Augustines: Afterwards accompanying that most Warlike Prince Edward, the Delight at that time of England, he abode at Tholouse; "where he arrived to such a pitch of Excellence (says Bale) as to be esteemed the first among the Learned for Eloquence and Skill in the Languages: then he became Divinity Professor at Tholouse, and such an excellent Preacher that he arose to very great Preference. For being consecrated Bishop of Air, he was (as we said) after some years, translated to Dublin: A little after King Richard II. of England made him Chancellor of Ireland, about the same time that Richard Metford Bishop of Chichester, was made Treasurer of the same Kingdom; and Metford being translated to the See of Sarum in 1395, our Robert took care to have himself removed to Chichester, where he sat a small time, and next year was promoted to the Arch-Bishoprick of York. At length he died the 29th of May, others have it the 29th of January, 1397, and is buried at Westminster, in the very middle of St. Edmund's Chappel, under a Marble Tomb, with this Epitaph.

1391.

1395.

*Hic, fuit expertus in quovis jure Robertus;
De Walby dictus: nunc est sub marmore strictus.
Sacra Scripturae Doctor fuit, & Genituree
Ingenuus Medicus, & Plebis semper amicus;
Consultor Regis optabat prospera Legis,
Ecclesiae Choris fuit unus, bis quoque honoris*

C

Præsul

An. Dom.

*Præsul Advensis, post Archos Dubliniensis ; Hinc Ciceſtrencis, tandem Primas Eboracensis,
Quarto Calendas Junii migravit, curſibus anni
Septem Milleni ter C. nonies quoque deni.
Vos precor Orate ut ſint ſibi dona beatæ,
Cum Sanctis vitæ requieſcat & hic ſine lite.*

Here's Robert cruſht within theſe Marble Jaws,
Sirnam'd of Waldby, ſkill'd in both the Laws.
A great Divine, a great Phyſician too,
And generous Patron of the Needy Crew :
A Privy Counſellor, the Laws he lov'd ;
Twice in the See of Air was dignified,
And afterwards o're Dublin did preſide ;
And thence to Chicheſter, and ſo to York remov'd :
He died in Thirteen hundred ninety ſeven,
The Twenty ninth of May : Pray, that in Heaven
Among the Saints, he may be ever bleſt,
And here may undiſturb'd in quiet reſt.

As appears by Thom. Stubbs, whoſe History of the Arch-Bishops of York is extant in the Cotton Library, under the Effigies of Vitellius, E. IV. 5. For his Epitaph, ſome of the Braſs Plates being torn off, is now defaced.

Richard Northall.

1396.

Richard Northall, Biſhop of Offory, was translated to this See in 1396 : He became a Carmelite at London, near which City he was born, and was eminently Famous for his Preaching, Learning, and other Virtues of his mind ; whereupon King Richard II. taking notice thereof, made him firſt, Biſhop of Offory, and afterwards, upon Waldby's Translation, he was, by the Pope's conſent, called to be the ſeventeenth Arch-Biſhop of Dublin ; which Honour he enjoyed a very little while, for he died at Dublin the 20th of July, 1397.

1397.

Thomas Cranelly.

1398.

Thomas Cranelly, an Engliſh Man, D. D. quondam Chancellor of the Univerſity of Oxford, was upon Northall's Death placed in his room. Writers vary about the time of his Conſecration, ſome will have it to be in 1398, others more truly, in 1397 ; but in this they agree, that he came firſt to Dublin the 7th of October, 1398, together with Thomas Holland, then Duke of Surry and Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. He was afterwards made Chancellor of Ireland by Henry IV. and Lord Juſtice of the ſame by Henry V. " He was a Man (as Leland ſays) who not-only for his Ingenuity, but alſo for his Pen (being well learned in the Sciences) was mightily eſteemed. Whiſt he was Juſtice he wrote an Epistle to the King in polite Verſe, which John Leland " with great delight " read, and retained by heart : As he himſelf confeſſes in his Book of the Writers of Britain, to be publiſhed, when God pleaſes, for the Publick Good. He went back into England the latter end of April, 1419, and the 25th of May following died (full of Days and Honour) at Farindon, being 80 years of Age ; his Body was conveyed to Oxford, and there buried in New-College, whereof he had been the firſt Warden. " He was a very bountiful Man, and full of Alms " Deeds (liſten to Marlborough) a profound Clerk and Doctor of Holy Divinity, " an extraordinary fine Preacher, a great Builder and Improver of places under " his Care : He was fair, ſumptuous, of a ſanguine Complexion, and Princely " Stature, ſo that it might well be ſaid of him in his time, Thou art fairer of Form than the Children of Men : Grace is poured into thy Lips becauſe of thy " Eloquence.

1419.

"Eloquence. And for these Endowments he was deservedly careffed by the Kings in whose time he lived. He died, and was buried at Dublin, say Bale, Pitts, and others, but they are mistaken.

An. Dom.

Richard Talbot.

Richard Talbot, of Noble Extraction, was Brother to the most Illustrious Hero John Talbot Lord of Furnival, whom King Henry VI, for his eminent Courage and faithful Services in France, dignified with the Title of Earl of Shrewsbury, Waterford, and Wexford: He was consecrated in the Year 1417, as appears by the White Book of Christ-Church (compiled by Thomas Fich Vice Prior of that Church, who died in 1517:) He instituted six pettit Canons, and as many Choriisters, in St. Patrick's Church, to whom he assigned Lands for their Maintenance, by dividing the Prebend of Swords which is called the Golden one; See the Black Book of the Arch-Bishop of Dublin, fol. 154, b. and founded a Chancel in St. Michael's, which from a Chappel he had raised to a Parish Church. About the end of 1442 he, together with John White, Abbot of St. Mary's near Dublin, was sent to King Henry VI. by the Parliament, to negotiate the Affairs of Ireland; and the next Year, to wit, upon the death of John Prene, was elected Primate by the Dean and Chapter of Armagh; but he refusing it, John Mey obtained that Arch-Bishop's See. He presided almost 32 years, being all that while Privy Counsellor to Henry V. and Henry VI; and was in the mean time twice Lord Justice and once Lord Chancellor of Ireland. He deceased the 15th of August, 1449, being buried under a Marble in St. Patrick's Church, beautified with his Image cut in Brass, where we read his Epitaph to this effect, in Doggrel Rhime.

1442.

1449.

*Talbot Richardus latet hic sub marmore pressus, Archi fuit Presul hujus sedis Reverendæ,
Parvos Canonicos, qui fundavitque Choristas.
Anno Milleno, C. quater, quater X. quoque nono,
Quindeno Augusti Mensis mundo valedixit:
Omnipotens Dominus cui propitietur in ævum.*

Under this Stone doth Richard Talbot lie,
The once Arch-Bishop of this Reverend See,
Who did our Quire and Petty Canons Found
The fifteenth day of August, Fourteen hundred red forty nine: He bid the World God b'w'ye:
To him may th' Almighty mercy shew to all Eternity.

Michael Tregury.

Before the end of the same Year Michael Tregury was consecrated Arch-Bishop; he was a Cornish Man, and D. D. of Oxford: A Man so famous for his Learning and Prudence, that he was sent by Henry V. King of England, in 1418, to take upon him the Provostship of the College of Caen in Normandy, by him then first Founded: There he is said to have governed a long time, and discharged his Trust with great Applause, as well by his Readings as his Writings: His Works are all mentioned by Bale and Pitts. At length, in 1449, Talbot (as aforesaid) being deceased, he was by the Pope's Provision promoted to this See, and by Henry VI, whose Chaplain he was, restored to the Temporals within the same Year, according to the English Computation. He rebuilt the Manor of Tawlagh, and there departed this Life the 12th of December, in a very great Age, having sate over this Church about 22 years, his Corps carried to Dublin and accompanied by the Clergy and Citizens, were buried at St. Patrick's Church, near St. Stephen's Altar, where may be seen a spacious spacious Monument most artfully adorned with his Statue, and these few Verses read thereon ingraved, but born under the Influence of an inauspicious Muse.

An. Dom.

Præsul Metropolis Michael hic Dubliniensis, Marmore tumbatus: Pro me Christum flagitetis.

Here's Michael, Metropolitan of Dublin See, Intomb'd in Marble: Pray to Christ for me.

And at the Head of the Statue.

Jesus est Salvator meus.

Jesus is my Saviour.

John Walton.

1472. John Walton Abbot of Osney near Oxford, was consecrated in England, and vested with the Pall in 1472: Upon his Petition to the Parliament certain Lands belonging to the Arch-Bishoprick, which had been part mortgaged, under set, and sold by Talbot and Tregury, were by an Act of the 18th of Edward IV. restored to the See. After six years, being now blind and sickly, he voluntarily resigned his Bishoprick in May, or as others have it, the 14th of June, 1484; reserving the Manor of Swords for his Maintenance during Life.

Walter Fitz-Symons.

1511. Walter Fitz-Symons, Batchelor of both Laws, a learned Divine and Philosopher, and Chanter of St. Patrick's Church, was by Pope Sixtus IV. designed Successor the 14th of June, 1484; and after that, upon the Pope's Provision, he had obtained the King's Grant by Letters Patents, the 26th of September following he was consecrated at Dublin, in St. Patrick's Church. He presided 27 years, and in the mean time was made Vicar, or as we say, Deputy to Jasper Duke of Bedford, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and afterwards was made Lord Chancellor of that Kingdom. In a Synod held by him in Dublin, he ordained a yearly Sallary to be paid by him and his Suffragans to a Divinity Reader. He departed this Life at Finglass, two Miles from Dublin, the 14th of May, 1511; whence his Corps were carried to St. Patrick's, and honourably Intombed in the Nave of the Church. See more of him in our Annals of Ireland, at the Reigns of Henry VII. and Henry VIII.

William Rokeby.

1515. William Rokeby, or Rokesby, Doctor of the Canon Law, and born in Yorkshire, was by Pope Julius II. made Bishop of Meath in 1507; and the same Year admitted to the Privy Council of Henry VII.: afterwards by the same Pope translated to the See of Dublin, the 28th of January, 1511, or 1512, if you begin the Year at the first of January. He was appointed Lord Chancellor of Ireland at the very end of the Year 1515 by Henry VIII.; which Place he held as long as he lived, if I am not mistaken. He called a Provincial Synod in 1518, and the Statutes are extant in the Red Book of the Church of Offory. He died the 29th of November, 1521; and lies buried in his own Cathedral of St. Patrick's, Dublin; but his Heart was carried to England, and deposited in the Tomb of his Ancestors.

Hugh Inge.

Hugh Inge, D. D. by the Pope's appointment twice succeeded William Rokeby, to wit, as well here in this See as before in that of Meath: Him Polydore Virgil calls "an honest Man, and in great Familiarity and Intimacy of many Affairs" with the Earl of Kildare. He sat in the Bishoprick six years, and in the mean time was Lord Chancellor of Ireland, which Office he held and discharged during his Life. His Arms, which are set over the Palace, on the Wall, seem to witness for his repairing St. Sepulchres. He died at Dublin the third of August, 1528, of the English Sweat, and was buried at St. Patrick's. He was a strict Observer of Justice and Equity.

1528.

John Allen.

John Allen, Doctor of Laws, and Treasurer of the Church of St. Paul, London, succeeded, and was consecrated in Christ-Church, Dublin, the 13th of March, 1528, according to the English Account: He was brought up at Cambridge, where he took the Degree of Master of Arts; then he was sent to Rome by William Warham, Arch-Bishop of Canterbury, to manage his Affairs with the Pope, where he lived nine years, and was in the mean time made Doctor of Laws. At his return he was chosen Chaplain to Cardinal Wolsey, Arch-Bishop of York, by whose endeavours he was industriously appointed in September, 1528, to succeed Hugh Inge, as well in the Arch-Bishoprick as the Chancellorship, partly to reward his faithful Services, and partly in Envy to Gerald Earl of Kildare, whom the Cardinal, by I know not what snares and contrivances, endeavoured to oppress. "This Allen, among the rest, was one of Wolsey's Instruments in the Dissolution of forty Monasteries of less note, which Affair, as "some have observed, was like the Gold of Tholouse, which is said to be either "destructive, or at least very calamitous, to all that toucht it. Thus the most Learned Francis Godwin, late Bishop of Hereford, in his History of Henry VIII. As for Allen, to pass by the rest, in less than four years time was removed from his Office of Chancellor, and George Cromer, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, put in his place, and that at the Instance of Gerald Fitz-Gerald, Earl of Kildare, who about the same time was constituted Deputy to Henry Duke of Richmond, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, which gave occasion to revive the old Enmities between them. Soon after the Earl being called over to England, was committed close Prisoner to the Tower of London, till he clear'd himself of the Suspicions and Crimes laid to his Charge: Upon his leaving Ireland, but before he deputed, he received the King's Commands for appointing such a Successor in his room whose Fidelity he could answer for; and whom should he appoint but his Son Thomas (commonly called Silken Thomas) a Youth scarce one and twenty years old. And now the Enemies of the Geraldine Family (of which number Allen, as we have said before, was one) managed their matters with Cunning and Deceit, and spread abroad a false Rumor that the Earl was beheaded in England, and that the same Fate hung over Thomas, and his Brothers and Uncles. The rash Youth suffering himself to be deluded by these lying Reports, resigned the Sword, an Ensign of Government, to Chancellor Cromer; and breaking out into open Rebellion, with a tumultuous Army besieged Dublin, and destroy'd the Country all about with Fire and Sword. The Arch-Bishop terrified with these Commotions, took Shipping near Dames Gate in order to fly into England; but whether by the crossness of the Wind or heedlessness of the Seamen, he was thrown ashore at Clantarf, and thence went to Artain, a Village hard by, in order to hide himself: which when Thomas (the now Rebel) came to understand, he went thither next morning before day, with his Uncles, and a great Attendance, and sent John Teeling and Nicholas Waser immediately in to fetch out Allen: They broke into the House, and drew the old Man half naked

D d

An. Dom.

1534.

ked out of his Bed to their Master, of whom Allen upon his Knees earnestly beg'd his life ; but when he had in vain endeavour'd to persuade the enraged Youth to bend his mind to pity, he betook himself to Divine Meditation, and whilst he was upon his knees, pouring out his Prayers to God, they dashed out his Brains, and wickedly murdered him in sight of his Adversary : This Villany was perpetrated on the 28th of July, 1534, in the 58th year of his Age. But the Divine Vengeance was not slow, for the Flame of this Rebellion being quench'd, Thomas was sent to London, and beheaded the third of February, 1536, and five of his Uncles (not to mention the rest that perished in divers manners) were Hang'd, Drawn, and Quarter'd half alive at Tyburn. Edward VI. (which we note by the by) restored Gerald, the Brother of Thomas, to the Estate ; and afterwards Queen Mary restored him to the Ancient Dignity. But to return to Allen : He was a man of a troublesome Spirit, but kept a very good Table ; and was moreover a learned Man, and a diligent Searcher of Antiquity, as appears by the Register of his Church.

George Brown.

1535.

1541.

James I.

1554.

George Brown, an Augustine Friar of London, and Provincial of that Order in England, was promoted to this Arch-Bishoprick by Henry VIII. and consecrated by Thomas Arch-Bishop of Canterbury, assisted by John Bishop of Rocheſter, and Nicholas Bishop of Sarum, the 19th of March, 1535, according to the English Computation. He obtained a Charter from Edward VI. dated the 20th of October, 1551, for him and his Successors to be Primates of All Ireland ; which Queen Mary commanded to be voided in his life time ; and then George Dowdall, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, who in the Reign of Edward VI. lived in Exile, was recalled, and returned home to his Arch-Bishoprick, and the said Title thereunto annexed, as it were, by way of Recovery. In this Man's time, that is to say, in 1541, "Henry VIII. transported and changed the Prior and Convent of "Christ-Church into a Dean and Chapter. These are the words of the Charter. The new Foundation consisted of a Dean, a Chanter, a Chancellor, a Treasurer, and six Vicars Chorals ; and Robert Castell, the last Prior, was made the first Dean thereof : To these he confirmed their ancient Possessions and Priviledges. Afterwards Edward VI. added six Presbyters and two Boys, which we call Choristers, to whom he assigned a yearly Pension of 45 l. 13 s. 4 d. Sterl. Money of England, out of the Treasury during Pleasure : Queen Mary confirm'd the Pension, and granted it for ever. The Foundation thus augmented, was in some sort altered by our late Sovereign, the most Serene King James ; so that at this day there are in this Church a Dean, a Chanter, a Chancellor, a Treasurer ; besides six Vicars Chorals and four Singing Boys : He also ordained " that the " Arch-Deacon of Dublin should have a Stall in the Quire, and a Vote and " Place in the Chapter in all Chapter Acts in the said Church. But to proceed : The Cathedral Church of St. Patrick, whilst he sat, was suppressed for nigh eight years ; but Queen Mary restored it to the former Dignity about the end of the Year 1554. About the same time George Brown (because a married Man) was deprived by Dowdal Arch-Bishop of Armagh, and other Delegates ; and the Custody of the Temporals, during the vacancy of the See, was committed to Thomas Lockwood Dean of Christ-Church, Dublin.

Hugh Curwin.

1555.

George being deprived, Hugh Curren, or Curwin, a Native of Westmoreland, Doctor of Laws, Arch-Deacon of Oxford, and Dean of Hereford, was substituted in his room : He was consecrated in St. Paul's Church, London, together with James Turberville Bishop of Exeter, and William Glynn Bishop of Bangor, the 8th of September, 1555 ; and five days after was made Chancellor of Ireland at Greenwich, by Queen Mary, whose Chaplain he was : He came to his See in October

October following ; who having fate 12 years, and (in the mean time been constituted one of the Lords Justices of Ireland) o'd Age growing heavy on him, he took care to be translated to Oxford ; and having lingered one year in that See, he died at Suinbroch near Burford, and was there buried in the Parish Church, the first of November, 1568.

An. Dom.

1568.

Adam Loftus.

Adam Loftus, born at Swinshede in Yorkshire, became Chaplain to Thomas Earl of Sussex, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and afterwards being by Queen Elizabeth her self designed Successor to Donal in the Church of Armagh, was consecrated by Hugh Curwin Arch-Bishop of Dublin, about the end of the Year 1562 ; and thence translated to Dublin the 8th of August, 1567, having a little before that commenced Doctor of Divinity at Cambridge, where he had been bred, together with John Whitgift, afterwards Arch-Bishop of Canterbury, and others. He departed this Life at Dublin, in his Palace of St. Sepulchres, full of Age, the 5th of April, 1605, and was buried in St. Patrick's Church, Dublin, in the 42d Year of his Consecration, having spent 37 Years and 8 Months in this See. See more of him among the Arch-Bishops of Armagh.

1605.

Thomas Jones.

Thomas Jones, by Birth a Lancashire Man, Master of Arts in the University of Cambridge, bred there in Christs-College, and made Doctor of Divinity in the University of Dublin, Chancellor first, then Dean of St. Patrick's, Dublin, was translated from Meath to this See the 8th of November, 1605, and at the same time was made Lord Chancellor of Ireland by King James I., in which Office he continued till his end. He died at St. Sepulchres the 10th of April, 1619, having fate 13 Years 5 Months and 2 Days, in which time he was twice Lord Justice of Ireland. A few Hours after his Death the Custody of the Great Seal was committed to the Chief Justice of the Kings Bench, the Chief Baron of the Exchequer, and the Master of the Rolls. He was buried in St. Patrick's, near a Monument erected to his Memory by his Heirs.

1619.

Lancelot Bulkley.

Lancelot Bulkley, D. D. of the University of Dublin, born of a Noble Family in the Isle of Anglesey, had his Education at Oxford, in Brazen-nose College, where he commenced Master of Arts : From Arch-Deacon he was advanced to be Arch-Bishop of Dublin, and was consecrated in St. Peter's, Drogheda, the 3d of October, 1619, by Christopher Armagh, assisted by Thomas Killmore and Theophilus Dromore ; and was soon after of the Privy Council to King James I. He died at Tallagh, with Grief for the Calamities of the times, aged 82 Years, the 3d of September, 1650. His Body was buried in St. Patrick's, Dublin.

1650.

James Margetson.

After the death of Bulkley this See was vacant more than 10 Years ; but upon the Restauration of King Charles II. James Margetson, D. D. of Cambridge, educated in Peter-House there, a Native of Yorkshire, Chaplain to the Earl of Strafford, and Dean of Christ-Church in Dublin (Installed in December, 1630) was prefer'd to this See, and consecrated in St. Patrick's Church with 11 other Bishops, by John Armagh, John Raphoe, Robert Killmore, and Griffin Ossory, the 27th of January, 1660 : He was a little before made one of the Privy Council, and about the beginning of September, 1663, was translated to Armagh.

1660.

1663.

Michael

An. Dom.

Michael Boyle.

1678.

Michael Boyle Bishop of Cork, Cloyne and Ross, (of whom see more amongst the Bishops of Cork) by the most prudent Judgment of King Charles II. was thought worthy to be advanced to the See of Dublin, to which he was translated in December, 1663. He was soon made Lord Chancellor of Ireland, and was oftentimes during his sitting in this See one of the Lords Justices. He much repair'd and beautified the Bishop's Palace of St. Sepulchres, and was translated to Armagh in 1678; in which place more of him is to be read.

John Parker.

John Parker, first Bishop of Elphin, then Arch-Bishop of Tuam, by the King's Patent was translated to Dublin, and Inthroned in the Cathedral of St. Patrick's the 4th of November, 1678, being a little before made one of the King's Privy Council. See more of him among the Bishops of Elphin and Tuam.

Francis Marsh.

1681.

1693.

Francis Marsh, Bishop of Killmore, was translated to this See the 14th of February, 1681, and the 25th of the same Month was Inthroned in the Cathedral Church of St. Patrick, Dublin. During his continuance in this See he considerably augmented and beautified his Palace at St. Sepulchres. He fell sick of a lingering Distemper in August, 1693, and continued ill till the 16th of November following; at which time he died of an Apoplectick Fit, and was buried the 18th within the Railes, near the Communion Table, in Christ-Church, having sate here twelve Years.

Narcissus Marsh.

1694.

1702.

Narcissus Marsh, Arch-Bishop of Cashel, was removed to this See the 24th of May, 1694, upon the death of Francis; and having sate near eight Years, was translated to the See of Armagh the 18th of February, 1702.

William King.

1703.

William King, Bishop of Derry, succeeded him the 11th of March, 1703; and is the present Arch-Bishop of Dublin.

OF THE BISHOPS OF KILDARE.

St. Conleth.

ST. Conlath, whom some call Conlaid, others Conlian, is said to have been the first Bishop of Kildare, and Founder of the Cathedral, with the assistance of S. Bridget to whom it was Dedicated. In the Life of the said Bridget, written by Cogitosus, he is called Archiepiscopus & Summus Pontifex, or Arch-Bishop and High Priest. He died the 3d of May, 519, and was buried in his Church of Kildare (which signifies the Oaken Cell) near the High Altar; but his Bones, 281 Years after, namely, in 800, were translated into a Silver Shrine gilded, and adorn'd with precious Stones. The Red Book of the County of Kildare (upon what Authority I know not) says, that one Lonius was the first Bishop of this place, to whom succeeded Juorinus, and to Juorinus, Conlius or Conleth; and out of the same Book Richard Stanniburst has the very same Account in his English Description of Ireland, extant in Holinshed, but I think they are both out there: It is much more probable that Conleth was the first that fixed his Episcopal See in this place, which is thus confirm'd by that ancient Writer of the Life of S. Bridget, lib. 2. cap. 12. "Conlian the Holy Bishop and Prophet of the Lord, who had his Cell on the South part of the Liff, came to S. Bridget in his Chariot, and staid with her; and S. Bridget chose him Bishop in her City Kildare. And in another Writer of the Life of S. Bridget, published by Colgan, lib. 2, cap. 19, Conlian is expressly called the first Bishop of Kildare."

An. Dom.

519.

S. Aed.

The first Bishop of Kildare that occurs after Conleth is S. Aed, surnamed Dubb, or Black, who of King of Leinster (says Colgan) became Monk, Abbot and Bishop of Kildare. He died the 10th of May, 638.

Maldoborcon died the 19th of February, 708, or as others, 704.

Tola died May 3, 732.

Lomtuily died in 785, or 782.

Snedbran died the same Year.

Tuadsar died in 833.

Orthanac died in 840.

Adgen, surnamed Brito, Scribe, Bishop and Anchorite of Kildare, died in the 116th Year of his Age, and in the Year of Christ 862, the 18th of December, says Colgan.

Moengal died in 870.

Robertas mac Naserda died Jan. 15, 874.

E c

Lafran

638.

708.

732.

785.

833.

840.

862.

870.

874.

An. Dom.

880. 884.

885.

929.

949.

981.

985.

1028.

1042.

1085.

1097.

1100.

1102.

1108.

1148.

1160.

Lafran mac Moltigern died the same Year.Suibne ó Fianacta died in 880.Scandal died in 884.Largisy was kill'd in Battel by the Danes of Dublin in 885.Cranmoel died Decemb. 11, 929.Melfinan died in 949, or 950.Amueaid died in 981.Murechad died in 985.Mel-Martim died in 1028.Mel-Brigid, or Brigidian, died in 1042.Fin Son of Guffan died at Achonry in 1085.Brigidian ó Brolcan, called Bishop of Leinster, died in 1097.Aid ó Heremon died in 1100.Ferdomnach died in 1102; he was called Bishop of Leinster, and fate in 1096, and after his Resignation return'd again to the See.Mac Dongail died i 1108.O Dubhin died in 1148.Fian (mac Tiarcaín) ó Gorman, Abbot of the Monastery of Greenwood, succeeded, and died at Killeigh in 1160, and was there buried.Malachias ó Birn.Malachias ó Birn*, alias ó Brin, succeeded, who is mentioned in the Life of Lawrence Arch-Bishop of Dublin, published by Surius: He died the 1st of January, 1176.

1176.

Nehemias.

1177.

Nehemias was made Bishop in 1177: He fate about 18 Years.Cornelius mac Gelan.

1206.

1222.

Cornelius mac Gelan, Rector of the Church of Cloncurry, afterward Arch-Deacon of Kildare, was lawfully chosen Bishop, and consecrated in 1206; and died in 1222.Ralph de Bristol.

1223.

1232.

Ralph de Bristol, born (as I think) at Bristol in England, Treasurer of St. Patrick's, Dublin, was consecrated in 1223. In the Library of Trinity College, Cambridge, is extant William Malmesbury's Book of the Antiquities of the Church of Glaston, wherein this Ralph is mentioned among those who granted certain Days of Indulgence to the Abby of Glaston. He was at no small Charge in the Repair and Beautifying of his Church. He died about the beginning of the Year 1232. He writ the Life of Lawrence Arch-Bishop of Dublin.John de Taunton.

1258.

His Successor John de Taunton, a Canon of St. Patrick's Church, fate 25 Years; and died in 1258, about the beginning of Summer, and was buried in his Church.Simon de Kilkenny.Simon* of Kilkenny, so called because born in that Town, a Canon of Kildare, succeeded in this See, and had the Royal Assent the 21st of October, 1258. He died died at Kildare about the beginning of April, 1272 ; after which the See was vacant some Years.

An. Dom.
1272.

Nicholas Cusack.

Upon the death of Simon, Stephen Dean of Kildare was chosen by one part of the Chapter, and William, Treasurer of the same Church, by the other, which occasioned a long Contention afterward at Rome : But both Elections being annulled by Pope Nicholas II, Nicholas Cusack, a Minorite and Native of Meath, was declared Bishop in December, 1279 ; who died in September, 1299, having fate about 20 Years, and was buried in his Church.

1279.
1299.

Walter le Veele.

King Edward I. confirm'd the Election of Walter le Veele, Chancellor of Kildare, the 5th of January following ; he was consecrated in St. Patrick's, Dublin, in 1300, and fate above 32 years. He died in November, 1332, and was buried in his Church. While he fate, namely, in 1310, a Parliament was held in Kildare.

1300. 1332.
A Parliament in Kildare.

Richard Hulot.

The See was then vacant for half a Year, till April 26, 1334, Richard Hulot, or Houlot, at first Canon, afterward Arch-Deacon of Kildare, was chosen Bishop, and restor'd to the Temporals. He died the 24th of June, 1352, having fate 18 Years, 1334.

1352.

Thomas Giffard.

Thomas Giffard, Chancellor of Kildare, was chosen Bishop by the Dean and Chapter, and consecrated in 1353, or 1355. He died the 25th of September, 1365 ; and was buried there, in the Cathedral of St. Bridget ; after which the See was vacant above a whole Year.

1353.
1365.

Robert de Aketon.

Robert de Aketon, an Augustin Hermit, was chosen Bishop of Down by the Prior and Convent of that Church, the 18th of November, 1365 ; but the Pope annulling that Election, he obtain'd this See the Year following : He fate in 1367 ; but how long after I do not find.

1367.

George.

George succeeded, who died in 1401.

1401.

Henry de Wessenberch.

Henry de Wessenberch, a Minorite, was provided to this See by the Pope, the 4th of the Ides of December, 1401, says Lucas Wadding in the V. Tom. of his Annals of that Order ; of whom I find nothing more.

Thomas.

Thomas, who succeeded, died in 1405.

1405.

John Madock.

John Madock his Successor, Arch-Deacon of Kildare, and a Member of the University of Oxford, died in 1431. Bale makes mention of one William Quapod 1431.

An. Dom.

plod a Carmelite, who, he says, was Bishop of Kildare in those days, but I think he is mistaken; for that Quaplod was Bishop of Derry in Ulster, not Kildare, as appears out of Leland.

William.

1446.

To him, by Provision of Pope Eugenius IV. succeeded William, Arch-Deacon of Kildare, who sat 14 Years, and died in April, 1446.

Geofry Hereford.

1449.

Geofry Hereford, a Dominican, at the request of King Henry VI. was provided by the same Pope Eugene, and was consecrated at Easter, in 1449. He sat more than 15 Years, and was buried in his Church.

Richard Lang.

1474.

Richard Lang, a Man of great Gravity and Prudence, succeeded: How he was disappointed of the See of Armagh, see among the Bishops there. He died in 1474.

David.

The same Year succeeded David, who, it seems, died before he enjoy'd the See.

James Wale.

1475.

1494.

James Wale, D. D. a Minorite, succeeded, and was consecrated in the Nones of April, 1475. He died the 28th of April, 1494, and was buried at London, in a Church of his Order, having resign'd long before his death.

William Barret.

Barret succeeded, the same (I think) with William, called Bishop of Kildare, who in 1493 was Vicar to the Bishop of Cleremont in France.

Edmund Lane.

1522.
A College founded at Kildare.

Edmund Lane, who succeeded, died about the end of the Year 1522, and was buried in his Church. He founded a College at Kildare for the Dean and Chanter to live a Collegiate Life there. In the Register of Allen Arch-Bishop of Dublin, I find that he was Bishop of this See more than 40 Years: From whence it appears that Wale and Barret were a long time Bishops without a See.

Thomas Dillon.

1531.

Thomas Dillon, a Native of Meath, died in 1531; having sat about 8 Years.

Walter Wellesly.

1539.

Walter Wellesly, or Wesly, Prior of the Canons of the Abby of Conall, in the County of Kildare, and sometime Master of the Rolls, at the request of King Henry VIII. was provided to this See by Pope Clement VII. and restored to the Temporals the 23d of September, 1531. He retain'd his Priory by Dispensation during Life, and died in 1539; and was buried in his Convent.

William

William Miagh.

Upon the death of Wesley, Donald ó Beachan, a Minorite, was provided to this See by the Pope, the 16th of July, 1540, but died the 15th of November following: Thaddy Reynolds Dr. at Laws, by the like Provision was elected, but the King annulling that Election, William Miagh was advanced to this See, and made one of the Privy Council in Ireland, to K. Henry VIII. He died the 15th of December, 1548. after which the See was vacant one Year and 7 Months.

1548.

Thomas Lancaster.

Thomas Lancaster was consecrated at Dublin in July, 1550. by George Archbishop of Dublin, and the 3d of September following, he obtain'd a faculty of retaining the Deanry of Kilkenny and this See together, but in 1554, he was deprived by Dowdall Arch-bishop of Armagh, Leverous who succeeded) and other Delegates, because he was Married.

1554.

Thomas Leverous.

Thomas Leverous, a Native of Kildare, Dean of St. Patricks, then lately restor'd, succeeded the 1st of March 1554, by provision of Q. Mary, but was not confirmed by the Popes Bull till the 3d of August, 1555. He was deprived both of the Bishoprick and Deanry (both which he held by dispensation) for refusing to take the Oath of Supremacy, in January, 1559. after which Leverous taught School at Limerick. He died at the Naas, aged fourscore, about the Year 1577, and was there buried in the Parish Church of St. David.

1559.

Alexander Craik.

Alexander Craik, Batchelour in Divinity, consecrated by Hugh Arch-Bishop of Dublin about the end of August, 1560. He not content with the Deanry of St. Patrick's in Dublin, and the See of Kildare, (both which he held together) exchanged almost all the Mannors and Farms of the Bishoprick with Patrick Sarsfield, for certain Tyths of no great value; by this exchange the most ancient See of Kildare was reduced to a shameful poverty. He died after having fate only 3 Years and some Months, in 1564. and was buried in Patrick's Church in Dublin.

The cause of the poverty of the See of Kildare.

1564.

Robert Daly.

Robert Daly Prebend of Clonmethan, educated at Paris, succeeded, and was consecrated in May, 1564. and afterwards made one of the Privy Council to Queen Elizabeth. He fate more than 18 Years, in which time he was thrice thrown in a manner naked out of his house by the Rebels, and plundered of all his goods. He died in Winter, 1582.

1582.

Daniel Neylan.

Daniel Neylan, Rector of Iniscaffy, in the Diocess of Kilakoo, consecrated by Adam Arch-Bishop of Dublin, in November, 1583. He died at Disert the 18th of May, 1603. having fate 19 Years and 6 Months.

1603.

William Pilsworth.

William Pilsworth, a Londoner, Prebend of Monahanoc, bred in Magdalen College in Oxford, consecrated Bishop of Kildare the 11th of September, 1604.

1604.

An. Dom.
1635.

at Belfoon in the County of Meath, because of the Plague then raging in Dublin. He died at Naas the 9th May, 1635. aged 84 Years, and was buried at Bunfert, in the County of Kildare.

Robert Usher.

1642.

Robert Usher, Doctor in Divinity of the University of Dublin, Arch-deacon of Meath, succeeded and was consecrated at St. Patrick's in Dublin, the 25th of February, 1635. He died in England at Pant-y-birshy in Shropshire, in September, 1642. He was son of Henry Usher some time Arch-Bishop of Armagh.

William Golbourn.

1644.
1650.

William Golbourn, a Native of Cheshire, Batchelor of Divinity of the University of Dublin, Arch-Deacon of Kildare, was consecrated in St. Patrick's Dublin, the 1st of December, 1644. He died there of the Plague 1650. and was buried in St. Nicholas Church within the walls.

Thomas Price.

1660.
1667.

Thomas Price, Batchelor of Divinity, succeeded after a long vacancy, He was consecrated in Christ-Church in Dublin, the 10th of March, 1660. and translated to Cashel the 30th of May, 1667.

Ambrose Jones.

1678.

Ambrose Jones, Doctor of Divinity, Arch-Deacon of Meath, was promoted to the See of Kildare the 1st of June, 1667. and consecrated in the Cathedral of the B. Trinity in Dublin, the 29th of June, 1667. by James Arch-Bishop of Armagh, assisted by Michael Arch-Bishop of Dublin, Henry Bishop of Meath, and Edward Bishop of Kilaloe. He died at Dublin the 15th of December, 1678. and was there buried in St. Andrew's Church.

Anthony Dopping.

Born the 28th of March, 1643. in Dublin, the only surviving son of Mr. Anthony Dopping, born in Glocestershire; he was educated in the free School of St. Patrick's Dublin, where by the quickness of his natural Parts and diligent application to his Studies, he so improved as he became fit to be entered in the University of Dublin, in the Year 1656. when he was but 13 Years old, where he became soon remarkable, so that for his great advancements in Learning, he was elected one of the Fellows of the College at the age of 19. he performed all the several Offices of the House belonging to a Fellow, with the full satisfaction and applause of all his Superiors, and the more than ordinary love and respect of all the Youth under him. In the Year 1669. he was made Minister of the Parish of St. Andrew's. He took his Batchelor and Dr. of Divinity's Degrees in the College of Dublin, and was consecrated in Christ-Church, Dublin, the 2d of February, 1678. by Michael Arch-Bishop of Dublin, assisted by John Arch-Bishop of Tuam, Henry Bishop of Meath, Edward Bishop of Clonsfert and Roger Bishop of Clogher: from whence he was translated to the See of Meath.

William Moreton.

In the Year 1677 Dr. William Moreton of Moreton in Cheshire, and Born in Chester, came over Chaplain to His Grace James late Duke of Ormonde, then Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and by his favour was made Dean of Christ-Church, Church, Dublin; and the 13th of February, 1681, he was by the same Lord Lieutenant's Recommendation promoted to the Bishoprick of Kildare; with which he held the Deanry in Comendam, the Revenue of his Bishoprick being very inconsiderable: He had likewise then the Honour of being admitted one of the Members of the Honourable Privy Council, which he enjoy'd till the beginning of the late King James his Reign, and was restor'd to it again by the late King William and Queen Mary: And in the Reign of Her present Majesty Queen Anne, he had the Honour of being one of the Commissioners for keeping of the great Seal of Ireland, and is the present Bishop thereof.

An. Dom.
1681.

OF THE BISHOPS OF FERNES.

St. Edannus.

ST. Edan, (commonly called St. Moedoc and St. Moeg) son of Sedna, was born of Royal blood, in a place called Inis-breagmuig, in his youth he contracted a friendship with St. Lazerian in the Monastery of Devenish; afterwards he went into Wales to St. David of Menevia, with whom he lived long and received much Instruction; at last St. David sending him back into Ireland with his blessing, he was, by command of King Bran-dubh King of Leinster, who gave him the City Fernes, consecrated Bishop, or (according to our Writers of Lives) Arch-Bishop, about 598. The ancient Writer of his Life says, that St. Edan having been Bishop there about 50 Years and having founded many Monasteries, and wrought great Miracles, died happily the 31st of January, 632, which day is set apart to his memory, and was buried in his Church.

The first Bishop of Fernes, in 598.

See the Antiquities Ch. 29.
632.

St. Moling.

St. Moling, called also Dairchilla, born in Kenshelagh, now a part of the County of Wexford, while he was yet young, imbraced a Monastick life; he was afterward Abbot of Aghacainid, on the banks of the River Barrow (at this day called Teghmoling) an Abby built by himself: there, and sometimes at Glendelagh, he lived many Years, and, as is reported, writ certain Prophecies in Irish, wherein he foretold many things of the Kings of Ireland, and of their battels and deaths, to the end of time. At last in 632, the King of Leinster, at the perswasion of the Nobility, made him Arch-Bishop of the See of St. Moedog. He died very old the 17th of June, 697, having resigned the Bishoprick long before, and was buried at Teghmoling. Giraldus Cambrensis, lib. 2. Hib. expug. cap. 3. calls Moling, Bracean, Patrick and Columba, the four Prophets of Ireland, and affirms that their Books writ in Irish were extant in his time.

632.

697.

The Prophecies of Ire and.

Caman

An. Dom.

675. 676.

692.

714.

1050.

1095.

1117.

Coman succeeded and died in 675.Mædogar died in 676.Dírat died in 692, or 690.Cilleny died in 714, of whose Successors, for 300 Years and upwards I find no mention:Dermot ó Rudican died in 1048, or as some, 1050.Flan Corboy.Foghdath ó Hanrecan.Nelun Mac Donegan.Carbric ó Kerney died in 1095.Gelasius or Cella ó Colman died in 1117.Carthag ó Malgebry.Melissa ó Cathan.Roderick or Rory ó Trassy.

Joseph o Hethe.

1185.

Joseph ó Hethe or ó Eda, sat about 30 Years: In the Charter of the foundation of the Abby of Dunbrothy, to which he was a Witness, he is called Bishop of Wexford. He died in the Year 1185, and was buried, I think, at Wexford. It is to be observed here, that this Joseph and his Successor Albin were sometimes called Bishops of Wexford, and used that Stile in the Subscriptions of some Charters, with a design possibly of translating this See to Wexford; Town, at that time, much more populous and eminent. Certain it is that in a Bull of Pope Lucius III. to John Comin Arch-Bishop of Dublin, dated at Velletrum 11. April, Indiction XV. Ann. Dom. 1182, this See is called the Bishoprick of Wexford.

Albinus o Mulloy.

1222.

Upon the death of Joseph. John Earl of Moreton (afterward King of England) offered this Bishoprick to Girald Barry, commonly called Cambrensis, and promised to unite to it the See of Leghlin, then perhaps vacant, but upon his refusal it was given to Albin ó Mulloy, first a Monk, and afterward Abbot of Baltinglass, as appears in the Ms. life of the same Girald, extant in Cotton's Library, where I find mention of a sharp dispute between that Girald and Albinus, in a Synod held in Dublin about Mid-Lent, in 1185. Of the Contention which he likewise had with William Marescal the elder, Earl of Pembroke, who had possessed himself of two Mannors belonging to the Bishoprick (in which cause the Bishop had the worst) see Mathew Paris's Hist. Maj. where it is at large related. He died very old, about the end of the Year 1222, having sat about 36 Years.

Johannes de St. Johanne.

The first English Bishop of Fernes.

A Synod at Wexford.

The Year following, John S. John Treasurer of the Church of Limerick, and also of Ireland, succeeded, and was the first of the English who obtained this See. He either erected or indowed a Deanry in his Church, the Priory of St. John of Iniscorthy (with consent of Girald de Prindergast) He made a Cell to the Monastery of St. Thomas in Dublin: He is reckon'd among the principal Benefactors of his Church, as well for his Structures, as the Privileges obtained for his See; in 1240, he held a Synod at Wexford, in the Monastery of St. Peter and Paul of Selsker, the Canons whereof were once communicated to me by that lover of Antiquity Daniel Molyneux Ulster King at Arms, my great friend while living. This John died in 1243, having, with great prudence and integrity, govern'd the See of Fernes about 21 Years,

Galfridus

An. Dom.

Galfridus de St. Johanne.

Geofry St. John (perhaps his Brother) succeeded him twice, first in the Treasury of the Church of Limerick, and then in the See of Fernes, Geofry was likewise, before he was Bishop, Escheator of Ireland. He died in the beginning of the Year 1258.

1258.

Hugh de Lamport.

Hugh de Lamport, Treasurer of Fernes, lawfully elected, was confirmed by King Henry III. the 10th of July, 1258, in the 42d Year of his Reign and consecrated the same year. He is reckon'd among the Benefactors of the Abby of St. Albans in England, for certain Indulgencies which he granted to it. He died the 23d of May, 1282.

1282.

Richard of Northampton.

Richard of Northampton, a Canon of Kilaloo, restored to the Temporals the 13th of October, 1282. He died the 13th of January, 1303, having fate 21 years, and was buried at Fernes, in the Cathedral of St. Edan.

1303.

Simon de Evelham.

Simon de Evelham (by some call'd Hernesby) was consecrated the 22d of June, 1304. He died the 1st of September following.

1304.

Robert Walrand.

Robert Walrand fate about 6 years, and died at Fernes the 17th of November, 1311.

1311.

Adam of Northampton.

Adam of Northampton, was consecrated on Trinity Sunday, 1312. He appropriated the Church of Maglas to the Deanry of his Church, and died the 29th of October, 1346. While he was Bishop Fernes was plunder'd and burnt by the Rebels.

1312.

Hugh de Saltu.

Hugh de Saltu, a Prebend of St. Patrick's, Dublin, was consecrated on Passion Sunday, 1347, and before the end of the next year was depriv'd by the Pope, who alledg'd, that he had reserv'd to himself the Provision of the See of Fernes.

1347.

Geofry Grossfeld.

Geofry Grossfeld, D. D. an Augustin Hermit, succeeded by Provision of Pope Clement VI. consecrated (if I mistake not) at Avignon in 1347, and restored to the Temporals the 26th of March, 1348. He died the 22d of October following.

1347.

John Esmond.

John Esmond, or Estmond, was consecrated about the end of the Year 1349, and soon after depriv'd by the Pope.

1349.

G g

William

An. Dom.

William Charnells.

1350.

William Charnells, a Monk, I know not of what Order, upon the removal of Esmond, was set over this See by the Pope, and restor'd to the Temporals the 13th of October, 1350. The 24th of Edward III. He, with his Tenants and Fellowes, overthrew certain Rebels, and recover'd the Castle of Fernes which they had taken. He sat almost 12 Years, and was for a time Treasurer of Ireland. He died in July, 1362.

Thomas Den.

1363.

Thomas Den, Arch-Deacon of Fernes, bred in the University of Oxford, descended of an ancient Family, was consecrated on Trinity Sunday, 1363. He govern'd this See more than 37 Years, and died very old and sickly, the 27th of August, 1400, and the third Day after Licence of Election was granted to the Dean and Chapter.

Patrick Barret.

1400.

Patrick Barret, a Canon of Kells in Offory, succeeded, and by the Pope's command was consecrated at Rome in December, 1400, and restor'd to the Temporals the 11th of April following. He was sometimes Chancellor of Ireland, and appropriated the Church of St. Ardcoln to the Abby of St. Peter and Paul of Selsker near Wexford. He died the 10th of November, 1415, and was buried in the said Abby of Kells. He writ a Catalogue of his Predecessors in the See of Fernes.

Robert Whittey.

1458.

Robert Whittey, Chaunter of Fernes, was provided by Pope Martin V. He appropriated the Church of Ardekevan to the aforesaid Abby of Selsker of Wexford, and died in the Year 1458, of his Consecration 42, of his Age 88; having lain bedrid almost 10 Years before his death, and in 1451, had Thady, a Minorite, for his Coadjutor.

John Pursell.

1479.

John Pursell succeeded, and died in 1479, having sat about 20 Years.

Laurence Nevill.

1480.

Laurence Nevill, a Canon of Fernes, descended of a noble Family, was provided by Pope Sixtus IV. upon the death of Pursell, and restored to the Temporals the 20th of May, 1480. He sat about 23 Years, and died in 1503.

Edward Comerford.

1505.

Edward Comerford, Dean of Kilkenny, was consecrated at Kilkenny, in St. Kenny's Church, in 1505, and died on Easter-Day, 1509, having sat only four Years.

Nicolas Comyn.

1509.

Nicholas Comyn, Native (if I mistake not) of Limerick, was consecrated in St. Paul's, London, the 20th of January, 1509, and translated to the Sees of Waterford and Lismore in 1519.

John.

John Pursel.

An. Dom.

John Pursel succeeded, and was consecrated at Rome the 6th of May, 1519. He died the 20th of July, 1539.

1519.

Alexander Devereux.

Alexander Devereux, The last Abbot of Donbrothy, born at Balmagir, in the County of Wexford, was consecrated in St. Patrick's, Dublin, the 14th of December, 1539. He died at Fethard in 1566, having sate about 37 Years, and was there buried in the Chancel of the Parish Church.

1539.

John Devereux.

John Devereux, Dean of Fernes, was consecrated about the end of the same Year, by Hugh Corren Arch-Bishop of Dublin. He died in 1578, and was buried in the Parish Church of St. Mary's, Wexford.

1578.

Hugh Allen.

The following Year, James Proctor, a Prebendary of Salisbury in England, was chosen Successor by Queen Elizabeth, but died before Consecration. At last Hugh Allen Bishop of Down and Connor, was translated to this See the 24th of May, 1582. He came into Ireland first with Thomas Smith, and the Year following was consecrated Bishop of Down and Connor, by Thomas Arch-Bishop of Armagh; then in the Year 1582, as we have said, he came hither. He set the Manor of Fethard, besides many other Farms, for a long Term of Years, reserving thereout only some small Rents to the See: But Thomas Ram, afterward Bishop here, recover'd that Manor. Allen died at Fethard in 1599, and was buried in the Parish Church.

1582.

1599.

The Bishops of Fernes and Leghlin.

Robert Grave.

Robert Grave, Dean of Cork, a Native of Kent, and Bred in the University of Cambridge, was provided by Queen Elizabeth to the Sees both of Fernes and Leghlin, and Consecrated in Christ-Church, Dublin, in August, 1600. He designing to pass by Sea to Wexford, was cast away, a Tempest arising, in the Harbour of Dublin, the 1st of October following.

1600.

Nicholas Stafford.

Nicholas Stafford, Chancellor of Fernes succeeded, and was Consecrated the 20th of March, 1600. He Died the 15th of November, 1604, having sate Three Years and Three Months, and was Buried in St. Mary's at Wexford, in the same Tomb (as I have heard) with his Predecessor John Devereux.

1604.

Thomas

An. Dom.

Thomas Ram.

1605.

Thomas Ram Born at Windsor in Berkshire, Educated first at Eton, afterwards in Kings College, Cambridge; where having taken the Degree of Master of Arts, he came into Ireland Chaplain to Robert Devereux Earl of Essex, in 1599. The next Year he was made Dean of Cork, and then of Fernes, by Charles Blount, Baron Mountjoy, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, afterwards Earl of Devonshire in England, to whom he was then Chaplain. Five Years after he was promoted to the Sees of Fernes and Leghlin, and Consecrated in Christ-Church, Dublin. the 2d of May, 1605, (the See of Dublin being then vacant.) by Henry Usher, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, assisted by Miles Casbel, and William Kildare. He Died of an Apoplexy in Dublin, the 24th of November, 1634, at 70 Years of Age, during the Session of a Convocation there; from whence his Body was Conveyed to Newborom, alias Gory, in the County of Wexford, and Deposited in a fair Marble Tomb, in a Chappel built by himself. He also built the Bishops House at Old Leghlin, and other Structures in such places where he received any Profits, for the Benefit of his Successors; and recovered the Manor of Fethard, to the See of Fernes. His Library was Burnt by the Popish Priests and Friars in the beginning of March, 1641.

George Andrew.

1635.

George Andrew, a Native of Daventry in Northamptonshire, Bred in Magdalen-College, in Oxford, and Dean of Limerick, was Consecrated Bishop of Fernes and Leghlin, in St. Patrick's, Dublin, (where he had been Chantor) the 14th of May, 1635, by Lancelot Arch-Bishop of Dublin, Theophilus Dromore, William Killmore, and John Ardagh. He Died at London the 28th of October, 1648, and was Buried in St. Clement's-Church. In his time the Manor of Fethard, recovered by Bishop Ram, was exchanged for other Lands near Fernes, by Act of Parliament, Carol. I.

Robert Price.

1660.

Robert Price, a Welsh-man, Doctor of Laws in the University of Dublin, Dean of Connor; Chaplain to Thomas Earl of Strafford, Educated at Oxford, where he had proceeded Master of Arts, was Consecrated Bishop of Fernes and Leghlin, in St. Patrick's, Dublin, the 27th of January, 1660. He Died the 26th of March, 1666, and was Buried in the Cathedral of St. Patrick's, Dublin.

Richard Boyle.

1666.

Richard Boyle, Dean of Limerick; promoted to both Sees the 7th of June, 1666, was Consecrated the 10th of January, 1667, and Died in February, 1683.

Narcissus Marsh.

1683.

Narcissus Marsh, Doctor of Divinity in Oxford, was admitted Provost of Trinity-College, Dublin, the 24th of January, 1678. and from thence preferr'd to the Sees of Fernes and Leghlin, the 27th of February, 1683, and Translated to the Arch-Bishoprick of Cashel the 13th of March, 1692, and to Dublin the 24th of May, 1694, where he Built a spacious Library, and from thence Translated to Armagh the 18th of February, 1702.

Bartholomew Vigors.

1690.

Bartholomew Vigors Dean of Armagh, and sometime Minister of St. Mary's in Wexford, was Advanced to both Sees, and Consecrated the 8th of March, 1690.

OF THE BISHOPS OF OSSORY.

St. Kiaran.

THE Episcopal See of Offory, was first placed at Saiger, (which at present is called Seir-Keran) in Ely o Carol, thence, according to some, in Aghavoe in Upper-Offory, and at length happily removed to Kilkenny. The first Bishop of Saiger was St. Kiaran the Elder, Son of Lugny, a Man of great Authority for his Piety and Learning. Born in Offory, of Ethnick Parents, and Travelling into Foreign Parts in his Youth, came to Rome, where he embraced Christianity at Twenty Years of Age; being then Ordained Bishop (so says the M. S. Author of his Life.) He was sent into his Country, namely Ireland; and on his way met St. Patrick, Arch-Bishop of all Ireland; at which meeting the Saints rejoiced. Kiaran after his return, hid not the Talent of his Lord, but was diligent in Preaching, and Converted many from Idolatry. He fix'd his See (as has been said) at Saiger, which was afterwards (but at what time is uncertain,) but perhaps in the Year 1052, for in that Year as the M. S. Annals of Leinster tell us, was a Church Built at Aghavoe, and St. Canic's, or St. Kenny's Tomb placed there. From thence Felix o Dullany, about the end of the Reign of King Henry the II. Transplanted the See to Kilkenny. St. Kiaran Died the 5th of March, 549, of whose Successors in this See, very little Memory remains for many Ages. In our Histories we find mention of Four, Carthacus the Elder, his next Successor in the See, and Sedna Successor to Carthacus. Likewise Two Cormacs, the first of whom Died in 867, and the other in 997.

An. Dom.

549.

867.

997.

Donald o Fogerty.

Donald o Fogerty Bishop of Offory, and Successor to Kiaran, Died, says an Old Manuscript, in a good old Age at Rath-Kiaran, in the 8th of the Ides of May, 1178. He Sate I think above Twenty Years.

1178.

Felix o Dullany.

Felix o Dullany, called Abbot of Offory, a Cistercian Monk, succeeded. He removed the Episcopal Seat from Aghavoe to Kilkenny, and laid the Foundation of the Cathedral, afterward Dedicated to the Abbot St. Kenny, which was not finished till the time of Geoffry St. Leger, who made an end of it, at no small charge, before his Death; though before him some of his Predecessors are said to have taken great pains about the Fabrick of this Church. He Sate about Twenty Four Years, and Died in 1202, and was Buried in St. Mary's Monastery of Feripont, in a Tomb on the North side of the High Altar, where it is reported many Miracles of old were wrought.

1202.

H h

Hugh

Au. Dom.

Hugh Rufus.

1218.

Hugh Rufus an English-man, an Augustinian Canon, and the first Prior of Kells in Offory, was chosen Bishop 1202, with consent of the whole Clergy, and Consecrated before the end of the Year. By his perswasion, Thomas Son of Anthony, Built the Covent of St. Columb of Inistiok, and filled it with Augustinian Monks, as appears by the Charter of the Foundation. He granted to William Marescall the Elder, Earl of Pembroke, a great part of the City of Kilkenny, reserving an Ounce of Gold to Himself and Successors. He Died in 1218, and was Buried in the Abby of Kells, which he largely endowed.

Peter Mannefin.

1229.

Peter Mannefin, or Malveisin, a Canon of Cffory, lawfully Elected, was confirmed by the King the 8th of December, 1218, as I find in the Records of the Tower of London. He purchaed the Wood of Aghlone near Clonemore, and the adjacent Farm, and left them to his See. He sate Eleven Years, and Died in 1229.

William of Kilkenny.

1232.

Upon the King's Licence of Election, the Dean and Chapter chose the Chancellor William of Kilkenny the 16th of March, 1229. He sate but a short time, for about the beginning of the Year 1232, by perswasion of his Successor he Resigned.

Walter of Brackell.

1243.

Walter of Brackell, Rector of Strettonedall in the Diocess of Hereford, succeeded, in whose favour I find Letters not long before written, from King Henry III. to the Arch-Bishop of Armagh, desiring that he might be Elected Bishop of Meath, (that See being then vacant) but Ralph le Petit obtaining that See, he was by means of the same King, promoted to this in 1232. He is reckoned among the Benefactors of St. Albans in England, as appears by the Register of the same Abby in Cotton's Library. He Died the 5th of December, 1243, having sate more than Eleven Years.

Geoffry of Turvill.

1244.

Geoffry of Turvill, Arch-Deacon of Dublin and Treasurer of Ireland, lawfully Elected, was confirmed in 1244. He purchased to his See the Manor of Dorogh, and the Possessions thereto belonging, and Built the Bishops Palace there. He Died at London in 1250, about the Feast of All-Saints, and was Buried in the Church of the Inner-Temple, (to which he had granted Thirty Five Days of Indulgence,) having sate about Six Years. While he was Arch-Deacon of Dublin, Ralph Nevil Bishop of Chichester was made Chancellor of Ireland, by King Henry III. the 28th of September, 1232, which place he executed by our Geoffry his Deputy.

Hugh Mapilton.

1251.

Hugh Mapilton, or Glendelagh, Arch-Deacon likewise of Dublin, was Consecrated Bishop of Offory about the end of May, 1251, and the Month following was made Treasurer of Ireland. He Built an Episcopal Palace at Aghor, for him and his Successors. He also laboured much in Additions to the Fabrick of the the Cathedral of St. Kenny; but Death prevented his concluding his Work. He Died in 1256, and was Buried in his Church near St. Mary's Chappel, where we see his Tomb and Statue of exquisite work. He founded certain Prebends in the same Church.

An. Dom.
~~~~~

Hugh.

One Hugh, a Dominican, in the Records of the Church of Offory, is said to have succeeded. He gave to the Friars of his Order, in Kilkenny, the Fountain of St. Kenny, and an Aqueduct; besides divers other things. He sate 2 Years, and died in 1259. and was buried in the Church of the aforefaid Dominicans near the High Altar.

1259.

Geoffry St. Leger.

Geoffry St. Leger, Treasurer of St. Kenny's Church, descended of a Noble Family, was consecrated in 1260. He, with no small cost finished that part of the Structure of his Church, which Mapilton left imperfect. He was also at great Charges in Repairing and Adorning the Bishops Houses at Aghavoe and Dorogh. He likewise bestowed much on the College of the Vicars Chorals which he founded, and ordained that they should celebrate his Anniversary and the Anniversaries of Brachell, Turvil, Mapilton and others. Upon a Writ of Right, in 1284, he recovered the Manor of Seir Keran, by Combat (says Clinn) his Champion (for so I understand) gaining the Victory over the Champion of his Adversary. He sate about 20 Years, and died in January, 1286, and was buried near Mapilton, in a Tomb adorn'd with his Statue. The situation of this Church is worth our notice, from the pleasant prospect it presents from a Hill gently rais'd over the City, and the fertile Country round about, watered with the River Neore.

1260.

Roger of Wexford.

Roger of Wexford, Dean of Kilkenny, succeeded, and together with Thomas St. Leger Bishop of Meath, was consecrated in the Cathedral of St. Kenny, by John Saunford Arch-Bishop of Dublin, the 3d of November, 1287. He died the 28th of June, 1289, and was buried in his Church, 1287.

Michael of Exeter.

Michael of Exeter, a Canon of the Church of Kilkenny, upon Licence of Election granted the 5th of September, was elected the 28th of the same Month, 1289, and consecrated the same Year. He is much commended for his Liberality to the Canons of his Church. He died about the Feast of Pentecost, (or as some) the 12th of July, 1302, having sate 13 Years.

1289.

William Fitz-John.

William Fitz-John, a Canon of the same Church, was elected by his fellow Canons, and consecrated at Kilkenny, a little after the Feast of the Epiphany, in 1304, and having sate 15 Years, was by the Pope's Provision, translated to Cashel in 1317. While he was Bishop of Offory, he appropriated the Church of Claragh to the Abby and Canons of St. John the Evangelist, in Kilkenny, reserving to the Vicars Chorals of St. Kenny an annual Pension of 20 Shillings.

1304.

Richard

Au. Dom.

Richard Ledred.

1318.

Richard Ledred, a Minorite of London, by command of Pope John XXII. was consecrated at Avignon in 1318. Of the troubles between him and Arnold Poer Seneschal of Kilkenny, see the Annals of Ireland, published by Camden Ann. 1325 and 1328, afterward in 1348, (or as Wadding more rightly) 1347, when he had lived 9 Years in Exile, he procur'd in the Court of Rome (says the above named Clinn) an Exemption from the Jurisdiction and Superiority of the Arch-Bishop of Dublin; but I think to no purpose. Two Years after his Temporals were Confiscated or Seized into the hands of the King, for having unjustly Excommunicated the Treasurer of Ireland, and by words abused the Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, sitting on the Bench. Not long after Thomas Fitz-Gilbert (as appears in the Records) rob'd and burnt the Castle of Moycobir, and kill'd Hugh le Poer. Ledred was accused as conscious to the fact, and did not (for ought I find) otherwise clear himself than by the King's Pardon, the Grant of which Pardon the King afterward declar'd void, as being surreptitious and obtain'd by fraud. However about the end of the Year 1354, he was restor'd to Favour, and the Storm being blown over, he passed the remainder of his Days in great Repose. He much adorn'd the Cathedral, and new erected and glaz'd all the Windows; among which the East Window was beautified with such excellent Workmanship, that the like was not in Ireland. He demolished, with the King's leave, three Churches without the Walls, and made use of the Stones in the Structure of the Bishops Palace, near the Cathedral. He died very old, in 1360, and was buried in his Church near the High Altar, on the Gospel side.

John of Tatenale.

1370.

Upon the Death of Ledred, Miles Sweetman, Treasurer of the Church of Kilkenny, who was afterward Arch-Bishop of Armagh, was chosen to this See: but the Election being rejected, the Pope prefer'd John of Tatenale, by some surnam'd of Oxford, of the Order of the Hermits of St. Augustin, or, as some say, of the Order of Predicants. He releas'd to the Vicars Chorals all Procurations due to the See, by Right of ordinary Visitation, except only a yearly Payment of six Shillings and eight Pence, with this Condition, that under penalty of ten Shillings, for Omission, they should celebrate the Anniversary of his Death. He died in 1370.

Alexander Balscot.

1371.

Alexander Balscot, a Canon of the Church of Kilkenny, a Man of great Prudence and Learning, succeeded by Provision of Pope Gregory XI. Under Edward III. he was made Treasurer of Ireland, and under Richard II. Chancellor, and for a time Lord Justice. He was restor'd to the Temporals the 12th of May, 1371. He sate about 15 Years, and was then translated to Meath.

Richard Northal.

1386.

Richard Northal, a Carmelite of London, near which City he was born, grew famous for his Learning, Preaching, and other Virtues, whereupon he came to be known to King Richard II. by whom he was first made Bishop of Offory, and consecrated in 1386, and afterward in 1391, and 1394, was sent Ambassador to Pope Boniface IX. He was also for a time Chancellor of Ireland, and after Nine Years continuance in this See, was translated to Dublin.

Thomas

Thomas Peverell.

Thomas Peverell, or (as he is call'd in the Records) Pierevil, a Carmelite also, and Doctor of Divinity of Oxford, was by means of King Richard II. made Bishop of Ossory, in 1397. He was a Man famous in his time, and born of an honourable Family in Suffolkshire. He held this See but a short time; for in May, 1398, he was translated to Landaff in Wales, and from thence to Worcester in 1407, where having sate ten Years, he died the 1st of March, 1417, and was buried in the Cathedral of Worcester. Of his Works see Bale Hist of Ireland.

1397.

John Griffin.

John Griffin, Bishop of Leghlin, and Chancellor of the Exchequer, was translated by the Pope to this See in 1398, and a Year or two after died.

1398.

Roger of Appleby.

Roger of Appleby, Prior of the Monastery of Newtown, in the Diocese of Lichfield, succeeded by Provision of Pope Boniface IX. in October, 1400, and was restor'd to the Temporals the 6th of April following. He died, as it seems, in 1404.

1400.

John Volcan.

John Volcan, Bishop of Dromore, was translated to this See by the same Boniface IX. in 1404, and died the next Year about Michaelmas. A Prelate by the endowments of his mind of no mean rank.

1404.

Thomas Snell.

Thomas Snell, Bishop of Waterford and Lismore, was restor'd to the Temporals of this See the 23d of September, 1405. He gave to this Church certain rich Vestments, and left to his Successors a Miter adorn'd with precious Stones. William Purfel was Proctor to him, the 16th of October, 1415, and to Nicholas Fleming Arch-Bishop of Armagh, and present at the General Council of Constance. The Bishop died at Waterford the 16th of October, 1416.

1405.

Patrick Ragged.

Patrick Ragged, Bishop of Cork, was translated to this See in 1417, and died the 20th of August, or (as others) April, 1421. See more of him amongst the Bishops of Cork.

1417.

Denis o Dea.

Denis o Dea, Batchelor of both Laws, and learned in the Common Law, was chosen Bishop the 26th of November, 1421, and sate five Years.

1421.

Thomas Barry.

Thomas Barry succeeded. He was made Treasurer of Ireland the 1st of January, 1428, and the 7th of Henry VI. He built a Castle at his Manor of Logh, together with the Hall there. He died, as is said, the 3d of March, 1459, and was buried in St. Kenny's Church, before the High Altar.

1428.

An. Dom.

David Hacket.

1478.

David Hacket, by the Pope's Provision succeeded, and sat about Eighteen Years. He built a Castle at Dole, and added a Hall and Kitchen to the House of Clonmore, and rais'd the Steeple of St. Kenny's Church with polish'd Stone. He died the 24th of October, 1478, and was buried in his Church near the High Altar.

John o Hedian.

1486.

John o Hedian, Arch-Deacon (if I mistake not) of Cashel, succeeded. He took much pains in the Government of his Diocese, and having sat about seven Years died the 6th of January, 1486, and was buried in a Chappel near the West Gate of the Cathedral : After which the See was vacant about two Years.

Oliver Cantwell.

1495.

Oliver Cantwell, a Dominican, ordain'd Bishop by Pope Innocent VIII. was not confirm'd by King Henry VII. till the 28th of February, 1495, at which time he submitted to the King's mercy, before Henry Dean Bishop of Bangor and Justice of Ireland, for having accepted of the Pope's Provision. He laid out much money in the repair of the Bishop's Houses at Aghor and Freinston, and repair'd the great Bridge of Kilkenny, broken down by a Flood, and appropriated the Church of St. Mall to the Vicars Chorals. He died very old, the 9th of January, 1526, having sat about thirty nine Years, and was buried at Kilkenny, in a House of his Order, but a Monument (as I am inform'd) was erected to his Memory in the Cathedral of St. Kenny : 'Tis said that while he was Bishop he still retain'd the Dominican Habit.

Miles Baron.

1527.

Miles Baron, or Fitz Gerald, Prior of Inistiock, was consecrated Bishop of Offory in 1527, and by Dispensation held his Priory till the Visitation of Abbies ; at which time he surrendred to King Henry VIII. Before he was Bishop he added to the said Priory a new Steeple and a Cloister. After his Consecration he repair'd the Bishops House at Kilkenny, and gave to his Church a Crosier Staff of Silver. He died aged of grief (which in old age is often mortal) in 1550, or 1551, and was buried among his Predecessors in the Priory of Inistiock : some say that John Bird was translated from the See of Bangor to this, the 3d of September, 1539, but doubtless they are mistaken, for 'tis certain that this Miles, both then and long after, was Bishop of this See.

John Bale.

1552.

John Bale was consecrated in Christ-Church, Dublin, the 2d of February, 1552, according to the English Stile, together with Hugh Goodacre Arch-Bishop of Armagh, by George Arch-Bishop of Dublin, assisted by Thomas Kildare and Eugene Down. He was born (as he speaks of himself) at Covy, a Village five miles from Donwich, in the County of Suffolk, and had his Education for some time at Norwich, where he was made a Carmelite, and afterward in Jesus College at Cambridge. He was at last imprison'd for preaching against the Romish Religion ; first by Leo Arch-Bishop of York, and afterward by Stokesly Bishop of London : but by means of Cromwell was set at liberty. Not long after, being forced to fly, he retir'd into Lower Germany, whence after eight Years he return'd, and by favour of King Edward VI. was preferr'd to this See. He enjoy'd it scarce six Months when King Edward died, and Queen Mary succeeding, he had no prospect of safety ; and therefore retir'd again, leaving a well furnished Library at Kilkenny. On his way he was taken by Pirates, and sold ; and being redeemed, went went to Basil, where among other learned Men, he grew intimate with Conrad Gesner, as appears by the Epistles which passed between them. After five Years, in the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, he return'd into England, and contenting himself with a Prebend of Canterbury, took no care to recover his See. He was learned, and a diligent Preacher and a Searcher of Antiquities, but used too much liberty in his Writings. He published many Books in Latin and English, a Catalogue of which he has given us in his Book, De Scriptoribus Britanniae. He died at Canterbury in November, 1563, aged Threescore and eight Years, and was buried in the Body of that Cathedral.

An. Dom.

John Thonory.

While John Bale was at Basil, John Thonory, B. D. and Native of Kilkenny, by Appointment of Queen Mary, was consecrated at Inistiock; about the end of the Year 1553. He sate above eleven Years; and in 1565, died of grief for the loss of his Goods by Thieves. He order'd the Charters of his Church, which otherwise would have perished, to be Transcrib'd and Sign'd with his Seal. While he sate four Choristers were instituted in the Cathedral of St. Kenny.

1553.

Christopher Gafney.

The See having been vacant two Years, Christopher Gafney Prebendary of Tipper, was promoted by Queen Elizabeth, and consecrated in St. Patrick's, Dublin, in May, 1567. He died the 3d of August, 1376, and was buried in a Chappel on the North side the Chaire.

1567.

Nicholas Walsh.

Nicholas Walsh, Chancellor of St. Patrick's, Dublin, Son of Patrick Walsh, sometime Bishop of Waterford and Lismore, was consecrated Bishop of Ossory in the beginning of February, 1577. He, with the Assistance of Nehemy Donellan, afterward Arch-Bishop of Tuam, and John Kerney Treasurer of St. Patrick's, Dublin, begun to Translate the N. Testament into Irish, which was afterward done out of Greek by William Daniel late Arch-Bishop of Tuam. Walsh's design was prevented by a horrid Murder: for one James Dullard, a wicked fellow, whom the Bishop had cited for Adultery, stab'd him with a Skeine in his own House; but the Murtherer was soon brought to Execution. He was kill'd the 14th of December, 1585, and his Body brought to Kilkenny, and buried in the Cathedral; after which the See was vacant nine Months.

1577.

John Horsfall.

John Horsfall, a Native of Yorkshire, succeeded, and died the 13th of February, 1609, having sate thirty three Years and about five Months, and was buried under a plain Marble in St. Kenny's Church.

1609.

Richard Dean.

Richard Dean, a Native of Yorkshire and Dean of Kilkenny, succeeded. He Died the 20th of February, 1612, and was Buried in the Church of Kilkenny under a Marble, near the Bishop's Seat.

1612.

Jonas Wheeler.

Jonas Wheeler, D. D. Born in Devonshire, bred in Oxford, Chaplain to King James I. and Dean of Christ-Church, Dublin, was consecrated by Thomas

An. Dom.

1613.

Thomas Dublin, George Meath, William Kildare, and John Kilalloe, the 9th of May, 1613. This Bishop with great Expence and Charge, and no less Trouble, recovered to this See the Lordships of Tacciffin, Grange-coolepobble, Frenistown and Sheskin-Wood, which were aliened in Fee from the Church by Bishop Thomory: He likewise Recovered to this See, the Manor and Lordship of Breglince in the King's County, which King James I. granted, and confirmed to him and his Successors for ever, (by his Letters Patents under the Great Seal of Ireland, Dated the 23d of December, Anno Domini 1619.) He was a Prelate of great Piety, generous Hospitality, and very obliging Temper; he Died at his Palace at Kilkenny the 19th of April, 1640, and lieth Interr'd on the North side of the Chancel of the Cathedral Church of St. Canic, under a fair Marble Monument.

Griffith Williams.

1641.

Griffith Williams, Born at Carnarvan in North Wales, about the Year 1589. He was Descended of an Eminent Family, Bred at Christ-Church College in Oxford, and at Jesus-College in Cambrige, he was Ordained Deacon on the 1st of March, 1607. by William Rochester, and Priest on the 30th of May, 1607, by Martin Ely; he took his Degree of Batchelor of Divinity at Cambrige, Anno Dom. 1616, and soon after was made Parson of Slanliched, in the Diocesis of Bangor; he took his Degree of Doctor in Divinity at Cambrige, 1627, and was soon after made one of the Chaplains to King Charles I. who preferred him to be one of the Prebendaries of Westminster, and to the Deanry of Bangor in North-Wales; and by his Royal Letter dated the 19th of July, 1641, he advanced him to the Bishoprick of Offory, and was confirmed by his Letters Patents, dated the 11th of September, 1641, on the 13th restored to the Temporalities, and the 26th, he was Consecrated by Lancelot Dublin, John Ardagh, and Robert Kilfenora, and soon after was Inthroned in the Cathedral Church of St. Canic; but the Bloody Rebellion breaking out in this Kingdom the 23d of October following, he was forced to fly into England, and waited on his Majesty as one of his Chaplains at the Battle of Edge-hill, and constantly with great Loyalty by Preaching and Writing against that Great Rebellion, adhered to his Majesties Interest, with the loss of all his Temporal Estate; and tho' he was offered a Living by the Right Honourable Philip Earl of Pembroke and Mountgomery, worth 400*l.* in Lancashire, and a Pension of a 100*l. per Annum*, from Henry Cromwel, Lord Deputy of Ireland, under the Usurpation; yet he chose rather to live in a very poor and miserable Condition in his own Country (during the King's Exile,) than to Forfeit his Loyalty and Allegiance to his lawful Sovereign. But in the Year 1660, being restored to his Bishoprick, he found his Cathedral Church totally Ruined, (not one pane of Glass being left of that valuable Piece of Antiquity, the East Window of the said Cathedral, wherein the History of the Gospel was so lively represented in Painted or Stained Glass; for which, as it is credibly reported, Johannes Baptista Rinuccini Arch-Bishop of Frimo, and the Pope's Nuncio, to the Rebels of this Kingdom, offered 700*l.* in order to carry them to Rome;) But the good Bishop with all Expedition set about the Repairs of it, which cost him above 600*l.* and the Ring of Bells being carried away in the time of the said Rebellion, he hung up one large Bell in the Steeple at his own Expence; besides all this, he spent 6 or 700*l.* in recovering the Church Lands out of the Hands of the Adventurers and Soldiers; he was so very bountiful in his Charity, that his Purse might very well be called the Poor Man's Puteus Inexhaustus; and the conclusion of his Life was suitable to it; for as he built an Hospital in St. Canic's Church-yard for Eight Poor Widows, so by his Last Will, he settled on them for their Maintenance the Lands of Fermoyle in the Kingdom of Ireland, then set at 40*l. per Annum*. He did likewise give his Lands in Slanliched in Carnarvanshire, and his Houses in Conway, and Lands of Guffin Guffin in the Parish of Slandegai, all in North Wales, to the Poor of the said Parishes for ever : And he did moreover bequeath 50*l.* to the Poor of St. Camie's Parish. He was an excellent Divine, and an extraordinary Preacher, which his Best Religion, the Seven Golden Candlesticks, &c. plainly demonstrate: He Died at his Episcopal House at Kilkenny the 29th of March, 1672, about the Eighty Fourth Year of his Age, and lieth Buried on the South side of the Chancel of the said Cathedral Church, on the left hand as you go out of the Chancel into the Chapter House, under the Bishops Throne, in the Tomb of Nicholas Motynge, sometime Chancellor of the said Cathedral. After whom succeeded,

John Parry.

John Parry, Eldest Son to the Reverend and Learned Doctor Edward Parry, Bishop of Kilaloe ; He was Educated at Jesus-College in Oxford : and being Chaplain to the Duke of Ormonde, was by him preferred to the Deanry of Christ-Church, Dublin ; and was also Treasurer of St. Patrick's, Dublin ; he was recommended by the Duke to his Majesty for the Bishoprick, and was Consecrated in Christ-Church, Dublin, by Doctor Michael Boyle, Lord Arch-Bishop of Dublin, the 28th of April, 1672, and he was Inthroned the 2d of September following ; and held the said Deanry in Commendam : He laid out about 400*l.* in repairing the Bishops Palace ; and Erected a very good Ring of Six Bells in the Steeple of the said Cathedral, 1675.

1672.

|                                                   | H. | Q. | P. |                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|---------------------------------------------------|----|----|----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| The Treble weighing — — —                         | 7  | 2  | 12 | The Charge of which Bells, for Casting, Iron-work, Timber-work, and Hanging up, ( not reckoning the Metal, ) amounted to Two Hundred and Forty Six Pounds, Thirteen Shillings and Ten Pence Sterling. |
| The Second Bell — — —                             | 7  | 0  | 22 |                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| The Third — — —                                   | 9  | 0  | 14 |                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| The Fourth — — —                                  | 11 | 0  | 7  |                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| The Fifth — — —                                   | 15 | 0  | 16 |                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| The Tenor — — —                                   | 20 | 0  | 18 |                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|                                                   | 70 | 2  | 5  |                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| He sent a Bell to the Church of Callan — — | 6  | 2  | 14 |                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| To the Church of Gowran a Bell — —         | 1  | 3  | 6  |                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| To the Church of Thomasstown a Bell — —    | 1  | 0  | 0  |                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|                                                   | 79 | 3  | 25 |                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

He likewise passed Patents for the Augmentation Lands given to this See, by the Act of Settlement, and for all the Lands belonging to the See, of which he was in Possession ; and a Confirmation under the Great Seal of Ireland of all the Liberties and Priviledges of the ancient Corporation of Irishtown near Kilkenny, which was Founded and Endowed by his Predecessors ; in which Corporation the Bishops of Ossory for the time being ( being Lords thereof by Immemorial Prescription ) have the Nomination of the Chief Magistrate ; and as this Reverend Prelate took Care to Secure the Rights and ancient Priviledges of his See, so he preserved the Rights likewise of his Clergy ; for the Duke of Ormonde having intimated to the Bishop by Letter that many Improprations then in his Graces Possession, and in his Diocess, were expiring, advised him to pass Patent for the Reversion of them for the use of the Clergy, least they should be begged from the Crown by designing Persons ; upon which Intimation the Bishop ( who was indefatigable in matters for the Churches Service, ) by his Graces Interest and Favour, passed the Patent for the use of the Clergy of this

An. Dom.

Diocess for ever. He was a Prelate of very good Parts and Abilities. He Died at his House in Dublin, the 21st of December, 1677, and was Buried the 26th, in the Parish Church of St. Audeons, Dublin. To whom succeeded his Brother,

Benjamin Parry.

1677.

Benjamin Parry, Second Son to the said Bishop of Kilaloe; He had his Education at Jesus-College in Oxford, and being Chaplain to his Excellency Arthur Earl of Essex, Lord Lieutenant of this Kingdom, was preferred by him the 9th of February, 167 $\frac{3}{4}$ , to the Deanry of St. Canic's, Kilkenny; and in the Year 1675, he was promoted to the Deanry of St. Patrick's, Dublin. On the Death of his Brother, the Duke of Ormonde, then Lord Lieutenant of this Kingdom, recommended him to this Bishoprick; and the King having signified his pleasure accordingly by his Royal Letter, he was Consecrated at Christ-Church, Dublin, the 27th of January, 167 $\frac{3}{4}$ . He Died at his Palace of Kilkenny the 4th of September, 1678, and was carried thence to Dublin, and there Buried with his Brother and Predecessor in St. Audeons-Church. He was an excellent Orator, and mightily esteemed and beloved by his Clergy: To whom succeeded,

Michael Ward.

Michael Ward, Provost of the College of Dublin, being recommended by his Grace the Duke of Ormonde to this Bishoprick, was Consecrated in Christ-Church, Dublin, by their Graces the Arch-Bishops of Dublin and Tuam, and the Bishops of Meath, Clonsfert, and Clogher, the 24th of November, 1678. He was Inthroned in his Cathedral the 1st of February, 1678, and was Consecrated to the Bishoprick of Derry in February, 168 $\frac{2}{3}$ . He was a very Judicious and Learned Prelate: To whom succeeded,

Thomas Otway.

1680.

Thomas Otway, Born in Wiltshire the 1st of November, 1616, Bred at Cambridge, was Chaplain to that Loyal Peer the Lord Hopton, during the War of England; and the Doctor being always loyal to his Prince, and very active against the long Parliament and Oliver the Protector, he was seized by the Protector and banished to the West-Indies, where he remain'd till the Restoration of King Charles II. and then was prefer'd to a good Living in England, where he remain'd till he came over Chaplain to the Lord John Berkeley, Baron of Stratton, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, in May, 1670, and on the 29th of January, 167 $\frac{1}{2}$ , upon His Excellencies Recommendation, he was promoted to the Bishoprick of Kilalla and Achonry, and was translated thence to this Bishoprick in February, 168 $\frac{2}{3}$ , and Inthroned the 20th of May, 1680. He defended the Priviledges of the Corporation of Irishtown against the City of Kilkenny with great expence, he recovered several of the Augmentation Lands given by the Act of Settlement to the See; he added the large Stair-Cafe (now used) to his Episcopal Palace; he at his own expence beautified the Chancel, seeled the Roof, adorned and railed in the Communion Table of the Cathedral, and furnished it with a costly Cloath; and on the 24th of July, 1684, he presented the Dean and Chapter with the following Free-gift of Guilt Plate (with Cafes to preserve them) for the use of the said Cathedral for ever, Viz.

|                                                           | Oz. | D. |
|-----------------------------------------------------------|-----|----|
| Two Servers, Weighing                                     | 51  | 15 |
| Two Communion standing Cups, with two Covers and 2 Plates | 120 | 10 |
| One large Flagon                                          | 96  | 00 |
| One other large Flagon                                    | 95  | 00 |

363 05
For

For which the said Dean and Chapter gave His Lordship solemn Thanks; and recorded the same in the Chapter Book, to preserve the Memory of that generous and pious Gift of His Lordship's for ever: He likewise erected an Organ in the said Cathedral. His constant Charity to poor House-keepers was very considerable, besides his weekly Almes in Bread to the Poor, and daily Charity to common Objects. By his last Will he did bequeath to Christ-Church College in Cambridge 500 pounds for three Exhibitions, or Scholarships of 7 pounds per Ann. for the School of Kirkby-laufdale in Westmoreland; and when none are to be found there, then to go to so many of the Schools of Sedbergh in the said County; those of the name of Otway, and Township of Midleton, having always ceteris paribus, the preference. He did likewise, by his Will, bequeath 200 pounds to the College of Dublin, and 200 pounds for building a Library in St. Canic's Church-yard, on the West of the Cathedral Church; and if that were not sufficient, he ordered his Executors, out of his other Effects, to finish it as soon as possible after his Decease; and withal, left the said Library all his Books of considerable value, for the use of the Clergy of his Diocese. He left 20 pounds for the repair of the Parish Church of Gowran, 20 pounds for the repair of the Parish Church of Comer, 20 pounds for the repair of the Parish Church of Dunow; he ordered 100 pounds to be laid out to purchase 10 pounds per Ann. for ever, five pounds whereof was to be paid to the Library Keeper, who is to be one of the Vicars Chorals of St. Canic's, to be appointed by the Bishop of Ossory for the time being, and the other five pounds for Coals to be used in the Library to preserve the Books: He left all the rest of his Effects (except 206 pounds Legacies to his Nephew, Executors and Servants) to be laid out to repair Churches; Bind and set out the Children of poor People of both Sexes, (especially English and Protestants) Apprentices, and other charitable Works as his Executors in prudence should think fit. He died at his Palace in Kilkenny, the 6th of March, 1693, aged 76 Years 4 Months and 5 Days, and was very decently Interr'd the 8th of March afore-said (as he directed by his said Will) in the Cathedral of St. Canic, in the passage between the North and South Isles leading from the West door of the Body to the Chancel in the Center, between the two opposite Pillars next the said West Door, over whom is placed a fair Marble Stone with this Inscription.

An. Dom.

Hic jacet Thomas Otway Ossoriensis Episcopus, qui obiit 6<sup>o</sup> die Martii, 1693, ætatis sue 77.

He was a Prelate of untainted Loyalty, great Integrity, extraordinary Charity, and withal very Hospitable; which gained him the universal esteem and veneration of the Clergy and Laity. After whom succeeded:

John Hartstong.

John Hartstong (Son of Sir Standish Hartstong Baronet, lately one of the Barons of Her Majesties Court of Exchequer in Ireland) was born at Catten, near the City of Norwich in England, in the Year 1659, and Educated at the then two famous Schools of Charlevile and Kilkenny in Ireland; from the last he went to the College of Dublin, from thence to Gonvil and Cajus College in Cambridge, under the Tutorage of the famous Mr. John Ellis, where he commenced Master of Arts in the Year 1680, and being too young to be admitted into Holy Orders, he went to travel for a Year; and returning to Cambridge in 1681, he was unanimously chosen Fellow, by the Master and Fellows of Gonvil and Cajus College, and very soon after was recalled thence to London, by the Duke of Ormonde, then Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, who entertain'd him as his Chaplain, with whom he continued till his Grace died at Kingston-Hall in Dorsetshire, the 21st of July, 1688. He continued in his Grand-Son's Service the 1659.

1693.

the present Duke of Ormonde, and attended him the Four first Campaigns in Flanders, to whose favour he owe all his Promotions. He was Ordained Deacon by Anthony Bishop of Meath, A. D. 1689, and Priest, by Dr. Anthony Sparrow Bishop of Norwich, A. D. 1682, (in the 23d Year of his Age) to qualifie him to be Chaplain to the then Duke of Ormonde, and being by his late Majesty King William, nominated to the Bishoprick of Offory the 15th of March, 1693, (being the 33d Year of his Age) he was the same Year Complemented with his Doctor of Divinity's Degree, sent by one of the Bedles in a Silver Box, from the famous University of Oxford, his learned and good Friend Dr. Aldrich Dean of Christ-Church, being then Vice Chancellor of that University. He was Consecrated the 2d of July, 1693, in Christ-Church, Dublin, by Francis Dublin, assisted by William Kildare and Nathaniel Limerick, and was Inthroned soon after in the Cathedral Church of St. Canic, Kilkenny, in which Church he still happily presides.

The Bishops of Leghlin till the Year 1600.

St. Laserian.

638.

ST. Laserian, otherwise called Molaisfre, Son of Cairell de Blitha, was the Founder of this Church. He Died in the 14th of the Kal. of May, 638. See more of him in the Antiquities, Ch. 29. The memory of his Successors till the coming of the English (for ought I can find) is lost; but these Seven are mentioned in the Annals of Ireland.

865.

Manchin Died in 865.

943.

Concla mac Dunecan Died in 943. He in the said Annals is called, both Bishop and Prince of Leghlin.

969.

Daniel Died in 969.

1048.

Cleirec ô Muinic Died in 1048.

1113.

Concla ô Flain, in 1113.

1144.

Shuagad ô Catan, in 1144.

1152.

Dungall ô Callaic, in 1152.

Donagh.

1158.

Out of the Charter of the Foundation of the Monastery of Canons of St. Mary at Fernes, it appears that Donagh was Bishop of this See about the Year 1158. He repaired the Cathedral that was Burnt, and Died at Leghlin in 1185, and was Buried in the said Church. After his Death the See was long vacant, or it does not appear who was the next Successor.

John.

1198.

John, a Cistercian, and Abbot of the Monastery called Monaster-Evin, being Canonically Elected in 1198, by Matthew ô Heney, Arch-Bishop of Cashel, Legate of Ireland, (John Bishop of Dublin, his Metropolitan being then in England), was confirmed the Year following, but by the Opposition of Hamon de Valois, at that time Justice of Ireland, he was not Consecrated till he went to Rome, and obtained Consecration from the Pope himself. The Letters which he brought into into Ireland in his Favour, are to be read in the Decretal Epistles of Pope Innocent III. He Died about the Year 1201.

Aut. Dom.

Herlewin.

Herlewin, a Cistercian likewise, succeeded. He Died in 1216, or (as the Annals of St. Mary's in Dublin, 1217,) and was Buried in the Church of the Abby of Dunbrothy, a great part whereof he Built. He gave to the Burghers of Old Leghlin the Burgages with the Freedom of Bristol, reserving out of every Burgage Twelve Pence Yearly to the See.

1216.

Richard Fleming.

Richard Fleming, (or as some Robert Fleming,) was Consecrated in 1217. He had great difference with the Prior of Conall for certain Possessions and Tythes belonging to the See in Lese, now part of the Queen's County; but the difference being Composed, the Bishop gave the Possessions and Tythes to the Prior, reserving to himself and Successors a Yearly Pension of Ten Marks, to be paid at Leghlin. He Died in 1226, having Sate about Nine Years.

1217.

William.

William, Arch-Deacon of Leghlin, being chosen Bishop, obtained the Royal Assent the 14th of November, 1227. He and others were appointed Delegates by the Pope in 1213, to decide a Difference between Richard de la Comer, Elect Bishop of Meath, and the Abbot of St. Mary's in Dublin, about the Tythes of certain Churches in the Diocese of Meath; which Delegates adjudged the Tythes to the Abby, reserving 20*l.* to be paid Yearly to the Bishop, as appears by the Deed of Agreement extant in the Register of the said Abby. He Died in 1251, having Sate Twenty Three Years, and was Buried in his Church.

1227.

Thomas.

Thomas was chosen by the Chapter, upon the King's Licence of Election, the 22d of April, 1232, and Consecrated the same Year. He was the First that distributed Prebends, (or portions of Tythes) amongst the Canons. He Died the 25th of April, 1275.

1232.

Nicholas of Chevers.

Nicholas of Chevers, Arch-Deacon of Leghlin, being lawfully Elected by the Chapter, obtained the Royal Assent the 16th of November, 1275, but was neither Consecrated nor Restor'd to the Temporals till 1277. He Died very Old the 20th of July, 1309, having Sate Thirty Two Years. After his Death John Chevers Dean, and Ralph le Brun Chancellor of Leghlin, forged certain Charters, to which they affix'd the Bishops Seal, but upon discovery of the Fraud they were deservedly punished.

1277.

Maurice Blankvill.

Maurice of Blankvill Canon of Leghlin, being lawfully Elected, was confirmed Bishop the 13th of November, 1309. He Sate almost Eleven Years, and Died in 1320.

1309.

An. Dom.

Miler le Poer.

Miler le Poer, Chantor of Leghlin, upon the King's Licence of Election, was chosen Bishop by the Dean and Chapter the 5th of November, 1320, and confirmed by Alexander Bicknor, Arch-Bishop of Dublin, the 29th of January following. He was Consecrated at Waterford on Palm-Sunday, (says Clynn) in 1321. He Sate Twenty Years, or somewhat more.

1321.

William St. Leger.

William St. Leger Succeeded, and Died at Avignon about the beginning of May, 1348.

1348.

Thomas of Brakenberg.

Thomas of Brakenberg, a Minorite, being declared Bishop of Leghlin by Pope Clement VI. was restored to the Temporals the 5th of August, 1349. He Died in July, 1360, having sate Twelve Years; after which the See was vacant Three Years.

1349.

John Young.

John Young, Treasurer of Leghlin, appointed to this See by the Authority of the same Pope, was restored to the Temporals by Edward III. the 21st of September, 1263, and in the Third Year of his Reign. He with no small Cost repaired the Bishop's Houses in his Manors; but a little before his Death was Rob'd of all his Goods by the Rebels. He Died towards the end of the Year 1384, having Sate Twenty One Years. In 1379 he was made Deputy to Alexander Balford Bishop of Meath in the Treasureship of Ireland, before that to John de Troy, who had the same Office in 1366.

1263.

John Griffin.

John Griffin, from Chancellor of Limerick, was made Bishop of Leghlin in 1385, from whence, after Thirteen Years, he was Translated to Offory. He was Chancellor of the Exchequer in 1391.

1385.

Richard Rocomb.

Richard Rocomb, or Bokum, a Frier Mendicant, was Consecrated in 1399. In his time the Burgesses of Leghlin were reckoned Eighty Six; but since that it has been so much Ruin'd by the Wars, that at this day it is a small Village, and has little in it worth seeing beside the Cathedral and Bishops House. I find that Richard Bishop of Leghlin Resign'd in 1420. The See was afterward vacant Two Years.

1399.

John Mulgan.

John Mulgan, Rector of Lin in the Diocess of Meath, succeeded. He was provided by Pope Martin V. and therefore made his Submission to the King, upon which he was restor'd to the Temporals the 1st of September, 1422. He Instituted in his Church Four small Canons, and Died at Leghlin in 1431, having Sate Nine Years; and was Buried in his Church near the Tomb of Gurmund the Dane.

1422.

Thomas

Thomas Fleming.

Thomas Fleming, B. D. a Minorite, (according to Wadding) was provided by the Pope in the 4th of the Kal. of May, 1432, but according to Douling, he was an Augustinian Canon of St. John the Evangelist of Kilkenny, and Died at Leghlin; but his Body, as he had appointed by his Will, was conveyed to Kilkenny, and there Buried in a Monastery of his Order. About the beginning of his time, at the Instance of Nicholas Cloall Dean of Leghlin, the ancient Priory of Leghlin, by Authority of Pope Eugene IV. was Dissolv'd. He fate till the Year 1458, but how long after I find not.

1432.

Miles Roch.

Miles Roch, Descended of a Noble Family, was provided to this See by the Pope. He was a Man given to Musick and Poetry more than was fit. Between him and the Clergy of his Diocess were many contentions, wherein the Bishop at last had the worst. He died in 1482, and was buried in his Cathedral, before the Image of St. Lasarian. Luke Wadding affirms, that after the Death of John, Calcerand de Andres, a Minorite, was provided Bishop of Leghlin 17 Cal. November, 1484; but I do not reckon him among the Bishops of this See, because it appears that Miles Roch, at that time was Bishop.

1482.

Nicholas Magwire.

Nicholas Magwire, born in Idrone, but Educated in Oxford, returning home, was made Prebendary of Hillard in this Diocess. He was highly esteemed among the Irish for his Learning, not ordinary in that Age, and for his diligence in Preaching. He was provided by the Pope to this See, prid. Cal. May, or as others, the 22d of April, 1490, being not full 31 Years of Age. He began many Works, but Death prevented his finishing of any, except his Chronicle, which I have not seen. He died in 1512. His Life was writ by Thomas Brown, his Chaplain.

1490.

Thomas Halsay.

Thomas Halsay, L. L. D. an English Man, and the Pope's Prothonotary in Ireland, succeeded by Provision of Pope Julius II. at the Instance of Christopher Bambrige, Cardinal and Arch Bishop of York, Ambassador from King Henry VIII. in Rome. He was present in the Lateran Council in 1515 and 1516. In his absence this Diocess was governed by Charles Cavenagh Abbot. of Duiske, his Vicar General. Halsay, it seems, never saw his See: But after his return to England died at Westminster, about the Year 1519, and was buried in the Church of the Hospital of the Savoy, where he has this Inscription.

1515.

Here lies Thomas Halsay, Bishop of Leghlin, Confessor to the English Nation in St. Peter's Church in Rome, a Man of great honesty, who left only this behind him, He Lived while he Lived well.

In the same Tomb was buried Gavin Douglas Bishop of Dunkelden in Scotland, who died of the Plague, in 1521.

Maurice Doran.

Maurice Doran, or o Deoran, of the Order of the Minors, or Predicants, and Born in Lese, (a Man for his great Probity and Eloquence much celebrated) was

Au. Dom.

1525.

was Bishop only one Year and eight Months, he was then Murthered by Maurice Cavanagh his Arch-Deacon, in the way near the Place called Glen-Reynold, in 1525. The occasion is said to be, because the Bishop reprov'd the Insolence and other Crimes of the Arch-Deacon, and threatned him with further Correction. The Murderer, by command of Gerald Fitz Gerald Earl of Kildare, then Lord Deputy of Ireland, was afterward hang'd, and his Bowels burn'd in the Place where he committed the Fact.

Matthew Sanders.

1527.

Matthew Sanders, Born near Tredagh, was consecrated Bishop of Leghlin, in 1527. He new built the Choire of the Cathedral of St. Lasherian, and also made and glaz'd the South Window. He died the 14th of December, 1549, and was buried under a Marble in the same Church.

Robert Travers.

1550.

Robert Travers succeeded, and was consecrated in 1550, and within five Years, in the Reign of Queen Mary, was depriv'd by Geo. Dowdal Arch-Bishop of Armagh, and other Delegates, because he was married. He died in the Reign of Queen Mary. Thady Dowling, Chancellor of Leghlin, calls him a Cruel and Covetous Man, and an Oppressor of his Clergy.

Thomas Field.

1557.

Thomas Field, or ô Fihel, a Minorite, born in the County of Cork, succeeded by Provision of the Pope. He died in 1557, the Friday before Palm-Sunday, having sate about 12 Years, and was buried in the same Tomb with his Predecessor Sanders.

Daniel Cavenagh.

1587.

Daniel Cavenagh was consecrated the same Year in St. Patrick's, Dublin, by Hugh Arch-Bishop of Dublin. He set several Farms of his See for many Years, reserving certain small Rents to his Successors. He died the 4th of April, 1587; after which the See was vacant two Years.

Richard Meredith.

1589.

Richard Meredith, B. D. of the University of Oxford, a Welshman, and Chaplain to Sir John Perott, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, (for whom he suffer'd much) succeeded in April, 1589. He repaired the Bishops House at Leghlin, and Died at Dublin the 3d of August, 1597. He was Buried on the North side of St. Patrick's Church, where he was Dean, under a Marble Tomb near the Bellfry: For whose Successors, see the Bishops of Fernes and Leghlin.

OF THE ARCH-BISHOPS OF CASSEL.

Cormac Son of Culinan.

THat the people of Cassel after the Conversion of Anguse (Son of Nefrac) King of Munster, to the Christian Faith, by the Preaching of St. Patrick, were for some Ages subject to the Jurisdiction of S. Alby and his Successors, whose Episcopal See was at Emely, 12 Miles from Cassel, is not to be doubted; of which more when we speak of the Bishops of Emely: but who was the first Bishop of Cassel is not easie to determine. Historians make mention of S. Albert, called Arch-Bishop of Cassel, who leaving his See, together with his Brethren Erard and Hildulph, and 19 other Associates, about the middle of the VIII. Century went into Germany. John Colgan in his Acts of the Saints of Ireland, at the 8th of January, thinks, that Albert was Bishop of the Church of Emely, whose Bishops were heretofore called Arch-Bishops of Munster, and that therefore he was called Arch-Bishop of Cassel, because he was Arch-Bishop of Munster, whose Metropolis was Cassel; and truly (to speak my sense of the matter) the whole History of this Albert and his Brethren is, in its circumstances, very obscure. Therefore let us proceed to Cormac Son of Culinan: He deriv'd himself from the aforesaid King Enguse, and began his Kingdom in the Year of our Lord 901, and (which you'll wonder at) was also Bishop of Cassel. This custom (as appears in the Writers of our Country) was frequent in that Age among the Irish, particularly among the Predecessors of Cormac. Olcebar, who died in the Year 851, and Censelad, who died in 872, were at the same time Kings of Cassel, and Bishops of Emely. And not only they; for among the Jews, Jonathan, Simon, and John Hyrcanus, held at one and the same time the Temporal Government and the Priesthood: And those who were Kings among them, namely, Anstobulus, Alexander Jannæus, and others, were at the same time High Priests. So likewise among the Gentiles we find some of the Roman Emperors were at the same time High Priests. And among their Kings, Anius King of Delos, of whom Virg. Æneid. 3.

Rex Anius, Rex idem hominum Phœbique Sacerdos.

King Anius, King of Men, and Priest of Phœbus.

And Ovid. Metam. 13.

Hunc Anius, quo Rege homines, Antistite Phœbus Rite colebatur, Temploque Domoque recepit.

A

Him

An. Dom.

901.

Cormac King and Bishop.

An. Dom.

Anius, as King and Sol's High Priest, rever'd Him to his Temple and his House receiv'd.

908.

The Battle between Cormac and Flan.

The Author of the Psalter-Cassel.

So likewise Mercurius Trifnegistus, Ter Maximus, or Thrice Greatest, who, if we may believe Alexander ab Alexandro, Genial. Dier. lib. 2. cap. 8. was so named, for that he was the greatest Philosopher, the greatest King, and the Highest Priest. Whereof see more in Plato's Politicks. But to return to Cormac: He is mentioned by Craddock of Lhancarvan in his Chronicle of Wales, as a pious Man; but either he himself, or whoever published him in English, is under a mistake in calling him, Carmot Son of Cukeman, King and Bishop of Ireland. In the Year 906 Flan, Son of Melsechlin, King of Ireland, with an Army invaded Munster, and wasted and destroyed that Province as far as Limerick: but Cormac, who, giving way to the times, had fled, incens'd at the Injury, the Year following enter'd Meath with his Forces, and overthrew Flan in Battle, and compell'd him to give Hostages for the performance of certain Conditions agreed upon between them, and so returned to Cassel. But in the Year 908 (or 907) Flan to revenge his late Defeat, entered into a League with the Kings of Leinster and Conaught with joyn't Forces to invade Munster, notwithstanding his Faith and Hostages given, and with great Force march'd against Cormac: He met the Munster Army at a place called Moy-albe; where, on the 16th of August, after a long and bloody Battel, the Victory leaned to him, and Cormac was slain, with almost all his Chieftains, among which we find mention of Fogerty of Kerry, and Kelley of Offory. So say the Irish Annals. But Craddock of Lhancarvan affirms that Cormac was about this time kill'd in Battle by the Danes. I remember also to have read in a M. S. Code in Cotton's Library, that he was kill'd by a Country Fellow at Beanree near Leghlin, while he was upon his Knees at Prayers for the Success of his Army: so various are the Reports of his Death. But I cannot dissent from the Annals of Ulster, and those of Inisfallan in the County of Kerry, where we find it recorded that he was vanquished and kill'd by the Army of Flan: His Body was convey'd to Cassel, and there buried. He was a learned Man, and very knowing in the Irish Antiquities, in which Language he writ the History called Psalter-Cassel, which is yet extant, and much esteem'd. It is to be noted here, that Cassel was anciently the chief Seat of the Kings of Munster, and one of the first Synods of Ireland was there held by St. Patrick, Alby, and Declan, in the Reign of King Enguse aforementioned. From Cormac to Donagh o Lonargan, who first used the Pall, I find only four Bishops of this See mentioned, 1090.

Donald, or Dafnald o Hene, or Buabain, died in 1090, or 1097.

1118.

Miler, or Melmury o Dunan, died at Clonard the 24th of December, 1118, in the 77th Year of his Age.

1131.

Melissa o Foglada died in 1131.

1137.

Donagh o Conaing died in 1137.

All these but Melissa, though before the use of the Pall was introduced, are by our Historians called Arch-Bishops.

Donagh o Lonargan.

1152.

While Donagh fate, John Paparo Presbyter Cardinal, intituled of S. Laurence in Damazo, in 1152 was sent Legate into Ireland by Pope Eugene III, and brought four Palls with him, which, in a Synod held in March, he disposed of to these four Arch-Bishops, Gelasius of Armagh, Gregory of Dublin, Donagh of Cassel, and Edan of Tuam. This Donagh in the Annals of the Priory of the Isle of All Saints, surrounded by the River Shanon, in the Western Border of the County of Longford, is thus mentioned: "The Chief Elder of Munster, a learned and liberal Man, especially towards the Poor, died in a good old Age in 1158.

1158.

Donald

Donald o Hulucan.

To him succeeded Donald o Hulucan, in whose time, to wit, in 1172, the Council of Cassel, wherein Christian o Conarchy Bishop of Lismore, and the Pope's Legate presided, was celebrated by command of King Henry II: Of which, see Girald Cambrensis and Roger Hoveden. Donald died in 1182. In his time, namely, in 1179, Cassel was burnt.

An. Dom.
~~~~~

1172.

1182.

Maurice.

Girald Cambrensis calls his Successor Maurice, a learned and discreet Man, in his Topograp. Hib. Dist. 3. Cap. 32, where he speaks of his accurate Saying.

Matthew o Heney.

Matthew o Heney, a Cistercian Monk, was Arch-Bishop of Cassel, and the Pope's Legate in 1194; for then he was Witness to a Charter of Donald o Brian King of Limerick, by which he granted to Brictius Bishop of Limerick, and his Successors, and to the Clergy of S. Mary's of Limerick, in Frank and perpetual Almoign, the Land of Mungra, or Mungret, &c. as appears by the Register of the same Church. I cannot but think that the Arch-Bishop of Cassel just before mentioned, who is called (in the Printed Copy of Girald Cambrensis, de Topograp. Hib.) Maurice, and this were one and the same person: Staniburst indeed, and Hanmer, where they speak of his acute Answer, out of Girald, do, from the Authority of I know not what M. S. call him Matthew; and the M. S. Copy of Girald, which I have seen in the publick Library of Oxford, has it Thaddy. He writ (beside other things that are lost) the Life of S. Cuthbert, who was born at Kenanuse; and having lived many years under Eata and Boisillus, Abbots of Mailross, was consecrated Bishop of Lindisfarn in 684, and was afterward canonized: but this only by the by. The Eulogy of this Matthew, I have found in the Annals of S. Mary's Abby near Dublin, and willingly transcribed, viz. "In 1206, Matthew Arch-Bishop of Cassel, Legate of Ireland, a Man, of all "the Irish, the wisest and most Religious, after having founded many Churches, "and been victorious over the old Enemy by many Miracles, voluntarily aban- "doned all worldly Pomp, and in the Monastery of the Holy Cross (in Tippe- "rary) rested happily. So much for Matthew o Heney."

1194.

1126.

Donagh o Lonargan.

Donagh (or according to the Ulster Annals) Dennys o Lonargan, a Cistercian likewise, succeeded: To him Pope Innocent III. gave the Pall, and confirmed the Possessions of the See of Cassel, the 6th of April, 1210, as appears by the Epistles of the same Innocent, published by Francis Bosquet in 1635. The Ulster Annals say that he was present at the Lateran Council in Rome, in 1215, and died there: Others affirm that he was buried in the Chappel of the Monastery of Cisteaux, on the Gospel side of the High Altar, with this Epitaph; which though it favour indeed of Barbarism, I am not unwilling to add.

1210.

1215.

Hic duo Roberti, Lingonensis, Cabilonis, Pontifices, & Petrus Portuensis.
Hic est Donatus Casseliensis sociatus,
Præful honoratus, nostrique Comes Monachatus.

Here the two Roberts, of Langres, and Chalons,
And Peter Bishop of O Porto.

Here

An. Dom.

Here is Donagh the Honoured Prelate of Cassel,
A Monk of our Order too.

Donagh o Lonargan.

1216. Donagh, or Donchad o Lonargan, succeeded in 1216: "He is said to have "made a Borough at Cassel, and to have given Burgages to the Burghers. He, 1223. with the Pope's License, resign'd the See in 1223, and surviv'd about 9 years;
1232. for he died in 1232.

Marian o Brien.

1236. Marian o Brien was translated from the See of Cork to Cassel in 1224, in the beginning of his Translation, on the 8th day of May, 1224, Pope Honorius III. confirmed by Bull the number of 12 Canons in the Cathedral of Cassel. To him and his Successors King Henry III. "Remised and Quitted Claim (so are "the words of the Charter) to the new Town of Cassel; and granted the "same from thenceforward to be held of him and his Heirs in frank, pure, and "perpetual Almoign, quit of all secular Service and Exaction. Witnesses, Jocelin
"Bath, Thomas Norwich, and Walter Carlisle, Bishops, &c. the 25th of November, "1228; and in the 13th Year of his Reign. The same Town this Marian granted afterward, or confirmed, to the Mayor and 12 Burgeſſes, reſerving certain ſmall Penſions to his See, viz. Out of the Town 6 Pound, out of the Hundred and Court 13 Shillings and 4 Pence. By his License David le Latimer, Knight (Seneschal) built an Hoſpital in Cassel for Lepers, where he put his own Daughter who had that Diſeaſe; which David mac Carwil afterward united to a Monaſtery which he built. Afterward, in 1231, being on his way toward Rome, he fell very ſick, and apprehending the approach of Death, took a Religious Habit in a Monaſtery of Ciſtertians; but recovering, and having diſpatch'd his buſineſs at Rome, he returned; and 5 years after died, and was buried in the Abby of Iniflaunaght.

David mac Kelly.

1238. David mac Kelly, from Dean of Cassel was made Biſhop of Cloin, and thence translated to the Arch-Biſhoprick of Cassel, in the Year 1238: While he was yet Dean, he aſſociated himſelf to the Fryars Predicant of Cork, out of whoſe Society (when he was afterwards Arch-Biſhop) he ſupply'd a little Monaſtery, which he 1243. placed at Cassel in 1243. A Copy of the Agreement made between the Arch-Biſhops of Dublin and Cassel, and their Suffragans, "againſt the Arch-Biſhop of "Armagh, in the Diſpute of the chief Primacy, is extant in the Register of the Arch-Biſhop of Dublin, called Crede mihi. He departed this Life the ſecond 1252. of March, 1252, or (if you begin the Year at the firſt of January) 1253; on which Year, thus ſays the Monk of Buſſy, ending his Annals in theſe words:
"David mac Kelluig Arch-Biſhop of Cassel, and Alan o Sullivan Biſhop of Lif-
"more, ſlept. They ſay he was buried in the little Chappel of the Apoſtles (which, if I miſtake not, ſtood on the left hand of the Entrance into the Quire) perhaps in the North Wall thereof, where I have ſeen, truly, a fair Statue of a Biſhop engraven on the Tomb.

David mac Carwill.

1253. Upon the King's License obtain'd the 4th of April, 1253, David mac Car- will, Dean alſo of Cassel, was choſen to ſucceed, which Election King Henry III.
1254. confirmed the 19th of February, 1254, with this Condition, that within a time prefixed "he ſhould come to him, and ſwear due Fealty. This Arch-Biſhop founded

founded the Chantry of St. Nicholas in Cassel, and also the Abby of Cistercians near Cassel, commonly called Hore-Abby, and named of Cassel-Rock, which he endowed with the Revenues of the Benedictines, whom he had expell'd: The ridiculous cause of the building is to be read in the Records of Birmingham's Tower, Placit. fo. An. 7. Edw. II. "In the time of David mac Carwill, Arch-Bishop of Cassel, there was a certain Abby of Black Monks near the Cathedral Church of St. Patrick, founded in Honour of the Blessed Virgin Mary; and the foresaid David having told his Mother, that he was warn'd in a Dream, that the said Black Monks would cut off his Head, did, by the advice of his Mother, remove those Monks; and gave their Lands and Possessions to the new Abby which he had founded. He supply'd it with the Monks of Mellifont, therefore this Abby of Cassel-Rock is ill placed in that Catalogue (extant in the Works of S. Bernard, and printed by John Keerberg in 1616) of Cistercian Abbies, founded during the life of S. Bernard; for between the death of S. Bernard and the Election of this David, was 100 years. But these things by the by. A little after he dealt more unhandfomly, 'tis said, with Keran Dean of Cassel: and acted many other things with Rashness and Insolence: In the Year 1278, he went into England to clear himself to the King of the Crimes laid to his Charge; where, after two years time, he was received into the King's Favour. After his return, finding that new Accusations were preparing against him by his Enemies, he again went into England; where he so wrought matters, that the King received him into Favour, as before. He died very old in 1289, and was buried either in a Monastery founded by himself, or in the Cathedral, I know not which. The Author of the Annals of Mountfermand says, that this David took the Habit of a Cistercian Monk in 1269; and in that year, it seems, founded the Monastery of Cassel-Rock, or, rather removed it from the Rock to a place hard by. He appropriated the Church of Moy-dessel, together with the Chappel of Kilmeinenan, to the Abby of our Blessed Lady of Kenlis in Offory; reserving a third part of the Fruits to the Vicar thereof.

An. Dom.
~~~~~

1278.

1289.

Stephen o Brogan.

Stephen o Brogan, Arch-Deacon of Glendelagh, an Ulster Man, chosen by the Dean and Chapter, and confirmed by the Pope, was restored to the Temporals the 26th of March, in the 19th Year of Edward I., that is to say, 1291: He fate above 11 years, and died about the beginning of August, 1300: He is buried in his own Church, whence the Ulster Annals are to be corrected; which refer his death to the Year 1298.

1291.
1300.

Maurice mac Carwill.

Maurice mac Carwill, Arch-Deacon of Cassel, elected by the Dean and Chapter, and afterward confirmed by the King the 17th of May, 1303; went presently to Rome, to receive Confirmation from the Pope: There, if I mistake not, he was consecrated, and invested with the Pall. Thence returning home, he was restor'd to the Temporals (as we say) by the King, the 18th of July, 1304. By this Arch-Bishop's License Walter Multoc founded a Seat for the Augustine Fryars at Fetherd. Maurice was present at the Parliament held in Kilkenny in 1309; and about the end of the same Year (to note it by the by) was one of those Bishops who on the 12th of February, in the Cathedral of S. Kenny at Kilkenny, in the presence of John Wogan Lord Justice of Ireland, Richard de Burgo Earl of Ulster, John mac Thomas (whom Edward II. afterward honoured with the Title of Earl of Kildare) John de Barry, Maurice Rochfort, and a very great number of other Nobles, pronounced, with their consent, the Censure of Anathema against all and every one that should infringe the Statutes then made in that Parliament. He died about the 25th of March, 1316, in the 13th Year of his Consecration.

1303.

1304.

1309.

1316.

An. Dom.

William Fitz-John.

1317.

Cassel first wall'd.

1326.

1327.

1329.

Upon the death of Carwill, the Dean and greater part of the Canons of Cassel Elected John mac Carwill Bishop of Cork, but the other part chose Thomas o Lonchy Arch-Deacon of Cassel: the Pope rejecting both, conferr'd the See upon William Fitz-John Bishop of Offory; a Man, indeed, for many good Qualities, in that Age worthy of any Honour. He was first a Canon of Kilkenny, and afterwards chosen Bishop of Offory; and consecrated at Kilkenny on the Sunday after the Octaves of the Epiphany, in 1302: And having commendably governed that Church for some years, he was translated to Cassel in the Month of February, 1317: and the Year following was made, almost at one and the same time, both Keeper and Chancellor of Ireland (the See of Offory being in the mean time granted by the Pope to Richard Ledred, a Minorite of London.) In his time the City of Cassel was wall'd. "He died (says Clin) the day after the Exaltation of the Holy Cross, in 1326; and was a Man Potent, Wealthy, and Venerable among the People and Clergy. I take him to be that William Bishop of Offory who appropriated to the Abby and Convent of St. John the Evangelist of Kilkenny the Church of Claraugh, reserving to the Collegiate Vicars of S. Kenny a yearly Pension of 20 Shillings.

John o Caroll.

1327.

1329.

1330.

1331.

The aforesaid John o Caroll (whom I find call'd also by the Name of mac Carwill in the Rolls Office) Dean of the Cathedral of S. Finbarr (or Barr) of Cork, by the general consent of the Chapter was chosen Bishop of that See, and obtained the Royal Assent the 12th of June, 1302, and was confirmed by the Arch-Bishop of Cassel in July following. He sat 20 years, and was then by the Pope appointed Successor to Thomas St. Leger, in the Bishoprick of Meath; from whence, after five years (namely, on the 18th of July, 1327) and not after two years and an half (as some would have it) he was translated to Cassel. At last, in the Year 1329, about the Gule of August, (says John Clin in his Chronicle not yet printed) he died at London on his return from the Court of Rome. After his death 11 Manors, at that time belonging to the See, were seized into the King's Hands (as we say) but a far greater part of them were in after times alienated from the Church, and I know not what yearly Pensions reserved.

Walter le Rede.

1330.

1331.

1332.

1333.

Walter le Rede, first a Canon and then Bishop of Cork, was, on the 19th of August, 1330, translated to this See by the Pope, (who said, "That for this time, though John was yet alive, he would reserve the Provision of the Church of Cassel to be disposed of by him, and the Apostolick See, when any Vacancy should happen:") And being restored to the Temporals, he died about the beginning of the February following. This Walter, not long before his death, granted certain Tythes to the Vicars Chorals; and while he was yet Bishop of Cork, gave the Vicars there a convenient Habitation.

John o Grady.

1345.

To him succeeded John o Grady Treasurer of Cassel, sometime Rector of Ogusfin in the Diocess of Killaloe; elected by the Dean and Chapter, and recommended by Letters from the King to the Pope, was by his Provision placed in this See, in 1332: "A Man of great Discretion and Industry (says the Author of the Annals of Nenagh.) He died at Limerick the 8th of July, 1345, among the Predicant Fryars, and was there buried in their Convent. He endowed his Church with great Gifts.

Ralph Kelly.

An. Dom.

Ralph Kelly was born at Tredagh, but bred at Kildare in a Monastery of Carmelites, where he joyned himself to their Society : In the Year 1336 he was made Prolocutor for his Order, and Advocate General under Peter Casy the Master General : And in 1345 he was provided Arch-Bishop of Cassel by Pope Clement VI. He had the Temporals of that See from the King (as appears by the Records of the Exchequer) the 4th of April, in the 20th Year of the Reign of Edward III. This Kelly took much pains in settling the Peace and Revenues of his Church. He died at Cassel (according to the Annals of Nenagh) in 1361, on the Feast of S. Edmund the King and Martyr, that is, the 20th of November, and was there buried in St. Patrick's Church. He writ one Book of the Canon Law, and one Book, or (as some say) seven, of Familiar Letters, and other things, which are not now extant. He is mentioned by Ant. Possevinus in his Apparatus Sacer; but he calls him Radulphus Kullei, and adds by mistake that he was both by Name and Birth an English Man.

1361.

George Roch.

His next Successor was George Roch, of whose untimely end we read in the Annals of the Fryars Minors of Nenagh, written in those days : " In the Year of our Lord 1362 George Roch Lord Arch-Bishop of Cassel was drowned. Perhaps it was in his return from the Court of Rome; but either he was not consecrated, or else he was drowned before he was restor'd to the Temporals; for in the Rolls Office I find that Thomas, then late Arch-Bishop of Tuam, receiv'd the Temporals of this See, as vacant since the Death of Ralph."

1362.

Thomas o Carol.

Then the See was vacant for some years : At last, in the Year 1365, Thomas o Carol was appointed Successor by the Pope's Bull. He was Arch-Bishop of Tuam, and the fourth of this Sirname that had preided in this See : A Man eminent for his great Learning and Prudence : He was descended of the Sept of the o Carols in Ely, now united to the King's-County; and died at Cassel in 1373, on the 8th of February; and was buried in his Cathedral. After his death the Custody of the Temporals was committed to Stephen Wall Bishop of Meath. Of this o Carol, see more in the Bishops of Tuam.

1365.

1373.

Philip de Torrington.

Thomas dying eight years after his Translation, Pope Gregory XI. conferr'd this See upon Philip de Torrington a Minorite, and Doctor of Divinity; who, after his Submission, and Fealty to the King, was restor'd to the Temporals on the 19th of September, in the 48th Year of the Reign of Edward III, that is, in the Year 1374. Soon after he was sent Embassador from King Richard II. to Pope Urban VI: Of the Success of his Embassy Thomas Walsingham in his History of the Year 1379, says thus : " In those days there came from Rome the Arch-Bishop of Cassel, an Irish Man, who was sent thither upon certain urgent Affairs, and brought with him a large Power of binding and loosing, granted by the Apostolick See. When he came to London, in a Sermon to the people, he told them that the King of France, and as many as adher'd to the Anti-Pope, lay under the Sentence of Excommunication; and offer'd further, that now would be an opportunity for the English, in the right of the King of England, to invade the Kingdom of France; and the rather, because it seem'd probable that the King lying under that censure, would not have power " to 1374.

1379.

An. Dom.
1380.

" to make resistance. This Bishop died (I think) in Foreign Parts, in the Year 1380. In his Absence, William Bishop of Emely was his Vicar General.

Peter Hacket.

1406.

After the death of Torrington the See was vacant four years, and the Temporalties were all that time return'd into the Exchequer; but License of Election (or Conge d'Esire, according to Custom) being at last obtain'd from the King, Peter Hacket Arch-Deacon of Cassel was chosen; who died in 1406, having sat 22 years.

Richard o Hedien.

1408.

Richard o Hedien, or o Heden, Arch-Deacon likewise of Cassel, was consecrated Arch-Bishop in 1406, but was not restor'd to the Temporals till the 14th of September, 1408. He recovered the Possessions of the See, which by the negligence of some of his Predecessors had been alienated, insomuch that " at his coming to the See, he had not one place in any Manor where he might lay his head: As he himself says in the Roll of the Revenues and Possessions of the See of Cassel, writ in the Year 1419. He built a Hall for the Vicars Chorals; to whom he also gave the Towns of Grange Connel and Baon-Thurlis-beg. He rebuilt some of the Arch-Bishop's Houses in his Manors, and (which is not to be forgot) new built, or at least, repaired the Cathedral of St. Patrick, which was first Founded by Donald o Brian King of Limerick, that famous Builder and Repairer of Churches and Abbys: The height of its Scituation is indeed a good defence to it against all but the Winds, to which it is too much exposed. In 1421 a Parliament was assembled in Dublin, wherein " John Geese, Bishop of Lismore and " Waterford exhibited 30 Articles against this Heden: That he was kind to the " Irish, and loved no English Man: That neither he himself gave, nor suffered " any other Bishop to give any Benefice to an English Man: That he counterfeited the King of England's Seal, and made Letters Patents: That he made " himself King of Munster: That he took the Ring from the Image of St. Patrick, which was offered by the Earl of Desmond, and gave it to his Whore: " With many other Enormities, in writing, which gave great trouble to the " Lords and Commons. So says his Contemporary Henry Marlburch, Vicar of Balliscadden in the Diocese of Dublin. Heden died afterward, very old, the 21st of July, 1440, and was buried in his Church. After his death the See was vacant 10 years, and the Temporals were all that time set to Farm to James Butler Earl of Ormonde, as appears by the Rolls.

1419.

1421.

1440.

John Cantwell.

1453.

1480.

1482.

After ten years Vacancy (as aforesaid) John Cantwell Batchelor of Laws, a Member of Oxford, was provided by the Pope to this See: He held a Provincial Synod at Limerick in 1453; the Canons whereof are yet extant. He also assembled another Synod at Fethard in July, 1480, at which (among others) were present Matthew Killaloo, Thomas Limerick, John Ardfert, William Cloin and Cork, Bishops; but the Decrees then made are, I think, lost. This John obtain'd many Privileges from King Edward IV, which are mention'd in the Records of the Chancery, An. 2 & 3 Philip & Mary. He died in 1482, and was buried at Cassel. He repaired the Monastery of Predicants at Cassel; and two years before his death he gave to the College of Vicars Chorals in Cassel certain Appurtenances in the City of Clonmel. There was another John Cantwell, a Batchelor also of Laws of Oxford, by some call'd his Predecessor, who is said to have died on S. Valentine's day, in 1450: But if any such were Arch-Bishop, certain it is that it was without the King's Approbation, nor was he restor'd to the Temporals: But this, perhaps, deserves a further Enquiry.

David Creagh.

David Creagh, L. L. B. a Native of Limerick, was Consecrated Arch-Bishop in 1483. Of the Injuries he suffer'd by Gerald Fitz Gerald Earl of Kildare (a Man of approved Valour, but too Rigid and Severe) and of the Complaint he made to King Henry VIII. by the perswasion of Sir James d' Ormonde, Knight, sometime Treasurer of Ireland, see Campion's History of Ireland. He Died the 5th of September, 1503, having Sate Twenty Years.

1483.

Maurice Fitz Gerald.

Maurice Fitz Gerald, or Geraldine, was provided Arch-Bishop of Cassel by Pope Julius II. in 1504. He is called by some Maurice Fitz John, and Died in 1523. The Decrees of a Synod held by him in Limerick in 1511, are Incerted in the Register of Thomas Pursell, sometime Bishop of Lismore and Waterford, and were not long since Burnt by an accidental Fire.

1504.

Edmund Butler.

Edmund Butler, Bastard Son of Peter Earl of Ormonde, was Consecrated Arch-Bishop in 1527, and not long after made one of the Privy Council to King Henry VIII. He was Prior of the Monastery of St. Edmund d' Athassel in the County of Tipperary, which he resign'd at the time of the Dissolution of Abbies. He held a Provincial Synod in Limerick, about the Feast of the Apostles Peter and Paul, in 1529, wherein a Power was granted to the Mayor of Limerick to Imprison Ecclesiastical Persons who were indebted without any Penalty of Interdict, till the Creditors were satisfied : Of which Decree the Clergy highly complain'd, as of a breach of the Ecclesiastical Priviledges. He Died the 5th of March, 1550, and was buried in the Church under a Marble Tomb, (not far from the Bishops Seat) built by himself, and beautified with his Arms and Effigies.

1527.

Roland Baron.

Roland Baron, or Fitz Gerald, by provision of Queen Mary, succeeded. He was Descended of the ancient Family of the Geraldines, Barons (but not Parliamentary) of Burn-Church in the County of Kilkenny, and was Consecrated in December, 1553, and Died the 28th of October, 1561, after which the See was vacant Six Years.

1553.

James mac Caghwell.

James mac Caghwell was made Arch-Bishop of Cassel by Queen Elizabeth in 1567. Not long after, says Hooker, he was wounded with a Skeyne by Maurice Gibbon, otherwise called Reagh, (on whom the Pope had lately conferr'd the name of Arch-Bishop,) because he wou'd not resign the See. Maurice flying into Spain, Died there about the Year, 1578. While this James was Bishop the See of Emly was United by Act of Parliament to Cassel. He Died in 1570.

1567.

Miler Magragh.

Miler Magragh, or Mac Cragh, Bishop of Clogher, was made Arch-Bishop the 3d of February following. In 1582, (by Grant of Queen Elizabeth,) he added the See of Lismore, then vacant, to that of Cassel; afterward quitting it in favour of Thomas Wetherbed, he resum'd it after his Death; and again, leaving 1570.

An. Dom.

leaving it, held the Two Bishopricks of Killala and Achonry in Conaught in Com-mendam till his Death : In the mean time, in 1611, one William Knight, A. M. was appointed his Coadjutor, but he, soon weary of the Office, return'd into England. Miler Died at Cassel in December, 1622, Aged an 100 Years, having been Bed-rid Two Years. He has a Monument built by himself, over against the But-lers. He was Bishop of this See Fifty One Years and Ten Months.

Malcolm Hamilton.

1623.

Malcolm Hamilton, a Scotch Man, Chancellor of Down, was Consecrated at Tre-dagh on the last of June, 1623, and the Year following made one of the Privy Council. He Died of a burning Feaver at his House at Cannus the 25th of April, 1629, and was buried in the Cathedral of Cassel the 2d of May following.

Archibald Hamilton.

1630.

Archibald Hamilton, Born in Scotland, Doctor in Divinity of the University of Glasco, Bishop of Killala and Achonry, was Translated to Cassel the 20th of April 1630. He Died at Stockholm in Sweden in 1659.

Thomas Fullwar.

1660.

Thomas Fullwar, Doctor in Divinity of Dublin-College, was Consecrated Bi-shop of Ardfert in 1641, and Translated to this See in January, 1660.

Thomas Price.

1667.

Thomas Price, B. D. Born in London, Educated in the University of Dublin, was promoted to the Bishoprick of Kildare, and Consecrated in Christ-Church, Dublin, 1660; from thence he was Translated to Cassel the 20th of May, 1667, and Died there the 4th of August, 1685, in the Eighty Fifth Year of his Age.

Narcissus Marsh.

1691.

Narcissus Marsh, Bishop of Fernes and Leghlin, was Translated to this See the 13th of March, 1691, and from thence to Dublin the 24th of May, 1694.

William Palliser.

1694.

William Palliser, Doctor in Divinity, Born in a Town called Kirk-by-wisk in Yorkshire, Educated in the University of Dublin, was promoted to the Bishop-rick of Cloyn, and Consecrated in the Chappel of Trinity-College near Dublin, the 5th of March, 1692; from thence he was Translated to the Archiepiscopal See of Cassel the 26th of June, 1694.

The Bishops of Emly till the Year 1569, when it was united to Cassel.

St. Albe.

The greatest Ornament of this Church was St. Albe, who died the 12th of September, 527, of whom see more in the Antiquities, Chap. 29. Of his Successors these are mention'd, partly in the Annals of Inisfallan, and partly in those of Ulster.

527.

Conaingy o Daithil.

Conaingy o Daithil, call'd Abbot of Emly, and sometimes Comorban, or Successor of St. Albe. He died in 660.

660.

Conamail mac Cartiaig died in 707.

707.

Cellac died in 718.

718.

Senchai died in 778.

778.

Cuan died in 784, or 786.

784.

Seftabrat died in 819.

819.

Flan mac Fambhellaic died in 825.

825.

Olchobar, Son of Kinedy King of Cassel and Bishop of Emly, died in 850.

850.

Mane Son of Huargusa, died in 857.

857.

Cenfelad, King of Cassel and Bishop of Emly, died in 872.

872.

Rudgal, Son of Fingail, died in 882.

882.

Concenmathair died in 887.

887.

Eugene, Son of Cenfelad, called Prince of Imlech Ibair, was kill'd in 889.

889.

Miscel died in 898.

898.

Flan, Son of Conail, died in 903.

903.

Tribraid, Son of Melfin, call'd also Prince of Imlech Ibair, died in 912.

912.

Edchad, Son of Scanlain, died in 941.

941.

Huarach, died in 953.

953.

Mael Chellach, died in 957.

957.

Feolan, Son of Cellaid, died in 981.

981.

Cenfad died in 990.

990.

Columb, Son of Lagenan, died in 1003.

1003.

Serbrethac died in 1027.

1027.

Melfinan died in 1040.

1040.

O Flanchu died in 1047.

1047.

Clothna Muimnech died in 1049.

1049.

Melmord died in 1075.

1075.

Melisa o Harachtain died in 1093.

1093.

O Ligbai died in 1122.

1122.

Melinord.

Melinord, Son of Inclodnai, succeeded; in whose time Emly was plundered, and the Miter of St. Albe, preserv'd there for many Ages, was burnt by Thieves, Melmord himself escaped by Flight.

Deicola.

Deicola, called by the Irish, Gillo-an-Chomdeh o Ardmail, was present at the Synod held by Cardinal Paparon in 1152.

1152.

Deicola

An. Dom.

Maelisa o Lagenau.

1163.

Maelisa o Lagenau died at Emly in 1163.O Meicstia.

1172.

O Meicstia, ( or O Meicfeilbe, ) died in 1172. In the Annals of Inisfall he is called Comorban, or Successor of St. Albe, where likewise several of his Predecessors are so called.Charles o Buacalla.

1177.

Charles o Buacalla, Abbot of Mellifont, succeeded in 1177, and died within a Month.Isaac o Hamery.Isaac o Hamery* succeeded.Reynold o Flanna.

1197.

Reynold o Flanna died in 1197, in whose time ( if I mistake not ) the Cathedral of Emly was burnt. William was chosen in 1210, but the Pope made void the Election.Henry.

1212.

Henry, a Cistercian and Abbot of Bindon in Dorsetshire, was consecrated in 1212. To him and his Successors, King John granted a Privilege of Fairs and Markets at Emly, the 7th of July, and the 17th of his Reign. He died in 1227, having sate 13 Years; and the Custody of the Temporals was committed by King Henry III. to Ralph of Norwich, Canon of St. Patrick's, Dublin, the 26th of April following.John Collingham.

1228.

John Collingham, by Provision of Pope Honorius III. succeeded in 1228. The King granted Licence of Election to the Dean and Chapter the 14th of June, 1236, after the Death ( if I mistake not ) of Collingham.Christian.

1238.

Christian succeeded by a Grant, dated at London on the Day of the Apostles Simon and Jude, in 1237, and gave twenty Days of Indulgence to those who should advance the Building of St. Paul's Church. In the Records of the Tower of London, I find that Daniel, Prior of St. John's Hospital without Newgate, Dublin, obtain'd the Royal Assent as Elect Bishop of Emly the 8th of April, 1238. but it seems he was neither consecrated nor restor'd to the Temporals: for this Christian sate till he died in 1249. He is said to have been a great Benefactor to the Church of Emly. He used this Motto, Vias tuas Domine, monstra mihi.Gilbert o Doherty.

1249.

Gilbert o Doherty, Dean of Emly, upon the King's Licence of Election the 12th of December, 1249, was chosen by the general consent of the Chapter, and confirm'd by the King the 12th of October, 1251, and the same Year consecrated secrated. He also gave the Church of St. Paul in London, twenty Days of Indulgence in the Nones of October, the same Year. He died the 9th of October, 1265.

An. Dom.

Florence of Emly.

Florence of Emly, so called (as was then usual with Church-men) because born there, a Canon of that Church, succeeded, and was consecrated about Whitsuntide, 1266, (the Election of Laurence de Dunlac, Chaunter of the same Church, being made void.) He died about the end of the Year 1271, and was buried in his Cathedral.

1266.

Matthew mac Gorman.

Matthew mac Gorman, Arch-Deacon of Emly, was confirmed by the King's Patent the 18th of June, 1272, and consecrated in August following. He sate only two Years and some Months.

1272.

David o Cassy.

David o Cassy, a Cistercian and Abbot of the Monastery of the Holy Cross in Tipperary, succeeded, and was confirm'd by the King the 2d of August, 1275. He died in June, 1281.

1275.

William de Clifford.

William de Clifford, Eschator of England, succeeded, and was consecrated in 1282, the Temporals of whose See were afterward in 1299, paid into the Exchequer for Debts contracted while he was Escheator. He died in England in 1306.

1282.

Thomas Cantok.

Thomas Cantok, an English Man, Chancellor of Ireland and a Canon of Emly, was elected Bishop, and obtain'd the Royal Assent the 3d of September, 1306, and the same Year was consecrated in Christ-Church, Dublin, in presence of the Nobility and Clergy, and a great many others, whom he Feasted with a Magnificence unusual in those times. While he was Chancellor, certain Records belonging to the Chancery, and kept in St. Mary's, Dublin, were lost by casual Fire. He sate but a short time, for he died in February, 1308; "At which time (they are the words of the Record) the Seal was in the Custody of Master John Cantok in Dublin, and of Master Henry Ragty, till the Saturday next after the Purification of our B. Lady; and the same Day the afore-said Henry delivered the Seal to the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer, "by order of the afore-said Treasurer and the Counsel of our Lord the King, "which was enclos'd in the Treasury under the Seals of the said Henry, Master "Walter d'Istelep and Hugh Canon, till the coming of Peter de Gaveston Earl of "Cornwall, Lord Lieutenant to our Lord the King in Ireland, who deliver'd "the Seal of our Lord the King to Walter de Thornbury. The King granted Licence of Election to the Dean and Chapter the 26th of February.

1306.

William Roglened.

William Roglened, or Roglead, Dean of Emly, succeeded in 1309, who riding to his Cathedral, was thrown from his Horse by a stumble, and broke 3 Ribs in his left side, the 24th of December, 1327, yet he lived afterward till 1335, in which Year he died, and was buried in his Church.

1309.

1335.

An. Dom.

Richard Walsh.

1355.

Richard Walsh, before the end of the Year, was elected and consecrated. He fate about twenty Years, and died in October, 1355.

John Esmond.

1356.

John Esmond Arch-Deacon of Fernes, by Provision of Pope Innocent VI. succeeded, and was restor'd to the Temporals the 27th of April, 1356. He died the 4th of April, 1362, having fate about six Years.

William.

1363.

William, Arch-Deacon of Emly, provided by the Pope, was restor'd to the Temporals the 11th of October, 1363, as being then vacant by the Death of David; but if any such David was consecrated, it is certain from the Records that he died before he was restor'd to the Temporals, and fate a very short time. This William fate long, for he was living the 17th of December, 1393.

Nicholas.

1423.

Nicholas, Bishop of Emly, died in 1422, upon whose Death John Rishberry, an Augustin Hermit, was declar'd Successor by Pope Martin V. but he delaying to dispatch his Letters of Provision, Robert Windel, a Minorite, was provided the 19th Kal. January, 1423; but, it seems, was not consecrated; for Thomas de Burgh, an Augustin Canon, was elected to the See of Emly; but he likewise delaying, Robert Partland, a Minorite, was provided by the Pope, Kal. February, 1429. It doth not appear whether he was consecrated, or ever visited his See.

Thomas.

1443.

By reason of those disagreeing Provisions, the Revenues of the See were a long time return'd into the King's Exchequer; but at last, in 1431, Thomas was consecrated, who fate 12 Years, and died in 1443. I cannot but think him the same with Thomas de Burgh aforesaid.

Cornelius o Cunlis.

1444.

Upon the Death of Thomas, Pope Eugene IV. appointed Robert of England, a Minorite, to succeed in 1444, but he being either laid aside, or otherwise provided to the Bishoprick of Tiberias in Galilee, under the Patriarch of Jernusalem, Cornelius o Cunlis, or o Ricalis, was provided to this See. As soon as as he was consecrated he was sent Nuncio into England, to Collect Aids against the Turks. He was afterward translated to Clonsfert in 1448. Thus Waddington, in the 5th Tom of the Annals of the Minorites.

Cornelius o Mulledy.

1448.

Cornelius o Mulledy, Bishop of Clonsfert, was translated to this See by Pope Nicholas V. in May, 1448.

William o Hedian.

1459.

William o Hedian, by the Pope's Provision, succeeded in 1459, and by the Pope was made Prior in Commendam of St. Mary's at Kenlis in Ossory, during during the Life of Nicholas, Prior of the Place, in 1468, whereupon a great Contention arose between him and Nicholas.

An. Dom.

Philip.

Philip died in 1494.

Donagh o Brian.

Donagh o Brian, Doctor of the Decrees, was provided to this See the 4th Id. November, but being laid aside, or at least not consecrated, Charles mac Brian, a Canon of Emly, obtain'd the See by Provision of the Pope, prid. Kal. May, 1498.

1498.

Thomas Hurley.

Thomas Hurley, a Canonist of great Fame, died very old, and was buried in his Church, where he had erected a College fo Secular Priests. One Thomas was consecrated Bishop of Emly in 1507, perhaps the same with Thomas Hurley.

1507.

Aeneas o Hifernan.

Aeneas o Hifernan, or o Hernan, Of the Order of the Hospitalers, succeeded the next Year, who sate about ten Years.

Reymund de Burgh.

Reymund de Burgh, a Minorite of the Observance, succeeded, and died in August, 1562, and was buried in the Monastery of the Minorites de Adare, for whose Successors see the the Arch-Bishops of Cassel.

1562.

OF

OF THE BISHOPS OF LIMERICK

St. Munchin.

An. Dom.

ST. Munchin, Son of Sedna, was the first Bishop of Limerick. See the Antiquities Chap. 29. of whose Successors I find no account till the coming of the Easterlings, who while they were Infidels, among other Cities took that of Limerick and held it long; but in the 10th Century they embraced Christianity. Yet I do not find any Bishop of that place till Gille or Gilbert, who sat about the beginning of the 12th Century.

Gille or Gilbert.

1110.

Gille or Gilbert, (whether an Irishman or a Dane I know not,) Bishop of Limerick and Legate of Ireland, flourisht in 1110, and the same Year assembled a Synod at Rathbreassail, wherein (among other things) the Bounds and Limits of the Bishopricks of Ireland were described. He was present at the Consecration of Bernard Bishop of Menevia 1115, perform'd at Westminster by Ralph Arch-Bishop of Canterbury, as we learn in Eadmerus. But in 1139, growing old and sickly, he voluntarily divested himself of the Legantine Power, which the Pope conferr'd on Malachy Morgair then Bishop of Down; for Bishop Gilbert (says S. Bernard in the Life of Malachy) who was then Legate, had intimated to him that by reason of his Age and Infirmities, he cou'd no longer apply himself to Business. Nor did Gille live long after. He writ (beside some Epistles to Anselm Arch-Bishop of Canterbury and others) a Book of the State of the Church.

Patrick.

1140.

Gille Dying, or at least Resigning in 1140, Patrick Elected Bishop by the Danes went into England where he was Consecrated by Theobald, Arch-Bishop of Canterbury, making this following Procession. "I Patrick Elected to the Government of the Church of Limerick, and now by the Grace of God to be Consecrated Bishop by you most Reverend Father, Arch-Bishop of the Holy Church of Canterbury, and Primate of all Brittain, do promise in all things to give due Subjection and Canonical Obedience to you, and all the Successors Canonically Elected. As appears out of an old Book of Cotton's Library, heretofore belonging to the Church of Canterbury. He sat but a short time.

Harold.

1151.

Harold, a Dane, (called by the Irish Erolb) succeeded, and Died in 1151.

Targese

Turgefe.

Turgefe, a Dane, Succeeded. He was present at the Synod held by Cardinal John Paparo at Kenanuse in 1151.

Ann. Dom.

1151.

Brictius.

Brictius a Dane likewise, succeeded. He was one of those Bishops (if I mistake not) who were present at the Lateran Synod in Rome in 1179, and 1180. To him and his Successors, and to the Clergy of St. Mary's in Limerick, Donald o Brian King of Limerick, granted the Land of Iwmungra, or Mungret, and the Land of Ivamach.

1179.

Donagh o Brian.

Donagh o Brian, descended of the Royal Family of the O Brians, succeeded. He was the first who enlarg'd the Cathedral, and supplied it with Secular Canons; to whom he assign'd certain Prebendaries, and ordain'd Laws for their Government. He was very dear to John, King of England, and justly, for he had often taken pains (as King John himself confesses in his Charter) for his Honour, Love, and Affairs. He Died in 1207, no less noble for his Learning, Prudence and Liberality, than by his Birth.

1207.

Geoffry.

Upon the Death of Donatus, King John endeavoured to prefer Geoffry Rector of Dungarvan, and writ to Miles Fitz Henry Lord Justice of Ireland the 5th of December, 1207, with Instructions to procure Geoffry to be Elected by the Clergy and People of Limerick. Edmund Died Bishop in 1222, but I do not find when either of them was Consecrated.

1222.

Hubert de Burgo.

Hubert de Burgo, Prior of the Monastery of St. Edmund at Arbassell, succeeded, and had the Custody of the Temporals committed to him the 11th of March, 1223. He was a great Benefactor to the Cathedral and Vicars Chorals, as I think; and gave the Church of Iniskefky to St. Mary's Abby of Keinsham, in Somersetshire in England. He Died the 14th of September, 1250, and was Buried in a Monastery of Dominicans at Limerick.

1223.

Robert of Emly.

Upon the King's Licence of Election, the Dean and Chapter chose Robert of Emly, alias Neil, who was confirmed by the King's Patent the 2d of January, 1251. He gave to Thomas of Woodford Dean of Limerick, and his Successors, the Ecclesiastical Benefices of Carnarthy and Rathsiward in 1253. He Died the 8th of September, 1272.

1251.

Gerald le Marescall.

Gerald le Marescall Arch-Deacon of Limerick, obtain'd the Royal Assent the 11th of January following. He recover'd many things belonging to the See, unjustly possessed by others. The Decrees made by him are extant in the Register of the Bishops of Limerick. He Sate Twenty Nine Years, and Died the 10th of February, 1301.

1272.

An. Dom.

Robert of Dondovenald.

1302.

Robert of Dondovenald, or Dondonyl, a Canon of the Church of Limerick, being lega elected, succeeded, and was consecrated in 1302. He sate almost nine Years, and died the 3d of May, 1311, and was buried in his Church.

Eustachius del Ewe:

1311.

Eustachius del Ewe, or Waters, Dean of Limerick, was consecrated before the end of the Year 1311. He was at great Charge in the Repairing and Beautifying his Church, which being finished, was dedicated in July, 1327. He died the 3d. of May, 1336, having sate 24 Years, and was buried in his Cathedral.

Maurice Rochfort.

1337.

Maurice Rochfort was consecrated at Limerick the 6th of April, 1337. He was for a time Deputy to Sir Thomas Rokeby, Knight, Lord Justice of Ireland. He died the 9th of June, or as some, the 14th of April, 1353, and is call'd in the Annals of Nenaght, a Man of a good Life and honest Conversation.

Stephen Lawles.

1354.

Stephen Lawles, Chancellor of the Church of Limerick, succeeded, and was restored by the King to the Temporals the 13th of May, 1354. He died on Innocents-day, 1359.

Stephen Wale.

1360.

Stephen Wale, Dean of Limerick, provided by the Pope, was consecrated in 1360. He sate nine Years, and was in the mean time Treasurer of Ireland. He translated the Bones of Richard Fitz Ralph Arch-Bishop of Armagh, commonly call'd St. Richard of Dundalk, from Avignon to Dundalk. He was translated from hence to Meath in 1369.

Peter Curragh.

1369.

Peter Curragh, Born in the County of Dublin, was elected Successor, and swore Fealty to King Edward III. before William Wickam Bishop of Winchester, the 10th of February, 1369. Of the Accusations against him by Philip of Torrington Arch-Bishop of Cassel, the Conservator of the Privileges of the Minorites in Ireland, and of the Examination of the whole matter committed to Simon Sudbury, Arch-Bishop of Canterbury, we have a large account in Pope Gregory IX. Bull, dated at Avignon the 13th Kal. September, 1376, which you may find in L. Waddington 4 Tom Annal. Minor. Peter lived many Years after, and resign'd in 1400, and died about the end of October, 1407.

Cornelius o Dea.

1400.

Cornelius o Dea, Arch-Deacon of Killaloe, succeeded in 1400, and Resign'd in 1426, to live private. He died the 27th of July, 1434, and was buried in his Cathedral, in a Tomb beautified with his Statue.

John Mothel.

John Mothel, an Augustine Canon of Kenlis, in the County of Kilkenny, was provided Successor by Pope Martin V. and restored to the Temporals the 25th of of June, 1426. He fate almost 32 Years, and resign'd in 1458, and died in 1468.

An. Dom.

William Creagh.

1426.

William Creagh, a Native of Limerick, provided by the Pope, was consecrated in 1459. He fate about 13 Years. He recovered the Lands of Donaghmore, that were unjustly possessed by others.

1459.

Thomas Arthur.

Thomas Arthur, Born in Limerick, succeeded, and there died the 19th of July, 1486.

1486.

Richard.

Richard, by Provision of Pope Innocent VIII. succeeded, and died at Rome the same Year, before he could procure his Dispatches from thence.

John Dunow.

John Dunow, or Dumow, a Canon of the Church of Exeter, Doctor of the Decrees and, at that time Ambassador to the Pope from King Henry VII. was provided Successor by the Pope, Id. November, 1486, and in the third Year of his Consecration died at Rome, before he visited his Sec.

1486.

John Folan.

John Folan, a Canon of the Church of Fernes, Procurator of the Affairs of Octavian de Pallatio, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, in the Court of Rome, was provided by the Pope, the 3d. Id. May, 1489. He died the 30th of January, 1521. In his time, namely, about the Year 1490, the Citizens of Limerick repair'd the Body of the Cathedral in Limerick, which was going to decay.

1489.

John Coyn.

After the Death of Folan, King Henry VIII. endeavoured to promote Walter Wellesley Prior of Conal, afterward Bishop of Kildare; but he being laid aside, John Coyn, or Quin, was preferr'd, who being blind and infirm, resign'd the 9th of April, 1551.

1551.

William Casy.

William Casy, Rector of the Church of Kilcornan, at the Request of James Earl of Desmond, was appointed Successor by King Edward VI. and consecrated the same Year in Dublin (the See of Cassel being then vacant) by George Brown Arch-Bishop of Dublin, assisted by the Bishops of Kildare, Fernes and Leghlin. Some Years after he was depriv'd by Queen Mary, but restored under Queen Elizabeth. Afterward in 1588, in regard of his Age and Infirmities, Denis Cambell, a Scotch Man and Dean of Limerick, was appointed his Coadjutor. He died worn out with Age the 7th of February, 1591, after which the See was vacant Two Years.

Hugh Lacy.

Hugh, or Ulic Lacy, or Lees, a Canon of Limerick, was provided to this See (upon the Deprivation of Casy, who was then living) by Pope Paul IV. at the Request of Queen Mary, and restor'd to the Temporals the 13th of April, 1557.

An. Dom.

1557.

1571.

1557, taking this Oath, as appears in the Records. "I Hugh elected Bishop of Limerick, and consecrated; do confess, that I have and hold all the Temporal Possessions of the said Bishoprick, from your hands and your Successors Kings of England, as in Right of the Crown of your Kingdom of Ireland; and I shall be faithful to you and your Successors Kings of England. So God me help" and the Holy Evangelists. He resign'd in 1571, and William Casy, or whom before, succeeded.

John Thornburgh.

1593.

John Thornburgh, Native of Salisbury, Doctor of Divinity of Magdalen College in Oxford, and Chaplain to Queen Elizabeth, obtain'd this See by the Queen's Gift a little before the end of the Year 1593, holding the Deanry of York by Dispensation. He was translated to Bristol in 1603, and thence to Worcester the 17th of February, 1616, in which See he died very old in 1640, and was buried in his Cathedral. See more of him in Sir John Harrington's Supplement to the History of the Bishops of England, written in English in 1608.

Bernard Adams.

1604.

Bernard Adams, A. M. of Trinity-College in Oxford, appointed Successor by King James, was consecrated in April, 1604, and together with the See of Limerick held that of Fenabore by Dispensation, from 1606 till 1617, when he resign'd. He repair'd his Church with no small cost, and gave to it an Organ of Water work, and other Ornaments. He died at Limerick the 22d of March, 1625, and was buried in his Church under a Monument erected to his Memory.

Francis Gough.

1626.

Francis Gough, Chancellor of the Church of Limerick, educated in New College, Oxford, was consecrated at Cassel the 17th of September, 1626. He died at Limerick of a Quinty the 29th of August, 1634, and was buried in his Cathedral.

George Web.

1634.

George Web, Native of Wiltshire, Doctor of Divinity of Oxford, and Chaplain to King Charles I. was consecrated in St. Patrick's, Dublin, the 18th of December, 1634. He died a Prisoner to the Rebels in the Castle of Limerick, about the end of the Year 1641, of a Dysentery.

Robert Sibthorp.

1642.

Robert Sibthorp, Bishop of Fenabore, was translated to this See the 7th of April, 1642; but by reason of the Wars never made any profit of it. He died at Dublin in April, 1649, and was buried in St. Werburgh's Church.

Edward Sing.

1660.

Edward Sing, Born at Bridgnorton in Shropshire, in England, was brought into Ireland by his Elder Brother George Sing, afterward Bishop of Cloyne, and by his care put to School at Tredagh, and afterward to the University of Dublin, where he commenced Doctor of Divinity. After the storms of Rebellion were blown over, from Dean of Elphin he was made Bishop of Limerick, and consecrated in St. Patrick's, Dublin, the 27th of January, 1660, and held the Bishoprick of Ardfert in Commendam, and was thence translated to the Sees of Cork, Cloyne and Ross, in December, 1663.

William

William Fuller.

William Fuller, L. L.D. Born at London in 1608, was educated, first at Westminster, then at Oxford, where he continued 15 Years; after which he was receiv'd as Domestick Chaplain to Edward Lord Littleton, Keeper of the great Seal of England: Not long after, the Wars breaking out, he suffered much by the Rebels, both at home and abroad, for his Fidelity to King Charles I. But upon the Restoration was first made Dean of St. Patrick's, Dublin, and afterward consecrated Bishop of Limerick and Ardfert in Christ-Church, Dublin, the 20th of May, 1663, by Michael Arch-Bishop of Dublin, John Clogher, Robert Fernes and Leghlin, and Edward Cork, from whence he was translated to Lincoln in England.

1663.

Francis Marsh.

Francis Marsh, Doctor of Divinity, was born in Glostershire in England, the 23d of October, 1627. He was first admitted of Emanuel, afterward of Caius and Gonville College, Cambridge, whereof he was a Senior Fellow. Upon the happy Restoration of the Royal Family he was made Dean of Connor, the 28th of November, 1660; and from thence the Year following, by Patent dated the 27th of June, 1661, he was made Dean of Armagh, where he continued till he was consecrated Bishop of Limerick, Ardfert and Aghadoe, the 28th of October, 1667. He was consecrated in St. Mary's Church in Clonmel, in the Diocese of Lismore, the 22d of December, 1667, by Thomas Cassel, assisted by Edward Killaloe, John Waterford and Lismore, and Richard Fernes and Leghlin, and thence translated to the united Bishopricks of Kilmore and Ardagh.

1667.

John Vesey.

John Vesey, Doctor of Divinity of Dublin, Dean of Cork, was consecrated Bishop of Limerick and Ardfert in Christ-Church, Dublin, the 12th of January, 1672, by Michael Arch-Bishop of Dublin, assisted by James Armagh, Daniel Killaloe and John Ossory; from whence he was translated to the Arch-Bishoprick of Tuam, the 18th of March, 1678.

1672.

Simon Digby.

Simon Digby, Born at Kilminchy near Maryborough, in the Queen's County, and educated in the University of Dublin, where he proceeded Doctor of Divinity, was promoted from the Deanery of Kildare to this See, and consecrated in Christ-Church, Dublin, the 23d of March, 1673, with Licence of Thomas Arch-Bishop of Cassel, by Michael Armagh, assisted by John Dublin, Henry Meath, Anthony Kildare, Thomas Killaloe, Ezekiel Rapho, and Michael Ossory, and thence translated to Elphin, the 12th of January, 1691.

1673.

Nathaniel Willson.

Nathaniel Willson, Doctor of Divinity in Oxford, an English Man, was consecrated in Christ-Church, Dublin, the 10th of May, 1692, and Inthron'd in the Cathedral of Limerick, the 27th of July following. He died the latter end of the Year 1695.

1692.

Thomas Smith.

Thomas Smith, Born at Dundrum, in the County of Down, in 1650, and educated in the University of Dublin, where he proceeded Doctor of Divinity

An. Dom.
1696.

nity, was consecrated in Trinity College the 8th of December, 1695, by William Arch-Bishop of Cassel, and Inthroned in the Cathedral of Limerick the 30th of April, 1696.

---

OF THE BISHOPS
OF WATERFORD.

---

Malchus.

1096.

Malchus, an honest Man, at the Request of the Danes of Waterford, was consecrated Bishop of that See, at Canterbury the 5th Kal. January, 1096, by Anselm Arch-Bishop of Canterbury, Ralph Chichester, and Gundalphe Rochester. The Form of his Profession made to Anselm is extant in an old Book of Cotton's Library, under the Effigies of Cleopatra, in these words, "I Malchus, Elected of the Church of Waterford, and now to be consecrated by you, most Reverend Father Anselm, Arch-Bishop of the Holy Church of Canterbury, do promise Canonical Obedience in all things, to you and all your Successors. An Epistle of Anselm Arch-Bishop of Canterbury to him is extant, written about the Year 1110. See the Antiquities, Ch. 29.

Maelissa o Famine.

1135.

Melissa o Famine died in 1135, or 1136, in which Year, in the Supplement of the Annals of Tigernach, he is called Bishop of Portlargo, for so Waterford is called among the Irish and Welsh.

Twistius, or Tostius.

1152.

Twistius, or Tostius, a Dane, was present at the Synod held by Cardinal Paparo in 1152.

Augustin

Augustin.

In a Council held at Windjore, in the Octaves of St. Michael, 1175, King Henry II. gave to Master Augustin, an English Man, the Bishoprick of Waterford, then vacant, and sent him into Ireland with Laurence Arch-Bishop of Diuelin, to be consecrated by Donatus Arch-Bishop of Cassel, so says Hoveden, in 1179. He was present at the Lateran Council, and in his Journey through England, he and other Bishops, who were going to the Council, before they had liberty to go, took an Oath, says the same Hoveden, to do nothing prejudicial to the King or his Kingdom.

An. Dom.

1175.

Robert.

Robert succeeded in 1200.

1200.

David.

David, a Kinsman to Miler Fitz Henry, Lord Justice of Ireland, was consecrated in 1204. Between him and the Bishop of Lismore was a long Contention about certain Lands belonging to the See of Lismore; but while the Suit depended before the Bishops of Cork and Killalee, and the Arch-Deacon of Cassel, the Pope's Delegate, he was cruelly murder'd in 1209. I remember that I have somewhere read, that the Murder was committed by Flan King of Deese, of which see the Epistle of Pope Innocent III. dated the 6th Kal. July, 1212, published by Franciscus Bosquet, in 1635.

1204.

Robert.

Robert his Successor, was consecrated by Donagh Arch-Bishop of Cassel, in 1210. He following the Example of his Predecessor, took many things by force from the Bishop of Lismore, and the Controversie long depending had at last this Issue, That the Possession was by the Bishops of Tuam and Doway, the Pope's Delegates, adjudg'd to the Bishop of Lismore, with a Fine of 160 Marks to be paid him by the Bishop of Waterford. Of the new Insolencies of this Bishop we have a large account in the Epistle of Pope Innocent III. dated the 6th Kal. July, 1212, written to the Bishops of Norwich, Clonsfert and Enaghdon; which among the Epistles of the same Pope, was published by Bosquet in 1635, out of a Manuscript of the Library of the College of Toulouse. He was likewise cast in another Suit depending between him and Robert of Bedford, in 1221. He sat 12 Years, and died of Grief in 1222. About the beginning of his time, namely in 1210, Pope Innocent III. confirm'd the Possessions of the Dean and Canons of the Cathedral particularly exprest in the Charter.

1210.

William Wace.

William Wace, Dean of Waterford, was chosen his Successor the same Year, and confirm'd by the Royal Assent the 7th of April, 1223.

1223.

Walter.

Walter, a Benedictine Monk, Prior of St. John the Evangelist in Waterford, obtain'd the Royal Assent the 20th of August, 1227.

1227.

Stephen.

Stephen was Bishop in 1238 and 1246.

1238.

Henry.

An. Dom.

Henry.

1249. Henry, Arch-Deacon of Waterford, being elected, obtained the Royal Assent the 11th of March, 1249. The King granted Licence of Election to the Chapter, the 20th of July, 1291.

Walter.

1255. Walter was consecrated in 1255, and died about the end of the Year 1272.

Stephen de Fulburn.

1273. Stephen de Fulburn, of the Order of the Hospitalers, born in Cambridgeshire, was consecrated in 1273, and the Year following made Treasurer of Ireland, and being afterward Lord Justice, he caused a new kind of Money to be Coin'd there. See the Annals published by Cambden, where at the Year 1279 he is falsely call'd Robert. He was afterward translated to Tuam the 12th of June, 1286.

Walter de Fulburn.

1307. Walter de Fulburn, a Minorite, Chancellor of Ireland, Brother to the afore-said Stephen, succeeded, and died in 1307, having fate 21 Years; the first of that Order who obtain'd this See.

Matthew.

1322. Upon Licence granted by the King the 14th of December, 1307, the Dean and Chapter elected Matthew, Chauntor of the Church of Waterford, who died the 18th of December, 1322, and was buried in his Church.

Nicholas Welised.

1337. Nicholas Welised, Dean of Waterford, was there consecrated on Palm-Sunday following, together with the Bishops of Lismore and Fenabore. He died in June, 1337.

Richard Francis.

1338. Richard Francis was restor'd to the Temporals the 6th of April, 1338, and fate Ten Years.

Robert Elyot.

1349. Robert Elyot, elected and consecrated in 1349, was the Year following depriv'd by Command of Pope Clement VI.

Roger Cradock.

1350. Roger Cradock, a Minorite, was provided to this See by the Bull of Pope Clement VI. the 6th of the Kal. March, 1350. A great difference arose between him and Ralph Kelly Arch-Bishop of Cassel, in 1353, because, as is reported, Two Irish Men of Clankellans were convict of Heresy before the Bishop at the Castle of Bunratty, in the Diocese of Killaloe, without Licence of their Metropolitan, and burnt. The MS. Annals in Cotton's Library, from whence we took this, add further, that the Arch-Bishop, on the Thursday next after the Feast of St. Francis, a little before midnight, entred privately into the Church-yard by St. Katherine's Gate, with with a great Troop of armed Men, and offer'd violence to the Bishop in his Lodging, and wounded him and many others with him, and robb'd him of his Goods, by advice (as is said) of Walter Reve, pretending himself to be Dean of Waterford, and William Sendal Mayor of Waterford. See L. Wadding's Annals, Tom. IV. He was translated to Landaff in Wales in 1362, where he fate Twenty Years.

An. Dom.

The BISHOPS of WATERFORD and LISMORE.

Thomas le Reve.

Thomas le Reve, Canon of the Church of Lismore, was declar'd Bishop of Lismore at Avignon in 1358. While he fate the Sees of Lismore and Waterford were really united by Pope Urban V. in 1363, which Union was confirm'd by King Edward III. the 7th of October, 1363. He died very old in 1393. He was for a time, viz. in 1367, Chancellor of Ireland. It is not to be omitted that there was long since an Intention of uniting these two Sees, for in the close Roll of the 10th of Henry III. Memb. 28, among the Records of the Tower of London, the King's Order for the Union is extant, So that the Episcopal Seat should continue at Waterford. Likewise in Rot. Claus. 12. Hen. III. M. 5. the King's Letters to the Pope concerning the same are extant. Why it did not then take effect, I do not know. Moreover Pope John XXII. decreed in the time of Edward III. That upon the Resignation or Decease of either of those Bishops, the Episcopal Dignity of those Churches should be one and the same; and that the surviving Bishop should be called Bishop of both Churches, as appears out of the Records, tho' it then did not succeed.

1358.

Robert Read.

Robert Read, a Dominican, succeeded in 1394, and two Years after was translated to Carlisle in England, and before the end of the Year 396, to Chichester, where (says Godwin) he erected a very fair Cross in the Market place.

1394.

Thomas Sparkford.

Thomas Sparkford, a Secular Priest in the Diocese of Bath and Wells, in England, having fate only one Year, died intestate in June, 1397. Thomas Colby, a Carmelite of Norwich and Professor of Divinity, an Eloquent Man and a great Preacher, was design'd Bishop of Lismore and Guaterford by Richard II. says Leland, in his Book, de Scriptor. Angl. which Book I have seen in the publick Library of Oxford, in MS. in 1644. But if any such were consecrated to this See, it is certain he fate but a short time.

John Deping.

John Deping was consecrated in 1397, and died the 4th of February, 1399.

1397.

An. Dom.

Thomas Snell.

1399.

Thomas Snell, Arch-Deacon of Glendelagh, was restor'd to the Temporals of this See the 16th of November, 1399, and Six Years after translated to Offory.

Roger.

This Roger died in 1409, having fate only Three Years and some Months.

John Geese.

1409.

John Geese, a Carmelite, by Provision of Pope Alexander V. succeeded, the 10th Kal. of September, 1409, and died the 22d of December, 1425.

Richard.

1426.

Richard, Arch-Deacon of Lismore, was provided by Pope Martin V. in 1426. He died the 7th of May, 1446, having fate Twenty Years, and was buried at Waterford, in the Wall of his Cathedral. There was a false report of the Death of this Richard in 1438, whereupon King Henry VI. writ to Pope Eugene IV. in favour of Thomas Brid, of the Order of Predicants, and Professor of Divinity; but Richard being known to be yet alive, the design was disappointed.

Robert Poer.

1446.

Before the end of the same Year Robert Poer, Dean, if I mistake not, of Limerick, succeeded. He obtain'd from King Edward IV. a Licence to purchase Land to the value of 40 pounds per Ann. to him and his Successors; also in his time, the Dean and Chapter of this Church, in 1463, obtain'd from the same King a power to purchase Lands to the yearly value of 100 Marks. (these are the words of the Chapter) "For the advancement of Divine Worship there. Robert died about the Year 1471: A Man much esteem'd for his Charity and Hospitality.

Richard Martin.

1472.

Richard Martin, a Minorite and Professor of Divinity, by the Pope's Provision succeeded the 7th Id. of March, 1472.

John Bolcomp.

1475.

John Bolcomp was consecrated in 1475, and died in 1479.

Nicholas o Henisa.

1480.

Nicholas o Henisa, a Cistercian, Abbot of St. Mary's of Formoy, or de Castro Dei, succeeded by Provision of Pope Sixtus IV. the 20th of May, 1480, and fate about Five Years. In his time James Rice, a Citizen of Waterford, built a fair Chappel in the Cathedral, which on the Day of St. Nicholas, 1482, was Dedicated to St. James the Elder, and St. Catherine the Virgin, by Hedian Bishop of Offory.

Thomas Pursell.

1486.

Thomas Pursell succeeded in 1486. He, among other Antiquities, register'd the Ancient Charters of his Church of Lijmore, by his Amanuensis John Russel, in in 1486, which after many Years (viz. in 1617) in the time of Lancaster, were lost to the great detriment of the See, by accidental Fire. He died in 1517.

An. Dom.

Nicholas Comin.

Nicholas Comin, Native, if I mistake not, of Limerick, was consecrated Bishop of Fernes at London, in St. Paul's Church, the 20th of January, 1509. He sate there about 10 Years, and was then translated to this See. He adorn'd the Quire of the Cathedral of Waterford, by the help of Robert Lombard Dean, and beautify'd the Roof with Pictures of excellent work, in 1522, at last in July, 1551, he resign'd very Aged and Infirm.

1519.

Patrick Walsh.

Patrick Walsh, Dean of Waterford, was consecrated in August, 1551, holding the Deanery for a time by Dispensation. He died in 1578.

1551.

Marmaduke Middleton.

Marmaduke Middleton, Rector of the Church of Killare, in the Diocess of Meath, succeeded in 1579, and was translated to St. David's in Wales in 1582. Peter Heylin in his Examen Historicum, publish'd in English at London in 1659, pag. 221. says, he was afterward degraded at Lambeth.

1579.

Miler Magrath.

Miler Magrath, Arch-Bishop of Cassel, was made Bishop of Waterford and Lismore in Commendam, the 7th of January, 1582, and continued so till 1589, when Queen Elizabeth granted the See to Thomas Wetherhead; but Thomas dying Two Years after, he again had it in Commendam the 19th of December, 1592, till he resign'd the 22d of February, 1607.

1582.

Thomas Wetherhead.

Thomas Wetherhead, Guardian of the New College of St. Mary in Toughall, was consecrated by Miler Arch-Bishop of Cassel, in 1589. He died in 1592, and then the said Miler was made Bishop in Commendam.

1589.

John Lancaster.

Miler resigning in 1607, John Lancaster, Chaplain to King James I. succeeded, and was consecrated soon after. He died at Waterford in 1619, and was buried in his Church.

1607.

Michael Boyle.

Michael Boyle, Doctor of Divinity, of Oxford, and Dean of Lismore, a Man of a great Ingenuity, was consecrated about the end of the Year 1619, and died at Waterford the 27th of December, 1635, and was there buried in the Cathedral of the Holy Trinity.

1619.

John Atherton.

John Atherton succeeded in 1636. He was Degraded, and Executed the 5th of December, 1640, for a Crime which he always denied to have committed during the time of his most exemplary Preparation for Death, and at the moment 1636.

An. Dom.

ment of it. The person who Swore to the Points against him, at his own Execution some time after, confessed he had falsly accused him. See Dean Barnard's Account of him, in his Book Intituled, The Penitent Death of a woful Sinner, p. 25 and 26. Printed at Dublin, in 1641,

Archibald Adair.

1641.

Archibald Adair, late Bishop of Killalla, by favour of King Charles I. obtain'd the See of Waterford and Lismore, the 13th of July, 1641, notwithstanding his Sentence of Deprivation. He died at Bristol in England about the Year 1647.

George Baker.

1660.

George Baker, Doctor of Divinity of Dublin, was born at Dublin, and there consecrated in St. Patrick's Church the 27th of January, 1660. He died at Waterford the 15th of November, 1665, and was there buried in the Cathedral.

Hugh Gore.

1665.

Hugh Gore, Doctor of Divinity, Native of Dorsetshire in England, took the first Rudiments of Learning at Lismore in Ireland; from whence he was sent to Oxford, and admitted of Trinity College there. He return'd to Ireland, to the University of Dublin, and was deservedly advanc'd to all the Degrees there from the lowest to the highest. At last from Dean of Lismore he was made Bishop of Waterford and Lismore the 21st of February, 1665, and was consecrated at Clonmel the 25th of March, 1666, by Thomas Arch-Bishop of Cassel, assisted by Griffin Ossory, Edward Cork, Cloin and Ross, and Edward Killaloe, and (which is something rare) was one of five, of the same Year and Degree in the University of Dublin, who were all preferr'd to the highest Orders and Dignities of the Church, and all at the same time living in 1675, viz. Michael then Arch-Bishop of Dublin and Chancellor of Ireland, Ambrose Kildare, Edward Cork, Cloin and Ross, Essex Dromore, and this Hugh Waterford and Lismore. He beautify'd his Cathedral of Waterford at his own cost and charge, and did many other things which are at this day testimonies of his liberality.

Nathaniel Foy.

1691.

Nathaniel Foy (Son of John Foy Doctor of Physick) was educated in Trinity College, Dublin, where he was sometime Senior Fellow, and having commenced Doctor of Divinity in that University, was first made Minister of the Parochial Church of St. Bridget's, Dublin, and from thence preferred to the united Sees of Waterford and Lismore the 13th of July, 1691.

The Bishops of LISMORE

till 1363, in which Year the Bishopricks of Waterford and Lismore were united.

St. Carthag.

ST. Carthag, commonly call'd Mochudu, a Native of Munster, was made the first Bishop of Lismore. He died the 14th of May, 638. See the Antiquities, chap. 29.

638.

Of his Successors till Malchus, little memory remains.

Hierologus died the 16th of January, 698.

698.

Colman, or Mocholmoc, Son of Finbar, succeeded, and died the 22d of January, 702.

702.

St. Cronan, Son of Nethsemon, a learned Man, call'd The Wise, and nobly descended, died the 9th of February, 717.

717.

Colman o Liathan, died about the Year 725.

725.

Macogius died in 746.

746.

Ronan died in 763.

763.

The first Bishop of Lismore that occurs after the Death of Ronan, is O Mail-Sluaig, called Comorban, or Successor of Mocudu. He died in 1025.

1025.

Moriertach o Selbac died in 1034.

1034.

Mac-Airthir died in 1064.

1064.

Mel-Duin o Rebacain died in 1091.

1091.

Mac-Mic-Educan died in 1123.

1123.

Gilla-Mocudu o Rebacain died in 1129.

1129.

Malchus.

Malchus flourish'd in 1140. He was an old Man, (says Bernard in the Life of Malachy) full of Days and Virtue, and the Wisdom of God was in him. Possibly the same with Melmonec o Lonsac, whom our Annals call Bishop of Lismore, and say he died in 1150.

1140.

Christian o Conarchy.

Christian o Conarchy, was sometime a Cistercian in the Abby of Clarevall, under St. Bernard, by whom he was sent into Ireland, and made the first Abbot of Mellifont in 1142. Being afterward made Bishop of Lismore, about the Year 1150, he was made the Pope's Legat in Ireland. Some, not rightly, call him Arch-Bishop of Armagh; others, Bishop of Down, as John Colgan shews in his Acts of the Irish Saints, the 18th of March. In his time the Synod was held at Kenanuse, or Kenlis, in 1152, in which Cardinal Paparon Legat a latere, and this Christian presided. Christian was President afterward in a Synod held at Brigh-thaig in 1158, of which we have before spoken in Flathbert o Broclan Bishop of Derry. He died very old in 1186, and was buried in the Monastery of his Order of Odorney, or Kyrieleyson, having resign'd long before his death. In the Annals of Inisfall, I find that a certain Bishop call'd O Cerbail, died at Lismore in 1167, but it is not there expressed of what place he was Bishop, so that I cannot certainly reckon him among the Bishops of this See.

1150.

1167.

Foelix.

Foelix, Bishop of Lismore, was present at the Lateran Council in 1179, as we 1179.

An. Dom.

we find in the Notes of John Picard upon William Newbrige. He gave the Church of St. John at Lismore to the Abby commonly call'd Thomas Court near Dublin; as we find in the Register of the same Abby.

O Heda.

1206.

The Annals of Inisfall make mention of a certain Bishop surnamed O Heda, who is said to have died in 1206, at Sleucua in a Journey. Perpaps he was Bishop of Lismore, and the same with Felix aforesaid. I do not find who next succeeded.

Robert de Bedford.

1218.

Robert de Bedford, so call'd from the place of his Nativity in England, Elect Bishop of Lismore, was confirm'd by King Henry III. the 13th of December, 1218, and before the end of the same Year was consecrated in Dublin. He was elected to the See of Glendelagh after the Death of William Pyro, but without effect, for that See was then united to Dublin, as we have noted in the Life of Henry Loundres Arch-Bishop of Dublin. Between this Robert and Robert Bishop of Waterford, a great Contention arose about certain Possessions belonging to this See, which the Bishop of Waterford had usurpt; but at last in 1221, the Right was adjudged to the See of Lismore, by Randulph Masca Elect of Normich, the Pope's Legat, Stephen Langton Arch-Bishop of Canterbury, and Benedict Bishop of Rocheſter the Pope's Delegats; as appears by the Records. The Author of the Annals of the Priory of Dunſtaple adds further, That the Bishop of Waterford was fin'd in 300 Marks, to be paid to the Bishop of Lismore, for Fruits and Expences, &c. Soon after this Robert died, viz. in 1222.

Griffin Christopher.

1223.

Griffin Christopher, Chancellor of Lismore, Bishop elect of the same, obtain'd the Royal Assent the 8th of November, 1223, but was not consecrated till 1227. He was the first that instituted Vicars Chorals in the Church of Lismore. He died in 1246.

Alan o Sullivan.

1248.

Alan o Sullivan, of the Order of Predicants, Bishop of Cloyne, was translated to this See in 1248, and died in 1252.

Thomas.

1253.

Upon the King's Licence of Election granted to the Dean and Chapter of Lismore, the 27th of April, 1253, they elected Thomas Treasurer of Lismore, who was confirm'd by the Pope's Assent the 27th of June following. He died in 1270, and was buried in his Church. Two Years before his Death, upon a quarrel between him and Matthew le Poer, he was apprehended by Poer, and for a time Imprison'd.

John de Rupe.

1270.

John de Rupe, or Roch, Nobly descended, and Chauntor of Lismore, was elected and confirm'd in 1270. He sat almost nine Years, and died about Whitsuntide, 1279.

Richard Cor.

1279.

Richard Cor, Chancellor of Lismore, being elected, obtain'd the Royal Assent the 24th of October, 1279, Between him and Stephen Fulburn Bishop of Waterford,

Waterford, was a great difference, about certain Lands which did not end before the Translation of Stephen to the Arch-Bishoprick of Tuam, and the same revived between him and Walter Fulburn, Successor to Stephen in the See of Waterford; but was at last composed in 1288, as appears in the Records. He died a little before the Feast of All Saints in 1308, and was buried in his Church, after which the King granted Licence of Election to the Dean and Chapter the 24th of November following.

An. Dom.
~~~~~

William le Fleming.

About the end of the same Year or the beginning of the next, William le Fleming, or of Flanders, Arch-Deacon of Lismore, succeeded, and died about November, 1321. King Edward II. granted Licence of Election to the Dean and Chapter, the 13th of December following.

1321.

John Leynagh.

On Palm Sunday, 1323, John Leynagh, a Secular Priest. was consecrated Bishop of Lismore at Waterford, together with the Bishops of Waterford and Fenabore. He died a little before Christmas in 1354, and deserved well of his Successors, for recovering certain Possessions belonging to the See. After him the See was vacant some Years.

1323.

Thomas le Reve.

Thomas le Reve, a Canon of the Church of Lismore, by Provision of the Pope, was declar'd Bishop of Lismore at Avignon, in 1358. In his time the Sees of Waterford and Lismore were really united in 1363. He died very old in 1393, and was some time Chancellor of Ireland. Of his Successors, see what we have said before in the Bishops of Waterford and Lismore.

1358.

OF THE BISHOPS
OF CORK.

St. Barr.

ST. Barr, or Finbar, or Barr the White, call'd also heretofore Lochan, Born in Conaught, was the first Bishop of Cork. He died the 7th Kal. October, but the Year is uncertain. See the Antiquities, Ch. 29. Of his Successors, till the coming of the English, we have little knowledge, but these are mention'd in our Historians.

St. Nessan,

An. Dom.

773.

961.

990.

1026.

1027.

1028.

1034.

1057.

1086.

1107.

1111.

1140.

St. Nessan, Disciple of St. Barr, brought up in the School near Logh-cire. His Memory is celebrated at Cork the 17th of March.

Selbac died in 773.

Cathmogan died in 961.

Columba mac Ciaracain, call'd Comorba, or Successor of Barr, died in 990.

Cellac o Selbac died in Pilgrimage in 1026.

Neil o Mailduib died in 1027.

Aitri-fairt died in 1028.

Cathal died in 1034.

Mugron o Mustan, call'd Comorba, or Successor of Barr and Bishop, was kill'd by his own People by night, in 1057.

O Selbaic died in 1086.

Maclothod o Hailgenan died in 1107.

Patrick o Selbac died in 1111.

The See of Cork was vacant in 1140, and then "A certain poor Man who was a " Stranger, (says St. Bernard in the Life of St. Malachy.) but Holy and Learned, " was provided Bishop by Malachy himself, and sent to the See with the Appro- " bation of the Clergy and People. But the Name of the Bishop is not there expressed.

Gilla-Aeda-Mugin.

1152.

Gilla-Aeda-Mugin, Native of Conaught, Abbot of the Abby de Antro S. Finbarri, or of the Cave of St. Finbarr, near Cork, was present at the Synod held at Kenanuse, under Cardinal John Paparon the Pope's Legat a Latere, and Christian o Conarchy Bishop of Lismore the other Legat, in 1152. He died in 1172. A Man for his many virtues much celebrated among the Irish Historians. From him that Convent of Regular Canons of the Order of St. Augustin, commonly call'd Gille-Abby took its Name. He is alio reckon'd among the principal Benefactors of the Church of Cork.

Gregory.

1172.

The same Year succeeded Gregory, He gave the Church of St. Nessan, at Cork, to the Abby near Dublin, commonly call'd Thomas-Court. That Nessan was a Disciple of St. Barr the first Bishop of Cork. Gregory fate about 14 Years.

Reynold succeeded.

O Selbaic.

1199.

In the Annals of Inisfall, in 1205, mention is made of one Bishop Selbaic, who died at Cork; and I cannot but think that he and Reynold were one and the same Man. He who was Bishop in 1199, obtain'd Confirmation from Pope Innocent III. of all the Possessions of the See of Cork, whereof we have a Catalogue in the Decretal Epistles of the same Innocent.

Geofry White.

1215.

Who was his next Successor I do not find, but the See being vacant in 1215, King Henry III. endeavour'd to promote Geofry White, in whose favour he writ Letters to the Arch-Bishops of Dublin and Cassel, where he calls him a Learned, Provident and honest Man; but it doth not appear whether he were consecrated or not.

Marian o Brian.

Marian o Brian, provided Bishop of Cork by the Pope, was translated to Cassel

Cassel in 1224. In the Records of the Tower of London he is call'd Maurice; for there I find, that at the Pope's Request, he obtain'd the Royal Assent the 25th of August, 1224.

An. Dom.
1224.

Gilbert.

Gilbert, Arch-Deacon of Cork, with the King's Approbation, the 15th of June, 1225, was consecrated before the end of the same Year. He died about the Year 1238.

1225.

Laurence.

Laurence succeeded, and died in 1264. Afterward the King granted a Licence of Election to the Dean and Chapter of Cork, the 27th of March, 1265.

1264.

William.

William, a Cistercian of the Abby of Jerepont, in the County of Kilkenny, was restor'd to the Temporals of this See the 28th of November, 1266. If he was consecrated, he sate but a short time, for I find that one Reynald obtain'd this See the Year following.

1266.

Reynald.

The Temporals of this See were restor'd to Reynald Treasurer of Cassel, the 5th of August. He died at Cork in December, 1276, and was there buried in the Cathedral of St. Barry.

1276.

Robert mac Donogh.

Robert mac Donogh, a Cistercian and a learned Man, succeeded. He sate 24 Years, and died the 7th of March, 1301.

1301.

John mac Carwill.

John mac Carwill, or o Carol, Dean of Cork, elected with the consent of the whole Chapter, obtain'd the Royal Assent the 12th of June, 1302, and was confirm'd by the Pope in July following; and from hence to the See of Meath in 1321.

1302.

Philip de Slane.

Philip de Slane, so called, I think, because born at Slane in Meath, of the Order of Predicants, provided by the Pope, was restor'd to the Temporals the 17th of July, 1321. Two Years after he was sent to the Pope by King Edward II. and was so prudent in the discharge of his Commission, that at his return he was made one of the Privy Council in Ireland. He died in 1326, and before the end of the same Year, John le Blond, Dean of Cloyne, was elected to this See. If he was consecrated, he sate not long, for Licence of Election was granted to the Dean and Chapter the 12th of May, 1327.

1321.

Walter le Rede.

Walter le Rede, a Canon of the Church of Cork, provided by Pope John XXII. was restor'd to the Temporals the 18th of October, 1327. He was translated to Cassel in 1330. He gave the Vicar a convenient Habitation.

1327.

An. Dom.

John de Baly coningham.

1330.

John de Baly coningham, Rector of the Church of Ardwhin, in the Diocess of Down, elected Bishop of Down by the Prior and Convent of the Cathedral, was confirm'd by the Royal Assent the 21st of August, 1328; and likewise by the King's Order, receiv'd the Fruits of the See for a time; but Pope John XXII. made void the Election: Yet in 1330, he was by the same Pope promoted to the See of Cork. He died the 4th Kal. of June, 1347, having sat here 17 Years.

John de Rupe.

1347.

John de Rupe, or Roch, a Canon of the Church of Cork, and Nobly descended, was chosen Successor by the Dean and Chapter, and consecrated by Ralph Kelly Arch-Bishop of Cassel, about Christmas, 1347. He sat Ten Years and Six Months, and died the 4th of July, 1358.

Gerald de Barry.

1350.

Gerald de Barry, descended of the Noble Family of the Barrys, Dean (if I mistake not) of Cork, was consecrated in 1350. He sat more than Twelve Years, and died at 90 Years of Age, worn out with sickness, the 4th of January, 1393, and was buried in his Church.

Roger Elefmere.

1396.

Fryar Roger Elefmere, provided by Pope Boniface IX. after Fealty sworn to to the King, was restor'd to the Temporals, the 31st of March, 1396, and sat Ten Years.

Gerald succeeded.

Patrick Ragged.

Patrick Ragged succeeded, who was translated to the See of Offory in 1417, where he sat Four Years. While he was Bishop of Cork, viz. in 1415 and 1416, he was present at the Council of Constance, where for his Learning and other Virtues he acquir'd a great esteem.

Miles Fitz John.

1418.

Miles Fitz John, Dean of Cork, was consecrated in 1418, and died in 1430.

The Bishops of Cork and Cloyn.Jordan.

1430.

U Pon the Death of Miles, the Custody of the Temporals was for a time committed to Nicholas Bishop of Ardfert and Richard Scurlog Arch-Deacon of Cork, but before the end of the Year 1430, Jordan Chancellor of Limerick, was promoted by Pope Martin V. to the Sees of Cork and Cloyn, both being vacant, and then Canonically united, yet he was not restor'd to the Temporals till the 25th of September, 1431. He sat more than 30 Years.

Gerald

Gerald Fitz Richard.

Gerald Fitz Richard succeeded: he appropriated the Vicaridges of Clonmolt, Danigin, Donilbam, and Bally-isPELLANY, to the Abby de Choro Benedicti. He died in 1479.

1479.

William Roch.

William Roch succeeded, who resign'd in 1490.

1490.

Thaddy mac Carty.

Thaddy mac Carty, or Mechar, was provided the same Year by Pope Innocent VIII. as we find in the Collections of Francis Harold.

Gerald.

Gerald, Bishop of Cork and Cloyne, resign'd in 1499.

1499.

John Fitz Edmond.

John Fitz Edmond, descended of the Noble Family of the Geraldines, was provided by the Pope, the 6th of Kal. of July, 1499.

John Bennet.

John Bennet, or Ferret, died in 1536.

1536.

Dominick Tirrey.

Dominick Tirrey, Rector of the Church of Shandon, was elected Successor, by command of King Henry VIII. and consecrated by Edward Butler Arch-Bishop of Cassel, and the Bishops of Ross, Limerick, and Imelac, in 1536. While he sat, Lewis Mac-Nemara was provided Bishop by Pope Paul III. the 24th of September, 1540, and Mac-Nemara dying soon after at Rome, John Hoyeden was provided Successor by the same Pope, the 5th of November following; yet Tirrey who had the Bishoprick from Henry VIII. receiv'd the Fruits of it all his time. He sat about Twenty Years.

Roger Skiddy.

Roger Skiddy, Dean (I think) of Limerick, was appointed Successor to Tirrey by Queen Mary, and restor'd to the Temporals the 18th of November, 1557. He sat Nine Years and some Months, and resign'd the 18th of March, 1566, after which the See was vacant almost Four Years.

1557.

Richard Dixon.

Richard Dixon, Prebend of Rathmichel in the Diocess of Dublin, was consecrated in 1570, and the Year following was depriv'd.

1570.

Matthew Sheyn.

Matthew Sheyn succeeded, and was consecrated in 1572. He died the 13th of June, 1582, or as others, 1583. He was (perhaps) that Sheyn whom Richard Stanhurst, 1572.

An. Dom.

Stanhurst, in his Description of Ireland, Cap. 7. says, was educated at Oxford and Paris, and writ de Republica.

William Lyon.

1582.

William Lyon, Vicar of Naas, Chaplain to Arthur Lord Grey, Lord Deputy of Ireland, a Native of Cheshire, was consecrated Bishop of Ross in 1582, and afterward by Grant of Queen Elizabeth, obtain'd the Sees of Cork and Cloyne. He lay'd out 1000 Pounds to new build the Bishops House at Cork, which Three Years after was burnt by Doncoun the Rebel, and died there very old the 4th of October, 1617, and was there buried in the Cathedral.

John Boyle.

1618.

John Boyle, Native of Kent, Doctor of Divinity of Oxford, Brother to Richard Boyle, Baron of Youghall, afterward Earl of Cork, and Treasurer of Ireland, was consecrated in 1618, and held the See of Ross in Commendam. He died in 1620, and was buried at Youghall.

Richard Boyle.

1620.

Richard Boyle, Dean of Waterford, and Arch-Deacon of Limerick, Brother to Michael Boyle Bishop of Waterford and Lismore, was provided to the Sees of Cork, Cloyne and Ross, by King James I. and consecrated in 1620, and was translated to the See of Tuam, the 30th of May, 1636. He died at Cork the 19th of March, 1644, (soon after his return from Bristol) and was buried in the Cathedral of St. Finbarr, in a Tomb prepar'd by himself while he was Bishop of Cork. Nor is it to be omitted, that he repair'd more decay'd Churches, and consecrated new ones while he was Bishop of Cork, than any other Bishop of our time, which Doctor Edward Worth (now Bishop of Killaloe) observ'd in his Funeral Sermon.

Richard Chappel.

1638.

Richard Chappel, Batchelor of Divinity of Christ-College in Cambridge, Dean of Cassel, and Provost of Trinity-College, Dublin, was consecrated Bishop of Cork and Ross at Dublin, the 11th of October, 1638. Afterward in 1641, to avoid the fury of the Rebellion, he retir'd into England, and died at Derby in 1648, from whence his Body was carry'd to Bilthorpe in Nottinghamshire, and there buried. What ever Wealth he left, he order'd to be disposed of to pious uses.

Michael Boyle.

1660.]

Michael Boyle, Doctor of Divinity of Dublin, Dean of Cloyne, was consecrated Bishop of Cork, Cloyne and Ross, in St. Patrick's, Dublin, the 27th of January, 1660, and was translated to Dublin in December, 1663.

Edward Sing.

1663.

Edward Sing, Doctor of Divinity of Dublin, Born at Bridgenorton in Shropshire in England, and brought into Ireland by his elder Brother George Sing, afterward Bishop of Cloyne, by his care was put to School at Tredagh, and afterward to the University of Dublin, there he was a diligent Student. After the Storms of Rebellion were blown over by the Return of King Charles II. from Dean of Elphin he was made Bishop of Limerick, and in December, 1663, was translated to the Sees of Cork, Cloyne and Ross. He died at Cork the 22d of December, 1678. Since then the Bishoprick of Cloyne has continued separate.

THE

OF THE BISHOPS OF CORK and ROSS.

Edward Wetenhall, alias Wethenhale.

Edward Wetenhall, alias Wethenhale, D. D. was born in Litchfield, October the 7th, Anno Dom. 1636; and after the best Education the Country Schools could afford him, was sent to the great Dr. Busby at Westminster, where being made a King's Scholar in the Year 1651; he was chosen thence to Trinity College in Cambrige, whence Anno Dom. 1660, he removed to Oxford, and was some Years Chaplain of Lincoln College, and afterwards Prebendary of St Peter's, Exon. He was invited into Ireland, and came over in the Year 1672, and soon took his Degree of Doctor of Divinity in Trinity College, Dublin, and in a Year or two after was made Chanter of Christ-Church, Dublin; whence he was prefer'd to the united Bishopricks of Cork and Ross, February the 14th, 1678, and consecrated (with the leave of the Arch-Bishop of Cassel) by the most Reverend Michael Lord Primate of all Ireland, (his true Patron) there assisting John Arch Bishop of Dublin, Henry Bishop of Meath, Anthony Kildare, Thomas Killalla, Ezekiel Rapho, and Michael Ossory, in Christ-Church, Dublin, the 23d of March, in the same Year. He then immediately set upon the rebuilding the ancient ruinous House called Bishops-Court by Cork; which, as soon as he had made habitable, he resided constantly in. Here he suffer'd, with his good Neighbours of Cork, all the Insults and Oppressions of the Irish Tyranny, from the Year 1688 till the Reduction of the Kingdom. He has writ and published several Theological Tracts, Sermons, Books of Devotion, and some things in Philosophy. See more of him amongst the Bishops of Kilmore.

An. Dom.

1678.

Dive Downes.

Dive Downes, D. D. born at Thornby in Northamptonshire, in England; educated in Trinity College, Dublin, (whereof he was sometime one of the Fellows) was instituted into the Arch-Deaconry of Dublin, Anno Dom. 1690; and from thence promoted to the united Bishopricks of Cork and Ross, Anno Dom. 1699, and consecrated in the Parish Church of St. John Baptist, Cassel, on the 4th of June, in the same Year.

1699.

OF THE BISHOPS OF CLOYN.

St. Colman.

Colman, the Son of Lenin, Scholar of St. Finbarr Bishop of Cork, a learned and good Man, was the first Bishop and Founder of the Church of Cloyn. He flourished in the Sixth Century, and died the 4th of November, 604. See the Antiquities, Chap. 29.

Till the coming of the English we have little memory of the Bishops of Cloyn.
O Maluvin, Bishop of Cloyn, died in 1094.

An. Dom.

The Church of Cloyn founded.

604.

1094.

Nehemias o Moriartach.

Nehemias o Moriartach flourish'd in 1140, whom St. Bernard mentions in the Life of Malachy; but in the printed Copy he is, not rightly, call'd Bishop of Duenuania, for Cluannania. He died about the Year 1149. The Author of the Vision of Tundall calls him, "A simple and modest Man, excelling in Wisdom and Chastity."

1149.

O Dubery died in 1159.

O Flanagan died in 1167.

1159.

1167.

Matthew.

Matthew was Bishop of this See at the coming of the English under our Henry II. and died about 1192.

1192.

Laurence o Sullivan.

Laurence o Sullivan succeeded, who died at Lismore in 1204.

1204.

Daniel.

Daniel died in 1222.

1222.

Florence.

Florence, Arch-Deacon of Belleghac, elected Bishop of Cloyn, obtain'd the Royal Assent the 25th of August, 1224, but on the 3d of February next, I find the Custody of the Temporals was committed to Marian Arch-Bishop of Cassel.

1224.

K k k

Patrick.

An. Dom.

Patrick.

1226.

A Cistercian Monk, call'd (if I mistake not) Patrick, Prior of St. Mary's of Fermoy, or de Castro Dei, obtained the Royal Assent in 1226.

David mac-Kelley.

1237.

David mac-Kelley, Dean of Cassel, succeeded, and was translated to Cassel in 1237.

Alan o Sullivan.

1240.

Alan o Sullivan, of the Order of Predicants, was consecrated in 1240, and Eight Years after was translated to Lismore.

Daniel.

1249.

Daniel, a Monk, was consecrated in 1249, and died in the beginning of the Year 1264, a Man famous in History for his Virtues. The King granted Licence of Election to the Dean and Chapter of Cloyne, the 2d of June following.

Reynald.

1265.

Reynald, Bishop of Down, was translated to this See in 1265. He died about the beginning of the Year 1273.

Alan o Lonergan.

1283.

Alan o Lonergan, or O Clungan, a Minorite, succeeded, who died in 1283, and before the end of the same Year, viz. the 18th of March, King Edward I. granted Licence of Election.

Nicholas de Effingham.

1284.

The next Year succeeded Nicholas Effingham, an English Man, who sat above 36 Years, and died very old in 1320.

Maurice o Solehan.

1334.

Maurice o Solehan, Arch-Deacon (if I mistake not) of Cloyne, died in 1334; having sat 13 Years.

John de Cumba.

1335.

John, a Cistercian Monk, Abbot of Cumba in Warwickshire, provided by the Pope, succeeded, and was restor'd to the Temporals the 16th of September, or the 27th of December, 1335.

John Brid.

About this time John Brid, sometime Abbot of Southpark in Lincolnshire in England, was Bishop of Cloyne.

John Whitock.

John Whitock, or Whitecock, Dean of Cloyne, was restor'd to the Temporals the the 18th of September, 1351, and died the 7th of February, 1361, after which the See was vacant Two Years.

An. Dom.

1351.

John Swafham.

John Swafham, a Carmelite of Linn in Norfolkshire, Doctor of Divinity of Cambridge, was consecrated in 1363, and translated to Bangor in Wales, by Pope Gregory XI. in July, 1376, for his frequent Disputes with the followers of Wickliff. Nicholas Harpsfield, in his History of that Sect, calls him, but not rightly, Bishop of St. David's.

1363.

Richard Wye.

Richard Wye, an English Carmelite, provided by the same Pope Gregory XI. was restor'd to the Temporals the 9th of November, 1376. He, for certain misdemeanors, was excommunicated, and fled into England, and at last in 1394, was depriv'd; but he, notwithstanding his Deprivation, acting as Bishop, King Richard II. being the next Year at Waterford, commanded him to be apprehended and committed to Custody, to Peter Hacket Arch-Bishop of Cassel.

1376.

Gerald Canton.

Gerald Canton, an Augustin Hermit, and Vicar General of the same Order in Ireland, provided by Pope Boniface IX. was restor'd to the Temporals the 9th of November, he sat the 14th of May, 1407.

1407.

Adam Pay.

Adam Pay, or Pye, succeeded. He labour'd much to unite the See of Cork to his own; which occasion'd great Contention between the two Bishops, in the Parliament held at Dublin in April, 1421, but the Cognizance of the Cause, as belonging to the Pope, was soon dismissed. This Adam died in 1430.

1430.

Jordan.

Jordan, Chancellor of Limerick, both the Sees of Cork and Cloyn being vacant, was provided to both, really united by Pope Martin V. but was not restor'd to the Temporals till the 25th of September, 1431. Of his Successors, see before in the Bishops of Cork and Cloyn.

1431.

George Sing.

George Sing, an English Man, Bred in Baliol College in Oxford, where he was a Student Eight Years, was consecrated Bishop of Cloyn at Tredagh, the 11th of November, 1638, by James Usher Arch-Bishop of Armagh, to whom he was dear and intimate; when he came into Ireland, he was receiv'd with a particular esteem, by Christopher Hampton then Arch-Bishop of Armagh, and was made his Vicar General; and afterward from the Deanery of Dromore, was promoted to this See, and soon after made one of the Privy Council to King Charles I. Returning into England, in 1647, he died at Bridgenorth in Shropshire, the place of his Birth, and was there buried in St Mary Magdalen's Church. He was a Man of great gravity and learning, especially in School Divinity, and both Laws. He was of a tall Stature, comely meen, and gentle conversation, liberal to the Poor, friendly to all, and in Hospitality and good Neighbourhood, second to none.

1638.

Edward

An. Dom.

Edward Sing.

1663.

Edward Sing, Bishop of Limerick, was translated to this See in December, 1663. He died at Cork the 22d of December, 1678.

Patrick Sheridan.

1679.

Patrick Sheridan, educated in the University of Dublin, Dean of Connor, was consecrated Bishop of Cloyne at Cassel, by Thomas Arch-Bishop of Cassel, and Edward Cork, the 17th of April, 1679. He died in Dublin, in November, 1682.

Edward Jones.

1682.

Edward Jones, Doctor of Divinity, sometime Master of the free School in Kilkenny, was promoted to the See of Cloyne, by Letters Patents, granted by King Charles II. the 26th of February, 1682, and from thence translated to the See of St Asaph in Wales, in 1693.

William palliser.

1692.

William Palliser, Doctor of Divinity, sometime Senior Fellow of Trinity College, Dublin, and also Divinity Professor in the same College, was from thence promoted to the See of Cloyne, the 14th of February, 1692, and consecrated in the College-Chappel, the 5th of March following, by Narcissus then Arch-Bishop of Cassel, to which See he was translated the 26th of June, 1694.

Tobias Pullen.

1694.

Tobias Pullen, Doctor of Divinity, sometime Fellow of Trinity College, Dublin, Dean of Fernes, and Minister of St. Peter's, Drogheda for several Years; was from thence promoted to this See the 13th of November, 1694, and afterwards translated to Dromore in 1695.

St. George Ash.

1695.

St. George Ash, Doctor of Divinity, sometime Senior Fellow and Provost of Trinity College, Dublin, was thence promoted to this See the 10th of October, 1695, and from thence translated to Clogher in 1697.

John Pooley.

1697.

John Pooley, Doctor of Divinity, Born at Ipswich in England, Educated in St. Michan's Parish, and Trinity College, Dublin. He held with his Senior Fellowship, the united Parishes of Leixlip, Lucan, Esler, Consoy, and Stathumny, till February, 1674, Chaplain to His Excellency, Arthur Earl of Essex, and by Him made Dean of St. Canice's, Kilkenny, and Prebendary of the said St. Michan's. With great labour and expense, after much opposition, he procur'd the re-building of the said St. Michan's Church, and a greater measure of Conformity to the Rubrick than was usual; wherein he had been more successful, if not obstructed by some whose function oblig'd them to promote it. He was consecrated Bishop of Cloyne in the said St. Michan's Church in 1697. While he was Bishop of that See he was always at Law for the recovery of its Rights from sacrilegious hands. He was translated to the Bishoprick of Rapho in 1702.

Charles Crow.

An. Dom.

Charles Crow, Doctor of Divinity of Dublin, born at Hawkside in Lancashire, educated in Queen's College, Oxford, and thence removed to Dublin College; Provost of Tuam, and Chaplain to the Right Honourable the Earl of Rochester, made Bishop of Cloyne by Letters Patents the 15th of September, 1702, and consecrated on St. Luke's Day the October following, in Christ-Church, Dublin, by Narcissus Lord Arch-Bishop of Dublin, William Lord Bishop of Derry and William Lord Bishop of Kildare assisting: Who by Favour of our Gracious Queen Anne, and the Parliament of England Assembled in 1703, and by his own Solicitation and Expence, recover'd to the See of Cloyne the Mannor of Donnoghmore in the County of Cork, and Kingdom of Ireland, containing near 8000 Acres.

1702.

OF THE BISHOPS
OF ROSS.

St. Fachnan.

St. Fachnan, a wise and good Man, was the first Bishop of Ross, and Founder of the Cathedral there; for in an ancient Martyrology, at the 14th Day of August, set apart to his Memory, I find him expressly call'd Bishop. He flourished in the beginning of the 6th Century. See the Antiquities, Ch. 29.

600.

St. Finchad.

St. Finchad, one of the Disciples of St. Barr, brought up in his School, near Loch-eirce, in the South and Maritim part of Munster, succeeded; of whom I find no further account, nor of his Successors, till the coming of the English into Ireland.

An. Dom.

Benedict.

1172. Benedict was Bishop of this See in 1172, and sat afterward about 18 Years.

Maurice.

1196. Maurice, who succeeded, died in 1196.

Daniel.

1197. Daniel, a Secular Priest, by command of Pope Celestin III. was consecrated at Rome about the Year 1197, by the Bishop of Alba.

Florence.

1222. Florence, a Monk, elected Bishop of Ross, went to Rome, and discover'd to Pope Innocent III. the fraud of his Predecessor Daniel, being unlawfully elected; and returning home, was consecrated by his Metropolitan. Of which see the Decretals of Pope Innocent III. tit. Cum olim. Florence died in 1222.

Robert.

1225. Robert succeeded, by others call'd Richard. He was Bishop in 1225.

Florence o Cloghena.

1252. Florence, or Finin o Cloghena, resign'd in 1252.

Maurice.

1253. Maurice, Chauntor of Clayn, elected Bishop of Ross, was confirmed by the King, in 1253. He resign'd, with Licence from the Pope, in 1269, and became a Fryer Minorite.

Walter o Michthian.

1274. Walter o Michthian, a Minorite, succeeded the same Year, and sat Five Years. He died in December, 1274.

Peter o Hullecan.

1275. Peter o Hullecan, or Halchan, a Cistercian, was consecrated in 1275, and died in 1290.

Laurence.

1309. Before the end of the same Year Laurence, a Canon of Ross, succeeded. He sat 19 Years, and died in 1309, and was buried in his Cathedral. Of the Ancient Liberties of this See, as Shipwracks, &c. see the Inquisition in the Records of the Court of King's Bench in Dublin, in 29. Edw. I. membr. 20. a. in the Cause of this Laurence.

Matthew o Fin.

1309. Upon Licence of Election granted by King Edward II. to the Dean and Chapter the 8th of March, 1309, Matthew o Fin, an Abbot, was chosen Bishop.

shop. He died the 16th of October, 1330. He recover'd several Possessions belonging to his See, unjustly withheld by Thomas Barret and Philip de Carew. An. Dom.

Laurence o Holdecan.

Laurence o Holdecan, or o Hallucan, lawfully elected, was by the Dean and Chapter (the See of Cassel being then vacant) confirm'd the last of April, 1331, and Four Years after died in 1335. 1331.

Denis.

Denis succeeded, consecrated in 1336. One Denis Bishop of Ross died in 1377. I take this to be the same. 1336.

Bernard o Conner.

Bernard o Conner, a Minorite, provided by the Pope, succeeded, and after the Oath of Fidelity to the King, obtain'd the Royal Assent the 3d of February, 1378. 1378.

Stephen Brown.

Stephen Brown, a Carmelite, provided by Pope Boniface IX. was restor'd to the Temporals the 6th of May, 1402. 1402.

Matthew.

One Matthew, Bishop of Ross, died about the Year 1418. 1418.

Walter Formay.

Walter Formay, Doctor of Divinity, a Minorite, was provided Bishop of Ross by Pope Martin V. the 18th Kal. December, 1418, as appears by the Annals of that Order, publish'd by Luke Wadding.

Thaddy.

Thaddy was Bishop of Ross the 4th Kal. January, 1488, and soon after died. 1488.

Odo.

Odo succeeded in 1489, and having sat five Years, died in 1494. 1489.

Edmund Courcy.

Edmund Courcy a Minorite, Professor of Divinity, provided Bishop of Clogher, by Pope Sixtus IV. the 18th Kal. July, 1484, was translated to this See, the 6th Kal. October, 1494. He died very old, the 14th of March, 1518, and was buried in the Abby of Temolage, in the County of Cork. He new built the Steeple, Dormitory, Hospital and Library of that Abby. See more of him in our Annals of Ireland. 1494.

John Imurily.

John Imurily, first a Cistercian Monk of the Abby de Fontevivo, in the County of Cork, and afterward Abbot of the same, succeeded. He died the 9th 9th

An. Dom. 9th of January, 1519, in the habit of a Franciscan, and was buried in the Abby of Temolage.

1519.

Bonaventure.

1523.

Bonaventure, a Spaniard, was Bishop in 1523.

Dermot mac Domnuil.

1544.

Dermot mac Domnuil was Bishop of Ross in 1544, but when consecrated I do not find. He died in 1552, and perhaps he resign'd before his Death, for I find that one John was call'd Bishop of Ross the 12th of August, 1551.

1551.

Thomas o Herlihy.

1563.

Thomas o Herlihy was present at the Council of Trent in 1563, together with Donagh Bishop of Rapho, and Eugene Bishop of Achonry. He resign'd in 1570, and died in 1579, in the Territory of Muscree near Cork, and was buried at Kilcree, in a Monastery of Fryers Minors of the Observance, for whose Successors, see the Bishops of Cork and Cloyne, Pag. 36, &c.

O F T H E
B I S H O P S
O F
K I L L A L O E.

St. Flannan.

639.

ST. Flannan, Son of King Theodorick, and Scholar of St. Molua, whence the See has its Name, consecrated at Rome by Pope John IV. in 639. was the first Bishop of that See. See the Antiquities, Ch. 29. Of the Successors of St. Flannan till the coming of the English, I have found only Five mention'd, viz. Carmacan o Muilcashol, who died in 1019, O Gernidider, who died in 1055, Thaddy, or Teig o Teig, who died in 1083, Thaddy o Lomergan, a learned and liberal Man, who died in 1161, and Donogh o Brien, who died in 1165.

1010.

1055.1083.

1161.

1165.

Constantine o Brien.

1179.

Constantine o Brien, descended of the Royal Family of the O-Briens, among other Bishops sent from Ireland, was present at the Lateran Council, in 1179. In his time, Donald o Brien King of Limerick, was a great Benefactor to this Church.

Dermot

of KILLALOE.

45

Dermot o Coning.

Dermot o Coning succeeded, who was depriv'd in 1195, by Matthew o Heney Arch-Bishop of Cassel, the Pope's Legat, and soon after died with grief at Cork, and was there buried.

An. Dom.

1195.

Charles o Heney.

Charles o Heney succeeded. About this time the Sees of Iniscatty and Roscrea were united to the See of Killaloe.

Cornelius o Heney.

Cornelius, or Conagher o Heney, was present at the Lateran Council in 1215, and at his return died the Year following. With his consent, and at the request of Henry Louvres Arch-Bishop of Dublin, then Justice of Ireland, King John built a Castle of defence at Roscrea, against the Incursions of Moriertach mac Brien. Afterward, on the fifth of September, 1216, the King committed the custody of the See of Killaloe to the Bishop of Fernes, for his better support.

1215.

Robert Travers.

Robert Travers, Born at Tredagh, being chosen Bishop, had the Royal Assent the 14th of January, 1216. He gave the Isle of Ischoeg to St. Mary's Abby at Kenlis in Offory, and 10 Days of Indulgence to the Abby of Glaston in England. Afterward, in 1221, he was depriv'd by James, Penitentiary to Pope Honorius III. and Legat in Ireland. He lived afterward in England a Bishop without a Bishoprick, for Episcopal Order (as I have elsewhere said) is a character indelible. In the Annals of the Abby of Teuxbury in Glocestershire, in England, I find that Robert Travers, call'd there Bishop of Killaloe, dedicated there duo majora signa, in the Winter 1224, by signa understand Bells. In the Annals of Inisfall, at the Year 1222, there is mention of the Death of Edmund Bishop of Killaloe, but that Edmund (if I mistake not) was Bishop of Limerick.

1216.

Donald o Kenedy.

Donald or Donagh o Kenedy, Arch-Deacon of Killaloe, was chosen Bishop of Killaloe in 1231, and sat about 21 Years. He died in 1252, in the Summer commonly call'd the Hot Summer, and was buried at Limerick, in a Monastery of Predicants.

1231.

Isaac o Cormacain.

Isaac o Cormacain, Dean of Killaloe, was restor'd to the Temporals the 5th of April, 1253, and in 1267 freely resign'd, and took a Religious Habit in the Monastery of the Holy Cross, in Tipperary.

1253.

Matthew o Hogain.

Upon Licence of Election, granted by King Henry III. Matthew o Hogain Dean of Killaloe, was elected to this See the 10th of November, 1267. With consent of the Dean and Chapter of Killaloe in 1280, he chang'd with King Edward I. the Mannor of Roscrea, for the Mannor of Galrceston, or three Carucats of Land, (as the words of the Charter are) and 84 Acres and a half in the holding of New Cattle, in the County of Dublin. He died in August, 1281, and was buried at Limerick, in a Convent of Dominicans, as appears out of an ancient Kalendar of that place.

1267.

An. Dom.

1281.

Maurice o Hogain.

Before the end of the Year 1281, Maurice o Hogain, Chaunter of Killaloe, obtain'd this See, and sat above 16 Years. He died in 1298, and was buried in his Church.

David mac Mahoun.

1299.

David mac Mahoun, Dean of Killaloe, chosen Bishop by the Chapter, obtain'd the Royal Assent, and was restor'd to the Temporals the 22d of April, 1299. and in the Month following, was consecrated by the Arch-Bishop of Cassel. He died 1316, having sat 17 Years.

Thomas o Cormacain.

1321.

In the same Year the Dean and Chapter chose Thomas o Cormacain Arch-Deacon of Killaloe, who died about July, 1321, and was buried in the Church of Killaloe.

Benedict o Coscry.

1322.

Benedict o Coscry, Dean of Killaloe, was elect and consecrated Bishop in 1322, and sat but three Years.

David de Imelac.

1326.

David de Imelac, (so call'd from the place of his birth) or Mac Brien, succeeded by Provision of Pope John XXII. in 1326, and died in 1342, according to Geofry Hogain, in his Annals of Nenaght, on the Vigils of St. Lucy, viz. the 12th of December, but according to others, on the first of December.

Thomas o Hogain.

1454.

Thomas o Hogain, a Canon of Killaloe, was consecrated in 1343, and died the 30th of October, 1354, and on the fifth Day after his Decease, was buried in the Church of the Fryers Minors of Nenaght; as we are inform'd by the Annals of Nenaght.

Thomas o Cormacain.

1355.

Thomas o Cormacain, Arch-Deacon of Killaloe, provided by the Pope, was consecrated in 1355. He died in 1387, and was buried in his Church, in the common Sepulcher of the Bishops.

Matthew mac Cragh.

1391.

Matthew mac Cragh, Dean of Killaloe, provided by Pope Nicholas IV. in 1389, received not Restitution of the Temporals till the first of September, 1391, and sat in 1400. He was buried at Limerick, in the Church of the Predicants.

Robert de Mulfield.

1409.

Robert de Mulfield, an English Cistercian, of the Abby of Melfa, was provided by Pope Alexander V. the 9th of September, 1409.

Donogh mac Cragh.

1428.

Donogh mac Cragh succeeded, who in 1428, exchanged the Mannor of Gal-roeston in the County of Dublin, with William Fyn Fitz Reher, for the Town of Hamonston, or Lisbrecas, in the County of Limerick, and the next Year died.

Eugene

Eugene o Felan.

An. Dom.

Eugene o Felan fate but a short time, and died in 1430.

1430.

Thaddy mac Cragh.

Thaddy mac Cragh, Provided by Pope Martin V. in 1430, was restor'd to the Temporals by King Henry VI. the 1st of September, 1431.

1431.

Ired o Lonergan, succeeded.

James o Ghonelan.

James o Ghonelan was Bishop of Killaloe in 1441.

1441.

Terence o Brien I.

Terence o Brien provided by the Pope, was murder'd at Iniscloonruada, by Brien o Brien, in 1460, as we find in the Ulster Annals.

1460.

Thaddy.

Thaddy succeeded, but others omit him, and say that these three succeeded,

John mac Cragh.

Maurice o Canasa.

Dermot mac Cragh.

Matthew o Griffa.

Matthew, or Mahun o Griffa, died in 1482.

1482.

Terence o Brien II.

Terence, or Terlach, or Theodorick o Brien, succeeded. He was a Man of great Repute in his Country, for his Liberality and Hospitality; but more inclin'd to Martial affairs than well became the Episcopal function. He died in 1525.

1525.

Richard Hogan.

Richard Hogan, a Minorite, was Bishop of Killaloe, and translated to Clonmacnois, by Pope Paul III. the 16th of June, 1539.

1539.

James o Corrin.

James Corrin succeeded, affecting a retired life, resign'd in 1546.

1546.

Cornelius o Dea.

By Provision of King Henry VIII. Cornelius o Dea, Chaplain to Maurice Earl of Thomond, succeeded in July, 1546, and was soon after, by the King's Command, consecrated by his Metropolitan. He fate about nine Years.

Terence o Brien III.

Terence o Brien obtain'd this See under Queen Mary, and fate at the end of the Year 1566.

Maurice

1566.

Bn. Dom.

Maurice o Brien.

1570.

Maurice, or Moriertach o Brien Arra, was provided to the See of Killaloe by Queen Elizabeth, in 1570. He receiv'd the Fruits of the See six Years before his Consecration, and sat afterwards 36 Years. He died on the last of April, 1613, having resign'd a Year before his Death.

John Rider.

1612.

John Rider, Master of Arts of Oxford, Rector of Bermondsey near London, afterward Dean of St. Patrick's, Dublin, and Arch-Deacon of Meath; was consecrated the 12th of June, 1612, and died at Killaloe the 12th of November, 1632, and was buried in St. Flannan's Church. He writ the Dictionary commonly call'd Rider's Dictionary, and a Friendly Caveat to Ireland's Catholics, concerning Transubstantiation; with other things.

Lewis Jones.

1633.

Lewis Jones, a Welsh Man, born in Merionethshire, Dean of Cassel, was consecrated at Cassel the 23d of April, 1633, by Archibald Arch Bishop of Cassel, Michael Waterford, and Francis Limerick. He died at Dublin the 2d of November, 1646, Aged 104 Years, and was there buried in St. Werburg's Church.

Edward Parry.

1647.

Edward Parry, born at Nary in the County of Down, Doctor of Divinity of Dublin, Dean of Lismore, and Treasurer of Christ Church in Dublin; was consecrated in the same Church, the 28th of March, 1647, and died of the Plague in Dublin, the 20th of July, 1650, and was buried in St. Andrew's Church. He was a Man of Acute Wit, and honest Disposition.

Edward Worth.

1660.

Edward Worth, Doctor of Divinity of Dublin, Dean of Cork, and born in that County, was consecrated in St. Patrick's, Dublin, the 27th of January 1660.

Daniel Witter.

1669.

Daniel Witter, Dean of Down, was made Bishop of Killaloe the 19th of August, 1669.

John Roan.

1675.

John Roan, Doctor of Divinity and Dean of Clogher, promoted to this See the 19th of April, 1675.

Henry Rider.

1693.

Henry Rider, Born at Paris in France, was Educated a King's Scholar in Westminster, from thence to Trinity College in Cambridge, afterwards admitted a Member of Trinity College, Dublin. He was Master of the Free Schools of Dublin and Kilkenny, where many Gentlemen and Persons of Note in this Kingdom were Educated by him. He was Instituted in the Arch-Deaconry of Offory, from thence promoted to the See of Killaloe the 5th of June, June, 1693, and consecrated in the Church of Dunboyne, on Trinity-Sunday following, by Anthony Bishop of Meath, &c. He died the 30th of January, 1695, and lies Interred in the Church of Glanmedan, in the County of Dublin.

An. Dom.
~~~~~

Thomas Lindesay.

Thomas Lindesay, born at Blandford in Dorsetshire, and there educated, was chosen Fellow of Wadham College in the University of Oxon, where he commenced Doctor of Divinity. He came over into Ireland in the Year 1693, Chaplain to His Excellency Henry Lord Capell, one of the Lords Justices, and afterward Lord Deputy of Ireland. He was first promoted to the Deanery of St. Patrick's, Dublin, and soon after to the Bishoprick of Killaloe, and was consecrated in the Cathedral Church of St. Patrick's aforelaid, in March, 1695. He was employed, in the Year 1699, to solicit in the Court and Parliament of England, a Clause in the Act of Resumption for applying the Profits of the forfeited Church Livings, in Rebuilding or Repairing Parish Churches for 20 Years to come, and afterwards in the perpetual Augmentation of small Livings; in which Affair he succeeded.

1695.

OF THE
BISHOPS
OF ARDFERT.

Ert.

ERT is reputed the first Bishop of Ardfert, of whom see more in the Antiquities, Chap. 29.

Little is Recorded of the Bishops of Ardfert till the coming of the English; these only are mentioned in the Annals of Inisfall, in the County of Kerry.

Dermot mac Mel-Brenan died at Ardfert in 1075.

Magrath o Erodain, or o Ronan, died in 1099.

Mac Ronan, called Bishop of Kerry, was present at the Synod of Cenannuse held under Cardinal Paparon, in 1152.

Mel Brendan o Ronan died the 10th of Kal. October, 1161, and was buried at Ardfert. I cannot but think that Mac Ronan and he were one and the same.

Gilla mac Aiblen o Hanmada died in 1166.

N n n

Donald

1075.

1099.

1152.

1161.

1166.

An. Dom.

Donald o Conarchy.

1193.

Donald o Conarchy, called Bishop Jarmuan, or of West Munster, died in 1193.

David o Duibditrib.

1207.

David o Duibditrib, who succeeded, was also call'd Bishop Jarmuan; and died in 1207.

John.

1215.

One John, an English Benedictine, was consecrated about the Year 1215, and was depriv'd by James Penitentiary to Pope Honorius III. and Legat in Ireland, in 1221. He lived afterward in the Abby of St. Alban's in England, till October, 1245, when he died; at which Year Matthew Paris, in Hist. Maj. says thus, "The same Year, on the 2d of the Ides of October, Bishop John died, having lived at St. Alban's from the time that he was depriv'd; but retaining still the Dignity of Hertsfert about 30 Years, by special Command of the Pope. At his Death, not unmindful of the Benefits he had receiv'd from the Church of St. Alban's, he bequeath'd to it his Books, some Ecclesiastical Ornaments, and some Benefices, whereby he merited the good Works that are done in the Church of St. Alban's, as if he had been Abbot of it, and obtain'd a Sepulcher before the Altar of St. Amphibabus. But in the Chronicle of the same Matthew, which he calls Ager sterilis, the Death of this John is referr'd to the fifth of the Ides of October, 1245; nor is it amiss to add here what I find of him in the Register of the Abby of St. Alban, fol. 88. b. "John Bishop of Ardfert, besides many good Books which he bestowed on this Abby, gave a noble Stone of a Blewish Colour, spotted with White, commonly call'd Serpentine, and is said to be very good for Lunatick persons; the Form of it is Square, it is set in Silver, and in the Margin are inclosed many Relicks. He gave also three noble Rings, in one whereof is an Oriental Saphire, of wonderful bigness: In another is the Stone call'd Peridot, in the middle whereof is set a Saphire of great beauty; it is said to be good against the Cramp, and is made almost in form of a Buckler: In the third Ring is also an Oriental Saphire, but less than the former. So the Register, as I find it in Cotton's Library, under the Effigies of Nero, D. VII. That Chronicle of Matthew Paris, call'd Ager sterilis before mentioned, is there likewise, under the Effigies of Claudius D. VI. 2.

The Legacy of John Bishop of Ardfert, to the Abby of St.
Alban.

Gilbert.

1225.

Gilbert, Dean of Ardfert, succeeded, who had the Royal Assent the 7th of May, 1225, and was consecrated the same Year. He resign'd in 1237.

Brendan.

1237.

Brendan, Provost of Ardfert, elected Bishop; obtain'd the Royal Assent the 17th of November, 1237, and sat 15 Years.

Christian.

1252.

Christian, of the Order of Predicants, design'd Bishop of Ardfert, was confirm'd by Henry III. the 25th of February, 1252. He sat not long, for upon his Death (it seems) the King granted Licence of Election the 20th of August, 1256.

Philip

of ARDFERT.

54

Philip.

An. Dom.

Philip succeeded, who died in 1263.

1263.

John.

John, Arch-Deacon of Ardfert, succeeded, who was restor'd to the Temporals the 27th of February, 1264. He died in May, 1285, and was buried at Ardfert, in the Cathedral of St. Brendan.

1264.

Nicholas.

Before the end of the Year Nicholas succeeded, who fate not long, for he died about the middle of March, 1287.

1287.

Nicholas.

Nicholas, a Cistercian Monk, afterward Abbot of Odorney, or Kyrieleyson, was consecrated in the County of Kerry, in 1288, and died very old, about the beginning of the Year 1336, having fate about 48 Years. In the Records he is called Bishop of Kerry.

1288.

Alan o Hathern.

Alan o Hathern, or Cathern, was consecrated in 1336, and died the 2d of December, 1347. While he fate, namely, in 1341, Pope Benedict XII. gave this See to Edmond de Cermarthen, of the Order of Predicants, as if vacant by the Death of Alan; but he being still alive, the Donation was void.

1336.

John de Valle.

John de Valle, provided by Pope Clement VI. was restored to the Temporals the 10th of March, 1348, and died in 1372, having fate above 23 Years.

1348.

Cornelius o Tigernach.

Cornelius o Tigernach, a Minorite, provided by Pope Gregory XI. in 1372, died in 1379, in the 7th Year of his Consecration.

1372.

William Bull.

William Bull, Dean of Cork, Batchelor of Decrees, was provided by the Pope, and after Fealty sworn to the King, was restor'd to the Temporals the 14th of February, 1379. Of his Successors, for a long time after, I find no mention, neither in the Records nor our Histories.

1379.

Nicholas.

Nicholas was Bishop of Ardfert in the Years 1420 and 1431.

1420.

Maurice.

Maurice, by the Pope's Provision, succeeded, who died in 1462.

1462.

John

An. Dom.

John Stack.

1480.

John Stack, was provided by Pope Pius II. but by his neglect in dispatching his Letters of Provision, and the Ceremony of his Consecration, that Election was made void. After him Pope Sixtus IV. provided John Pigg, and upon his Resignation, one Philip, a Secular Priest; but that Election being made void, John Stack was again provided and declar'd Bishop. He was present at the Provincial Synod held at Fethard, in July, 1480, under John Cantwell Arch-Bishop of Cassel. He died in 1488, and was buried at Ardfert.

Philip.

1488.

Upon his Death, Pope Innocent VIII. provided Philip (spoken of before) the 6th Kal. November, 1488. He sat almost 7 Years, and died in 1495.

John Fitz-Gerald.

1495.

John Fitz-Gerald, or Geraldine, Canon of Ardfert, succeeded, provided by Pope Alexander VI. the 12th Kal. December, 1495.

James Fitz Maurice.

1551.

James Fitz Maurice was Bishop in 1551 and 1576.

Nicholas Kenan.

1588.

Nicholas Kenan, provided by Queen Elizabeth, was consecrated in 1588, and ten Years after, to avoid the troubles of the War, retir'd to Limerick, where he soon after died.

John Crosby.

1600.

John Crosby, Prebendary of Disert, was consecrated in 1600. He died in September, 1621, and was buried in his Church.

John Steere.

1622.

John Steere, Bishop of Fenabore, was translated to this See the 20th of July, 1622. He died in May, 1628.

William Steere.

1628.

William Steere, Brother to the afore said John, Dean of Ardfert, was consecrated by his Metropolitan in October, 1628. He died at Ardfert the 21st of January, 1637, and was there buried in the Cathedral.

Thomas Fulwar.

1641.

Thomas Fulwar, Doctor of Divinity of Dublin, was consecrated in 1641. and translated to Cassel, in January, 1660; for whose Successors in the See of Ardfert, see the Bishops of Limerick.

OF THE BISHOPS OF FENABORE.

OF the Bishops of this See so little is to be found, that I must confess this following Catalogue of them is lame and imperfect. This See in the Census Cameralis of Centius Camerarius, who was afterward Pope Honorius III. is call'd Cellunabrach. The Cathedral is dedicated to the Memory of St. Facknan. See the Antiquities, Chap. 29.

An. Dom.

Christian.

Christian died in 1254, and was buried in a Monastery of Predicants at Limerick.

1254.

Henry.

Henry was consecrated Bishop of Fenabore, and confirm'd by the Royal Assent the 12th of February, 1265, and died in 1273.

1265.

Florence o Tigernach.

Florence o Tigernach, Abbot of Kilsane, or Kilsonna, a Cistercian, being chosen Bishop, was confirm'd by the Royal Assent the 18th of September, 1273, and died in 1281.

1273.

Charles.

Charles, Dean of Fenabore, being elected Bishop, was confirm'd by the King the 8th of September, 1281.

1281.

Congall o Loghlan.

Congall o Loghlan, in the Annals of the Abby of Loghkey, call'd Bishop of Corcumro, died in 1300. Corcumro is the Barony where Fenabore is situate.

1300.

Simon o Currin.

Simon o Currin succeeded, who died in 1303, and was buried at Limerick, in a Monastery of Dominicans.

1303.

An. Dom.

Maurice o Brien.

1303.

Maurice o Brien, Dean of Fenabore, succeeded, being confirm'd by Edward I. the 8th of October, 1303. He sat 18 Years, and was buried in the same Church of Dominicans at Limerick.

Richard o Loghlain.

1322.

John Clin, in his Annals, says, that a certain Bishop of Fenabore was consecrated at Waterford, on Palm-Sunday. in 1322; but his Name is not expressed. Perhaps it was Richard o Loghlain, who died the 3d of February, 1359.

Patrick.

1394.

Patrick, Bishop of Fenabore, took the Oath of Fealty to King Richard II. at Drogheda, in a Monastery of Predicants, the 16th of March, 1394. I find no account of his Successors in the Records and Histories for many Years.

Denis o Cane.

1491.

Denis o Cane, perhaps o Cahan, resign'd in 1491.

Maurice o Brien.

Maurice o Brien, a Canon of the Church of Limerick, born of honourable Parents, succeeded by Provision of the Pope the 31st of December, in the same Year, or, as some, the 7th Kal. September, the Year following. One Maurice was Bishop of Fenabore in 1523, perhaps the same person.

John o Hinalan.

1552.

John o Hinalan was Bishop of Fenabore the 16th of May, 1552. I find one John was Bishop in 1570, perhaps the same with John o Hinalan.

Daniel.

1585.

Daniel Elect of Fenabore, sign'd to an Indenture of Composition of the County of Clare, the 17th of August, 1585. The See was vacant the 2d of December, 1602, possibly by his Death.

Bernard Adams.

1606.

Bernard Adams, Bishop of Limerick, held also that of Fenabore by Dispensation from 1606 till 1617, in which Year he resign'd.

John Steer.

1617.

John Steer, A. M. an English Man, Treasurer of Ardfert, and Arch-Deacon of Emly, succeeded, who was consecrated in 1617, and translated to Ardfert in 1622.

William

William Murray.

William Murray, Doctor of Divinity, was consecrated in St. Patrick's, Dublin, the 18th of December, 1622, by Lancelot Arch-Bishop of Dublin, James Meath, and Roland Clonfert, retaining his Church livings in England in Comendam. Afterward in 1627 he was translated to Landaff in Wales. Richard Betts Doctor of Divinity was appointed by Charles I. his Successor in the See of Fenabore, who coming into Ireland, and being inform'd of the poverty of the See, refused to consent to the Election, and return'd into England without Consecration.

1622.

James Higate.

James Higate, a Native of Glasco in Scotland, Arch-Deacon of Clogher, was consecrated Bishop of Fenabore, together with Archibald Adair Bishop of Killala, in St. Patrick's Church at Dublin, the 9th of May, 1630, by Lancelot Dublin, Thomas Fernes and Leghlin, and Robert Clonfert. He died the 30th of April, 1638, and was buried at Clunes in the County of Monaghan.

1630.

Robert Sibthorp.

Robert Sibthorp, Treasurer of Killaloe, and Prebendary of Maynooth, was consecrated Bishop of Fenabore in St. Patrick's, Dublin, the 11th of November, 1638. He was translated to Limerick the 7th of April, 1642.

1638.

Samuel Pullen.

Samuel Pullen, Arch-Bishop of Tuam, in 1660, held also this See in Comendam. For whose Successors see the Arch-Bishops of Tuam.

1660.

OF THE ARCH-BISHOPS OF TUAM.

S. Jarlath.

THE first Bishop that fix'd his Cathedral See at Tuam (anciently called Tuaim-da-gualand) was S. Jarlath Son of Loga, who flourished about the beginning of the 6th Century; for he was Master to S. Brendan Abbot of Clonsfert, as we find in the Life of the same Brendan: He was a learned Man, in whom Piety and Purity of Manners vied with his Learning. He died full of days the 26th of December, or as others, the 11th of February, but in what Year I cannot with all my Enquiry find out. Certain Prophecies writ in Irish are extant in his name, relating to his Successors in the See of Tuam; but what credit they deserve let others judge. His Bones long after his death were sought for and found, and put into a Silver Shrine, and repositd at Tuam, in a Church or Chappel, from thence commonly called Templene-Scrin, or the Church of the Shrine. Of his Successors, before Edan o Hoisin, who first usd the Pall, these are mentioned in such of our Historians whose Writings came to our Hands; but others possibly hereafter may bring more of 'em to light.

Ferdomnach died in 781.

Eugene mac Cleirig, called Bishop of Conaught, died in 969.

Murchad o Nioc, called Comorhan of Jarlath, died in 1033.

Aid o Hoisin died in 1085.

Erchad o Melomair died in 1086.

Cormac o Cairill died in 1091.

Catasac o Cnail died in 1117.

Donald o Dubhai died at Clonsfert in 1136, and was there buried on St. Patrick's Day.

Maurice, or Muredach o Dubhai, died on S. Brendan's Day, in the Year 1150, in the 75th Year of his Age, and was buried in the Abby of Cong; famed for his Prudence and Liberality. In his time Tirlogh o Connor, King of Ireland, built the Priory of St. John Baptist at Tuam. Our Historians sometimes call these Prelates Bishops, and sometimes Arch-Bishops of Conaught.

Edan o Hoisin.

Dubhai being dead, Edan o Hoisin succeeded; to whom the Pall was given, in that Synod held under Cardinal Paparo in 1152, and these seven Suffragans of the Arch-Bishoprick were assigned and put under him, viz. the Bishops of Mayo, Killalla, Roscomon, Clonsfert, Achonry, Cluan, and Killmacduach; of whom

A a a

An. Dom.

600.

781.

969.

1033.

1085.

1086.

1091.

1117.

1136.

1150.

1152.

An. Dom.

1158.

1161.

Stone Buildings unknown to the Irish till the Year 1161.

whom the See of Mayo was afterward added to the Cathedral of Tuam, as also that of Enaghduin, which is omitted in the said Distribution: Moreover, Roscomon was afterwards translated to Elphin; and Chuan (or Clonmacnoise) after a long Debate at Rome, was added to the Province of Armagh. This Edan, in the Year 1158, held a Synod at Roscomon, wherein are said to be made "many good" Decrees. He died in 1161, and was buried in his Cathedral, under a Stone inscrib'd with an Irish Epitaph, wherein he is called Comorban, or Successor of Jarlath. He was a Man, for Piety, Learning, and Liberality very famous among our Historians. In the same Year that he died Roderick o Connor, King of Conaught, built a Castle of Stone at Tuam, which, as a thing new and unusual to the Irish in those days, was called the Wonderful Castle.

Catholic o Dubhai.

1175.

1179.

1201.

Catholic, or Cadla o Dubhai, succeeded, a grave Man, and (for those times) learned. By his means and intercession chiefly, the said Roderick o Connor was receiv'd into favour by Henry II. King of England, in 1175; a Copy of the Agreement (if any would read it) is in Roger Hoveden's History of that Year. Afterward, in 1179, he was sent to the Lateran Synod, together with Lawrence Dublin, Constantine Killaloe, Brictius Limerick, Augustin Waterford, and Felix Lismore, Bishops. He died very old at Cong, in a Monastery of Augustin Canons, in 1201, having sat over the Church of Tuam 40 years. In the beginning of his Pontificy, the City of Tuam was burnt by accidental Fire.

Foelix o Ruaden.

1235.

1238.

Felix o Ruaden, a Cistercian Monk, succeeded, who sat in the Arch-Bishoprick till 1235; when, weary of the Employment, he voluntarily resign'd, and pass'd the rest of his life in St. Mary's Abby near Dublin. By the Records of the Tower of London it appears, that King Henry III. granted License of electing a Successor to the Chapter of Tuam, the 5th of December, 1235; being told of Felix's Resignation by Dennis de Tupid Proctor to the Chapter. He died in 1238; at which Year the Annals of the said Abby say thus: "In 1238 Felix Lord Arch-Bishop of Tuam, of pious Memory, died; who caused the Church and Steeple of the House of our Blessed Lady near Dublin, to be covered with Lead; and was honourably buried in the Chancel of the same Church, at the Steps of the Altar, on the left Hand.

Marian o Laghnan.

1249.

It was Marian, or Melmurry o Laghnan, Dean of Tuam, that succeeded him; a very great Canonist: Presently, upon his Election, he posted to Rome to receive Confirmation from the Pope; where, being approved of by Pope Gregory IX. he also obtained the Pall. This Man undertook a Pilgrimage (whether before or after he was Bishop I know not) to Jerusalem. He died at Athlone a little before Christmas, in 1249. He appropriated the Church of Kilselga to the Abby of Knockmoy, alias Conquest-Hill.

Florence mac Flin.

1250.

Florence mac Flin, or mac Floin, Chancellor of Tuam, called in the Rolls, "Sub-Deacon of our Lord the Pope: was elected Arch-Bishop of Tuam by the Chapter, obtain'd the Royal Assent the 27th day of May, 1250; and went afterward to Rome, where he was confirmed by the Pope: At his return to Tuam he was consecrated, on Christmas Day, 1250; and in the Year following held a Synod there, but the Decrees of it are not now extant. About the same time "He enter'd upon the Bishoprick of Enaghduin, the See being then vacant

"cant, and kept both the Temporals and Spirituals of that Bishoprick all his time: As appears by the Rolls, Placit. Ann. 34. Edw. I. He died at Bristol in England, in the Year 1256: A Man celebrated for Learning and Knowledge in the Laws. He is said to have built in the Monastery of Predicants at Athenry, "a House of Scholars; and to have established excellent Decrees for the Fryars.

An. Dom.
1256.

Walter de Salern.

Then by the consent of the whole Chapter James o Laghnan was elected, whom King Henry III. by his Patent confirmed the 16th of October, 1256; but the Pope provided Walter de Salern (by some called the Londoner) Dean of St. Paul's in London: He was at length restor'd by the King to the Temporals, the 2d of September, 1257, while he was soliciting the Affairs of his Church in the Court of Rome. At his return from thence he died in London about the middle of April, 1258: At which Year Matthew Paris, in his large History, says, "A certain Arch-Bishop of Armagh died at London, who had been some time Dean of St. Paul's. But there is a plain mistake as to the name of the See, as we have shewn in the Life of Reiner Arch-Bishop of Armagh.

1257.

1258.

Thomas o Connor.

Thomas, or Tomultach o Connor, Bishop of Elphin, being elected Arch-Bishop of Tuam, went to Rome, where he was confirm'd by the Pope, and invested with the Pall: He was afterwards restored by the King to the Temporals the 20th of July, 1259. Then there arose a great Contention between him and Raymund Prindergast in 1265: And in the bustle some of the Servants of Prindergast were kill'd at Kilmethon, a Manor of the Arch-Bishoprick: The cause of this difference I find no account of, but if we may conjecture, it was about their Titles to some Lands. To this Arch-Bishop and his Successors Henry III. King of England, granted a Privilege of Fairs at Tuam, by his Charter dated the 5th of August, 1260. He died at Tuam in June, 1279, having presided over this and the See of Enaghduin 20 years; a Man for his Learning and other Virtues not unworthy of his Office. Then the See was vacant some years, and the Temporals were all that time return'd into the Exchequer; among which are reckon'd the Possessions belonging heretofore to the Sees of Enaghduin and Mayo.

1259.

1265.

1279.

Stephen de Fulburn.

After his death one part of the Canons of Tuam elected one Malachy, a Minorite of Limerick, and King Edward I. confirm'd that Election the 22d of February, 1280; the other part chose Nicholas de Machin, a Canon of the Church of Tuam: but the Pope annulling both Elections, Stephen de Fulburn of the Order of Hospitaliers, Bishop of Waterford, born at Fulburn in Cambridgeshire, was by the Pope's Bull of the 11th of July, 1286, translated to this See, and restor'd to the Temporals the 15th of September following; then he held the Arch-Bishoprick of Tuam, together with the See of Enaghduin: but about the right of that See he had afterward a great Suit with John de Ufford, who being elected Bishop of Enaghduin, was confirm'd by the Royal Assent the 16th of March, 1282; wherein, notwithstanding, Ufford was at length cast. While he was Bishop of Waterford, in 1279, he was made Lord Justice of Ireland, and the Year after lost his place; but in 1282 (upon the Resignation of Robert Ufford) he got it again. He died in Dublin the 3d of July, 1288. 'Tis said he gave to the Church of Glastenbury in England, 100 days of Indulgence.

1280.

1286.

1288.

William de Birmingham.

William de Birmingham, Rector of the Church of Admorwein, succeeded, and was

An. Dom.

1289.

was first confirm'd by King Edward I, and afterward approved by Pope Nicholas IV; and by the King restor'd to the Temporals the 29th of September, 1289: He was Son of Miler de Birmingham Baron of Athenry. Presently upon his Consecration (as his Predecessors had done) he joyn'd the Church of Enaghdun, still vacant, to that of Tuam: By his direction also, as appears in the Rolls, "Phillip le Blound, Arch-Deacon of Tuam, took away the Miter, the Pastoral Staff, and other Pontificalia of the Bishoprick of Enaghdun, which had been laid "up in the Friery at Clare till a new Bishop should be elected. But (notwithstanding the Arch-Bishop) in 1306 one Gilbert, a Franciscan, was consecrated Bishop of Enaghdun. After which Birmingham, in 1307, went into France, where he made his complaint to the Pope of the Injury done him, but to no purpose; for Gilbert was restor'd to the Temporals the 15th of July, 1308. He died in January, 1311, in the 22d Year of his Consecration; and was buried at Athenry, in a Convent of Dominicans, near his Father Miler, Founder of that place.

1306.

1307.

1308.

1311.

Malachy mac Aeda.

1313.

1325.

1328.

1348.

Malachy mac Aeda, a Canon of Elphin, provided Bishop of Elphin by the Pope's Bull, about the Year 1309; had not sat there long when, by the Canons of Tuam, he was elected Arch-Bishop, and was confirm'd by the Pope about the beginning of the Year 1313. He recovered the See of Enaghdun, and kept it for 20 years before his death, after that Gilbert before mentioned, and three of his Successors, had held the same for about twenty years, to wit, these following: James o Kerney, who was translated to the See of Connor in 1325, Robert Petit, a Minorite, then late Bishop of Clonsfert, who sat but a short time; as also his Successor Thomas o Maley, who (according to the Annals of Loghkey) died at Avignon in 1328. Malachy departed this Life very old, on S. Lawrence the Martyr's Day, in 1348, and was buried at Tuam, in the Cathedral Church of S. Mary.

Thomas o Carroll.

1356.

1364.

After the death of Malachy the Canons of Tuam elected Robert de Birmingham Chancellor of the Church of Tuam; but the Pope rejecting that Election, Thomas o Carroll, Arch-Deacon of Cassel, was prefer'd: He had been chosen Bishop both by the Canons of Clonmacnoise and Ardfert, but either he himself refus'd, or the Pope made void both those Elections; for it is certain that he was never Bishop of those Sees. But within less than a year after the death of Malachy (as is said) he was prefer'd to the See of Tuam, and consecrated by the Pope at Avignon. In his time, viz. in 1356, one Charles Oge, or Young Charles, and the Son of William de Burgo, Plunder'd and Burnt Tuam. He was translated to Cassel in 1364, about the Summer Solstice, to which he had been once before canonically elected. The Author of the Annals of Nenaught calls him, "A Man "of great Suficiency and Learning.

John o Grady.

1365.

1371.

After the Translation of Thomas, John o Grady, Arch-Deacon of Cassel, was was presently elected Arch-Bishop of Tuam, and consecrated the same Year at Avignon: The King restor'd him to the Temporals (as we say) the 19th of July, 1365; and he sat six years. He died at Limerick the 19th of September, 1371, and was there buried. He was much esteem'd for his Liberality.

Gregory.

1377.

One Gregory provided Bishop of Elphin by the Pope, on the 28th of March, 1356, was translated to this See in 1372. He was fin'd 100 Pounds for not coming when he was summon'd to a Parliament held at Castle-Dermot in 1377.

He

Of TUAM.

5

He died in 1384. Upon his death the Temporals of the See (as we find in an ancient Account of the Escheator) "were seized into the King's Hands the 15th of December, Ann. 8 Rich. II. for which yet the Escheator answers not, because "by reason of dangers of the ways between the English and the Irish, none dare "collect the said Rents. See more of this Gregory in the Bishops of Elphin.

An. Dom.
1384.

Gregory o Moghan.

Gregory o Moghan, or o Moccan, obtain'd the See of Tuam from the Anti-Pope Clement VII; but was soon after depriv'd by Pope Urban VI, and William o Cormacain was set in his place. Gregory in 1392 died (as is believ'd) of grief. He was a Man otherwise (according to the Annals of Loghkey) of great Piety and Devotion.

William o Cormacain.

Gregory (as we have said) being deprived, William o Cormacain succeeded; who, 'tis said, receiv'd the Custody of the Temporals the 15th of March, in the 10th Year of King Richard II, and of our Lord 1386, according to the Computation of the Church of England. He suffer'd much by that Gregory, and Maurice Bishop of Clonfert; and at last, in 1394, was against his will translated to the See of Clonfert by Pope Boniface IX; which he took so ill, that he refus'd to receive the Bull of Translation, and died with Grief.

1386.

1394.

Cornelius.

One Cornelius, a Minorite, was provided by Pope John XXIII, the 18th of September, 1411; of whom I find no further Account.

1411.

John Baterley.

Next to him succeeded one John, who sat till the Year 1436, or thereabout; I think he was John Baterley, D. D. an English Man, of the Order of Predicants. He was a Man (according to the measure of those times) very Learned, and Eminent for the Constancy and Elegance of his Preaching. 'Tis said that he published divers Works, which are now lost. In the Church of this Monastery I have seen the Effigies of a Prelate adorn'd with the Pall, on a Monument fix'd to the Wall in the North side of the High Altar, which I take to be either of this John, or of William Birmingham, of whom before.

1436.

Thomas o Kelley.

To him, by Provision of the Pope in 1438, succeeded Thomas o Kelley Bishop of Clonfert; A Man (say the Annals of the Island of All-Saints) eminent for his Piety and Liberality. He died in 1441, having sat only three years.

1438.

1441.

John.

One John was consecrated about the end of the Year 1441; but when he died I do not find. Some (how truly I know not) call him John de Burgo.

Donagh o Murry.

To John, by the Pope's Provision about the Year 1458, succeeded Donagh o Murry, or Imurrys, an Augustin Canon. To him and the Bishops of Elphin, Clonfert, Killmacduach, Killalla, and Achonry, John Bole Arch-Bishop of Armagh 1458.

B b b b writ

An. Dom.

1461.

writ Letters of the 24th of April, 1461, signifying that he would soon after visit the Province of Tuam; but whether he did or not, doth not appear: certain it is, that the Arch-Bishops of Armagh claim a Right to visit in the other Provinces every seventh Year. He founded a College of a Warden and Vicars in the Church of S. Nicholas in Gallway; and died the 18th of January, as appears out of the Necrology, or Book of Mortality, of the same College; but the Year is not there exprest, yet I take it to be in 1484.

1484.

William Shioy.

1485.
1501.

William Shioy, or Joy, was provided by the Pope the 17th of May, 1485. He presided 16 Years and some Months; and died the 28th of December, 1501, as we find in the aforesaid Book of Mortality.

Philip Pinson.

1503.

Philip Pinson, an English Minorite, Professor of Divinity, and Suffragan to Adrian de Castello Cardinal of S. Chrysogoni; then Bishop of Hereford, and afterward of Bath and Wells; was promoted to the See of Tuam at the request of King Henry VII, the 2d of December, 1503; and died three days after, at Rome, of the Plague; after which the See was vacant two Years and six Months.

Maurice de Portu.

1506.

On the 26th of June, 1506, Pope Julius II, provided Arch-Bishop of Tuam Maurice de Portu, or ô Fibely, a Minorite of great Learning, born in the County of Cork, near Baltimore, and brought up at Padua in Italy, where he proceeded Doctor of Divinity: but none has better celebrated his Memory than John Chambers, Doctor of Divinity and Doctor of Arts, a Minorite likewise, in his Notes on the 35th Chapter of Solinus, between whom there was an intire and mutual Love. Maurice was present at the two first Sessions of the Lateran Council in 1512; for his Name is found in the Subscriptions of the Bishops present in the said Sessions, as appears out of Binius's 9th Tom. of the Councils. The next Year, having obtain'd from the Pope a License of granting certain Indulgences to whoever should hear his first Mass at Tuam, he return'd home; but at Gallway, where he landed, was surpriz'd with a sudden Distemper, of which he died before he said his Mass, scarce 50 years of Age, the 28th of May, 1513, and was there buried in a Church of the Minorites: A Man for his Learning, and other Virtues, so much admired by some, that he was called Flos Mundi, or the Flower of the World. Of his Works, see Anton. Possevin. S. J. Apparat. Sacr. published at Cologn in 1608.

1512.

1513.

Thomas o Mullaly.

1523.

Maurice de Portu being dead, Thomas o Mullaly, or Laly, was design'd his Successor, who was present at the Synod held at Gallway in 1523, where was present (to pass over the Abbots, &c.) Matthew Bishop of Killmacduach, Cormac Bishop of Achonry, Cornelius Proctor for George Bishop of Elphin, and Padin Proctor for Richard Bishop of Killalla: And out of the Province of Armagh, Quintin Bishop of Clonmacnoise: And out of the Province of Cassel, Maurice Bishop of Fenabore, and Bonaventure Bishop of Ross: The Decrees there made (for ought I know) are lost. Laly died the 28th of April, 1536, and was buried at Gallway, in a Church of the Minorites, under the same Tomb with his Predecessor Maurice.

1536.

Christopher Bodkin.

Christopher Bodkin was consecrated Bishop of Killmacduach, at Marsailies in France, the 4th of November, 1534; and residing there but a very short time, by favour of King Henry VIII. he was translated to Tuam in February, 1536, holding the See of Killmacduach by Dispensation. At last, in 1572, he died at Tuam full of days, having sate 36 years. His Corps was convey'd to Gallway, and there buried.

An. Dom.

1572.

William Laly.

William Laly, or Mullaly, born in the County of Gallway, Dean of Tuam, was consecrated Arch-Bishop in April, 1573, and died in 1595.

1573.

1595.

Nehemiah Donelan.

Nehemiah Donelan, born in the County of Gallway, and bred at Cambridge in England, returning home, was for a time made Coadjutor to Laly; and afterwards, to wit, in the Year 1595, by Recommendation of Thomas Earl of Ormonde, was by Queen Elizabeth design'd his Successor. He resign'd in 1609; and soon after died at Tuam, and was there buried in the Cathedral Church.

1609.

William Daniel.

William Daniel, or o Donel, born at Kilkenny, Doctor of Divinity, and one of the first Fellows of Trinity College near Dublin, was consecrated Arch-Bishop of Tuam in St. Patrick's Church, Dublin (of which he was Treasurer) in the Month of August, 1609; and the same Year was made one of the Privy Council. He was a Learned Man, and translated the Book of Common Prayer out of English, and the New Testament out of Greek into the Irish Tongue: He was also very knowing in the Hebrew. He died at Tuam the 11th of July, 1628, and was buried in his Cathedral, under the same Tomb with his Predecessor Donelan.

The Book of Common Prayer and New Testament in Irish.

1628.

Randolph Barlow.

Randolph Barlow, Doctor of Divinity of the University of Cambridge, Dean of Christ-Church in Dublin, and Arch-Deacon of Meath, was consecrated at Drogheda, in St. Peter's Church, in the Month of April, 1629; and held the Deanry and Arch-Deaconry for a time by Dispensation. He died at Tuam the 22d of February, 1637, in the 66th Year of his Age; and was there buried in the Cathedral Church of S. Mary.

1629.

1637.

Richard Boyle.

Richard Boyle, Dean of Waterford and Arch-Deacon of Limerick, Brother of Michael Boyle Bishop of Waterford, promoted by King James I. to the Sees of Cork, Cloin, and Ross; was consecrated in the Month of November, 1620, and translated to this See the 30th of May, 1638. He died at Cork the 19th of March, 1644, and was buried in the Cathedral Church of S. Finbarr. See more of him among the Bishops of Cork.

1638.

1644.

John Maxwell.

John Maxwell of Scotland, Doctor of Divinity of the University of Dublin, Bishop of Ross in Scotland, was translated to the Sees of Killalla and Achonry the

An. Dom.

1645.

1646.

the 12th of October, 1640; and afterward to the Arch-Bishoprick of Tuam, the 30th of August, 1645. He died at Dublin the 14th of February, 1646, overcome with grief for the misery of those times; and was there buried in Christ-Church, at the charge of the most Honourable James Marquess (afterward Duke) of Ormonde. He was a Man of great Learning. While he was Bishop of Killalla he was thrown out of his House by the Rebels, plunder'd of his Goods, wounded, and most injuriously treated.

Samuel Pullen.

1660.

1667.

Samuel Pullen, Doctor of Divinity of the University of Dublin, Chaplain to James then Marquess (afterward Duke) of Ormonde, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland; was born at Ripley in Yorkshire, in the Year 1598, and bred at Cambridge, in Pembroke Hall, where he commenced Master of Arts: Coming afterward into Ireland, he was made Chancellor of Cassel and Dean of Clonsfert. Afterward, the Rebellion breaking out in 1641, though he was plunder'd of all his Goods at Cassel, where he then lived, yet he was very civilly received, entertained, and protected by James Saul, a Jesuit, for the space of three Months; but being driven thence by the Rebels, he went first to Dublin, and then into England; where he found assistance from the Earl of Oxford, whose Domestick Chaplain he was: And at the happy Restauration of King Charles II., by Recommendation of the most Illustrious Duke of Ormonde, he was promoted to this See, and consecrated in St. Patrick's Church, Dublin, the 27th of January, 1660; and held also the See of Fenabore in Commendam. He died in 1667.

John Parker.

1678.

John Parker, D. D. Bishop of Elphin, succeeded Arch-Bishop Pullen in this See, having been translated thence the 9th of August, 1667, and hence to Dublin in the Year 1678; where you may read more of his Life.

John Vesey.

1678.

John Vesey, D. D. Bishop of Limerick, &c. was, upon the Translation of Dr. Parker, promoted to the Arch-Bishoprick in the Month of March, 1678; and is the present Arch-Bishop of this See. In a Parliament held at Dublin, Anno 8 Gul. III. there was an attempt made to remove the Archiepiscopal See from Tuam to Gallway; but it fell to the ground for that time.

OF THE BISHOPS OF ELPHIN.

S. Aicus.

Elphin, or (as others write it) Elfin, is situated on a rising Ground, in a pleasant and fertile Soil : St. Patrick built the Cathedral Church there, about the middle of the fifth Century, near a little River flowing from two Fountains, and set S. Aicus, a Monk, over it, who was a great Admirer of Penance and Austerity ; and by him consecrated Bishop, who afterwards filled it with Monks. He died at Rath-cung in Tirconall, where he was also buried. Some say that this Aicus was a most excellent Goldsmith, and by his Art beautified the Cathedral with six Pieces of very curious Workmanship. After many Centuries, namely, a little before the coming of the English into Ireland, the See of Roscoman being translated hither, this of Elphin began to be endowed with many great Possessions. I must confess I can't tell when Ardearn, Drumclive, and other Bishopricks of less note, were annexed and united to it ; but it is probable they were, either to the Cathedral of Elphin or Roscoman, before the coming of the English, for their Names are not found in that Distribution of Bishopricks, so often by us before mentioned, which was made in Ireland in the Year 1152, and (which I wonder at) the See of Elphin it self is not therein mentioned : therefore 'tis highly probable, I think, that sometime before the aforesaid Translation, it was united to Roscoman. However, it is certain that the See of Elphin by these Unions was at last esteem'd one of the richest of all Ireland, and had about 79 Parish Churches under it. The foolish Vulgar dream that the place is so called from a great Stone there to be seen, which they call the Stone of the Giant Fin-mac-Cool ; others, more rightly, say it denotes a Stone of a clear transparent Water. As for the Successors of S. Aicus in the See of Elphin, I have found mention only of two before the coming of the English, to wit, Domnald ô Dubhai, who was also Bishop of Clonmacnois, and died at Clonsfert in 1136 or 1137, and Flanachan ô Dubhai, who died in 1168.

An. Dom.
500.

1136.
1168.

Maelissa o Conactain.

Maelissa ô Conactain, called Bishop of East Conaught, was present at the Council of Kenanuse in 1152 ; and was afterward translated to this See, and died in 1174.

1174.

Florence o Mulrony.

Florence, or Florentine, mac Riagan ô Mulrony, a Cistercian Monk, and some-time

Cccc

An. Dom.

1195.

time Abbot of Buelly, died in 1195. Colgan says that he was descended from the Kings of Conaught.

Ardgall o Connor.

1214.

Ardgall o Connor, descended of the Royal Family of the o Connors, died in Denis o Morda.

1229.

1231.

His Successor, Denis o Morda, resign'd his Bishoprick in 1229, and died in Alan.

Of Alan, who succeeded, I find nothing more than the bare Name.

Donagh o Connor.

1244.

Donagh o Connor sate 12 years, and died in 1244.

John.

1245.

Upon Donagh's death License of Election was granted to the Dean and Chapter by King Henry III. the 12th of June, 1244, and John Arch-Deacon of Elphin was chosen, and obtain'd the Royal Assent the 4th of September, 1245; but whether he was consecrated or not, I do not find.

Cornelius Rufus.

1246.

In the Annals of Conaught I find that Cornelius Rufus, Son of the Comorban of S. Molua, was made Bishop of Elphin in 1246; and having sate but a short time, died.

Thomas o Connor.

1259.

Thomas, or Tomultach o Connor, Dean of Achonry, was consecrated in 1246, and translated to Tuam in 1259, where he sate 20 years. While he was Bishop of Elphin he consecrated the Church of the Monastery of Predicants in Roscoman, and dedicated it to the Virgin Mary, which Monastery and Church were then newly built by Felim o Connor.

Milo o Connor.

1260.

1262.

Milo, or Melagblin, Son of Thaddy o Connor, Arch-Deacon of Cluain, or Clonmacnois, was consecrated at Dundalk, by Abraham o Conellan Arch-Bishop of Armagh, in 1260; and died in 1262.

Thomas mac Ferral mac Dermot.

1265.

To him the next Year succeeded Thomas mac Ferral mac Dermot, Abbot of Buelly, twice elected, first in competition with Miles, and again after Miles's death; yet he sate but a short time, for he died in 1265. He granted to St. Mary's Chappel in the Temple at London, 50 days of Indulgence, and 40 days to those that for Devotions sake should visit the Tomb of S. Roger in St. Paul's, London. After his death, Odo o Connor (who claim'd the Title of King of Conaught) by force usurp'd the Revenues of the See whilst it was vacant.

Maurice o Connor.

Maurice Son of Neal o Connor, of the Order of Predicants, was confirm'd by the Royal Assent the 23d of April, 1266, and died in 1284.

1266.
1284.

Gelasy mac Julianaig.

Gelasy mac Julianaig, a Canon of the Order of the Premonstratenses, and Abbot of the Monastery of the Holy Trinity of Lough-key, was restored to the Temporals the 4th day of March, 1285, according to the English Account. He sate about 11 years, and died in 1296.

1285.
1296.

Malachy mac Brien.

Malachy mac Brien, Abbot of Buelly, succeeded, and died at Rome about the beginning of the Year 1302.

1302.

Donagh o Flanagan.

Donagh o Flanagan, Abbot likewise of Buelly, succeeded twice to Malachy, in the Bishoprick and in the Abby; he was restor'd to the Temporals the 10th of September, 1303, and died of a lingering Distemper the 22d of June, 1308: Some (not rightly) refer his death to the Year before. He was a Man eminent for his Prudence, Hospitality, and other Virtues.

1303.
1308.

Charles mac Julianaig.

Charles mac Julianaig o Connor, Abbot of the Abby of the Holy Trinity of Lough-key, elected by one part of the Canons of the Church of Elphin, was consecrated at Armagh in 1308, and received the Fruits of the See some years: but the Election being afterward made void by the Pope, he was forced to return to Lough-key, where he died old in 1343, and Malachy mac Ada, who was chosen by the other part of the Canons, by means of William Birmingham, then Arch-Bishop of Tuam, was provided by the Pope to the See of Elphin in 1309.

1308.
1309.

Malachy mac Aeda.

Malachy mac Aeda, a Canon of Elphin, provided by Pope Clement V. obtain'd the Royal Assent the 7th of December, 1310. He was translated from hence to Tuam, and after his Oath of Fealty to King Edward II. was restored to the Temporals of that See on the first of April, 1313. See more of him in Tuam.

1310.
1313.

Lawrence o Lughtuan.

Lawrence o Lughtuan, sometime Official of Tuam, was consecrated in 1313, and died in 1325.

1325.

John o Finsey.

John o Finsey, or de Roscoman, where he was born, a Canon of Elphin, chosen by the Dean and Chapter, was consecrated by his Metropolitan, Malachy mac Ada, in 1326, and died at Elphin in 1354, and was buried in the Cathedral Church.

1326.
1354.

Gregory.

An. Dom.

Gregory.1356.
1372.

One Gregory, Provost of Killalla, was consecrated to the See of Down; supposed vacant by the death of the Bishop of that See, by Peter Cardinal of Palestine, but Richard Bishop of Down appearing to be alive, the Donation became void: He was therefore provided to the See of Elphin by Pope Innocent VI. the 26th of February, 1356, or (beginning the Year at the First of January) in 1357. From hence he was translated to Tuam in 1372, where he sat 12 years.

Thomas Barret.

1404.

Thomas Barret, Arch-Deacon of Enaghduin, was consecrated in 1372, and died at Derry in the beginning of the Spring, 1404, and was there buried; having sat 32 years in very great Reputation for his Virtues.

John o Grada.1405.
1417.

John o Grada succeeded in 1405, and died in 1417, the 12th Year after his Consecration.

Robert Foster.

1418.

Robert Foster a Minorite, Doctor of Divinity, was provided by Pope Martin V. the 18th of April, 1418, as we find in the Annals of Luke Wadding; but whether he ever saw Elphin, or when he died, I do not find.

Cornelius.

1450.

Cornelius, Bishop of Elphin, built a Monastery for the Minorites at Elphin about 1450, in the place where before stood the Parish Church of St. Patrick.

Nicholas.

1494.

His Successor Nicholas in September, 1494, by reason of his sickly old Age, and Blindness, being sensible of his unsuitness to undergo it, voluntarily resign'd the Bishoprick, reserving to himself during Life an Annual Pension of 50 Marks out of the Revenues of the See: The Instrument of his Resignation is in the Register of Octavian Arch-Bishop of Armagh, Fol. 45, b. at the end whereof he requests of Pope Nicholas, that George Bishop of Dromore may be translated to the See of Elphin which he had so resign'd. Yet it appears out of the Registers of those times, that George was not translated by the Pope to Elphin, till the 17th of April, 1499; for in the mean time one Cornelius acted as Bishop, and after his death, Richard mac Brien of the Order of Predicants.

George Brann.

1499.

1523.

One George a Grecian, and Native of Athens, surnam'd (if I mistake not) Brann, Bishop of Dromore, by the Pope's Provision, upon the Resignation (as we have said) of Nicholas was translated to this See the 17th of April, 1499. "He was Proctor and Moderator of the Indulgences to the Hospital of the "Holy Ghost in Saxia (or the Saxon Street) at Rome, and to the Benefactors "thereof; and also for building a new Hospital of the Holy Ghost in Ireland, "a Member of the aforesaid Hospital. I have found those Indulgences confirm'd while he was Bishop of Dromore, in a Synod held at Drogheda, in St. Peter's Church, by Octavian de Palatio Arch-Bishop of Armagh, in 1495. He lived afterward in 1523, but when he died I do not find.

John

John.

One John of the Order of the Premonstratenses is said (how truly I know not) to have sat in 1535 ; and, together with this See, to have held in Commendam the Abby of Welbeck of the same Order, in Nottinghamshire in England.

An. Dom.

1535.

Conatius o Siagail.

Conatius o Siagail Abbot of Afadara, and Chaplain to Magnus, or Magonius o Donel, was provided Bishop of Elphin by King Henry VIII. in 1544.

1544.

Bernard o Higgin.

Bernard o Higgin a Dominican, provided by the Pope, succeeded : He lived in 1552 ; but how long after, I do not find.

1552.

Roland de Burgo.

Roland de Burgo, Bishop of Confert, had likewise the Government of this See, by Grant from King Edward VI. the 10th of April, 1552. He died very old in 1580.

1580.

Thomas Chester.

Thomas Chester, his Successor, was born in London ; and died at Killiathan in June, 1584.

1584.

John Lynch.

John, or James Lynch, a Native of Galloway, was preferr'd to this See by Queen Elizabeth in 1584 ; and voluntarily resign'd the 19th of August, 1611. He was buried in St. Nicholas Church at Galloway.

1611.

Edward King.

Edward King born in Huntingdon, Doctor of Divinity of Dublin, was consecrated in December, 1611 ; and sat 27 Years and 3 Months. He died the 8th of March, 1638, and was buried in his Cathedral, which at his own Cost he had repaired. He built a Castle, and some adjacent Houses, for him and his Successors, at Elphin ; and endow'd them with Land purchased by himself : And the See, which he found very poor, he left one of the richest in Ireland, by the recovery of those Lands which anciently belong'd to it.

1638.

Henry Tilson.

Henry Tilson, a Native of York, bred in Oxford, Chaplain to Thomas Earl of Strafford, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and Dean of Christ-Church in Dublin, was consecrated in the same Church the 23d of September, 1639 : He died at South-hill Hall in Yorkshire (whither in the beginning of the Rebellion he had retir'd) the 31st of March, 1655, aged 80 Years ; and was buried in the Chancel of the Parish Church of Dewsbury : After which the See was vacant till the Return of King Charles II. ; all which time the Revenues of the See were usurp'd by the Rebels.

1639.

1655.

An. Dom.

John Parker.

1660.

John Parker, Doctor of Divinity of the University of Dublin, a Native of that City, and Prebend of St. Michan's Church there, afterward Chaplain to James then Marquess, afterward Duke of Ormonde, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, was consecrated in Dublin, in St. Patrick's Church, on the 27th of January, 1660. In 1649, under the Tyranny of the Cromwellians, he lost his Church Revenues, and was Imprisoned upon suspicion of being privately employ'd by the Marquess of Ormonde, then endeavouring to reduce Dublin for the King. After some Months Imprisonment, by the Marquess's means, upon Exchange of Prisoners, he was restor'd to Liberty, and constantly adher'd to him while he continued in Ireland : But the Marquess returning into France, he withdrew into England, where he patiently suffer'd in the Troubles of those times, till the happy Restoration of King Charles II. to the Throne of His Father ; when he was promoted to the See of Elphin, and repair'd the Cathedral and Bishop's House. He was translated afterwards to Tuam, the 9th of August, 1667.

1667.

John Hudson.

1685.

1690.

John Hudson, D. D. born in England, and educated in the University of Dublin, was promoted from the Deanry of Clogher to the Bishoprick of Elphin, and consecrated in the Church of St. Nicholas, Gallway, the 8th of September, 1667, by his Predecessor John, then Arch-Bishop of Tuam ; assisted by two other Bishops, viz. Thomas Killalla and Edward Clonfert. He died in the Year 1685 ; after whose Decease no Protestant Bishop was put into the See of Elphin till the Year 1690. And then Simon Digby.

1691.

Simon Digby, D. D, was translated to this See from that of Limerick the 12th of January, in the Third Year of the Reign of King William and Queen Mary, 1691 : Among whose Bishops see more of his Life.

OF THE BISHOPS
OF CLONFERT.

Mæna, or Monening.

ST. Brendan, Son of Finlog, Cotemporary and Fellow Student with St. Brendan of Birr, built the Monastery of Clonfert near the River Shenan, in the Year 558, over which he was Abbot, and wherein he was buried in the 93<sup>d</sup> year of his Age: He died at Enaghdun on Sunday the 16th of May, 577, from whence his Body was carried to Clonfert, and there buried, as afore said. His Life is extant in Rhiming Metre, in Cotton's Library at Westminster, under the Effigies of Vespasian, D. IX. 1. In his time the Cathedral of Clonfert (Famous of Old for its seven Altars) was first Founded. The Death of the first Bishop of that place is thus noted in the Ulster Annals, at the Year 571: "Mæna, Bishop of Clonfert-Brenain, slept: Namely, while St. Brendan was yet living. The day of his Death is referr'd to the first of March. Clonfert in the Etimology denotes a Wonderful Den or Lurking Place. Of the Successors of Mæna till the coming of the English, very little Memory remains."

An. Dom.
558.
577.

Fintin Corah flourished about the end of the 6th Century.
Cumin, surnamed Foda, that is, the Long, died the 12th of November, 662.
Rutmel, called Prince and Bishop of Clonfert, died in 825.
Cormac mac Aedan died in 921.
Gilla mac Aiblin died in 1166.

600.
662.
825.
921.
1166.

Peter o Mordai.

Peter o Mordai, called Bishop of Omaine, from the Country where Clonfert is situate, a Cistercian Monk, and first Abbot of Buelly, while that Convent was at Grelachdinach, was drown'd in the River Shenan the 27th of December, 1171; a Man very eminent for his Virtues.

1171.

Maelissa mac Award.

Maelissa mac Award succeeded, but fate not long; for he died in 1173.

1173.

Malcallan.

Malcallan Son of Adam, Nephew of Clericen, Bishop of Clonfert, died in 1186. See Colgan, Act. Sanct. Hibern. at the 21st of Jan. pag. 153. numb. 2. "One Donald o Find, called Comorba Clonfert-Brenain, died in 1195. I know not whether he was Abbot or Bishop of Clonfert.

1186.
1195.

An. Dom.

O Cormacain.

1204. In the Annals of Inisfalt there is mentioned one Bishop O Cormacain, who died at Clonsfert in 1204; but it is not there express'd what See he was Bishop of, therefore I cannot certainly affirm that he was Bishop of this See, till the truth shall appear on further Enquiry.

Thomas.

1248. One Thomas Bishop of Clonsfert died in 1248; and on the 27th of May, 1249, 1249. Henry III. King of England granted License of Election by His Letters Patents.

Cormac o Lumlin.

1259. Cormac, or Charles o Lumlin, eminent for his Learning and great Probity, died very old about the Summer Solstice, in 1259.

Thomas o Kelley.

1263. Thomas o Kelley, who succeeded, died on Sunday next after the Epiphany, in 1263, according to the English Account, and was buried at Athenry, in a Church of the Dominicans, to which he had been a great Benefactor.

John.

1266. After three years Vacancy, John an Italian, the Pope's Nuncio, succeeded; and was consecrated at Athenry the Sunday before Christmas, in 1266, and went to Rome the Year following: He sat many years after his return, and was at last, in 1296, translated to the Church of Benevento in Italy. He is reckon'd among the principal Benefactors of the Church of Clonsfert; and perhaps that Frontispiece at the West end of the Church, beautified with many Statues of excellent Workmanship, was built by him.

Robert.

1307. One Robert, a Monk of Christ-Church in Canterbury, provided by Pope Clement IV. succeeded; and was restor'd to the Temporals the 24th of September, 1296: He died in 1307.

Gregory o Brogy.

1319. Upon License of Election granted by King Edward II. the 7th of December, 1307, Gregory o Brogy Dean of the Cathedral, on St. George's Day next following, was elected by consent of the whole Chapter. He sat about 11 years, and died in 1319.

Robert le Petit.

1325. To him succeeded Robert le Petit, a Minorite, chosen by the Dean and Chapter, the 10th of February, 1319; but within two years was deprived: At last he was provided to the See of Enaghdon by the Pope, the 8th of November, 1325, as appears out of the Annals of Luke Wadding, and was restor'd to the Temporals of that See by King Edward II. the 22d of June, 1326.

John

An. Dom.

John o Lean.

Robert le Petit being deprived, John o Lean Arch-Deacon of Tuam, by the Pope's Provision, succeeded, who took the Oath of Fealty to King Edward II. the 29th of October, 1322 ; and on the 25th of December following was restor'd to the Temporals. He died the 7th of April, 1336, having sate above 13 years.

1336.

Thomas o Kelley.

Thomas o Kelley, a Secular Priest, was Bishop the 14th of October, 1347 ; but when he was consecrated, or where died, I do not find : one o Kelley Bishop of Clonfert died 1377, but whether he was the same or not, I know not ; let those who have time enquire into the matter.

1347.

1377.

Maurice o Kelley.

Maurice or Moriertach (Son of Phillip) o Kelley, a Secular Priest also, was consecrated in 1378 ; and in 1394 translated by Pope Boniface IX. to the See of Tuam, where see more of him.

1378.

1394.

David Corre.

At the same time the Pope translated William o Cormacain Arch-Bishop of Tuam, to the See of Clonfert ; but the Arch-Bishop being very ill pleas'd with that change, neglected to speed the Bull of Translation in due time, and was therefore depriv'd, as appears in Wadding's Annals of the Minorites ; and then the Pope confer'd the See of Clonfert on David Corre a Minorite, the 20th of March, 1398.

1398.

Thomas o Kelley.

Thomas o Kelley erected the Parish Church of Clonkeen, or Clonken-Kerill, into a Monastery of Franciscans of the third Penitential Order, " At the Instance of " David and John Imul-Kerill, Professors of the same Order. He was translated to Tuam in 1438. One Thomas was Bishop of Clonfert in 1415, which I take to be the same Man with this.

1415.

1438.

John Heyn.

To Kelley succeeded John Heyn a Minorite, Provincial of the same Order in Ireland, provided by Pope Eugene IV. the 19th of July, 1438, as appears in the Annals of Luke Wadding, Tom. V. He sate about four years.

Thomas de Burgo.

This Thomas de Burgo, with consent of his Chapter, granted to the Fryars of the third Order of St. Dominick the Chappel of St. Mary of Killcarbain, at the request of John Fitz-Rery and the Fraternity of the same Order : Pope Eugenius IV. confirm'd this Donation the 12th of March, 1444. Thomas died in 1446, at Atherry, and was buried among the Dominicans.

1444.

1446.

Cornelius o Mulledy.

Upon the death of Thomas, John With a Minorite, formerly Servant of that Order in Ireland, was elected to this See ; but he either resigning soon after, or not

E e e e

An. Dom.
1447.

not consenting to the Election, Cornelius ô Mulledy, a Minorite also, was provided by Pope Nicholas V. the 22d of May, 1447; and the next Year, on the 15th of August, he was provided by the same Pope to the See of Imely.

Cornelius o Cunlis.

1448.
1469.

Cornelius ô Cunlis, or ô Baculis, a Minorite, Bishop of Imely, by the Pope's Provision was translated to this See in 1448. He dwelt afterward at Rome in 1469; and (if I mistake not) resign'd some time before his death.

Matthew Macraih.

1482.
1507.

Matthew Macraih was Bishop of Clonfert in 1482, and died at Kilbought in 1507, and was buried at Kilcomaing: A Man most eminent for many excellent Virtues.

David de Burgo.

1508.

David de Burgo, a Secular Priest, succeeded by the Pope's (Julius II.) Provision, the 5th of July, 1508; and died the next Year.

Denis.

1509.
1518.

Upon the death of David one Denis, a Minorite, was provided by the same Pope Julius II. the 7th of November, 1509. He lived afterward on the 14th of June, 1518; but when he died I do not find.

Richard Nangle.

1536.

Richard Nangle, or de Angulo, D. D. an Augustin Hermit, and Provincial of the same Order in Ireland, promoted to this See by King Henry VIII. was consecrated in 1536. He suffer'd much by Roland de Burgo, whom Pope Clement VII. in 1534 had provided to the See of Clonfert.

Roland de Burgo.

1541.
1552.

Roland, or Reimund de Burgo, Dean of Clonfert, provided by Pope Clement VII. after his Submission and Fealty sworn to King Henry VIII. whether after the death of Nangle I know not, obtain'd the Royal Assent the 24th of October, 1541, holding also his Deanry by Dispensation. He likewise afterward obtain'd from King Edward VI. the See of Elphin, the 10th of April, 1552. He died very old in June, 1580.

Stephen Kerouan.

1573.
1582.
1602.

Stephen Kerouan born at Gallway, Arch-Deacon of Enaghduin, bred partly at Oxford and partly in Paris, was provided to the See of Killmacduach by Queen Elizabeth, and consecrated in 1573; and was translated to Clonfert the 24th of May, 1582; and died, if I mistake not, in the Year 1602.

Roland Linch.

1625.

Roland Linch, a Native of Gallway, Arch-Deacon of Clonfert, was consecrated Bishop of Killmacduach in August, 1587; and by Dispensation held the See of Clonfert in Comendam from the 20th of October, 1602. He died at Loughreagh in the County of Gallway, in December, 1625.

Robert Dawson.

An. Dom.

Robert Dawson born in Westmoreland, Chaplain to Henry Viscount Falkland Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, Dean of Down, Batchelor in Divinity, and sometime Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge, was consecrated Bishop of Clonfert and Killmacduach in the Chappel of Dublin, the 4th of May, 1627, by Lancelot Arch-Bishop of Dublin, Thomas Bishop of Fernes, and Jonas Bishop of Ossory. He died at Kendal in Westmoreland in 1643, being the Town where he was born. He very nobly repair'd and restor'd, or rather rebuilt the Bishop's Palace at Clonfert.

1627.

1643.

William Bayly.

William Bayly of Scotland, of the University of Glasco, Doctor of Divinity of Oxford, was consecrated Bishop of Clonfert and Killmacduach at Oxford, the 2d of May, 1644, by James Arch-Bishop of Armagh, John Bishop of Killalla and Achonry, and Henry Bishop of Down and Connor. He died at Clonfert the 11th of August, 1664, of an Apoplexy; and was there buried in the Cathedral.

1644.

1664.

Edward Wolley.

Edward Wolley, Doctor of Divinity, Native of Shrewsbury, and there in the Kings School had the first Rudiments of Learning, till (very young) he remov'd to Cambridge, where he was admitted a Student in St. John's College, and there commenced Master of Arts; and after, in both Universities of Oxford and Cambridge, proceeded Doctor of Divinity: He was Domestick Chaplain also to King Charles I., and afterward to King Charles II., to whom he constantly adher'd in his Troubles, and suffer'd much in the mean time abroad by the Factious Fanaticks, till Charles II. being happily Restor'd, settled Peace again in His Kingdom; and then he was plac'd by the King in a Rectory in Essex, to reduce Enthusiasts and other Sectaries poysoned with the Opinions of Marshall; and was afterward designed Bishop of Clonfert and Killmacduach, and consecrated at Tuam the 16th of April, 1665, by Samuel Arch-Bishop of Tuam, John Bishop of Elphin, and Thomas Bishop of Killalla and Achonry. He repair'd the Cathedral of Clonfert.

1665.

William Fitz-Gerald.

William Fitz-Gerald born in Cork, Son of Dr. John Fitz-Gerald Dean of Cork, educated in the University of Dublin, was promoted to the Bishoprick of Clonfert, and consecrated in Christ-Church, Dublin, by Francis Arch-Bishop of Dublin, Anthony Bishop of Meath, William Bishop of Kildare, and William Bishop of Rapho, June, 1691, by vertue of Letters Patents granted by King William III. constituting him Bishop of Clonfert and Killmacduach in the County of Gallway.

1691.

OF THE BISHOPS
OF Killmacduach.

S. Colman.

An. Dom.

THE Church of Duach founded by S. Colman Son of Duach, descended of the Noble Family of the Hyfiacris in Conaught, who being at last made Bishop, fixed his Seat in this place, which from him is called Killmacduach, and corruptly Kilmacough. This Church was well endowed by Guary, then King of Conaught, and his Successors. S. Colman flourished about the end of the 6th Century, or the beginning of the next; the day set apart to his Memory is the 3d of February, but in what Year he died I do not find. See more of him in Colgan's Acts of the Saints of Ireland, on the 3d of February. Of his Successors I find no mention for many hundred years after, only of one called Indrecht, who died in 814.

814.

Rugnad mac Gilla Celaig o Ruadan.

1178.

Rugnad o Ruadan, Son of Gilla Celaig, died in 1178; but who was his next Successor I do not find.

Odo.

1227.

One Odo, Chanter of Duach, was elected Bishop, and confirm'd by King Henry VIII. the 12th of May, 1227, as appears by the Records of the Tower of London.

Gelasius mac Celaig.

1249.

Gelasius mac Celaig died in 1249.

Maurice Ileyan.

1283.

1284.

Maurice Ileyan died in 1283, and was buried in a Monastery of Predicants at Athenry: Afterward, on the 27th of March, 1284, King Edward I. granted License of Election for a Successor, and David o Sedaghan.

1290.

David o Sedaghan is said to have been nominated to succeed, who was restor'd to the Temporals the 13th of July, 1284. He died in 1290, and was buried in the said Monastery of Predicants.

Laurence o Laghuan.

Laurence o Laghuan, a Cistercian Monk, Abbot first of Ashro, afterward of Buella, and at last of Knock-moy, succeeded. He died about the beginning of the Year 1306, and the Dean and Chapter obtain'd Licence of Election the 1st of March following.

An. Dom.

1306.

Luke.

Luke, his Successor, died in 1325, having sat 18 Years.

1325.

John.

John, Dean of Duach, was chosen by the Chapter, and restored to the Temporals the 14th of May, 1326, and was Consecrated the same Year by Malachy Mac-ada, Arch-Bishop of Tuam.

1326.

Nicholas.

Nicholas Consecrated in 1360, sat in 1371.

1360.

Gregory Ileyan.

Gregory Ileyan, died in the Year 1395, and was buried at Rescomon, in a Monastery of Predicants; He swore Fealty to K. Richard II. at Drogheda, the 16th of March, 1394.

1395.

Nicholas Ileyan.

Nicholas Ileyan, of the Order (if I mistake not) of Predicants, Succeeded, and died in 1399. He was buried at Athenry, in a Monastery of his Order.

1399.

John Icomaid.

John Icomaid, his Successor, was buried in the same Monastery at Athenry, in the Register of which Monastery the time of his death is referred to the Year 1401.

1401.

John.

I find in Jongelin's Purpura S. Bernardi, that John, Abbot of Corcumroo, was provided Bishop of Duach by Pope Martin V. 10 Cal. Novem. 1418.

1418.

Cornelius.

Cornelius was Bishop of Duach, in 1493, and Resign'd in 1502.

1493.

Matthew.

Matthew, Arch-Deacon of Killaloe, succeeded by the Pope's Provision the 8th of March, 1503, and sat afterwards in 1523.

1503.

1523.

F f f f

Christopher.

An. Dom.

Christopher Bodekin.

1533.

Christopher Bodekin was Consecrated Bishop of Duach at Marseilles in France, the Fourth of November, 1533; by Gabriel, Arch-Bishop of Dyrachy, Assisted by Jerome, Bishop of Aburtin, and Mark Anthony, Bishop of Tiburtin: Afterward by favour of King Henry the VIII. he obtained the See of Tuam; retaining also that of Duach by Dispensation, the 15th of February, 1536. He Died in a Decrepit Age in 1572.

1536.

1572.

Stephen Kerovan.

1573.

1582.

Stephen Kerovan, Arch-Deacon of Enaghdon, Educated partly at Oxford and partly at Paris, was provided Bishop of Duach by Queen Elizabeth, and Consecrated in Dublin in 1573, and was Translated to Clonsfert the 24th of May, 1582: For whose Successors in the Sees of Duach and Clonsfert, see the Bishops of Clonsfert.

OF THE BISHOPS
OF KILALLA.

St. Muredach.

1151.

ST. Muredach, Son of Eochad, was the First Bishop of this See, and Consecrated by St. Patrick, from whence it appears, he Flourished in the 5th Century. The day assigned to his Memory is the 12th of August. Of his Successors, before the coming of the English, I have found but one mentioned during all that time; called, Melfogamair, who Died Bishop of Kilalla in 1151. See the Antiquities, Chap. 29.

Imar o Ruadin.

1177.

Imar o Ruadin, called Bishop of Fiacre, Died in 1177.

Donah.

1198.

At the request of this Donah, Pope Innocent III. confirmed the ancient possession of this See 3 Kal. April, 1198. A Catalogue whereof is to be seen in the published Decretal Epistles of the same Pope.

Cormac o Turpaid.

Cormac o Turpaid, his Successor, died in 1226.

1226.

O Muilfagamair.

O Muilfagamair, whose proper Name is not expressed, died in 1234. In the Annals of Conaught, he is called Bishop of O Fiakra-mui. Who succeeded next, I have not found, but the See was vacant the 22d of June, 1253, on which day King Henry III. granted Licence of Election, as appears from the Records of the Tower of London.

1234.

O Laidig.

O Laidig, Bishop of Kilalla, died in 1275.

1275.

John o Laidig.

John o Laidig, or O Loyn, died in October, 1280.

1280.

Donah o Flachertach.

Donah o Flachertach, lawfully Elected, obtained the Royal Assent the 16th of April, 1281, who being on his way to Dublin, fell sick, and died at Dunboyn in 1305, aged 40, from whence his Body was convey'd to Molingar, and buried in a Convent of Canons of S. Mary. He was a Man eminent for many Virtues.

1281.

1305.

John Tankard.

Upon Licence of Election granted by King Edward I. the 24th of May, 1306, the Dean and Chapter chose John Tankard, Arch-Deacon of Kilalla, the 13th of June following, who was confirm'd by Birmingham Arch-Bishop of Tuam, the 28th of the same Month.

1306.

John o Laitin.

John o Laitin died in 1343, after which the See was vacant almost 3 Years.

1343.

William.

William succeeded, who, after Fealty sworn to the King, was restored to the Temporals the 25th of March, 1347. He sat about 3 Years.

1347.

Robert.

Robert, born at Waterford, succeeded.

Thomas Orwel, or Horetnel.

Thomas Orwel, or Horetnel, a Minorite, by Provision of Pope Boniface IX. succeeded prid. Cal. Feb. 1389, and was translated from hence to some other See in 1400.

1389.

1400.

Thomas.

An. Dom.

Thomas.

Thomas, Arch-Deacon of Kilalla, provided by Pope Boniface IX., was restored to the Temporals the Twelfth of March, 1400. by Patent of King Henry the IV. committed to Sir Thomas de Burgo, his Justice, in Conaught.

John.

1490. The First Bishop of Kilalla, that occurs after Thomas, is John, who resigned about 1490.

Thomas.

1495. Thomas, Bishop of Kilalla, was present at a Synod held at Tuam in 1495.
1497. He Died in 1497.

Thomas Clerk.

1505. Thomas Clerk, Arch-Deacon of Power, by the Popes provision succeeded. He Resigned in 1505.

Malachy o Clowan.

1505. Malachy o Clowan, by provision of Pope Julius II. succeeded the Twelfth of 1508. February, 1505, and was Consecrated the Third of September, 1508, in the Parish Church of Termonfechan, by Octavian, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, James Derry, and Eugene Clogher.

Richard.

1523. Richard was Bishop of Kilalla in 1523; at which time he was present at a Provincial Synod held at Galway.

Eugen o Connor.

1591. Eugen o Connor, Dean of Achad, provided Bishop of Kilalla by Queen Elizabeth, was Consecrated in 1591. He fate about Sixteen Years.

Miler Magrath.

1607. After the Death of Eugen, Miler Magrath, Arch-Bishop of Cashel, held this See, and that of Achad almost Fifteen Years in Commendam, by Grant from King James I. in February, 1607.

Archibald Hamilton

1623. Archibald Hamilton, a Scotch Man, Doctor of Divinity of Glasco, was Consecrated Bishop of Kilalla at Drogheda the 29th of June, 1623, and by favour of King James I. held also the See of Achad in Commendam; and was Translated to Cashel the Twentieth of April, 1630. He Died at Stockholm in Sweden, in 1659, almost Eighty Years of Age.

Archibald Adair.

Archibald Adair a Scotch Man, Dean of Rapho, was Consecrated Bishop of Kilalla

Kilalla and Achad, together with James Higate Bishop of Fenabore in St. Patrick's, Dublin, the 3d of May, 1630. and for certain seditious words was depriv'd in the same Church, the 18th of May, 1640, yet by favour of King Charles I. notwithstanding the Sentence of his Deposition, he obtain'd the Sees of Waterford and Lisimore the 13th of July, 1641.

An. Dom.

1630.

1640.

John Maxwell.

John Maxwell, a Scotch Man also, Student of St. Andrews in Scotland, and Doctor of Divinity of Dublin, was translated by Charles I. from the Bishoprick of Ross in Scotland, to the Sees of Kilalla and Achid the 12th of October, 1640, and to Tuam the 30th of August, 1645. A grave and learned Man, and a great Assertor of the King's Right. To which purpose is extant a Treatise of his intituled, Sacro Sancta Regum Majestas.

1645.

Henry Hall.

Henry Hall, born in Oxfordshire, Doctor of Divinity of Dublin, Chaplain to James Marquess, afterward Duke of Ormonde, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, was consecrated in St. Patrick's, Dublin, the 27th of January, 1660. He died at Kilalla the 23d of June, 1663, in the Bishop's Palace, which he had newly repair'd, and was buried there in the Cathedral.

1660.

1663.

Thomas Bayly.

Thomas Bayly, an English Man, Doctor of Divinity of Dublin, Dean of Down, was consecrated Bishop of Kilalla and Achonry, in the Cathedral of Tuam, on Trinity Sunday, 1664, by Samuel Arch-Bishop of Tuam, William Clonfert and John Elphin. He was a great Sufferer by the Cromwellians.

1664.

Thomas Ottoway.

Thomas Ottoway, Doctor of Divinity, was consecrated Bishop of Kilalla and Achonry in Christ-Church, Dublin, the 16th of November, 1670, and translated to Ossory the 7th of February, 1679. He kill'd three notorious Rebels.

1670.

John Smith.

John Smith, Dean of Limerick, was presented to the Sees of Kilalla and Achonry the 13th of February, 1679.

1679.

William Smith.

William Smith, Dean of Dromore, was promoted to the Sees of Kilalla and Achonry the 2d of May, 1681.

1681.

Richard Tennison.

Richard Tennison, Dean of Clogher, was promoted to the Sees of Kilalla and Achonry, the 18th of February, 1681, from whence he was translated to the See of Clogher.

William Lloyd.

William Lloyd, Doctor of Divinity, was born at Penhunllis in the Isle of Anglesey, Educated in the College of Dublin, and made Fellow of the said College. In the Year 1683, he was made Dean of Achonry and Chaunter of Kilalla; and in the Year 1690, was promoted to the united Bishopricks of Kilalla and Achonry, and consecrated in Christ-Church, Dublin, by Francis Arch-Bishop of Dublin, William Kildare, and John Killalo, and doth at present enjoy the said Bishopricks.

1690.

The Bishops of Achad or Achonry.

Nathy.

530.

ST. Finian Bishop of Clonard, about the Year 530, in a Place given him by the King of the Country of Luigny, built the Church of Achad, commonly called Achonry or Achad-Conair: St Finian having built the Church, conferr'd it on his Scholar Nathy. See the Antiquities, c. 29.

Mebruan o Ruadan.

1170.

The next Bishop of Achonry that occurs is Mebruan o Ruadan. He died in 1170, having fate more than 18 Years, for he was present at the Synod held under Cardinal Paparo in 1152. A prudent Man of great repute in his Country.

Gillanan, or Gelasy o Ruadan.

1214.

Gillanan, or Gelasy o Ruadan, died in 1214.

Clement o Sinadaig.

1219.

Clement o Sinadaig succeeded, who died in 1219, having fate five Years.

Carus o Tarpa.

1226.

Carus o Tarpa, Abbot of Mellifont, and afterward Bishop of Achonry, died the 17 Kal. February, 1226, in the said Abby, and was there buried.

Gelisa o Clery.

1230.

Gelisa o Clery succeeded, in the Conaught Annals called Bishop of Luigny. He died in 1230.

Thomas o Ruadan.

1237.

Thomas o Ruadan, his Successor, died in 1237, and was buried in his Cathedral.

Aengus, or Elias o Cluman.

1238.

1250.

Aengus, or Elias o Cluman, consecrated in 1238, resigned about the end of the Year 1250, or the beginning of the next, and died, worn out with Age, in the Abby of Buelly, where he had embraced a Monastick life.

Thomas o Miachan.

1251.

Thomas o Miachan, elected Successor, obtained the Royal Assent the 20th of June, 1251, and died about the beginning of the Year 1265.

Denis o Miachan.

1266.

1285.

Denis o Miachan, Arch-Deacon of Achonry, succeeded in 1266. He gave the 12th Kal. June, in the same Year, Forty Days of Indulgence to the Chappel of the Blessed Virgin, in the Temple at London, on the Feast of the Dedication. He fate 19 Years, and died in November, 1285, and was buried in his Church.

Benedict.

1286.

Benedict, Bishop elect of Achonry, was restor'd to the Temporals the 17th of September, 1286.

Henry mac Oreghty.

1297.

Henry mac Oreghty, a Cistercian, succeeded, and died in 1297.

Benedict o Bragan.

1311.

Benedict o Bragan, or Brogan, perhaps the same with Benedict before mention'd, died about the end of the Year 1311, and King Edward II. granted Licence of Election the 1st of May following.

David de Kilheny.

David de Kilheny was Elected his Successor in 1312.

An. Dom.

1312.

Murchard o Hara.

Murchard (Son of Melmoi) o Hara, sometime Abbot of Buelly, Died in 1344.

1344.

David.

David Bishop of Achonry, Died in 1348, tho' others (not rightly) say 1344.

1348.

Nicholas o Hedram.

Nicholas o Hedram a Cisterian, of the Abby of Ashro or Desamario, provided by Pope Clement VI. was restored to the Temporals by King Edward III. the 19th of March, 1348. He sate about 25 Years, and Died in 1373.

1373.

William Andrew.

William Andrew, an English-man, Doctor in Divinity, of the Order of Predicants, provided Bishop of Achonry by Pope Gregory II. was restored to the Temporals the 1st of August, 1374, and Six Years after Translated to Meath; a Prudent and Learned Man, but after the Example of Socrates, wou'd publish no Writings, tho' many was expected.

1374.

Thady.

Thady Died Bishop about the Year 1448.

1448.

Cornelius.

In Gaspar Jongelin's Purpura St. Bernardi, I find that Cornelius Abbot of Buelly was made Bishop of Achonry upon the Death of Thady, in October, 1449, in the Third Year of Pope Nicholas V.

1449.

James.

James, Bishop of Achonry, was Translated by Pope Nicholas V. to the See of Bangor in Wales, in 1453, and Died in September, 1464.

1453.

Cornelius.

1464.

Cornelius, who succeeded next, Died in 1472.

1472.

Robert Wellys.

Robert Wellys, a Minorite, was provided by Pope Sistus IV. the 1st of July, 1472, on the Death of Cornelius, as we find in L. Wadding's Annals. Tom. 6.

1472.

Bernard.

Bernard Bishop of Achonry, Died in 1488.

1488.

John de Buclamant.

John de Buclamant, or Bustamant, a Spaniard, Master of the House of St. Catherine of Toledo, of the Order of St. Mary, of the Redemption of Captives, was provided Bishop of Achonry by Pope Innocent VIII. the 9th of October, 1489. But I think he never saw his Bishoprick.

1489.

Richard.

Richard Succeeded, but sate not long, for he Died in 1492.

1492.

Thomas Fort.

Thomas Fort, A. M. a Canon of the Abby of St. Mary, and St. Petroc Bodmine, of the Order of St. Augustin, of the Diocess of Exeter in England, was provided to this See by the Pope the 3d of the Ides of October, 1492.

Cornac.

An. Dom.

Cormac.

1523.

Cormac was Bishop of Achonry in 1523.Eugen.

1585.

1603.

Eugen was Bishop of Achonry in 1585, perhaps the same with Eugen ó Harit, sometime Prior of the Abby. of Predicants at Sligo, who was present at the Council of Trent in 1563, and Died, Aged 100, in 1603, and Buried in the Church of Achonry on the left hand of the High Altar. See his Successors Bishops of Achonry, among the Bishops of Kilalla.

Trinity-College, Dublin, Founded by Queen Elizabeth, 1591; it being before called the Monastery of All-Saints.

Chancellors.

Sir William Cecil, Knight, Baron Burly Treasurer of England.

Robert Devereux, Earl of Essex.

Doctor William Lawd, Arch-Bishop of Canterbury.

James Duke of Ormonde, 1661. Grandfather to James Duke of Ormonde, present Chancellor, 1704.

Doctor St. George Ash, 1692.

Doctor George Brown.

Doctor Peter Brown,

The present Provost and Fellows of Trinity-College, Dublin, 1704.

Senior Fellows.

Doctor Peter Brown, made Provost in 1699.

Doctor John Hall, Vice-Provost.

Doctor Owen Floyd, Divinity Professor.

Doctor Benjamin Pratt.

Mr. Richard Baldwin.

Mr. Claudius Gilbert.

Mr. William Wetherby.

Mr. Nicholas Forster.

Provosts.

Adam Loftus, Arch-Bishop of Dublin.

Mr. Walter Travers.

Mr. Henry Alvey.

Mr. William Temple, afterwards Knighted, 1609.

Mr. William Bedell, 1627.

Doctor Robert Usher, 1629. After him is a wild Hiatus through variety of Governours till,

Mr. William Chapple, 1637, B. D.

Mr. William Washington, B. D.

Doctor Tate.

Doctor Anthony Mortin Bishop of Meath.

Doctor Samuel Winter.

Doctor Thomas Seel.

Doctor Michael Ward, Sen.

Doctor Narcissus Marsh, 1678.

Doctor Robert Huntington, the 24th of September, 1683.

Junior Fellows.

Mr. John Elwood.

Mr. William Mullard.

Mr. Thomas Conningby.

Mr. Matthew French.

Mr. Thomas Squire.

Mr. William Floyd.

Mr. Randolf Wally.

Mr. John Walmsley.

Mr. Robert Howard.

One Fellowship Vacant.

F I N I S.

T W O
BOOKS
OF THE WRITERS
OF
IRELAND:

The former of which contains the Natives.

The latter, those who had any Preferment there.

By Sir James Ware, Knight.

D U B L I N :

Printed by Andrew Crook, for Matthew Gunne in Essex-street, and Eliphal Dobson at the Stationers Arms in Castle-street, 1704.

3000

1845

1845

1845

1845

1845

1845

1845

*To the most Honourable and Illustrious Lord Viscount Wentworth, Lord
Lieutenant of Ireland, President of His Majesties Council established in the North Parts of England, and one of His Majesties most Honourable Privy Council.*

THIS my Collection of Irish Writers, Most Honourable, in humble manner I Offer to Your Excellency, but with no other design, than by this Instance of Gratitude, to pay an Acknowledgment of my Devoir to your Lordship. Your innate Modesty (I am sensible) does not suffer me to enlarge on the subject of your Praises: wherefore I pass it over in silence. As to the Work it self, 'tis a Collection of Irish Writers, but not so large as I could wish. And no wonder, for it is evident that the knowledge of most of those Writers, together with far the greater part of their Works, is irrecoverably lost; since our Ireland, oppress'd with intestine Commotions, hath been drowned, I may say, in a Deluge of Miseries. Yet from what remains, a Taste may be had of the Learning of every Age, since the first appearance of Christianity in this Island to our own time. I have done what possibly I could; where Obscurity hath caused me to err, I hope for Pardon from your Clemency. May the only Great and Good God long preserve Your Excellency in safety.

Your Lordship's most humbly devoted,

James Ware.

TO

TO THE R E A D E R.

SOME Years since, I design'd to compile a Catalogue of Irish Writers, who lived before this Century : but hindered by other business, I deferred my purpose. At length having got a favourable opportunity, I bestowed the whole Summer season of the Year 1636, upon enquiry after Authors, and in my leisure Hours finished the Work. But to compleat my undertaking, according to my ability, I have carefully perused, besides the printed Books, divers ancient Manuscripts, which might be serviceable to my Undertaking. Many of which (not to mention my own Library) the most Illustrious Prelate James Usher Lord Arch-Bishop of Armagh, furnish'd me withal, and my endeared Friend Sir Robert Cotton Knight and Baronet, supplied me out of his Library with several others, whence in the Year 1629, (during my stay in England) I enrich'd my Collections. Some Writers I have advisedly omitted, because I thought it not worth while to collect obscure Authors of little account; others, because I had reason to doubt of what Country they were, or what Books they wrote; and some unwillingly, the knowledge of whom hath not reach'd to me. Yet from what is here done, it will appear that some Ages after St. Patrick's coming into Ireland, this Kingdom flourished in Learning, and was deservedly call'd The Isle of Saints, in regard of the great number of holy Men both living here, and travelling hence into Foreign Parts for the good of Souls. It will likewise further appear, that by reason of intestine Wars, and the Com-motions rais'd there by Danes and Norwegians, Learning lay long time neglected and dead, and by its happy Submission unto Henry the Second, King of England, that Learning revived.

THE FIRST BOOK OF IRISH WRITERS.

CHAP. I.

The Writers of the Fifth Century, from the Year of Christ 400 to the Year 500.

ST Albe, or Ailbe, Born in Ely ó Carol, was Converted in his Minority by a Missionary from Rome, whither some Years after he travelled, and was consecrated Bishop by the Pope. There is yet remaining of his Works, a Rule for Monks in Manuscript, which the Compiler of the Ulster Annals understands (I suppose) where he says that the Law of Albe was received in Munster. He died in 527.

Vit. S. Alb.
Vit. S. Decl.
War. de praful. Imel.

Dublach, a Convert of St. Patrick, published Sacred Poems, "for (says Jocelin) "being Baptized and Confirmed in the Faith, he turned his Poetry, which in the "flower and prime of his studies he employed in praise of false Gods, to a much "better use, changing his Mind and Stile, he composed more elegant Poems in "praise of the Almighty Creator and his holy Preachers.

Jocelin
Furnes. vit.
S. Patr. Cap.
44.

Flech, or Fiach, educated under Dublach, was appointed Bishop of Sletty by St. Patrick, in whose Praise he writ an Irish Hymn containing 34 Distichs, some think he writ another in praise of St. Bridget, which begins, Audite Virginis Laudis, and is by others attributed to Nimid Lanidan, and by some to Ultan of Ardbraccan. An old Author says, that St. Patrick ordained in that Country (meaning Leinster) another Bishop, namely Fiach, a Native of the same, remarkable for his strictness in Religion, who by command of St. Patrick, Converted and Baptized the whole Nation of Ceanfalach, which is the greater and better part of Leinster. This Bishop Fiach kept under his Body, and subdued his Fleishly Corruptions and Lusts, and in his City Slehti (now Sletty in the Queen's County) near the River Barrow, in Albe-field, finished a most religious course of Life.

Lib. vet.
Hymn.

Autor vit.
S. Patr.
inedit.

Benigne, a Scholar of St. Patrick, and his Successor in the See of Armagh, writ a Book, part Latin and part Irish, Of the Virtues and Miracles of St. Patrick, to which Jocelin owns himself beholden. There is extant an Irish Poem of the Dublinians Conversion to Christianity, ascrib'd to this Benigne. The place of his Death is variously reported.

Vit. S. Patr.
Cap. 136.
Ware. de
praful.
Armac.

Sedulius Scotus, a famous Poet, Orator and Divine, lived about 490. Trithemius gives this account of him, "Sedulius, a Scottish Priest, from his Infancy educated "under Hiltsbert Arch-Bishop of the Scots, well versed in the Scriptures, and "most accomplisht in the Learning of the Age, excellent at Composures in Prose "and Verse. For his further advancement in Learning, left Scotia and came De Scriptor.

Ecclef.
See also Sixt.
Senensis Bibliothee. sac.

Usserius de Britan. Eccl.
primord.
pag. 780.

Usser.
Ibid. Ch. 16.

Bal. centur.
14. Scri.
Britan. num.
10.
A. D. 1616.

Raphael Maffaeus Vo-lateranus
Comment.
Urban. lib. 3.

Genial. Dier.
lib. 3. cap. 15.

“into France, from whence he travelled to Italy, and visited Asia, lastly return“ing by the borders of Achaia, in the City of Rome great notice was taken of “him, for his singular Learning. He writ many Latin Books in Prose and Verse, “of which I have only met with the Titles. To the Abbot Macedonius he “dedicated a notable Work, composed according to the Order of the Gospel, “which he Intituled, A Paschal Song in Metre, consisting of four Books, which “begin thus, Paschales quicunque dapes. Fourteen Books on St. Paul's Epistles, “in Prose, which begin thus, Antequam Apostolica Verba. An Hymn on Christ's “Miracles, which begins A Solis ortus Cardine. To Theodosius the Emperor one “Book. Notes on the large Volumn of Priscian, one Book. Notes on the second “Edition of Donatus, one Book. Encouragement to the Faithful, one Book.
“Letters to several persons, by Sedulius Scotigena, one Book. Of Christ's Mira- “cles in Prose, two Books. He also published some others which have escaped “my observation. Siebert says that he was at length made Bishop; but of what “Church or See he does not mention: He lived under Theodosius in 430. So far Trithemius. Primate Usser makes appear, that those Grammatical pieces are the Works of another Sedulius of later times. The Author of the Chronicle, supposed to be Dexter's, makes our Sedulius Bishop of S. Maria d'Oreto in Spain, in the Year
428. Damian a Gies, and Sebastian Munster, reckon him among the Spaniards;
But Sedulius Stiles himself Scotigena in the above mentioned Book of Letters, and so puts the matter out of Doubt. To this we may add the Title of his Notes on St. Paul's Epistles, which runs thus, Sedulii Scoti Hiberniensis in omnes Pauli Epistolas Collectaneum. And so John Sichard, who first published that Work out of a venerable old Copy, which he had from the Abbot of Fuld, calls the Author Sedulius Hiberniensis, i. e. a Native of Ireland. However some learned Men are of opinion that the Author of those Notes was not the Poet, but another Sedulius. His three Hymns are in great esteem.

The first begins, A Solis ortus cardine.

The Second, Herodes hostis impie.

The Third thus, Salve Sancta parens enixa puerpera Regem.

The Reader desirous to know more of him, may consult the Author in the Margent, where he will find these and other matters treated of with exactness.

Frideline, Son of an Irish King, lived in 495. He built many Monasteries in France and Germany, where he took much pains in propagating Christianity. He died in a Monastery of his own erection at Secking, or Secane (an Isle in the Rhine) and was there buried. He is reported to have written some Pious Exhor- tations, besides other things not now extant. See more of him in Gaspard Brussa his Chronology of German Monasteries, and an Anonymous Author published by Melchior Goldast, among the Writers of the affairs of Alemaine, 1606.

St. Catald lived in the close of the 5th Age. He was born in Munster, educated at Lismore, and afterwards Bishop of Ratheny. Having for some Years hon-ourably discharg'd his Episcopal Function, he went a Pilgrimage to Jerusalem, from thence, in obedience to an Heavenly Vision, he travelled to Italy, where he became Bishop of Tarentum. Volateran says further, that Catald was esteemed at Geneva, near the Lake Leman as Bishop and Professor of that City. Alexander ab Alexan- dro, who lived in 1500, writes thus of him, “In the flourishing Estate of Fer- “dinand the first King of Arragon, when as yet the City and Kingdom of Naples
“were free from the calamities of War, it is Recorded, that Catald, a Religious “Man, who was Bishop of Tarentum a thousand Years since, and honoured by the “Citizens there, as their Patron, had appeared in a tempestuous Night, to one in “his Sleep, who ministred about Holy things, then lately admitted to Orders,
“and of a virtuous Education, and warned him to cause a Book containing Di“vine Mysteries, which in his life time he had writ and hid in some obscure “place, to be dug up, and forthwith to be laid before the King's Majesty; but “he giving little credit to the Vision, the same was often repeated to him when “awake, and one morning very early, while he continued alone in the Temple, “but perfectly awake, Catald appeared to him in his Episcopal Habit and Mitre,
“and

“ and told him that next morning, without further delay, he should dig it up
 “ and carry it to the King, threatening sore punishment if it were not done.
 “ The next Day the Minister and People went in solemn Procession to the place “ where the Book for so long time had lain hid, and found it wrapt up in Leaden “ Tables, and fastned with Iron Studds. Therein the future overthrow of the “ Kingdom, with all the miseries consequent thereon, and the impendent evils “ which soon afterwards ensued, were certainly foretold the King. All which “ taught by sad experience, we have seen to our cost, brought to pass : For in “ truth so powerful is Divine Prediction, that some short time after King Fer“ dinand himself, whether thro’ the Divine Displeasure or inevitable Fate, was “ taken off in the first approach of the Wars, and Charles King of France, with a “ great Army, over run the whole Kingdom of Naples; and Alonsus, Ferdinand’s “ eldest Son, scarce warm in his new Kingdom, was depriv’d thereof, forced to “ a dishonorable flight, and ended his days as it were in Exile. Thus far my Author. About the Year 170, Catald came into Tarentum, according to Bartholomew Moron : But if we duely weigh what has been Storied of him, while he was in Ireland, especially the multitude of Believers in his time, it will then appear that he lived much later; and of this opinion was Antonius Caracciolus, who in his Edition of Italick Chronologers, promised to treat of this matter more carefully and largely elsewhere. But of the time when he lived, I will not take upon me to determine. The discovery of his Prophecy written in Leaden Tables, is placed by Moron in the Year 1492. Dampster, who makes him a Scot of Albany, ascribes to him, beside the aforesaid Book of Prophecy, a Book of Visions, another of Ho- milies, and says he lived in 361. His Memory is celebrated the 10th of May, on which Day thus we read in the Roman Martyrology, St. Catald, Bishop of Taren- tum, famous for Miracles.

Kienan, Bishop of Damleag, or Duleek, wrote the Life of St. Patrick, See Ware de Antiquit.

Vir. St. Ca-
tald. edit.
Rom. 1614.
Ware de An-tiquit.
A. D. 1626.

De Monum.
publ. &c.
See Heenan.
Fagon. lib.
de i. Scrib.
Orig. C. 10.

Hist. Eccl.
Scot. lib. 3.
num. 278.

CHAP. II.

Writers of the Sixth Century.

ST. Bridget, a Virgin, Born at Fochard in the County of Louth, lived for the the most part at Kildare, in a Nunnery of her own Erection, of which she was Abbess. Bale in his first Edition of Writers, gives this account of Bridget and her Writings. However qualified for Learning, she is reported to have obliged Po- sterity with twelve Books of her Revelations. Which stand thus Corrected in his Second Edition. : They say she published a Book of her Revelations, dictated by an Angel. But whence has Bale the words following? The Angel dictating, St. Bridget praying, and the Scribe taking Notes, a Book is composed, says Cambrensis, in his 2d Book de Mirabilibus, Ch. 39. When as Cambrensis in that place, speaks only of a Book of the Harmony of the Four Evangelists, dictated by an Angel, adorned with Pictures, and written for St. Bridget’s use; not a word of any Book of Revelations. Eisengreinus follows the First Edition of Bale; for he affirms that St. Brid- get wrote Twelve very obscure Books of her Revelations. Possevin treading in the steps of Eisengreinus, has these words. St. Bridget, a Leinster Woman of Scottish de- scent, Daughter to the Prince Daboth, composed Twelve very obscure Books of Reve- lations : But this is not that Swedish, or Gothick Bridgit, of whom hereafter. Since then neither Cogitellus, nor any other Writers of her Life, whether ancient or modern, makes mention of her Books of Revelations, I cannot account it other than a spurious Work, and more truly belonging to St. Bridgit of Sweden. The same hath been observed by John Lesley, who says, that Some do ignorantly confound our Bridget

Ware de Ant.
Centur. 1.
fol. 28. b.

Centur. 14.
Ca. 11. edit.
Basil. 1558.

Catal. test verit.

In Appar.
sacro.

De gest. Scot.
l. 4. p. 149.

Vid. Marian.
Soot. & Flor.
Wigorn. ad
Ann. 521.

Vita S.
Kiarani.

Offic. M. S.
Finani.

Ibid.

Vita S. Fi-
niani.
Ware de Antiq.

Tom. 5.
Antiq. lect.

De Histor.
Latin. lib. 3.
pag. 624.

Volateran.
Comment.
Urban. l. 21.

Apud August. Tici-nens. in Elucidario
Christianæ
Relig. part. 4.
In Ulfard
Martyr. 16
Mail. vid.
Perro Viucentii Spes.
Hist. lib. 21.
cap. 81.

Bridget with St. Bridgit of Sweden, the Author of Sundry Revelations : seeing that our Bridget lived many Ages before her. Yet she wrote a Rule for the Nuns of her Foundation, also an Epistle to St. Aid Son to Degil, in Irish Rythme, wherein she diswades him from Travel, a Poem of the Virtues of St. Patrick, and the Quiver of Divine Love, or the Desires of the Pious : Of all which see Colgan. Our Bridget died Aged 70, on the first of February ; on which Day her Memory is celebrated, in the Year of our Lord 521, other say 523.

Nimid Lainidan, i. e. the Famous, writ an Hymn which begins thus, Christus in nostra Insula. Some moreover ascribe to him that Hymn in praise of St. Bridget, which begins, Audite Virgines laudes. This Nimid, If I mistake not, is the Abbot Ninnid, with whom the younger Kiaran sometime lived, in a Wood of the Lough Erne. He flourished in 540.

St. Finan, or Finian, Bishop of Clonard, lived at the same time. He writ some Praelections with other things. One of the Hymns usually sung at his Festival begins,

Exultemus Finiano,      Jubilemus diluculo, Cujus Dogma fuit favo      Pradulcius in populo.

Another thus,

Regressus in Clonardiam,      At Cathedram Lectura, Apponit diligentiam      Ad Studium Scripturae.

Gemmanus writ an Hymn in praise of St. Finian then living.

Kiaran, otherwise Ciaran or Keran, writ a Rule for Monks, called in the Ulster Annals, The Law of Claran, Son of an Artificer. He is said to have written some Prophecies.

St. Jarlath, the first Bishop of Tuam, lived about 540. There are certain Prophecies of his Successors Bishops of Tuam, extant under his Name. The Writer of St. Brendan's Life makes mention of him. Afterwards (says he) St. Brendan came to Bishop Jarlath, then dwelling in Conaught, with whom he abode at that time, satisfying his thirsty Soul in that living Fountain of saving Doctrine ; and a few lines after, The holy Priest Jarlath taking a Journey in his Chariot, the wheels broke not far from his own Cell, and there a Monastery was built call'd Tuaym da Gualand.

Cogitosus belongs to these times. He writ the Life of St. Bridget. See Canisius, in the close of which Book he discovers himself in these words, Pray for me Cogitosus a blame worthy Nephew. Hence some conjecture (says Vossius) that he was Nephew to Bridget. If so, the time when he lived will be no longer a doubt ; for Bridget died in the time of Justin the Elder, in 523 ; but perhaps he calls himself such on the account of his youthful days spent in luxurious Riot, as Horace does a dissolute person, whence Seneca and Tertullian apply the word Nepotize to one who lavishly squanders away an Inheritance : However it is evident from many places of that Work, that its Author is of great Antiquity. Thus he.

Erigidian, or Phridian, Son of an Ulster King, in his younger Days took a progress to Rome, at length came to Lucca in Italy, where being made Bishop, he erected an Abby which after his decease was dedicated to his Memory. The Book of Canons which goes under his Name, is falsely ascribed to him, as appear from the 4th Lecture of Offices ; for there it is said, He carried with him the sacred Decrees, which Pope Pelagius bestowed on him, which to this Day (so says the Office) are called the Canons of Erigidian. He flourished in 570.

St. Brendan (the Abbot) Son of Finloga, a Native of Kerry, was educated under Bishop Ert. In his Life many incredible things are reported, which Molan calls Apocryphal Dreams : particularly his seven Years Voyage to certain Islands never before heard of. Camden gives us an account of his Purgatory, in a Tetrastrichon by Alexander Necham, which may be Englished thus.

There

*There is a Fire Lord knows where,
Unless in Roman Kalendare :
Sacred to Brendan's Memory,
Where Graceless Catholicks must fry,*

*Till Priest be paid for chanting Mass,
To fit them for a better place,
By purging them of Guilded Drofs,
To make them Gainers by the Loss.*

He writ a Christian Confession, The Charter of Heaven, and a Rule for Monks. Of his Rule, we read in a certain Anonymus Biographer, that, Brendan writ an Ecclesiastick Rule, necessary for a Religious Life, dictated to him by an Angel, which at this day is used in some places. There is extant under his name, in the Royal Library at St. James's, a very long Oration which begins, Deus Omnipotens Pater, Filius & Spiritus S. but I suppose 'tis a Work of later times. He writ also, as some say, Revelations of future Ages, and certain Epistles. He died at Enachdune, on Sunday the 16th of May, 577, whence his Body was conveyed to Clonfert, and there interr'd : Which last place John Timmouth and his Followers falsely calls Chuenarch. In the same Year, thus the Annals of Inisfall, The Rest of Brendan of Clonfert, in the 94th Year of his Age. Also the Death of Æd mac Ethdac King of Conaught, who offer'd the City Enaghdone to Brendan. To him we may joyn another Brendan, Son of Luaighe, Abbot of Birr, in the Territory of Ely, (now part of the King's County) who died there the 29th of November, 572. Dempster in vain searches for his place in Modern Scotland. Brendan of Birr writ of the Virtues and Praises of St. Columb then living. The Life of Brendan of Clonfert is preserved in Manuscript in a Book of the Society of Friars Minors of Kilkenny, written in 1340; but a more ancient Copy is in the Passion Book, formerly belonging to St. Mary's Abby of York, which at this day is Kept in the Cottonian Library, Westminster.

St. Ruadan, Contemporary with Brendan, the first Abbot and Founder of the Priory of Lurcho in Munster, was educated under St. Finan Bishop of Clonard. He is said to have writ a Book against King Diarmod, another Of the strange nature of Springs in Ireland, and another Of a wonderful Tree. His Memory is celebrated the 17th of April.

St. Congall, or Comgall (by interpretation the fair Pledge) born in Dalnariad, and educated under St. Fintan, at Clonenach, a Village in the Queen's County, afterwards at Clonmacnoise, under Bishop Lugid, from whom he receiv'd holy Orders. An old Writer of his Life gives us this Account of him, St. Congall built the great Monastery of Bangor in the Ardes of Ulster, near the Eastern Sea, and a vast multitude of Monks came thither, insomuch that one place could not contain them; so he built many Cells and Monasteries, not only in the Ardes, but throughout Ireland, in which were 3000 Monks under the Care and Government of the holy Father Congal. Some say that Pelagius, the chief Author of an Heresy in the Church, came from hence; but very erroneously, since the Abby. was founded 133 Years or thereabouts, after the Death of that Brittish Snake, as Prosper of Aquitaine calls him. Congall writ Monastical Institutes yet extant, also the Acts of his Contemporary St. Columb, and some Epistles. He died in his Abby of Bangor, aged 85. His Memory is celebrated the 10th of May. Dempster's affection to his Country makes him over look the Rule of giving every one their due, so reckons him among the Scots of Britain.

St. Columb, in the printed Copy of Bede called Columban, one of the chief Pillars of the Church of Ireland. Venerable Bede writes thus of him. Before he passed over to Britain, He built the Monastery of Dearmach, so called in the Scottish Language from its situation in a Grove of Oaks; then in 565, he sailed for Britain, to preach the Gospel (says Bede) to the Northern Picts: And a little after, Columb came into Britain. Brid Son of Meilcham, a most powerful King, Reigning over the Picts, in the 9th Year of his Reign, and by his Doctrine, joined with his good Example, converted the whole Nation to the Faith. During his abode in modern Scotland, he built the Monastery in the Isle Fona, otherwise called Hu, and T-Columkill, where he was sometime Abbot, famous for being the burial place of the Scottish Kings, Bale, Centr.

14. num. 78.

Vid. Arnold.
Wion. lib. 2.
Iign. vita, &
Dempster
Hist Eccles.
Scot. num.
143.

Appardt. ad
Hist. Scot.
lib. 1. cap.
15.
Vid. Colgan.
Triad.
Thaumarur.

Ware de Antiq.

Annal.
Tigernac.

S. Bernard in vita Malachia.

De Ingratis contra Pelagians. cap. 1.

Hist. Eccles.
Scot. lib. 3.
num. 254.

Ware de
Antiq. Ecel.
Hist. Gent.
Anglor. lib.
3. cap. 4.
Ibid.

Ibid. lib. 5.
cap. 25.
In fine lib. 3.
de vita S.
Columb.
Lib. 3. Eccl.
Hist. cap. 4.
Vita S. Kiar-
rani M. S.
Lib. vet.
Hymn. convent Donnegallie.

Ware de Antiq.

Annal Tigernac. &
Annal. Ulton.

Vit. S. Patr.
cap. 186.

and a multitude of Saints departed. The time for celebrating Easter, which he kept after the Custom of his Ancestors, on the Lord's Day, from the 14th to the 20th Moon, contrary to the Custom of the Church of Rome, he gave in charge to his Successors to observe, and the same was afterwards in use in the Church of Ireland till 716. He died the 9th of June, 597. aged 77, and lies buried in the aforesaid Church of Hu. See Adamnanus and Bede. His Reliques were translated to Down in Ireland, according to the vulgar Tradition of the Irish. Baithen succeeded him in the Government of the Abby, and died within a Year or two. Columb writ a Rule for the Monks yet extant, and commonly called, The Rule of Columbkille, also The Life of St. Patrick, an Hymn in praise of St. Kieran Abbot of Clonmacnoise, and three other Hymns, the first of which begins Altus Profator, vetustus dierum & ingenitus. The second thus, In te Christo credentium: which (some say) he composed, because Gregory (the Pope I suppose) declared that in his former Hymn, he wrote very sparingly of the Blessed Trinity. The third which he made in Derry, begins, Noli Pater indulgere. These three were published by John Colgan. They say he Prophesied of St. Carthag, that he should be expelled the Monastery of Raithen, or Ralibien in Fercall, and of other matters.

St. Canic, otherwise called Kynnic, and commonly St. Kenny, Son of Laidec, a celebrated Poet, was Abbot of Aghavo, or Aichadschoa in Upper Ossery. He wrote the Life of St. Columb, and Hymns in his Praise. Besides the Anonymus Writer of his Life affirms, that he wrote a Volume of the Four Evangelists, called by the Ancients, Glais Kynick. He died the 11th of October, A. D. 600, aged 72.

St. Colman, Bishop of Cloyne, writ the Life of St. Senan.

The Writer of the Life of St. Ita lived in the close of this Century. She was otherwise call'd The Virgin Ida, and died Abbess of the Nunnery of Cluaincredil. It is not known who the Writer was, but that he lived in this Age may be gathered from his Life of Ita. At another time, says the Author, one Feargus, whose Son is now living, was brought to St. Ide, troubled with pains in his Eyes and Limbs, inasmuch that his Friends scarce knew whether he was alive or dead: But this sad spectacle of Mortality was returned to his Friends both seeing and in good plight of Body, and continued sound in his Limbs ever after, by the powerful Prayers and Benediction of St. Ide.

CHAP. III.

Writers of the Seventh Century.

ST. Evin writ the Life of St. Patrick, to which Jocelin owns himself beholden, perhaps the same person with St. Eyven, of whom thus we read in the Life of St. Molua. At that time St. Eyven was Abbot of Ross mac Treom, not far from the River Barrow. If he be the same, then he lived about the beginning of this, or the close of the last Century. The Church dedicated to his Memory at Rossfont, was granted by William Marescal Earl of Pembroke, to the Prior and Convent of the Hospital of St. John the Evangelist near Kilkenny, as appears by the Registry of that place.

Molua, otherwise called Lugid, a Native of Munster, educated under St. Congall in Ulster, became afterwards Abbot of the Monastery called after him Clonsfert Molua. He writ a Rule for Monks, which being carried to Rome by the Abbot Dagan, was Read and Approved by Pope Gregory the First. He died of a Leprosie, the 4th of August, 609, and lies interr'd in his own Monastery. A Writer of his Life informs us, that he had been a Leper 20 Years.

St.

St. Munnu, otherwise call'd Fintan, Abbot of Taghmon, Five Miles West of Wexford lived at the same time. He wrote of the Paschal Controversy, of which there was hot Dispute between him and Lasarian Bishop of Leghlin. He died in his Monastery of extream old Age, in October, 635. An old Annalist hath this Note relating to him. An. 634. The Rest of Fintan, i. e. Mundu mac Tulcain, 12 Cal. Novem.

Annal. M. S.
Tigernac.

Dagan his Contemporary, dwelt in a place call'd after him, Achad Dagain. Perhaps he was the same with Bishop Dagan, whom Laurence Arch-Bishop of Canterbury mentions in an Epistle to the Irish Bishops, as a Person that sharply maintained the Customs of Ireland. Bishop Dagan is said to have writ a Book to the Churches of Britain. See Bale. Centur. 14. num. 13.

Bed. lib. 2.
Ecclef. Hist.
cap. 4.

St. Columban (whom some confound with St. Columb spoken before) a Native of Leinster, educated under St. Congall in Bangor Monastery, travelled into Burgundy with twelve others his Companions, (among whom Marian reckons St. Gall) and there founded the Abby of Luxnel, in which the number of Monks was so great, that he was forced to build another at Fontanelle, where part of the Monks were lodged. This Columban, after Twenty Years possession of his Abby, was ejected and banished by the Persecution of Queen Brunchild. During his Exile he travelled thro' the greatest part of France; but at length retired into Italy, whence by the Permission of Aigiluph King of the Longobards (by whom he was honourably entertain'd) he built the Monastery of Bobi near Naples. He wrote (says Sigebert) many laudable and useful things, among which are his Commentaries on the Psalter, A Book against the Arrians, which Jonas commends, calling it a Book of polite Learning: Certain Books of the Paschal Controversy, one of which he dedicated to Arige a French Bishop; Thirteen Homilies, published by Thomas Messingham, out of the Manuscript Copy in the Monastery of Bobi; certain Epistles, some of which were publish'd by Goldast; Also a Poem, which Henry Canis, out of a Manuscript Copy at Freising, first restor'd to its Author; and a Rule for Monks, which he first delivered to the Galls, published in Florilegium Inf. Sancto, from the Manuscript Copy in Bobi: One Book of the daily Pennances of Monks, which is a Manuscript in St. Gall's Library in Switzerland. I have also been inform'd by an Eye Witness, that in France there are extant Two of his Epistles to Pope Boniface, and a modest Apology for himself, being cited to appear before a Provincial Synod of France, touching the time for celebrating Easter, which he observ'd according to the old Stile. He died on the 21st of November, in the Year 615, in Bobi Monastery, which he governed but one Year, and was succeeded by Attala of Burgundy. Crusen would have him of the Order of St. Augustin; Keyner makes him a Benedictine; but it appears from the aforesaid Authors, that he framed a Rule of his own, tho' his Disciples afterwards (says Orderic) for their better Edification, conform'd to the Benedictines, yet so as they allowed the Statutes of their own kind Master Columban.

Chap. 60.

Vit. Columbi
ch. 19.

In Florileg.
Inf. S. S.

Append. tom.
1. Ant. lect.
Hist. Ecclef.
Orderic. Vi-
talis lib. 8.
ad An. 1094.

Monastic.
Augustin.
par. 2. ch. 12.
Apostolat.
Benedict. in Anglia pag.
156.

Coemgen (commonly St. Keivin) a Native also of Leinster, and Contemporary with Columban, lived for the most part at Glendelach, in a Monastery of his own Erection. He writ (says Hanner) one Book of the Origine of the Brittish, another of Hiber and Herimon. He died the 3d of June A. D. 618, aged 120. His Name in Latin signifies Fair begotten, as I gather from the Writer of his Life.

Chron. Hib.

St. Colman, the first Bishop of Dromore, writ a Rule for Monks, mention'd in the Writer of his Life, who says that St. Colman fixed his See upon the River Locha, (as the divine Prophet Columb foretold) where he had a great number of Scholars, serving God according to his own most severe Rule of Discipline, of which he shew'd himself a living Patern. Some say that he receiv'd his Episcopal Dignity from St. Gregory at Rome, as appears from the aforesaid Biographer, and thence I gather that he lived about these times. His Festival is kept the 7th of June.

Cuan, or Cuanach, is the Author of a Book often quoted in the Ulster Annals till 628, but not afterwards, whence I conjecture that he lived about this time, if later, he may be that Cuan, call'd in the said Annals, Cuan, Nephew to Bessan, Scribe Scribe of Trevit, who died in 738, or that Wife Cuan Bishop of Lugmai, who died in 824.

St. Gall lived in 620. By his perswasion, Sigebert King of Westrick, erected a Monastery in Switzerland, call'd St. Gall's Monastery, which became so rich and large, as it occasion'd a Town to be built there, which (says Miræus) is of chief account in Germany. Wallafrid Strabo, Abbot of Riechbow, writ his Life extant in Surrius. Notker writ the same in Verse, part of which was publish'd by Henry Canis. Of St. Gall's Works there is extant his Sermon preached in Stephen's Church in Constance, at the Consecration of John Bishop of Constance, and certain Epistles publish'd by Henry Canis: But whether that Sermon be the same with his Oration of the Form of Church Government, delivered before the said Bishop, and preserved in Manuscript in the Library of St. Gall's Monastery, let others inquire. Possevin reckons them two distinct works. To these we may add his Psalter, which, says Joachim Vadian, was translated into the German Tongue in the Reign of Arnulph, by la Ntcker the Monk, nick-named for his slow speech Balbulus. He died of a Fever at Arbone, aged 95 Years, on the 16th of October, in the Year 635. others say 625, for which see the Life of St. Magnus, written by Theodore Abbot of Kempten. Dempster reckons him among his Country Men; but Wallafrid Strabo, Notker, Peter de Natalibus, Volateran and others vouch him to be an Irish Man.

St Carthag (otherwise called Mochuta) a Native of Kerry, and Scholar of St. Carthag the Elder, was Contemporary with St. Gall. He built the Abby of Katheryn in Fercall, where he was Abbot 40 Years, and had under his care at one time 867 Monks. In his old Age he was ejected by Blathmac, afterwards King of Temoria, and went thence to Lismore, where he fixed his Episcopal See, and built an Hospital for Lepers. He writ a Rule for Monks in the Irish Tongue, yet extant. He died the 14th of May, or according to Tigernac, the 11th of May, 637 or 636. The same Year in the Ulster Annals, we read Ann. 636 Moruda Rathan pausat. And in the Annals of Inisfall, thus in the same Year, The Rest of Mochuta Lismoir.

Jonas, by Trithemius and his Followers, accounted an Irish Man, Abbot of Luxnel in Burgundy, lived in 640. He writ the Life of the Abbot Columban, and the Lives of Attala and Eustachius, both Scholars and Successors of Columbon. To which we may add (besides some Hymns) the Life of the Abbot Bertulph, Successor to Attala in the Government of Bobi Monastery, and in that of Burgan-lejurd. These Lives are printed with Bede's Works, but falsely ascribed to him. He writ the Life of John, the first Abbot and Founder of a Monastery in the Territory of Langres, at the Request of Hunn Abbot of that place, which Peter Rover published at Paris in 1637. 'Tis plain from Surius, that one Jonas writ the Life of St. Wilfran Arch-Bishop of Lenms; but Wilfran dying in 720, it could not be written by our Jonas, and therefore Dempster's Relation of this matter is false.

St. Livin flourished at the same time, a learned Man, and what is far more glorious, a Martyr for the Faith, of whom Massy gives us the following account. St. Livin of Scottish Descent, Arch-Bishop of Ireland, came with three of his Scholars to Gant, the 16th of July Indict 6. and continued there one Month; afterwards he preached Christ at Huesia, and made many Converts; but was murdered by some barbarous Villains the 12th of November, in the same Year. See more of him in John Molan, and Boniface Arch-Bishop of Mons in his Life. He writ an Epistle to Florbert Abbot of St. Bavo's Monastery, and St. Bavo's Epitaph. He is reported also to have written some Homilies, with some other things. His Reliques were translated to Gant in 1007, and carefully preserved a long time. Possevin mistakes his Age. Livin (says he) Arch-Bishop of the Scots and Martyr, who is said to have written some Homilies, lived in 1007.

St. Moling, Arch-Bishop of Fernes, writ in Irish Verse certain Prophecies of the Kings of Ireland, and of their Battels and Deaths to the end of time.

Ultan mac Conubar, Bishop of Ardbraccan in Meath, collected the Miracles of 16. Octob.

Tom. 5. Ant.
168.

Ant. Possev.
Appar. Sac.
Vid. Goldest.
tom. 3. rerum
Aloman.

Hist. Scotie.
lib. 6. num.
557.

Ad Martii 20.

lib. 9. n. 760.

Christ. Mat-
seus Camer.
Chro. lib. 13.
in an. 633.

Natal. S. S.
Belgii ad 12.
Novem.
Bal. Cent. 14.
num. 16.
Phil. Cornin.
Hist. lib. 2.
cap. 4.
In Appar. fac.

Author. vit.
S. Molingi.

of Bridget in one Volumn Alphabetically, whence the Anonymus Author, who celebrated that Virgin's Praises in Verie; in the Prologue of his Poem,

*Learn'd Ultan, Eleran and Animofus, Noted Biographers, with many more fuch,
Have taken pains to trace St. Bridget's Story Thro' all the Stages of her Life to Glory.*

Uffer de Brit.
Ecl. prim.
pag. 1067.

He is fupposed alfo to have written The Life of St. Patrick, and fome Hymns, to foretell the coming of the Engliſh, and the Union of both Kingdoms. He died at Ardraccan the 4th of September, 606. At the ſame time lived another Ultan, Brother to Furfey, mention'd by Bede.

Annal. Tigernac.

St. Brogan, furnamed Cloen, was Contemporary with Ultan, at whoſe Request he writ an Irish Hymn of the Virtues and Miracles of St. Bridget: which John Colgan tranſlated out of Irish into Latin, and publiſh'd in 1647.

Tirechan writ in two Books the Acts of St. Patrick, with this Title, Bishop Tirechan writ theſe things from the Mouth, or Book of his Maſter, Bishop Ultan. Theſe Manuſcripts are yet extant.

Segen (Son of Fiachna) the fifth Abbot of Hy, a pious and learned Man, writ (they ſay) a Rule for Monks, Homilies and Epittles. It appears from the Annals of Tigernac, that Segen Abbot of Hy founded the Church of Recarn in 635. The ſame Year the Ulſter Annals deliver that the Church of Rechran, for it is differently read, was founded. It is in the Iſle Ricina of Ptolomy, now commonly called Rachlin. He died in his Abby the 7th of April, others ſay the 12th of Auguſt, 652. See more in Bede.

lib. 3. cap. 3.

Aidan, a Monk of Hy Abby, by Grant of the moſt Religious King Oſwald, fixed his Epiſcopal See in the Iſle of Lindiſfarn, where he continued almoſt 17 Years, and in that time converted the Northumbrians. This Renowned Doctor died 651, on which Day his Memory is celebrated, being the 12th Day after King Oſwin's Death. They ſay he writ Commentaries on the Scriptures, Homilies and Sermons. Bede gives a large account of his Acts, lib. 3. cap. 3, 5, 14, 15, 16, and 17.

Mat. Weſtm.
ad an. 635.
Eliz Trichiagami Anna.
quos M.S. habeo.
Mart. Rom.
Bal Centu. l.
14. c. 17, &
Poſſevin. Ap-par. ſacra.

Braccan, Abbot of Ardraccan, which was ſo called from him, now a Mannour belonging to the Biſhops of Meath, lived in 650. They ſay he committed to writing his Prophecies of the Wars of Ireland, of the coming and ſucceſs of the Engliſh; which with the Prophecies aſcribed to St. Patrick, were collected into one Volumn, and publiſhed by Walter de Iſlip, or Iſthelip, Treafurer of Ireland, 1317.

St. Canin is ſupposed to have writ on the Pſalms: For among the Books of the Franciſcans of Donegall there are very ancient Fragments on the 119 Pſalm, written (as the Tradition goes) by his own hand. He died at Inifcelter ) or Inifcalter ) in 653.

Annal. Inif-fall.

Finan, Succeſſor to Aidan, in the See of Lindiſfarn, lived in 651, and died in 661. Of his Controverſy with Ronan, about the Obſervation of Eaſter, conſult Bede. He wrote one Book (ſays Bede) of the Ancient Uſage of the Paſſover.

lib. 3. c. 25.

Fiacre, a perſon Nobly deſcended in Ireland, lived at the ſame time. He left his Native Country, affecting a retired Life, and lived an Hermit in a Grove call'd Brodel, which he purchaſed from Pharo Biſhop of Meldis in France, whence in a Table hung up by the Chappel Walls of St. Maturin at Paris, we read,

D. Rothſi Hibern. reſurgens. pag.
246.

By the Reflexion of a Modern Light This boaſts a Father, That a Son does grant, Ireland and Meldis are exceeding Bright. In this both happy, to enjoy a Saint.

He writ, (according to Dempſter) one Book in praiſe of a Monack Life, to his Siſter Syra, which is in Manuſcript at Meldis, and a Book of Meditations. See more of him in Surius and Capgrave, where he is ſaid to have paſſed from hence to a State of Happineſs, the 18th of Auguſt; and to have flouriſhed here about 622.

Hiſt. Ec. Scot.
lib. 6. n. 511.
Ad 36. Aug. nova Legenda Anglie.

Chron. ad
Ann. 636.

Aubertus
Miræus de Collegis
Canonic.
pag. 41. vid.
Porro Flori-legum ad
Ann. 647.
Bed. Martyr.

Lib. de Orig.
Canob.
Bened. in Belgio Eccl.
Hist. lib. 3.
cap. 19.
Hist. Eccl.
Scot. lib. 6.
num. 517.
Catal. præcipuor. SS. Hib.
edit. post.
Extat in (Jo-Rochæ) vin-dicij advers.
Tho Dempst.

Lib de Epif.
German.

Bruschius in libro suo de Episcopis.
In Prologo-graph vitor.
illust. Germ.
in Cosmog.

Fursej leaving his own native Country, sailed for England in 637, and by the Assistance of Sigebert King of the East Saxons, erected an Abby at Cnobersburgh, now called Burgh Castle in Suffolk, where the King, by the perswasion of Fursej, exchanged his Regal Dignity for a Monk's Hood. But afterwards being forced to appear in a Battle against Penda King of the Mercians, to animate by his Presence his old Subjects, holding only a Rod in his hand (says Florence of Worcester) was there slain with his Kinsman Egric, to whom before he had resigned his Kingdom. Fursej, to avoid the tumults of War, retired with Frier Ultan into France, having first entrusted his Abby to the Care of Frier Foilan and the Priests Gobban and Dicull, and there founded Laigny Abby in the Diocess of Paris near the Sein. He died at Peron in Picardy the 16th of January, (on which Day his Memory is celebrated) in the Year 648, or (as others deliver) 653, in which Year the Annals of Buell inform us that Fursej rested at Perone. At his Death he committed the Care of Laigny Abby to St. Eloquius an Irish Man, who perceiving his Scholars at variance among themselves, retired with a few of his friends to Grimac, near the Har. So Miræus of his Vision, which Historians refer to 627: see Bede and John Capgrave in his Life. He writ (according to Dempster) one Book of a Monastick Life. There is extant also, an Irish Prophecy ascribed to Fursej. Arnold Wion, in his Lignum vit. published two Hymns in his Praise.

Manchinan is the Author of a Book (says Henry Fitz Symons) extant in the third Tome of St. Augustin's Works, to whom some falsely ascribe it, Intituled, The wonders of Scripture. I suppose he understands by that Name, Manchin Abbot of Monadwit, who died, according to the Ulster Annals, in 651. The same Year Tigernac notes the repose of Mercene Abbot of Menedrocaid: The Book it self mentions what time Manichæus the Wise Irish Man died; the same, I suppose, with our Manchin. The Names do not very much differ, and the times exactly agree, whence I cannot but think, that 'tis falsely ascribed to Manchin, or Manchinan.

Arbogast, of Irish Extraction, came into Alsace (says Gaspar Brusch) a Stranger and a Hermit, and in a sacred Grove there, almost the same place where Hagenau is situate. He built an Oratory, and constantly served God with fasting and prayer; yet not so taken up with a lazy Devotion as to do nothing else, for he found opportunity to come forth of his Cell, and carefully instructed the Inhabitants in the true knowledge and fear of God, and to supplicate the Father by the Mediation of Christ, reprehending their Idolatrous Practices, and confuting their wild Opinions. Hence he came to be known to King Dagobert, by whose Appointment he succeeded St. Amand in the See of Strasburg in Germany, where having sate 12 Years he died, and lies buried near the Gibbet, in St. Michael's Mount, being desirous to imitate Christ, who suffered without Jerusalem in the place of Execution. See Henry Panhateo and Sebastian Munster. He writ some Homilies, according to Bale, and learned Commentaries on St. Paul's Epistles, according to Eysengreinus. Catalog. test. veritatis.

Aileran writ the Life of Bridget, also the Life of his Contemporary St. Fechin of Fouve or Favour, and an Allegorical Exposition of the Genealogy of Christ, which Sedulius inserted in his Notes on St. Matthew, as he confesses in these words, Here begins the Typical and Tropological knowledge of Christ, explained by St. Aileran the wisest of the Scottish Nation: I had this from Bishop Usher. He seems also to have written the Life of St. Patrick. He died in 665 or 654, in which Year I find noted in the Ulster Annals, The Death of the wise Aileran.

Cummin Fota, or Fada (i. e. long) Son of Fianna, King of Farmuman i. e. West Munster, wrote an Hymn which begins, Celebra Juda Festa Christi Gaudia.

Juda forbear the Sacrifice of Beasts,
And change the Jewish into Christian Feasts.

He died in 661 or 662, aged 72, according to Tigernac, others say 57; and perhaps was the same Cummin, whose Epistle to Legien Abbot of Hy and to others, others, concerning the Paschal Controversy, was published by Arch-Bishop Usher in 1632.

Cummian, or Cummene the White, Abbot of Hy, writ the Virtues of St Columb, as appears from Adamnanus. His Death happen'd in 668 (which with us is 669) as we find in the Ulster Annals, but others say in 664.

Colman, Bishop of Lindisfarn, after that memorable Conference between him and Wilfrid Arch-Bishop of York, concerning the Observation of Easter and shaving the Crown, in which he was foyl'd, in the Judgment of King Oswin, taking the disgrace to heart, abdicated his Bishoprick, and return'd to Ireland, with some English, and all the Irish who accompanied him to England, and spent the remainder of his Life at Inisbofin. He was otherwise, says Harpsfield, very eminent for his Virtue, Works of Mortification and Piety. He also built the Monastery of Mayo, the occasion whereof is delivered by Venerable Bede in these words, "Colman coming to the Isle aforesaid, built a Monastery, and placed in it the Monks whom he brought with him out of both Nations, who not agreeing together, because the Scots were wont in the Summer season, when the Fruits of the Earth were ripe, to disperse themselves and live on the People, in those places where they were acquainted; but in the Winter would return, and enjoy in common those things which the English had taken pains to provide for themselves, Colman sought to remedy this Disention, and travelling far and near, found a proper place in which to build a Monastery, call'd in the Scottish Language Maigio, part of which he purchased from the Lord of the Fee for that purpose, with this Condition in the Deed of Sale, that the Residentiary Monks should offer up Prayers for that Lord who afforded them this commodious Habitation; and forthwith a Monastery was erected, with the assistance of the Lord and the Neighbours, where he placed the English, (among whom was St. Gerald) the Scots being left in Inisbofin. He adds afterwards, Those English lived after the Example of the Ancient Fathers, in great Continency and Sincerity, on the sole labour of their hands. Colman wrote, according to Bale, a Book in Defence of the Quarto-decimani, i. e. Christians who kept the Feast of Easter on the 14th Moon; and if we may credit Dempster, he writ of the Tonsure of Clerks, and an Exhortation to the Inhabitants of the Hebrides. See more of his Voyage, Death and Burial in the Annals.

Cenfala, or Ceafelad, writ some Poems. He is the same, I suppose, with Cenfala the Wise, mentioned by Tigernach, to have died in 678 or 679, and the Ulster Annals have this Note, Cenfala mac Aililla mac Baodan, the Wise pauses An. 678.

Disibod, or Desibode, an Irish Bishop, who in 675, or according to Marian Scot, 674, having abdicated his Bishoprick, travelled to Germany, in company of some other Learned Men, where he erected a Monastery, in a place call'd after him, (says Arnold Wion) Mount Disibod, (now Dijenberg, in the Lower Palatinate) and there died the 8th of July, aged above Fourscore. He wrote (according to Dempster, who says that he saw the Book) of the Proficiency of Monks in their solitary Estate. Hildegard, a Nun, who had her education under the Abbess Jutta in Mount Disibod, wrote his Life. It is to be found in Surius. John Wilson writes him Bishop of Dublin, by what Authority I know not; it is not in the Authors he quotes.

Maildulp, a Learned Monk, lived in 676. He travelled into Britain, and built a little Monastery at Ingleborne, where opening a School, he taught many persons in great esteem afterwards for their Learning. In the same place, called after him Maildulpshurg, now Malmesbury in Wiltshire, a Noble Monastery was built, and richly endowed by the bounty of King Athelstan, and other Benefactors. He writ of the Observation of Easter, of Tonsure and Celibacy. Rules for attaining the Arts, and of Natural Sciences, Hymns, Dialogues, Epistles, with many other things not now extant. He died very old at Malmesbury, and lies interred in his own Monastery. See more of him in William of Malmesbury, of the Kings of England, lib. 1. ch. 2.

St. Canibbert, the Son of a petty King in Ireland, was born, some say at Kells in the Vic. Col. lib.

3. cap. 3.

Hist. Eccles.
Angl. secul.
7. cap. 31.

Centur. 14.
num. 21.
Hist. Eccles.
Scot. lib. 3.
num. 239.

In Annal. ad
Ann. 513.
533, 562.

Hist. Eccles.
Scot. lib. 4.
num. 373.

Ad 8 Julii.
In Angl. suo Martyrol.
Julii 8.

Est. Scrip.
Brit. 14. tit.
26.

lib. 4. cap. 18.

Bal. Cent. 1.
num. 81.Vid. Hen.
Canif. tom. 5.
Antiq. lectionis.
fol. 106. a.Consul. Bed.
Martyr. ad
8. Id. Jul.
Et Thadæum abbatem Scoto-rum: Ratisho-na a Canifio editum, tom.
4. Antiq.
læd.Tom. 4. Ant.
læd.

ad 8. Julii.

Author. de exilio Hie-rosol. five
Hegesippusis sit five quis alius, lib. 5. cap. 15. Isidor. Hispal. orig. lib. 14. cap. 6. Adamnan, vit. Columba, lib. 1. cap. 12. Fed. Hist. Eccl.
lib. 3. cap. 19. & Sur. ex vet. author. ad 8. Maii.Catalog.
num. 63.

in the County of Meath, others say at Kilmacdrick four Miles from Dublin. His Mother was Sabina, who going a Pilgrimage to Rome left her Son in the Abby of Mailrose, where at first he was made Monk, then Prior, which Office he discharged with Honour. Afterwards he was perswaded by Bishop Eala to live with him at Lindisfarn: But affecting a solitary life, he passed over to the Isle of Farn (distant three Leagues in the Sea) where he continued till he was elected Bishop, which Dignity he at last accepted (overcome by the Importunity of King Eggrid and others) and was consecrated in the King's Presence at York, by the Arch-Bishop, on Easter-Day, 684. Bede relates the matter thus, Cuthbert was elected Bishop of Hagulstad, in the Room of Trumbert deposed, but because he liked better to be Bishop of Lindisfarn, where he was more conversant, it was agreed, that Eala being returned to the Government of the See of Hagulstad, to which he was first ordained, Cuthbert should be Bishop of Lindisfarn: But after two Years. continues Bede, he return'd to the Isle of Farn, where he ended his Days the 20th of March, 686. He is said to have written one Book of The Orders of his Church, another The Precepts of a Regular Life, and of certain Monastick Institutes deliver'd by him to the Monks, mention'd in his Life, published first by John Timmouth, and afterwards by John Capgrave. Bede has also writ his Life, both in Prose and Heroick Verses. The Church of Kilmacdrick was consecrated to his Memory, as we learn from the Registry of the Dean of St. Patrick's, Dublin.

St. Kilian, of Irish Extraction, call'd the Apostle of the Franks, was first Monk, then Abbot, but of what Monastery I cannot tell. Leaving Ireland he passed over to Germany with Colman and Totnan his Companions, where he was made Bishop of Wirtzburg. He is reported to have Converted Duke Gosbert and almost all Franconia. This Duke, in his state of Paganism, had married his Brother's Wife Geilane, for which Incest, Kilian (like another John Baptist) justly reproves him, and advises a Divorce, his said Marriage being within the degrees forbidden by the Law of God. The success of which Advice was, that He, with his Companions were dignified with Martyrdom, being put to Death in a most cruel manner, thro' the wicked Devices of that provoked Woman, the 8th. of July, A. D. 689. Their Bones were sometime after decently interr'd by St. Burchard Bishop of that See, whence that Hexastich by Angelhardus Funkius, Doctor of the Decrees, who lived about the Year 1613.

*These be the Men who Taught this Heathenish Town
To banish Idols, and serve God alone,
Whom Geilane Slew and Hid, not out of Shame,
But with their Bodies to Destroy their Name.
Burchard their Reliques here in Marble lays,
That so her Malice mayn't out live their Praise.*

They say he writ against Arrianism, and strange Worship, the latter is mentioned by Possavin, who gives him the Appellative of Scotus, but of which Scotia, besides the Testimony of Marian, Egilward, a Monk of St. Burchard's Monastery, or whoever wrote the Life of St. Kilian, published by Canis, informs us, St. Kilian (says the Author) born of Noble Parentage of the Scottish Race, was most Illustrious on the account of his Divine Graces. Scotia, which is also called Ireland, is an Isle in the main Ocean, of a fruitful Soil; but chiefly of note for its Religious Inhabitants, particularly Columban who Taught in Italy, Gall, in Alemagne, and Kilian in Franconia. The same is extant in Sarius. That ancient Scotland was an Island, will appear to the Inquisitive Reader, from the places cited in the Margent. I pass by the Testimony of the Modern.

Theodore, constituted Arch-Bishop of the Scots (says Sigebert) by Pope Vitalian, wrote a Penitential Book, setting down distinctly an Estimate of the Penance to be inflicted inflicted on any Person, in proportion to the Guilt of his Sin. 'Tis extant in St. Bennet's College Library at Cambridge, whence Sir Henry Spelman published the Heads of each Chapter. This Theodore is called Arch-Bishop of Ireland by the Romish Correctors to Gratian (from a very ancient Manuscript (as they say) of Michael Thomafius Bishop of Lerida:) But by Antonius Augustin, he is more rightly called Theodore of Canterbury, namely, that Person who being consecrated at Rome the 1st of April, 668, was Arch-Bishop for the space of 22 Years, and died the 11th of September, 690. And Dempster owens that he was an English, not a Scottish Bishop. The same is evident from the Chronicle of Reginon, Ann. 576. (tho' there be a fault in the Year) About that time (says the Author) Pope Vitalian sent Bishop Theodore, and the Learned Abbot Adrian into Britain, who planted the Apostle's Doctrine in divers Churches of the English; one of which, viz. Bishop Theodore, in his Book of Penance, doth after a curious manner set down how many Years Penance is due to the committal of each Sin.

Adamnanus (by Trithemius and others called Adamannus) succeeded in the Government of Hy Abby in the room of Failby, deceased A. D. 679, Bede calls him, a good and wise Man, well versed in the Scriptures. He was sent Legate into Britain, to Alfrid King of the Northumbrians, and while he continued there, he rejected the Custom of his Ancestors, and conform'd to the true time for the Observation of Easter. "And after his return home (says Bede) he endeavoured, "but without success, to bring over to the acknowledgment of the Truth, of which he "made a sincere Profession himself, those of his own Monastery of Hy: He there- "fore sailed for Ireland, and preaching to the Irish, and with modest Exhortation, "declaring the lawful time for celebrating Easter, he brought them all over to the "Catholick Unity, except those in subjection to the Monastery of Hy, by con- "vincing them of their Error, and demonstrating to them the lawful time "for the Observation of Easter, which having kept there, according to the Can- "non, he returned home, and in his Discourses earnestly pressed those of Hy to "conform in this particular to the Catholick Custom, without being able to pre- "vail; so it happen'd that within less than a Year he died. Adamnanus following the Example of St Cainic and Cuiinmian, wrote the Life of St. Columb in 3 Books, which were published by Canisius at Ingolstadt, out of the Manuscript in Windberg Monastery, A. D. 1604. Also the Life of St. Bathild Wife to Clovis King of the Franks (as I am inform'd by an excellent Irish Antiquary Stephen White) extant in St. Arnuph's Library, in the Benedictine's College at Metz in Lorraine. Also several Poems, and a Description of the holy Land, as the same was related to him by Arculph, a French Bishop, published by James Gretser at Ingolstadt, A. D. 1619. But Vossius gathers from the aforesaid Chapter in Bede, that Arculph rather was the Author. These be Bede's words. "Adamnanus wrote a very useful Book of the Holy Land, the Author of which "was Arculpha French Bishop, by his Information and Discourses, who travelled to Je- "rusalem on purpose to visit those Holy Places, and having viewed the whole Land of "Promise, he visited Damascus, Constantinople, Alexandria, and many Islands in the Sea, "whence returning to his Native Country by Ship, he was carried, thro' the violence "of a Tempest, to the British Shore, and at length came to that Servant of Christ before "mentioned Adamnanus, who perceiving him to be learned in the Scriptures, and in the "knowledge of the Holy Land, frankly entertain'd him, and most gladly receiv'd his "Information; so that all things whatever he told him that he had seen in the "holy Land worthy his Remembrance, he committed to writing, and composed "a Work, as I said, very useful; but chiefly for those, who being remote from "those place where the Patriarchs and Apostles sojourn'd, know only so much of those "things as they learn by Books. Adamnanus presented King Alfrid with this Book, "by whose bounty it came to be read of others: The Writer also being honoured "by him with many Presents, returned to his own Country: Out of whose Writ- "ings to borrow some things, and insert them in this our History, will, I sup- "pose, be advantageous to the Reader. There are extant likewise in the old Book of Canons, in the Cottonian Library, The Canons of Adamnanus, the first of which is as follows, It is lawful to eat Sea Animals brought to the Shore dead, tho' we Distinc. 82.

cap. 5.

Hist. Eccl.
Scot. lib. 18.
num. 1106.

Hist. Gent.
Angl. lib. 5.
cap. 16.

Ibid.

De Histor.
Latin. lib. 2.
cap. 27.

know

Annal. Ulton.

know not the occasion of their death, unless they be putrid and stink. He is said also to have writ (besides some Epistles) a Book concerning the true Passover, or, as it is in the Manuscript Chronicle, in St. Edmondsbury's Monastery, in the keeping of Sir Simon d'Ews, against those who kept the Feast of Easter at an unlawful time, and a Rule for Monks. He died the 23d of September, some say October, aged 74, others say 80. His Bones were conveyed into Ireland in 727, and after three Years translated to the Monastery of Hy, in October, 730.

Oengus mac Tiprail, Priest (some say Abbot) of Chiainsfata Boetan, writ an Hymn, which begins, Martine te deprecor. At what time Adamnanus visited the Cells of Columb in Ireland: That Visitation fell out in 691; but Oengus lived to 745, when we find by the Ulster Annals he died.

Chelian, or Cælan his Contemporary (as I think) a Monk of the Abby of Iniskeltra, in the Diocese of Killaloe, wrote the Life of St. Bridget in Verse, which John Colgan published at Louvain in 1637.

CHAP. IV.

Writers of the Eighth Century.

Tom. 5. conc.
a Severino
Binio edit.
Hence Bale,
after his usual manner, concludes that Sedul. wrote the Statut. of that Council
Cent. 14. p.
28.
Annal. Tiger.

Sedulius the Younger was present at a Council held at Rome, by Pope Gregory II. the 5th of April, A. D. 724, against unlawful Marriages (together with Hergust a Bishop of the Scottish Picts) and thus subscribed the Decree, 'Sedulius Bishop of Britain, of Scottish Descent, hath subscribed this Constitution, promulgated by us. He left to Posterity Notes on St. Matthew's Gospel, which are in Manuscript at Paris. The Commentaries on the greater Volume of Priscian, on the 2d Edition of Donatus; and Eutichius his Logick are ascribed to him or Sedulius the latter, who lived in 818.

Colman Vamach (called the Scribe of Armagh) wrote the Life of St. Patrick. He died in 724 or 725.

Cuchumne, the Author of an Hymn in praise of the Virgin Mary, which begins, Cantemus in omni die. He died in 746. The same Year the Death of Cuchumne the Wise is recorded in the Ulster Annals.

The same year in the Ulster Anna.
Paulatio
Comui reli-giosi in Droes.

St. Coman wrote a Rule for Monks. He died at Ross, or Roscoman in Conaught, of which place he was Bishop in 747 or 746. The same Year we read in the Annals of Buell, That Coman of Ross, a very Devout Man, rested in Christ. The Author of the Ulster Annals tells us, that the Law of Coman and Aodan his Successor, was received in three parts of Conaught in 771, where by the Law he means (I suppose) the Rules and Constitutions published with their Approbation. He was not that Coman the Scholar of S. Finan of Clonard, Founder of a Monastery at Ross, called after him Rosscoman, for the times widely differ, unless we can imagine what is scarce credible, that he lived above 200 Years.

Trit. de vir.
Illust. Ord.
Bened. l. 4.
c. 190. & l.
3. c. 267.
Rerum Mo-
gunt. lib. 3.
Demp. Hist.
Eccle. Scot. l.
1. p. 31.

Albain, otherwise Witta, White and Whitane, flourished in 742. He left Ireland (says Trithemius) and preached the Gospel to Thuringia, where he became Bishop of Frisslar, or rather Buraburge near Frisslar, which See was united to that of Paderborne, in 744. as appears from Serarius, where also his Festival is kept the 26th of October. He is said to have writ a Book to the People of Düringen.

Ciaran, or Kiáran of Belaigduin, writ St. Patrick's Life. He died the 4th of June, 778, others say 770.

Virgil descended of an Ancient and Honourable Family in Ireland, left his Native Country, and passed over to France, where he spent 2 Years in the Court of King Pepin, by whom he was kindly entertain'd for his learning and sweetness of behaviour. He was then sent by the King to Otilo Duke of Bavaria, to be preferr'd to the Bishoprick of Saltzburg, and after two Years stay in that that Province, he received Consecration the 15th of June, 767, and the same Year laid the Foundation of the New Church at Saltzburg, which being finished in the 13th Year following, he dedicated it to the Honour of St. Rupert, whose Bones at that time he translated thither. This Virgil and Sidonius wrote a Letter to Pope Zachary against Boniface Arch-Bishop of Mentz. He is also the reputed Writer of the Glossary quoted by Melchior Goldast, in his Notes on Columban, and a Discourse of the Antipodes, which he most truly held, tho' against the receiv'd Opinion of the Ancients, who maintain'd the contrary, imagining the Earth to be a Plain, and the Heaven in some part join'd to it : Which Opinion is thus expressed by Avitus Alcinus, lib. 1. in Genesim. Ergo ubi transmissis mundi caput incipit Indis, Quo perhibent terram confinia jungere celo, Locus inaccessa cunctis mortalibus arce Permanet. He died the 27th of November, 785, or 784, a Man of great Piety, a Philosopher and Mathematician. See Canisius, Aventin, and Velfer, of his Controversy with Boniface about the Antipodes, in which cause our Virgil was undeservedly a great Sufferer. He was a length Canonized by Gregory IX. in 1233.

Bishop Aneas, or Engus, Son of Oengobhan, about the close of this Century, writ a Martyrology in Irish Verse, yet extant.

Dicuil, or Dicul, writ a Geometrical account of the Provinces of the Earth, according to the Authority of those (as himself speaks) whom St. Theodosius the Emperor had sent to measure the same, which is yet extant in Manuscript. He also writ of the Ten Questions in the Art of Grammar. From his own words we gather that he was an Irish Man. About our Irish Isle (says he) there are many little ones, and others yet less. I can't be positive when he writ, yet in all probability he lived and writ about the close of this Century.

CHAP. VI.

The Writers of the Ninth Century.

Albin, a Native of Ireland, by reason of the Wars there, travelled, in Company with Clement, to France, where his Learning and other Endowments made him highly favoured by Charles the Great. This Charles founded two Academies, one at Paris in France, the other at Pavia in Italy, in the Government of which he placed these two Irish Men : Clement (whom Bede calls Claud Clement) at Paris, and Albin at Pavia. Polydore Virgil relates the matter thus, " Alcuin (says he) an English Man, residing in France, taught Humanity at Paris, by whose advice Charles the Great built a School at Paris and another at Pavia in Italy, 'Tis reported that in 792, two Monks being brought over to France from Ireland (or as some will, from Scotland) boasted that they had Wisdom to sell, but instead of other reward, asked only Meat and Clothing; and one of them, namely Clement, was kept by Charles at Paris, and instructed the Youth of that City; but the other, by his Command, travelled to Italy and taught at Pavia. Norker Balbulus, an old Monk of Saint Gall's Convent, does, in my opinion, clear that doubt touching the Native Country of Clement and Albin, in his Book of the Affairs of Charles the Great, published out of the Bavarian Manuscript, by Canisius, in 1601. " The Great Creator of all things (says he) who disposes of Times and Kingdoms, having broken to pieces the Iron or earthly Feet of that strange Statue among the Romans, raised the Golden Head of one no less wonderful among the Franks, by the Illustrious Charles, in the beginning of whose Reign, Learning being at low ebb almost quite lost in these Western parts, it happened that two Scots of Ireland, landed with some Brittish Merchants on the Coast of France, incomparably skill'd in Humane and Divine Litterature, about whom, when the People flocked, expecting to purchase

Ann. 782.

lib. 5. Hist. Ang.

Tom. 1. Ant.

Dan. ch. 2.

"chafe somewhat, they told them that if any were desirous of Wisdom they might buy of them, for they had it to sell, which they offer'd to Sale, perceiving the People to undervalue what they might have without Money or Price, thereby to provoke them to buy Wisdom with other things, or as the event shewed by such a Declaration, to raise their wonder and astonishment: In fine they continued this way so long, till these matters were brought to the Ears of King Charles, a great and ardent Lover of Wisdom; who demanding of them, being brought into his Presence, whether their knowledge in Wisdom were so extraordinary as reported, was answer'd by them, that they had Wisdom, and were ready in God's Name to impart the same to as many as were worthy of it. The King then inquired of them what they asked to teach it, who Answered, we look for nothing more than a convenient Apartment, and ingenious Souls, with Meat and Clothing, without which 'tis impossible to perform a Pilgrimage: At which the King being very glad, at first entertain'd them as Domesticks, till being employed in warlike Expeditions abroad, he commanded the One, named Clement, to reside in France, to whose care he committed the Youth of all Ranks, both Gentle and Simple, and furnish'd them with suitable accommodations; but the other he sent to Italy, and bestowed on him the Monastery of St. Augustin, near the City Pavia, to instruct as many as resorted thither to hear him. Alcuin, an English Man, being inform'd how graciously the most Religious King Charles entertain'd Wise Men, took Ship and came to him. Thus far this ancient Author, as I find him mentioned in Vincentius. Some Writers confound this Albin and Alcuin the English Man. See more of him in D. Rothens. Some of his Epistles are extant, and, as I think, certain Rhetorical Rules, which are commonly ascribed to Albinus Flaccus, or Alcuin. Hoveden says, that Albin writ against the Decree of the second Nicene Council, which establish'd Image Worship in 792, and his words relating to this matter, are used by Matthew Paris in 793. But I think that Work is rightly ascrib'd by Sir Henry Spelman, to Alcuin, otherwise called Albinus Flaccus. Our Albin died in St. Augustin's Monastery at Pavia, says Nicholas Crusenius, Monastic. Augustin, par. 2. cap. 13.

Clement, Albin's Colleague, of whom I have spoken already, in the account of Albin, writ some Grammatical Pieces, nor does he seem to be another Clement, who is called, The Writer of the Life of Charles the Great, in the Catalogue of Authors, whose Testimonies are produced by Wolfgangus Lazius, in his Commentaries of the Roman Republick. Bede is the first that I can learn, who call'd him Claud Clement, and confounds him, both with Claud to be spoken of presently, and with Clement Bishop of Auxerre. Among his Works are reckon'd A Summary, and a Book of the Agreement of the Evangelists, which, perhaps with more truth, may be ascrib'd to Clement Canon of Lanthony, for whom consult Bede. Lupoldus Bebenburgius, who lived in 1340, makes mention of our Clement. The French (says he) may compare with the Romans and Athenians, by means of Clement an Irish-Man. Some of his Writings, Buchanan says, were extant in his time. Rerum Scotic. sub. 65. Reg.

Claude, a Pious and Learned Man, (whom Trithemius and his Followers mistake for a Scholar of Bede) lived in 815, and about that time writ a Commentary on St. Matthew, as appears from the Preface, in which he mentions the Expedition of the Emperour Lewis the Pious against the Normans. They say he writ Commentaries on St. Paul's Epistles, the Pentateuch, the Books of Joshua, Judges, Ruth, and the Psalms; also Historical Memoirs, a Summary, Homilies, and The Agreement of the Exangelists, Possevin says that Claud's Commentary on St. Paul's Epistles was extant in Manuscript at Cassinon, under the name of Claud Bishop of Auxerre, in the Character of the Longobards, in the 5th Press on the left. But certainly there is no mention of Claud in the Catalogue of the Bishops of Auxerre, publish'd by Demochares. There is printed at Paris, A. D. 1542, a Discourse on St. Paul's Epistle to the Galatians, dedicated to the Abbot Drafteran, under the Title of Claud Bishop of Auxerre, or as there is more reason to conjecture, Bishop of Turin. Of his Summary, and Agreement of the Evangelists, see before in Clement.

Dungall

Specul. Hist.
l. 23. c. 173.
Brig. Thaumaturg. &
Hib. refurg.
vid. Usserii
pref. in vet.
Epist. Hiber.
Syllog. &
Buchan. Rer.
Scot. l. 5. sub.
Reg. 65.
Concil. Brit.
tom. 1. p. 306.

Vid Prefat.
supracitat.
Syllog.

Scrip. Britan.
Cent. 14. n.
33. vid. Ant.
Democ. Cat.
Antiss. Episc.
where that Clement appears to be more ancient than ours.
Cent. 3. l. 2.
lib. de zelo
vet. Princip.
Germania.

De vit. Illust.
Ord. Benedi.
lib. 2. cap. 28.

Appar. facr.
tom. 2. vid.
etiam Arnol.
Wion. Additament. ad lignum vite.

Dungal wrote a Book against Claud Bishop of Turin, in defence of Image Worship, extant in Bibliotheca Patrum, and dedicates the same to the Emperor Lewis the Pious and his Son Lotharius Augustus. He also writ some Epistles yet extant in Manuscript, one of which is written to Alcuin. It is evident that tho' he lived in France, he was no French Man, but a Foreigner, and if I may take the liberty to guess, I cannot but conclude from his very Name that he was an Irish Man. He lived in 820. See Colgan's Acts of the Irish Saints, ad 5 Febr. p. 2511.

Donagh, leaving his Native Soil, together with his Colleague Andrew, travelled thro' France and Italy, and was for sometime an Hermit in Tuscany, till elected Bishop of Fiesole, which Office, by reason of his great abilities, he discharged with Honour. He writ (as it is reported) His own Travels, The Office of his Church, and Commentaries on the Holy Scriptures. An account of his Life is said to be extant in Manuscript in the Library of the Preaching Friars of Rome. His Festival is kept the 22d of October. Some confound him with Donatus the Grammarian. He flourish'd in 840.

Andrew, Arch-Deacon of Fiesol, a faithful Friend of Donatus, writ The Benefit of Penance, the Fruits of Charity, to his Brethren Cloathed by him, the Acts of his Master Donatus and Moral Sayings. Dempster is the only Author I have for the Books ascribed to Donagh and this Andrew.

About the same time lived the Writer of the Life of St. Findan, Son of a Leinster Prince, published by Melchior Goldast. When Ireland was first infested by the Danes, in 795, this Findan was taken Prisoner by them, but narrowly escaping their hands, went to Rome, and thence to Germany, where he lived 27 Years; first an Hermit, then Abbot of Rickbow, of which he was Founder, and where he died A. D. 827. See more of him in his Life written by his Companion and Country Man.

Feidleimid (Son of Crinbain) was King of Munster, and lived in 840. His Works, with the Titles of them are lost. The Ulster Annals mentioning his Death, call him the Best of the Scots, a Scribe, and an Anchorite. He is probably the same Feidleimid whom Cambrensis calls King of Ireland, in whose time he says, the Norwegians, under the conduct of Turgesius, conquer'd Ireland.

Patrick, the Abbot (of Armagh, says Colgan) writ a Book of Homilies, and some Epistles to the Irish. To him some refer the Invention of the Cave called St. Patrick's Purgatory in Lough Dirg. He lived about 845, and died, as they say, on St. Bartholomew's Day, in the Convent of Glastenbury in England. I find in the Roman Martyrology, a Commemoration of the Abbot Patrick, on the 24th of August, but celebrated at Nevers, not Glastenbury. The same Day, Andrew Saussai makes mention of St. Patrick an Hermit and Confessor at Nevers, of honourable Descent; but more illustrious for his Sanctity, Integrity, and Christian Vertues, &c. whence 'tis plain he was not the same with our Patrick. Saussai further adds in his Supplement to his Martyrology, on the 1st of November, Nevers the Birth place of St. Patrick the Martyr, Slain in the Precinct of his Bishoprick, in Defence of the Truth. He seems not to be the same with the former Patrick of Nevers.

Jehn Erigena, e. i. a Native of Ireland, for Ireland is call'd by the Inhabitants Erin, A Man of a searching Wit, and great Eloquence, who from his Infancy applied himself to Letters in his own Country: In his younger days he travelled to France to Charles the Bald: And I am mistaken if Heric the Monk of Axerre, in a Letter to the said Charles, does not mean this same Person among many others, where he says, Why do I speak of Ireland, that whole Nation almost despising the danger of the Sea resort to our Coasts with a numerous train of Philosophers, of whom the more famous abdicating their native Soyl, account themselves happy under your Favour, as the Servants of the wise Solomon.

In 884, he came into England, at the Request of King Alphred, who employed him some Years after for the Restoration of Learning at Oxford. We learn from * Isaack Wake that the Faces of Alphred, or Alfred, and Erigena, being very ancient par. 2. tom. 4.

Dempst. Hist. Eccl. Scot. li. 4. n. 366.

Supra Minervam.

Id. l. i. n. 31.

Tom. 1. Script. vet. Alamann. pag. 318.

A. D. 846.

De Mirabil. Hib. distincti. 3. cap. 37.

Stanisburst. Defer. Hib. e. 7. Ranulphi Higden. Polycron. lib. 4. cap. 4. Bal. Cent. i. n. 44. in append. Hen. Knighton Chro. l. 2. In Martyrol. Gallican.

Gul. Malmesbur. l. 3. de Gest. reg. Angl. cap. 4. vid. Porro. Rog. Hoved.

Jo. Cays in his Antiquities of Cambridge, says, that he was pag. 267. and first a Cantabrigian and a Scholar of Bede. lib. 1. pag. 211. * In Rege Platonico. Camden. Britan. edit. Lond. 1607, Harpsfeld Hist. Eccl. Angl. secul. 9. cap. 5.

Workmanship, are still preserved there as Monuments of Antiquity. Of this matter thus the Annals of the new Convent of Winchester, as I find them quoted by Cambden and Harpsfeild, for I never saw them "In the Year of Redemption 886, being the second Year after St. Grimbald's coming into England, the University began at Oxford, in which the first Regents and Readers in Divinity were the Abbot St. Neoth, a learned Man, and St. Grimbald, a Man of excellent understanding in the knowledge of Scripture. The Monk Affer, a famous Linguist, was Humanity Professor; John, a Monk of the Church of St. David's, Professor of Logick, Musick and Arithmetick; John Erigena a Monk, Companion to St. Grimbald, a penetrating Wit, and universal Scholar, first taught Geometry and Astronomy, in the presence of the ever glorious and invincible King Alfred, whose Memory will last for ever precious among the Clergy and Laity of his Kingdom, where this most prudent King Alfred published a Decree to this effect, that his Nobles should cause their Sons, or if they had no Sons, then their Servants who were of ingenious dispositions, to apply themselves to Learning. Our Irish Man (whom some confound with John Mailross, a Scholar of Bede, and others with John of St. David's) after three Years or thereabouts, retired to Malmesbury Abby, to avoid the Discord arisen between Grimbald and his Companions, whom he brought thither, and the old Scholars whom he found there, (for which consult Affer) where, says William of Malmesbury, he died of wounds he received from his Scholars, and is there esteemed a Martyr. He has a Tomb there, on the left side of the Altar, with an Inscription to this purpose,

The Sophist John lies in this Tomb Much Learning coucht in little Room,

*His merit such, to him was given,
To wear a Martyr's Crown in Heaven.*

De Alphred.
rebus Gestis
ad an. 886.
vid. etiam
Polychron. l.
5. cap. 32.

A. D. 1586.

In 2. Edit.
Catal. S. S.
Hib.
vid Anastas.
Bibl.
Vid. Jo. Trit.
de Scrip. Eccl.
& Gul. Eysensengen. Cat.
testium veritatis & Polychronic.
Ran. Higden,

Usser Epist.
Hib. recens.
pag. 135.

Lib. 5. c. 32.
de Luminar.
Eccl. lib. 3.

lib. 1. n. 64. &
lib. 9. n. 704.

ad ann. 892.

His Memory is celebrated the 10th of November, as appears from the Roman Martyrology, published by command of Pope Gregory XIII. at Antwerp. We are told by Henry Fitz Simons, that Baronius blotted him out of the Martyrology, &c. but he adds there was an Apology ready for him, with the Approbation of divers Popes, Cardinals and Doctors; but we have not yet seen it. He writ of the only Predestination; he translated from the Greek into Latin, The Book of Dionysius the Areopagite, concerning the Heavenly Hierarchy, and Church Hierarchy of Divine Names and Mystical Theology, which Translation he dedicated to Charles the Bald (Son of Lewis the Emperor.) Bale says further that he translated Aristotle's Morals concerning the Secrets of Secrets, or the right Government of Princes, into Chaldee, Arabic and Latin; and that he writ of the immaculate Mysteries of the Faith against Barbarians, Of Christ's Body and Blood, Paraphrastical Tomes for the Instruction of Youth, the Opinions of Philosophers, Verses, Epistles and Homilies, to which some add a Book on the Canons of Azachel, which perhaps more truly belongs to John Mailross. Those Excerpta among the Writings of Macrobius, touching the Difference and Agreement of the Greek and Latin Syntax, are accounted his, which conclude with this Advertisement; Here ends the Collection out of Ambrose Macrobius Theodosius, which John made for the better understanding the Greek Rules. In Thuanus his Library at Paris (as I have heard) there are two Books of the Distribution of Nature ascribed to John. R. Higden mentions the same Work in his Polychronicon, and Honorius (I suppose) understands the same, when he says John Scotus, another Chrysostome, a famous Scripturist, writ in a very elegant stile, of the Nature of all things. Dempster, in his Church History of Scotland, labours in vain to banish our John from his native Soyl, first under the name of John Airigina, then of St. John the Master, or Mas-John the Scot.

Suibny, Son of Mailchunai, an Anchorite of Clonmacnoise, called in the Ulster Annals, the Best Scribe; died in 891. I suppose he was that Suisneh, whom Florence of Worcester calls the most Learned Doctor of the Scots, and says he died in 892. His Works with the Titles are lost. Beside him many learned Irish Men were called Scribes, as will appear from the Irish Histories, as Cormac, Son of Culinan, and Cele, of whom the Ulster Annals speak thus, In the Year 928,

Cele

Cele Comorban of Congal, Scribe, Anchorite, and Apostolick Doctor of all Ireland, died in his Pilgrimage at Rome, the 14th of September, in the 59th Year of his Age.

CHAP. VI.

Writers of the Tenth Century.

Cormac, Son of Culinan, who in 901 was declared Successor to Finan King of Cashel, who was slain by the Treachery of his Followers. He derived his Pedigree from Engus, the 1st Casselian King that embraced Christianity. He erected the Cathedral of Cashel, and there exercised the Office of a Bishop. He was knowing in the Irish Antiquities, and writ the History called Psalter Cashel. See more of him in the Antiquities, ch. 21.

Probus, an Irish Man, seems to have lived in these times. He writ the Life of St. Patrick in two Books, which may be found in the 3d Tome of Bede's Works, to whom they are falsely ascribed; as appears in the end of the 2d Book, where the Author discovers his Name in these words, Lo here, Brother Paulinus, you receive from me, poor Probus, the Pledge you requested of our Brotherhood, wherein according to your desire, I have written some account of our most Holy Father Bishop Patrick, &c. Whether he be Probus the Grammarian, whom some make the Author of an ancient Commentary on Juvenal, and whom Caspar Barthius (out of Lupus of Ferrara's Epistles) affirms to have lived about 840, and in a Satyr of his composition, endeavoured to make appear, that Christ suffered for the Wise Pagans, let others enquire. He seems to be another person, and of a later Age: John Colgan supposes Paulinus, to whom Probus writes the Acts of St. Patrick, to be the same with Mel Paulin, Bishop and Abbot of Inden, who died, according to the Annals of the four Masters, in 920.

Adversar. l.
48. c. 16.

CHAP. VII.

Writers of the Eleventh Century.

ÆD, the Bearded Priest (so called from his wearing a very long Beard) lived in this Century, and iscommonly reckon'd among the Irish Writers; but I find no mention of what he writ. See the Antiquities, ch. 21.

Dubdalehe, Reader of Divinity three Years at Armagh, afterwards Arch Bishop of that See, writ certain Annals of Ireland, which are quoted by the by the Author of the Ulster Annals. He died the 1st of September, 1064, or 1065.

Annal. Ulster.

Marian, commonly called Marianus Scotus, a Chronologer of the first Rank, born in 1028, as he writes of himself, the same Year in his universal Chronicle, which he brings down to 1083: The same is continued by Dodechin Abbot of St. Disibod, to 1200, the time he lived in. He turn'd Monk, or as himself speaks, retired from the World in 1052, and in 1056 chang'd the Air and Soyl of Ireland for that of Germany; where for near three Years he Cloystered himself up in St. Martin's Convent at Cologne; then for the space of ten Years he lived shut up in the Convent of Fuld, and in the mean while, to wit in 1059, was ordain'd Priest. At length in 1069, he went to Mentz, and was again shut up till he died * in 1086, aged 58, and lies buried in St. Martin's Convent, others say in St. Peter's * Nor without an opinion of Saintship, says Trithemius, de Script. Eccles.

Script. Brit.
cent. 14. n. 41.

St. Peter's Church, without the City. He writ, according to Bale, The Harmony of the Evangelists, Of the Universal Account, Amendments to Dionysius, Of the great Paschal Cycle, Algorism, A Breviary on St. Luke, Annotations on the Scripture, Letters of Exhortation, Commentaries on the Psalms, and a Notitia of both Empires.

Ann. Ulton.

Tigernach, an Irish Antiquary, writ the Annals of Ireland to 1088, as appears from an old Author who continued the same, both which I have in Manuscript. I cannot but take him for Tigernach ô Broin, an Erenach of Clonmacnoife, who died the same Year, for the time and their names agree. See the Antiquities, ch.

Ann. Ulton.

Melisa ô Suir, a Munster Man, writ some Philosophical Works, which rendred him famous to Posterity. He died in 1099 or 1098, according to the Ulster Annals.

CHAP. VIII.

Writers of the Twelfth Century..

In vet. Epif.
Hib. Syllog.

Gille, or Gillebert, Bishop of Limerick, and the Pope's Legate, writ some Epistles, and a Book of the State of the Church, published by Arch-Bishop Usher.

Script. Brit.
Cent. 14.
leG. 84.

Ann. Ulton.

In Annal.
M. S. S.

Celsus, or Celestin, and Cellac mac Ad mac Melisa, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, writ a Theological Summary, lately published, as I am inform'd at Vienna. Bale says that he writ divers Letters to Malachias, and certain Constitutions, perhaps the same agreed on in that famous Synod held in the Land of Angus in 1111 and 1112. Henry of Marleborough mentions a great Council of Bishops and all the Nobles of Ireland, held the same Year, but falsly asserts, that it was called by Maurice mac Loghlin King of Ireland; for that Maurice did not begin his Reign before 1157, whence it rather appears to be held under Moriertach ô Brien King of Ireland.

lib. 2. cap. 40.

Malachy ô Mongair, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, writ many Epistles to St. Bernard, a Book of General Constitutions, Of the Laws of Celibacy, Of Traditions, The Life of St. Cuthbert, to David King of Scots, and a Prophecy of the Popes of Rome, publish'd by Arnold Wion, in his Lignum vite.

Sanctilogium
M. S. in Bib.
Cotton.
Specul. Hist.
lib. 27. c. 88.

Tundal, or Tungal, born either at Cashel or Cork in Munster, about 1159. He fell into an Extasy at Cork, for the space of three Days, and lay'd stretcht out as if he were dead, at length rising up, he told those present, the wonderful things he had seen. Some say that he committed his Visions to writing; but it seems rather, that some one then present wrote them from his Relation, which is to be seen in 7. Timmouth and Vincentius. They are also extant in Manuscript in the University Library at Oxford.

Thad. Dowl.
Annal. Hiber.
M. S. S.

Congan, a Cistercian Monk, afterwards Abbot (perhaps of Suir) lived in 1150. They say he writ the Life of Malachy Arch-Bishop of Armagh, and some Epistles to St. Bernard. By his means and perswasion, Bernard also writ the Life of St. Malachy, as appears from these words in the end of the Preface, "Lastly in compliance with your Commands, my Reverend Brother and sweet Friend Abbot Congan, and as you write from Ireland, that 'tis the request of the whole Church, in like Obedience to them, especially since they require a plain History without the Embellishments of Eloquence, I will endeavour that it be clear, not muddie; instructive, not tedious. I am satisfied of the truth of the Story, having receiv'd my Information from you, whom I cannot suspect to relate any thing of which you had not certain knowledge. Besides which he writ the Acts of St. Bernard. Murry, or Marian ô German, Abbot of Knock near Louth, in 1171, published A Supplement to the Martyrology of Aeneas. See more of him among the Writers of the 8th Age.

Maurice Regan, Servant and Interpreter to Dermot, Son of Murchard, King of Leinster, lived in 1171. He writ very carefully An History of the Affairs of Ireland land, during his own time, which a Friend of his translated into French Verse, and Sir George Carew, Knight, President of Munster, in the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, afterwards Earl of Tottness, turn'd them into English.

Concubran writ three Books containing the Life of St. Moninna, or St. Modwen a Virgin, in the close of which Work he thus discovers his Name. By the Lord, I beseech you, whoever reads and hears these Miracles, to intercede in pious Oraisns for me Concubran, a most wretched Servant of the Lord, oppress'd with the weight and burthen of Sin. He also writ two Hymns in her Praise Alphabetically. But there being two Saints of that name, the one commonly call'd Darerca, who died at Kilslew, or Kilslewcuilin, in the County of Armagh, the 6th of July, 518; the other much younger, who lived about 640; Concubran confounds the Lives of these two. The Original is in the Cottonian Library, whence I have my Copy, the beginning of which is written by a late hand, and is falsely ascribed to Geoffry of Boston, a Monk, who afterwards writ on the same subject. However the Ancient Character of the Original shews its Author to have lived before the end of the 12th Age.

Eugene, Bishop of Ardmore, Suffragan to the Arch-Bishop of Cashel, writ the Life of St. Cuthbert, as appears from a Manuscript, touching the Birth and Rise of the said Cuthbert, taken out of the Irish Histories, in the Cottonian Library: The Author of which falsely calls him Bishop of Hardimore, but adds that the holy Bishop Declan rested in that See; whence we may easily detect the Error, for Declan was the first Bishop of Ardmore: Eugene lived in 1174.

Annal. Ulton.
M. S. aliis
516.

CH A H. IX.

The Writers of the Thirteenth Century.

Matthew Heney, or ð Heney, Arch-Bishop of Cashel, and the Pope's Legat in Ireland, lived in the beginning of this Century. He writ among other things, The Life of St. Cathbert Bishop of Lindisfarn, some Epistles to Celestine III. and Innocent III.

The Author of the first part of the Chronicles of Inisfall, in the County of Kerry, lived in 1215. He gives a short account of Universal History till 430, or thereabouts; but from thence he treats very diligently of the Affairs of Ireland, to his own time. My Manuscript Copy of these Annals is continued by another hand to 1320.

Cornelius lived about 1230. He published a Chronicle, which was extant in the time of Hector Boethius, (who flourished in 1526) for he owns that he borrowed many things out of it. Dempster pretends that he was call'd an Irish Man, because born (as he says) in the Highlands of Scotland, which sort of Men were always called Irish.

Joannes à Sacro Bosco, or John Holy Oak, an eminent Philosopher and Mathematician, lived in 1230. Bale, out of Leland, makes him an English Man, born at Halifax in Yorkshire, and from thence so called. But this is an ill derivation, for Haly Fax signifies Holy Hair, not Holy Oak. Dempster makes him a Scot. Stanhurst and others will have him to be an Irish Man, born at Holy Wood in the County of Dublin. He writ a noble Work of the Sphere, commented on by many learned Men, also of Algorism, Of the Ecclesiastical account of the Year, A Breviary of the Law, and several other thing. He died at Paris (some say) in 1235. Others makes him longer liv'd, and lies buried there, in the Cloyster of the Convent of St. Maturine (otherwise called the Church of the H. Trinity, for the Redemption of Prisoners) in a Tomb with a Sphere engraved thereon.

Peter, surnamed Hibernicus, an eminent Philosopher and Divine, lived at Naples in Italy in 1240, and probably died there. He was Master to Thomas Aquinas in Philosophical Studies, and writ Quodlibets in Divinity. The Emperor Frederic II.

Scot. Hist. vid. porro. Bal.
cent. 54. n.
88. & Dempf.
Hist. Eccl. Sc.
1. 3. n. 317.

Script. Brit.
cent. 6. n. 93.
Consul. porro Cambd. Brit.
in Brigant.
Hist. Eccl.
Scot. 1. 17.
n. 1038.
Delicrip. Hib.

Wad. Annal.
Minor. ad an.
1270. n. 28.
lib. 3. c. 10.

Buclensis.

Luc. Wadd.
tom. 2. Annal.
Minor. ad an.
1269 & 1270.
Mart. Franc.

lib. 2. c. 30.

lib. 2. c. 14.

having restored that University, invited him thither by Letters, which are to be found among the Letters of Peter de Vincis, Chancellor and Secretary to that Emperor.

Marian, or Mulmurry ó Laghnan, Bishop of Tuam, went a Pilgrimage to Jerusalem, and committed the same to writing. He died in 1249.

A Nameless Monk of Abby Boyle, continued the Annals of the Affairs of Connaught to 1253, at which time he lived. The Manuscript is in the Cottonian Library.

Thomas Palmeran, or Palmerston, commonly called Thomas Hibernicus, born in the County of Kildare, proceeded Doctor of Divinity at Paris; where he continued some time for his advancement in Learning. Afterwards he went to Italy, and died there in the Monastery d' Aquila, in the borders of the Kingdom of Naples, where he lies buried. He flourished about 1269, (not as Arthur of Munster delivers in 1365.) He writ the Flowers of the Doctors, in two Books, which have been often printed, also of the Christian Religion, Of the Illusions of Demons, Of the Temptation of the Devil, The Remedies of Vice, The Flowers of the Bible, and other things. John Walleis a Minorite, begun the first Work, under the Title of a handful of Flowers; but prevented by death, he left the same imperfect, which our Thomas finished under the former Title. He seems also to be the Author of the Moral Promptuary of Holy Scripture, published at Rome by Luke Wadding, (out of a Manuscript in the Library of the Friars Minors of Ara Caeli, in the Capitol) in 1624; for the Country, Order, Time and Subject of the Work do agree. Marian of Florence, in his Manuscript Chronicles writes, that Thomas of Ireland, lived in 1270, in great esteem for his Learning and Piety, in the Monastery d' Aquila, in the Province of St. Bernardin. The same is related by Wadding, in his Edition of the Promptuary, and Jordan of Saxony in his Lives of the Friars Preachers, writes thus of him: Master Thomas of Ireland, sometime Fellow of the Sorbonne in Paris, in his Book call'd a handful of Flowers, reckons up, among other Books of St. Augustin, two distinct Rules. To the Annals of the Friars Preachers, continued by a Dominican to 1274, when he lived is added the following Catalogue of all the Monasteries of that Order in Ireland, to 1300, according to that Series of time in which each Monastery began.

| Dublin                         | Ann. Dom. 1224 | Sligoe                           | Ann. Dom. 1252 |
|--------------------------------|----------------|----------------------------------|----------------|
| Drogheda                       | 1224           | Athlethan, or Strade near to it, | 1252           |
| Kilkenny                       | 1225           | Athy                             | 1253           |
| Waterford                      | 1226           | Roscoman                         | 1253           |
| Limrick                        | 1227           | Trim                             | 1263           |
| Cork                           | 1229           | Arckloe                          | 1264           |
| Molingar                       | 1237           | Ross, or Ross Ibercan            | 1267           |
| Athenree                       | 1241           | Toughall                         | 1268           |
| Cashel                         | 1243           | Lothbroe, or Lurchoe             | 1269           |
| Tralee                         | 1243           | Rathbran                         | 1274           |
| New Town in the County of Down | 1244           | Derry                            | 1274           |
| Bann, or Coleraine             | 1244           | Killoe, or Killmallock           | 1291           |

Extant M. S. in Biblioth.
Usseriana.

The Author of the Annals call'd the Annals of Mont Fernand, or the Minorites of Multifernan, begins from 45, and ends in 1274, in which time the Author lived, as appears from the Antiquity of the Character. The Author, in my opinion, was Friar Stephen of Exeter, born, as those Annals say, in 1246, and invested with the Habit of his Order, on the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin, in 1263.

William, the Abbot (of I know not what place) was so Famous (says Bale) that his Memory is still preserved among us: For he was one of those they call Bards, whom the Welsh and Irish had always in greatest esteem, whence he is said to be the Author of a Book of Prophecies. Bale, I believe, had no ground for making him an Author of Prophecies, but his being reputed a Bard.

Script. Brit.
Cent. 14. n.
90.

Galasy, or Gillisa mac Furbissy, an Historian and Poet of good Account, writ a Chronicle of his own time, and some Poems. He was Contemporary with the Author last mentioned, and died in 1301.

The Author of the Office of St. Finian, Bishop of Clonard, lived in the close of this Age, to wit, when Thomas St Leger was Bishop of Meath.

CHAP. X.

Writers of the Fourteenth Century.

John Duns Scotus, or Dunscot, begins this Century, a Minorite, whose sharpness of Wit, and Scholastick Niceties got him the Name of the Subtile Doctor. He wrote on the four Books of Sentences, in Merton College, Oxford, where he was brought up under his Master William de Wara, or Varro, whence that Work is called an Oxford Performance. He writ afterwards at Paris, Reports, Conferences, Quodlibets, The Origine of things, Theorems, The Knowledge of God, Tetragramms, Sermons on the Times, and on the Saints, Imperfect Commentaries on Genesis, the Four Gospels and St. Paul's Epistles, Questions on Porphyry, and on Aristotles Predicaments, Perihermeneia, Priora, Posteriora, Elenchi, Concerning the Soul, Metaphysicks and Physicks. About his Country (as the Greeks of old about Homer's) The English, Scotch, and Irish contend. The English say he was born at Emildune, or Dunston, in the Parish of Emildune in Northumberland: To confirm which they urge, his Manuscript Works in Merton College, Oxford, which conclude thus, Here ends the reading of that Subtle Doctor in the University of Paris John Duns, born in a certain Village of the Parish of Emildune, called Dunston, in Northumberland, belonging to Merton College, Oxford. Whether these words were written in the time of Scotus, or added since, will appear from the antiquity of the Character, of which those who have seen that Work are the proper Judges. The Scots will have him born at Duns, a Village eight Miles distant from England, and the Irish at Down in Ulster, with whom agrees Arthur à Monasterio, convinced by the reasons offered by Cavellus in his Martyrology. By command of his Superior he went to Cologne, where he died suddenly the 8th of November, 1308, and was Interr'd among the Minorites, under a Stone with an Epitaph engraven thereon, before the Translation of his Bones, in rhiming Verse; part of which may be thus rendred in English.

Remember the Doctor, who in time of his Youth,
Was the Light of his Cloyster, and Trumpet of Truth.

Concerning his Death, Authors differ in their Opinions; for which consult L. Wadding, and Arthur à Monasterio, who reckons up all the Authors that wrote of him, in his Franciscan Martyrology.

Malachy, a Minorite, lived at Oxford about 1310, and after, it seems at Naples in Italy. He writ The Poyson and Cure of mortal Sin, published at Paris by Henry Stephens. Bale adds a Book of Sermons, with other things.

Maurice Gibellan L. L. D. Canon of Tuam, a Famous Philosopher, and Poët, writ some Poems, beside other things. He died in 1327. When I speak of Poets, I do not mean such who applying themselves to that Art, make choice of Obscene and Trifling Subjects, (the Marks of a distemper'd Mind) which make their Readers not more knowing, but wicked; for those only deserve to be reckon'd in that number, who inspired by a Poetick Genius, write upon weighty and noble Subjects.

Adam Godham, a Franciscan, proceeded Doctor of Divinity at Oxford. He writ Commentaries on the Four Books of Sentences, printed at Paris in 1512, and a Book Conf. Camb.

Britan. in Northumb.
pag. 670. &
Bale Scrip.
Brit. Cent. 4.
n. 82. & Cent.
14. n. 53.
Tho. James
in Eclog.
Oxonio. Can-
tab. Dynstan.
Jo. Major 1.
4. Th. Demp.
Hist. Ecc. Sc.
1.4. n. 421.
Hug. Cavell.
vir. Sco. Der-mit Thadæi intel. Francis.
Relig. ad
Novemb. 8.
S. 4. & Luc.
Wad. Annal.
Minor ad
ann. 1304.

Anth. Possev.
Appar. Sacr.
& Jo. Gares.
1. de Corpor.
& Sanguine Christi. Cent.
14. n. 91.

Cent. 5. c. 98.

De Gestis
Scot. l. 4. c. 21.

a Book of Determinations. He lived in 1330. See more of him in Bale, who makes him an English Man, and miscalls him Adam Wodeham, yet there cites for his Author John Major, who in that place expressly calls him Adam Godhamen: His words are those, At the same time lived Adam Godhamen, who heard Ockam disputing at Oxford, a modest Man, and not inferior to Ockam, in Parts or Learning. And, if I mistake not, he is the person whom John Major elsewhere calls Adam of Ireland. Oxford (says he) has formerly produced famous Philosophers and Divines, namely, Alexander Hales, Richard Middleton, John Duns the Subtile Doctor, Ockam, Adam of Ireland, Robert Holkot, &c. Whether he be that Person whom Gregory of Rimini (who writ on the Sentences in 1344) often quotes by the name of Adam the Doctor, and the Irish Doctor, I leave to the Inquisitive. In my opinion he is the same.

Commentar.
Urban. l. 3.Hist. Cathol.
Ib. compend.
tom. 1. l. 4.
cap. 8.
Annal. Mino.
ad an. 1323.
n. 15. & ad
an. 1347.
n. 22.

William Ockam (called Invincible, Angelical, and Prince of the Nominalists) a Minorite, and Scholar of John Scotus, died at Munchen in Bavaria, and was there buried in a Convent of Franciscans. Volateran makes him an Irish Man. Ireland (says he) has also its Saints, especially the Prelats Malachy, Catald, and Patrick, who converted them to Christianity; afterwards a Scottish Prelate William Ockam, that renowned Logician, a Minorite and Cardinal of Armagh, under John XXII. whose lived in 1353, in great esteem for his Learning and Writings. Phil. Sullivan, who calls him o Cahan, and some others follow Volateran; but undoubtedly they are mistaken, as L. Wadding, from the Pope's Letters, and elsewhere, makes appear. Hence I pass by his Works, and account him no Irish Man. See more of him in Trithemius, Bale, and Camden in Surry.

Cent. 14.
tit. 92.Catal. test. verit.Ware de presul.

David Obugey, a Carmelite of Kildare, was taken notice of for his Learning, first at Oxford in England, then at Treves in Germany, at length being made Provincial of the Carmelites in Ireland, he returned to his Native Country, whence (says Bale, out of Bloxam's Epistles) in Atherdee and Dublin he held Chapters. He was an excellent Philosopher, Orator and Divine, and most knowing of any person in the Laws; so that he was esteemed the Light, the Eye and Honour of the Irish Nation. He writ Discourses to the Clergy, 32 Letters to Several Persons, Propositions discussed, Lectures, which he made at Treves, some Rules of the Law, and against Gerard of Bononia, to which Eysengreinus adds Commentaries on the Bible. He lived in 1320, and died very old at Kildare, where he lies buried in a Convent of his own Order.

Malachy mac Ada, or Hugh's Son, Arch-Bishop of Tuam 1330, is accounted the Author of a large Volume extant in Irish, written in those times, called The Book of Hugh's Son. It contains among other Miscellanies, a Series of the Irish Kings, from Neal Nigiolach to Roderick o Connor, in whose time Ireland became subject to the English Crown. Also a Prophecy ascribed to St. Jorlath of his Successors in the See of Tuam.

Cent. 14. n.
93.
Ergal contained the Country since divided into the Counties of Louth and Monaghan, perhaps Ar-magh also.

Gilbert Urgale, so named by Bale (perhaps because he was born in Ergall, or Uriels) a Carmelite, and no mean Writer, educated (as 'tis supposed) in Oxford. He lived in 1330, and as Bale, out of John Bloxam's Epistles, delivers, left two large Volumes, the one A Summary of Law, the other, a Book of Divinity.

The Compiler of Ross Annals lived in 1346. The same Year he concludes his Annals thus, An. 1346, O Karowill is slain by the Ossorians in Ely.

Christopher Pembrige (of Dublin, I suppose) lived in 1347. He writ much the greater part of those Annals published by Camden, at the end of his Britannia, in 1607, to wit, until the Year 1347.

John Clynn lived at the same time, a Minorite of Kilkenny, and the first Guardian of Carrig Priory. He writ very short Annals from the Christian Era to 1313, from whence he continued them very largely to 1349, when probably he died. He also writ Of the English Kings, from Hengist to Edward III. Of the Guardians of his Order in England, and Ireland, and a Catalogue of the Bishops Sees in the three Kingdoms of England, Scotland and Ireland. His Works are extant in a Book of the Society of the Friars Minors of Kilkenny. Sir James Lee Knight, Chief Justice of the King's Bench in Ireland, afterwards Treasurer of England and Earl of Marlborough.

borough, caused his Annals with other Matters relating to our Irish Affairs, to be fairly transcribed; and left the Transcripts with the Honourable Henry now Earl of Bath, on condition they should be Printed.

Richard Fitz-Ralph, or Ralph's Son, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, in 1356 went for England; where, in his Sermons at London, he expressly maintain'd these Conclusions, as he speaks of himself.

1. That our Lord Jesus Christ, in his Human State, was very poor; not that he loved or willed Poverty for its own sake.
2. That our Lord Jesus never begg'd.
3. That he never taught Men to beg.
4. That our Lord Jesus taught Men should not beg.
5. That no Man can with Prudence or Holiness oblige himself by Vow to observe a perpetual Beggary.
6. That the Friars Minors are not obliged by their Rule to beg.
7. That the Bull of Alexander IV. which condemns the Book of the Masters, does not invalidate any of the aforesaid Conclusions.
8. That for Persons making Confession, with Exclusion of any place, their own Parish Church is preferable to the Friars Cratory, or Church.
9. That for making private Confe on, the Person of the Ordinary is more eligible than the Person of a Friar.

Vid. Defens.
Curatorum
five Propos. factam Aveniore in Consistorio coram Papâ & Cardina. 33. li-bus 8 Novem. 1356.

He writ of the Questions of the Armenians, on the four Books of Sentences, on the Gospels: Of the Poverty of Christ: Of the Intentions of the Jews: A great Volume of Sermons: The Curate's Defence: An Oration in behalf of the Prelates and Church Curates, which he made before the Pope in a publick Consistory, held the 5th of July, 1350: Answers to the Objections upon the matter of Privileges granted to the Friars Mendicants: Informations and Motives to the Judges upon the Declaration to be made concerning that Extravagant of Pope John, which begins thus; Vas Electionis: Concerning healthy Beggars, which begins thus; It may be queried whether an healthy Beggar is to be relieved: A Dialogue about matters relating to Scripture. A M. S. extant in Lincoln College, Oxford. Also he is said to have writ the Life of the Abbot St. Munchin, who lived in 640: Of the Praises of the Blessed Virgin Mary: Of the Spiritual Power of our Lord's Passion: Against his Arch-Deacon: Epistles, Dialogues, with many other things. See more of him in Arthur à Monasterio, Martyrol. Francisc. pag. 636, &c.

D. Thoma.
James Ecloga Oxonio Can-
tab.

Ralph Kelly, Arch-Bishop of Cashel, lived at the same time, and writ of the Canon Law, Epistles, and other things.

Hugh of Ireland; a Minorite, writ his own Travels through divers Countries. L. Wadding supposes him to be the same with Hugh Bernard Provincial of the Minorites in Ireland.

Ann. Minor
Tom. 5. An
1359, n. 10

William of Drogheda, so called from the place of his Nativity, lived in 1360; and was brought up in Oxford, where he became Eminent for his Knowledge in the Laws; as also for his Skill in Arithmetick and Geometry; and read the Civil Law publickly in that University. They say he writ a Book called The Golden Summary, extant in the Archives of Caius and Gonville College, Cambridge: Also a Treatise of Secrets. Dr. Thomas James in his Catalogue of Manuscripts in the Libraries of Oxford and Cambridge, reckons him among the Writers of the Civil Law. See also Bale Scriptor. Britan. Centur. 6. Cap. 9.

Geofry ô Hogain, a Minorite of Nenagh in the County of Tipperary, writ the Annals of his own time, from 1336 to 1370, extant in M. S.

Henry Crump, a Cistercian of Baltinglass, and D. D. in Oxford in 1382. He publickly maintain'd at Oxford, That the Friars of the four Orders of Mendicants were not of Divine Institution; but contrary to the General Lateran Council held under Innocent III; and that Pope Honorius was perswaded by the Friars through pretended and false Dreams, to grant them a Confirmation; but was forced to abjure these Positions in a Convent of Carmelites at Stamford, in the presenee of William dens fascicul.

Tho. Wal-
Zizanion. a R.
Arch Armac.
citat in lib. de
Relig. Antiq.
Hib. & Brit.

Asa. Gul.
Andreas citat
ut supra.
Centur. 14.
num. 98.

De Orig. Rel.
Francisc. par.
1. pag. 84. ed.
Romæ, 1587.
Tom. 1. Ann.
Minor. ad an.
1240, n. 25,
& Tom. 4. ad
an. 1395.
Vid. Tho.
James Eclog.
Oxon. Cant.
ed. an. 1600.
Vid. L. Wad.
loc. sup. citat.
Bale & Possevin.

Courtney Arch-Bishop of Canterbury. He was charg'd also with Hereſie by William Andrew a Dominican. Bishop first of Achonry, then of Meath, for teaching that Christ's Body in the Sacrament of the Altar was only a Representation of Christ's Body in Heaven. He writ, according to Bale, School Determinations: Against the Religious Mendicants: And Answers to Objections: Also an Account of the Foundations of all the Monasteries in England, from the time of Birin the first Bishop of Dorchester to Robert Grosted Bishop of Lincoln, who died in 1253. The Author of certain Rythmes on the Life of S. Edith, extant in the Cottonian Library, made use of it in his Compoſures.

William Wodeford (by Francis Gonzaga called Woderford, an English Man) a Minorite and D. D. in Oxford, died in 1347; and lies buried at Colchester in England, according to Bale. L. Wadding makes him an Irish Man, and ſays that he is more rightly called William Waterford; but ſince in his Book against Richard of Armagh, a M. S. Magdalen College Library in Oxford, and in other Manuscripts there, he is called William Wodeford or Wideford, not Wudford nor Waterford: I cannot but agree with Bale, Possevin, Pitts and others, in making him an English Man. Besides that William Waterford is ſaid to be the Author of a Book of Religion dedicated to Cardinal Julius in 1433; when as Wodeford lived in 1397; and Leland ſays that he was buried in the Choir of the Church dedicated to S. Francis, London. From all which I gather, that William Waterford was a different Person from Wodford, whose Works I have therefore omitted till time brings things to light. The Titles may be ſeen in Bale, Pitts, &c.

Magraith mac Gawan, a Canon (if I miſtake not) of S. Ruadan of Lurcho's Abby in the County of Tipperary: He writ in Irish of the Genealogies of the Irish Saints; and of the Succession of the Kings and Lords of Ireland, with the addition of ſome Miscellanies. He lived about the cloſe of this Age. I have by me his Works in Manuscript.

CHAP. XI.

Writers of the Fifteenth Century.

Auguſtin Magraidan, a Canon of the Order of St. Auguſtin in the Iſle of All Saints in the River Sbenon, on the Weſt ſide of the County of Longford, a Learned and Prudent Man, lived in the beginning of this Age. He writ the Lives of the Irish Saints; and continued a Chronicle (begun by ſome of his Abby) to his own time; part of which I have by me in M. S. with Additions after his Death. He died on the Wednesday next after All Saints, in 1405, and lies buried in his Abby aforeſaid.

Coll Deoran, a Leinſter Man, lived at the ſame time, and writ Irish Annals, extant in M. S. He died in 1408.

Patrick Barret, Bishop of Fernes in 1400, writ a Catalogue of his Predeceſſors in that See.

James Yong, a Publick Notary of the City of Dublin, writ Politick Councils for good Government, dedicated to James Earl of Ormonde, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland: Also The Travels of Laurence Rathold, an Hungarian Lord, to St. Patrick's Purgatory, in 1411.

Patrick Ragged, Bishop of Cork, was preſent at the General Council held at Conſtance in the Years 1415 and 1416; and wrote of the Acts of that Council.

An Irish Monk of St. James's Convent in Ratiſbone, writ about the Year 1414, of the Irish Saints; and of the Affairs of Charles the Great: But he is a very fabulous Author.

William Waterford writ a Book of Religion, dedicated to Cardinal Julian in 1433. See more of him in William Wodeford, Ch. 10.

Wad. Tom. 4.
Ann. Min. ad
an. 1395.

A Canon

A Canon of the Order of Præmonstratenses, of the H. Trinity of Loghkey, in the County of Riscomon, writ the Annals of Ireland to his own time, partly in Irish, and partly in Latin; but I saw only that part beginning from 1249, and ending in 1408. He lived (as I conjecture) about the middle of the 15th Century.

John of Ireland, said to live about 1460; and (if we believe Michael Plodius, quoted by Antonius Alfonsus Fernandus) writ a Book called A Bundle of Flowers: For (says he) about the Year 1469, He gathered out of all the Sacred Writers the very best Flowers, proper for all Subjects: But since Thomas of Ireland (of whom before) published a Book call The Flowers of the Doctors, begun by John Gualers under the Title of A Bundle of Flowers, I cannot but suspect Plodius and his Followers, to be deceived both in the Name and Age of the Author; however I affirm nothing in this matter, only discover my private thoughts. Some say that one John of Ireland, a Dominican also, writ a Book Intituled, Scala Dei, or A Ladder to scale Heaven by.

Phillip Norris, D. D. in Oxford, returning to his Native Country was first made Prebendary of Yagostown belonging to St. Patrick's, Dublin; afterwards Dean of that Cathedral, about 1457. He following the Steps of Richard of Armagh, writ against the Friars Mendicants, and in his Sermons oftentimes used bitter Invectives against them; upon which account they say he was no small Sufferer. He writ Declamations: Lectures on the Scriptures: Sermons to the People: Against bealthy Beggars: and some other things. See Bale.

Phillip Higgin, a Minorite, writ Sacred Poems. He died in 1487.

Panderus, or the Author of a Book Intituled, Salus Populi, lived in the Reigns of Edward IV. Edward V. Richard III. and Henry VII. and perhaps under Henry VIII.: In which Book he shews the causes of the Miseries of Ireland; and prescribes proper Remedies for the same, suitable to those times.

Charles Magwire, born in the County of Fermanagh, Canon of Armagh, was an excellent Philosopher, Historian and Divine; and writ the Annals of Ireland, to his own time. He died the 23d of March, 1495, aged 60.

Donald o Fihely, born in the County of Cork, lived in the close of this Age, and writ in Irish, The Annals of Ireland, to his own time, which he Dedicated to Florence Mahowny: I saw them in M. S. with Florence Carty at London in 1626.

A nameless Minorite, Contemporary with Donald, collected and published the Statutes of the Minorites in Ireland.

In notitia Prædicatorie familie.

Cap. 9.

Cent. 14. n.
99.

Annal Ulten.

Ibid.

CHAP. XII.

Writers of the Sixteenth Century.

Maurice de Portu, or o Fihely, Arch-Bishop of Tuam, of whom John Camers makes Honourable mention. "In the Years following (says he) "Maurice a Portu, a Native of Ireland, of the Order of St. Francis, "was Eminent for his extraordinary Knowledge in Divinity, Logick, Philosophy, "and Metaphysicks: 'Tis scarce possible to relate how obliging and courteous, "and yet how Holy and Religious he was in his Conversation! When for many "Years he had taught the Arts with universal Applause in Padua, he was advanced by Pope Julius II. to the Arch-Bishoprick of Tuam, whither he went, Italy "being then oppressed with the Calamities of War; and soon after his Arrival, to "the irreparable Loss of the Learned World, he died scarce 50 Years old. He "had by him several written Monuments of his Learning; but his unexpected "Death prevented their being made publick, Six hundred Letters which he writ "to me on several Occasions, full of marks of his Love, shew the intimate Friendship maintain'd between us while he lived; with the reading of which I am "infinitely delighted, so great is the Love of true Friendship, even beyond the "power

In 35 Cap.
Solini.

De Original.
Francisc. par.
1. pag. 88.

In Apparat.
Sacro.

Habetur M.S. in Bibliothec.
Colleg. S. S.
Trin, Dublin.

Descript. Hi-bern. cap. 7.

power of the Grave. Thus far Camers. Francis Gonzaga makes mention of him also: "Maurice, an Irish Man (says he) revived all the Learning of John Scotus, and very nicely commented on his Universalia: He also published a Dictionary to the Holy Scriptures; but for his Works let us hear what Possévin delivers: Maurice (says he) an Irish Minorite and Arch-Bishop of Tuam, composed a Dictionary to the Scriptures, which was first Printed at Venice in 1603, by John Anthony and James Francis, at the Command of the most Illustrious Matthew Zane Patriarch of Venice, tho' it be not extant farther than the Letter E inclusively. Moreover he explain'd the whole Doctrine of Scotus, by writing Commentaries on him; which as to that part on the Questions was printed by Simon de Luere at Venice in 1500: Also his Theorems for the better understanding the mind of Scotus, were there published by Lazarus Sord in 1514; but his Enchiridion of Faith was printed before in 1509, by Ostavianus Scotus; but then Scotus his Oxford Writing on the four Books of the Sentences was published by James Mit at Lyons, John Grace two Years before having published his Reportata. 'Tis said further that Maurice writ on the Life of John Scotus, and a Book of Distinctions, which is preserved among the Franciscans at Ravenna; and the Compendium of Truth in Rhyming Verse, says Henry Villot in the word Mauritius de Porta. He also writ a Book on Porphry published at Venice in 1519.

Nicholas Magwire, Bishop of Leghlin, writ a Chronicle of great use to Thady Dowling in composing his Annals; also the Life of his Predecessor Milo, and other things, which prevented by an untimely Death, he left unfinished.

Thomas Brown, a Secular, about 1513 writ the Life of Nicholas Magwire Bishop of Leghlin aforesaid, to whom he was Chaplain.

Thomas Fich, a Regular, and Sub Prior of the Cathedral of Christ-Church, Dublin, writ a Book of the Affairs of his Church, called The White Book; and perhaps the Book of Obits of the said Church, for the Character shews it to be written about that time. He died the 17th of January, 1517; and lies buried in Christ-Church, Dublin.

Phillip Flatisbury lived about this time, and at the Request of Gerald Earl of Kildare, writ divers Chronicles, says Staniburst. In the beginning of those Annals, extant in M. S. under his Name, there is this Account of the Author and his Work: "Here follows divers Chronicles written at the Request of the Noble and Powerful Lord Gerald, Son of Gerald, the King's Deputy of Ireland, by Phillip Flatisbury of Johnston near the Naas, in the Year of our Lord 1517; and the 9th of King Henry VIII. But comparing them with those published by Cambden at the end of his Britannia, of which the greater part was writ by Pembridge, as we have elsewhere said, it appears that Flatisbury was only a Verbal Transcriber of them, not the Author, excepting some little Addition. 'Tis certain that many have affix'd their Names to those Books which they only transcribed; whereby the true Authors have been unjustly depriv'd of their Honour.

George Cogley, a Publick Notary, and Register of Meath, in 1518 writ a Catalogue of the Bishops of that See, from Simon Rochfort the first English Man who sat there, to Hugh Inge who was this Author's Contemporary.

A Cistercian Monk of Duisk Abby in the County of Kilkenny, by Command of Charles Cavenagh, his Abbot, in 1512 writ the Annals of Ireland, which he afterwards continued to the time of the Suppression of Monasteries; and inserted the same in the Registry of Charters belonging to the said Abby.

Theobald Anguilbert, a Doctor in Medicine (of Paris, I suppose) writ a Book intitled, Mensa Philosophica, which is a Treatise of Table Talk, with the Addition of Jokes and Drolleries: The same is by others falsely ascribed to one Michael Scotus a Physician, and is printed under his Name at Leipsick in 1603, together with the Jestes of Othomar Luscinus. The Philosophical Table was printed at Paris in 1530, by John d'Harfy. In the Epistle the Author professes himself an Irish Man.

Magnus, or Manus (Son of Hugh) ô Donell, of Tircorell, writ a large Volume in Irish, containing The Life of St. Columbe, in 1532.

Patrick

Patrick Culin, an Augustin Hermit, and Bishop of Clogher; by the assistance of Cassidy his Arch-Deacon, writ a Register of the ancient Affairs of his Church, and therein a Catalogue of his Predecessors: Also an Hymn to St. Maccartin the first Bishop of that See, which was usually sung at his Festival; which begins thus:

*Festum dignum celebrantes,
Sanctum virum venerantes
Maccartinum & laudantes, Exaudi nos Trinitas.*

Roderick Cassidy, Arch-Deacon of Clogher, a Divine, Civilian and Philosopher, well versed in the Antiquities of his Country, writ (beside the above Register) the latter part of the Ulster Annals, and many Additions to the first part. He died very much stricken in Years in 1541.

Patrick Finglas, a famous Lawyer, was made chief Baron of the Exchequer by K. Henry VIII. afterwards chief Justice of the Kings-Bench: He writ The Causes of the Calamities of Ireland, and their Remedies.

Edward Walsh lived in 1550. He going for England, was received as a Domestic into the Family of the Duke of Somerset, Uncle to K. Edward VI. and Protector of these Kingdoms. About that time he writ in English of The Duties of Persons who fight for their Country; and a Treatise shewing how Ireland ought to be Reformed by the Word of God; the Epitome whereof is in the Paper Office at Westminster. When or where he died I don't find.

Thomas Waterford, Arch-Deacon of Leghlin, was Contemporary with Walsh. He is said to have written some Collections of Irish Affairs. Dowling quotes him in his Annals. He died about 1553.

Nicholas Stanihurst writ in Latin The Physician's Diet. He died in 1554. See Richard Stanihurst.

George Dowdall, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, writ some Sermons; and translated out of Latin into English, The Life of John Courcy, who subdued Ulster: It is extant in Manuscript. He died in 1558.

Richard Smith, D. D. died at Doway in Artois, the 9th of July, 1563, aged 63. R. Stanihurst makes him an Irish Man, born of mean Parents at Rathmackny, three Miles from Wexford: But since Bale, who knew the Man, reckons him among the English Writers, and Smith himself in the Epistle of his Book against Phillip Melancthon, dedicated to Phillip Hosden Abbot of S. Gertrude in Louvain, as also in his other Works published at Louvain, expressly calls himself an English Man of Worcester, I shall omit the Titles of his Works in this Catalogue. The Reader may consult Possévin for them.

Thomas Long, D. D. of Paris, lived in 1576, and according to Stanihurst, writ a Book De Speciebus, against a lying Monk: On Aristotle's Physicks: Select The- ses of the chief points in the Law, Dedicated to Charles Cardinal of Bourbon.

Richard Creagh of Limerick, Educated at Louvain in Brabant, lived at the same time; and writ a M. S. yet extant Of the Irish Tongue: Also an Ecclesiastical History, part of which is with Thomas Arthur, M. D. Controversies of Faith: A Chronicle of Ireland: The Lives of the Irish Saints: and a Catechism in Irish.

Edmund Tanner, perhaps Tonnery, D. D. writ Lectures on Aquinas his Summs, and was Contemporary with Creagh.

John Usher, Mayor of Dublin in 1574, Father of Sir William Usher, Knight, writ a Treatise of The Reformation of Ireland, which is a M. S. in Arch-Bishop Usher's Library.

Nicholas Walsh, Bishop of Ossory, writ Learned Sermons in Latin, yet extant in his own Hand Writing. He also attempted the Translation of the New Testament into Irish about the Year 1573; but his design was prevented by a horrid Murder committed on him in 1585.

John Kerney, Treasurer of St. Patrick's, Dublin, was educated, as was Walsh (his Contemporary and Intimate Friend) at Cambridge. He writ a Catechism in

In Descrip.
Hib. cap. 7.

Ibid. cap. 7.

Cent. 9. tit.
46.

Descrip. Hib.
cap. 47.

Ibid.

Irish, which was the first Book I find printed in that Character. He also translated into Irish the New Testament, which is extant in Manuscript. He died about 1600, and lies buried in St. Patrick's, Dublin.

Richar Stanihurst, of Dublin, was educated some time in University College in Oxford, where in his younger Years he writ Commentaries on Porphiry; which he published at London, in 1570. Afterwards he writ in Latin, four Books of the Affairs of Ireland, which together with an Appendix, out of Giraldus Cambrensis, and some Annotations, he published at Antwerp in 1584. Also The Life of St. Patrick, printed there in 1587, and Hebdomada Mariana, printed there in 1609, and a few Years before his Death, Hebdomada Eucharistica, printed at Doway in 1614. He writ in English, A Description of Ireland, dedicated to Sir Henry Sidney Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, extant in Holinshed, and perhaps some other things which I have not seen. He died very old at Brussels, in 1618, Chaplain to Albert Arch Duke of Austria, as appears from Aubertus Mireus.

De Statu.
Religionis Christianæ
lib. 1. cap. 52.

Thady Dowling, Treasurer, afterwards Chancellor of Leghlin, an excellent Canonist, writ Short Annals of Ireland, and An Irish Grammar, with some other things, about 1598. He died at Leghlin in 1628, Aged 84.

I have designedly omitted the Writers of our Age, to avoid the suspicion of Flattery, many of whom are living, and continue writing, and are well known to the Learned.

C H A P. XIII.

Biographers of an uncertain Age.

I Come now to the Biographers, whose times I could not yet learn by inquiry, yet I suspect that many of them lived about the 8th Century. I have added the beginning of almost every Book, and the time wherein the Saints lived, whereby the Authors's Ages may be more easily discovered.

The Writers of St. Patrick's Life in three Books, but the beginning is wanting. There are two other Anonymous Writers of his Life, with the Reverend Arch-Bishop Usher in Manuscript, beside that ancient One written in Irish, one begins Patrick, who is also called Succet, the other The Glorious Confessor Patrick. St. Patrick died the 17th of March, 492.

The Ancient Writer of St. Bridget's Life in two Books, which begins, There was a Glorious King in Ireland namely Felimid, commonly called Feidlimid Irachtuiar, for the many Laws he made in his Kingdom of Ireland. Another Writer begins thus, A certain Noble Man of Leinster, called Dubthach; and another thus, Ye constrain me, Brethren, to commit to writing, for the Information of the Learned, the Virtues and Miracles of the Virgin Bridget, of Holy and Blessed Memory. St. Bridget died the 1st of February, 521 or 523.

The Writer of the Life of St. Columba, Abbot of Hy, begins, The Reverend Priest Columba the most Religious Abbot of many Monasteries. St. Columba died the 9th of June, 597.

The Writer of the Life of St. Edan, or Moedoeh, the first Bishop, or as this Anonymous Writer delivers, Arch-Bishop of Fernes, begins, There was a certain Noble Man in Conaught named Sethna, and his Wife's name was Ethne, of the Seed of Amlaigh. Another Ancient Writer of his Life begins, There was a certain Noble Man in Ireland named Senia, having to Wife Ethne: both very ancient Authors. Edan died the 31st of January, 632.

The Writer of the Life of St. Brendan, Abbot of Clonsfert, begins, St. Brendan. Son of Finlocha, mentioned before in the account of St. Brendan. Another Writer begins, There was a Man named Brendan, of an Holy Life, who, as the shining Morn, drove away the Darkness of Sin from the hearts of many People, Brendan died the 16th of May, 577.

The

The Writer of the Life of St. Coemgen, or Keivin, the first Abbot, or as others say, Bishop of Glendelach, begins, There was a Man in the Province of Leinster, which is the fifth part of Ireland, a Plebeian of Dalmachscob, which is the East part of Leinster, bounded by the Sea. whose name was Coemlog. Another thus, Brethren, the Holy Festival of the Glorious Abbot Caymgin, is now to be celebrated. There is extant also a very brief Description of his Life, which begins, There was born in Ireland. St. Coemgen died the 3d of June, 618, or 621.

The Writer of the Life of St. Moling, the 2d Bishop of Fernes, begins, Of the South part of Ireland, which is called Kenelach: Another begins, The Holy Prelate and Prophet of God, Dayrtell, who is otherwise called Moling. St. Moling's Festival is kept the 17th of June. I do not find when he died, unless he is the same with Moling Luacre, whom Tigernach informs to have died in 696.

The Writer of the Life of St. Fintan, Abbot of Clonenach, begins, St. Fintan, Son of Gramthin, came from the borders of Leinster. St. Fintan died the 17th of February, 603.

The Writer of the Life of St. Senan, Bishop of Iniscatty, begins, Senanus born of Noble Parents. St. Senan died the 11th of March, 544, the same Day that St. David the Patron of Wales died.

The Writer of the Life of St. Mocoemog, Abbot of Liath, begins, The ever Blessed Abbot Mocoemog, of the Province of Connaught, is descended of the Sept of Conmacne, by the Father's side. St. Mocoemog died the 13th of March, 656.

The Author of the Life of St. Finan of Munster, Abbot of Ceanhetich, begins, There was a Man of a Holy Life. Another Author thus, St. Finan was born of the Sept called Corcudubne. St. Finan was Contemporary with St. Brendan of Clonfert, and they say he died the 7th of April, but the Year I find not.

The Author of the Life of the Abbot St. Ruadan, begins, St. Ruadan of Noble Extraction. He died the 15th of April, 584.

The Writer of the Life of St. Cronan Bishop, otherwise called Abbot of Roscrea, begins, The Glorious Abbot Cronan, born in Munster, whose Father's Name was Odran. Cronan died the 28th of April. He flourished in 580.

The Writer of the Life of St. Congall, or Comgall, the first Abbot of Bangor, The Blessed and Holy Abbot Comgall, born of a Noble Family of the Ards, his Father's name was Setneus, his Mother Briga. St. Congall died the 10th of May, 600.

The Writer of the Life of St. Carthag, the first Bishop of Lismore, begins, The Renowned Soldier of Christ. St. Carthag died the 14th of May, 637.

The Writer of the Life of St. Declan the first Bishop of Ardmore. The beginning is wanting in my Notes; but from the close of that Work it appears that the Writer lived not long after St. Declan, where we have these words, His old Scholars acquaint us that a great Army was wont to Rendezvous in his Precincts. St. Declan's Festival is kept the 24th of July.

The Writer of the Life of St. Kiaran the Elder, the first Bishop of Saiger, begins, The most Blessed Bishop Kiaran, the first Fruits of the Saints of Ireland. Another Writer of his Life begins almost after the same manner, The Blessed Priest Kiaran, the first Begotten in the Faith of Christ among the Irish. This Kiaran's Festival is kept the 5th of March. He lived the same time with Declan and St. Patrick.

The Writer of the Life of St. Molua, or Lugid, begins, The most Blessed Abbot Lugid descended of Gentile Parents, had to his Father Carthar, &c. St. Molua died the 4th of August, 609.

The Writer of the Life of St. Canic, Abbot of Aghavo, begins, The Holy Abbot Canic, of the Sept of Connath-duinnegemin, which is the Northern part of Ireland. But another Writer begins, St. Kynnic, of the Sept of Corcudaland in the North part of Ireland: His Father was the Famous Poet Laidec, his Mother's Name Melda. St. Canic died the 11th of October, 600.

The Writer of the Life of St. Munnu, or Fintan, begins, There was a Man of a holy Life named Munnu, of an Illustrious Family in Ireland, to wit, the Neils, whose Father's Name was Tulcan, his Mother's Fidelmia. St. Munnu died the 21st of October, 635.

The Writer of the Life of St. Colman Ela begins, There was a Man of a holy Life named Colman, Son of Benigne, of the Family of Neil : He had the name Ela, from a Wood so called. St. Colman Ela died the 26th of September, 611.

The Writer of the Life of St. Barr, or Finbarr, the first Founder and Bishop of the Church of Cork, begins, The most Holy Elect of God, and most worthy Priest Barr, was born of the Sept called Ibruin Ratha of Conaught. St. Barr flourished in 600. His Festival is kept the 27th of September.

The Writer of the Holy Bishop Ad's Life begins, The Holy Bishop Aid, Son of Brichie, a Branch of the Family of Neil. St. Ad, or Ed died the 10th of November, 589.

The Writer of St. Albe's Life, begins, Bishop Albe, the most Blessed Father and Patron of Munster, next to St. Patrick. Another Writer of his Life begins, Helve, the most Blessed Bishop of Ireland, a second Patrick, born in the East part of that Country, called Anyeliach. St. Albe died the 12th of September, 527.

The Writer of the Life of the Abbot St. Abban, who lived at the same time with St. Brendan, and died the 16th of March, or as others say the 27th of October, but I don't find the Year. The beginning of the Life is wanting in my Notes.

The Writer of the Life of Kiaran the Younger, the first Abbot of Clonmacnoise, begins, The Abbot Queran, a Glorious Saint, was descended of Boetius and Darercha his Parents. St. Kiaran died the 9th of September, 549.

The Writer of the Life of St. Flannan, Bishop of Killaloe, begins, There was a Holy man named Flannan, whose Life shined like a burning Lamp in the Church Militant, by his Acts of Faith and Charity. St. Flannan flourished in 639, in which Year they say he received Consecration from Pope John IV.

The Writer of the Life of St. Furse, begins, There was a Man of a Holy Life, named Furse, of Noble Extraction, but more Noble for his Faith. The Author is ancient, being cited by Bede in his Ecclesiastical History; but 'tis doubtful whether he was an Irish or a French Man. St. Furse's Festival is kept the 26th of January.

The Writer of the Life of St. Baithen Abbot of Hy, begins, The Reverend Father Baithin, from his Youth, was diligently instructed in the Word and Discipline of God, by the most famous Abbot Columba. Baithen died the 9th of June, 599, aged 66.

The Writer of the Life of St. Finian, Bishop, or Abbot of Clonard, begins, There was a Noble Man in Ireland, named Fintan, lineally descended from the Son of Rudrayth. St. Finian died the 12th of December, 552.

The Writer of the Life of St. Colman, Bishop of Dromore, begins, The most Blessed Colman, Bishop of Dromore, born of a Sept in the Ardes. St. Colman lived in 600. His Festival is kept the 7th of June.

The Writer of the Life of the Abbot St. Berach, begins, Among other Instances of the Power of God. St. Berach lived in 630.

The Writer of the Life of St. Molais, otherwise called Lasarian, Abbot of Devenish, begins, After that, by the Grace of God, working thro' the Preaching of St. Patrick, the Darkness of Infidelity was Dispelled from Ireland. Lasarian died the 12th of September, 571.

The Writer of the Life of Ende, Abbot of Arran, begins, The wonderful God, whose Almighty Power is visible in his Saints, hath sent this most Religious Man the Abbot Ende, as a Star to enlighten this dark World. St. Ende lived about 490.

The Writer of the Life of St. Fechin, Abbot of Four, begins, The Holy and Reverend Abbot St. Fechin, Illustrious for a Noble Parentage. His Father was Kelcharnan, his Mother Lafrea. St. Fechin died of the Jaundice, the 20th of January, 665; but this Author is not very ancient, for he mentions the coming of the English into Ireland, ## of IRISH WRITERS.

29

The Writer of the Life of St. Mochua Ballu, begins, There was a Man named Mochua, Son of Lonand, famous for his Extraction, being descended of Lugne in Conaught. Mochua died the 24th of December, 638, Aged 90 Years.

The Writer of the Life of St. Tigernach, Bishop of Cluana-cois, now Clones, in the County of Monaghan, begins, The Venerable Prelate Tigernach, descended of the Blood Royal of King Echach. St. Tigernach died the 4th or 5th of April, 549, or 550.

The Writer of the Life of St. Columba, Abbot of Tirdaglass, begins, St. Columba, called the Son of Crimthayn, born of a Noble Family in Leinster. St. Columba died, some say in 550; but more truly, according to the Writer of of his Life, the 13th of December, 552, the same Year in which St. Finian of Clonard died.

The Writer of the Life of St. Samthan, Abbess of Clonbrone, which begins, The Holy and Venerable Virgin Samthana, descended from an Ulster Sept; her Father was Dyamran, her Mother was called Columba. St. Samthan died the 19th of December, 739.

The Writer of the Life of the Holy Bishop Boetius, begins, The Holy Father and Elect Priest of God, Boetius, born of Honourable Parents. St. Boetius died the 7th of December, 518.

The Writer of the Life of St. Athraeta, a Virgin, who lived about 490.

Beside these we have many Lives of Irish Saints, in the lesser Book of the Servants of God, by John Vicar of Timmouth, called Sanctilogium; which John Copgrave afterwards transcribed, under whose Name they are extant, printed at London in 1516. John Timmouth lived in 1366. His Manuscript is in the Cottonian Library; but I doubt whether they be his own Works; for 'tis credible that he wrote them out of Irish Authors, or that he published them, changing only the Stile of the Author. There we have, besides the Lives of St. Patrick, Columba, Bridgit, Piran, (the same with our Kiaran the Elder) Brendan, Finian, Furse, and Cuthbert, of whom before, also the Lives of Foilan, Indract and his Fellow Martyrs, Tathey, Fiacre, Osmanna, Modwen, Benigne and Columban; but of those Authors and their Country, I will not take upon me to determine.

The End of the First Book.

K

OF

OF THE WRITERS
OF IRELAND;
THE SECOND BOOK.

CHAP. I.

Foreign Writers who had Preferment in Ireland, from the Tear of our Barbarous Lord 400, to the Coming of the English under Henry II.

Palladius came into Ireland in 431, being sent by Pope Celestine as well to propagate Christianity, as to root out the Pelagian Heresie then spreading in Ireland: But returning to Rome, after he had taken much pains in the Execution of his Office, he died among the Picts. The same Year Prosper Aquitanus, Bede, Marian, Florence of Worcester, Siebert and others deliver, that Palladius was sent by Pope Celestine to the Scots believing in Christ. It seems clear to me, that by the Scots are not meant those of Albany, but of Ireland, at that time commonly called Scots. Nennius, an old Author who lived in 855, says expressly, that Palladius being gone out of Ireland, came into Britain, and died there in the Land of the Picts: Which Joceline the Monk of Furnes confirms, saying, that the aforesaid Pope had sent before him (speaking of St. Patrick) another Doctor, namely, Palladius, to preach the Gospel to the Irish. And a few Lines after, But the Irish disbelieving his Preaching, and obstinately opposing the same, he departed from their Country; and designing for Rome, he died in Britain, within the Borders of the Picts. To these agree John Tinnmouth in the Life of St. Patrick; and the same may be gathered from his Life written by Probus, as also out of Prosper, Palladius his Contemporary, who in a Book against John Cassian (speaking of Celestine) saith, He having appointed a Bishop for the Scots, while he studies to preserve the Roman Island (to wit, Britain) in the Catholick Communion, gains also a Barbarous Island to Christianity. Where he distinguishes the Island to which Palladius was sent from Britain, of which Modern Scotland is part. Bale confounds our Palladius partly with Palladius the Gallatian, Bishop first of Helenopolis, then of Aspona, and partly with Palladius Bishop of Amasea. Irithemius and Gesner ascribe to him a Book of The Life of St. John Chrysostom; but the Author of that Book was George Bishop of Alexandria, not Palladius, as the Learned Bishop Usher makes appear. Bale adds (out of his own Head, as 'tis thought) that he also writ a Book against

De gestis
Britan. M. S.

Vit. S. Patri-cii, c. 25.

M. S. in Biblio. Cotton.

Vid. Usser de
Britan. Eccl.
Prim. c. 16.
L. de Scr. Ec.
Biblio. Univ.

Cent. 14. n. 7.

against the Pelagians, Homilies, Epistles to Celestine; besides those he formerly published in Greek: By which, perhaps, he means the Historia Lausiaca, which is the Work of Palladius the Gallatian, not our Palladius. He died among the Picts in his return to Rome, the 15th of December. 431, the very same Year that he came to Ireland: So 'tis generally reported. But in my M. S. Annals of Innisfall, 'tis said that he continued there one Year, and rested in Christ in Britain. Tirechan suggests that he suffered Martyrdom there. Boethius relates, that in 1494 his Reliques were Honourably Interr'd in a Silver Coffin at Fordun, by William Schewes Arch-Bishop of St. Andrews.

St. Patrick, born at Kirk-Patrick in Scotland, deservedly called the Apostle of the Irish; writ, or is reported to have written, Of the three Habitations; or of the Joys of the Elect, and of the Pains of the Damned, extant in the 9th Tome of St. Augustine's Works, to whom some ascribe it: It begins thus, There are three Habitations under the Observance of Almighty God, Heaven, Earth and Hell. The Book called The Charter of St. Patrick, or of the Antiquities of Avalon, now Glastonbury, which begins: In the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ, I Patrick, a mean Servant of God in the Year of his Incarnation 425 (in another Copy 430) Legate of the most Holy Father Celestine in Ireland. 'Tis extant in Bibliotheca Patrum, published at Cologne in 1618, in the close of the 5th Tome: But 'tis accounted spurious, and the Work of a later Age, as well for the Ara annex of Christ's Incarnation, which was not us'd in St. Patrick's time; as also for the English Saxon Names which are there given the Friers who are said to have succeeded the Disciples of St. Phagan and Ditruvian. St. Patrick's Confession, a M. S. in the Library of Sarum in England, which begins, I Patrick a Sinner: A Monitory Epistle to Corotic, or Ceretic: A Welsh Primer, which is a M. S. also: A Book of Proverbs in Irish: A Monastick Rule: The Abuses of the Age. This seems (says Colgan) to be that Treatise which in the 9th Tome of St. Augustine's Works, pag. 395, is intitled, A Book of the Abuses of the Age; it begins thus: The first degree of Abuses is if a wise Man and a Preacher be without good Works, and does not live unto what he teacheth, &c. An account of his own Life and Actions, i Book. There are extant the Canons of a Synod he held, and of another held by him and Auxilius and Ifferninus, among the British Councils lately published by Sir Henry Spelman: And of these Canons and others, which perhaps are lost, must Joceline be understood, where he says that Patrick writ a great Volume called Canoin Phadrug, i e. Patrick's Canons. Cambrensis mentions his Prophecy of the Affairs of Ireland. There are published also in a compleat Volume, besides a Testament, which goes under his Name, some Colloquies in Irish, relating to the Affairs of Ireland, in which St. Patrick, Coile and Oisen are brought in discoursing together, but the Work is of later times. Bale adds, that Patrick writ the following Books, A Progress through Ireland: The History of Ireland out of Ruanus: The future state of the Elect; the same, I suppose, with that of the three Habitations: Abjectoria 366. Nennius calls them Abgetoria 365, or more: A Book of Sermons, one of which was preserved sometime in the Library of the Monastery of Sion among the middle Saxons in England, as appears from the Catalogue of Books of the said Monastery, but is not now to be found: An Epistle to the Inhabitants of the Isle of Avalon: Many Epistles to the Irish Churches, and to his Britains, mentioned by the Anonymous Writer of his Life. Tirechan, an ancient Writer of St. Patrick's Life not published, tells us what we may understand by Abjectoria above mentioned, by comparing the following places together. St. Patrick (says he) baptized Men daily, and taught them Letters and Abgetoria. Again, He founded also the Charch I carig dagri, and another Chuach Iniwinig Thuaithe; and writ the Elements for Germanus. Thus much in the first Book. Afterwards in the second Book there are these words: And lo, a certain person came to them named Mac Dregin, with his four Sons, and asked Baptism of Patrick; and he blessed him and his Sons, and chose one of them named Erca, and writ the Elements, and blessed him with the Benediction (perhaps he means of a Presbiter.) P. S. Also after he had baptized one Hinn, he writ the Abgetoria for him, and blessed him with a Bishop's Blessing. Whence I think In vit. S. Patr.

Hist. Scot.
fol. 128.

Boston, Bu-rius lib. de Script. Ital.

Jocelin. vit.
Patr. c. 150.
id. ch. 185.

Tom. 2. Tri-
ad. Thaum.

vit. Patr. c.
185.

Hib. Expug.
l. 2. c. 32.

think it appears, that the Abgetoria of Nennius (miscalled by Bale Abjectoria) signifie the Alphabet or A, B, C, which St. Patrick wrote and taught; and that Bale and his Followers were mistaken, who reckon those Abjectoria among St. Patrick's Works. St. Patrick passed hence to a state of Immortality the 17th of March, 492, Aged 120; having long before his Death resign'd his Arch-Bishoprick.

S. Secundine, or Bishop Sechnall, commonly called S. Scagblin, Son of Restitutus a Lombard, and Darerca Sister to St. Patrick, compos'd an Hymn in Praise of St. Patrick the same Year that he died, which begins, All ye that love God bear the Holy Merits of that Blessed Man in Christ Bishop Patrick. Joceline of Furness mentions this Hymn. He came into Ireland about 439. So we read in the Ulster Annals, An. 439, Secund (or Secundin) Auxilius and Iffernine are sent into Ireland with an Episcopal Power to the assistance of Patrick. He died the 27th of December, 448, at Dunshagblin, a Village so called in the Diocese of Meath, and was there buried in his Church, being 75 Years of Age. See more of him in Joceline.

This Hymn, together with St. Patrick's Works, are published by Sir Ja. Ware at London in 1656.

Cap. 176, 177.

Joceline, cap. 186.

St. Mel, or Mel the Britain, Nephew to St. Patrick by his Sister Darerca, the first Bishop of Ardagh, writ a Book of the Virtues and Miracles of St. Patrick then living. He died at Ardagh the 6th of February, 487, according to the Ulster Annals, in which Year is set down, The Rest of the Holy Bishop Mel in Ardagh.

Ibid.

Luman a Britain also, and Nephew to St. Patrick by his Sister Tygridia, Bishop of the Church of Trim in Meath, writ, as appears also from Joceline, The Acts of his Unkle St. Patrick. See more in Joceline, Cap. 39, 50, 51 and 52. His Festival is kept the 11th of October.

Ibid.

Another Nephew to St. Patrick, called also Patrick, compos'd the Life of his Unkle. Joceline says, that going for Britain after the Death of his Unkle, he died, and was Honourably Interr'd in Glastonbury Church.

Cent. 1. n. 5.

Gildas Albanus (whom Bale calls a Disciple of St. Patrick) descended of Royal Race among the Britans, having for some time Preach'd Christ in Ireland, and govern'd the Church of Armagh, upon the news of his Brother Howel being slain by King Arthur in Battel, returned into Britain, and about the Year 508 was reconcil'd to the King. In the Abby of Lancarvan, by perswasion of the Abbot Cadoc, he taught School. The Year following he went thence to the Isle Echni, and leaving that soon after, for fear of the Pirates of the Isle of Orkney, went to Glastonbury; near which place, at the Bank of the River Ax, he built the Church dedicated to the H. Trinity; where he spent the remainder of his Life in Solitude. He died the 29th of January, 512; and his Corps being carried to Glastonbury, was there Interr'd. He writ, according to Bale, A Book of Commentaries on the 4 Gospels: Of the first Inhabitants of the Island: A Book of Prophecies in Verse: A Book Intituled, De sexto cognoscendo: Another on the same Subject: An History of the British Kings: Of the Victory of Aurelius Ambrosius: The Acts of Germanus and Lupus; and some other things. 'Tis reported that in Lancarvan Abby he left a Book of the 4 Evangelists under his own Hand Writing; whence (I suppose) Bale takes occasion to make him the Author of Commentaries on the Evangelists. Of his Prophecies Buchanan writes, "That those which went under his Name were so ridiculous in their Words and Sentences, so impolish'd and uncorrect in their whole Composure, that no one of Sence can believe Gildas to be their Author. Geofry of Monmouth quotes his Books of the Victory of Aurelius, and The Acts of Germanus and Lupus, in whose time they seem to have been extant: And says moreover, that Gildas translated the Mulmatine Laws out of Brittish into Latin, but King Alured turned them into English.

L. 2. c. 1.
L. 3. c. 2.
L. 1. c. 18.

Moltey (by Joceline called Moccheey) a Britain, leaving his Parents and Native Country, went to Ireland for Christ's sake, and was made Bishop of Louth. He writ an Epistle with this Inscription, Mauctey a Sinner, Priest, and Disciple of St. Patrick, wishes you Health in the Lord: And according to Bale, Prognosticks of Nativities. He seems also to have compos'd some other things, for he is the Person (I suppose) whom I find thus quoted in the Ulster Annals, Anno 471. The first

Prey

Prey of the Saxons from Ireland, as Authors affirm, was in that Year taken, as Mosley relates, so I find in the Book of Cannich. Bale and his Followers do shamefully confound this Mosley with Bacchar, mentioned by Gennadius, whose Epistle to Januarinus touching the receiving of Lapsed Persons into the Church, is extant. Dempster feigns that Bacchar, surnamed Mosley, writ a Book to Pope Leo I. in Defence of Travel, or Pilgrimage.

Machute, or Machute, a Britain, Disciple of St. Brendan of Clonfert, and his Fellow Traveller, lived in 558. Leaving Ireland, he went to Aletha in Bretagne, which for many Years past, the former Name being antiquated, is called from its Patron, Machute, and commonly St. Mallus. When he had presided Bishop there he was forced from his Bishoprick by the Citizens, and went to Saintes, where he was honourably received by Bishop Leontius: A few Years after he died, being above 100 Years old. He was eminently learned, says Bale; and is said to have left some Epistles to Posterity. But Dempster adds out of his own Head, that Machute writ Of the Fortunate Islands: Epistles to the Brittish Churches: Epistles to Brendan: The Orders of his Church: And affirms that those Orders are still kept at Aletha in Bretagne. Some erroneously make him an Irish Man. Hugh Kirkeftid, a Cistercian (who lived in 122) calls him Machittus, a Monk, and Bishop of Ireland, who is reported to have raised a Giant from the Dead, and baptized him; and for seven Years to have accompanied Brendan in his Navigation, where (perhaps) instead of Machittus is to be understood Machutus. Sigebert of Glenblours says, he was born near the Coast of the Brittish Sea; that his Father's name was Guent, a Nobleman, and Founder of the City Guinacastle, &c. as appears from Surius at the 15th of November. Hence (I suppose) David Camerarius gathers, that he was born of Honourable Parents in Scotland, to wit, of the Lord of Guinacastle, and his Mother a Countess named Darnall: But how truly let others judge.

Gildas of Binnestown, or Blascamore, came out of Britain into Ireland about the Year 566, being invited over by Amirach (or Ajmer and Ajmerich Son of Setnai) King of Ireland; but after he had Preach'd the Gospel there a little while, King Amirach being slain in 568 or 569, he returned to his Native Country, where the Year following he died, in the 50th Year of his Age. He writ, according to Bale, One Book of the Destruction of Britain: One Book of the Clergy of his own time, beginning thus, Britain hath Priests: One Book of sharp Sermons, which begins thus, Isaiah the Prophet saith, Woe to you: An History which begins with these words, Alboin King of the Lombards, One Book of the Immortality of the Soul, and some other things. But here I take notice, that the second Work which Bale after his manner ascribes to him, is not any distinct Work, but only part of that Querulous Book of the Destruction of Britain. Ponticus Virannius in the 4th Book of his Brittish History says, that Gildas writ some Books of Epigrams, and a Poem called Cambre; and in the end of that Book plainly distinguishes him from another Gildas (to wit, of Albany) who writ of the Victory of Aurelius Ambrosius. Bale ascribes those Poetical Works to a Welsh Gildas (some feign'd Person, I suppose) whom he affirms to have flourished in the 60th Year of Christ: but I can't take them for the Works of any other than our Brittish Gildas. The most learned Arch-Bishop of Armagh, in his Antiquities of the Brittish Churches, shews that John Philip Percy and others had erroneously ascrib'd to this Gildas the Comedy intitled, Aulularia, or Querola, falsely father'd upon Plautus. This Gildas is confounded with the former (of Albany) by the Author of his Life. His Nativity is celebrated in Britain on the 24th of April, as John Molan observes in his Martyrology.

Bishop Agilbert, a French Man, continued some time in Ireland for his better understanding the Scripture: From thence he went into England, and was some time Bishop of the West-Saxons; afterwards he returned into France, and accepting the Bishoprick of Paris, he died there aged and full of Days, as we learn from Bede in his 3d Book, Ch. the 7th. Bale says (from what Author I know not) that Hildas the Abbeys writ against him One Book for the Observation of the ancient Rites. And Dempster takes occasion from hence, perhaps, to feign that Agilbert writ a Voluminous.

L

Cent. i. n. 46.

Cat. Illus. vir.

Hist. Ec. Scot.
l. 2. n. 162.

* 'Tis called Aletum in the ancient Notutialom. Imp.
Molan. Nat.
S. S. Belgii ad 15 Nov.

Cent. i. n. 36.

De Scotor.
Fortud. &c.
l. 3. p. 198.

Badonicus.

Ulster Annal.

Cent. i. n. 24

pag. 557 &
1143.

Cent. i. n. 30.
Hist. Ec. Scot.
l. 1. n. 49.

Voluminous Book for correcting the Error in the Observation of Easter. 'Tis certain, that in Bede there is not a word of either of these Books, though he very copiously treats of the Synod held in the Monastery of Whitby in the Year 664 (at which Hildas and Agilbert himself were present) concerning Easter, and the shaving of the Crown.

Egbert, a Noble Man also of England, applied himself to the Study of the Holy Scriptures in Ireland; and from thence went to the Island of Hy, where on the 10th of April, being Easter Day, in 729, he died, at 90 Years of Age, after he had taught the Monks of Hy the Apostolick manner of keeping the Feast, as Venerable Bede informs us. He writ, according to Bale, one Book of the Customs of the Catholics: One Book of the Observation of Easter: A Book of Sermons: and some other things; but we have only his word for it.

Willibrord, an English Saxon, Arch-Bishop of Utrecht in Holland, was twelve Years studying (says Alcuin) among the greatest Masters both of Religion and Theology in Ireland, designing to be a Preacher of the Gospel to many People. And in the beginning of his second Book:

*Fam'd Willibrod came from the Western Clime
To see blest France in good King Pepin's time,
Whose Wit with Virtue, Love with Wisdom plac'd;
His Speech and Mind, his Mein and Actions grac'd.
Britain's kind Soyl did give him Birth and Parts,
But Learned Ireland taught him Sacred Arts.*

Cent. 3. n. 5.

He writ, according to Bale, a Book of his Travels: One Book of Ecclesiastical Canons: Also Homilies, and many Epistles. He died (according to Gaspar Brusch, who erroneously makes him an Irish Man) in 739; according to others, in 736; in the 81st Year of his Age, and lies buried in the Monastery of Epternach, Founded by himself. His Will is extant in Scribanius's Antwerpia, and in Miræus his Account of the Netherlands. Dempster and Camerarius reckon him among the Scotch; but, doubtless, they are in the wrong.

One Gildas lived in 820: He was born in Wales, but nevertheless of Scottish-Irish Descent, and studied among those People, as Bale out of Leland delivers. He writ, according to Bale and his Followers, One Book called The Breviary of Gildas, which thus begins: From the beginning of the World to the Flood: One Book of the Wonders of Britain, beginning thus, The first Wonder is a Lake: Of the first Inhabitants: One Book of King Arthur: One Book of his unknown Sepulchre: One Book Intituled, De esse periculoso: One Book of the Soldier, of a Lion: One Book of the Soldier, of a Chariot: One Book of Percivall and Lancilot: One Book of Galguan and others; with many other things: Thus Bale. But the first Work is the same which in truer Copies is ascribed to Ninnius the Britain. His Book also of Computation is in Manuscript in the Cottonian Library, consisting of 99 Chapters, which he dedicated to the Monk Raban, afterwards Abbot of Fuld. Here is further to be noted, that the Work of King Arthur, ascrib'd to him by Bale, seems more truly to belong to the former Gildas: The same thing Giraldus Cambrensis teacheth us in his Dispraises of Wales, Chap. 2. "Of the true Gildas (says he) who writes such Invectives against his own Nation, the Britains report that he writ them being offended with King Arthur for killing his Brother the Prince of Albany; and for that reason he threw all the famous Books he had written of the Life and Actions of King Arthur, and of the Praises of his own Nation (upon the News brought him of his Brother's death) into the Sea; which is the reason you find nothing expressly delivered in any Authentick Writings of so great a Prince. Thus he.

See Arch-Bishop Usher's vet. Hib. Epistol. recens. p. 154.

Alphonf. Ciaccon. Vit. Pontif. Rom.

John Paparo, a Roman by Birth, was Cardinal, Priest, and Legate from Pope Eugene III. to Ireland. I find the Titles of two Canons published in a Synod of the Arch-Bishops and Bishops of Ireland, which he held at Kells, the first against Symony and Usury; the second for paying Tyrthes. See the Names of those Bishops the the Antiquities, Ch. 16. The Cardinal having finish'd his Negotiations, returned to Rome by the way of Scotland: If we believe Dempster, he writ one book to the Scottish Church. John Alan Arch-Bishop of Dublin, hath this Note in his Register, John Paparo, while he was in Ireland, had Subsidies given him from all the Churches of the Provinces, to wit, the hundredth part of each benefice.

Hist. Eccl.
Scot. l. 15.
n. 1024.

Fol. 111. d.

Gilbert, a Cistercian Monk of St. Mary's Abby of _____ in Lincolnshire, by Command of Stephen King of England, came over to Ireland with Owen an Irish Soldier. There they began to build a Monastery, cohabiting together for two Years and a half: Gilbert was chief Manager within doors, but the Soldier was Procurator and Solicitor in all things abroad, and a most faithful Interpreter. This Gilbert (afterwards Abbot of Basingwerk in Flintshire) hath writ a Description of Owens Vision in Patrick's Purgatory, as appears from Wendover. But, says he, by the Industry and Diligence of this Monk, this Soldiers Experience was committed to writing. He lived in 1152. See more of him in Roger Wendover, whose History till the Year 1235, is published in Matthew Paris, to whom it is falsely ascribed.

C H A H. II.

Girald Barry, commonly called Cambrensis (whom some erroneously named Silvester Girald) born in Pembrokeshire, of a Noble Parentage, his Father William de Barry, his Mother Angareth (Daughter of Nesta, the Honourable Daughter of Refus Prince of South Wales, Son of Theodore) as he writes himself of his own Family. He was first made Arch-Deacon of Brechin, afterwards of St. David's, by his Uncle David, Bishop of St. David's; but in 1185, he was sent over to Ireland, by Henry II. King of England, with his Son John, to whom he was appointed Secretary, where John offer'd him the Bishopricks of Ferns and Leghlin, or one of them, for they were both vacant at the same time; but he refused the Offer, and bent his mind to compleat his Works of the Topography of Ireland (or of the Wonders of Ireland) and the History of the Conquest of Ireland. He began these while he was in Ireland, but finished them after his return to Wales. At length in 1198, Peter, Bishop of St. David's, being dead, he was chosen by the Chapter his Successor; touching which affair there happen'd great Contention at Rome, between him and Geofry Prior of Lanthon, carried on by means of Hubert Arch-Bishop of Canterbury, in which our Girald did at last submit. He writ, according to Bale, The Topography of Ireland in four Books, the first words of which are, It pleased Your Excellency. The Conquest of the same in three Books, which begin thus, By reason of the Situation of Ireland. The Topography of Wales in four Books, An Itinerary of the same, beginning in this manner, Because those things which in Britain. Illustrations of Merlins, two Books, the beginning of which is, Because in the former Book of Merlin. The Topography of England in four Books, The Distinctions of Girald, one Book, which thus begins, Now for these things, which against the course of Nature. A Relation of the Sleepers, one Book, beginning, Decius the Emperor reigned. Notes on some Works of Seneca, one Book. The wonders of the Holy Land, one Book. The Church's Looking-Glass, four Books. Of a Mournful Complaint, beginning, Quoniam ad Cantuariensem. For returning like for like, one Book, which begins, He who desires me to look into the Church's Glass. The Life of Henry II., three Books. The Acts of King John, one Book, the first words of which are, John, the younger Son of Henry. To Stephen of Canterbury, one Book. Of the Instruction of a Prince, three Books, beginning thus, There is one King over Bees. On the Scotch Merlin one Book. The Church Jewel, one Book. Triennial Invectives, one Book. Of the misery of Humane State, one Book. One Book of Epigrams. One Book of Verses in Metre. One Book of the Wickedness of the Cistercians. One Book of Epistles and Sayings. A Prophetical History, one Book. The Laborious Works

De vit. sua.
l. c. 1. extat.
in Bibl. Cot.

Works of Girald, three Books. Of Birds and their Nature, one Book. Rhetorical Orations, one Book. Of the Dispraises of the Welsh, three Books. Of the Proemiums of his own Works, one Book. Descriptions of great Men, one Book. The Symbol of the Elect to Mapes, one Book. The Cosmography of the World, one Book. The Chronology of the same, one Book. A Monitory Looking-glass, one Book. A Consolatory Looking-glass, one Book. Invective Epistles, one Book. A Mournful Song, one Book. The Contest of Geofry of York, one Book. Of the Honesty of Clerks, one Book. An Explanation of the Map of VVales, one Book. Of Debtor and Creditor, one Book. Dialogues in Prose, one Book. The Life of St. Ethelbert the Martyr, one Book. The Life of David Bishop of St. David's, one Book. The Life of Caradoc the Priest, one Book. The Life of Remigius of Lincoln, one Book. The Life of Hugh the Carthusian, one Book. Of Monks and Clerks, one Book. Of the Flowers of Philosophers, one Book. Answer to the Invectives of Hubert, one Book. To the Objections of the Envious, one Book. The Itinerary of Baldwin, one Book. Of the Fruit and Defect of Faith, one Book. Of Mahomet and his Wickedness, one Book. For Guy of VVarwick, one Book. An Account of Prerogatives, one Book. Of the Wonders of the World, one Book, and many other things. Thus He. He writ likewise a Treatise of Retractions, which is a Manuscript extant at the end of his Description of the Dispraises of VVales, in the Cottonian Library: Also two Books of his own Life, second of which is imperfect, and a Dialogue of the state of the Church of St. David's; but perhaps 'tis the same with the Book which Bale calls the Laborious VVorks of Girald; for in that Dialogue he gives a large History of the Contest, between him and Geofry Prior of Lanthony, touching the Bishoprick of St. David's, before Pope Innocent III. as we have before noted.

Observations on some of the Works of Girall and others falsely ascribed to him. The Topography of Ireland contains three Books or Distinctions, and not four, as Bale says; as also The Prophetick History of the Conquest of Ireland, is not contain'd in three, but two Books; for Girald himself says, that "he bestowed three Years time to digest the Topography of Ireland, with the hidden Secrets of Nature, in three Distinctions; and that "in two Years time he finished the subsequent Prophetick History of the Conquest of Ireland in two Distinctions. He writ indeed A Prologue to a third Book of Prophetick History, but it seems never perfected the Book it self. Bale moreover makes the Prophetick History different from that which Girald writ of the Conquest of Ireland; but erroneously, as appears from the beginning of the Prologue aforesaid, where he says, "That History got the Name Prophetick, because "he inserted in it the Prophecies of both the Merlins in such convenient places, "as the subject did require. And from thence also, I suppose, Bale pretends that Girald writ, besides the Books of the Conquest of Ireland, one Book on the Scottish Merlin, and one Book on Ambrose Merlin. He says besides, that Girald writ Illustrations of the two Merlins, which begin, Because in the former Books of Merlin; but he is much in the wrong, for those words are taken out of the beginning of the Prologue to the third Book of the Prophetick History of the Conquest of Ireland. The Book of Distinctions, which begins, Now as to those things which contrary to Nature, is the same with the second Book of the Topography of Ireland. The Topography or Description of Wales, consists of two Books; David Powel published the former, Intituled Of the Praises, with Annotations, omitting the latter of the Dispraises; but from thence Bale pretends that he writ three Books of the Dispraises of Wales. The Itinerary of VVales, and the Itinerary of Baldwin, are one and the same, tho' Bale hath reckon'd them as distinct VVorks, and contain not three or four Books as he speaks, but two. 'Tis printed with the said Powel's Annotations, and thus Intituled, The Itinerary of VVales, or an Accurate Description of the Laborious Progress of Baldwin, Arch-Bishop of Canterbury through VVales.

His Descriptions of Great Men are found in his History of the Conquest of Ireland, to wit, of Richard Strongbow Earl of Pembroke, Robert Stephens, Maurice Gerald, and other Heroes; but Bale is the first I can learn, who said that Girald had Prior. Prefa.

in descr.
Cambr.

Consult Illuf.
Arch. Arma.
Ver. Epist.
Hib. Syllog.

had left any distinct Book of their Characters. Josias Simler, in the Appendix to Gesners Bibliotheque, hath falsely ascribed to Girald one Book of the Kings of the Saxons, and one Book of English Chronicles: He was led into the mistake by Bale's first Edition of British Writers, but those Books are not mentioned in the second Edition of Bale. The Book moreover of the Isle of Man, and of the Life of St. Patrick, which are Manuscripts in the University Library of Cambrige, are none of his, altho' some take an occasion from the mention of them by Doctor Thomas James, to ascribe them to Gerald. The Church's Jewel, ascribed to him by Bale, and which begins, A Troop in the Camps of the King Eternal, is perhaps the same with the Souls Jewel, which John Cochley published, without the Author's Name, at Ments, in 1549, they have certainly the same beginning.

Eleg. Oxon.
Cantabr.

John Comin, or Cumin, an English Man, Arch-Bishop of Dublin, held a Provincial Synod, the Canons whereof being approved by Pope Urban III. his Bull, are extant among the Records of the Cathedral of Christ Church, Dublin. Giraldus Cambrensis was present at this Synod, held in the Church aforesaid at Dublin, in the middle of Lent; from whose Life we understand that John Comin preached a Sermon there the first Day, on the Sacraments of the Church, and that " Albin the Abbot of Baltinglass, who was afterwards Bishop of Fernes, and preached the second Day a long Sermon of the Continency of Priests, did at length lay all the blame on the Clergy who came over to Ireland from Wales and England, shewing in how great Continency the Irish Clergy lived till they contracted Corruption from the poysonous Conversation of Foreigners. But from thence ensued a sharp Contention between Girald and this Albin, of which Girald himself gives a large account in his Life. Comin died the 25th of October, 1212, and was buried in Christ Church, Dublin. Dempster writ thus of him " John Cumin, born of the Noble Family of the Earls of Buchan, is most falsely accounted an English Man, when I my self have seen some of his Writings lately at Paris, wherein he recommends the Cause of his People to Pope Lucius, in the Library of Paulus Petavius Senator of Paris. And John Fordan, in his fourth Book, asserts that he was descended of the Royal Blood, for which reason was of great esteem in that Kingdom. He was at first Arch-Bishop of Dublin in Ireland, where he built the Church dedicated to St. Patrick, as the Irish Annals relate; afterwards he was created Cardinal at Velitre, by Pope Lucius, as appears from the Authority of Giraldus. Ciaconius, Onaphrius and others, have made no mention of him. Without doubt he writ many things. I saw in a worthy Library, A Book of Letters to the Popes, and another Book of Letters to divers persons, and a little after. He died in 1212, and was buried at Dublin. Some think that he was Bishop of Dumblane (in Scotland) not of Dublin. Thus far, He, who in his Catalogue of the Writers of Scotland, every where as he pleases, inserts English, Welsh and Irish, and to confirm his Assertions very often has feigned Authors, Works, Place and Time.

L. 2. Espugn.
Hib. c. 23.

Hist. Eccl.
Scot. lib. 3.
n. 348.

John Grey, Bishop of Norwich, a Prudent and Learned Man, being constituted Justice of Ireland by King John, came over with an Army in 1208; but in 1213, having received Orders from the King, he returned with his Army, to England to oppose the French King, then attempting to invade England. At the same Year, R. Wendover, There came also out of Ireland, John Bishop of Norwich, with 500 Foot and a great number of Horse, to the King's Assistance, who gladly received him. He is said to have written a Book of Histories and Epistles to divers persons, with some other things. Possessin says that he intituled that Historical Work Scale Chronicon. Afterwards, in 1214, in his return from Rome, whither he had been sent Ambassador to the Pope, he died near Poictiers. the first of November; from whence his Body was brought into England, and interred in his Church at Norwich.

Bale Ceta.
3. 2. 73.

Ralph Bristol, Bishop of Kildare in 1223, writ the Life of Laurence, Arch-Bishop of Dublin.

John Derlington, Arch-Bishop of Dublin in 1273, writ, according to Bale, The great English Concordances, Sermons to both States, Scholastick Disputations, and some other things. He died at London in 1284, and was there buried in the Choir of the Church of the Friars Preachers; At which Year thus the Manuscript Annals of the Priory of Dunstable, in the Cottonian Library Doctor John Derlington, Arch-Bishop of Dublin, died in 1284, who was appointed Collector of all the Money granted by way of Subsidy for the Holy Land in the Council at Lyons, and he is reported to have died suddenly, and as it were without making a Will.

John de Dumbleton, a Scholar of the University of Oxford, Arch-Deacon of Meath, and Rector of Kells, died the 18th of November, in 1288, and was there buried, as appears from the Chronicles of the Abby of Hales, in the Cottonian Library. He writ Books of Logick, and Natural Philosophy, which are in Manuscript in Merton College in Oxford.

L. 4. n. 74.
Dodg. Cent.
p. 224.

William de Hothun, or Odon ( consecrated Arch-Bishop of Dublin, in the Year 1298, in which Year also he died ) writ, according to Bale, Glosses on the four Books of Sentences, Questions on the first Book of the Immediate Vision of God, Of the unity of Forms, Scholastick Lectures. Caius adds an Oration in French, of the Kings Right to Scotland. Boston of Bury recites his Works in this order. He writ ( says he ) upon the first book of Summs, also Lectures on all the Books of Summs, Of the Unity of Formes, Of the Immediate Vision of the Divine Essence. Possevin erroneously makes him a different person from William de Odon, Arch-Bishop of Dublin.

CHAP. III.

Thomas Forse, Arch-Bishop of Armagh, writ a Promptuary of Divinity, in three Books; Of Sins in general, Divers Questions, and other things. He abdicated his Arch-Bishoprick the 16th of November, 1311.

Cent. 5. n. 23.

John de Bloxam, of Oxford, B. D. and a Carmelite of the Convent of Chester, being made Vicar General of his Order in Ireland, held a Provincial Chapter in the Monastery of Ardee in Louth, where he is said to have instituted many things for restoring Discipline. He writ, according to Bale, On the four Books of the Master of the Sentences, On the Apocalypse, 186 Letters to several Bishops, The Statutes of the Chapter of Ardee, A Book of Sermons, A Book of Questions discussed, and some other things. Returning for England, he was made the 13th Provincial of his Order, in 1333, and died afterwards ( as they say ) at Oxford.

Vid. Pitt. de
Angl. Script.
n. 526.

Robert Eliphath lived in 1334: Some say he was Arch-Bishop of Armagh, but I believe they are mistaken; for during the whole time of Eliphath, I find others possess of the Government of that See: Therefore I omit his Works as impertinent in this Catalogue.

Placita Theologia.

William Powell, Bishop of Meath, is reported to have written on the four Books of the Master of the Sentences, Divinity Decrees, Of the perfection of the Understanding, Of actual Knowledge, Of formal Truth, which begins thus, Whether Truth is a substantial Form. Of Ens Rationis, Ordinary Questions, A Book of Sermons, and other things. He died about the 26th of July, 1349.

Richard Ledred, Bishop of Ossory, writ some Hymns, to be sung in his Church, on the Nativity of our Lord and other Festivals: Also Epistles to the Popes John XXII. Benedict XII. and Clement VI. There are also Synodal Constitutions, published by him. Consult Wadding's Annals of the Minorites, Tom 3 and 4. He died in 1360, and was buried in his Church.

Catal. Archi-episc. Ebor.
in Bib. Cott.

Robert Waldby, Arch-Bishop of Dublin, afterwards of York, died in 1397, and was buried at Westminster, according to Thomas Stubbes, in a Marble Tomb, with this Epitaph,

Hic fuit expertus in quovis jure Robertus
De VValby dictus nunc est sub marmore strictus,

Sacræ

Sacra Scriptura Doctor fuit, & genitura
 Ingenuus medicus, & plebis semper amicus,
 Consultor Regis, optabat prospera legis
 Ecclesie choris fuit unus his quoque honoris
 Præful Adurensis post Archos Dubliniensis
 Hinc Cicistrensis tandem Primas Eboensis,
 Quarto Calend. Junii migravit curfibus anni
 Septem, Milleni, ter C. nonies quoque deni
 Vos precor orate, ut sint tibi dona beata
 Cum Sanctis vitæ, requiescat & hic sine lite.

VVhich one hath thus attempted to render in English.

*Here Robert of VValby to his Grave is confin'd, Physician in Ordinary to the Body and Mind,
 Who Prince and poor Peasant with Advice did besfriend,
 Nor Rigour but Reason in the Laws did commend;
 France, Ireland and England, three Kingdoms he blest,
 In the Office of Prelate and Service of Christ,
 In one thousand three hundred ninety and seven
 This Life he surrendred for a better in Heaven.
 With Saints may he reign enricht with all Graces,
 And none be so vain as to trouble his Ashes.*

He writ, according to Bale, A Lecture on the Sentences in four Books, Ordinary Questions, Miscellaneous Quodlibets, Against the Wickliviſts, A Course of Sermons throughout the Year, and many other things.

Cent. 6. n. 88.

Thomas Edwardſton is reputed an Arch-Biſhop, but of what place 'tis not known; John Pits thinks he was an Irish Prelate, but is mistaken; as might be made appear from the Records and Histories of Ireland: I shall therefore pass over his VVorks in silence. He died the 26th of May, 1396, and was buried in Clare Abby.

John de Swaſham, perhaps born at Swaſham, in the County of Norwich. Biſhop of Cloyne, writ, as Bale out of Leland delivers, Against the Wickliviſts, and a Book of Sermons. He was present at the Synod held at Stanford, in 1392, where the Books of John Wickliff were condemn'd. He died about the Year 1398.

Cent. 7.
tit. 11.

Richard Northal, Arch-Biſhop of Dublin, died in 1397. He is said to have written A Book of Sermons, also To the Priests of Parish Churches, and other things.

Cent. 7. n. 49.

Thomas Peverell, Biſhop of Oſſory, died in 1417. He published, according to Bale, Questions of Divinity, Sermons upon solemn Occasions, The Order of his Church, and other things. See more of him in Bale and Godwin, among the Biſhops of Landaff and Worcester.

C H A P. IV.

Thomas Colby, a Carmelite of Norwich, Doctor of Divinity, and an eloquent Preacher, was appointed Biſhop of Waterford and Lismore, by King Richard II. as Bale delivers out of Leland, in 1599, but he either fell from his biſhoprick, or ſate a very little time; for it appears from the Records, that Thomas Snell was provided by the Pope, and restored to the Temporalities by Henry IV. the 16th of November, 1399. Colby writ according to Bale, (not to mention the Tables which Bale recites) A Preceptory of the Divine Law, Collections of Sacred Doctrine, On the Lord's Prayer, On the Psalm Misereere, Holy Sermons, Cent. 7. tit.

38.
Rotl patent.
An. 1. Hen. 4.
par. 1. in Arc.
London.

Cent. 7. n. 38.

Of

Of the Purity of the Church: Scripture Readings: Annotations on Genesis: "All which he finish'd in 1406, under Henry IV; but of his Death and Burial I have nothing certain to affirm. Thus Bale. He is said also to have written some Historical Collections.

John Colton, an English Man, and Doctor of Laws in the University of Cambridge, a grave and learned Person, Arch-Bishop of Armagh in 1382. He lived in the time of that long Schism of Urban VI. and Clement VII. wherefore, as Bale informs us, he writ Of the Causes of Schism, and of the Remedies of the same. There is also yet remaining some part of the Provincial Constitutions published by him; and in Merton College Library in Oxford, there are extant the Sentences of John of Armagh: But whether they may be ascribed to this John, I cannot say.

Bale, Cent.
13. n. 36.

Cent. 13. n.
93.

Thomas Cranley, Arch-Bishop of Dublin, was some time Justice of Ireland under Henry V. While he was in that Post, he writ an Epistle to the King in neat Verse; which John Leland is said to have read with a great deal of Satisfaction; and preserved the same in his Memory. He died the 25th of May, 1417, at Farington in Berkshire.

John Baterley, Arch-Bishop of Tuam about the Year 1430, is esteem'd by Bale a Brittainish Writer, but he suggests that his Works are lost.

Henry of Marlborough, so called (I suppose) because born at Marlborough in the County of Wilts, Vicar of Balliscaddan in the County of Dublin, writ in Latin 7 Books of Annals, which he brought down to the Year 1421, in which he lived: Some part of these Annals are published by Camden in his Britannia in the Year 1607; but they are printed more largely in English though not intirely) at Dublin, in 1633, at the end of Dr. Hanmer's Chronicle. This is the Title of the Work: "Chronicles extracted from the Marrow of divers Chronicles, especially of Ralph Chester, written by Henry Marlborough Vicar of Baliscaddan, together with some Chapters out of Irish Chronicles, beginning in the Year of our Lord 1416, in the 7th Year of King Henry IV, since the Conquest. His Contemporary was John Gese Bishop of Waterford, whom Pits reckons among the English Writers; but what he writ I find not.

Richard Talbot Arch-Bishop of Dublin, of most Noble Descent, died in 1449, and was buried in St. Patrick's, where he has this Epitaph:

Talbot Richardus latet hic sub marmore pressus,
Archi fuit Praeful hujus sedis reverenda,
Parvos Canonicos qui fundavitq; Choristas.
Anno Milleno C quater, quater X, quoque nono,
Quindeno Augusti Mensis mundo valedixit;
Omnipotens Dominus cui propitiatur in ævum.

Which may be Englished thus:

Talbot hight Richard in this Tomb doth lye,
Arch sometime Prelate of this Reverend See,
Who founded Petty Canons and the Quire.
In Fourteen hundred nine and fortieth Year,
On 15th Day of August, he resign'd:
To whom Almighty God be ever kind.

Of his Writings there remains only a Book against James Earl of Ormonde, where-in he lays open the Abuses of his Government; while he was Lieutenant of Ireland. His Contemporary Giles Thornton, Treasurer of Ireland, writ also on the same Subject: Yet there were not wanting some who took upon them the Earl's Defence, among whom is Jordan Bishop of Cork and Cloyn, whose Epistle to K. Henry VI. touching this Affair, is still extant.

Michael Tregury, a Cornish Man, Arch-Bishop of Dublin in 1449, is reported to have written Lectures on the 4 Books of Sentences: Of the Origine of that Study: Ordinary Questions, and other things.

John

John Tiptoft, created Earl of Worcester by Henry VI. was twice High Treasurer of England, and in 1467 Deputy to George Duke of Clarence Lieutenant of Ireland, at which time he held a Parliament begun at Dublin and dissolv'd at Drogheda, the Statutes whereof are kept in the Chancery of Ireland. He was born at Everton in Cambridgeshire, but educated in Baliol College in Oxford. He undertook a Religious Pilgrimage to Jerusalem; and afterwards, being charmed with the sweetness of the Muses, he continued three Years in Italy: and while he stayed at Rome, they say that Pope Pius II. shed Tears for joy, at hearing his most Eloquent Oration. He writ three Orations, to the Petavians, to Pope Pius II. and to the Cardinals. Also one Book of Epistles, with many other things. He translated into English the Elegant Orations of Publius Cornelius and Caius Flaminius: Two Books of true Nobility: Tully of Friendship and Old Age; and other Authors: Thus Bale. He was beheaded in 1470, and was buried at London in the Convent of the Dominicans near the two Pillars towards the South, according to Leland.

Ludov. Carbo
in Oratione.
Tanettri à Ba-leo citatus,
Cent. 8. n. 46.

Vid. Camb.
Brit. p. 436.

Sir Richard Edgecomb, a Cornish Man, was sent into Ireland by King Henry VII. in 1388, to take an Oath of Fealty of the Nobles and chief Ministers to the King. He writ a Book of the Success of that Employ, which is in Manuscript.

Thomas Scrope, or Bradley, Bishop of Dromore, lived almost 100 Years, and died the 15th of January, 1492, not without an opinion of his Saintship, and was buried at Leyetost, of whose Epitaph these are the two last Verses:

Venit ad occasum morbo confectus amaro;
Spiritus alta petit, pondere Corpus humum.

A sharp Disease did bring upon him Death;
His Soul went up, his Earth return'd to Earth.

Thus Bale: According to whom he writ Of the Institution of the Carmelites: Of the same Order to Pope Eugenius: A Catalogue of the Saints of that Order: A Compendium of Histories and Laws: Of the Papal Privileges: Of the Introduction of Sects into England: Of his Voyage to Rhodes: Sermons on the Ten Commandments, and some other things. He did also very elegantly translate into English 10 Books of Phillip Ribot à Catalan: Of the peculiar Actions of the Carmelites, which Work he dedicated to Cyril Gonland, Prior of his Convent. Thus Bale, who says that when he fled into Germany, he left behind him in Ireland those Books of the Order of the Carmelites in Manuscript. His Book of the Institution of the Order of Friars Carmelites is yet extant in the University Library at Cambridge.

Cent. 8. n. 54.

CHAP. V.

John Alan, or Allen, Arch-Bishop of Dublin in 1529, writ about the time he receiv'd his Pall an Epistle concerning the Active and Passive Signification of the Pall, which is in the 2d part of his Register, Fol. 78. b. He writ also a Treatise of the Customs and Statutes to be observed in cases of Tuiton, which is in the said Register from Fol. 168. b. to 171. b. Also some other things relating to the Affairs of his Church.

John Bird is said to be Bishop of Offory in Ireland in Godwin's Catalogue of the Bishops of Bangor; but Bale, who was himself Bishop of Offory, Contemporary with Bird, and acquainted with the Man, does not reckon Offory among his Promotions, hence I have omitted his Works here.

John Bale, Bishop of Offory, published a great many Works both in Latin and English; a Catalogue of which you may see in his Books of the Writers of Britain.

Cent. 9. n. 70.

John Hooker, or Vowel, a Devonshire Man, was sent over by Sir Peter Carew, Knight, to negotiate his Affairs in Ireland. He writ the History of Ireland from the Year 1546 to 1586; and translated into English the Prophetical History of the Conquest of Ireland, written by Giraldus Cambrensis, with some additional Notes: both which are extant in Hollinshead.

Sir Henry Sydney, Knight, sprung from that Ancient and Noble Family of the Sydneys of Penshurst in Kent, was several times Lord Justice and Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, in the Reigns of Queen Mary I. and Queen Elizabeth, and by the latter was made Knight. He writ in English, Advice to his Son Phillip Sydney, which is extant in Print: Miscellanies of the Affairs of Ireland, which is a Manuscript. Also he caused the Statutes of Ireland down to his own time, to be printed. He died at Worcester the 5th of May, 1586; from whence his Body was convey'd to Penshurst in Kent, and there buried among his Ancestors.

Edmund Spencer, a Londoner, educated in Cambridge, the Prince of the English Poets of his Age, came first into Ireland Secretary to Arthur Lord Grey, Baron of Wilton, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. He died at Westminster in 1559. and was there buried in St. Peter's Church, near Chaucer. He writ divers Poems in English, which are published in one Volume: Also a View of the State of Ireland, in Prose, written Dialogue-wise between Eudoxus and Irenæus; in which he promised to write of the Antiquities of Ireland, but I don't find that he did; perhaps he was prevented by Death.

Meredith Hanmer, a Welsh Man, Doctor of Divinity in Oxford, Treasurer of Christ-Church in Dublin, translated from the Greek into English, in the Year 1584, the Ecclesiastical Histories of Eusebius, Socrates, Exagrius, and Dorotheus Bishop of Tyre; to which he added an Ecclesiastical Chronology. He writ also an Ephemeris of the Saints of Ireland, and a Chronicle of Ireland. He died (of the Plague in Dublin) in 1604, and was there buried in St. Michan's.

Sir Geofry Fenton Knight, born in Nottinghamshire, Secretary of State to Queen Elizabeth, and to her Successor King James I. for about 27 Years, in Ireland. He translated into English from the Italian The History of Francis Guicciardin, which he dedicated to Queen Elizabeth, in 1578. It appears from his Epistle Dedicatory that he had written other things, but I have not yet seen them. He died the 19th of October, 1608, and was buried in St. Patrick's, Dublin, under the same Tomb where his Father in Law Robert Weston, L. L. D. sometime Chancellor of Ireland, was buried.

Nicholas Dawtrey writ in 1597 a Treatise of the Difficulties of an Irish War, and of its Remedies; which he dedicated to Queen Elizabeth.

Sir George Carew Knight, was made President of Munster by Queen Elizabeth; and was created Baron Carew of Clopton by King James I. for his good Service against the Rebels: Afterwards he was made Earl of Totness in Devonshire, by King Charles I. and Master of the Ordnance in England. He writ in English, The History of Ireland during his own time, which he intituled, Hibernia pacata, i. e. Ireland pacified; and render'd into English, The History of Maurice Regan. He died at Westminster, in the Savoy, the 27th of March, 1629, in the 74th Year of his Age; and was buried at Stratford on the River Avon, in Warwickshire.

F I N I S.

A N

Alphabetical Index

Of the NAMES of the

WRITERS

Mentioned in the

FIRST BOOK.

*An * Asterisk is prefixed to such of them of whom, or of whose Writings there is doubt, or a Discovery of manifest Error.*

A.

|          |                     |         |
|----------|---------------------|---------|
| A | Damnanus            | Page 13 |
|          | * Adam Godham       | 23      |
|          | Æd, called the      | }       |
|          | Bearded Priest,     |         |
|          |                     | 19      |
|          | Aneas, alias Engus, | 15      |
|          | Aidan               | 9       |
|          | Ailran              | 10      |
|          | S. Ailbe            | 1       |
|          | Albin               | 15      |
|          | Albuin              | 14      |
|          | * Andrew            | 17      |
|          | Arbogast            | 10      |
|          | Augustin Magraidin  | 22      |

B.

|  |                               |   |
|--|-------------------------------|---|
|  | Benigne                       | 1 |
|  | Braccan                       | 9 |
|  | S. Brendan Abbot of Clonsfert | 4 |
|  | S. Brendan Abbot of Birr      | 5 |
|  | * S. Bridget                  | 3 |
|  | S. Brogan                     | 9 |

C.

|  |                              |             |
|--|------------------------------|-------------|
|  | S. Camin                     | Page 9      |
|  | S. Canic, or Kenny,          | 6           |
|  | Charles Magwire              | 23          |
|  | S. Carthag                   | 8           |
|  | S. Catald                    | 2           |
|  | Celsus, or Celestin, or Cel- | }           |
|  | lac Æd mac Mæliſſa,          |             |
|  |                              | 20          |
|  | Cenfæla                      | 11          |
|  | S. Ciaran,                   | see Kiaran. |
|  | Chælian, or Cœlan,           | 14          |
|  | Claudius                     | 16          |
|  | Clement                      | Ibid.       |
|  | Coll Deoran                  | 22          |
|  | S. Coemgen                   | 7           |
|  | Cogitosus                    | 4           |
|  | S. Colman Bishop of Cloyn    | 6           |
|  | S. Colman first Bishop of    | }           |
|  | Dromore                      |             |
|  |                              | 7           |
|  | Colman Bishop of Lindisfarn  | 11          |
|  | Colman the Scribe            | 14          |
|  | S. Columb                    | 5           |
|  | S. Columban                  |             |

I N D E X.

|                                       |                    |                                |                    |
|---------------------------------------|--------------------|--------------------------------|--------------------|
| S. Columban                           | Page 7             | Gilbert of Urgall              | Page 20            |
| S. Coman                              | 14                 | Gille, or Gillebert,           | Ibid.       |
| S. Comgall                            | 5                  | H.                             |                    |
| Concubran                             | 21                 | Henry Crump                    | 21                 |
| Congan                                | 20                 | Hugh                           | Ibid.       |
| Cormac Son of Culinan          | 19                 | I.                             |                    |
| Cornelius                             | 21                 | S. Jarlath                     | 4                  |
| Cuan                                  | 7                  | James Young                    | 22                 |
| Cuchumne                              | 14                 | John Clynn                     | 20                 |
| Cummian                               | 11                 | John Duns Scot                 | 23                 |
| Cummin Fota                           | 10                 | John Erigena                   | 17                 |
| S. Cuthbert                           | 11, 12             | John of Ireland                | 23                 |
| D.                                    |                    | John Kerney                    | 25                 |
| Dagan                                 | 7                  | * Johannes a Sacro bosco       | 21                 |
| David ô Bugey                         | 20                 | John Usher                     | 25                 |
| Dicuil                                | 15                 | * Jonas                        | 8                  |
| Difibod                               | 11                 | K.                             |                    |
| Donald ô Fihely                       | 23                 | S. Keivin                      | see Coemgen |
| * Donagh                              | 17                 | Kienan                         | 3                  |
| Dubdalahe                             | 19                 | S. Kynnic                      | see Canic.  |
| Dubtach                               | 1                  | S. Kiaran of Clonmacnoise      | 4                  |
| Dungal                                | 17                 | S. Kiaran of Belagduin         | 14                 |
| E.                                    |                    | S. Kilian                      | 12                 |
| Edmund Tanner                         | 25                 | L.                             |                    |
| Edward Walsh                          | Ibid.       | S. Livin                       | 8                  |
| Engus                                 | see Aeneas. | Lugid                          | 6                  |
| Eugene                                | 17                 | M.                             |                    |
| S. Evin                               | 6                  | Mæliſſa ô Stuir                | 20                 |
| F.                                    |                    | Magnus, or Manus ô Donnel      | 24                 |
| Feidleimid                            | 17                 | Magraith Magawan               | 22                 |
| Flanus Maniſtrec. vid. Addend. |                    | Malachy ô Mongair              | 20                 |
| S. Fiacre                             | 9                  | Malachy                        | 23                 |
| Fiech                                 | 1                  | Malachy mac Æda                | 20                 |
| S. Finan of Clonard                   | 4                  | Maidulph                       | 11                 |
| Finan                                 | 9                  | * Manchin                      | 10                 |
| Fridelin                              | 2                  | Marian ô Laghnán               | 22                 |
| * Frigidian                           | 4                  | Marianus Scotus                | 19                 |
| Furfey                                | 10                 | Matthew Heney                  | 21                 |
| G.                                    |                    | Maurice Gibellan               | 23                 |
| Geofry Hogain                         | 21                 | Maurice Regan                  | 20                 |
| S. Gall                               | 8                  | Maurice de Portu, or ô Fihely, | 23                 |
| Gelafius mac Firbiffy                 | 23                 | S. Moling                      | 8                  |
| Gemmanus                              | 4                  | S. Molua                       | 6                  |
| George Cogley                         | 24                 | S. Munnu, or Fintan mac        | 7                  |
| George Dowdall                        | 25                 | Tulcan,                        | Murry              |

INDEX.

|                                    |              |                            |              |
|------------------------------------|--------------|----------------------------|--------------|
| Murry ô Gorman                     | Page 20      | Roderic Cassidy            | Page 25      |
| N.                                 |              | S. Ruadan                  | 5            |
| Nicholas Magwire                   | 24           | S.                         |              |
| Nicholas Stanihurst                | 25           | Sedulius                   | 1            |
| Nicholas Walsh                     | Ibid. | Sedulius Junior            | 14           |
| Nimid Lainidan                     | 4            | Segen                      | 9            |
| O.                                 |              | Suibney                    | 18           |
| Oengus mac Tiprait                 | 14           | T.                         |              |
| P.                                 |              | Thady Dowling              | 26           |
| Panderus                           | 23           | Theobald Angilbert         | 24           |
| Patrick the Abbot           | 17           | * Theodore                 | 12           |
| Patrick Culin                      | 25           | Thomas Brown               | 24           |
| Patrick Finglas                    | Ibid. | Thomas Fich                | Ibid. |
| Patrick Ragged                     | 22           | Thomas Long                | 25           |
| Pembrige                           | 20           | Thomas Palmeran            | 22           |
| Peter                              | 21           | Tigernach                  | 20           |
| * Phillip Flatisbury               | 24           | Tirechan                   | 9            |
| Phillip Higgins                    | 23           | * Tundall                  | 20           |
| Phillip Norris                     | Ibid. | V.                         |              |
| Probus                             | 19           | S. Virgilius               | 14           |
| R.                                 |              | Ultanus                    | 8            |
| Ralph Kelly                        | 21           | W.                         |              |
| Richard Creagh                     | 25           | * William the Abbot | 22           |
| Richard the Son of Ralph,   | 21           | William of Drogheda        | 21           |
| commonly called Armachanus, |              | * William Ockham           | 10           |
| * Richard Smith                    | 25           | William Waterford          | 22           |
| Richard Stanihurst                 | 26           | * William Wodeford         | Ibid. |

An INDEX of the WRITERS mentioned in the SECOND BOOK.

|                              |              |                                 |    |
|------------------------------|--------------|---------------------------------|----|
| A.                           |              | Gilbert, a Monk of Lude, | 35 |
| * A Gilbert                  | 33           | Gildas Albanus                  | 32 |
| E.                           |              | Gildas Badonicus                | 33 |
| Edmond Spenser               | 42           | Another Gildas           | 34 |
| Egbert                       | 34           | Girald Barry                    | 35 |
| G.                           |              | H.                              |    |
| Geofry Fenton                | 42           | Henry Marlborough               | 40 |
| George Earl of Totnes | Ibid. | Henry Sydney, Ant.       | 42 |
|                              |              | O                               |    |
|                              |              | I. John                         |    |

INDEX.

| I.                      |              | P.                           |              |
|-------------------------|--------------|------------------------------|--------------|
| John Alan               | Page 41      | Palladius                    | Page 30      |
| John Bale               | Ibid. | S. Patrick                   | 31           |
| John Batterley          | 40           | Patrick Nephew to S. Patrick | 32           |
| * John Bird             | 41           | R.                           |              |
| John Bloxham            | 38           | Ralph Bristol                | 37           |
| John Colton             | 40           | Richard Edgecomb             | 41           |
| John Comin              | 37           | Richard Ledred               | 38           |
| John Derlington         | Ibid. | Richard Northall             | 39           |
| John Dumbleton          | 38           | Richard Talbot               | 40           |
| John Grey               | 37           | * Robert Eliphat             | 38           |
| John Hooker             | 42           | Robert Waldby                | Ibid. |
| * John Paparo           | 34           | S.                           |              |
| John Swafham            | 39           | S. Secundin                  | 32           |
| John Tiptoft            | 41           | T.                           |              |
| L.                      |              | Thomas Colby                 | 39           |
| Luman                   | 32           | Thomas Cranley               | 40           |
| M.                      |              | Thomas Edwardston            | 39           |
| S. Machute, or Maclove, | 33           | Thomas Peverell              | Ibid. |
| S. Mæl                  | 32           | Thomas Scroop                | 41           |
| Meredith Hanmer         | 42           | W.                           |              |
| Michael Tregury         | 40           | Walter Jorsey                | 38           |
| Mochtey                 | 32           | William of Hothun            | Ibid. |
| N.                      |              | William de Paulo, or Powell, | Ibid. |
| Nicholas Dawtrey        | 42           | Willibrordus                 | 34           |

FINIS.

Historical Relations:

OR, A

DISCOVERY

Of the true Causes why

IRELAND

Was never entirely

SUBDUE D,

Nor brought under

O B E D I E N C E

O F T H E

Crown of ENGLAND

UNTIL THE

Beginning of the Reign of King James I.

---

Dedicated to the KING, by Sir John Davis, Knight, His then Majesties Attourney General of IRELAND.

---

Principis est Virtus Maxima, nosse suos.

---

D U B L I N :

Printed by Andrew Crook, for Matth. Gunne in Essex-street, and Eliphal Dobson at the Stationers Arms in Castle-street, MDCCIV.

THE HISTORY OF THE

REIGN OF

CHARLES

THE SECOND

OF GREAT BRITAIN

AND IRELAND

BY JOHN HUGHES

OF THE BARR

AT LAW

LONDON

Printed by J. K. & J. W.

A DISCOVERY
OF THE

True Causes why IRELAND was never entirely Subdued, and brought under Obedience of the Crown of ENGLAND, until the beginning of the Reign of King James I.

DURING the time of my Service in Ireland (which began in the first Year of His Majesties Reign) I have visited all the Provinces of that Kingdom, in sundry Journeys and Circuits; wherein I have observed the good Temperature of the Air, the Fruitfulness of the Soil, the pleasant and commodious Seats for Habitation, the safe and large Ports and Havens lying open for Traffick into all the Western parts of the World; the long Inlets of many Navigable Rivers, and so many great Lakes, and fresh Ponds within the Land, (as the like are not to be seen in any part of Europe) the rich Fishings, and Wild Fowl of all kinds; and lastly, the Bodies and Minds of the People, endued with extraordinary Abilities of Nature.

The observation whereof hath bred in me some curiosity, to consider what were the true causes why this Kingdom, whereof our Kings of England have born the Title of Sovereign Lords, for the space of four hundred and odd Years (a period of time wherein divers great Monarchies have risen from Barbarism to Civility, and fallen again to Ruine) was not in all that space of time, thoroughly subdued and reduced to Obedience of the Crown of England, although there hath been almost a continual War between the English and the Irish; and why the manners of the meer Irish are so little altered since the days of King Henry the Second, as appeareth by the Description made by Giraldus Cambrensis, (who lived and wrote in that time) albeit, there have been since that time so many English Colonies planted in Ireland, as that, if the People were numbred at this Day by the Poll, such as are descended of English Race would be found more in number than the ancient Natives.

And truly, upon consideration of the Conduct and Passage of Affairs in former times, I find, that the State of England ought to be cleared of an imputation which a vulgar Error hath cast upon it in one point; namely, That Ireland long since might have been subdued and reduced to Civility, if some Statesmen in Policy had not thought it more fit to continue that Realm in Barbarism. Doubtless, this vulgar Opinion (or Report) hath no true ground, but did first arise either out of Ignorance, or out of Malice; for it will appear by that which shall hereafter be laid down in this Discourse, that ever since our Nation had any footing in this Land, the State of England did earnestly desire, and did accordingly endeavour from time to time, to perfect fect the Conquest of this Kingdom, but that in every Age there were found such Impediments and Defects in both Realms, as caused almost an impossibility that things should have been otherwise than they were.

Two main impediments of the Conquest.

The Defects which hindred the Perfection of the Conquest of Ireland, are of two kinds, and consisted, first, In the faint prosecution of the War; and next, In the looseness of the Civil Government. For, the Husbandman must first break the Land before it be made capable of good Seed: and when it is thoroughly broken and manured, if he do not forthwith cast good Seed into it, it will grow wild again, and bear nothing but Weeds. So a barbarous Country must be first broken by a War, before it will be capable of good Government; and when it is fully subdued and conquered, if it be not well planted and governed after the Conquest, it will oftentimes return to the former Barbarism.

The faint prosecution of the War.

Touching the carriage of the Martial Affairs, from the seventeenth Year of King Henry the Second, when the first Overture was made for the Conquest of Ireland (I mean, the first after the Norman Conquest of England) until the nine and thirtieth Year of Queen Elizabeth, when that Royal Army was sent over to suppress Tyrone's Rebellion, which made in the end an Universal and absolute Conquest of all the Irishry: It is most certain, that the English Forces sent hither, or raised here from time to time, were ever too weak to subdue and master so many warlike Nations (or Septs) of the Irish as did possess this Island; and besides their weakness, they were ill paid, and worse governed. And if at any time there came over an Army of competent Strength and Power, it did rather terrifie, than break and subdue this People, being ever broken and dissolved by some one accident or other, before the perfection of the Conquest.

What is a perfect Conquest.

For, that I call a Perfect Conquest of a Country, which doth reduce all the People thereof to the condition of Subjects: and those I call Subjects, which are governed by the ordinary Laws and Magistrates of the Sovereign. For though the Prince doth bear the Title of Sovereign Lord of an entire Country, (as our Kings did of all Ireland) yet if there be two third parts of that Country wherein he cannot punish Treasons, Murthers, or Thefts, unless he send an Army to do it; if the Jurisdiction of his ordinary Courts of Justice doth not extend into those parts to protect the People from wrong and oppression; if he have no certain Revenue, no Escheates or Forfeitures out of the same, I cannot justly say that such a Country is wholly Conquered.

How the War hath been prosecuted since the 17th Year of Henry the Second.

First then, that we may judge and discern whether the English Forces in Ireland were at any time of sufficient Strength to make a full and final Conquest of that Land, let us see what extraordinary Armies have been transmitted out of England thither, and what ordinary Forces have been maintained there, and what Service they have performed from time to time, since the seventeenth Year of King Henry the Second.

In the time of Henry the Second.

Giraldus Cambrensis.

In that Year, Mac Murugh Lord of Leinster, being oppressed by the Lords of Meath and Conaught, and expelled out of his Territory, moved King Henry the Second to invade Ireland, and made an overture unto him for the obtaining of the Sovereign Lordship thereof: The King refused to undertake the War himself, to avoid the charge (as King Henry the Seventh refused to undertake the Discovery of the Indies for the same cause) but he gave License by his Letters Patents, that such of his Subjects might pass over into Ireland, as would at their own charge become Adventurers in that Enterprize.

The first Attempt but an Adventure of private Gentlemen.

With what Forces the King himself came over.

So as the first Attempt to conquer this Kingdom was but an Adventure of a few private Gentlemen. Fitz-Stephen and Fitz-Gerald first brake the Ice, with a Party of Three hundred and ninety Men: The Earl Strongbow followed them with twelve hundred more, whose good Success upon the Sea-coasts of Leinster and Munster drew over the King in person the next year after, cum quingentibus Militibus, as Giraldus Cambrensis reporteth, who was present in Ireland at that time. Which, if they were but five hundred Soldiers, seemeth too small a Train for so great a Prince. But admit they were five hundred Knights, yet because in those days every Knight was not a Commander of a Regiment, or Company, but most of them served as private private Men, (sometimes a hundred Knights under a Spear) as appeareth by the Lists of the ancient Armies, we cannot conjecture his Army to have been so great, as might suffice to conquer all Ireland, being divided into so many Principalities, and having so many Hydraes Heads, as it had at that time.

For albeit Tacitus in the Life of Agricola doth report, that Agricola having subdued the greatest part of Great Britain, did signify to the Senate of Rome, that he thought Ireland might also be conquered with one Legion, and a few Aids: I make no doubt, but that if he had attempted the Conquest thereof with a far greater Army, he would have found himself deceived in his conjecture. For, a Barbarous Country is not so easily conquered as a Civil, whereof Cæsar had experience in his Wars against the Gaules, Germans, and Britains, who were subdued to the Roman Empire, with far greater difficulty than the Rich Kingdoms of Asia. And again, a Country possessed with many petty Lords and States, is not so soon brought under entirely, as an entire Kingdom governed by one Prince or Monarch. And therefore, the late King of Spain could sooner win the Kingdom of Portugal, than reduce the States of the Low-Countries.

But let us see the Success of King Henry the Second: Doubtless his Expedition was such, as he might have said with Cæsar, Veni, vidi, vici. For, upon his first Arrival, his very Presence, without drawing his Sword, prevailed so much, as all the petty Kings, or great Lords, within Leinster, Conaught, and Munster, submitted themselves unto him; promising to pay him Tribute, and acknowledge him their Chief and Sovereign Lord. Besides, the better to atone this inconstant Sea Nymph, who was so easily won, the Pope would needs give her unto him with a Ring, Conjugio jungam stabili, propriamque dicabo. But as the Conquest was but slight and superficial, so the Pope's Donation, and the Irish Submission, were but weak and fickle Assurances: For as the Pope had no more Interests in this Kingdom, than He which offered to Christ all the Kingdoms of the Earth: so the Irish pretend, That by their Law, a Tanist might do no Act that might bind his Successor. But this was the best Assurance he could get from so many strong Nations of People with so weak a Power: and yet he was so well pleased with this Title of the Lordship of Ireland, as he placed it in his Royal Stile, before the Dutchies of Normandy and Aquitain. And so being advertised of some Stirs raised by his unnatural Sons in England within five Months after his first Arrival, he departed out of Ireland, without striking one Blow, or building one Castle, or planting one Garrison among the Irish: neither left he behind him one true Subject more than thote he found there at his coming over, which were only the English Adventurers spoken of before, who had gained the Fort Towns in Leinster and Munster; and possessed some Scopes of Land thereunto adjoining, partly by Strongbow's Alliance with the Lord of Leinster, and partly by plain Invasion and Conquest.

And this is that Conquest of King Henry the Second, so much spoken of by so many Writers; which, though it were in no other manner than is before expressed, yet is the entire Conquest of all Ireland attributed unto him.

But the truth is, the Conquest of Ireland was made by piece and piece, by slow steps and degrees, and by several attempts, in several Ages. There were sundry Revolutions, as well of the English Fortunes, as of the Irish; sometimes one prevailing, sometimes the other; and it was never brought to a full period till his Majesty that now is, came to the Crown.

As for King Henry the second, he was far from obtaining that Monarchy Royal, and true Sovereignty which his Majesty (who now Reigneth) hath over the Irish. For the Irish Lords did only promise to become Tributaries to King Henry the Second; and such as pay only Tribute, though they be placed by Bodin in the first degree of Subjection, are not properly Subjects, but Sovereigns. For though they be less and inferiour unto the Prince to whom they pay Tribute, yet they hold all other points of Sovereignty; and having paid their Tribute, which they promised, to have their Peace, they are quit of all other Duties, as the same Bodin writeth. And therefore, though King Henry the Second had the Title of Sovereign Lord over the Irish, yet did he not put those things in Execution, which are the true marks and differences of Sovereignty.

B

For Archib. R.

mem. Regie apud West.

What manner of Conquest King Henry the Second made of Ireland.

Bodin de Repub.

The true marks of So-verainity.

For to give Laws unto a people, to institute Magistrates and Officers over them, to punish and pardon Malefactors, to have the sole Authority of making War and Peace, and the like, are the true marks of Sovereignty ; which King Henry the Second had not in the Irish Countries, but the Irish Lords did still retain all these Prerogatives to themselves.

Hoveden in Henrico secun-do, fol. 312.

6 Johannis,
Class. mem-brana. 18.
17. Johannis,
Chart. m. 3.
6. Hen. 3.
Chart. m. 2.

Archiv. in Castro Dublin.

42. Hen. 3.
computus Will.
de la Zouch.
36. Hen. 3. computus Huberti de Ronly.

How the War was prosecuted in the time of King John.
* Giraldu Cambrensis.

Giraldu
Cambrensis.

For they governed their People by the Brehon Law, they made their own Magistrates and Officers, they pardoned and punished all Malefactors within their several Countries, they made War and Peace one with another without Controulment ; and this they did, not only during the Reign of King Henry the Second, but afterwards in all times, even until the Reign of Queen Elizabeth : and it appeareth what manner of Subjects these Irish Lords were, by the Concord made between King Henry the Second and Roderick & Connor the Irish King of Conaught, in the Year 1175, which is recorded by Hoveden in this form : Hic est finis & Concordia, inter Dominum Regem Angliæ, Henricum, filium Imperatricis, & Rodericum Regem Conaughtæ, scilicet, quod Rex Angliæ concessit prædicto Roderico Ligeo homini suo, ut sit Rex sub eo paratus ad servitium suum, ut homo suus, &c. And the Commission whereby King Henry the Second made William Fitz-Adelme his Lieutenant of Ireland, hath this Direction ; Archiepiscopis, Episcopis, Regibus, Comitibus, Baronibus, & omnibus fidelibus suis in Hibernia, Salutem. Whereby it is manifest, that he gave those Irish Lords the Title and Stile of Kings.

King John likewise did grant divers Charters to the King of Conaught, which remain in the Tower of London. And afterwards, in the time of King Henry the Third, we find in the Tower a Grant made to the King of Thomond in these words. Rex Regi Toismond salutem. Concessimus vobis terram Toismond quam prius tenuistis, per firmam centum & triginta marcarum ; Tenendum de nobis usque ad ætatem nostram. And in the Pipe Rolls remaining in Bremingham's Tower, in the Castle of Dublin, upon sundry Accounts of the Senefcal of Ulster (when that Earldom was in the King's Hands by reason of the Minority of the Earl) the Entry of all such Charges as were made upon Oneale, for Rent-Beeves, or for Aids towards the Maintenance of the King's Wars, are in this form : Oneale Regulus 400. vaccas pro arreragio Reddit ; Oneale Regulus, 100. li. de Auxilio Domini Regis ad guerram suam in Wasconia sustinendam. And in one Roll the 36 of Henry the Third, Oneale Rex, 100. li. de auxilio Domini Regis ad guerram suam in Wallia sustinendam. Which seemed strange to me, that the Kings Civil Officer should give him that Stile upon Record, unless he meant it in that sense as Maximilian the Emperor did, when speaking of his disobedient Subjects : The Title (said he) of Rex Regum, doth more properly belong to me, than to any Mortal Prince, for all my Subjects do live as Kings, they obey me in nothing, but do what they list. And truly, in that sense these Irish Lords might not untitly be termed Kings. But to speak in proper terms, we must say with the Latin Poet, Qui est Rex, Regnum maxime non habeat. But touching these Irish Kings, I will add this Note out of an ancient Manuscript, the black Book of Christ-Church in Dublin, Isti Reges non fuerunt ordinati solemnitate alicujus ordinis, nec unctionis Sacramento, nec jure hereditario, vel aliqua proprietatis successionis, sed vi & armis quilibet Regnum suum obtinuit ; and therefore they had no just cause to complain, when a stronger King than themselves became a King and Lord over them. But let us return to our purpose, and see the proceeding of the Martial Affairs.

King Henry the Second being returned into England, gave the Lordship of Ireland (surnamed before that time **Sans Terre*) unto the Lord John, his youngest Son : And the Pope confirming that Gift, sent him a Crown of Peacocks Feathers (as Pope Clement the Eighth sent the Feather of a Phoenix, as he called it, to the Traitor Tirone.) This young Prince, the King's Son, being but twelve years of Age, with a Train of young Noblemen and Gentlemen, to the number of 300, but not with any main Army, came over to take possession of his new Patrimony ; and being arrived at Waterford, divers Irish Lords (who had submitted themselves to his Father) came to perform the like Duty to him : but that youthful Company using them with scorn, because their Demeanours were but rude and Barbarous, they went went away much discontented. and raised a general Rebellion against him : where- by it was made manifest, that the Submission of the Irish Lords, and the Donation of the Pope, were but slender and weak Assurances for a Kingdom.

Hereupon this young Lord was revoked, and Sir John de Courcy sent over, not with the King's Army, but with a Company of Voluntaries, in number Four hundred, or thereabout : with these he attempted the Conquest of Ulster, and in four or five Encounters did so beat the Irishry of that Province, as that he gained the Maritime Coasts thereof, from the Boyne to the Banne ; and thereupon was made Earl of Ulster. So as now the English had gotten good footing in all the Provinces of Ireland : In the first three Provinces of Leinster, Munster, and Conaught, part by the Sword, and part by Submission and Alliance : And lastly, in Ulster by the In- vasion and Victories of Sir John de Courcy.

From this time forward, until the seventeenth Year of King John (which was a space of more than thirty years) there was no Army transmitted out of England to finish the Conquest. Howbeit in the mean time, the English Adventurers and Co- lonies already planted in Ireland, did win much Ground upon the Irish : namely, the Earl Strongbow, having married the Daughter of Mac Murrough, in Leinster ; the Lacies in Meath ; the Geraldines, and other Adventurers, in Munster ; the Aud- leys, Gernons, Clintons, Russels, and other Voluntaries of Sir John de Courcy's Reti- nue, in Ulster ; and the Bourkes (planted by William Fitz-Aelme) in Conaught. Yet were the English reputed but Part-Owners of Ireland at this time, as appeareth by the Commission of the Pope's Legate in the time of King Richard the First, whereby he had Power to exercise his Jurisdiction in Anglia, Walia, ac illis Hiber- niæ partibus, in quibus Johannes Moretonii Comes potestatem habet & dominium, as it is recorded by Mat. Paris.

King John, in the twelfth Year of his Reign, came over again into Ireland : The Stories of that time say, with a great Army, but the certain Numbers are not re- corded : yet it is credible, in regard of the Troubles wherewith this King was dis- tressed in England, that this Army was not of sufficient Strength to make an entire Conquest of Ireland ; and if it had been of sufficient Strength, yet did not the King stay a sufficient time to perform so great an Action ; for he came over in June, and returned in September, the same Year. Howbeit, in that time the Irish Lords for the most part, submitted themselves to him, as they had done before to his Father : which was but a meer Mockery and Imposture : for his back was no sooner turn'd, but they returned to their former Rebellion : And yet this was reputed a second Con- quest. And so this King giving order for the Building of some Castles upon the Borders of the English Colonies, left behind him the Bishop of Norwich, for the Ci- vil Government of the Land ; but he left no standing Army to prosecute the Con- quest : only the English Colonies which were already planted, were left to them- selves to maintain what they had got, and to gain more if they could.

The personal Presence of these two great Princes, King Henry the Second and King John, though they performed no great thing with their Armies, gave such countenance to the English Colonies, which encreased daily by the coming over of new Voluntaries and Adventurers out of England, as that they enlarged their Ter- ritories very much. Howbeit, after this time the Kings of England, either because they presumed that the English Colonies were strong enough to root out the Irish by degrees, or else because they were diverted or disabled otherwise (as shall be de- clared hereafter) never sent over any Royal Army, or any numbers of Men wor- thy to be called an Army, into Ireland, until the thirty sixth Year of King Ed- ward the Third, when Lionel Duke of Clarence, the King's second Son, having married the Daughter and Heir of Ulster, was sent over with an extraordinary Power in respect of the time (for the Wars betwixt England and France were then in their heat) as well to recover his Earldom of Ulster, which was then over-run and posselt by the Irish, as to reform the English Colonies, which were become strangely degenerate throughout the whole Kingdom.

For though King Henry the Third gave the whole Land of Ireland to Edward the Prince, his eldest Son, and his Heirs, Ita quod non Separatur a Corona Angliæ. Whereupon

Giraldus
Cambrensis.

Matth. Paris in Ricardo primo. fol.
15. 19.

Matth. Paris

This Charter yet remaineth perfect,

with an entire Seal in the Treasury at Westminster.

Archiv. in Castro Dublin, & Archiv. Turr. 52. Hen. 3. patent. m. 9.

How the martial Affairs were carried from the 12 Year of King John to the 36 Year of King Edward the Third.

Archiv. in Castro Dublin.

Stat. 10. H. 7. c. 4. rot. Parliam. in Castro Dublin. Annales Hibernie in Cambden.

Baron Fin-glas Manus. Stat. 10. H. 7. cap. 4. Rot. Parl. in Castro Dublin.

Whereupon it was stiled the Land of Edward, the King's eldest Son ; and all the Officers of the Land were called the Officers of Edward Lord of Ireland : and though this Edward was one of the most active Princes that ever lived in England, yet did he not either in the life time of his Father, or during his own Reign, come over in Person, or transinit any Army into Ireland ; but on the other side, he drew fundry Aids and Supplies of Men out of Ireland, to serve him in his Wars in Scotland, Wales, and Gascoigne. And again, though King Edward the Second sent over Piers Gaveston with a great Retinue, it was never intended he should perfect the Conquest of Ireland ; for the King could not want his company so long a time as must have been spent in the finishing of so tedious a Work.

So then, in all that space of time, between the twelfth Year of King John, and the 36th Year of King Edward the Third, containing 150 years, or thereabouts, although there was a continual bordering War between the English and the Irish, there came no Royal Army out of England to make an end of the War. But the chief Governors of the Realm, who were at first called Custodes Hibernie, and afterwards Lords Justices, and the English Lords, who had gotten great Possessions and Royalties, as that they presumed to make War and Peace without direction from the State, did levy all their Forces within the Land. But those Forces were weakly supplied, and ill governed, as I said before : Weakly supplied with Men and Money ; and governed with the worst Discipline that ever was seen among Men of War. And no marvel, for it is an infallible Rule, that an Army ill paid, is ever unruly, and ill governed. The standing Forces here were seldom or never re-enforced out of England ; and such as were either sent from thence, or raised here, did commonly do more hurt and damage to the English Subjects, than to the Irish Enemies, by their continual Sess and Extortion. Which mischief did arise, by reason that little or no Treasure was sent out of England to pay the Soldiers wages : Only the King's Revenue was spent, and wholly spent in the publick Service : and therefore, in all the ancient Pipe-Rolls in the times of Henry the Third, Edward the First, Edward the Second, and Edward the Third, between the Receipts and Allowances, there is this Entry : In Thesauro nihil. For the Officers of the State and Army spent all, so as there was no surplussage of Treasure ; and yet that All was not sufficient. For in default of the King's Pay, as well the ordinary Forces which stood continually, as the extraordinary which were levied by the chief Governor, upon Journeys and general Hoastings, were for the most part laid upon the poor Subject descended of English Race : Howbeit, this Burthen was in some measure tolerable in the time of King Henry the Third and King Edward the First ; but in the time of King Edward the Second, Maurice Fitz-Thomas of Desmond being chief Commander against the Scots, began that wicked Extortion of Coigne and Livery, and Pay ; that is, He and his Army took Horse Meat and Man's Meat, and Money, at their pleasure, without any Ticket, or other satisfaction. And this was after that time, the general fault of all the Governors and Commanders of the Army in this Land. Only the Golden Saying of Sir Thomas Rookesby, who was Justice in the thirtieth Year of King Edward the Third, is recorded in all the Annals of this Kingdom, That he would eat in Wooden Dishes, but would pay for his Meat Gold and Silver. Besides, the English Colonies being dispersed in every Province of this Kingdom, were enforced to keep continual Guards upon the Borders and Marches round about them ; which Guards, consisting of idle Soldiers, were likewise imposed as a continual Burthen upon the poor English Freeholders, whom they oppressed and impoverished in the same manner. And because the great English Lords and Captains had power to impose this Charge when and where they pleased, many of the poor Freeholders were glad to give unto those Lords a great part of their Lands, to hold the rest free from that Extortion : And many others, not being able to endure that intolerable Oppression, did utterly quit their Freeholds, and returned into England. By this means the English Colonies grew poor and weak, though the English Lords grew rich and mighty ; for they placed Irish Tenants upon the Lands relinquished by the English ; upon them they levied all Irish Exactions, with them they married, and fostered, and made Gossips so as within one

Age

Age, the English, both Lords and Freeholders, became degenerate and meer Irish in their Language, in their Apparel, in their Arms and manner of Fight, and all other Customs of Life whatsoever.

By this it appeareth why the extortion of Coigne and Livery, is called in the old Statutes of Ireland, A damnable Custom; and the imposing and taking thereof, made High Treason. And it is said in an ancient Discourse, Of the Decay of Ireland, that though it was first invented in Hell, yet if it had been used and practised there, as it hath been in Ireland, it had long since destroyed the very Kingdom of Beelzebub. In this manner was the War of Ireland carried, before the coming over of Lionel Duke of Clarence.

This young Prince, being Earl of Ulster, and Lord of Conaught, in right of his Wife (who was Daughter and Heir of the Lord William Bourk, the last Earl of Ulster of that Family, slain by treachery at Knockefergus) was made the King's Lieutenant of Ireland; and sent over with an Army in the six and thirtieth Year of King Edward the Third: The Roll and List of which Army doth remain of Record in the King's Remembrancers Office in England (in the Press de Rebus tangentibus Hiberniam) and doth not contain above fifteen hundred Men by the Poll; which because it differs somewhat from the manner of this Age, both in respect of the Command, and the Entertainment, I think it not impertinent to take a brief View thereof.

The Lord Lionel was General, and under him Raulf Earl of Stafford, James Earl of Ormonde, Sir John Carew, Banneret, Sir William Winfore, and other Knights were Commanders.

The Entertainment of the General, upon his first Arrival, was but six Shillings eight Pence per diem, for himself; for five Knights, two Shillings a piece per diem; for sixty four Esquires, twelve Pence a piece per diem; for seventy Archers, six Pence a piece per diem. But being shortly after created Duke of Clarence (which Honour was confer'd upon him being here in Ireland) his Entertainment was raised to thirteen Shillings four Pence per diem, for himself; and for eight Knights, two Shillings a piece per diem; with an encrease of the number of his Archers, viz. three hundred and sixty Archers on horseback, out of Lancashire, at six Pence a piece per diem; and twenty three Archers out of Wales, at two Pence a piece per diem.

The Earl of Stafford's Entertainment was, for himself, six Shillings eight Pence per diem; for a Banneret, four Shillings per diem; for seventeen Knights, two Shillings a piece per diem; for seventy eight Esquires, twelve Pence a piece per diem; for one hundred Archers on horseback, six Pence a piece per diem. Besides, he had the Command of four and twenty Archers out of Staffordshire, forty Archers out of Worcestershire, and six Archers out of Shropshire, at four Pence a piece per diem.

The Entertainment of James Earl of Ormonde was, for himself, four Shillings per diem; for two Knights, two Shillings a piece per diem; for seven and twenty Esquires, twelve Pence a piece per diem; for twenty Hoblers armed (the Irish Horsemen were so called, because they served on Hobbies) six Pence a piece per diem; and for twenty Hoblers not armed, four Pence a piece per diem.

The Entertainment of Sir John Carew, Banneret, was, for himself, four Shillings per diem; for one Knight, two Shillings per diem; for eight Esquires, twelve Pence a piece per diem; for ten Archers on horseback, six pence a piece per diem.

The Entertainment of Sir William Winfore was, for himself, two Shillings per diem; for two Knights, two Shillings a piece per diem; for forty nine Esquires, twelve pence a piece per diem; for six Archers on horseback, six Pence a piece per diem.

The like Entertainment ratably, was allowed to divers Knights and Gentlemen upon that List, for themselves and their several Retinues; whereof some were greater, and some less, as they themselves could raise them among their Tenants and Followers.

Stat. 11. H.
4. c. 6. Baron
Finglas, MS.

The Army transmitted with Lionel
Duke of Clarence, the 36 of Edw. 3.
Archiv. Remem.
Regis apud Westm.

The manner of levying Soldiers in former Ages.

For in ancient times, the King himself did not levy his Armies by his own immediate Authority or Commission; but the Lords and Captains did by Indenture Covenant with the King, to serve him in his Wars with certain numbers of Men, for certain Wages and Entertainments, which they raised in greater or lesser Numbers, as they had Favour or Power with the People. This course hath been changed in latter times upon good reason of State: For the Barons and chief Gentlemen of the Realm, having Power to use the King's Prerogative in that point, became too popular; whereby they were enabled to raise Forces even against the Crown it self; which since the Statutes made for levying and mustering of Soldiers by the King's special Commission, they cannot so easily perform, if they should forget their Duties.

What Service
Lionel Duke of Clarence performed.
Archiv. Tur.
36. Edw. 3.
Clauf. m. 21.
in dorso. &
m. 30.

This Lord Lieutenant, with his small Army, performed no great Service; and yet upon his coming over, all Men who had Land in Ireland, were by Proclamation remanded back out of England thither; and both the Clergy and Laity of this Land gave two years Profits of all their Lands and Tythes, towards the maintenance of the War here: only he suppressed some Rebels in low Leinster, and recovered the Maritime parts of his Earldom of Ulster. But his best Service did consist in the well governing of his Army, and in holding that famous Parliament at Kilkenny, wherein the Extortion of the Soldier, and the degenerate Manners of the English (briefly spoken of before) were discovered, and Laws made to reform the same: which shall be declared more at large hereafter.

Sir Wil. Win-fore Lieutenant, 47 Ed.
3. his Forces and Service.

The next Lieutenant, transmitted with any Forces out of England, was Sir William Winsore; who in the 47th Year of King Edward the Third, undertook the Custody, not the Conquest of this Land (for now the English made rather a Defensive than an Invasive War) and withal, to defray the whole charge of the Kingdom for Eleven thousand two hundred thirteen Pounds, six Shillings and eight Pence, as appeareth by the Indenture between him and the King, remaining of Record in the Tower of London. But it appeareth by that which Froissard reporteth, that Sir William Winsore was so far from subduing the Irish, as that himself reported, That he could never have access to understand and know their Countries, although he had spent more time in the Service of Ireland, than any English Man then living.

47 Edw. 3.
Clauf. m. 1.
Stow in Rich. 2.

The state of the Revenue of Ireland
in the time
of Edw. 3.
Walsingham
in Rich. 2.

And here I may well take occasion to shew the vanity of that which is reported in the Story of Walsingham, touching the Revenue of the Crown in Ireland, in the time of King Edward the Third: for he setting forth the state of things there, in the time of King Richard the Second, writeth thus: Cum Rex Angliæ illustris, Edwardus tertius illic posuisset Bancum suum atque Judices, cum Scaccario, percepit inde ad Regalem Fiscum annuatim triginta millia librarum; modo propter absentiam ligeorum, & hostium potentiam, nihil inde venit: sed Rex per annos singulos, de suo Marsupio, terræ defensoribus solvit Triginta millia marcarum, ad regni sui dedecus & fisci gravissimum detrimentum.

Archiv. Tur.
11. H. 3. patent m. 3.
21 Edw. 3.
m. 41.

If this Writer had known, that the Kings Courts had been established in Ireland more than an hundred years before King Edward the Third was born; or had seen either the Parliament Rolls in England, or the Records of the Receipts and Issues in Ireland, he had not left this vain Report to Posterity: for both the Benches and the Exchequer were erected in the twelfth Year of King John. And it is recorded in the Parliament Rolls of 21 of King Edward the Third, remaining in the Tower, that the Commons of England made Petition that it might be enquired, why the King received no Benefit of his Land of Ireland, considering he possessed more there than any of his Ancestors had before him. Now, if the King at that time, when there was no standing Forces maintained there, had received Thirty thousand Pound yearly at his Exchequer in Ireland, he must needs have made Profit by that Land, considering that the whole Charge of the Kingdom in the 47 Year of Edward the Third (when the King did pay an Army there) did amount to no more than Eleven thousand and two hundred Pounds per Annum, as appeareth by the Contract of Sir William Winsore.

47 Edw. 3.
clauf. perf. 2.
m. 24 & 26.

Besides,

Besides, it is manifest by the Pipe-Rolls of that time, whereof many are yet preserved in Bremingham's Tower, and are of better credit than any Monk's Story ; that during the Reign of King Edward the Third, the Revenue of the Crown of Ireland, both certain and casual, did not rise unto Ten thousand Pound per Annum, though the medium be taken of the best seven Years that are to be found in that King's time. The like Fable hath Hollingshead touching the Revenue of the Earldom of Ulster ; which (saith he) in the time of King Richard the Second was Thirty thousand Marks by the Year ; whereas in truth, though the Lordships of Conaught and Meath (which were then parcel of the Inheritance of the Earl of Ulster) be added to the Accompt, the Revenue of that Earldom came not to the third part of that he writeth. For the Accompt of the Profits of Ulster yet remaining in Bremingham's Tower, made by William Fitz-Warren, Seneschal and Farmer of the Lands in Ulster, seized into the King's Hands after the death of Walter de Burgo, Earl of Ulster, from the fifth Year of King Edward the Third, until the eighth Year, do amount but to Nine hundred and odd Pounds, at which time the Irisbry had not made so great an Invasion upon the Earldom of Ulster, as they had done in the time of King Richard the Second.

Archiv. in Castro Dublin.

Hollings-
head in R. 2.

Archiv. in Castro Dublin. 5 Ed. 3.

As vain a thing it is, that I have seen written in an ancient Manuscript touching the Customs of this Realm in the time of King Edward the Third, that those Duties in those days should yearly amount to Ten thousand Marks, which by my own search and view of the Records here, I can justly controul : For upon the late reducing of this ancient Inheritance of the Crown, which had been detained in most of the Port-Towns of this Realm, for the space of an hundred years and upwards, I took some pains (according to the Duty of my place) to visit all the Pipe-Rolls, wherein the Accompts of Customs are contained, and found those Duties answered in every Port, for two hundred and fifty years together, but did not find that at any time they did exceed a thousand Pound per Annum ; and no marvel, for the Subsidy of Poundage was not then known, and the greatest Profit did arise by the Cocquet of Hides ; for Wooll and Wooll-fells were ever of little value in this Kingdom.

But now again let us see how the Martial Affairs proceeded in Ireland. Sir William Winfore continued his Government till the latter end of the Reign of King Edward the Third, keeping, but not enlarging, the English Borders.

In the beginning of the Reign of King Richard the Second, the State of England began to think of the Recovery of Ireland : For then was the first Statute made against Absentees, commanding all such as had Land in Ireland, to return and reside thereupon, upon pain to forfeit two third parts of the Profit thereof. Again, this King, before he intended to pass over, committed the Government of this Realm to such great Lords successively, as he did most love and favour : First, to the Earl of Oxford, his chief Minion, whom he created Marquess of Dublin, and Duke of Ireland : next, to the Duke of Surry, his half Brother : and lastly, to the Lord Mortimer, Earl of March and Ulster, his Cousin and Heir apparent.

How the war proceeded in the time of King Richard
the Second.
3 Rich. 2.
Archiv. Tur.
Rot. Parl. 42.

Among the Patent Rolls in the Tower, the ninth Year of Richard the Second, we find five hundred Men at Arms at twelve Pence a piece per diem, and a thousand Archers at six Pence a piece per diem, appointed for the Duke of Ireland, Super Conquestu illius terræ per duos annos : For those are the words of that Record. But for the other two Lieutenants, I do not find the certain numbers whereof their Armies did consist : but certain it is, that they were scarce able to defend the English Borders, much less to reduce the whole Island : For one of them, namely, the Earl of March, was himself slain upon the borders of Meath ; for revenge of whose death, the King himself made his second Voyage into Ireland, in the last Year of his Reign. For his first Voyage in the eighteenth Year of his Reign (which was indeed a Voyage-Royal) was made upon another motive and occasion, which was this : Upon the vacancy of the Empire, this King having married the King of Bohemia's Daughter (whereby he had great Alliance in Germany) did by his Ambassadors sollicite the Princes Electors to chuse him Emperor : but another being elected, and his Ambassadors returned, he would needs know of them the cause Pat. 2. parf.

9. Rich. 2.
m. 24.

Walsingham
in Rich. 2.
Annales Tho.
Otterbourne
Manuscript.

cause of his Repulse in that Competition : They told him plainly, that the Princes of Germany did not think him fit to command the Empire, who was neither able to hold that which his Ancestors had gained in France, nor to rule his insolent Subjects in England, nor to Master his Rebellious People of Ireland. This was enough to kindle in the Heart of a young Prince, a desire to perform some great Enterprize ; and therefore finding it no fit time to attempt France, he resolved to finish the Conquest of Ireland ; and to that end he levied a mighty Army consisting of four thousand Men at Arms, and thirty thousand Archers, which was a sufficient Power to have reduced the whole Island, if he had first broken the Irish with a War, and after established the English Laws among them, and not have been satisfied with their light Submissions only, wherewith, in all Ages they have mockt and abused the State of England. But the Irish Lords knowing this to be a sure Policy to dissolve the Forces, which they were not able to resist (for their Ancestors had put the same trick and imposture upon King John and King Henry the Second) as soon as the King was arrived with his Army, which he brought over under S. Edward's Banner (whose name was had in great Veneration amongst the Irish) they all made offer to submit themselves : whereupon the Lord Thomas Mowbray, Earl of Nottingham and Marshal of England, was authorized by special Commission to receive the Homages and Oaths of Fidelity, of all the Irish of Leinster. And the King himself having received humble Letters from Oneal (wherein he stileth himself Prince of the Irish in Ulster, and yet acknowledgeth the King to be his Sovereign Lord, & perpetuus Dominus Hiberniæ) removed to Drogheda, to accept the like Submissions from the Irish of Ulster. The Men of Leinster, namely, Mac Murrough, ô Byrne, ô Moore, ô Murrough, ô Nolan, and the chief of the *Kinschelagh*s, in an humble and solemn manner did their Homages, and made their Oaths of Fidelity to the Earl Marshal, laying aside their Girdles, their Skeins and their Caps, and falling down at his Feet upon their Knees ; which when they had performed, the Earl gave unto each of them, Osculum pacis.

Stow in Ric. 2

Archiv. in officio Rememmorat. regis
apud Westm.

Besides they were bound by several Indentures, upon great pains to be paid to the Apostolick Chamber, not only to continue Loyal Subjects, but that by a certain day prefixed, they and all their Sword-men should clearly relinquish and give up unto the King and his Successors all their Lands and Possessions which they held in Leinster, and (taking with them only their moveable Goods) should serve him in his Wars against his other Rebels : In consideration whereof, the King should give them Pay and Pensions during their lives, and bestow the Inheritance of all such Lands upon them, as they should recover from the Rebels, in any other part of the Realm. And thereupon, a Pension of eighty Marks per Annum, was granted to Art Mac Murrough, chief of the *Kavanagh*s ; the Enrolment whereof I found in the White Book of the Exchequer here. And this was the effect of the Service performed by the Earl Marshal, by vertue of his Commission. The King in like manner received the Submissions of the Lords of Ulster ; namely, ô Neale, ô Hanlan, Mac Donel, Mac Mahon, and others, who with the like Humility and Ceremony did Homage and Fealty to the King's own Person : The words of ô Neale's Homage, as they are recorded, are not unfit to be remembered. Ego Nelanus Oneal Senior tam pro meipso, quam pro filiis meis, & tota Natione mea & Parentelis meis, & pro omnibus subditis meis devenio Ligeus homo vester, &c. And in the Indenture between him and the King, he is not only bound to remain faithful to the Crown of England, but to restore the Bonaught of Ulster to the Earl of Ulster, as of right belonging to that Earldom, and usurped among other things by the Oneals.

These Indentures and Submissions, with many other of the same kind (for there was not a Chieftain, or Head of an Irish Sept, but submitted himself in one form or other) the King himself caused to be inrolled and testified by a Notary Publick, and delivered the Enrolments with his own Hands to the Bishop of Salisbury, then Lord Treasurer of England, so as they have been preserved, and are now to be found in the Office of the King's Remembrancer there.

With these Humilities they satisfied the young King, and by their bowing and bending, avoided the present Storm ; and so brake that Army which was prepared to

to break them. For the King having accepted their Submissions, received them in Osculo pacis, feasted them, and given the Honour of Knighthood to divers of them, did break up and dissolve his Army, and returned into England with much Honour and small Profit (saith Froissard :) For though he had spent a huge Mass of Treasure in transporting his Army, by the countenance whereof he drew on their Submissions, yet did he not encrease his Revenue thereby one Sterling Pound, nor enlarged the English Borders the breadth of one Acre of Land ; neither did he extend the Jurisdiction of his Courts of Justice one Foot further than the English Colonies, wherein it was used and exercised before. Besides; he was no sooner returned into England, but those Irish Lords laid aside their masks of Humility, and scorning the weak Forces which the King had left behind him, began to infest the Borders ; in defence whereof, the Lord Roger Mortimere, being then the King's Lieutenant, and Heir apparent to the Crown of England, was slain, as I said before : whereupon the King being moved with a just appetite of Revenge, came over again in Person, in the 22d Year of his Reign, with as potent an Army as he had done before, with a full purpose to make a full Conquest of Ireland. He landed at Waterford ; and passing from thence to Dublin, through the waste Countries of the Murroghs, Kinsheelaghs, Cavanaghs, Birnes, and Tooles, his great Army was much distressed for want of Victuals and Carriages ; so as he performed no memorable thing in that Journey, only in the Cavanaghs Country he cut and cleared the Paces, and bestowed the Honour of Knighthood upon the Lord Henry, the Duke of Lancaster's Son, who was afterwards King Henry the Fifth, and so came to Dublin, where entring into Council how to proceed in the War, he received News out of England of the Arrival of the banished Duke of Lancaster at Ravenstpurgh, usurping the Regal Authority, and arresting and putting to Death his principal Officers.

Hollingshead in R. 2

This Advertisement suddenly brake off the King's Purpose touching the prosecution of the War in Ireland, and transported him into England, where shortly after he ended both his Reign and his life ; since whose time, until the 39th Year of Queen Elizabeth, there was never any Army sent over of a competent strength or power to subdue the Irish ; but the War was made by the English Colonies, only to defend their Borders : or if any Forces were transmitted over, they were sent only to suppress the Rebellions of such as were descended of English Race ; and not to enlarge our Dominion over the Irish.

During the Reign of King Henry the Fourth, the Lord Thomas of Lancaster, the King's second Son, was Lieutenant of Ireland ; who, for the first eight years of that King's Reign, made the Lord Scroope, and others, his Deputies ; who only defended the Marches with Forces levied within the Land. In the eighth Year that Prince came over in Person with a small Retinue ; so as wanting a sufficient Power to attempt or perform any great Service, he returned within seven Months after into England : Yet during his Personal Abode there, he was hurt in his own Person within one mile of Dublin, upon an Encounter with the Irish Enemy. He took the Submission of o Birne of the Mountains, Mac Mahon and o Rely, by several Indentures, wherein o Birne doth Covenant, that the King shall quietly enjoy the Manor of New-Castle ; Mac Mahon accepteth a State in the Ferry for life, rendering ten Pound a Year ; and o Rely doth promise to perform such Duties to the Earl of March and Ulster, as were contained in an Indenture dated the eighteenth of Richard the Second.

Henry 4.
The Lord
Thomas of Lancaster his Service.

Archiv. Rememorat regis apud Westminst.

In the time of King Henry the Fifth there came no Forces out of England : however, the Loyd Furnival being the King's Lieutenant, made a Martial Circuit, or Journey, round about the Marches and Borders of the Pale ; and brought all the Irish to the King's Peace, beginning with the Birnes, Tooles, and Cavanaghs on the South ; and so passing to the Moores, o Connors, and o Forals in the West ; and ending with the o Relies, Mac Mahons, o Neales, and o Hanlons in the North. He had power to make them seek the King's Peace, but not power to reduce them to the Obedience of Subjects : yet this was then held so great and worthy a Service, as that the Lords and chief Gentlemen of the Pale made Certificate thereof in Henry 5.

The Lord
Furnival his Service.
Alb. libr.
Scac. Dublin

French unto the King being then in France; which I have seen recorded in the White Book of the Exchequer at Dublin. Howbeit, his Army was so ill paid and governed, as the English suffered more damage by the Sels of his Soldiers (for now that Monster Coigne and Livery, which the Statute of Kilkenny had for a time abolished, was risen again from Hell) than they gained Profit or Security, by abating the Pride of their Enemies for a time.

Henry 6.

During the Minority of King Henry the Sixth, and for the space of seven or eight years after, the Lieutenants and Deputies made only a bordering War upon the Irish, with small and scattered Forces: Howbeit, because there came no Treasure out of England to pay the Soldiers, the poor English Subjects did bear the Burthen of the Men of War in every place; and were thereby so weakened and impoverished, as the state of things in Ireland stood very desperately.

Richard Duke of York his Service.

Whereupon the Cardinal of Winchester (who, after the death of Humphrey Duke of Glocester, did wholly sway the State of England) being desirous to place the Duke of Somerfet, in the Regency of France, took occasion to remove Richard Duke of York from that Government, and to send him into Ireland, pretending that he was a most able and willing Person, to perform Service there, because he had a great Inheritance of his own in Ireland; namely, the Earldom of Ulster, and the Lordships of Connaught, and Meath, by descent from Lionel Duke of Clarence.

Archiv. in Castro Dublin.

We do not find that this great Lord came over with any numbers of Waged Soldiers, but it appeareth upon what good terms he took that Government, by the Covenants between the King and him, which are Recorded and Confirmed by Act of Parliament of Ireland, and were to this effect.

1. That he should be the Kings Lieutenant of Ireland, for Ten Years.
2. That to support the Charge of that Country, he should receive all the King's Revenues there, both certain and casual, without accompt.
3. That he should be supplied also with Treasure out of England, in this manner; He should have Four Thousand Marks for the First Year, whereof he should be imprested 2000 l. before hand; and for the other Nine Years, he should receive 2000 l. per Annum.
4. That he might Let to Farm the Kings Lands, and place and displace all Officers at his pleasure.
5. That he might Levy and Wage what numbers of men, he thought fit.
6. That he might make a Deputy, and return at his pleasure.

Hollingshead in H. 6.

We cannot presume that this Prince kept any great Army on foot, as well because his means out of England were so mean, and those ill paid, as appeareth by his passionate Letter written to the Earl of Salisbury his Brother in Law; the Copy whereof, is Registred in the Story of this time; as also because the whole Land, except the English Pale, and some part of the Earldom of Ulster, upon the Sea-coasts, were possessed by the Irish: so as the Revenue of the Kingdom, which he was to receive, did amount to little. He kept the Borders and Marches of the Pale with much ado; he held many Parliaments, wherein sundry Laws were made for erecting of Castles in Louth, Meath, and Kildare, to stop the Incursions of the Irishry: And because the Soldiers for want of Pay were fessed and laid upon the Subjects against their Wills; upon the Prayer and Importunity of the Commons, this Extortion was declared to be High Treason. But to the end that some means might be raised to nourish some Forces for defence of the Pale, by another Act of Parliament, every twenty Pound Land was charged with the furnishing and maintenance of one Archer on Horseback.

Archiv. Tur. 17 Hen. 6. Clautam. 20.

Manuscript of Bacon Finglas.

Besides, the Native Subjects of Ireland seeing the Kingdom utterly ruined, did pass in such numbers into England, as one Law was made in England to transmit them back again, and another Law made here to stop their Passage in every Port and Creek: Yet afterwards, the greatest part of the Nobility and Gentry of Meath past over into England, and were slain with him at Wakefield in Yorkshire.

Hollingshead in H. 6.

Lastly, the State of England was so far from sending an Army to subdue the Irish at this time, as among the Articles of Grievances exhibited by the Duke of York against King Henry the Sixth, this is one: That divers Lords about the King had had caused his Highness to write Letters unto some of his Irish Enemies ; where- by they were encouraged to attempt the Conquest of the said Land : which Letters the same Irish Enemies had sent unto the Duke, marvelling greatly that such Let- ters should be sent unto them, and speaking therein great shame of the Realm of England.

After this, when this great Lord was returned into England, and making Claim to the Crown, began the War betwixt the two Houses ; it cannot be conceived but that the Kingdom fell into a worse and weaker State.

When Edward the fourth was settled in the Kingdom of England, he made his Brother, George Duke of Clarence, Lieutenant of Ireland : This Prince was born in the Castle of Dublin, during the Government of his Father the Duke of York ; yet did he never pass over into this Kingdom to govern it in person, though he held the Lieutenantancy many years. But it is manifest that King Edward the Fourth did not pay any Army in Ireland during his Reign ; but the Men of War did pay themselves by taking Coigne and Livery upon the Country: which Extortion grew so excessive and intollerable as the Lord Tiptoft, being Deputy to the Duke of Clarence, was enforced to execute the Law upon the greatest Earl in the Kingdom ; namely, Desmond, who lost his Head at Drogheda for this Offence. Howbeit, that the State might not seem utterly to neglect the defence of the Pale, there was a Fraternity of Men at Arms, called the Brotherhood of St. George, erected by Par- liament the 14th of Edward the Fourth, consisting of thirteen of the most Noble and Worthy Persons within the four Shires. Of the first Foundation were Thomas Earl of Kildare, Sir Rowland Eustace, Lord of Port-lefter, and Sir Robert Eustace, for the County of Kildare ; Robert Lord of Howth, the Mayor of Dublin, and Sir Robert Dowdal, for the County of Dublin ; the Viscount of Gormanston, Edward Plunket, Senefcal of Meath, Alexander Plunket, and Barnabe Barnewale, for the County of Meath ; the Mayor of Drogheda, Sir Lawrence Taaffe, and Richard Bel- lewe, for the County of Louth. These, and their Successors, were to meet yearly upon St. George's Day ; and to chuse one of themselves to be Captain of that Bro- therhood, for the next Year to come : which Captain should have at his Command 120 Archers on horseback, 40 Horsemen, and 40 Pages, to suppress Out-laws and Rebels : The Wages of every Archer should be six pence per ditm ; and every Horseman five pence per diem, and four Marks per Annum : And to pay these En- tertainments, and to maintain this new Fraternity, there was granted unto them by the same Act of Parliament, a Subsidy of Poundage out of all Merchandizes ex- ported or imported throughout the Realm (Hides, and the Goods of Freemen of Dublin and Drogheda only excepted.) These 200 Men were all the standing Forces that were then maintained in Ireland : and as they were Natives of the Kingdom, so the Kingdom it self did pay their Wages, without expecting any Treasure out of England.

But now the Wars of Lancaster and York being ended, and Henry the Seventh being in the actual and peaceable Possession of the Kingdom of England ; let us see if this King did send over a competent Army to make a perfect Conquest of Ireland. Assuredly, if those two Idols (or Counterfeits) which were set up against him in the beginning of his Reign, had not found footing and Followers in this Land, King Henry the Seventh had sent neither Horse nor Foot hither, but let the Pale to the Guard and Defence of the Fraternity of St. George, which stood till the tenth Year of his Reign. And therefore, upon the erection of the first Idol, which was Lambert the Priest's Boy, he transmitted no Forces ; but sent over Sir Richard Edgecomb, with Commission to take an Oath of Allegiance of all the Nobility, Gentry, and Citizens of this Kingdom ; which Service he performed fully, and made an exact return of his Commission to the King. And immediately after that the King sent for all the Lords of Parliament of this Realm ; who repairing to his Presence, were first in a Kingly manner reproved by him ; for among other things, he told them, that if their King were still absent from them, they would at length crown Apes ; but at last entertained them, and dismissed them graciously. This course of Clemency he held at first : but after, when Perkin Warbeck, who was set up, and followed chiefly Edw. 4.

How the War was maintained in the time of K. Ed. 4.

Hollinghead
in Edw. 4.
Book of Howth M. S.

The Fraternity of Saint George in Ireland.
14 of Edw. 4.
Rot. Parl.
Dublin.

Henry 7.
How the War was prosecuted in the time of
K. Hen. 7.

Archiv. Re-
men. Regis
apud Westm.

The Book of Howth M. S.

by Hollinghead

in Hen. 7.

Sir Edward Poyning's Service.
Rot. Parl. in Castro Dub-
lin.

The Book of Henth.
The Battel of Knocknow.

Henry 8.
How the War was carried during the Reign of K. Hen. 8.
The Earl of Surrey's Service.

The Lord
Leonard Gray
his Service.

The Fight at Belaboo.
The Book of Henth M. S.

Sir Anthony
St. Leger.
Sir Edward Bellingham in the time of
K. Edw. 6.

Archiv. Re-
mem. R. gis
apud Westm.
Tho. Earl of Suffex in the time of Q.
Mary.

by the Geraldines in Leinster, and Citizens of Cork in Munster; to suppress this Counterfeit, the King sent over Sir *Edward Poyning*s with an Army (as the Histories call it) which did not consist of a thousand Men by the Poll; and yet it brought such terror with it, as all the Adherents of Perkin Warbeck were scattered, and retired for Succour into the Irish Countries; to the Marches whereof he marched with his weak Forces, but soon returned, and held a Parliament; wherein, among many good Laws, one Act was made, That no Subject should make any War or Peace within the Land, without the special License of the King's Lieutenant or Deputy. A manifest Argument, that at that time the bordering Wars in this Kingdom were made altogether by Voluntaries, upon their own head, without any Pay or Entertainment, and without any Order or Commission from the State. And though the Lords and Gentlemen of the Pale, in the 19th Year of this King's Reign, joyned the famous Battel of Knocknow in Conaught, wherein Mac William, with 4000 of the Irish and degenerate English were slain; yet was not this Journey made by Warrant from the King, or upon his Charge (as is expressed in the Book of Henth) but only upon a private Quarrel of the Earl of Kildare: so loosely were the Martial Affairs of Ireland carried during the Reign of King Henry the Seventh.

In the time of King Henry the Eighth, the Earl of Surrey, Lord Admiral, was made Lieutenant; and though he was the greatest Captain of the English Nation then living, yet brought he with him rather an Honourable Guard for his Person, than a competent Army to recover Ireland; for he had in his Retinue two hundred tall Yeomen of the King's Guard. But because he wanted means to perform any great Action, he made means to return the sooner: yet in the mean time he was not idle, but passed the short time he spent here in holding a Parliament, and divers Journeys against the Rebels in Leinster; insomuch as he was hurt in his own Person upon the Borders of Leix. After the revocation of this Honourable Perfor- nage, King Henry the Eighth sent no Forces into Ireland till the Rebellion of the Geraldines, which hapned in the seven and twentieth Year of his Reign; then sent he over Sir William Skevington with five hundred Men, only to quench that fire, and not to enlarge the Border, or to rectifie the Government. This Deputy died in the midst of the Service, so as the Lord Leonard Gray was sent to finish it; who arriving with a Supply of two hundred Men, or thereabouts, did so prosecute the Rebels, as the Lord Garret, their Chieftain, and his five Uncles, submitted them- selves unto him, and were by him transmitted into England.

But this Service being ended, that active Nobleman with his little Army, and some Aids of the Pale, did oftentimes repel o Neal and o Donel, attempting the Invasion of the Civil Shires; and at last made that prosperous Fight at Belaboo on the Confines of Meath, the memory whereof is yet famous, as that he defeated (well nigh) all the Power of the North, and so quieted the Border for many years.

Hitherto then it is manifest, that since the last transfretation of King Richard the Second, the Crown of England never sent over either numbers of Men, or quantities of Treasure, sufficient to defend the small Territory of the Pale, much less to reduce that which was lost, or to finish the Conquest of the whole Island.

After this Sir Anthony St. Leger was made chief Governor, who performed great Service in a civil course, as shall be expressed hereafter. But Sir Edward Bellingham, who succeeded him, proceeded in a Martial Course against the Irishery, and was the first Deputy from the time of King Edward the Third, till the Reign of King Edward the Sixth, that extended the Border beyond the Limits of the English Pale, by beating and breaking the Moors and Connors, and building the Forts of Leix and Offaly. This Service he performed with six hundred Horse, the Monthly Charge whereof did arise to seven hundred and seventy Pound; and four hundred Foot, whose Pay did amount to four hundred and forty six Pound per menssem; as appeareth upon the Treasurers Account remaining in the Office of the King's Remembrancer in England. Yet were not these Countries so fully recovered by this Deputy, but that Thomas Earl of Suffex did put the last Hand to this Work, and rooting out these two Rebellious Septs, planted English Colonies in their rooms, which which in all the tumultuous times since, have kept their Habitations, their Loyalty, and Religion.

And now are we come to the time of Queen Elizabeth, who sent over more Men, and spent more Treasure to save and reduce the Land of Ireland, than all her Progenitors since the Conquest.

During her Reign there arose three notorious and main Rebellions, which drew several Armies out of England: The first of Shane ô Neal; the second of Desmond; the last of Tirone; (for the particular Insurrections of the Viscount Baltinglass and Sir Edmund Butler, the Moors, the Cavanaghs, the Birnes, and the Bourkes of Connaught, were all suppressed by the standing Forces here.)

To subdue Shane ô Neal in the height of his Rebellion, in the Year 1566, Captain Randal transported a Regiment of one thousand Men into Ulster, and planted a Garrison at Loughfoile: Before the coming of which Supply, viz. in the Year 1565, the List of the standing Army of Horse and Foot, English and Irish, did not exceed the number of twelve hundred Men, as appeareth by the Treasurers Account of Ireland, now remaining in the Exchequer of England. With these Forces did Sir Henry Sidney (then Lord Deputy) march into the farthest parts of Tirone, and joining with Captain Randal, did much distress (but not fully defeat) ô Neal, who was afterwards slain upon a meer accident by the Scots, and not by the Queen's Army.

To prosecute the Wars in Munster, against Desmond and his Adherents, there was transmittted out of England, at several times, three or four thousand Men; which, together with the standing Garrisons, and some other Supplies raised here, made at one time an Army of six thousand, and upwards: which, with the Vertue and Valour of Arthur Lord Gray, and others the Commanders, did prove a sufficient Power to extinguish that Rebellion. But that being done, it was never intended that these Forces should stand till the rest of the Kingdom was settled and reduced: only, that Army which was brought over by the Earl of Essex, Lord Lieutenant and Governor General of this Kingdom, in the nine and thirtieth Year of Queen Elizabeth, to suppress the Rebellion of Tirone, which was spread universally over the whole Realm: That Army, I say (the command whereof, with the Government of the Realm, was shortly after transferred to the Command of the Lord Montjoy, afterwards Earl of Devonshire, who with singular Wisdom, Valour, and Industry, did prosecute and finish the War) did consist of such good Men of War, and of such numbers, being well nigh twenty thousand by the Poll, and was so Royally supplied and paid, and continued in full strength so long a time, as that it brake and absolutely subdued all the Lords and Chieftains of the Irishry, and degenerate or rebellious English. Whereupon the Multitude, who ever loved to be Followers of such as could master and defend them, admiring the Power of the Crown of England, being bray'd (as it were) in a Morter, with the Sword, Famine, and Pestilence together, submitted themselves to the English Government, received the Laws and Magistrates; and most gladly embraced the King's Pardon and Peace in all parts of the Realm, with demonstration of Joy and Comfort; which made, indeed, an entire, perfect, and final Conquest of Ireland. And though upon the finishing of the War this great Army was reduced to less numbers, yet hath his Majesty in his Wisdom thought fit still to maintain such competent Forces here, as the Law may make her Progress and Circuit about the Realm, under the protection of the Sword (as Virgo, the Figure of Justice, is by Leo in the Zodiack) until the People have perfectly learned the Lesson of Obedience, and the Conquest be established in the Hearts of all Men.

Thus far have I endeavoured to make it manifest, that from the first Adventure and Attempt of the English (to subdue and conquer Ireland) until the last War with Tirone (which as it was Royally undertaken, so it was really prosecuted to the end) there hath been four main defects in the carriage of the Martial Affairs here. First, the Armies, for the most part, were too weak for a Conquest: Secondly, when they were of a competent strength (as in both the Journeys of Richard Queen Elizabeth.

How the War was prosecuted in the time of Q. Elizabeth.

Shane ô Neal's Rebellion.

Archiv. Remem. Regis apud Westm.

Desmond's Rebellion.

Tirone's Rebellion.

Four main defects in the prosecution of the War.

the second) they were too soon broken up and dissolved : Thirdly, they were ill paid : And fourthly, they were ill governed, which is always a consequent of ill payment.

Why none of the Kings of England, before Q<sup>ueen</sup> Elizabeth, did finish the Conquest of Ireland.

Giraldus Cambrensis.

But why was not this great Work performed before the latter end of Queen Elizabeth's Reign, considering that many of the Kings her Progenitors were as great Captains as any in the World, and had elsewhere larger Dominions and Territories ? First, who can tell whether the Divine Wisdom, to abate the Glory of those Kings, did not reserve this Work to be done by a Queen, that it might rather appear to be his own immediate Work ; and yet for her greater Honour, made it the last of her great Actions, as it were, to Crown all the rest ? And to the end that a secure Peace might settle the Conquest, and make it firm and perpetual to Posterity, caused it to be made in that fulness of time when England and Scotland became to be united under one Imperial Crown, and when the Monarchy of Great Britany was in League and Amity with all the World. Besides, the Conquest at this time doth (perhaps) fulfil that Prophecie wherein the four great Prophets of Ireland do concur, as it is recorded by Giraldus Cambrensis, to this effect : That after the first Invasion of the English, they should spend many Ages in crebris conflictibus, longoq; certamine & multis cedibus. And that, Omnes fere Anglici ab Hibernia turbabuntur : nihilominus orientalia maritima semper obtinebunt ; sed vix paulo ante diem Judicii ; plenam Anglorum populo victoriam compromittunt ; Insula Hibernica de mari usque ad mare de toto subacta & incastellata. If St. Patrick and the rest did not utter this Prophecie, certainly Giraldus is a Prophet, who hath reported it. To this we may add the Prophecie of Merlin, spoken of also by Giraldus, Sextus mœnia Hiberniæ subvertet, & regiones in Regnum redigentur. Which is performed in the time of King James the Sixth ; in that all the paces are cleared, and places of Fastness laid open, which are the proper Walls and Castles of the Irish, as they were of the British in the time of Agricola ; and withal, the Irish Countries being reduced into Counties, make but one entire and undivided Kingdom.

But to leave these high and obscure Causes, the plain and manifest truth is, that the Kings of England in all Ages had been powerful enough to make an absolute Conquest of Ireland, if their whole Power had been employed in that Enterprize : but still there arose sundry occasions which divided and diverted their Power some other way.

How the several Kings of England were diverted from the Conquest of Ireland.

Henry 2.

Let us therefore take a brief view of the several Impediments which arose in every King's time since the first Overture of the Conquest, whereby they were so employed and busied, as they could not intend the final Conquest of Ireland.

The Book of Howth M. S.

King Henry the Second was no sooner returned out of Ireland, but all his four Sons conspired with his Enemies, rose in Arms, and moved War against him, both in France and in England.

This unnatural Treason of his Sons did the King express in an Emblem painted in his Chamber at Winchester, wherein was an Eagle with three Eaglets tiring on her Breast, and the fourth pecking at one of her Eyes. And the truth is, these ungracious Practices of his Sons did impeach his Journey to the Holy Land, which he had once vowed, vexed him all the days of his Life, and brought his gray Hairs with sorrow to the Grave. Besides, this King having given the Lordship of Ireland to John, his youngest Son, his Ingratitude afterwards made the King careless to settle him in the quiet and absolute Possession of that Kingdom.

Rich. 1.

Richard the First, who succeed Henry the Second in the Kingdom of England, had less reason to bend his Power towards the Conquest of this Land, which was given in perpetuity to the Lord John, his Brother : and therefore, went he in Person to the Holy War ; by which Journey, and his Captivity in Austria, and the heavy Ransome that he paid for his Liberty, he was hindred, and utterly disabled to pursue any so great an Action as the Conquest of Ireland ; and after his delivery and return, hardly was he able to maintain a Frontier War in Normandy, where by hard fortune he lost his Life.

King

King John, his Brother, had greatest reason to prosecute the War of Ireland, because the Lordship thereof was the portion of his Inheritance, given unto him when he was called John Sans-Terre: Therefore, he made two Journeys thither; one, when he was Earl of Moreton, and very young, about twelve years of Age; the other, when he was King, in the twelfth Year of his Reign. In the first, his own Youth, and his youthful Company, Roboam's Counsellors, made him hazard the loss of all that his Father had won: But in the latter, he shewed a resolution to recover the entire Kingdom, in taking the Submissions of all the Irishry, and settling the Estates of the English, and giving order for the building of many Castles and Forts, whereof some remain until this day. But he came to the Crown of England by a defeasible Title, so as he was never well settled in the hearts of the People, which drew him the sooner back out of Ireland into England: where shortly after he fell into such trouble and distress, the Clergy cursing him on the one side, and the Barons rebelling against him on the other, as he became so far unable to return to the Conquest of Ireland, as besides the Forfeiture of the Territories in France, he did in a manner lose both the Kingdoms; for he surrendered both to the Pope, and took them back again to hold in Fee-farm; which brought him into such hatred at home, and such contempt abroad, as all his life time after he was posselt rather with fear of losing his Head, than with hope of reducing the Kingdom of Ireland.

K. John.

During the Infancy of Henry the Third, the Barons were troubled in expelling the French, whom they had drawn in against King John. But this Prince was no sooner come to his Majority, but the Barons raised a long and cruel War against him.

Henry 3.

Into these troubled Waters the Bishops of Rome did cast their Nets, and drew away all the Wealth of the Realm by their Provisions and infinite Exactions; whereby the Kingdom was so impoverished as the King was scarce able to feed his own Household and Train, much less to nourish Armies for the Conquest of Foreign Kingdoms. And although he had given this Land to the Lord Edward, his eldest Son, yet could not that worthy Prince ever find means or opportunity to visit this Kingdom in Person. For, from the time he was able to bear Arms he served continually against the Barons, by whom he was taken Prisoner at the Battel of Lewes; and when the Rebellion was appeased he made a Journey to the Holy Land (an Employment which in those days diverted all Christian Princes from performing any great Actions in Europe) from whence he was returned when the Crown of England descended upon him.

This King Edward the First, who was a Prince adorned with all Virtues, did in the managing of his Affairs, shew himself a right good Husband, who being Owner of a Lordship ill husbanded, doth first enclose and manure his Demeasnes near his principal House, before he doth improve his Waits afar off. Therefore, he began first to establish the Common-wealth of England, by making many excellent Laws, and instituting the Form of Publick Justice, which remaineth to this day. Next, he fully subdued and reduced the Dominion of Wales; then by his Power and Authority he settled the Kingdom of Scotland; and lastly, he sent a Royal Army into Gascoigne, to recover the Dutchy of Aquitain. These four great Actions did take up all the Reign of this Prince. And therefore, we find not in any Record that this King transmitted any Forces into Ireland; but on the other side, we find it recorded, both in the Annals, and in the Pipe-Rolls of this Kingdom, that three several Armies were raised of the King's Subjects in Ireland, and transported one into Scotland, another into Wales, and the third into Gascoigne; and that several Aids were levied here for the setting forth of those Armies.

Edward 1.

The Son and Successor of this excellent Prince was Edward the Second, who, much against his will, sent one small Army into Ireland; not with a purpose to finish the Conquest, but to guard the Person of his Minion, Piers Gaveston, who being banished out of England, was made Lieutenant of Ireland, that so his Exile might seem more honourable.

Archiv. in Castro Deb-
lin.
Annales Hi-
berniz in Camden.

Edward 2.

He

Annales Hi-bernæ in Camden.
Archiv. in Castro Dublin.

Manuscript of Frier Clinn

Rubr. libr.
Spec. Dublin.

Edward 3.

Annales Hi-
bernæ in Camden.
Richard 2.

Henry 4.

Henry 5.

Annales Hi-
bernæ in Camden.

Henry 6.

He was no sooner arrived here, but he made a Journey into the Mountains of Dublin, brake and subdued the Rebels there, built New-Castle in the Birnes Country, and repaired Castle-Kevin; and after passed up into Munster and Thomond, performing every where great Service, with much Vertue and Valour. But the King, who could not live without him, revok'd him within less than a Year: After which time the Invasion of the Scots, and Rebellion of the Barons, did not only disable this King to be a Conqueror, but deprived him both of his Kingdom and life. And when the Scottish Nation had over-run all this Land under the Conduct of Edward le Bruce (who stiled himself King of Ireland) England was not then able to send either Men or Money to save this Kingdom: Only Roger de Mortimer, then Justice of Ireland, arrived at Toughall, cum 38 milit. saith Frier Clinn in his Annals.

But Bremingham, Verdon, Stapleton, and some other private Gentlemen, rose out with the Commons of Meath and Uriel, and at Fagher near Dundalk, a fatal place to the Enemies of the Crown of England, overthrew a potent Army of them: Et sic (saith the Red Book of the Exchequer, wherein the Victory was briefly recorded) per manus communis populi, & dextram Dei deliberatur populus dei a servitute machinata & præcogitata.

In the time of King Edward the Third, the Impediments of the Conquest of Ireland are so notorious, as I shall not need to express them; to wit, the War which the King had with the Realms of Scotland and France; but especially the Wars of France, which were almost continual for the space of forty years: And indeed, France was a fairer Mark to shoot at than Ireland, and could better reward the Conqueror. Besides, it was an Inheritance newly descended upon the King; and therefore he had great reason to bend all his Power, and spend all his time and Treasure in the recovery thereof. And this is the true cause why Edward the Third sent no Army into Ireland till the thirty sixth Year of his Reign, when the Lord Lionel brought over a Regiment of 1500 Men, as is before expressed: which that wise and warlike Prince did not transmit as a competent Power to make a full Conquest, but as an Honourable Retinue for his Son; and withal, to enable him to recover some part of his Earldom of Ulster, which was then over-run with the Irish. But on the other part, though the English Colonies were much degenerate in this King's time, and had lost a great part of their Possessions; yet lying at the Siege of Callis, he sent for a Supply of Men out of Ireland, which were transported under the Conduct of the Earl of Kildare and Fulco de la Freyn, in the Year 1347.

And now are we come again to the time of King Richard the Second, who for the first ten years of his Reign was a Minor, and much disquieted with popular Commotions; and after that, was more troubled with the Factions that arose between his Minions and the Princes of the Blood. But at last he took a resolution to finish the Conquest of this Realm; and to that end he made two Royal Voyages hither: Upon the first he was deluded by the feigned Submissions of the Irish; but upon the latter, when he was fully bent to prosecute the War with effect, he was diverted and drawn from hence by the return of the Duke of Lancaster into England, and the general dejection of the whole Realm.

As for Henry the Fourth, he being an Intruder upon the Crown of England, was hindred from all Foreign Actions, by sundry Conspiracies and Rebellions at home, moved by the House of Northumberland in the North; by the Dukes of Surrey and Exeter in the South; and by Owen Glendour in Wales; so as he spent his short Reign in establishing and settling himself in the quiet Possession of England, and had neither leisure nor opportunity to undertake the final Conquest of Ireland. Much less could Henry the Fifth perform that Work: for in the second year of his Reign he transported an Army into France, for the recovery of that Kingdom; and drew over to the Siege of Harflew the Prior of Kilmaineham with 1500 Irish; in which great Action this victorious Prince spent the rest of his Life.

And after his Death the two Noble Princes, his Brothers, the Dukes of Bedford and Glocester, who during the Minority of King Henry the Sixth had the Government of the Kingdoms of England and France, did employ all their Countels and Endeavours to perfect the Conquest of France, the greater part whereof being gained by Henry the Fifth, and retained by the Duke of Bedford, was again lost by King Henry the Sixth, a manifest argument of his disability to finish the Conquest of this Land. But when the Civil War between the two Houses was kindled, the Kings of England were so far from reducing all the Irish under their Obedience, as they drew out of Ireland, to strengthen their Parties, all the Nobility and Gentry descended of English Race; which gave opportunity to the Irish to invade the Lands of the English Colonies, and did hazard the loss of the whole Kingdom: For, though the Duke of York did, while he lived in Ireland, carry himself respectfully towards all the Nobility, to win the general love of all, bearing equal favour to the Geraldines and the Butlers (as appeared at the Christning of George Duke of Clarence, who was born in the Castle of Dublin, where he made both the Earl of Kildare and the Earl of Ormonde his Godfathers :) And having occasion divers times to pass into England, he left the Sword with Kildare at one time, and with Ormonde at another: And when he lost his Life at Wakefield, there were slain with him divers of both those Families. Yet afterwards, these two Noble Houses of Ireland did severally follow the two Royal Houses of England; the Geraldines adhering to the House of York, and the Butlers to the House of Lancaster. Whereby it came to pass, that not only the principal Gentlemen of both those Sur-names, but all their Friends and Dependants did pass into England, leaving their Lands and Possessions to be over-run by the Irish. These Impediments, or rather Impossibilities of finishing the Conquest of Ireland did continue till the Wars of Lancaster and York were ended, which was about the twelfth Year of King Edward the Fourth.

by

Hollingshead in H. 6.

Manuscript of Baron Finglas.

Thus hitherto the Kings of England were hindered from finishing this Conquest by great and apparent Impediments: Henry the Second by the Rebellion of his Sons: King John, Henry the Third, and Edward the Second, by the Barons Wars: Edward the First by his Wars in Wales and Scotland: Edward the Third and Henry the Fifth by the Wars of France: Richard the Second, Henry the Fourth, Henry the Sixth, and Edward the Fourth, by domestick Contention for the Crown of England it self.

But the Fire of the Civil War being utterly quenched, and King Edward the Fourth settled in the peaceable Possession of the Crown of England, what did then hinder that Warlike Prince from reducing of Ireland also? First, the whole Realm of England was miserably wasted, depopulated and impoverished by the late Civil Dissentions; yet as soon as it had recovered it self with a little Peace and Rest, this King raised an Army, and revived the Title of France again: Howbeit, this Army was no sooner transitted and brought into the Field, but the two Kings also were brought to an Interview: Whereupon, partly by the fair and white promises of Lewis the Eleventh, and partly by the corruption of some of King Edward's Minions, the English Forces were broken and dismissed, and King Edward returned into England; where shortly after finding himself deluded and abused by the French, he died with Melancholy, and Vexation of Spirit.

Edward 4.

I omit to speak of Richard the Usurper, who never got the quiet Possession of England, but was cast out by Henry the Seventh within two years and an half after his Usurpation.

Richard 3.

And for King Henry the Seventh himself, though he made that happy Union of the two Houses, yet for more than half the space of his Reign there were walking Spirits of the House of York, as well in Ireland as in England, which he could not conjure down without the expence of some Blood and Treasure: But in his latter times he did wholly study to improve the Revenues of the Crown in both Kingdoms, with an intent to provide means for some great Action which he intended: which doubtless, if he had lived, would rather have proved a Journey into France, than into Ireland, because, in the eyes of all Men, it was a fairer Enterprize.

Henry 7.

Therefore King Henry the Eighth, in the beginning of his Reign, made a Voyage Royal into France, wherein he spent the greatest part of that Treasure which his Fathers had frugally reserved, perhaps for the like purpose: In the latter end of his Reign he made the like Journey, being enrich'd with the Revenues of the

Henry 8.

Abby Lands : But in the middle time between these two Attempts, the great alteration which he made in the State Ecclesiastical, caused him to stand upon his Guard at home ; the Pope having solicited all the Princes of Christendom to revenge his Quarrel in that behalf. And thus was King Henry the Eighth detained and diverted from the absolute reducing of the Kingdom of Ireland.

K. Edw. 6.
and Q. Mary.

Lastly, the Infancy of King Edward the Sixth, and the Coverture of Queen Mary, (which are both Non abilities in the Law) did in fact disable them to accomplish the Conquest of Ireland.

Q. Elizabeth.

So as now this great Work did remain to be performed by Queen Elizabeth ; who though she was diverted by suppressing the open Rebellion in the North ; by preventing divers secret Conspiracies against her Person ; by giving Aids to the French and States of the Low Countries ; by maintaining a Naval War with Spain, for many Years together : Yet the sundry Rebellions, joyned with Foreign Invasions upon this Island, whereby it was in danger to be utterly lost, and to be possessed by the Enemies of the Crown of England, did quicken her Majesties Care for the Preservation thereof ; and to that end, from time to time during her Reign, she sent over such Supplies of Men and Treasure, as did suppress the Rebels, and repel the Invaders. Howbeit, before the transmitting of the last great Army, the Forces sent over by Queen Elizabeth were not of sufficient Power to break and subdue all the Irishry, and to reduce and reform the whole Kingdom ; but when the general Defection came, which came not without a special Providence for the final good of that Kingdom (though the second Causes were the faint prosecution of the War against Tyrene, the Practices of Priests and Jesuits, and the expectation of the Aids from Spain : ) Then the extream Peril of losing the Kingdom ; the Dishonour and Danger that might thereby grow to the Crown of England ; together with a just disdain conceived by that great minded Queen, that so wicked and ungrateful a Rebel should prevail against her, who had ever been victorious against all her Enemies, did move, and almost enforce her to send over that mighty Army : and did withal enflame the Hearts of the Subjects of England, cheerfully to contribute towards the maintaining thereof, a Million of Sterling Pounds at least : which was done with a purpose only to Save, and not to gain a Kingdom ; to keep and retain that Sovereignty which the Crown of England had in Ireland (such as it was) and not to recover a more absolute Dominion. But, as it falleth out many times, that when a House is on fire, the Owner, to save it from burning, pulleth it down to the Ground ; but that pulling down doth give occasion of building it up again in a better Form : So these last Wars, which to save the Kingdom, did utterly break and destroy this People, produced a better effect than was at first expected : For, every Rebellion, when it is suppressed, doth make the Subject weaker and the Prince stronger ; so, this general Revolt, when it was overcome, did produce a general Obedience and Reformation of all the Irishry, which ever before had been disobedient and unreformed ; and thereupon ensued the final and full Conquest of Ireland.

And thus much may suffice to be spoken touching the defects in the Martial Affairs, and the weak and faint prosecution of the War ; and of the several Impediments or Employments, which did hinder or divert every King of England successively, from reducing Ireland to their absolute Subjection.

It now remaineth, that we shew the defects of the Civil Policy and Government, which gave no less impediment to the perfection of this Conquest.

The first of that kind doth consist in this, That the Crown of England did not from the beginning give Laws to the Irishry ; whereas, to give Laws to a conquered People is the principal mark and effect of a perfect Conquest : For, albeit King Henry the Second, before his return out of Ireland, held a Council or Parliament at Lisimore ; Ubi Leges Angliæ ab omnibus sunt gratanter receptæ, & Juratoria Cautione præstita confirmatæ, as Matth. Paris writeth.

And though King John in the twelfth year of his Reign, did establish the English Laws and Customs here, and placed Sheriffs and other Ministers to rule and govern the People, according to the Law of England : and to that end, Ipse duxit secum viros discretos

2. The defects in the civil Policy and Government.
1. The Laws of England were not given to the meer Irish.
Matth. Paris Hist. major. fol. 121.
Matth. Paris Hist. major. 220 b.

discretos & legis peritos, quorum communi consilio statuit & præcepit, leges Anglicanas teneri in Hibernia, &c. as we find it recorded among the Patent Rolls in the Tower, 11 Hen. 3. m. 3. Though likewise King Henry the Third did grant and transmit the like Charter of Liberties to his Subjects of Ireland, as himself and his Father had granted to the Subjects of England, as appeareth by another Record in the Tower, 1 Hen. 3. Pat. m. 13. And afterwards, by a special Writ did command the Lord Justice of Ireland, Quod convocatis Archiepiscopis, Episcopis, Comitibus, Baronibus, &c. Coram eis legi faceret Chartam Regis Johannis; quam ipse legi fecit & jurari à Magnatibus Hibernie, de legibus & Constitutionibus Angliæ observandis, & quod leges illas teneant & observent, 12 Hen. 3. Claus. m. 8. And after that again, the same King by Letters Patents under the Great Seal of England, did confirm the Establishment of the English Laws made by King John, in this Form: Quia pro Communi utilitate terræ Hibernie, ac unitate terrarum, de Communi Consilio provisum sit, quod omnes leges & consuetudines quæ in regno Angliæ tenentur, in Hibernia teneantur, & eadem terra ejusdem legibus subjaceat, ac per easdem regatur, si eut Johannes Rex, cum illic esset, Statuit & firmiter mandavit; ideo volumus quod omnia brevicia de Communi Jure, quæ currunt in Anglia, similiter currant in Hibernia, sub nostro sigillo nostro, &c. Teste meipso apud Woodstock, &c. Which Confirmation is found among the Patent Rolls in the Tower, Anno 30. Hen. 3. Notwithstanding, it is evident by all the Records of this Kingdom, that only the English Colonies, and some few Septs of the Irishry, which were Enfranchised by special Charters, were admitted to the benefit and protection of the Laws of England; and that the Irish generally were reputed Aliens, or rather Enemies to the Crown of England; inasmuch, as they were not only disabled to bring any Actions, but they were so far out of the Protection of the Law, as it was often adjudged no Felony to kill a meer Irish Man in the time of Peace.

That the meer Irish were reputed Aliens, appeareth by sundry Records, where in Judgment is demanded, if they shall be answered in Actions brought by them: and likewise by the Charters of Denization, which in all Ages were purchased by them.

In the Common Plea Rolls of 28 Edward the Third (which are yet preserved in Bretingham's Tower) this Case is adjudged. Simon Neal brought an Action of Treipais against William Newlagh for breaking his Cloie in Clandalkin in the County of Dublin; the Defendant doth plead, that the Plaintiff is Hibernicus, & non de Quinque sanguinibus; and demandeth Judgment, if he shall be answered. The Plaintiff repieth, Quod ipse est de quinque sanguinibus, viz. De les Oneiles de Ulton, qui per Concessionem progenitorum Domini Regis; Libertatibus Anglicis gaudere debent & utuntur, & pro liberis hominibus reputantur. The Defendant rejoyneth, that the Plaintiff is not of the Oneals of Ulster, Nec de quinque sanguinibus. And thereupon they are at Issue. Which being found for the Plaintiff, he had Judgment to recover his Damages against the Defendant. By this Record it appeareth, that five principal Bloods, or Septs, of the Irishry, were by special Grace enfranchised and enabled to take benefit of the Laws of England; and that the Nation of o Neals in Ulster, was one of the five. And in the like case, 3 of Edward the Second, among the Plea-Rolls in Bretingham's Tower: All the five Septs or Bloods, Qui gaudeant lege Anglicana quoad brevicia portenda, are exprested; namely, Oneil de Ultonia; O Molaghlin de Minia; O Connoghor de Connacia; O Brin de Thotmonia; & Mac Murragh de Lagenia: And yet I find, that O Neal himself long after, viz. in 20 Edward the Fourth, upon his Marriage with a Daughter of the House of Kildare (to satisfy the Friends of the Lady) was made Denizen by a special Act of Parliament, 20 Edw. 4. C. 8.

Again, in the 29th of Edw. 1, before the Justices in Eyre at Drogheda, Thomas le Botteler brought an Action of Detinue against Robert de Almain for certain Goods. The Defendant pleadeth, Quod non tenetur ei inde respondere, eo quod est Hibernicus, & non de libero sanguine. Et prædictus Thomas dicit, quod Anglicus est, & hoc petit quod inquiratur per patriam, Ideo fiat inde Jurat. &c. Jurat. dicunt super Sacramentum suum, quod prædictus Thomas Anglicus est, ideo consideratum est quod recuperet, &c.

These

11 Hen. 3.
pat. m. 3.

30 Hen. 3.
pat. m. 20.

The meer Irish not admitted to have the benefit of the Laws of England.

The meer Irish reputed Aliens.

Archiv. in Castro Dublin.

Archiv. in Castro Dublin.

Archiv. in Castro Dub-
lin.

These Two Records among many other, do sufficiently shew, that the Irish were disabled to bring any Actions at the Common Law. Touching their Denizations, they were common in every Kings Reign, since Henry the Second, and were never out of use, till His Majesty that now is, came to the Crown.

Among the Pleas of the Crown of 4 Edw. 2. we find a Confirmation made by Edward the First, of a Charter of Denization granted by Henry the Second, to certain Oostmen, or Easterlings, who were Inhabitants of Waterford long before Henry the Second attempted the Conquest of Ireland. Edwardus Dei gratia, &c. Justituario suo Hiberniæ Salutem: Quia per Inspectionem Chartæ Dom. Hen. Reg. filii Imperatricis quondam Dom. Hiberniæ proavi nostri nobis Constat, quod Oostmanni de Waterford legem Anglicorum in Hibernia habere, & secundum ipsam legem judicari & deduci debent: vobis mandamus quod Gillicrist Mac Gillmurrii, Willielmum & Johannem Mac Gilmurrii & alios Oostmannos de civitate & Comitatu Waterford, qui de predictis Oostmannis prædict. Dom. Henr. proavi nostri originem duxerunt, legem Anglicorum in partibus illis juxta tenorem Chartæ prædict. habere, & eos secundum ipsam legem ( quantum in nobis est, deduci faciatis ) donec aliud de Consilio nostro inde duxerimus ordinand. In cujus rei, &c. Teste meipso apud Acton Burnell. 15 Octobris Anno Regni nostri Undecimo.

Again among the Patent Rolls of 1 Edward the Fourth, remaining in the Chancery here, we find a Pat. nt of Denization granted the 13 of Edward the First, in these words, Edwardus Dei gratia, Rex Angliæ, Dom. Hiberniæ, Dux Aquitaniæ, &c. Omnibus Ballivis & fidelibus suis in Hibernia, Salutem: Volentes Christophero filio Donaldi Hibernico gratiam facere specialem, concidimus pro nobis & heredibus nostris, quod idem Christopherus hanc habeat libertatem, ( viz. ) Quod ipse de cætero in Hibernia utatur legibus Anglicanis, & prohibemus ne quisquam contra hanc concessionem nostram dictum Christopherum vexet in aliquo vel perturbet. In cujus rei Testimonium, &c. Teste meipso apud Westm. 27. die Junii, Anno Regni nostri, 13.

In the same Roll, we find another Charter of Denization, granted in the First of Edward the Fourth, in a more larger and beneficial form. Edm. Dei gratia, &c. Omnibus Ballivis, &c. Salutem. Sciatis quod nos volentes Willielmum O Bolgir capellanum de Hibernicâ Natione existentem, favore prosequi gratiofo, de gratia nostra speciali, &c. Concessimus eidem Willielmo, quod ipse liberi sit Status, & libere conditionis, & ab omni servitute Hibernicâ liber & quietus, & quod ipse legibus Anglicanis in omnibus & per omnia uti possit & gaudere, eodem modo, quo homines Anglici infra dictam terram eas habent, & iis gaudent & utuntur, quæque ipse respondeat, & respondeatur, in quibuscunque Curii nostris, ac omnimod. terras, tenementa, redditus, & servitia perquirere possit sibi & heredibus suis imperpetuum, &c.

If I should Collect out of the Records, all the Charters of this kind, I should make a Volume thereof; but these may suffice to shew, that the meer Irish were not reputed free Subjects; nor admitted to the benefit of the Laws of England, until they had purchased Charters of Denization.

Lastly, the meer Irish were not only accounted Aliens, but Enemies; and altogether out of the Protection of the Law; so as it was no capital Offence to kill them; and this is manifest by many Records. At a Gaol-delivery at Waterford, before John Wogan Lord Justice of Ireland, the Fourth of Edward the Second, we find it Recorded among the Pleas of the Crown of that Year. Quod Robertus le Wayleys reatus de morte Johannis filii Juor Mac Gillemory felonice per ipsam interfecti, &c. Venit & bene cognovit quod prædictum Johannem interfecit; dicit tamen quod per ejus interfectionem feloniam committere non potuit, quia dicit, quod prædictus Johannes fuit purus Hibernicus, & non de libero sanguine, &c. Et cum Dominus dicti Johannis ( cujus Hibernicus idem Johannes fuit ) die quo interfectus fuit, solutionem pro ipso Johanne Hibernico suo sic interfecto petere voluerit, ipse Robertus paratus erat ad respondend. de solutione prædict. prout Justitia suadebit. Et super hoc venit quidam Johannes le Poer, & dicit pro Domino Rege, quod prædict. Johannes filius Juor Mac Gillemory, & antecessores sui de cognonime prædict. à tempore quo Dominus Henricus filius Imperatricis, quondam Dominus Hiberniæ, Tritavus Domini Regis nunc, fuit in Hibernia, legem Anglicorum in Hibernia usque ad hunc diem habere, & secundum ipsam legem

Archiv. in Castro Dublin.

Archiv. in Castro Dublin.

Archiv. in Castro Dublin.

That the meer Irish were reputed Enemies to the Crown.

Archiv. in Castro Dub-
lin.

legem judicari & deduci debent. And so pleaded the Charter of Denization granted to the Oostmen recited before; All which appeareth at large in the said Record: Wherein we may note, that the killing of an Irish-man, was not punished by our Law, as Man-slaughter, which is Felony, and Capital, (for our Law did neither protect his Life, nor revenge his death) but by a Fine or pecuniary punishment, which is called an Erick, according to the Brebon, or Irish-Law.

Again, at a Gaol-delivery, before the same Lord Justice at Limerick, in the Roll of the same Year, we find that Willielmus filius Rogeri reſtatatus de morte Rogeri de Canteton felonice per ipsum interfecti, venit & dicit, quod feloniam per interfectionem prædictant committere non potuit, quia dicit quod prædict. Rogerus Hibernic. est, & non de libero sanguine; dicit etiam quod prædict. Rogerus fuit de Cognomine de Obederiscal & non de cognomine de Cantetons, & de hoc ponit se super patriam, &c. Et Jurati dicunt super Sacram. suum, quod prædictus Rogerus Hibernicus fuit & de cognomine de Obederiscal & pro Hibernico habebatur tota vita sua: Ideo prædict. Willielmus quoad feloniam prædict. quietus. Sed quia prædictus Rogerus Otterderiscal fuit Hibernicus Domini Regis, prædict. Willielmus recommitatur Gaule, quousque plegios invenerit de quinque marcis solvendis Domino Regi pro solutione prædicti Hibernici.

Archiv. in Castro Dub-
lin.

But on the other side; if the Jury had found, that the party slain had been of English Race and Nation, it had been adjudged Felony; as appeareth by a Record of 29 of Edward the First, in the Crown-Office here. Coram Waltero Lenfant & sociis suis Justitiariis Itinerantibus apud Drogheda in Comitatu Louth. Johannes Laurens indiſtat. de morte Galfridi Donedal venit & non dedit mortem prædictam: sed dicit quod prædict. Galfridus fuit Hibernicus, & non de libero sanguine, & de bono & malo ponit se super patriam, &c. Et Jurat. dicunt super Sacram. suum quod prædict. Galfridus Anglicus fuit, & ideo prædict. Johannes culpabilis est de morte Galfridi prædict. Ideo suspend. Catalla 13 s. unde Hugo de Clinton Vicecom. respondet.

Archiv. in Castro Dub-
lin.

Hence it is, that in all the Parliament Rolls which are extant from the Fortieth Year of Edward the Third, when the Statutes of Kilkenny were enacted, till the Reign of King Henry the Eighth, we find the degenerate and disobedient English, called Rebels; but the Irish which were not in the Kings peace, are called Enemies. Satute Kilkenny. c. 1. 10, 11. 11 Hen. 4. c. 24. 10 Hen. 6. c. 1. 18. 18 Hen. 6. c. 4. 5 Edward. 4. c. 6. 10 Hen. 7. c. 17. All these Statutes speak of English Rebels, and Irish Enemies; as if the Irish had never been in condition of Subjects, but always out of the Protection of the Law; and were indeed in worse case then Aliens of any Foreign Realm that was in Amity with the Crown of England. For, by divers heavy Penal Laws, the English were forbidden to Marry, to Foster, to make Gossips with the Irish; or to have any Trade or Commerce in their Markets or Fairs; nay, there was a Law made no longer since than the 28th Year of Henry the Eighth, that the English should not Marry with any Person of Irish Blood, though he had gotten a Charter of Denization, unless he had done both Homage and Fealty to the King in the Chancery, and were also bound by Recognizance with Sureties, to continue a Loyal Subject. Whereby it is manifest, that such as had the Government of Ireland under the Crown of England, did intend to make a perpetual separation and enmity between the English and the Irish; pretending (no doubt) that the English should in the end root out the Irish; which the English not being able to do, did cause a perpetual War between the Nations; which continued Four Hundred and odd Years, and would have lasted to the Worlds end; if in the end of Queen Elizabeth's Reign, the Irishry had not been broken and conquered by the Sword: And since the beginning of his Majesties Reign, had not been protected and governed by the Law.

Archiv. in Castro Dub-
lin.

Stat. de Kilkenny c. 2. &
3. 10 Hen.
6. c. 1. 28
Hen. 8. c. 13.

But perhaps, the Irishry in former times did wilfully refuse to be subject to the Laws of England, and would not be partakers of the benefit thereof, though the Crown of England did desire; and therefore, they were reputed Aliens, Out-laws, and Enemies. * Affuredly, the contrary doth appear, as well by the Charters of Denization purchased by the Irish in all Ages, as by * The Irish did desire to be admitted to the benefit and protection of the English Laws, but could not obtain it.

2 Ed. 3.
Claus. 17:

a Petition preferred by them to the King, Anno 2 Edward the Third, desiring, that an Act might pass in Ireland, whereby all the Irishry might be enabled to use and enjoy the Laws of England, without purchasing of particular Denizations: Upon which Petition, the King directed a special Writ to the Lord Justice; which is found amongst the Close-Rolls in the Tower of London, in this form: Rex dilecto & fideli suo Johanni Darcile Mepien Justic. suo Hibernie, Salutem. Ex parte quorundam hominum de Hibernia nobis extitit supplicatum, ut per Statutum inde faciendum concedere velimus, quod omnes Hibernici qui voluerint, legibus utatur Anglicanis: ita quod necesse non habeant super hoc Chartas alias a nobis impetrare: nos igitur Certiorari volentes, si sine alieno prejudicio præmissis annuere valeamus, vobis mandamus quod voluntatem magnatum terre illius in proximo Parlimento nostro ibidem tenendo super hoc cum diligentia perscrutari facias: & de eo quod inde inveneritis una cum Consilio & advisamento nobis certificetis, &c. Whereby I Collect, that the great Lords of Ireland had informed the King that the Irishry might not be Naturalized, without damage and prejudice either to themselves, or to the Crown.

The Council
Book of Ireland, 34.
Hen. 8.

But I am well assured, that the Irishry did desire to be admitted to the benefit of the Law, not only in this Petition exhibited to King Edward the Third; but by all their Submissions made to King Richard the Second, and to the Lord Thomas of Lancaster before the Wars of the Two Houses; and afterwards to the Lord Leonard Grey, and Sir Anthony Saint-Leger, when King Henry the Eighth began to reform this Kingdom. In particular, the Birns of the Mountains, in 34th of Henry the Eighth, desire that their Country might be made Shire-ground, and called the County of Wicklow: And in the 23d of Henry the Eighth, O. Donnel doth Covenant with Sir William Skeffington, Quod si Dominus Rex velit reformare Hiberniam, (whereof it should seem he made some doubt) that he and his people would gladly be governed by the Laws of England. Only that ungrateful Traytor Tyrone, though he had no colour or shadow of Title to that great Lordship, but only by grant from the Crown, and by the Law of England (for by the Irish Law he had been ranked with the meanest of his Sept) yet in one of his Capitulations with the State, he required that no Sheriff might have jurisdiction with Tyrone; and consequently that the Laws of England might not be executed there: Which request, was never before made by O. Neale, or any other Lord of the Irishry, when they submitted themselves; but contrariwise they were humble Sutors to have the Benefit and Protection of the English Laws.

Communicating the English
Laws to the Irish.
What mischief did grow by not

This then I note as a great defect in the civil policy of this Kingdom, in that for the space of Three Hundred and Fifty Years at least after the Conquest first attempted, the English Laws were not communicated to the Irish, nor the benefit and protection thereof allowed unto them, though they earnestly desired and sought the same. For, as long as they were, out of the protection of the Law; so as every English-man might oppress, spoil, and kill them without controulment, how was it possible they should be other then Outlaws and Enemies to the Crown of England? If the King would not admit them to the condition of Subjects, how could they learn to acknowledge and obey him as their Sovereign? When they might not Converse or Commerce with any Civil Men, nor enter into any Town or City without peril of their Lives; whither should they fly but into the Woods and Mountains, and there live in a wild and barbarous manner? If the English Magistrates would not rule them by the Law which doth punish Treason, and Murder, and Theft with death; but leave them to be ruled by their own Lords and Laws, why should they not embrace their own Brehon Law, which punisheth no Offence but with a Fine or Erick? If the Irish be not permitted to purchase Estates of Freeholds or Inheritance, which might descend to their Children, according to the course of our Common Law, must they not continue their custom of Tanistrie, which makes all their Possessions uncertain, and brings Confusion, Barbarism, and Incivility? In a word, if the English would neither in Peace govern them by the Law, nor could in War root them out by the Sword; must they not needs be Pricks in their Eyes and Thorns in their Sides till the Worlds end? and so the Conquest never be brought to Perfection.

But

But on the other side ; if from the beginning the Laws of England had been established, and the Brehon or Irish Law utterly abolished, as well in the Irish Countries, as the English Colonies : If there had been no difference made between the Nations in point of Justice and Protection, but all had been governed by one Equal, Just, and Honourable Law, as Dido speaketh in Virgil ; Tros, Tyriusve mihi nullo discrimine habetur. If upon the first Submission made by the Irish Lords to King Henry the Second ; Quem in Regem & Dominum receperunt, saith Matth. Paris ; or upon the second Submission made to King John, when, Plusquam viginti Reguli maximo timore perterriti homagium ei & fidelitatem fecerunt, as the same Author writeth ; or upon the third general Submission made to King Richard the Second ; when they did not only do Homage and Fealty, but bound themselves by Indentures and Oaths (as is before expressed) to become and continue Loyal Subjects to the Crown of England : If any of these three Kings, who came each of them twice in Person into this Kingdom, had upon these Submissions of the Irishry, received them all, both Lords and Tenants, into their immediate Protection, divided their several Countries into Counties ; made Sheriffs, Coroners, and Wardens of the Peace therein : sent Justices Itinerants half yearly into every part of the Kingdom, as well to punish Malefactors as to hear and determine Causes between Party and Party, according to the course of the Laws of England, taken Surrenders of their Lands and Territories, and granted Estates unto them, to hold by English Tenures ; granted them Markets, Fairs, and other Franchises, and erected Corporate Towns among them : (all which hath been performed since his Majesty came to the Crown) assuredly the Irish Countries had long since been reformed and reduced to Peace, Plenty and Civility, which are the effects of Laws and good Government : they had builded Houses, planted Orchards and Gardens, erected Townships, and made provision for their Posterities ; there had been a perfect Union betwixt the Nations, and consequently, a perfect Conquest of Ireland. For the Conquest is never perfect till the War be at an end, and the War is not at an end till there be Peace and Unity ; and there can never be Unity and Concord in any one Kingdom, but where there is but one King, one Allegiance, and one Law.

True it is, that King John made twelve Shires in Leinster and Munster : namely, Dublin, Kildare, Meath, Uriel, Catherlogh, Kilkenny, Wexford, Waterford, Cork, Limerick, Kerry, and Tipperary : Yet these Counties did stretch no farther than the Lands of the English Colonies did extend. In them only were the English Laws published and put in Execution ; and in them only did the Itinerant Judges make their Circuits and Visitations of Justice, and not in the Countries possessed by the Irishry, which contained two third parts of the Kingdom at least. And therefore King Edward the First, before the Court of Parliament was established in Ireland, did transfix the Statutes of England in this form : Dominus Rex mandavit Breve suum in hæc verba : Edwardus Dei gratia, Rex Angliæ, Dominus Hiberniæ, &c. Cancellario suo Hiberniæ, Salutem. Quædam statuta per nos de assensu Prælatorum, Comitum, Baronum & Communitat. regni nostri nuper apud Lincolne, & quædam alia statuta postmodum apud Eborum facta, quæ in dicta terra nostra Hiberniæ ad Communitatem utilitatem populi nostri ejusdem terræ observari volumus, vobis mittimus sub sigillo nostro, mandantes quod statuta illa indicta Cancellaria nostra Custoderi ; ac in rotulis ejusdem Cancellariæ irrotulari, & ad singulas placeas nostras in terra nostra Hiberniæ, & singulos Comitatus ejusdem terræ mitti faciatis ministris nostris placearum illarum, & Vicecomitibus dictorum Comitatum : mandantes, quod statuta illa coram ipsis publicari & ea in omnibus in singulis Articulis suis observari firmiter faciatis. Teste meipso apud Nottingham, &c. By which Writ, and by all the Pipe-Rolls of that time it is manifest, that the Laws of England were published and put in Execution only in the Counties, which were then made and limited, and not in the Irish Countries, which were neglected and left wild ; and have but of late years been divided in one and twenty Counties more.

Again, true it is that by the Statute of Kilkenny, enacted in this Kingdom, in the fortieth Year of King Edward the Third, the Brehon Law was condemned and abolished,

What good would have ensued if the Irish had been governed by the English Laws.

Three general Submissions of the Irish.

The English Laws were executed only in the English Colonies

Archiv. in Castro Dublin.

to Statut. de Kilkenny. c. 4

abolished, and the use and practice thereof made High Treason. But this Law extended to the English only, and not to the Irish: For the Law is penned in this form: Item, Forasmuch as the diversity of Government by divers Laws in one Land, doth make diversity of Ligeance and Debates between the People, It is accorded and established, that hereafter no English Man have Debate with another English Man, but according to the course of the Common Law; and that no English Man be ruled in the definition of their Debates, by the March-Law, or the Brehon Law, which by reason ought not to be named a Law, but an evil Custom; but that they be ruled as right is, by the Common Law of the Land, as the Lieges of our Sovereign Lord the King; And if any do to the contrary, and thereof be attainted, that he be taken and imprisoned, and judged as a Traytor: And that hereafter there be no diversity of Ligeance between the English born in Ireland and the English born in England; but that all be called and reputed English, and the Lieges of our Sovereign Lord the King, &c. This Law was made only to reform the degenerate English, but there was no care taken for the Reformation of the meer Irish; no Ordinance, no Provision made for the abolishing of their barbarous Customs and Manners. Inasmuch as the Law then made for Apparel, and riding in Saddles, after the English Fashion, is penal only to English Men, and not to the Irish. But the Roman State, which conquered so many Nations both Barbarous and Civil; and therefore knew by experience, the best and readiest way of making a perfect and absolute Conquest, refused not to communicate their Laws to the rude and barbarous People whom they had conquered; neither did they put them out of their Protection, after they had once submitted themselves: But contrariwise, it is said of Julius Caesar: Quâ, vicit, victos protegit, ille manu. And again, of another Emperor:

*Fecisti patriam diversis gentibus unam,
Profuit invitis te dominante capi;
Dumque offers victis proprii consortia juris,
Urbem fecisti, quod prius orbis erat.*

And of Rome it self;

*Hæc est, in gremium victos quæ sola recepit,
Humanumque genus communi nomine fovit,
Matris, non dominæ, ritu; Civesque vocavit,
Quos domuit, nexusque pio longinqua revinxit.*

Tacitus in vita Agricola.

Therefore (as Tacitus writeth) Julius Agricola, the Roman General in Britany, used this Policy to make a perfect Conquest of our Ancestors, the ancient Britains; They were (saith he) rude, and dispersed; and therefore prone upon every occasion to make War, but to induce them by pleasure to quietness and rest, he exhorted them in private, and gave them helps in common, to build Temples, Houses, and places of publick resort. The Noblemens Sons he took and instructed in the Liberal Sciences, &c. preferring the Wits of the Britains before the Students of France; as being now curious to attain the Eloquence of the Roman Language, whereas they lately rejected that Speech. After that, the Roman Attire grew to be in account, and the Gown to be in use among them; and so by little and little they proceeded to curiosity and delicacies in Buildings and furniture of Household; in Bathes, and exquisite Banquets; and so being come to the height of Civility, they were thereby brought to an absolute Subjection.

William the Conqueror governed both the English and Normans
under one Law.

Likewise our Norman Conqueror, though he oppressed the English Nobility very sore, and gave away to his Servitors the Lands and Possessions of such as did oppose his first Invasion, though he caused all his Acts of Counsel to be published in French; and some Legal Proceedings and Pleadings to be framed and used in the same Tongue, as a mark and badge of a Conquest; yet he governed All, both English and Normans, by one and the same Law; which was the ancient and common Law of England, long before the Conquest. Neither did he deny any English Man Man (that submitted himself unto him :) The benefit of that Law, though it were against a Norman of the best rank, and in greatest favour (as appeared in the notable Controversie between Warren the Norman and Sherburne of Sherburne Castle in Norfolk, for the Conqueror had given that Castle to Warren; yet when the Inheritors thereof, had alledged before the King, that he never bear Arms against him; that he was his Subject, as well as the other, and that he did inherit and hold his Lands, by the rules of that Law, which the King had established among all his Subjects; the King gave judgment against Warren, and commanded that Sherburne should hold his land in Peace. By this means, he obtained a peaceable possession of the Kingdom within few Years; whereas, if he had cast all the English out of his protection, and held them as Aliens and Enemies to the Crown, the Normans (perhaps) might have spent as much time in the Conquest of England, as the English have spent in the Conquest of Ireland.

Cambden in Norfolk.

The like prudent course hath been observed in Reducing of Wales; which was performed partly by King Edward the First, and altogether finished by King Henry the Eighth. For we find by the Statute of Rutland, made the 12th of Edward the First, when the Welshmen had submitted themselves, De alto & Basso, to that King, he did not reject and cast them off, as Out-laws and Enemies, but caused their Laws and Customs to be examined, which were in many points agreeable to the Irish or Brehon Law. Quibus diligenter auditis & plenius intellectis, quasdam illarum (saith the King in that Ordinance) Consilio procerum delevimus; quasdam permutavimus; quasdam correximus; ac etiam quasdam alias adjiciendas & faciend. decrevimus; and so established a Common-wealth among them, according to the form of the English Government. After this, by reason of the sundry insurrections of the Barons; the Wars in France; and the dissention between the Houses of York and Lancaster, the State of England neglected or omitted the Execution of this Statute of Rutland; so as a great part of Wales grew wild and barbarous again. And therefore King Henry the Eighth, by the Statutes of 27 and 32 of his Reign, did revive and recontinue that Noble work begun by King Edward the First, and brought it indeed to full perfection; For he United the Dominion of Wales to the Crown of England, and divided it into Shires, and erected in every Shire, one Borough, as in England; and enabled them to send Knights and Burgeesses to the Parliament; established a Court of Presidency, and ordained that Justices of Assize, and Goal-delivery, should make their Half Year Circuits there, as in England; made all the Laws and Statutes of England, in force there; and among other Welsh Customs, abolished that of Gavel-kind; whereby the Heirs-Femals were utterly excluded, and the Bastards did inherit, as well as the Legitimate, which is the very Irish Gavel-kind. By means whereof that entire Country in a short time was securely settled in Peace and Obedience, and hath attained to that Civility of Manners, and plenty of all things, as now we find it not inferiour to the best parts of England.

K. Edw.
1. did communicate the English laws to the welsh-men.

I will therefore knit up this point with these conclusions; First, that the Kings of England, which in former Ages attempted the Conquest of Ireland, being ill advised and counselled by the Great Men here, did not upon the submissions of the Irish, communicate their Laws unto them, nor admit them to the state and condition of Free-subjects: Secondly, that for the space of 200 Years at least, after the first arrival of Henry the Second in Ireland, the Irish would gladly have embraced the Laws of England, and did earnestly desire the benefit and protection thereof; which being denied them, did of necessity cause a continual bordering War between the English and the Irish. And lastly, if according to the examples before recited, they had reduced as well the Irish Countries, as the English Colonies, under one form of Civil Government (as now they are,) the Meers and Bounds of the Marches and Borders, had been long since worn out and forgotten, (for it is not fit, as Cambrensis writeth) that a King of an Island should have any Marches or Borders, (but the Four Seas) both Nations had been incorporated and united; Ireland had been entirely Conquered, Planted, and Improved; and returned a rich Revenue to the Crown of England.

Giraldus
Cambrensis.
l. 2. de Hibernicaexpug-

2. The Lands Conquered from the Irish were not well distributed.

The proportions of Land granted to the first Adventurers were too large.

Giraldus Cambrensis, 2. de Hibernia expugnata. In Arch. Tur. 5. Ed. 3. Echeat numero. 104. 2 Johan. Chart. m. 15. & m. 38. 6 Johan. Chart. m. 1. 7 Johan. Chart. m. 12 & n. 109. 6 Edw. 1. Chart. m. 19.

18 Ed. 1. m. 29. Girald. Camb. 1. 2 de Hibernia expug. All Ireland distributed to ten persons of the English Nation. 6 Hen. 3. Chart. m. 2. Hoved. in H. 2. fol. 302. Archiv. tur. 17. Johan. Chart. m. 3. 6 Johan. Clauf. m. 18. Matth. Paris in Henry the Third.

3 Hen. 3.

The Liberties granted to the first Adventurers were too great. Eight Counties Palatines in Ireland at one time.

The next error in the Civil Policy which hindered the perfection of the Conquest of Ireland, did consist in the Distribution of the Lands and Possessions which were won and conquered from the Irish. For the Scopes of Land which were granted to the first Adventures, were too large; and the Liberties and Royalties, which they obtained therein, were too great for Subjects; though it stood with reason that they should be rewarded liberally out of the fruits of their own Labours, since they did Militare propriis stipendiis, and received no pay from the Crown of England, Notwithstanding there ensued divers Inconveniences, that gave great Impediment to the Conquest.

First, the Earl Strongbow was entituled to the whole Kingdom of Leinster; partly by Invasion, and partly by Marriage; albeit, he surrendered the same entirely to King Henry the Second his Sovereign; for that with his License he came over; and with the Aid of his Subjects, he had gained that great Inheritance; yet did the King regrant back again to him and his Heirs all that Province, reserving only the City of Dublin, and the Cantreds next adjoining, with the Maritime Towns, and principal Forts and Castles. Next, the same King granted to Robert Fitz-Stephen, and Miles Cogan, the whole Kingdom of Cork, from Lismore to the Sea. To Philip Bruce, he gave the whole Kingdom of Limerick, with the Donation of Bishopricks, and Abbies (except the City, and one Cantred of Land adjoining.) To Sir Hugh de Lacy, all Meath. To Sir John de Courcy, all Ulster. William Burke Fitz-Adelm, the greatest part of Conaught. In like manner, Sir Thomas de Clare, obtained a grant of all Thomond; and Otho de Grandison of all Tipperary; and Robert le Poer, of the Territory of Waterford, (the City it self, and the Cantred of the Oostmen only excepted.) And thus was all Ireland Cantonized among Ten Persons of the English Nation; and though they had not gained the possession of One Third Part of the whole Kingdom, yet in Title they were Owners and Lords of all, so as nothing was left to be granted to the Natives. And therefore we do not find in any Record or Story for the space of Three Hundred Years, after these Adventurers first arrived in Ireland, that any Irish Lord obtained a grant of his Country from the Crown, but only the King of Thomond, who had a grant but during King Henry the Third his Minority; and Rotherick O Connor, King of Conaught, to whom King Henry the Second, before this distribution made, did grant (as is before declared.) Ut sit Rex sub eo; and moreover, Ut teneat terram suam Conactia ita bene & in pace, sicut tenuit antequam Dominus Rex intravit Hiberniam. And whose Successor, in the 24th of Henry the Third, when the Bourkes had made a strong Plantation there, and had well-nigh expelled him out of his Territory, he came over into England, (as Matth. Paris writeth) and made complaint to King Henry the Third of this Invasion made by the Bourkes upon his Land, insisting upon the Grants of King Henry the Second, and King John; and affirming, that he had duly paid a Yearly Tribute of Five Thousand Marks for his Kingdom. Whereupon, the King called unto him the Lord Maurice Fitz-Gerald, who was then Lord Justice of Ireland, and President in the Court; and commanded him that he should root out that unjust Plantation, which Hubert Earl of Kent had in the time of his Greatness, Planted in those Parts; and wrote withal to the Great Men of Ireland to move the Bourkes, and to establish the King of Conaught in the quiet possession of his Kingdom. Howbeit, I do not read, that the King of England's Commandment or Direction in this behalf was ever put in Execution. For, the truth is; Richard de Bourgo had obtained a Grant of all Conaught, after the Death of the King of Conaught, then living. For which he gave a Thousand Pound, as the Record in the Tower Reciteth, the Third of Henry the Third, Clauf. 2. And besides, our Great English Lords could not endure that any Kings should Reign in Ireland, but themselves; nay, they could hardly endure that the Crown of England it self, should have any Jurisdiction or Power over them. For many of these Lords, to whom our Kings had granted these petty Kingdoms, did by vertue and colour of these Grants, claim and exercise Jura Regalia within their Territories; insomuch, as there were no less than Eight Counties Palatines in Ireland at one time.

For

For William Marshal, Earl of Pembroke, who Married the Daughter and Heir of Strongbow, being Lord of all Leinster, had Royal Jurisdiction throughout all that Province. This Great Lord had Five Sons, and Five Daughters; every of his Sons enjoyed that Seigniorie successively, and yet all Dyed without Issue. Then this great Lordship was broken and divided, and partition made between the Five Daughters, who were Married into the Noblest Houses of England. The County of Catherlough was allotted to the Eldest; Wexford to the Second; Kilkenny to the Third; Kildare to the Fourth; the greatest part of Leix, now called the Queens County, to the Fifth: In every of these portions, the Coparceners severally exercised the same Jurisdiction Royal, which the Earl Marshal and his Sons had used in the whole Province. Whereby it came to pass, that there were Five County Palatines erected in Leinster. Then had the Lord of Meath the same Royal liberty in all that Territory; the Earl of Ulster in all that Province; and the Lord of Desmond and Kerry within that County. All these appear upon Record, and were all as ancient as the time of King John; only the liberty of Tipperary, which is the only liberty that remaineth at this day, was granted to James Butler the First Earl of Ormonde, in the Third Year of King Edward the Third.

These absolute Palatines made Barons and Knights, did exercise high Justice in all points within their Territories, erected Courts for Criminal and Civil Causes, and for their own Revenues; in the same form, as the Kings Courts were established at Dublin; made their own Judges, Seneschals, Sheriffs, Coroners, and Escheators; so the Kings Writ did not run in those Counties (which took up more than two parts of the English Colonies) but only the Church Lands lying within the same, which were called the Cross, wherein the King made a Sheriff: And so, in each of these Counties Palatines, there were two Sheriffs; One, of the Liberty; and another of the Cross: As in Meath we find a Sheriff of the Liberty, and a Sheriff of the Cross; And so in Ulster, and so in Wexford: And so at this day, the Earl of Ormonde maketh a Sheriff of the Liberty, and the King a Sheriff of the Cross of Tipperary. Hereby it is manifest, how much the Kings Jurisdiction was restrained, and the power of these Lords enlarged by these High Privileges. And it doth further appear, by one Article among others, preferred to King Edward the Third, touching the Reformation of the state of Ireland, which we find in the Tower, in these words, Item les Franchises grantees in Ireland, que sont Royales, telles come Duresme & Cestre, vous oustont cybien de les profits, Come de graunde partie de Obeissance des persons enfranchises; & en quescun franchise est Chancellerie, Chequer & consans de pleas, cybien de la Coronne, Come autres communes, & grantont auxi Charters de pardon; & sont sovent per ley et reasonable cause seises en vostre main, a grand profit de vous; & leigerment restitues per maundement hors de Engleterre; a damage, &c. Unto which Article, the King made answer, Le Roy voet que les franchise que sont et seront per juste cause prises en sa main, ne soient my restitues, avant que le Roy soit certifie de la cause de la prise de icelles, 26. Ed. 3. Claus. m. 1. Again, these great Undertakers, were not tied to any form of Plantation, but all was left to their discretion and pleasure. And although they builded Castles, and made Free-holders, yet were there no Tenures or Services reserved to the Crown; but the Lords drew all the respect and dependancy of the common people unto themselves. Now let us see what inconveniences did arise by these large and ample Grants of Lands and Liberties, to the first Adventurers in the Conquest.

Assuredly by these Grants of whole Provinces, and petty Kingdoms, those few English Lords pretended to be Proprietors of all the Land, so as there was no possibility left of settling the Natives in their Possessions, and by consequence the Conquest became impossible, without the utter extirpation of all the Irish; which these English Lords were not able to do, nor perhaps willing, if they had been able. Notwithstanding, because they did still hope to become Lords of those Lands which were possessed by the Irish, whereunto they pretended Title by their large Grants; and because they did fear, that if the Irish were received into the Kings protection, and made Leige-men and Free-subjects, the State of England would establish them in their Possessions by Grants from the Crown, reduce their Countries into Counties,

Annales Hi-bernice in Camden.

In Arch. Tur-
11. Edw. 3.
Escheatm. 23

Five Counties Palatines in Lienster.
Archiv. in Castro Dub-
lin.
Archiv. Tur.
pat. 3. E. 3. m.
28.

Archiv. in Castro Dub-
lin.

The inconveniences which grew by the grants of Lands and Liberties.

The English
Lords in Ireland made War and Peace at their pleasure.

Counties, enoble some of them; and enfranchise all, and make them amenable to the Law, which would have abridged and cut off a great part, of that greatness which they had promised unto themselves; they persuaded the King of England, that it was unfit to communicate the Laws of England unto them; that it was the best policy to hold the as Aliens and Enemies, and to prosecute them with a continual War. Hereby they obtained another Royal Prerogative and Power; which was, to make War and Peace at their pleasure, in every part of the Kingdom, Which gave them an absolute command over the Bodies, Lands, and Goods of the English Subjects here. And besides, the Irish Inhabiting the Lands fully conquered and reduced, being in condition of Slaves and Villians, did render a greater Profit and Revenue, than if they had been made the Kings Free-Subjects.

And for these Two Causes last expressed, they were not willing to root out all the Irishry. We may not therefore marvel, that when King Edward the Third, upon the Petition of the Irish (as is before remembred) was desirous to be certified, De voluntate magnatum suorum in proximo Parlamento in Hibernia tenend. si sine alieno præjudicio concedere possit, quod per statut. inde fact. Hibernici utantur legibus Anglicanis, sive Chartis Regis inde Impetrandis, that there was never any Statute made to that effect. For the truth is, that those great English Lords did to the uttermost of their power, cross and withstand the enfranchisement of the Irish, for the causes before expressed; Wherein I must still clear and acquit the Crown and State of England, of negligence or ill policy, and lay the fault upon the Pride, Covetousness, and ill Counsel of the English planted here, which in all former Ages have been the chief impediments of the final Conquest of Ireland.

The War and Dissention of the English Lords one with another

Annales Hi-bernice in Cambd.

Again, those large scopes of Land, and great Liberties, with the absolute Power to make War and Peace, did raise the English Lords to that height of Pride and Ambition, as that they could not endure one another, but grew to a mortal War and Dissention among themselves, as appeareth by all the Records and Stories of this Kingdom. First, in the Year, 1204. the Lacies of Meath, made War upon Sir John Courcy, who having taken him by treachery, sent him Prisoner into England. In the Year, 1210. King John coming over in Person, expelled the Lacies out of the Kingdom, for their Tyranny and Oppression of the English: Howbeit, upon payment of great Fines, they were afterward restored. In the Year, 1228. that Family being risen to a greater height (for Hugh de Lacy the Younger, was created Earl of Ulster, after the Death of Courcy without Issue) there arose Dissention and War between that House, and William Marshal Lord of Leinster; wherehy all Meath was destroyed and laid waste. In the Year, 1264. Sir Walter Bourke having Married the Daughter and Heir of Lacy, whereby he was Earl of Ulster in right of his Wife, had mortal debate with Maurice Fitz-Morice the Geraldine, for certain Lands in Conaught. So as all Ireland was full of Wars between the Bourkes and the Geraldines (say our Annals.) Wherein Maurice Fitz-Morice grew so Insolent, as that upon a meeting at Thistledermot, he took the Lord Justice himself, Sir Richard Capel, Prisoner, with divers Lords of Munster being then in his Company. In the Year, 1288. Richard Bourke, Earl of Ulster, (commonly called the Red Earl) pretending Title to the Lordship of Meath, made War upon Sir Theobald de Verdun, and belieged him in the Castle of Athlone. Again, in the Year, 1292. John Fitz-Thomas the Geraldine, having by contention with the Lord Vesci, gotten a goodly Inheritance in Kildare, grew to that height of imagination (saith the story) as he fell into Difference with divers great Noblemen; among many others, with Richard the Red Earl, whom he took Prisoner, and detained him in Castle-Ley; and by that dissention, the English on the one side, and the Irish on the other, did waste and destroy all the Country.

Annales Hi-bernice in Cambd.

Annales Johan. Clyn.
Mqahic.

After, in the Year, 1311. the same Red Earl (coming to besiege Bouratty in Thomond, which was then held by by Sir Richard de Clare as his Inheritance) was again taken Prisoner; And all his Army (consisting for the most part of English) overthrown and cut in pieces, by Sir Richard de Clare. And after this again, in the Year, 1327. most of the great Houses were banded one against another, (viz.) The Giraldines, Butlers, and Breminghams, on the one side, and the Bourkes and

PARTS

Poers on the other. The ground of the Quarrel being none other, but that the Lord Arnold Poer had called the Earl of Kildare Rimer: But this Quarrel was prosecuted with such Malice and Violence, as the Counties of Waterford and Kilkenny were destroyed with Fire and Sword, till a Parliament was called of purpose, to Quiet this Dissention.

Shortly after, the Lord John Breminham, who was not long before made Earl of Louth, for that Noble Service which he performed against the Scots, between Dundalk and the Faber, was so extremely envied by the Gernons, Verdons, and others of the ancient Colony, planted in the County of Louth, as that in the Year 1329, they did most wickedly betray and murder that Earl, with divers principal Gentlemen of his Name and Family; using the same speech that the Rebellious Jews are said to use in the Gospel:

Nolumus hunc regnare super nos.

After this, the Geraldines and the Butlers being become the most Potent Families in the Kingdom (for the great Lordship of Leinster was divided among Coparceners, whose Heirs for the most part lived in England; and the Earldom of Ulster, with the Lordship of Meath, by the match of Lionel Duke of Clarence, at last descended upon the Crown) had almost a continual War one with another. In the time of King Henry the Sixth (saith Baron Finglas in his Discourse of the Decay of Ireland,) in a Fight between the Earls of Ormonde and Desmond, almost all the Townsmen of Kilkenny were slain. And as they followed contrary parties during the Wars of York and LANCASTER, so after that civil dissention ended in England, these Houses in Ireland continued their opposition and feud still, even till the time of King Henry the Eighth; when by the Marriage of Margaret Fitz-Gerald to the Earl of Offory, the Houses of Kildare and Ormonde were reconciled, and have continued in amity ever since.

Baron Finglas Manusc.

Thus these great Estates and Royalties granted to the English Lords in Ireland, begat Pride; and Pride begat Contention among themselves, which brought forth divers mischiefs, that did not only disable the English to finish the conquest of all Ireland, but did endanger the loss of what was already gained; And of Conquerors, made them Slaves to that Nation which they did intend to Conquer. For, whensoever one English Lord had vanquished another, the Irish waited and took the opportunity, and fell upon that Country which had received the blow; and so daily recovered some part of the Lands, which were possessed by the English Colonies.

Besides, the English Lords to strengthen their parties did ally themselves with the Irish, and drew them in, to dwell among them, gave their Children to be Fostered among them; and having no other means to pay or reward them, suffered them to take Coigne and Livery upon the English Free-holders; which Oppression was so intollerable, as that the better sort was enforced to quit their Free-holds, and flee into England; and never returned, though many Laws were made in both Realms, to remand them back again; and the rest which remained, became degenerate and meer Irish, as is before declared. And the English Lords finding the Irish exactions to be more profitable than the English Rents and Services; and loving the Irish Tyranny, which was tied to no Rules of Law or Honour, better than a just and lawful Seignior, did reject and cast off the English Law and Government, received the Irish Laws and Customs, took Irish Surnames, as Mac William, Mac Pheris, Mac Yoris, refused to come to the Parliaments which were summoned by the King of England's Authority, and scorned to obey those English Knights which were sent to command and govern this Kingdom; namely, Sir Richard Capel, Sir John Morris, Sir John Darcy, and Sir Ralph Ufford. And when Sir Anthony Lucy, a Man of great Authority in the time of King Edward the Third, was sent over to Reform the notorious Abuses of this Kingdom, the King doubting that he should not be obeyed, directed a special Writ or Mandate to the Earl of Ulster, and the rest of the Nobility to assist him. And afterwards, the same King (upon good Stat. ro. H. 7. c. 4.

Rot. Parl. in Castro Dublin.

Baron Finglas Manuscript.

Archiv. Tur. 5. Ed. 3. claus. m. 4.

Advise

Archiv. Tur.
15 Edw. 3.
claus. m. 4.

Annales Hi-
bernæ in Cambden.

The first Adventurers obtained these liberal Grants because the Kings of England did not prosecute the War at their own charge.

How the State of Rome rewarded their Men of War.

William the Conqueror.

Cambden in Chester.

Wales distributed to the
L. Marchers.

Advice and Counsel) resumed those excessive Grants of Lands and Liberties in Ireland by a special Ordinance made in England, which remaineth of Record in the Tower, in this form: Quia plures excessivæ donationes terrarum & libertatum in Hibernia ad subdolum machinationem petentium factæ sunt, &c. Rex delusorias hujusmodi machinationes volens elidere, de consilio peritorum sibi assistentium, omnes donationes Terrarum & libertatum prædict. duxit revocandas, quousque de meritis donatoriorum & causis ab qualitatibus donationum melius fuerit informat. & ideo mandatum est Justiciario Hiberniæ quod seisciri faciat, &c. Howbeit, there followed upon this Resumption, such a Division and Faction between the English of Birth and the English of Blood and Race, as they summoned and held several Parliaments apart one from the other. Whereupon there had risen a general War betwixt them to the utter extinguishing of the English Name and Nation in Ireland, if the Earl of Desmond, who was head of the Faction against the English of Birth, had not been sent into England, and detained there for a time: yet afterwards, these Liberties being restored by direction out of England, the 26th of Edward the Third, complaint was made to the King of the easie restitution; whereunto the King made answer, as is before expressed: so as we may conclude this point with that which we find in the Annals, published by Master Cambden: Hibernici debellati & consumpti fuissent, nisi seditio Anglicorum impedivisset. Whereunto I may add this note, that though some are of opinion that Grants of extraordinary Honours and Liberties made by a King to his Subjects, do no more diminish his Greatness than when one Torch lighteth another; for it hath no less light than it had before, Quis vetat appposito lumen de lumine sumi? Yet many times Inconveniencies do arise thereupon: and those Princes have held up their Sovereignty best which have been sparing in those Grants. And truly, as these Grants of little Kingdoms and great Royalties to a few private Persons, did produce the mischiefs spoken of before: So the true cause of the making of these Grants did proceed from this; That the Kings of England being otherwise employed and diverted, did not make the Conquest of Ireland their own Work, and undertake it not Royally at their own charge; but as it was first begun by particular Adventurers, so they left the prosecution thereof to them, and other Voluntaries, who came to seek their Fortunes in Ireland; wherein if they could prevail, they thought that in reason and Honour they could do no less than make them Proprietors of such scopes of Land as they could conquer, people, and plant at their own charge, reserving only the Sovereign Lordship to the Crown of England. But if the Lyon had gone to hunt himself, the shares of the inferiour Beasts had not been so great: If the Invasion had been made by an Army transmitted, furnished, and supplied only at the King's Charges, and wholly paid with the King's Treasure, as the Armies of Queen Elizabeth and King James have been; as the Conquest had been sooner atchieved, so the Servitors had been contented with lesser proportions.

For, when Scipio, Pompey, Cæsar, and other Generals of the Roman Armies, as Subjects and Servants of that State, and with the publick Charge had conquered many Kingdoms and Commonweals, we find them rewarded with Honourable Offices and Triumphs at their return; and not made Lords and Proprietors of whole Provinces and Kingdoms which they had subdued to the Empire of Rome. Likewise, when the Duke of Normandy had conquered England, which he made his own Work, and performed it in his own Person, he distributed sundry Lordships and Manors unto his Followers, but gave not away whole Shires and Countreys in demeasne to any of his Servitors, whom he most desired to advance; only he made Hugh Lupus County Palatine of Chester, and gave that Earldom to him and his Heirs, to hold the same, Ita libere ad gladium, sicut Rex tenebat Angliam ad Coronam: Whereby that Earldom indeed had a Royal Jurisdiction and Seigniorie, though the Lands of that County in demeasne, were possessed for the most part by the ancient Inheritors.

Again, from the time of the Norman Conquest till the Reign of King Edward the First, many of our English Lords made War upon the Welsh Men at their own charge; the Lands which they gained they held to their own use, were called Lords

Marchers,

Marchers, and had Royal Liberties within their Lordships: Howbeit, these particular Adventurers could never make a perfect Conquest of Wales.

But when King Edward the First came in Person with his Army thither, kept his Residence and Court there, made the reducing of Wales an Enterprize of his own, he finished that Work in a Year or two, whereof the Lords Marchers had not performed a third part with their continual bordering War, for two hundred years before. And withal, we may observe that though this King had now the Dominion of Wales in jure proprietatis, as the Statute of Rutland affirmeth; which before was subject unto him but in jure feodali: And though he had lost divers principal Knights and Noblemen in that War, yet did he not reward his Servitors with whole Countries or Counties, but with particular Manors and Lordships: as to Henry Lacy Earl of Lincolne, he gave the Lordship of Denbigh; and to Reginald Gray the Lordship of Ruthen; and so to others. And if the like course had been used in the winning and distributing the Lands of Ireland, that Island had been fully conquered before the Continent of Wales had been reduced. But the truth is, when private Men attempt the Conquest of Countries at their own charge, commonly their Enterprizes do perish without success: as when, in the time of Queen Elizabeth, Sir Thomas Smith undertook to recover the Ardes; and Chatterton, to reconquer the Fues and Orier: The one lost his Son, and the other, Himself; and both their Adventures came to nothing. And as for the Crown of England, it hath had the like Fortune in the Conquest of this Land, as some Purchasers have, who desire to buy Land at too easie a rate; they find those cheap Purchases so full of trouble, as they spend twice as much as the Land is worth before they get the quiet Possession thereof.

And as the best Policy was not observed in the distribution of the conquered Lands; so, as I conceive, that the first Adventurers, intending to make a full Conquest of the Irish, were deceived in the choice of the fittest places for their Plantation: For they sate down, and erected their Castles and Habitations in the Plains and open Countries, where they found most fruitful and profitable Lands, and turned the Irish into the Woods and Mountains: Which, as they were proper places for Out-laws and Thieves, so were they their natural Castles and Fortifications; thither they drave their Preys and Stealths: there they lurkt, and lay in wait to do mischief. These fast places they kept unknown by making the ways and entries thereunto impassable; there they kept their Creaghts or Heards of Cattle, living by the Milk of the Cow, without Husbandry or Tillage; there they encreased and multiplied unto infinite numbers by promiscuous Generation among themselves; there they made their Assemblies and Conspiracies without discovery: But they discovered the weakness of the English dwelling in the open Plains; and thereupon made their Sallies and Retreats with great Advantage: whereas, on the other side, if the English had builded their Castles and Towns in those places of Fastness, and had driven the Irish into the Plains and open Countries, where they might have had an eye and observation upon them, the Irish had been easily kept in order and in short time reclaimed from their wildness: There they would have used Tillage, dwelt together in Townships, and learned Mechanical Arts and Sciences. The Woods had been waisted with the English Habitations, as they are about the Forts of Maryborough and Phillipstown, which were built in the fastest places in Leinster; and the Ways and Passages throughout Ireland would have been as clear and open, as they are in England at this day.

Again, if King Henry the Second, who is said to be the King that conquered this Land, had made Forrests in Ireland, as he did enlarge the Forrests in England (for it appeareth by Charta de Foresta, that he afforested many Woods and Waists, to the grievance of the Subject, which by that Law were disafforested) or if those English Lords, amongst whom the whole Kingdom was divided, had been good Hunters, and had reduced the Mountains, Boggs, and Woods within the Limits of Forrests, Chases, and Parks; assuredly, the very Forrest Law, and the Law de Malefactoribus in parcis, would in time have driven them into the Plains and Countries inhabited and manured, and have made them yield up their fast places to those those wild Beasts, which were indeed less hurtful and wild than they. But it seemeth strange to me, that in all the Records of this Kingdom, I seldom find any mention made of a Forrest; and never of any Park or Free-warren; considering the great plenty both of Vert and Venison within this Land; and that the chief of the Nobility and Gentry are descended of English race; and yet at this day, there is but one Park stored with Deer in all this Kingdom, which is a Park of the Earl of Ormonde, near Kilkenny. It is then manifest, by that which is before expressed; that the not communicating of the English Laws to the Irish; the over large Grants of Lands and Liberties to the English; the plantation made by the English in the Plains and open Countries, leaving the Woods and Mountains to the Irish, were great Defects in the Civil Policy, and hindered the perfection of the Conquest very much. Howbeit, notwithstanding these Defects and Errors, the English Colonies stood and maintained themselves in a reasonable good estate, as long as they retained their own ancient Laws and Customs, according to that of Ennius: Moribus antiquis res stat Romana virisque. But when the civil Government grew so weak and so loose, as that the English Lords would not suffer the English Laws to be put in execution within their Territories and Seignories, but in place thereof, both they and their people, embraced the Irish Customs: Then the estate of things, like a Game at Irish, was so turned about, as the English, which hoped to make a perfect Conquest of the Irish, were by them perfectly and absolutely conquered; because Victi victoribus leges dedere. A just punishment to our Nation, that would not give Laws to the Irish when they might, and therefore now the Irish gave Laws to them. Therefore, this Defect and failing of the English Colonies, and the inducing of the Irish customs in lieu thereof, was the main impediment that did arrest and stop the course of the Conquest; and was the only mean that enabled the Irish to recover their strength again.

The English Lords did not reduce the woods and waists in Forrests and Parks. Chart. de forest. c. 2 & 3.

The English Colonies rejected the English laws and customs, and embraced the Irish.

The Nature of Irish Customs.

The Irish laws and customs differing from the laws and customs of all civil Nations. The Irish law in criminal causes.

For, if we consider the Nature of the Irish Customs, we shall find that the people which doth use them must of necessity be Rebels to all good Government, destroy the Commonwealth wherein they live, and bring Barbarism and Desolation upon the richest and most fruitful Land of the World. For, whereas by the just and Honourable Law of England, and by the Laws of all other well-governed Kingdoms and Commonweals, Murder, Man-slaughter, Rape, Robbery, and Theft, are punished with death; By the Irish Custom, or Brehon Law, the highest of these offences was punished only by Fine, which they called an Ericke. Therefore, when Sir William Fitz-Williams, (being Lord Deputy,) told Maguyre, that he was to send a Sheriff into Fermanagh, being lately before made a County; your Sheriff (said Maguyre) shall be welcome to me, but let me know his Ericke, or, the price of his head afore hand; that if my people cut it off, I may cut the Ericke upon the Country. As for Oppression, Extortion, and other trespasses, the weaker had never any remedy against the stronger: whereby it came to pass, that no man could enjoy his Life, his Wife, his Lands or Goods in safety, if a mightier man than himself had an appetite to take the same from him. Wherein they were little better than Cannibals, who do hunt one another; and that hath most strength and swiftness, doth eat and devour all his fellows.

The Irish custom of Tanistry.

The Irish custom of Gavelkind.

Again, in England, and all well ordered Commonweals, Men have certain Estates in their Lands and Possessions, and their inheritances descend from Father to Son; which doth give them encouragement to build, and to plant, and to improve their Lands, and to make them better for their posterities. But by the Irish Custom of Tanistry, the Chieftanes of every Country, and chief of every Sept, had no longer estate than for life in their Chiefteries, the inheritance whereof did rest in no man. And these Chiefteries, though they had some portions of Lands allotted unto them, did consist chiefly in cuttings and Colheries, and other Irish exactions, whereby they did spoil and impoverish the people at their pleasure. And when their Chieftanes were dead, their Sons or next Heirs did not succeed them, but their Tanistes, who were Elective, and purchased their Elections by strong hand; And by the Irish Custom of Gavelkind, the inferiour Tennanties were partible amongst all the Males of the Sept, both Bastards and Legitimate: and after partition partition made, if any one of the Sept had died, his portion was not divided among his Sons, but the chief of the Sept made a new partition of all the Lands belonging to that Sept, and gave every one his part according to his antiquity.

These two Irish Customs made all their possessions uncertain, being shuffled, and changed, and removed so often from one to another, by new elections and partitions; which uncertainty of estates hath been the true cause of such Desolation and Barbarism in this Land, as the like was never seen in any Country that professed the name of Christ. For though the Irish be a Nation of great Antiquity, and wanted neither wit nor valour; and though they had received the Christian Faith above 1200 years since; and were lovers of Musick, Poetry, and all kind of Learning; and possessed a Land abounding with all things necessary for the civil life of man; yet (which is strange to be related) they did never build any houses of brick or stone (some few poor Religious Houses excepted) before the Reign of King Henry the Second, though they were Lords of this Island for many hundred years before, and since the Conquest attempted by the English: Albeit, when they saw us build Castles upon their borders, they have only in imitation of us, erected some few piles for the Captains of the Country: yet I dare boldly say, that never any particular person, either before or since, did build any stone or brick house for his private habitation; but such as have lately obtained estates, according to the course of the Law of England. Neither did any of them in all this time, plant any Gardens or Orchards, inclose or improve their Lands, live together in settled Villages or Towns, nor made any provision for posterity; which being against all common sense and reason, must needs be imputed to those unreasonable Customs, which made their estates so uncertain and transitory in their possessions.

Themischiefs that arise by these two customs.

For, who would plant or improve, or build upon that Land, which a stranger, whom he knew not, should possess after his death? For that (as Salomon noteth) is one of the strangest vanities under the Sun. And this is the true reason why Ulster, and all the Irish countries are found so waste and desolate at this day; and so would they continue till the worlds end, if these customs were not abolished by the Law of England.

Again, that Irish custom of Cavelkind, did breed another mischief; for thereby every man being born to Land, as well Bastard as Legitimate, they all held themselves to be Gentlemen. And though their portions were never so small, and themselves never so poor (For Gavel-kind must needs in the end make a poor Gentility) yet did they scorn to descend to Husbandry or Merchandize, or to learn any Mechanical Art or Science. And this is the true cause why there were never any Corporate Towns erected in the Irish Countries. As for Maritime Cities and Towns, most certain it is, that they were built and peopled by the Oostmen or Easterlings: for the Natives of Ireland never performed so good a work as to build a City. Besides, these poor Gentlemen were so affected unto their small portions of Land, as they rather chose to live at home by Theft, Extortion, and Coshering, than to seek any better fortunes abroad: which encreased their Septs or Sirnames into such numbers, as there are not to be found in any Kingdom of Europe, so many Gentlemen of one Blood, Family, and Sirname, as there are of the Oneals in Ulster; of the Bourks in Conaught; of the Geraldines and Butlers in Munster and Leinster. And the like may be said of the inferior Bloods and Families; whereby it came to pass in times of Trouble and Dissention, that they made great parties and factions, adhering one to another, with much constancy; because they were tied together, Vinculo sanguinis; whereas Rebels and Malefactors, which are tied to their Leaders by no band, either of Duty or Blood, do more easily break and fall off one from another. And besides, their co-habitation in one Country or Territory, gave them opportunity suddenly to assemble and conspire, and rise in multitudes against the Crown. And even now, in the time of peace, we find this inconvenience, that there can hardly be an indifferent trial had between the King and his Subjects, or between party and party, by reason of this general Kindred and Consanguinity.

K

But

The wicked customs of Coigne and Livery.

Themischiefs that did arise by Coigne and Livery.

The cause of idleness in the Irish.

Why the Irish are Beggars in foreign Countries.

Why the Irish are reputed a crafty people.

Why the Irish are inquisitive after news.

Cofferings.
Sessings.

Cuttings.

But the most wicked and mischievous custom of all others, was that of Coigne and Livery, often before mentioned; which consisted in taking of Mans-meat, Horse-meat, and Money, of all the inhabitants of the Country, at the will and pleasure of the Soldier, who as the phrase of Scripture is, Did eat up the people as it were bread; for that he had no other entertainment. This Extortion was originally Irish, for they used to lay Bonaght upon their people, and never gave their Soldier any other pay. But when the English had learned it, they used it with more insolency, and made it more intollerable; for this oppression was not temporary, or limited either to place or time; but because there was every where a continual War, either Offensive, or Defensive; and every Lord of a Country, and every Marcher made War and Peace at his pleasure, it became universal and perpetual; and was indeed the most heavy oppression that ever was used in any Christian or Heathen Kingdom. And therefore, Vox Oppressorum, this crying sin, did draw down as great, or greater plagues upon Ireland, than the oppression of the Israelites did draw upon the Land of Egypt. For the plagues of Egypt, though they were grievous, were but of a short continuance; But the plagues of Ireland, lasted four hundred years together. This Extortion of Coigne and Livery did produce two notorious effects: First, it made the Land waste; Next, it made the people idle. For, when the Husbandman had laboured all the year, the Soldier in one night, did consume the fruits of all his labour, Longique perit labor irritus anni. Had he reason then to manure the Land for the next year? Or rather might he not complain as the Shepherd in Virgil.

*Impius hæc tam cultâ novalia miles habebit?
Barbarus hæc segetes? En quo discordia cives Perduxit miseros? En quis consecvimus agros?*

And hereupon of necessity came depopulation, banishment, and extirpation of the better sort of Subjects: and such as remained, became idle, and lookers on, expecting the event of those miseries and evil times: So as this extream Extortion and Oppression, hath been the true cause of the idleness of this Irish Nation; and that rather the vulgar sort have chosen to be Beggars in Foreign Countries, than to manure their own fruitful Land at home.

Lastly, this oppression did of force and necessity make the Irish a crafty people: for such as are oppressed and live in slavery, are ever put to their shifts; Ingenium mala sepe movent; and therefore, in the old Comedies of Plautus and Terrence, the Bondslave doth always act the cunning and crafty part. Besides, all the common people have a whining tune or Accent in their Speech, as if they did still smart or suffer some oppression. And this idleness, together with fear of imminent mischiefs, which did continually hang over their heads, have been the cause, that the Irish were ever the most inquisitive people after news, of any Nation in the World. As S. Paul himself made observation upon the people of Athens; that they were an idle people, and did nothing but learn and tell news. And because these News-carriers, did by their false intelligence, many times raise Troubles and Rebellions in this Realm, the Statute of Kilkenny doth punish News-tellers (by the name of Skelaghes) with fine and ransom.

This Extortion of Coigne and Livery, was taken for the maintenance of their men of War; but their Irish exactions extorted by the Chieftains and Tanists, by colour of their barbarous Seignory, were almost as grievous a burthen as the other; namely Cofferings, which were visitations and progresses made by the Lord and his followers, among his Tenants: wherein he did eat them (as the English Proverb is) Out of House and home. Sessings of the Kern, of his family, called Kernety, of his Horses and Horse boys; of his Dogs and Dog-boys, and the like: And lastly, Cuttings, Tallages, or *Spending*s, high or low, at his pleasure; all which made the Lord an absolute Tyrant, and the Tenant a very Slave and Villain; and in one respect more miserable than Bondslaves. For commonly the Bond-slave is fed by his Lord, but here the Lord was fed by his Bondslave.

Lastly, there were two other Customs proper and peculiar to the Irish, which being being the cause of many strong Combinations and Factions, do tend to the utter ruine of a Commonwealth: The one was Fostering; the other Gossipred; both which have ever been of greater estimation among this people than with any other Nation in the Christian World. For Fostering, I did never hear or read, that it was in that use or reputation in any other Country, Barbarous or Civil, as it has been, and yet is, in Ireland: where they put away all their children to Fosterers: the potent and rich men Selling, the meaner sort Buying, the alterage of their Children; and the reason is, because in the opinion of this people, Fostering had always been a stronger alliance than Blood; and the Foster-Children do love, and are beloved of their Foster-Fathers, and their Sept, more than of their own natural Parents and Kindred; and do participate of their means more frankly, and do adhere unto them in all fortunes, with more affection and constancy. And though Tully in his Book of Friendship doth observe, that children of Princes being sometimes in cases of necessity, for saving of their lives, delivered to Shepherds to be nourished and bred up, when they have been restored to their great fortunes, have still retained their love and affection to their Fosterers, whom for many years they took to be their Parents: yet this was a rare case, and few examples are to be found thereof.

But such a general custom in a Kingdom, in giving and taking children to Foster, making such a firm alliance as it doth in Ireland, was never seen or heard of, in any other Country of the World besides.

The like may be said of Gossipred, or Compaternity, which though by the Canon Law, it be a Spiritual affinity, and a Juror that was Goship to either of the parties, might in former times have been challenged, as not indifferent by our Law, yet there was no Nation under the Sun, that ever made so Religious account thereof, as the Irish.

Gossipred.

Now these two Customs, which of themselves are indifferent in other Kingdoms, became exceeding evil and full of mischief in this Realm, by reason of the inconveniences which followed thereupon. For they made (as I said before) strong parties and factions, whereby the great men were enabled to oppress their Inferiors, and to oppose their Equals: and their followers were born out and countenanced in all their lewd and wicked actions: For Fosterers and Gossips, by the common custom of Ireland, were to maintain one another in all causes lawful and unlawful; which as it is a Combination and Confederacy punishable in all well-governed Commonwealths, so was it not one of the least causes of the common misery of this Kingdom.

I omit their common repudiation of their Wives; their promiscuous generation of Children; their neglect of lawful Matrimony; their uncleanness in Apparel, Diet, and Lodging; and their contempt and scorn of all things necessary for the civil life of man.

These were the Irish Customs, which the English Colonies did embrace and use, after they had rejected the Civil and Honorable Laws and Customs of England, whereby they became Degenerate and Metamorphosed like Nebuchadnezzar: who although he had the face of a man, had the heart of a beast; or like those who had drunk of Circes Cup, and were turned into very Beasts; and yet took such pleasure in their beastly manner of life, as they would not return to their shape of men again: Inasmuch, as within less time than the age of a man, they had no marks or differences left amongst them of that Noble Nation, from which they were descended. For, as they did not only forget the English Language, and scorn the use thereof, but grew to be ashamed of their very English Names, though they were Noble and of great Antiquity; and took Irish Surnames and Nick-names. Namely, the two most potent Families of the Bourkes in Conaught (after the House of the Red Earl failed of Heirs males) called their Chiefs, Mac William Eigher, and Mac William Oughter. In the same Province, Bremingham, Baron of Athenree, called himself Mac Yor. Dexecester or De'exon, was called Mac Jordan. Mangle, or de Angulo, took the name of Mac Costelo. Of the inferior families of the Bourkes, one was called Mac Hubbard, another Mac David. In How the English Colonies became degenerate.

Munster

Mauglo

Munster, of the great Families of the Geraldines planted there, one was called Mac Morice, chief of the House of Lixnaw; and another, Mac Gibbon, who was also called the White Knight. The chief of the Baron of Dunboyne's House, who is a Branch of the House of Ormonde, took the Sur-names of Mac Pheris. Condon of the County of Waterford, was called Mac Maioge: and the Arch-Deacon of the County of Kilkeenny, Mac Odo. And this they did in contempt and hatred of the English Name and Nation; whereof these degenerate Families became more mortal Enemies than the meer Irish. And whereas the State and Government being grown weak by their Defection, did, to reduce them to Obedience, grant them many Protections and Pardons (the cheapness whereof, in all Ages, hath brought great Dishonour and Damage to this Common-weal) they grew so ungrateful and unnatural, as in the end they scorned that Grace and Favour, because the acceptance thereof did argue them to be Subjects; and they desired rather to be accounted Enemies than Rebels to the Crown of England.

Alb. Libr.
Scac. Dubl.

Hereupon was that old Verse made, which I find written in the White Book of the Exchequer, in a Hand as ancient as the time of King Edward the Third.

By granting Charters of peas,
To false English withouten les,
This Land shall be mich undoo.
But Gossipred, and alterage,
And' leefing of our Languge,
Have mickly holp theretoo.

5Ed.3.m.25.

And therefore, in a Close Roll in the Tower, bearing this Title, Articuli in Hibernia observandi, we find these two Articles among others. 1. Justiciarius Hibernie non concedat perdonationes de morte hominis, nec de Roberiis, seu incendiis, & quod de cætero certificet dominum regem de nominibus petentium. 2. Item, Quod nec Justiciarius nec aliquis Magnas Hibernie concedat protectiones alicui contra pacem Regis existentem, &c. But now it is fit to look back, and consider when the old English Colonies became so degenerate; and in what Age they fell away into that Irish Barbarism, rejecting the English Laws and Customs. Assuredly, by comparing the ancient Annals of Ireland with the Records remaining here, and in the Tower of London, I do find that this general Defection fell out in the latter end of the Reign of King Edward the Second, and in the beginning of the Reign of King Edward the Third. And all this great Innovation grew within the space of thirty years: within the compass of which time there fell out divers mischievous accidents, whereby the whole Kingdom was in a manner lost. For first, Edward le Bruce invaded Ireland with the Scottish Army; and prevailed so far, as that he possessed the Maritime parts of Ulster, marched up to the Walls of Dublin, spoiled the English Pale, passed through Leinster and Munster, as far as Limerick, and was Master of the Field in every part of the Kingdom.

When and how the English Colonies became degenerate.

The Scots over-run Ireland.

Annales Hi-
bernice in Cambden.

This happened in the tenth Year of King Edward the Second, at which time the Crown of England was weaker, and suffered more Dishonour in both Kingdoms than it did at any time since the Norman Conquest. Then did the State of England send over John de Hotham to be Treasurer here, with Commission to call the great Lords of Ireland together; and to take of them an Oath of Association, that they should loyally joyn together in life and death to preserve the Right of the King of England, and to expel the common Enemy: But this Treasurer brought neither Men nor Money to perform this Service.

At that time, though Richard Bourk Earl of Ulster (commonly called the Red Earl) was of greater Power than any other Subject in Ireland, yet was he so far stricken in years, as that he was unable to manage the Martial Affairs, as he had done during all the Reign of King Edward the First; having been General of the Irish Forces, not only in this Kingdom, but in the Wars of Scotland, Wales, and Gascoigne: And therefore * Maurice Fitz-Thomas of Desmond, being then the most active Noble Man in this Realm, took upon him the chief Command in this War;

* Desmond chief Commander in the War against the Scots.

for

for the support whereof the Revenue of this Land was far too short, and yet no Supply of Treasure was sent out of England.

Then was there no means to maintain the Army, but by selling the Soldiers upon the Subject, as the Irish were wont to impose their Bonaught: whereupon grew that wicked Extortion of Coigne and Livery spoken of before, which in short time banished the greatest part of the Free-holders out of the Counties of Kerry, Limerick, Cork, and Waterford; into whose Possessions Desmond and his Kinsmen, Allies, and Followers, which were then more Irish than English, did enter and appropriate these Lands unto themselves, Desmond himself taking what Scopes he best liked for his Demesnes in every Country, and reserving an Irish Seigniorship out of the rest. And here, that I may verifie and maintain by matter of Record, that which is before delivered touching the nature of this wicked Extortion called Coigne and Livery; and the manifold mischiefs it did produce, I think it fit and pertinent to insert the Preamble of the Statute of 10 of Henry the Seventh, c. 4. not printed, but recorded in Parliament Rolls of Dublin, in these words: At the Request and Supplication of the Commons of this Land of Ireland, that where of long time there hath been used and exacted by the Lords and Gentlemen of this Land, many and divers damnable Customs and Usages, which been called Coigne and Livery, and Pay; that is, Horse meat and Mans meat, for the finding of their Horse-men and Foot-men; and over that, 4 d. or 6 d. daily to every one of them to be had and paid of the poor Earth-Tillers, and Tenants, Inhabitants of the said Land, without any thing doing or paying therefor. Besides, many Murders, Robberies, Rapes, and other manifold Extortions and Oppressions by the said Horse-men and Foot-men, daily and nightly committed and done; which been the principal causes of the Desolation and Destruction of the said Land, and hath brought the same into Ruine, and Decay, so as the most part of the English Free-holders and Tenants of this Land been departed out thereof, some into the Realm of England, and other some to other strange Lands; whereupon the foresaid Lords and Gentlemen of this Land have Intruded into the said Free-holders and Tenants Inheritances; and the same keepeth and occupieth as their own Inheritances; and setteth under them in the same Land the Kings Irish Enemies, to the diminishing of Holy Churches Rites, the disherison of the King and his obedient Subjects, and the utter ruine and desolation of the Land. For reformation whereof, be it enacted, That the King shall receive a Subsidy of 26 s. 8 d. out of every 120 Acres of airable Land manured, &c. But to return to Thomas Fitz-Maurice of Desmond; By this Extortion of Coigne and Livery he suddenly grew from a mean to a mighty Estate; inasmuch as the Baron Finglas in his Discourse of the Decay of Ireland, affirmeth, that his ancient Inheritance being not one thousand Marks yearly, he became able to dispend every way, ten thousand Pounds per Annum.

These Possessions being thus unlawfully gotten, could not be maintained by the just and honourable Law of England, which would have restored the true Owners to their Land again; and therefore this great Man found no means to continue and uphold his ill-purchased Greatness, but by rejecting the English Law and Government, and assuming in lieu thereof the barbarous customs of the Irish: And hereupon, followed the defection of those Four Shires, containing the greatest part of Munster, from the obedience of the Law.

In like manner (saith Baron Finglas) the Lord Tipperary (perceiving how well the House of Desmond had thrived by Coigne and Livery, and other Irish exactions) began to hold the like course in the Counties of Tipperary and Kilkenny; whereby he got great Scopes of Land, especially in Ormonde; and raised many Irish exactions upon the English Free-holders there; which made him so potent and absolute among them, as at that time they knew no other Law, than the will of their Lord. Besides, finding that the Earl of Desmond excluded the ordinary Ministers of Justice, under colour of a Royal liberty, which he claimed in the Counties of Kerry, Cork, and Waterford, by a grant of King Edward the First, (as appeareth in a Quo warranto, brought against him, Anno 12. Edw. 1.) the Record whereof, remaineth in Bremingham's Tower, among the Common Plea-Rolls there.

When & how the extortion of Coigne and Livery, began among the English.

This Lord also, in the Third of Edward the Third, obtained a Grant of the like liberty in the County of Tipperary, whereby he got the Law into his own hands, and shut out the Common Law and Justice of the Realm.

And thus we see that all Munster fell away from the English Law and Government, in the end of King Edward the Second, his Reign; and in the beginning of the Reign of King Edward the Third. Again, about the same time, (viz.) in the 20th Year of King Edward the Second, when the State of England was well nigh ruined by the Rebellion of the Barons, and the Government of Ireland utterly neglected, there arose in Leinster, one of the Cavanagh's, named Donald mac Art, who named himself Mac Murrough, King of Leinster, and possessed himself of the County of Catherlogh, and of the greatest part of the County of Wexford. And shortly after Lisagh O Moore, called himself O Moore, took Eight Castles in one Evening, destroyed Duamase the principal House of the Lord Mortimer in Leix, recovered that whole Country, De servo Dominus, de subiecto princeps effectus, saith Friar Chlynn in his Annals.

Besides, the Earl of Kildare, imitating his Cousin of Desmond, did not omit to make the like use of Coigne and Livery in Kildare, and the West part of Meath, which brought the like Barbarism into those Parts. And thus a great part of Leinster was lost, and fell away from the Obedience of the Crown, near about the time before expressed.

Again, in the Seventh Year of King Edward the Third the Lord William Bourke, Earl of Ulster, and Lord of Conaught, was treacherously Murdered by his own Squires at Knockfergus, leaving behind him, Unicam & unius anni filium (saith Friar Chlynn.) Immediately upon the Murder committed, the Countess with her young Daughter fled into England; so as the Government of that Country, was wholly neglected, until that young Lady being Married to Lionel Duke of Clarence, that Prince came over with an Army, to recover his Wives Inheritance, and so reform this Kingdom, Anno 36. of Edward the Third. But in the mean time, what became of that great Inheritance both in Ulster and Conaught? Assuredly, in Ulster, the Sept of Hugh Boy O Neal, then possessing Glauconkeyn and Killeightra in Tirme, took the opportunity; and passing over the Banne, did first expel the English out of the Barony of Tuscard, which is now called the Rout; and likewise, out of the Glymes and other Lands up as far as Knockfergus, which Country, or extent of Land, is at this day called the lower Clan Hugh-Boy. And shortly after that, they came up into the great Ardes; which the Latin Writers call, Altitudines Ultonie, and was then the Inheritance of the Savages; by whom, they were valiantly resisted for divers years; but at last for want of Castles and Fortifications (for the saying of Henry Savage mentioned in every Story, is very memorable; That a Castle of Bones was better than a Castle of Stones) the English were over-run by the multitude of the Irish: So as about the Thirtieth of King Edward the Third, some few Years before the arrival of the Duke of Clarence, the Savages were utterly driven out of the Great Ardes, into a little Nook of Land near the River of Strangford; where they now possess a little Territory, called the little Ardes; and their greater Patrimony took the Name of the upper Clan Hugh-Boy, from the Sept of Hugh Boy O Neal, who became Invaders thereof.

For Conaught, some younger Branches of the Family of the Bourkes, being planted there by the Red Earl and his Ancestors, seeing their chief to be cut off, and dead without Heir-male, and no man left to govern or protect that Province, intruded presently into all the Earls Lands, which ought to have been sized into the Kings hands, by reason of the Minority of the Heir. And within a short space, Two of the most potent among them, divided that great Seigniorie betwixt them, the one taking the name of Mac William Oughtrier; and the other of Mac William Eighter; as if the Lord William Bourke the last Earl of Ulster, had left Two Sons of one Name behind him to Inherit that Lordship in course of Gavel-kind. But they well knew, that they were but Intruders upon the Kings possession during the Minority of the Heir; they knew those Lands were the rightful Inheritance of that Young Lady; and consequently, that the Law of England would speedily evict

The rising of Mac Murrough and O More in Leinster. Annales Hibernie in Cambden. Annales Joh. Clynne. Manus. The defect and loss of a great part of Leinster.

The Earl of Ulster murdered. Annales Joh. Clynne. Manus.

The Earl-dom of Ulster, recovered by the Irish. Abridgement of the Salus populi Manuscript. Baron Finglas, Manus.

Annales Hibernie in Cambden.

The defecti-on of Conaught.

Baron Finglas Manus.

Boy

evict them out of their possession; and therefore, they held it the best policy to cast off the yolk of English Law, and to become meer Irish: and according to their example, drew all the rest of the English in that Province, to do the like; so as from thenceforth they suffered their possessions to run in course to Tanistry and Gavel-kind. They changed their names, language, and apparel, and all their civil manners and customs of living. Lastly, about the 25th year of King Edward the third, Sir Richard de Clare was slain in Thomond, and all the English Colonies there utterly supplanted.

Annales Hi-
bernæ in Cambden.

Thus in that space of time, which was between the tenth year of King Edward the second, and the 30th year of King Edward the third, (I speak within compass) by the concurrence of the mischiefs before recited, all the old English Colonies in Munster, Conaught and Ulster; and more than a third part of Leinster, became degenerate, and fell away from the Crown of England; so that only the four Shires of the English Pale, remained under the Obedience of the Law; and yet the Borders and Marches thereof, were grown unruly, and out of order too, being subject to Black-Rents and Tribute of the Irish; which was a greater defection, than when ten of twelve Tribes departed, and fell away from the Kings of Juda.

What courses have been taken to reform this Kingdom since the English Colonies became degenerate.

But was not the State of England sensible of this loss and dishonour? Did they not endeavour to recover the Land that was lost, and to reduce the Subjects to their Obedience?

Edw. 2.

Truly King Edward the Second, by the incursions of the Scottish Nation, and by the insurrection of his Barons; who raised his Wife and his Son against him, and in the end deposed him, was diverted and utterly disabled to reform the disorders of Ireland. But as soon as the Crown of England was transferred to King Edward the third, though he was yet in his minority, the State there began to look into the desperate estate of things here. And finding such general defection, Letters were sent from the King to the great Men and Prelates, requiring them particularly to swear fealty to the Crown of England.

K. Edw. the third did first endeavour a reformation.
Archiv. Tur.
2. E. 3. clau.
perf.
1. m. 16.
Sir Anthony
Lucy.

Shortly after, Sir Anthony Lucy, a Person of great Authority in England in those days, was sent over to work a reformation in this Kingdom, by a severe course; and to that end, the King wrote expressly to the Earl of Ulster, and others of the Nobility to assist him, as is before remembred; presently upon his arrival, he arrested Maurice Fitz-Thomas Earl of Desmond, and Sir William Breningham, and committed them prisoners to the Castle of Dublin: where Sir William Breningham was executed for Treason, though the Earl of Desmond was left to Mainprize, upon condition he should appear before the King by a certain day, and in the mean time to continue loyal.

Annales hibernæ in Cambden.

After this, the King being advertised, that the overlarge Grants of Lands and Liberties, made to the Lords of English blood in Ireland, made them insolent, as they scorned to obey the Law, and the Magistrate, did absolutely refuse all such Grants, as is before declared. But the Earl of Desmond, above all men, found himself grieved with this resumption, or Repeal of Liberties; and declared his dislike and discontentment: insomuch, as he did not only refuse to come to a Parliament at Dublin, summoned by Sir William Morris, Deputy to the Lord John Darcy, the King's Lieutenant: But (as we have said before) he raised such dissention between the English of blood, and the English of birth, as the like was never seen, from the time of the first planting of our Nation in Ireland. And in this factious and seditious humour, he drew the Earl of Kildare, and the rest of the Nobility, with the Citizens and Burgeses of the principal Towns, to hold a several Parliament by themselves, at Kilkenny; where they framed certain Articles against the Deputy, and transmitted the same into England to the King.

Resumption of liberties.

Hereupon, Sir Ralph Ufford, who had lately before married the Countess of Ulster; a man of courage and severity, was made Lord Justice: who forthwith calling a Parliament, sent a special Commandment to the Earl of Desmond, to appear in that great Council; but the Earl wilfully refused to come. Whereupon, the Lord Justice raised the Kings Standard, and marching with an Army into Munster, seized into the Kings hands all the possessions of the Earl, took and executed

Annales Hi-
bernæ in Cambden.

Sir Ralph
Ufford.
Annales Jon.
Clyn. Manuf.
Annales Hi-
bernæ in Cambden.

cured his principal followers, Sir Eustace le Poer, Sir William Graunt, and Sir John Cotterell; enforced the Earl himself to fly and lurk, till 26 Noblemen and Knights, became Mainpernors for his appearance at a certain day prefixed: But he making default the second time, the uttermost advantage was taken against his Sureties. Besides at the same time, this Lord Justice caused the Earl of Kildare to be arrested, and committed to the Castle of Dublin, indited and imprisoned many other disobedient Subjects, called in and cancelled such Charters as were lately before resumed; and proceeded every way foroundly and severely, as the Nobility, which were wont to suffer no controulment, did much distaste him; and the Commons, who in this Land have ever been more devoted to their immediate Lords here, whom they saw every day, than unto their Sovereign Lord and King, whom they never saw; spake ill of this Governor, as of a rigorous and cruel man, though in truth he was a singular good Justicer; and, if he had not died in the second year of his Government, was the likeliest of that Age to have reformed and reduced the degenerate English Colonies, to their natural Obedience of the Crown of England.

Thus much then we may observe by the way, that Maurice Fitz-Thomas, the first Earl of Desmond, was the first English Lord that imposed Coign and Livery upon the King's Subjects; and the first that raised his Estate to immoderate Greatness, by that wicked Extortion and Oppression; that he was the first that rejected the English Laws and Government, and drew others by his example to do the like; that he was the first Peer of Ireland that refused to come to the Parliament summoned by the Kings Authority; that he was the first that made a division and distinction between the English of blood, and the English of birth.

And as this Earl was the only Author, and first Actor of these mischiefs, which gave the greatest impediment to the full Conquest of Ireland; So it is to be noted, that albeit others of his rank afterwards offended in the same kind; whereby their Houses were many times in danger of ruine, yet was there not ever any Noble house of English race in Ireland, utterly destroyed and finally rooted out by the hand of Justice, but the house of Desmond only; nor any Peer of this Realm ever put to death (though divers have been attainted:) but Thomas Fitz-James the Earl of Desmond only, and only for the wicked Customs brought in by the first Earl, and practised by his posterity, though by several Laws they were made High-Treason. And therefore, though in the 7th of Edward the 4th, during the Government of the Lord Tiptoft, Earl of Worcester, both the Earls of Desmond and Kildare were attainted by Parliament at Drogheda, for alliance and fostering with the Irish; and for taking Coigne and Livery of the Kings Subjects, yet was Desmond only put to death; for the Earl of Kildare received his pardon. And albeit the Son of this Earl of Desmond, who lost his head at Drogheda, was restored to the Earldom; yet could not the King's Grace regenerate obedience in that degenerate house, but it grew rather more wild and barbarous than before. For from thenceforth they claimed a strange Priviledge, That the Earls of Desmond should never come to any Parliament or Grand Council, or within any walled Town, but at their will and pleasure. Which pretended Priviledge, James Earl of Desmond, the Father of Girald the last Earl, renounced and surrendered by his Deed, in the Chancery of Ireland, in the 32 of Henry the eighth. At what time, among the meer Irishery, he submitted himself to Sir Anthony Saint-Leger, then Lord Deputy; took an Oath of Allegiance, Covenanted that he would suffer the Law of England to be executed in his Country; and assist the Kings Judges in their Circuits: and if any Subsidies should be granted by Parliament, he would permit the same to be levied upon his Tenants and Followers. Which Covenants, are as strange as the Priviledge it self, spoken of before. But that which I conceive most worthy of Observation, upon the fortunes of the house of Desmond, is this; that as Maurice Fitz-Thomas, the first Earl, did first raise the greatness of that house, by Irish Exactions and Oppressions; so Girald the last Earl, did at last ruine and reduce it to nothing, by using the like Extortions. For certain it is, that the first occasion of his Rebellion, grew from hence, that when he attempted to change the Maurice Fitz-Thomas the first Earl of Desmond, the author of the great oppression and dissensions which distressed the English Colonies. The first Earl of Desmond.

The Council book of Ireland. 32. H. 8.

charge

the Decies in their County of Waterford, with Coigne and Livery, Black Rents and Colheries, after the Irish manner, he was resisted by the Earl of Ormonde, and upon an encounter, overthrown and take prisoner, which made his heart so unquiet, as it easily conceived Treason against the Crown, and brought forth actual and open Rebellion, wherein he perished himself, and made a final extinguishment of his House and Honour. Oppression and Extortion did maintain the greatness: and Oppression and Extortion did extinguish the greatness of that house. Which may well be exprest, by the old Emblem of a Torch turned downwards, with this word, Quod me alit, extinguit.

Now let us return to the course of Reformation, held and pursued here, after the death of Sir Ralph Ufford, which happened in the twentieth year of King Edward 3. After which time, albeit all the Power and Council of England was converted towards the conquest of France, yet was not the work of Reformation altogether discontinued. For, in the 25th year of King Edward the third, Sir Thomas Rookeby, another worthy Governour (whom I have once before named) held a Parliament at Kilkenny, wherein many excellent Laws were propounded and enacted for the reducing of the English Colonies to their Obedience; which Laws we find enrolled in the Remembrancers Office here; and differ not much in substance from those other Statutes of Kilkenny, which not long after (during the Government of Lionel Duke of Clarence) were not only enacted, but put in execution. This noble Prince having married the Daughter and Heir of Ulster; and being likewise a Copartner of the County of Kilkenny, in the 36th year of King Edward the third, came over the King's Lieutenant, attended with a good Retinue of Martial men, as is before remembred, and a grave and honourable Council, as well for Peace, as for War. But because this Army was not of a competent strength to break and subdue all the Irish, although he quieted the borders of the English Pale, and held all Ireland in awe with his name and presence; the principal service that he intended, was to reform the degenerate English Colonies and to reduce them to obedience of the English Laws, and Magistrates. To that end, in the fortieth year of King Edward the third, he held that famous Parliament at Kilkenny, wherein many notable Laws were enacted, which do shew and lay open (For the Law doth best discover enormities) how much the English Colonies were corrupted at that time, and do infallibly prove that which is laid down before; That they were wholly degenerate, and fallen away from their obedience. For first, it appeareth by the Preamble of these Laws, that the English of this Realm, before the coming over of Lionel Duke of Clarence, were at that time become meer Irish in their Language, Names, Apparel, and their manner of living, and had rejected the English Laws, and submitted themselves to the Irish; with whom they had many Marriages and Alliances, which tended to the utter ruine and destruction of the Common-wealth. Therefore Alliance by Marriage, Nurture of Infants, and Gossiped with the Irish, are by this Statute made High-Treason. Again, if any man of English race, should use any Irish Name, Irish Language, or Irish Apparel, or any other guise or fashion of the Irish; if he had Lands or Tenements, the same should be seized, till he had given security to the Chancery, to conform himself in all points to the English manner of living. And if he had no Lands, his body was to be taken and imprisoned, till he found Sureties, as, aforesaid.

Again, it was established and commanded, that the English in all their Controversies, should be ruled and governed by the Common Laws of England; and if any did submit himself to the Brehon Law, or March Law, he should be adjudged a Traitor.

Again, because the English at that time, made War and Peace with the bordering Enemy at their pleasure; they were expressly prohibited to levy War upon the Irish, without special Warrant and Direction from the State.

Again, it was made penal to the English to permit the Irish to Creaght or graze upon their Lands: to present them to Ecclesiastical Benefices; to receive them into any Monasteries, or Religious Houses, or to entertain any of

M

The course of Reformation pursued by Lionel Duke of Clarence.

Archiv. in Castro Dublin. Statutes of Kilkenny. C. 2. C. 3.

C. 4.

C. 10.

C. 12.

C. 13.

C. 15.

their

C. 17.

C. 22.

C. 24.

their Minstrels, or Rimers, or News-tellers : to impose or fess any Horse or Foot upon the English Subjects against their wills, was made felony. And because the great Liberties or Franchises spoken of before, were become Sanctuaries for all Malefactors, express power was given to the King's Sheriffs, to enter into all Franchises, and there to apprehend all Felons and Traytors. And lastly, because the great Lords, when they levied Forces for the publick Service, did lay unequal burthens upon the Gentlemen and Freeholders, it was ordained that four Wardens of the Peace in every County, should set down and appoint what Men and Armour every man should bear, according to his Freehold, or other ability of Estate.

The Statutes of Kilkenny did much reform the degenerate English.

Stat. 10. H. c. 8.

The presence of the Kings Son, did much advance the reformation. Absence of our Kings and great English Lords a chief cause why the Kingdom was not reduced.

Absence of our Kings.

These, and other Laws, tending to a general Reformation, were enacted in that Parliament. And the Execution of these Laws, together with the Presence of the King's Son, made a notable alteration in the State and Manners of this people, within the space of seven years, which was the term of this Princes Lieutenancy.

For all the Discourses that I have seen of the Decay of Ireland, do agree in this, that the presence of the Lord Lionel, and these Statutes of Kilkenny, did restore the English Government, in the degenerate Colonies, for divers years. And the Statute of the tenth of Henry the seventh, which reviveth and confirmeth the Statutes of Kilkenny, doth confirm as much. For it declareth, that as long as these Laws were put in ure and execution, this Land continued in prosperity and honour : and since they were not executed, the Subjects rebelled and digressed from their Allegiance, and the Land fell to ruine and desolation. And withal, we find the effect of these Laws in the Pipe-Rolls, and Plea-Rolls of this Kingdom : For, from the 36th of Edw. 3. when this Prince entred into his Government, till the beginning of Richard the Second his Reign, we find the Revenue of the Crown both certain and casual, in Ulster, Munster, and Conaught, accounted for ; and that the King's Writ did run and the Common Law was executed in every of those Provinces. I joyn with these Laws, the personal presence of the King's Son, as a concurrent cause of this Reformation : Because the People of this Land, both English and Irish, out of a natural pride, did ever love and desire to be governed by great persons. And therefore, I may here justly take occasion to note, that first the absence of the Kings of England ; and next, the absence of those great Lords, who were Inheritors of those mighty Seigniories of Leinster, Ulster, Conaught and Meath, have been main causes why this Kingdom was not reduced in so many Ages.

Touching the absence of our Kings, three of them only since the Norman Conquest, have made Royal Journies into this Land ; namely King Henry the Second, King John and King Richard the Second. And yet they no sooner arrived here, but that all the Irishry (as if they had been but one man) submitted themselves ; took Oaths of fidelity, and gave Pledges and Hostages to continue loyal. And if any of those Kings had continued here in person a competent time, till they had settled both English and Irish in their several Possessions, and had set the Law in a due course throughout the Kingdom, these times wherein we live had not gained the honor of the final Conquest and Reducing of Ireland. For the King (saith Salomon) dissipat omne malum intuitu suo. But when Moses was absent in the Mount, the people committed Idolatry : and when there was no King in Israel, every man did what seemed best in his own eyes.

And therefore, when Alexander had conquered the East part of the World, and demanded of one what was the fittest place for the Seat of his Empire, he brought and laid a dry Hide before him, and desired him to set his foot on the one side thereof ; which being done, all the othe parts of the Hide did rise up : but when he did set his foot in the middle of the Hide, all the other parts lay flat and even : Which was a lively demonstration, that if a Prince keep his residence in the Border of his Dominions, the remote parts will easily rise and rebel against him : But if he make the Centre thereof his Seat, he shall easily keep them in Peace and Obedience.

The absence of the great English Lords.

Touching the absence of the great Lords : All Writers do impute the decay and and loss of Leinster, to the absence of these English Lords, who Married the Five Daughters of William Marshal Earl of Pembroke, (to whom that great Seigniorie descended) when his Five Sons who Inherited the same successively; and during their times, held the same in Peace and Obedience to the Law of England, were all Dead without Issue: Which happened about the Fortieth Year of King Henry the Third: For the Eldest being Married to Hugh Bigot Earl of Norfolk, who in right of his Wife, had the Marshalship of England; The Second, to Warren de Mountchesey, whose sole Daughter and Heir was match'd to William de Valentia, half Brother to King Henry the Third, who by that match was made Earl of Pembroke; The Third, to Gilbert de Clare, Earl of Gloucester; The Fourth, to William Ferrers, Earl of Darby; The Fifth, to William de Bruce, Lord of Brecknock: These Great Lords, having greater Inheritances in their own Right in England, than they had in Ireland in right of their Wives (and yet each of the Coparceners, had an entire County allotted for her purparty, as is before declared) could not be drawn to make their Personal Residence in this Kingdom; but managed their Estates here, by their Seneschals and Servants. And to defend their Territories against the bordering Irish, they entertained some of the Natives, who pretended a perpetual Title to those great Lordships. For the Irish after a Thousand Conquests and Attainders by our Law, would in those days pretend Title still, because by the Irish Law no man could Forfeit his Land. These Natives taking the opportunity in Weak and Desperate Times, Usurped those Seigniories; and so Donald mac Art Cavanagh, being entertained by the Earl of Norfolk, made himself Lord of the County of Catherlough: And Lisagh O Moor, being trusted by the Lord Mortimer, who Married the Daughter and Heir of the Lord Bruce, made himself Lord of the Lands in Leix, in the latter end of King Edward the Seconds Reign, as is before declared.

Baron Fin-
glas Manusc.

Baron Fin-glas, Manuscript,

Again, the decay and loss of Ulster and Conaught, is attributed to this; that the Lord William Bourke, the last Earl of that Name, died without Issue Male; whose Ancestors, namely, the Red Earl, and Sir Hugh de Lacy, before him, being Personally Resident, held up their Greteness there; and kept the English in Peace, and the Irish in Awe: But when those Provinces descended upon an Heir Female, and an Infant, the Irish over-run Ulster, and the younger Branches of the Bourkes Usurped Conaught. And therefore the Ordinance made in England, the Third of Richard the Second, against such as were absent from their Lands in Ireland; and gave Two Thirds Parts of the Profits thereof unto the King, until they returned, or placed a sufficient number of Men to defend the same, was grounded upon good reason of State: Which Ordinance was put in execution for many Years after, as appeareth by sundry Seizures made there upon, in the time of King Richard the Second, Henry the Fourth, Henry the Fifth, and Henry the Sixth, whereof there remain Records in the Remembrancers Office here: Among the rest, the Duke of Norfolk himself was not spared, but was impleaded upon this Ordinance, for Two Parts of the Profits of Dorburies Island, and other Lands in the County of Wexford, in the time of King Henry the Sixth. And afterwards, upon the same reason of State, all the Lands of the House of Norfolk, of the Earl of Shrewsbury, the Lord Barkley and others, who having Lands in Ireland, kept their continual Residence in England were entirely resumed by the Act of Absentees, made in the 28th Year of King Henry the Eighth.

Archiv. Tur.
Rot. Parli-am. n. 42.

Archiv. in Offic. Rememb. Dublin.

Act of Absentees.
28 H. 8.

But now again, let us look back and see, how long the effect of that Reformation did continue, which was begun by Lionel Duke of Clarence, in the Fortieth Year of King Edward the Third, and what courses have been held, to reduce and reform this people by other Lieutenants and Governours since that time.

The English Colonies being in some good measure reformed by the Statutes of Kilkenny, did not utterly fall away into Barbarism again, till the Wars of the Two Houses had almost destroyed both these Kingdoms; for in that miserable time, the Irish found opportunity, without opposition, to banish the English Law and Government, out of all the Provinces, and to confine it only to the English Pale: Howbeit, in the mean time, between the Government of the Duke of Clarence, and the beginning of those Civil Wars of York and LANCASTER, we find that the State of England

The Reformation intended by K. Richard 2. Archiv. Tur. 3 Ric. 2. claus. 3. 3 Ric. 2. Rot. Parl. 11. 42. 2 Ric. 2. claus. 1.

Walsingham in Rich. 2. 349. a.

Plac. coram. Rege in Hi-bernia. Hillar. 18. Rich. 2.

The Reformation intended by Hen. 4.

England did sundry times resolve to proceed in this Work of Reformation.

For first, King Richard 2 sent over Sir Nicholas Dagworth to survey the Possessions of the Crown, and to call to account the Officers of the Revenue : Next (to draw his English Subjects to manure and defend their Lands in Ireland) he made that Ordinance against Absentees, spoken of before : Again, he shewed an excellent Example of Justice upon Sir Philip Courtney, being his Lieutenant of that Kingdom, when he caused him to be arrested by special Commissioners, upon complaint made of sundry grievous Oppressions and Wrongs which, during his Government, he had done unto that People.

After this, the Parliament of England did resolve that Thomas Duke of Gloucester, the King's Uncle, should be employed in the Reformation and reducing of that Kingdom ; the same whereof was no sooner bruted in Ireland, but all the Irish were ready to submit themselves before his coming : so much the very Name of a great Personage, especially of a Prince of the Blood, did ever prevail with this People. But the King and his Minions, who were ever jealous of this Duke of Gloucester, would not suffer him to have the Honour of that Service ; but the King himself thought it a Work worthy of his own presence and pains ; and thereupon he made those two Royal Journeys mentioned before : at which time he received the Submissions of all the Irish Lords and Captains, who bound themselves both by Indenture and Oath to become and continue his Loyal Subjects. And withal, laid a particular project for a civil Plantation of the Mountains and Maritime Counties, between Dublin and Wexford, by removing all the Irish Septs from thence, as appeareth by the Covenants between the Earl Marshal of England and those Irish Septs, which are before remembred, and are yet preserved, and remain of Record in the King's Remembrancers Office at Westminster. Lastly, this King being present in Ireland, took special care to supply and furnish the Courts of Justice with able and sufficient Judges ; and to that end he made that grave and learned Judge, Sir William Hankeford, Chief Justice of the Kings Bench here (who afterwards for his Service in this Realm was made Chief Justice of the Kings Bench in England, by King Henry 4.) and did withal associate unto him William Sturmy, a well learned Man in the Law, who likewise came out of England with the King, that the legal Proceedings, which were out of order too (as all other things in this Realm were) might be amended, and made formal, according to the course and presidents of England. But all the good purposes and projects of this King were interrupted and utterly defeated by his sudden departure out of Ireland, and unhappy deposition from the Crown of England.

Howbeit, King Henry the Fourth intending likewise to prosecute this noble Work in the third Year of his Reign made the Lord Thomas of Lancaster, his second Son, Lieutenant of Ireland : Who came over in person, and accepted again the Submissions of divers Lords and Captains, as is before remembred ; and held also a Parliament, wherein he gave new life to the Statutes of Kilkenny, and made other good Laws tending to the Reformation of the Kingdom. But the troubles raised against the King, his Father, in England, drew him home again so soon, as that seed of Reformation took no root at all, neither had his Service in that kind any good effect or success.

After this the State of England had no leisure to think of a general Reformation in this Realm, till the civil Dissentions in England were appeased, and the peace of that Kingdom settled by King Henry the Seventh.

For albeit, in the time of King Henry 6, Richard Duke of York, a Prince of the Blood, of great Wisdom and Valour, and Heir to a third part of the Kingdom at least, being Earl of Ulster and Lord of Conaught and Meath, was sent the King's Lieutenant into Ireland, to recover and reform that Realm ; where he was resident in person for the greatest part of ten years, yet the truth is, he aimed at another mark, which was the Crown of England ; and therefore he thought it no policy to distast either the English or Irish by a course of Reformation, but sought by all means to please them, and by popular courses to steal away their hearts, to the end he might strengthen his Party when he should set on foot his Title (as is before before declared : (which Policy of his took such effect as that he drew over with him into England the Flower of all the English Colonies, especially of Ulster and Meath, whereof many Noblemen and Gentlemen were slain with him at Wakefield, (as is likewise before remembred.) And after his death, when the Wars between the Houses were in their heat, almost all the good English Blood, which was left in Ireland, was spent in those civil Dissentions : so as the Irish became victorious over all, without Blood or Sweat : only that little Canton of Land called the English Pale, containing four small Shires, did maintain a bordering War with the Irish, and retain the form of English Government.

But out of that little Precinct, there were no Lords, Knights, or Burgeses summoned to the Parliament ; neither did the Kings Writ run in any other part of the Kingdom : and yet upon the Marches and Borders, which at that time were grown so large, as they took up half Dublin, half Meath, and a third part of Kildare and Lowth ; there was no Law in use but the March-Law, which in the Statutes of Kilkenny is said to be no Law, but a leud Custom.

So as upon the end of these civil Wars in England, the English Law and Government was well nigh banished out of Ireland; so as no foot-step or print was left of any former Reformation.

Then did King Henry 7. send over Sir Edward Poynings to be his Deputy, a right worthy Servitor both in War and Peace : The principal end of his Employment was to expel Perkin Warbeck out of this Kingdom ; but that Service being performed, that worthy Deputy finding nothing but a common misery, took the best course he possibly could to establish a Commonwealth in Ireland : and to that end he held a Parliament; no less famous than that of Kilkenny, and more available for the Reformation of the whole Kingdom. For whereas all wise Men did ever concur in opinion, that the readiest way to reform Ireland, is to settle a Form of Civil Government there; conformable to that of England : To bring this to pass, Sir Edward Poynings did pass an Act, whereby all the Statutes made in England before that time, were enacted, established, and made of force in Ireland. Neither did he only respect the time past, but provided also for the time to come; for he caused another Law to be made, that no Act should be propounded in any Parliament of Ireland, but such as should be first transmitted into England, and approved by the King and Council there, as good and expedient for that Land, and so returned back again under the Great Seal of England. This Act, though it seem Prima facie to restrain the Liberties of the Subjects of Ireland; yet was it made at the Prayer of the Commons, upon just and important cause.

For the Governours of that Realm, especially such as were of that Country Birth, had laid many oppressions upon the Commons : and amongst the rest, they had imposed Laws upon them, not tending to the general Good, but to serve private turns, and to strengthen their particular Factions. This moved them to refer all Laws that were to be passed in Ireland, to be considered, corrected, and allowed; first by the State of England, which had always been tender and careful of the good of this People, and had long since made them a Civil, Rich, and Happy Nation, if their own Lords and Governours there had not sent bad Intelligence into England. Besides this, he took especial order, that the Summons of Parliament should go into all the Shires of Ireland, and not to the four Shires only ; and for that cause especially, he caused all the Acts of Parliament lately before holden by the Viscount of Gormanstown, to be repealed and made void. Moreover, that the Parliaments of Ireland might want no decent or honourable Form that was used in England, he caused a particular Act to pass, that the Lords of Ireland should appear in the like Parliament Robes as the English Lords are wont to wear in the Parliaments of England. Having thus established all the Statutes of England in Ireland, and set in order the great Council of that Realm, he did not omit to pass other Laws, as well for the encrease of the King's Revenue as the preservation of the publick Peace.

To advance the Profits of the Crown, first he obtained a Subsidy of 26 Shillings and 8 Pence out of every 120 Acres manured, payable yearly for five years : Next,

N

The course of Reformation held by Sir Edward Poynings in the time of King Henry 7.

Poyning's Act.

he

he resumed all the Crown Land which had been alienated (for the most part) by Richard Duke of York : and lastly, he procured a Subsidy of Poundage out of all Merchandizes imported and exported, to be granted to the Crown in perpetuity.

To preserve the publick Peace, he revived the Statutes of Kilkenny : He made wilful Murther High Treason ; he caused the Marchers to book their Men, for whom they should answer ; and restrained the making War or Peace without special Commission from the State.

These Laws, and others as important as these, for the making of a Commonwealth in Ireland, were made in the Government of Sir Edward Poynings. But these Laws did not spread their Virtue beyond the English Pale, though they were made generally for the whole Kingdom ; for the Provinces without the Pale, which during the War of York and Lancaster, had wholly cast off the English Government, were not apt to receive this Seed of Reformation, because they were not first broken and mastered again with the Sword. Besides, the Irish Countries, which contained two third parts of the Kingdom, were not reduced to Shire-ground : so as in them the Laws of England could not possibly be put in execution : Therefore these good Laws and Provisions made by Sir Edward Poynings, were like good Lessons set for a Lute that is broken and out of tune, of which Lessons little use can be made till the Lute be made fit to be plaid upon.

And that the execution of all these Laws had no greater Latitude than the Pale, is manifest by the Statute of the thirteenth of Henry the Eighth, cap. 3. which reciteth, that at that time the King's Laws were obeyed and executed in the four Shires only ; and yet then was the Earl of Surrey Lieutenant of Ireland, a Governour much feared of the King's Enemies, and exceedingly honoured and beloved of the King's Subjects. And the Instructions given by the State of Ireland to John Allen Master of the Rolls, employed into England near about the same time, do declare as much ; wherein, among other things, he is required to advertise the King, that his Land of Ireland was so much decayed as that the King's Laws were not obeyed twenty miles in compass : Whereupon grew that By-word used by the Irish, viz. That they dwell by-west the Law, which dwelt beyond the River of the Barrow, which is within thirty miles of Dublin. The same is testified by Baron Finglas in his Discourse of the Decay of Ireland, which he wrote about the twentieth Year of King Henry the Eighth. And thus we see the effect of the Reformation which was intended by Sir Edward Poynings.

The next attempt of Reformation was made in the 28th Year of King Henry the Eighth, by the Lord Leonard Gray, who was created Viscount of Grane in this Kingdom, and held a Parliament, wherein many excellent Laws were made : But to prepare the minds of the People to obey these Laws, he began first with a martial course : for being sent over to suppress the Rebellion of the Giraldines (which he performed in few Months) he afterwards made a victorious Circuit round about the Kingdom, beginning in Offaly against ô Connor, who had aided the Giraldines in their Rebellion ; and from thence passing along through all the Irish Countries in Leinster, and so into Munster, where he took Pledges of the degenerate Earl of Desmond, and thence into Conaught, and thence into Ulster ; and then concluded this warlike Progress with the Battel of Belahoo in the Borders of Meath, as is before remembred.

The principal Septs of the Irishry being all terrified, and most of them broken in this Journey, many of their chief Lords upon this Deputy's return, came to Dublin, and made their Submissions to the Crown of England ; namely, the ô Neals and ô Relies of Ulster, Mac Murrough, ô Birn, and ô Carol of Leinster, and the Bourks of Conaught.

This preparation being made, he first propounded and passed in Parliament these Laws, which made the great alteration in the State Ecclesiastical ; namely, the Act which declared King Henry 8 to be Supreme Head of the Church of Ireland ; the Act prohibiting Appeals to the Church of Rome ; the Act for First Fruits and Twentieth part to be paid to the King ; the Act for Faculties and Dispensations ; and lastly, the Act that did utterly abolish the usurped Authority of the Pope. Next, for the encrease of the King's Revenue ; by one Act he suppressed sundry Abbies and Religious Houses ; and by another Act, resumed the Lands of the Absentees, (as is before remembred.)

And

The Council
Book of Ireland, 16 H. 8.

The Reformation intended by the L.
Leon. Gray,
28 Hen. 8.

Annales Hi-
bernæ Man.

The Council
Book in Ireland, 23 H. 8.

And for the Civil Government, a special Statute was made, to abolish the Black-rents and Tributes, exacted by the Irish, upon the English Colonies; and another Law Enacted, That the English Apparel, Language, and manner of Living, should be used by all such as would acknowledge themselves the Kings Subjects. This Parliament being ended, the Lord Leonard Gray was suddenly Revokt, and put to Death in England, so as he lived not to finish the work of Reformation, which he had begun; which notwithstanding was well pursued by his Successor, Sir Anthony Saint Leger; unto whom all the Lords and Chieftains of the Irishry, and of the degenerate English throughout the Kingdom, made their several Submissions by Indenture (which was the Fourth general Submission of the Irish, made since the first Attempt of the Conquest of Ireland) whereof the First was made to King Henry the Second; the Second to King John; the Third to King Richard the Second; and the Last to Sir Anthony Saint Leger, in 33 H. 8.

In these Indentures of Submission, all the Irish Lords do acknowledge King Henry the Eighth to be their Sovereign Lord and King, and desire to be accepted of him as Subjects. They confess the Kings Supremacy in all Causes, and do utterly Renounce the Popes Jurisdiction, which I conceive to be worth the Noting; because, when the Irish had once resolved to obey the King they made no scruple to renounce the Pope. And this was not only done by the meer Irish, but the Chief of the Degenerate English Families did perform the same; as Desmond, Barry, and Roche, in Munster; and the Bourkes, which bore the Title of Mac William, in Conaught.

These Submissions being thus taken, the Lord Deputy and Council for the present Government of those Irish Countrys, made certain Ordinances of State, not agreeable altogether with the Rules of the Law of England; the reason whereof is exprest in the Preamble of those Ordinances; Quia nondum sic sapiunt leges & Jura, ut secundum ea jam immediate vivere & regi possint. The chief Points or Articles of which Orders Registered in the Council Book, are these: That King Henry the Eighth should be accepted, reputed, and named King of Ireland, by all the Inhabitants of the Kingdom; that all the Archbishops and Bishops should be permitted to Exercise their Jurisdiction in every Diocess throughout the Land: That Tythes should be duly set out, and paid; that Children should not be admitted to Benefices; that for every Man-slaughter, and Theft above Fourteen Pence, committed in the Irish Countrys, the Offender should pay a Fine of Forty Pound, Twenty Pound to the King, and Twenty Pound to the Captain of the Country; and for every Theft under Fourteen Pence, a Fine of Five Marks should be paid, Forty Six Shillings and Eight Pence to the Captain, and Twenty Shillings to the Tanister: That Horsemen and Kearn should not be imposed upon the common people to be fed and maintained by them; that the Master should answer for his Servants, and the Father for his Children: That Cuttings should not be made by the Lord upon his Tenants, to maintain War with his Neighbours, but only to bear his necessary expences, &c.

These Ordinances of State being made and published, there were nominated and appointed in every Province, certain Orderers or Arbitrators, who instead of these Irish Brehons, should hear and determine all their Controversies. In Conaught, the Archbishop of Tuam, the Bishop of Clonsfert, Captain Wakeley, and Captain Ovington. In Munster, the Bishop of Waterford, the Bishop of Cork & Ross, the Mayor of Cork, and Mayor of Youghal. In Ulster, the Archbishop of Ardmagh, and the Lord of Louth. And if any difference did arise which they could not end, either for the difficulty of the Cause, or for the obstinacy of the Parties, they were to certify the Lord Deputy and Council, who would decide the matter by their Authority.

Hereupon the Irish Captains of Lesser Territories, which had ever been oppressed by the greater and mightier; some with risings out, others with Bonaght, and others with Cuttings, and spendings at pleasure, did appeal for Justice to the Lord Deputy; who upon hearing their Complaints, did always order, that they should all immediately depend upon the King; and that the weaker should have no dependency upon the stronger.

Lastly, he prevailed so much with the greatest of them; namely, O Neal, O Brien, and Mac William, as that they willingly did pass into England, and presented themselves

The course of Reformation pursued by Sir Anthony St. Leger. Four general Submissions of the Irish.

The Council Book of Ireland, 32, 33, and 34, H. 8. The Irish & degenerate English renounce the Pope.

The Council Book of Ireland, 33, H. 8.

Henry 8th
King of Ireland

selves to the King, who thereupon was pleased to advance them to the degree and honour of Earls, and to grant unto them their several Countrys, by Letters-Patents. Besides, that they might learn Obedience and Civility of manners, by often repairing unto the State, the King upon the motion of the same Deputy, gave each of them a House and Lands near Dublin, for the entertainment of their several Trains.

This course did this Governour take to reform the Irishry; but withal, he did not omit to advance both the Honour and Profit of the King. For in the Parliament which he held the 33d of Henry the Eighth, he caused an Act to pass, which gave unto King Henry the Eighth, his Heirs and Successors, the Name, Stile, and Title of King of Ireland; whereas before that time, the Kings of England were stiled but Lords of Ireland: Albeit indeed, they were absolute Monarchs thereof, and had in right all Royal and Imperial Jurisdiction and Power there, as they had in the Realm of England. And yet because in the vulgar conceit the Name of King is higher than the Name of Lord; Assuredly, the assuming of this Title hath not a little raised the Sovereignty of the King of England in the minds of this people: Lastly, this Deputy brought a great Augmentation to the Kings Revenue, by dissolving of all the Monasteries and Religious Houses in Ireland, which was done in the same Parliament; and afterward, by procuring Min and Cavendish, Two Skillful Auditors, to besent over out of England, who took an exact Survey of all the Possessions of the Crown, and brought many things into charge, which had been concealed and substracted for many Years before. And thus far did Sir Anthony Saint Leger proceed in the course of Reformation; which though it were a good beginning, yet was it far from reducing Ireland to the perfect obedience of the Crown of England. For all this while, the Provinces of Conaught and Ulster, and a good part of Leinster, were not Reduced to Shire-ground. And though Munster was anciently divided into Counties, the people were so degenerate, as no Justice of Assize durst execute his Commission amongst them. None of the Irish Lords or Tenants were settled in their Possessions, by any Grant or Confirmation from the Crown, except the Three great Earls before named; who notwithstanding, did govern their Tenants and Followers, by the Irish or Brehon Law; so as no Treason, Murther, Rape, or Theft, committed in those Countries, was inquired of, or punished by the Law of England; and consequently, no Escheat, Forfeiture, or Fine; no Revenue (certain or casual) did accrew to the Crown out of those Provinces.

The next worthy Governour that endeavoured to advance this Reformation, was Thomas Earl of Suffex; who having thoroughly broken add subdued the Two most Rebellious and Powerful Irish Septs in Leinster; namely the *Moore*s and O Connors, possessing the Territories of Leix and Offaly, did by Act of Parliament, in the 3d and 4th of Phil. and Marie, Reduce those Countries into Two several Counties; naming the one, the Kings, and the other, the Queen's County; which were the first two Counties that had been made in this Kingdom since the Twelfth Year of King John; at what time the Territories then possessed by the English Colonies were Reduced into Twelve Shires, as is before expressed.

This Noble Earl having thus extended the Jurisdiction of the English Law into Two Counties more, was not satisfied with that addition, but took a resolution to divide all the rest of the Irish Countries Un-reduced, into several Shires; and to that end he caused an Act to pass in the same Parliament, authorizing the Lord Chancellor, from time to time, to award Commissions to such Persons as the Lord Deputy should nominate and appoint, to View and Perambulate those Irish Territories; and thereupon, to divide and limit the same into such and so many several Counties as they should think meet; which being certified to the Lord Deputy, and approved by him, should be returned and enrolled in the Chancery, and from thenceforth be of like force and effect, as if it were done by Act of Parliament.

Thus did the Earl of Suffex lay open a passage for the Civil Government into the unreformed parts of this Kingdom, but himself proceeded no further than is before declared.

Howbeit afterwards, during the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, Sir Henry Sidney, (who hath left behind him many Monuments of a good Governour in this Land) did not only pursue that course which the E. of Suffex began, in Reducing the Irish Countries into Shires, & placing therein Sheriffs, & other Ministers of the Law; (for first he made the

Annaly

The course of Reformation prosecuted by Tho. Earl of Suffex, in the time of Q. Mary. Leix & Offaly made two Counties, 3 and 4. Phil. & Marie.

The course of Reformation followed by Sir Henry Sidney in the time of Queen Elizabeth.

King of Ireland

Annaly, a Territory in Leinster, possessed by the Sept of Offerralles, one entire Shire by it self, and called it the County of Longford; and after that he divided the whole Province of Conaught into six Counties more; namely Clare (which containeth all Thomond) Galloway, Sligo, Mayo, Roscomon and Leytrim :) But he also had caused divers good Laws to be made, and performed sundry other services, tending greatly to the Reformation of this Kingdom. For first, to diminish the greatness of the Irish Lords, and to take from them the dependancy of the Common people, in the Parliament which he held 11th Eliz. He did abolish their pretended and usurped Captainships, and all Exactions and Extortions incident thereunto. Next, to settle their Seigniories and Possessions in a course of Inheritance, according to the course of the Common law, he caused an Act to pass, whereby the Lord Deputy was authorized to accept their Surrenders, and to regrant Estates unto them, to hold of the Crown by English Tenures and Services. Again, because the inferiour sort were loose and poor, and not amenable to the Law; he provided by another Act, that of the best and eldest persons of every Sept, should bring in all the idle persons of their surname, to be justified by the Law. Moreover, to give a civil Education to the Youth of this Land in the time to come, provision was made by another Law, that there should be one Free School, at least, erected in every Diocess of the Kingdom. And lastly, to inure and acquaint the People of Munster and Conaught, with the English Government again (which had not been in use among them for the space of 200 years before :) he instituted two Presidency Courts in those two Provinces, placing Sir Edward Fitton in Conaught, and Sir John Perrot in Munster.

To augment the King's Revenue in the same Parliament, upon the Attainder of Shane O Neale, he resumed and vested in the Crown more than half the Province of Ulster: He raised the Customs upon the principal Commodities of the Kingdom: He reformed the Abuses of the Exchequer, by many good Orders and Instructions sent out of England; and lastly, he established the composition of the Pale, in lieu of Purveyance and Sess of Soldiers.

These were good proceedings in the work of Reformation, but there were many defects and omissions withal; for though he reduced all Conaught into Counties, he never sent any Justices of Assize to visit that Province, but placed Commissioners there, who governed it only in a course of discretion; part Martial and part Civil. Again, in the Law that doth abolish the Irish Captainships, he gave way for the reviving thereof again, by excepting such, as should be granted by Letters Patents from the Crown; which exception did indeed take away the force of that Law. For no Governor during Queen Elizabeth's Reign, did refuse to grant any of those Captainships, to any pretended Irish Lord, who would Desire, and with his thankfulness Deserve the same. And again, though the greatest part of Ulster were vested by Act of Parliament, in the actual and real possession of the Crown; yet was there never any seizure made thereof, nor any part thereof brought into charge, but the Irish were permitted to take all the profits, without rendering any duty or acknowledgment for the same; and though the Name of O Neale was damned by that Act, and the assuming thereof made High-Treason; yet after that, was Tirlegh Leynogh suffered to bear that Title, and to intrude upon the Possessions of the Crown, and was yet often entertained by the State with favour. Neither were these Lands, resumed by the Act of the 11th of Elizabeth, neglected only (for the Abbies and Religious houses in Tyrone, Tirconnell and Fermanagh, though they were dissolved in the 33th of Henry the 8th, were never surveyed nor reduced into charge, but were continually possessed by the religious persons) until His Majesty that now is, came to the Crown: and that which is more strange, the Donations of Bishopricks, being a flower of the Crown (which the Kings of England did ever retain in all their Dominions, when the Popes usurped Authority was at the highest.) There were three Bishopricks in Ulster; namely, Derry, Rapho and Clogher, which neither Queen Elizabeth, nor any of her Progenitors did ever bestow, though they were the undoubted Patrons thereof. So as King James was the first King of England that did ever supply those Sees with Bishops, which is an Argument either of great negligence, or of great weakness in the State and Governors of those times. And thus far proceeded Sir Henry Sidney.

The reformation advanced by Sir John Perrot.

The service of William Fitz-Williams, tending to Reformation.

After him, Sir John Perrot, who held the last Parliament in this Kingdom, did advance the Reformation in three principal points. First, in establishing the great composition of Conaught, in which service the wisdom and industry of Sir Richard Bingham did concur with him : next, in reducing the Unreformed parts of Ulster into seven Shires ; namely, Ardmagh, Monahan, Tirone, Colerain, Donagall, Fermannagh, and Cavan ; though in his time the Law was never executed in these new Counties by any Sheriffs or Justices of Assize, but the people left to be ruled still by their own barbarous Lords and Laws : And lastly, by vesting in the Crown the Lands of Desmond and his Adherents in Munster, and planting the same with English, though that Plantation was imperfect in many points.

After Sir John Perrot, Sir William Fitz-Williams did good service in two other points. First, in raising a Composition in Munster ; and then, in settling the Possessions both of the Lords and Tenants in Monahan, which was one of the last Acts of State, tending to the Reformation of the civil Government that was performed in the Reign of Queen Elizabeth.

Thus we see by what degrees, and what policy and success the Governours of this Land from time to time, since the beginning of the Reign of King Edward the third, have endeavoured to reform and reduce this people to the perfect obedience of the Crown of England ; And we find, that before the Civil Wars of York and Lancaster, they did chiefly endeavour to bring back the degenerate English Colonies to their Duty and Allegiance, not respecting the meer Irish, whom they reputed as Aliens or Enemies of the Crown. But after King Henry the 7th had united the Roses, they laboured to reduce both English and Irish together : which work, to what pass and perfection it was brought in the latter end of Queen Elizabeth's Reign, hath been before declared.

Whereof sometimes when I do consider, I do in mine own conceit compare these later Governours, who went about to Reform the Civil Affairs in Ireland, unto some of the Kings of Israel, of whom it is said, That they were good Kings ; they did not cut down the Groves and High places, but suffered the people still to burn Incense, and commit Idolatry in them : so Sir Anthony Saint-Leger, the Earl of Suffex, Sir Henry Sidney and Sir John Perrot, were good Governours, but they did not abolish the Irish Customs, nor execute the Law in the Irish Countries, but suffered the people to worship their barbarous Lords, and to remain utterly ignorant of their Duties to God and the King.

And now I am come to the happy Reign of my most Gracious Lord and Master King James ; in whose time, as there hath been a concurrence of many great Felicities : so this among others may be numbred in the first rank ; that all the Defects in the Government of Ireland spoken of before, have been fully supplied in the first nine Years of his Reign. In which time there hath been more done in the Work and Reformation of this Kingdom, than in the 440 Years, which are past since the Conquest was first attempted, Howbeit, I have no purpose in this Discourse to set forth at large all the proceedings of the State here in reforming of this Kingdom, since his Majesty came to the Crown, for the parts and passages thereof are so many, as to express them fully, would require several Treatises. Besides, I for my part, since I have not flattered the former times, but have plainly laid open the negligence and errors of every Age that is past, would not willingly seem to flatter the present, by amplifying the diligence and true Judgment of those Servitors, that have laboured in this Vineyard since the beginning of his Majesties happy Reign.

I shall therefore summarily, without any Amplification at all, shew in what manner, and by what degrees, all the Defects, which I have noted before in the Government of this Kingdom, have been supplied since his Majesty's happy Reign began ; and so conclude those Observations concerning the State of Ireland.

First then, touching the Martial affairs, I shall need to say little, in regard that the War which finished the Conquest of Ireland, was ended almost in the instant.

How the Defects and errors in the government of Irel. have been supplied and amended since the beginning of his Majesty's Reign.

stant, when the Crown descended upon his Majesty; and so there remained no occasion to amend the former errors committed in the prosecution of the War. Howbeit, since his Majesty hath still maintained an Army here, as well For a Seminary of Martial men; as to Give strength and countenance to the Civil Magistrate; I may justly observe, that this Army hath not been fed with Coign and Livery, or Sels (with which Exortions the Soldier hath been nourished in the times of former Princes) but hath been as justly and Royally paid, as ever Prince in the world did pay his men of War. Besides, when there did arise an occasion of employment for his Army against the Rebel Odogbertie; neither did his Majesty delay the Re-inforcing thereof, but instantly sent supplies out of England and Scotland; neither did the Martial men dally or prosecute the Service faintly, but did forthwith quench that fire, whereby themselves would have been the warmer, the longer it had continued, as well by the encrease of their entertainment, as by booties and spoil of the Country. And thus much I thought fit to note, touching the amendment of the Errors in the Martial affairs.

Errors in the carriage of the Martial affairs amended.

Secondly, For the supply of the Defects in the Civil Government, these courses have been pursued since His Majesty's prosperous Reign began.

How the defects in the Civil Government have been supplied.

First, albeit upon the end of the War, whereby Tyrone's universal Rebellion was suppressed, the minds of the people were broken and prepared to Obedience of the Law; yet the State upon good reason, did conceive, that the publick peace could not be settled, till the hearts of the people were also quieted, by securing them from the danger of the Law, which the most part of them had incurred one way or other, in that great and general Confusion.

1. By establishing the publick peace.

Therefore, first by a general Act of State, called the Act of Oblivion, published by Proclamation under the Great Seal, All offences against the Crown, and all particular Trespasses between Subject and Subject, done at any time before His Majesty's Reign, were (to all such as would come in to the Justices of Assize by a certain day, and claim the benefit of this Act) pardoned, remitted, and utterly extinguished, never to be revived or called in question. And by the same Proclamation, all the Irishry (who for the most part, in former times, were left under tyranny of their Lords and Chieftains, and had no defence or Justice from the Crown) were received into His Majesty's immediate protection. This bred such comfort and security in the hearts of all men, as thereupon ensued the calmest and most universal peace, that ever was seen in Ireland.

The publick peace being thus established, the State proceeded next to establish the publick Justice in every part of the Realm. And to that end, Sir George Carey (who was a prudent Governour, and a just, and made a fair entry into the right way of Reforming this Kingdom) did in the first Year of His Majesty's Reign, make the first Sheriffs that ever were made in Tyrone and Tirconnel; and shortly after, sent Sir Edmund Pelham Chief Baron, and my self thither, the first Justices of Assize that ever sat in those Countries: and in that Circuit, we visited all the Shires of that Province besides; which Visitation, though it were somewhat distasteful to the Irish Lords, was sweet and most welcome to the common People; who, albeit they were rude and barbarous, yet they quickly apprehended the difference between the Tyranny and Oppression under which they lived before, and the just Government and Protection which we promised unto them for the time to come.

2 By establishing the publick Justice in every part of the Kingdom.

The Law having made her Progress into Ulster with so good success, Sir Arthur Chichester (who with singular Industry, Wisdom, and Courage, hath now for the space of seven Years and more, prosecuted the great work of Reformation, and brought it well-near to an absolute perfection) did in the first Year of his Government, establish two other New Circuits for Justices of Assize; the one in Conaught, and the other in Munster. I call them New Circuits, for that, although it be manifest by many Records, that Justices Itinerant have in former times been sent into all the Shires of Munster, and some part of Conaught; yet certain it is, that in two hundred Years before (I speak much within compass) no such Commission had been executed in either of these two Provinces. But now, the whole Realm being divided into Shires, and every bordering Territory, whereof any doubt was made in what County the same should lie, being added or reduced to a County certain certain (among the rest, the Mountains and Glyns on the South side of Dublin, were lately made a Shire by it self, and called the County of Wicklow; whereby the Inhabitants, which were wont to be Thorns in the Side of the Pale, are become Civil and Quiet Neighbours thereof,) the streams of the Publick Justice were derived into every part of the Kingdom; and the benefit and protection of the Law of England communicated to all, as well Irish as English, without distinction or respect of persons; by reason whereof, the work of deriving the publick Justice grew so great, as that there was Magna messis, sed Operarii pauci. And therefore, the number of the Judges in every Bench was increased, which do now every Half Year (like good Planets in their severall Spheres or Circles) carry the light and Influence of Justice, round about the Kingdom; whereas the Circuits in former times went round about the Pale, like the Circuit of the Cinosura about the Pole.

Quæ cursu interiore brevi convertitur orbe.

The good effects which followed the execution of the Law throughout the Kingdom.

Upon these Visitations of Justice, whereby the just & honourable Law of England was imparted and communicated to all the Irishry, there followed these excellent good effects.

First, the common people were taught by the Justices of Assize, that they were free Subjects to the Kings of England, and not Slaves and Vassals to their pretended Lords: That the Cuttings, Casheries, Sessings, and other Extortions of the Lords, were Unlawful, and that they should not any more submit themselves thereunto, since they were now under the protection of so just and mighty a Prince, as both would and could protect them from all Wrongs and Oppressions: They gave a willing ear unto these Lessons; and thereupon, the greatness and power of those Irish Lords over the people, suddenly fell and vanished, when their Oppressions and Extortions were taken away, which did maintain their Greatness: Insomuch, as divers of them, who formerly made themselves Owners of all (by Force;) were now by the Law reduced to this point; That wanting means to defray their Ordinary Charges, they resorted ordinarily to the Lord Deputy, and made Petition, that by License and Warrant of the State, they might take some aid and contribution from their people; as well to discharge their former debts, as for competent maintenance in time to come: But some of them being impatient of this Diminution, fled out of the Realm to foreign Countreys. Whereupon, we may well observe, That, As Extortion did banish the old English Free-holder, who could not live but under the Law; so the Law did banish the Irish Lord, who could not live but by Extortion.

Again, these Circuits of Justice (did upon the end of the War) more terrifie the loose and idle persons, than the execution of the Martial Law, though it were more quick and sudden; and in a short time after, did so clear the Kingdom of Thieves, and other Capital Offenders, as I dare affirm, that for the space of Five Years last past, there have not been found so many Malefactors worthy of Death in all the Six Circuits of this Realm (which is now divided into Thirty Two Shires at large) as in one Circuit of Six Shires; namely, the Western Circuit in England; for the truth is, that in time of Peace, the Irish are more fearful to offend the Law, than the English, or any other Nation whatsoever.

Again, whereas the greatest advantage that the Irish had of us in all their Rebellions, was, Our Ignorance of their Countreys, their Persons, and their Actions: Since the Law and her Ministers have had a passage among them, all their places of Fastness have been discovered and laid open; all their ~~places~~ cleared: and notice taken of every person that is able to do either good or hurt. It is known, not only how they live, and what they do, but it is foreseen what they purpose or intend to do: Insomuch, as Tyrone hath been heard to complain, that he had so many Eyes watching over him, as he could not drink a full Carouse of Sack, but the State was advertised thereof, within few hours after. And therefore, those allowances which I find in the ancient Pipe-Rolls, Pro guidagio, & spiagio, may be well spared at this day. Under-Sheriffs and Bailiffs errant are better Guides and Spies in the time of Peace, than any were found in the time of War.

Moreover, these Civil Assemblies at Assizes and Sessions have reclaimed the Irish from their wildness, caused them to cut off their Glibs and long Hair; to convert their Mantles into Cloaks; to conform themselves to the manner of England in all their their behaviour and outward forms. And because they find a great inconvenience in moving their Suits by an Interpreter; they do for the most part send their Children to Schools, especially to learn the English Language: So as we may conceive and hope, that the next Generation will in Tongue and Heart, and every way else, become English; so as there will be no difference or distinction, but the Irish Sea betwixt us. And thus we see a good Conversion, and the Irish Game turned again.

For heretofore the neglect of the Law made the English degenerate, and become Irish; and now, on the other side, the execution of the Law doth make the Irish grow civil, and become English.

Lastly, these general Sessions now do teach the People more Obedience, and keep them more in awe, than did the general Hearings in former times. These Progresses of the Law renew and confirm the Conquest of Ireland every half Year, and supply the defect of the King's absence in every part of the Realm; in that every Judge sitting in the Seat of Justice, doth represent the Person of the King himself.

These effects hath the Establishment of the Publick Peace and Justice produced, since his Majesty's happy Reign began.

Howbeit, it was impossible to make a Commonwealth in Ireland without performing another Service, which was the settling of all the Estates and Possessions, as well of Irish as English, throughout the Kingdom.

For, although that in the 12th Year of Q. Elizabeth a special Law was made which did enable the Lord Deputy to take Surrenders, and regrant Estates to the Irish (upon signification of her Majesty's Pleasure in that behalf;) yet were there but few of the Irish Lords that made offer to surrender during her Reign; and they who made Surrenders of entire Countries, obtained Grants of the whole again to themselves only; and to no other, and all in Demeasie. In passing of which Grants, there was no care taken of the inferiour Septs of People, inhabiting and possessing these Countries under them, but they held their several portions in course of Tanistry and Gavelkind, and yielded the same Irish Duties or Exactions, as they did before: So that upon every such Surrender and Grant there was but one Free-holder made in a whole Country, which was the Lord himself; all the rest were but Tenants at Will, or rather Tenants in Villenage, and were neither fit to be sworn in Juries, nor to perform any publick Service: And by reason of the uncertainty of their Estates, did utterly neglect to build, or to plant, or to improve the Land. And therefore, although the Lord was become the King's Tenant, his Country was no whit reformed thereby, but remained in the former Barbarism and Desolation.

Again, in the same Queen's time, there were many Irish Lords who did not surrender, yet obtained Letters Patents of the Captainships of their Countries, and of all Lands and Duties belonging to those Captainships: For the Statute which doth condemn and abolish those Captainries usurped by the Irish, doth give power to the Lord Deputy to grant the same by Letters Patents. Howbeit, these Irish Captains, and likewise the English, who were made Seneschals of the Irish Countries, did by colour of these Grants, and under pretence of Government, claim an Irish Seigniorie, and exercise plain Tyranny over the common People. And this was the fruit that did arise of the Letters Patents granted of the Irish Countries in the time of Q. Elizabeth, where before they did extort and oppress the People only by colour of a lewd and barbarous custom; they did afterwards use the same Extortions and Oppressions by Warrant under the Great Seal of the Realm.

But now, since his Majesty came to the Crown, two special Commissions have been sent out of England for the settling and quieting of all the Possessions in Ireland; the one for accepting Surrenders of the Irish and degenerate English, and for regranting Estates unto them, according to the course of the common Law; the other for strengthening of defective Titles: In the Execution of which Commissions, there hath ever been had a special care, to settle and secure the Under-Tenants; to the end, there might be a repose and establishment of every Subjects Estate; Lord and Tenant, Free-holder and Farmer, throughout the Kingdom.

Upon Surrenders, this course hath been held from the beginning; when an Irish Lord doth offer to surrender his Country, his surrender is not immediately accepted, but a Com-

3. The settling of the Estates and Possessions of the Irish, as well as of the English.

How the Commissions for Surrenders, and defective Titles have been put in execution.

million is first awarded, to enquire of 3 special Points. First, of the quantity and limits of the Land whereof he is reputed Owner. Next, how much himself doth hold in Demeasne, and how much is Posselt by his Tenants and Followers. And Thirdly, what Customs, Duties, and Services, he doth Yearly Receive out of those Lands. This Inquisition being made and returned, the Lands which are found to be the Lords proper possessions in Demeasne, are drawn into a Particular; and his Irish Duties, as Cosherings, Sellings, Rents of Butter and Oat-meal, and the like, are reasonably valued and reduced into certain Sums of Money, to be paid Yearly in Lieu thereof. This being done, the surrender is accepted; and thereupon a Grant passed, not of the whole Country, as was used in former times, but of those Lands only, which are found in the Lords Possession, and of those certain Sums of Money, as Rents issuing out of the rest. But the Lands which are found to be posselt by the Tenants, are left unto them, respectively charged with these certain Rents only, in lieu of all uncertain Irish Exactions.

In like manner, upon all Grants, which have past by vertue of the Commission, for defective Titles, the Commissioners have taken special Caution, for preservation of the Estates of all particular Tenants,

No Grant of Irish Captain-ships, or Senechalships, since his Majesties Reign.

And as for Grants of Captain-ships, Senechal-ships, in the Irish Countries; albeit, this Deputy had as much power and authority to grant the same, as any other Governours had before him; and might have raised as much profit by bestowing the same, if he had respected his Private, more than the Publick good; yet hath he been so far from passing any such in all his time, as he hath endeavoured to, returne all the Grants of that kind, that have been made by his Predecessors; to the end, the Inferiour Subjects of the Realm should make their only and immediate Dependancy upon the Crown. And thus we see, how the greatest part of the Possessions, (as well of the Irish as of the English) in Leinster, Connaught, and Munster, are settled and secured since his Majesty came to the Crown; whereby the Hearts of the People are also settled, not only to live in Peace, but Raised & Encouraged to Build, to Plant, to give better Education to their Children, and to Improve the Commodities of their Lands; whereby the Yearly Value thereof is already encreased double of that it was within these few Years, and is like daily to rise higher, till it amount to the price of our Land in England.

The Plantation of Ulster

Lastly, the Possessions of the Irishry in the Province of Ulster, though it were the most rude and unreformed part of Ireland, and the Seat and Nest of the last great Rebellion, are now better disposed and established than any the Lands in the other Provinces, which have been past and settled upon Surrenders. For, as the occasion of the disposing of those Lands, did not happen without the special providence and finger of God, which did cast out those wicked and ungrateful Traitors, who were the only Enemies of the Reformation of Ireland; so the distribution and plantation thereof hath been projected and prosecuted by the special direction and care of the King himself; wherein his Majesty hath corrected the Errors before spoken of, committed by King Henry 2. and King John, in distributing and planting the first Conquered Lands. For, although there were Six whole Shires to be disposed, His Majesty gave not an entire Country, or County, to any particular person; much less did grant Jura Regalia, or any extraordinary Liberties. For the best British-Undertaker had but a proportion of 3000 Acres for himself, with power to create a Manor, and hold a Court-Baron: Albeit, many of these Undertakers, were of as great Birth and Quality, as the best Adventurers in the First Conquest. Again, his Majesty did not utterly exclude the Natives out of this Plantation, with a purpose to root them out, as the Irish were excluded out of the First English Colonies; but made a mixt Plantation of British and Irish, that they might grow up together in one Nation: Only, the Irish were in some places transplanted from the Woods and Mountains, into the Plains and open Countries, that being removed (like w<sup>l</sup>. Fruit-trees) they might grow the milder, and bear the better and sweeter Fruit. And this truly, is the Master-piece, and most excellent part of the work of Reformation, and is worthy indeed of His Majesties Royal Pains. For when this Plantation hath taken root, and been fixt and settled but a few Years, with the favour and blessing of God (for the Son of God himself hath hath said in the Gospel, Omnis plantatio, quam non plantavit pater meus, eradicatur ) it will secure the peace of Ireland, assure it to the Crown of England for ever; and finally, make it a Civil and a Rich, a Mighty and a Flourishing Kingdom.

I omit to speak of the increase of the Revenue of the Crown, both certain and casual, which is raised to a double proportion (at least) above that it was, by deriving the publick Justice into all parts of the Realm, by settling all the possessions, both of the Irish and English, by re-establishing the Compositions; by restoring and resuming the Customs; by reviving the Tenures in Capite, and Knights-service; and reducing many other things into charge, which by the confusion and negligence of former times became concealed and subtracted from the Crown. I forbear likewise to speak of the due and ready bringing in of the Revenue, which is brought to pass by the well ordering of the Court of Exchequer, and the Authority and Pains of the Commissioners for Accompts,

I might also add hereunto, the encouragement that hath been given to the Maritime Towns and Cities, as well to increase their Trade of Merchandize, as to cherish Mechanical Arts and Sciences; in that all their Charters have been renewed, and their Liberties more enlarged by His Majesty, than by any of his Progenitors since the Conquest. As likewise, the care and course than hath been taken, to make Civil Commerce and intercourse between the Subjects, newly Reformed and brought under Obedience, by granting Markets and Fairs to be holden in their Countries, and by erecting of Corporate Towns among them.

Briefly, the Clock of the Civil Government, is now well set, and all the Wheels thereof do move in Order; The Strings of this Irish Harp, which the Civil Magistrate do finger, are all in tune (for I omit to speak of the State Ecclesiastical) and make a good Harmony in this Commonweal: So as we may well conceive hope, that Ireland (which heretofore might properly be called the Land of Ire, because the Irafcible Power was predominant there, for the space of 400 Years together) will from henceforth prove a Land of Peace and Concord. And though heretofore it hath been like the lean Cow of Egypt, in Pharaoh's Dream, devouring the fat of England, and yet remaining as lean as it was before, it will hereafter be as fruitful as the Land of Canaan; the Description whereof, in the 8th of Deuteronomy, doth in every part agree with Ireland; being Terra Rivorum, aquarumque & fontium; in cujus Campis, & Montibus, crumpunt fluviorum abyssi; Terra frumenti, & bordei; Terra lactis & mellis, ubi absque ulla penuria comedes panem tuum, & rerum abundantia perfrueris,

And thus I have discovered and expressed the Defects and Errors, as well in the managing of the Martial Affairs, as of the Civil; which in former Ages gave impediment to the reducing of all Ireland, to the Obedience and Subjection of the Crown of England. I have likewise observed what courses have been taken to Reform the Defects and Errors in Government, and to reduce the People of this Land to Obedience, since the beginning of the Reign of K. Edw. 3. till the latter end of the Reign of Q. Elizabeth.

And lastly, I have declared and set forth, How all the said Errors have been corrected, and the Defects supplied under the prosperous Government of His Majesty; So as I may positively conclude in the same words, which I have used in the Title of this Discourse; That until the beginning of His Majesty's Reign, Ireland was never entirely subdued, and brought under the Obedience of the Crown of England. But since the Crown of this Kingdom, with the undoubted Right and Title thereof, descended upon His Majesty; the whole Island from Sea to Sea, hath been brought into his Highness peaceable Possession; and all the Inhabitants, in every corner thereof, have been absolutely reduced under his immediate subjection. In which condition of Subjects, they will gladly continue, without defection or adhering to any other Lord or King, as long as they may be Protected, and justly Governed, without Oppression on the one side, or Impunity on the other. For there is no Nation of People under the Sun that doth love equal and indifferent Justice better than the Irish; or will rest better satisfied with the Execution thereof, although it be against themselves; so as they may have the Protection and Benefit of the Law, when upon just cause they do desire it.

ERRATA in the Annals of King Henry II. &c.

PAge 1, line 5, read Rodrick. p. 13, l. Antepenult r. Catholicus. p. 41, l. 37, r. Birnes and Toolles. p. 51, l. 25, after fort, add his Fardles. p. 52, l. 8, r. Florilegus. p. 57. l. 11, r. Commented on. l. 43, r. O More. p. 60, l. 16, r. O Bryen. p. 61. l. 20, r. Bryen O Bryen. ibid, l. 42 r. of the Irish, and but one. p. 62. l. 3, r. O Bryen. p. 63, l. 27, r. Toolles. p. 66, l. 11, r. Morrough. p. 67, l. 16, r. O Toolles. p. 69, l. 16, r. Crawly, ib. l. 28, r. Slane. ib. l. 39, r. Morrough.

In the Annals of King Henry VII. &c.

PAge 2, l. 26, r. were. ib. l. 43. r. Proto-Prior. p. 4 l. 44. d. of whom, ib. 46, r. Sept. p. 14, l. 3 et 4, r. of Castlemartin, Abbot of Beñi-ib. l. 17, r. Centry p. 17, l. 13, r. its. ib. l. 36 r. Wiltshire. p. 18, l. 4, r. Perkin. p. 21, l. 5, d. so ante with ib. in Marg. for 22 r. 26. ib. l. 34, r. Scrope. ib. l. 42, r. favoured. ib. l. 46, r. from. p. 22, l. 17, r. Plate. p. 23, l. 6, r. Laques. ib. l. 27, r. Genialium dierum. l. 29. r. Scribendi Origine. ib. l. 33. r. Assistance. ib. r. Castile. ib. l. 41. r. Dissertations. p. 24. f. 32. r. were prevented. p. 26. l. 16. r. detected. p. 27. l. 8. r. Perkin: p. 28. l. 15. f. without, &c. r. without giving the reasons for calling it, and transmitting the Acts they would have made under the Great Seal of Ireland to the King and Council, and an Approbation of such Acts together with his Majesties leave for the summoning it first obtained, ib. l. 47. r. void. p. 32. l. penult. & ult. d. being & anno aforesaid. p. 33, l. 31. r. Affairs. p. 36. l. 46. r. Spear. p. 40. l. 2. now is. ib. l. 22. r. usual. ib. r. for. ib. l. 28. r. Phantoms. ib. l. 41. 42. d. from whence they. p. 44. l. 1. r. for on, ib. l. 41. d. may. p. 46. l. 12. r. dissembled. ib. f. he r. and ib. l. 28. r. Canic. ib. l. 7. r. Southern half. ib. l. 17. r. the Northern half. p. 49. l. 9. r. doth daily manifest. p. 48. in Marg. after 6. add, like to be. p. 53. l. penult. r. Recluse. p. 57. l. 13. r. whom. p. 58. l. 11. r. Invasion. p. 59. l. 35. r. Kilmore. p. 60. l. 25. r. Cattle. p. 61. l. 7. r. 3d of the. p. 62. l. 14. r. dissipate. p. 63. l. 1. r. Plate. p. 64. l. 21. f. 9th r. Nones. p. 68. l. 19. d. that Oneal. p. 70. l. 14, 15. r. hundred. ib. l. 16. r. Prior. p. 71. 10. 10 & 11. Royal Dignity. p. 73. l. 37. r. our. p. 78. l. 4. r. Barnwall. ib. l. 23. r. burnt. ib. l. 25. r. brought under. p. 83. l. 22. r. Offices. p. 90. l. 8, 9, 11. f. Francis, &c. John White Constable of the Castle of Dublin, and Francis Herbert deserv'd chiefly to be mention'd, who were both after Knighted for their extraordinary valour, and Herbert was chosen, &c. p. 95. l. 11. r. Lanthony, ib. l. 12. r. Bath. ib. l. 48. r. Honourable, p. 98. l. 32. r. Cases wherein, p. 101. l. 12. r. Episcopal, ib. l. 27. r. Tapistry Weavers, ib. r. Artificers, ib. l. 45. r. los. p. 106. l. 31. r. Benefices, ib. l. 35 & 37. r. Lord, ib. l. 44. r. Delegates, p. 109. l. 6. r, for. p. 111. l. 11. r. Sons. p. 112. r. Athanasius. p. 114. l. 18. r. Honour he received from, ib. l. 23. r. Leg. p. 118. l. 11. r. Bullion, ib. l. 25. r. Edward, p. 120. l. 17. r. Dues, p. 122, l. 14. r. called by, p. 123. l. 37. r. Peers of the Kingdom, ib. r. number, ibid. l. 42. r. teaching School, p. 125 l. 29. r. the King's Records, p. 126. l. 31, and p. 127. l. 17. r. Shane his. p. 130. l. 11. by many Peers and Privy Counsellors, p. 132. l. 5. r. Absentee, ib. l. 19. & 22. r. Northumberland, ib. ult. r. married, p. 133. r. Garter King, ib. l. antepenult. r. Epithalamium, p. 136. f. l. 18, 19, 20. r. For 'tis certain that Ireland was dignify'd with this Title in a Parliament held there in the Reign of K. Henry the 8th, as we have before related Anno Dom. 1541. ib. l. 23. r. Rights, p. 139. l. 8. r. driven, ib. l. 26. r. of the, p. 142. l. 4. r. Barow, ib. l. 5. r. and the other, ib. l. 7. r. for. ib.

ib. l. 8. r. to direct, ib. d. were given, ib. l. 27. r. Retirement, ib. l. 31. d. of the Garter, ib. l. antepenult. r. Duff. p. 143. l. 1. after September, add, it was ordered, ib. l. 9. r. to, ib. l. 31 & 38. r. Shane, p. 145. l. 7. r. Triangle, ib. l. 12. r. Dalky, ib. l. 21. r. upon the Isle of Illa, ib. l. 29. p. 146. l. 18, 19. r. near, ib. l. antepenult. r. who then chanc'd to be.

ERRATA in the Two Books of the Writers of IRELAND.

PAge 4. add, S. Brendan the Abbot of Clonfert. p. 9. for S. Canin r. S. Camin. p. 15. Chap. VI r. V. for 17 in 21 numb. pag. r. 21. for p. 20. r. 24. for 21 r. 25. p. 20. for Suir r. Stuir. ibid. for German r. Gorman. p. 24. r. Tiprait. p. 38. for Tho. Jorfe r. Walter Jorfe.

ERRATA in Sir John Davise's Discourse.

PAge 27. l. antepenult. for in r. into. p. 30. l. 18. for Donozation r. Donation. ib. l. ult. in Palatines d. p. 32. l. 14. r. ennoble & amesneable. p. 36. l. 43. for Canibal r. Cannibals. p. 39. l. penult. for Mangle r. Nangle. p. 40. l. 27. for existent r. existenti. p. 42. l. 30. for Bog r. Boy. p. 44. l. 18. for reclaimed r. claimed, ib. l. ult. for change r. charge. p. 45. l. 3. for take r. taken. p. 53. l. 14. for emesuable r. amesneable. p. 56. l. 46. for paces r. passes.

ESTC

[illegible]

DA 920
W4

3162

BOSTON COLLEGE LIBRARY
UNIVERSITY HEIGHTS
CHESTNUT HILL, MASS.

Books may be kept for two weeks and may be renewed for the same period, unless reserved.

Two cents a day is charged for each book kept overtime.

If you cannot find what you want, ask the Librarian who will be glad to help you.

The borrower is responsible for books drawn on his card and for all fines accruing on the same.

